MINNESOTA LEGISLATURE WINDS UP ITS BUSINESS AND FINALLY ADJOURNS

Club Liquor License Bill Was Killed By the Senate.

Amendment to Anti-Pass Law Was Permitted to Die.

Pugh Bill on Timber Trespasses Vetoed by the Governor.

ANTON BORGEN,
Duluth Member of the House, Who Worked Faithfully for the Interests of His District.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The house, leaving only a few bills unconsidered, adjourned at 12:45 o'clock this morning, and the senate, with more undone at the finish, worked until 3:30 o'clock.

The club liquor license bill, allowing clubs to sell liquor to their members without taking out saloon licenses, was killed in the senate, getting only 26 votes when it needed 32, with 33 votes against it.

* * *

The bill imposing a special tax of ¼ cent a bushel on all wheat and flax in elevators during the year, and ⅛ cent on other grains, became a law.

* * *

The house adopted Senator Hackney's bill providing for correspondence courses in agriculture at the state agricultural college. The bill carried an appropriation of $20,000 as passed, though $75,000 was asked for originally.

SKULL CRUSHED; POCKETS PICKED

Chicago, April 22.—James Campbell, a machinist, was found dead with his skull crushed and his pockets turned inside out today in front of the Warren Avenue Methodist Episcopal church. The police declared the case to be one of robbery and murder. Campbell was 35 years of age and lived with his father in a section of the city far from where the body was found.

CITY MAY OWN PLANT

Condemnation Action May Preclude Commencement of Suit.

Brainerd, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Papers were filed with the clerk of the district court of Crow Wing county today asking the foreclosure of the first mortgage of $100,000 on the waterworks plant owned by the Minnesota Waterworks company. A receiver is also asked, to take immediate charge of the plant and revenues.

The council has ordered the city attorney to commence condemnation proceedings, and it is the opinion of that officer that this action precludes the commencement of that suit.

The complaint alleges that the property is worth substantially less than the first mortgage, and that it is rapidly deteriorating. The mortgage was due Jan. 1, 1907, and no part has been paid.

GOVERNOR'S NOTE TO GOVERNOR SENT BY MOTOR BOAT.

Cincinnati, Ohio, April 22.—M. B. Dean, Harry Dawes and M. McLain left Cincinnati at 9 o'clock this morning sailing in a small motor boat in an effort to break all water speed records from this city to New Orleans by the Ohio and Mississippi rivers. They will try to cover the distance of 1,554 miles in sixty hours, traveling by day only and will have to make an average of twenty-five miles an hour to be successful. Mr. Dean will carry a letter from Governor Harmon of Ohio to Governor Sanders of Louisiana.

VETO MADE STRONG HIT

Republican Leaders Say Governor's Action Was Master Stroke.

They Honor Him for the Stand He Has Taken.

St. Paul, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Dispatch says: Governor Johnson's veto of the Bjorge tonnage tax bill still continues the topic of conversation in the two legislative bodies and various are the opinions advanced as to its effect on the governor's political future.

The majority of the leaders look upon the veto as a political master stroke, adding to his following a section rich in people and resources, which has heretofore been one of the chief assets of the Republican party.

Interviews had with the Republican leaders of the two houses generally favor the veto and, while not eulogistic of the Democratic executive generally, run to the opinion that his disposal of the Bjorge bill was along the lines of right and justice.

Senator G. H. Sullivan, in speaking of the vote, declared that it was an indorsement of the stand that he had maintained all through the consideration of the bill. "It was an official act worthy of praise," he added.

"I am a Republican, but that need not stand in the woy of my expressing myself regarding our Democratic governor," said Frank T. White. "I think

FUEL HEAVED BY OFFICERS

The Cruiser Milwaukee Smashes All Records for Coaling Ships.

Seattle, Wash., April 22.—A special to the Post Intelligencer from the navy yard, Puget Sound, says:

Spurred on by the record made by the steamer St. Louis, the cruiser Milwaukee yesterday smashed all records for coaling ships. Officers as well as men stripped down and heaved coal. In nine and a half hours the crew took aboard 1,500.7 tons. A total of 218 men, including those who weighed and tallied the coal, took part in the task. The average taken aboard per hour was 158 tons, and the best record made for one hour was 208 tons.

ALICE NEILSON MIXED IN SUIT

San Francisco, Cal., April 22.—Alice Neilson, the singer; Thomas H. Williams, president of the New California Jockey club, and Frank L. Perley, well known theatrical manager, figure in a case in the United States district court here.

The latest development in the case is Perley's answer to the suit filed by Williams to recover $20,000, half the expense incurred in starring the prima donna in 1899.

Perley declares he was not a partner in the venture, but was employed at a salary of $100 a week to manage Miss Neilson's tour. He exhibits his contract with Williams to prove the assertion.

DYNAMITE ICE GORGE

Ton of Explosive Is Taken to Niagara Falls.

Jam Twelve Miles Long and Sixty Feet Deep.

Lewiston, N. Y., April 22.—There is a slight change for the better in the critical condition which for several days has threatened the towns along the Niagara river. The force of the river current, crowded with loose lumps of ice, evidently has ground out a smooth subway for itself beneath the main mass of the floe, for the water in the cellars rose only five inches during the night and receded an equal distance in the early dawn. The ice plowing the upper banks, uprooting huge trees and smashing docks and boat houses, is still poised on its lofty level, but the middle line of the surface of the floe apparently has dropped a few feet.

The jam is of appalling proportions. It is twelve miles in length and in many places sixty feet in depth, and represents millions of tons and a strength powerful enough to annihilate the four villages along its border if it should start to go out all at once. Another element of terror is its pestilential nature. Mingled with the slushy ice and cast high on the banks is a week's sewage from all the cities along the Niagara frontier.

The plan of Henry A. Kunzle, assistant superintendent of public works, and Charles A. Tuttle, an expert on high explosives, who yesterday afternoon decided on a method of procedure and in the evening obtained the permission of the state to carry it out, is first to blow off the head of the ice pack now projecting into Lake Ontario, by an enormous charge of dynamite. Other sections will then be successively separated from the whole and allowed to drift out into the lake. A ton of dynamite was sent from Buffalo last night for this purpose and is now in Youngstown, at the mouth of the river.

Capt. Mitchell, officer in command of Fort Niagara, has offered the assistance of his 120 men. Capt. Nelson, in charge of the life saving station at Youngstown, and his crew of seven men, will also help in the breaking of the jam.

ATTEMPT MADE TO FREE BOYLE

Mercer, Pa., April 22.—An attempt to liberate Charles H. Boyle, charged with the Whitla kidnaping, from the Mercer county jail, was made last night, according to officials at the jail.

That the effort failed was due to the vigilance of Night Watchman Robert Fruit, who discovered a ladder resting against the jail wall, directly under the window of Boyle's cell. It was apparently the intention to saw the bars from the outside.

DOWN GOES THE PRICE

Wheat on the Toboggan and Bears Press Their Advantage.

Chicago, April 22.—"Has the bull campaign in wheat, so far as the public is concerned, been abandoned?"

"Has the bull leader, James A. Patten, now reported on his way to visit the ranch of a friend in Colorado, changed his views?"

These and other questions, unthought of a week ago, were rife on the board today when the slump in wheat continued, prices reaching a point 8 cents to 8½ cents below the record price of last week, when Mr. Patten declared wheat was worth intrinsically every cent being paid for it.

Just a week ago May wheat here sold at $1.29¼, and July at $1.18⅞. Repeatedly asked if he had a corner in the two deliveries, Mr. Patten emphatically denied that he had, asserting,

JAMES A. PATTEN,

Hutchinson, Kan., April 22.—James A. Patten, the Chicago wheat bull, passed through this city late last night en route to Trinidad, Colo., to visit at the ranch of a friend near Trinidad.

Patten said he is making no personal investigation of the wheat fields, but is fleeing from newspaper publicity.

ROOSEVELT NEAR HUNT

He Starts Inland From the Coast of Africa.

Makes Speech in English, French and German Languages.

Mombasa, British East Africa, April 22.—Theodore Roosevelt and the members of his party left Mombasa at 2:30 this afternoon on a special train for Kapiti Plains station, whence they will be conveyed to the ranch of Sir Alfred Pease on the Athix river. Sir Alfred is already there awaiting the coming of his guests. The party probably will remain at the ranch for one week, making it the base for shooting expeditions, and then move on to Nairone.

Roosevelt, his son Kermit, Edmund Heller, F. C. Selous and R. F. Cunningham, general manager of the expedition, were entertained at dinner last night by the members of the Mombasa club. The acting governor of the protectorate, F. J. Jackson, in proposing the health of Mr. Roosevelt, read the following telegram from King Edward: "I bid you a hearty welcome to British East Africa, and I trust that you will have a pleasant time and meet with every success."

Continuing, Jackson said Roosevelt had left the "big stick" at home, and after seven strenuous years as president of the United States, had come out to Africa to make use of the rifle. In conclusion, he promised the distinguished visitor an immense variety of game and good sport.

When Mr. Roosevelt arose to reply he was enthusiastically received with full Highland musical honors. He began with a tribute to the British people for their energy and genius in civilizing the uncivilized places of the earth. He said he was surprised at what he had heard of the progress of

AUTOS RACE TO MOUNTAIN TOP

Climbing Contest Held on Sides of Famous Lookout.

Chattanooga, Tenn., April 22.—Ideal weather conditions prevailed and a crowd of spectators numbering many thousands saw the Lookout mountain automobile climb this afternoon. Last night there was a very heavy downpour of rain which washed all the dust and surplus dirt off the mountain road and left it hard and smooth for the race. Business was generally suspended for the climb.

Of the fifteen entrants ten are noted drivers, among them being Lewis Strang, Dewitt, Louis Chevrolet, Greiner of Chicago, Harry Tuttle and Bert Miller and P. W. Lytle of Memphis. The start was made from an old blacksmith shop which was the scene of the romance of "St. Elmo" and the goal is the mountain house on the top of Lookout.

The Armenian village of Deurtyul is surrounded and, according to a messenger, who crawled through the Arab lines at night and made his way here for help, the situation there is hopeless. The buildings on the edge of the town already were in flames when he escaped.

Teheran, April 22.—The British and Russian diplomatic representatives were received in audience by the shah today and advised his majesty to proclaim punishment to all political offenders, and to restore the constitution. The shah promised to reply within a few days.

More Conflicts Feared.

Constantinople, April 22.—Grave news was received here this morning from Erzerum, the principal town of Turkish Armenia. The transports of delight of the people at the proclamation of constitutional government are now being supplanted by a movement in favor of the Sheri laws and the sultan which, it is feared, may lead to a conflict between Christians and Moslems. The wave of fanaticism, which originated at Adana some ten days ago, apparently is spreading generally through the eastern provinces. The Christian villages in the vilayets of Aleppo and Sivias have been attacked by Kurds, Circassians and Nomads and the inhabitants are imploring the porte to send troops for their protection.

Negotiations are proceeding between Nazim Pasha, the commander of the First army corps, which garrisons Constantinople and the commanding general of the army of investment on the following points:

NINE FOR MINNESOTA

Census Superintendents to Be Appointed By the President.

Two Thousand Two Hundred Enumerators in This State.

FROM THE HERALD WASHINGTON BUREAU

Washington, April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The director of the census is anticipating the passage of the bill providing for the taking of the next census by laying plans for the appointment of supervisors and enumerators.

For Minnesota there will be nine supervisors named by the president, whose compensation will be $1,500 and an additional remuneration of $1 per 1,000 names enumerated in their respective districts. The supervisors will be appointed to follow as closely as possible the geographical lines of the congressional districts.

To take the thirteenth census in Minnesota there will be appointed 2,200 enumerators, as against 1,700 employed in that state ten years ago, and these enumerators will be paid a per capita amount for names secured.

It is planned to complete the census enumeration within thirty days in the rural districts and to allow fifteen days in cities of 5,000 or over.

PASTOR VICTIM OF CAPT. HAINS

Will Testify About Attack Made on Him in Jail.

Flushing, N. Y., April 22.—Five jurors for the trial of Capt. Peter C. Hains, Jr., charged with the murder of William E. Annis, had been selected when the court opened its fourth day of the hearing today. The first panel of 150 talesmen having been exhausted with the choice of the five jurors, a new panel of a similar number was in court today.

John F. McIntyre, chief counsel for the defense said today that while he hoped the necessity for calling alienist witnesses would not arise, several experts for the defense had examined the prisoner and reported him insane.

Rev. Charles L. Pardee, a Presbyterian minister of Naugatuck, Conn., who according to the lawyers for the defense was attacked by Capt. Hains in one of his outbreaks during a visit of the minister to the Queen county jail, will be one of the witnesses for the defense in its effort to establish the defendant's insanity.

The impression still prevails that the question of appointing a commission to determine the defendant's mental condition will arise as soon as the state's case is in and the first evidence introduced by the defense. The court has the authority to stop the trial at that point and order a commission, it is said.

TROUBLE IN GRADING CANAL ZONE SCHOOLS.

Washington, April 22.—Many difficulties are to be encountered, according to official reports from the isthmian canal zone, in grading the public schools there. The points of view of people coming from hundreds of different places on educational matters have proved one of the greatest handicaps. Not only do the white children alone represent over 500 different schools and a score or more distinct educational systems, but the teachers themselves represent sixteen different states.

SETTLEMENT OF MINE TROUBLE MAY BE NEAR.

Philadelphia, April 22.—Renewed activity of the national and district officers of the mine workers' union and an unexpected conference here yesterday between them and representatives of the operators, leads to the belief that a settlement of the differences between the mine workers and their employers may be close at hand.

ONLY TWO COCKTAILS

That Is Alleged to Be Mrs. Gould's Limit.

Dustin Farnum Testifies That Her Character Is Good.

Chicago, April 22.—Dustin Farnum's deposition in the Gould divorce case was taken today before Attorney Lewis C. Ehle. Mrs. Gould was represented by Clarence J. Shearn, and Mr. Gould by Archibald Watson.

The actor was a willing witness. He stated that he had known Mrs. Gould seven or eight years, had met her on an average of not more than once a year, and had never witnessed anything derogatory to her character in her habits. Their own relations were those of acquaintances only. He had never seen Mrs. Gould drink an intoxicant, he said.

The deposition of Mrs. Norris H. Mundy, whose father was master of the Gould yacht "Niagara" and who, before her marriage, was a companion of Mrs. Gould on several trips, was also taken. She testified she had never seen Mrs. Gould drink more than two cocktails at one sitting, nor had she observed any particular intimacy between Mrs. Gould and Farnum.

WIRELESS SYSTEM CHEAPER THAN 'PHONE OR CABLE SERVICE.

Washington, April 22.—Finding that a wireless telegraph system is cheaper than a telephone or a cable service, the Isthmian canal commission has decided to erect a station at Porto Bello, a port on the Caribbean sea, eighteen miles east of Colon, to communicate with Colon. The crushed rock for the concrete work of Gatun locks and the spill way of Gatun dam is to be obtained from Porto Bello. This will amount to 2,500,000 cubic yards. The immense amount of transportation from Porto Bello necessitated a rapid means of communication.

Several Resolutions for Increased Taxation of Iron Mines Are Killed.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—At least one section of Minnesota will heave a huge sigh of relief. The thirty-sixth session of the Minnesota legislature adjourned sine die shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon. The morning was spent in presentation speeches, etc., many of them very affecting, and tears sprung to many eyes at the thought of parting after nearly four months of close companionship.

Resolutions aimed at increased taxation of iron mines were introduced in both houses, but they were sent over to tomorrow—when there will be no session, of course—by notices of debate under the rules.

* * *

Senator Cashman of Owatonna offered a resolution in the senate directing the tax commission to raise the mine valuations to $300,000,000, and Senator Laybourn gave notice of debate. Senator Cashman moved to suspend the rules so the resolution could be considered at once, but his motion was lost, 24 for and 31 against. It needed 42 votes.

* * *

Representative Bendixen offered a similar resolution in the house, and Representative Carl L. Wallace of Minneapolis disposed of it by a notice of debate.

* * *

Representative Ware of Northfield offered a resolution censuring Governor Johnson for his tonnage tax veto, and urging an increase of the mine valuations to $300,000,000, and Representative Wallace put that over, too. He similarly disposed of a joint resolution by Senator Swanson, directing the state auditor to cease selling state timber until further notice.

* * *

The house adopted the senate resolution by Senator Elwell, asking the state tax commission not to disturb materially the present assessed valuations of the state, in order to head off the proposed increase of all valuations to 100 per cent of actual value, as the law now requires.

Representative Congdon, in explaining his vote for the first time, said that the resolution asked the commission to violate the law and its oath of office, and he wouldn't vote for it.

Representative Stuart said the legislature had ample chance to change existing conditions and prevent a rise to 100 per cent, but it had failed to do so, and he would not vote to ask the commission to disobey the law. At first nearly everybody voted for it, but many changed, so the final vote was 67 to 32.

* * *

The rules committee of the house killed all proposed salary increases and gratuities and the house sustained its reports. In one case, where a young man had worked all winter and had not earned much, the house took up a collection of $1 apiece for him.

In the senate a number of salary increases were voted, and the telephone girls were given $100 apiece.

Representatives Brady, Rines and L. H. Johnson visited the governor, on behalf of the house, to ask him if he had anything to communicate, and returned with the reply that he had not, except Godspeed to one and all.

Senators Calhoun, Wilson and Schaller performed a similar errand for the senate, and upon their return Senator Calhoun said the governor had nothing to say to the senate collectively, but sent blessings to its members individually.

* * *

There were the usual resolutions and motions thanking the desk forces, and particularly Speaker Rockne and Lieutenant Governor Eberhart, for their efficiency. Presents were given to the presiding officers, to the desk forces and others.

* * *

In the house, Representative Grant, in behalf of the tri-county delegation, gave John G. Lennon its chairman, a handsome ring, and Representative McKenzie, in behalf of the old members, gave L. H. Johnson a watch chain. The presiding officers and the desk forces were handsomely remembered and the speeches of presentation and acceptance were very touching. Shortly after 1 o'clock both houses adjourned for good.

REBEL FLAGS TO BE SENT BACK

Ohio Will Return Emblems Taken From Alabama Troops.

Cincinnati, Ohio, April 22.—Details for the return of the Confederate battle flags captured by the Fourth Ohio cavalry at Selma, Ala., near the close of the Civil war, are in the hands of Governor Comer of Alabama, and the return will take place in Huntsville, May 12. There will be a convention of the Daughters of the Confederacy in Huntsville at the date named and Mrs. Charles H. Brown, president of the Alabama division, is to assist in the ceremony of receiving the flags. Capt. John Pitts of this city yesterday received a letter from Governor Harmon saying the flags will be sent to this city so that any of the veterans who may care to view them may do so.

MRS. BAMBARD GETS INSURANCE

Jury Brings in Verdict Against the Modern Woodmen.

Mrs. Ollie M. Bambard, who was suing the Modern Woodmen of America for the insurance carried in the lodge by her husband, was this morning awarded $1,075.67 by the jury.

It is said that this case was but a test case, and that there will now be several more instituted against different fraternal insurance societies.

Clarence H. Bambard died in Duluth in 1908. He was a member of the Bay City lodge of the Modern Woodmen of America, and Mrs. Bambard's claim for the insurance was based on the fact that he was in good standing at the time of his death. The lodge claimed that his dues for the month preceding death had not been paid. They also claimed that themoney was paid to them by his relatives after his death on the day he died.

Bemidji Visitors Arrive.

Bemidji, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. P. Chandler, a banker of Fargo, accompanied by his son and daughter, have arrived, being a forerunner of several hundred visitors from Fargo, Grand Forks and other points, who spend the summer months at beautiful Lake Bemidji.

Mr. Chandler was the last member of the summer colony to leave the lake last fall and is the first one to arrive this season.

Dilworth Headquarters.

Moorhead, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Northern Pacific railway dispatchers' office was moved from Fargo to Dilworth, Minn., yesterday. Dilworth is the new Northern Pacific division headquarters, and is three miles east of Moorhead. There are several stores and about 100 dwelling houses in the place. This number will be doubled before fall.

HAPPY END TO ROMANCE

The termination of a pretty little romance came this morning at the courthouse, when Ella McKittrick of 513 West Second street and Stanley Michaud, son of Horace Michaud of the St. Louis hotel, were married by Judge J. B. Middleton of the probate court.

Accompanied by two friends, the happy couple secured their license this morning from the clerk of the district court, and ten minutes later they left the building man and wife.

It was at the indoor baseball game between the United Commercial Travelers and the All Stars at the Armory last winter that they were introduced by a mutual friend. It was a case of love at first sight. This was the beginning; the end came in the office of the judge this morning.

Miss McKittrick has for the past three months been employed at the news stand in the Hotel McKay. She made many friends while at the hotel, and they were all on hand this morning. She has been in the city only a short time, coming here with her parents from Buffalo.

Mr. Michaud is well known about Duluth, where he has lived the greater part of his life.

FOLLOWING WESTON

Bloomington, Ill., April 22.—Edward Payson Weston will arrive in Bloomington this evening after a fifty-mile hike along the Alton road. He will be met several miles from here by a delegation of admirers and accompanied to the city. He plans a sixty-mile jaunt tomorrow taking him into Springfield.

IS COLDEST SPRING IN TWENTY YEARS.

Winnipeg, Man., April 22.—Western Canada awoke today to find the ground covered with snow and to experience a biting northwest wind. It was 7 above here at 8 o'clock, zero at Prince Albert and 4 above zero at Qu'Appelle. The cold has seriously delayed seeding. This is the coldest spring in twenty years.

SCOTT DEAL SOLE TOPIC

Close Out Trades With Merritt at Market Price.

The failure of Fred H. Merritt and the collapse of the boom in Butte-Alex Scott stock, were the all-absorbing topics of conversation in the brokers' offices along Superior street again today, and in fact, comprised about the only things doing, for the trading they did in local curbs stocks was not enough to keep one broker busy.

Brokers who comprise the great majority of Mr. Merritt's creditors, held a meeting late yesterday afternoon and decided to close out their trades with him, at the market prices, but at that they will suffer heavy losses as there is practically no bidding for either the part paid or full paid Butte-Alex Scott stock, at any price, in spite of the fact that nothing detrimental to the mine itself has been brought out.

The events of the past few days have scared the public and caused it to show an aloofness toward that issue and a bashfulness about trading in any others, and the losses which many of the brokers sustained have caused them to be suspicious of the financial standing of some of their fellows.

A majority of the brokers, who are left high and dry with their shrunken Butte-Alex Scott shares by the failure of Mr. Merritt to take them up at the high prices which he bid for them, are taking their medicine and giving their checks to customers from whom they bought in exchange for the certificates, but three or four of the brokers are declining to take the certificates. The Merritt failure, however, fell largely upon the shoulders of the other brokers along the street with whom he did business.

Although Mr. Merritt's office did not hear from him today, it is supposed that he left Pittsburg for Duluth this morning and should be home tomorrow. It is almost a certainty that if, upon his return, he does not make a satisfactory adjustment of his affairs, Merritt's creditors will apply for a receiver to take over his business, and they may do it before he gets back.

Butte-Alex Scott is the "deadest" issue in a slumbering curb market today. There are no bids at all for the full paid Alex Scott, and it is quoted at $9.50 asked. At the office of Martin Rosendahl, who has played a prominent part in the boosting of the stock, sales of $2 paid Alex Scott were reported today at $7.50, and at the office of Lee & Co., who have been crying "manipulation" in the handling of the issues, sales of the $2 paid stock were reported at $6.62½. Other brokers claim they have been unable to make any trades whatever in either the part paid or the full paid.

Some of the brokers spent their idle moments this morning issuing challenges and statements to other brokers. Martin Rosendahl took his chalk in hand and wrote a query on his blackboard, asking J. H. Robbers this: "The last statement Butte-Ballaklava issued stated they had 210,000 shares issued. Now they claim only 25,000 shares in the treasury. Ask J. H. Robbers what became of the remaining 15,000 shares. Who got it, and at what price? Did any ordinary stockholders get it cheap?"

The other brokers intimate in their conversation, and threaten to post on their blackboards, that Mr. Rosendahl doesn't know what he is talking about, and that he got out with the money in the Butte-Alex Scott deal.

Up to this afternoon, Mr. Robbers had not posted on his board an answer to the Rosendahl screed, but a merry war seems imminent.

In the meantime, the public is getting its cash for the Alex Scott it sold to the brokers, who are paying for the certificates and cussing the brokers who are refusing to accept the papers.

Up to date, the Merritt crash has not sent any other brokers to the wall.

OVERBECK ALL DENIAL

Says No to Questions Put in Senatorial Investigation.

Immel Tells of Proposal to Get Back Campaign Cash.

Madison, Wis., April 22.—Henry Overbeck continued his testimony before the senatorial investigation committee today, being questioned in connection with the joint ballot of March 4, when Isaac Stephenson was re-elected United States senator.

"Whenever the anti-Stephenson men stayed out, you wanted your men in, didn't you?" Mr. Overbeck was asked.

"Sure; we always wanted them in."

Overbeck added that he never had instructed Mr. Wayland to "take care of Towne," or anybody. Asked whether on the Tuesday preceding the final ballot he had telegraphed or caused to be telegraphed to Assemblymen Ramsey and Farrell (Democrats) the summons to come to the chamber, Overbeck said:

"Not to my knowledge."

"Do you mean to say that you never talked with Ramsey or Farrell about what they should do with regard to the Stephenson election?"

"Certainly."

"Did you hear anybody else talk to them?"

"Not to my knowledge."

"Don't you know that during the deadlock certain people from the country districts came here to influence the Democratic members of the legislature in favor of Stephenson, or to offer certain sums of money to them?"

"I don't know that."

Overbeck said he supposed Edmonds was in charge of Stephenson's affairs during the deadlock and that he assisted him. He denied having tried to stifle the investigation.

He next told of hiring a special train to bring Assemblyman Reader to Madison, on March 2, in time to vote for Stephenson. Witness learned afterwards that R. J. Shields of Superior had arranged for the train and paid for it. Whether Reader repaid Shields he did not know. Overbeck also said he got $600 from Mr. Edmonds for services and disbursements during the several weeks in which joint ballots were taken for United States senator.

Deputy Game Warden E. L. Immel made the startling statement that Deputy Frank Brown asked him for a contribution for Governor Davidson's campaign fund, and in doing so informed him that he need be nothing out of pocket. "Put it in your voucher each month until you get your money back," witness alleges was the statement made to him by Brown. Immel said he replied to Brown that he had less money than Governor Davidson and that he had no intention of subscribing.

Deputy Warden G. W. Dart repeated some of the testimony, and M. J. Cleary and H. A. Klumb told of spending $450 for Stephenson in the Sixteenth ward of Milwaukee.

MINNESOTA GRAND COMMANDERY MEETING.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Minneapolis will entertain the forty-fourth annual conclave of the grand commandery of Knights Templars of Minnesota, on Wednesday, April 28. While the conclave does not begin properly until April 28, many of the knights will arrive April 27 to participate in the laying of the corner stone of St. Paul's new Masonic temple, and there will in reality be two days of the celebration.

The conclave will open with the parade of the commanderies at 10 a. m., April 28. It is expected that nearly every commandery in the state will be represented. The parade will form at Hennepin avenue and Sixth street.

The line of march will be from the Masonic temple, out Hennepin avenue to Tenth street, then to Nicollet, and down Nicollet to Bridge square. The line will countermarch on Nicollet to Third street. It will then cross to Hennepin avenue and return to the Masonic temple.

Sir Knight A. M. Shuey of Minneapolis, past grand commander, will be the grand marshal. Sir Knights E. R. Hazeltine, E. C. Bonniwell and J. G. Houghton will be his aides. All commanderies will parade in order of seniority and in columns of fours. The knights will be in full regalia.

MAYOR OF SUNBURY

Hon. C. C. Brooks, Mayor of Sunbury, Ohio, also Attorney for Farmers' Bank and Sunbury Building and Loan Co., writes:

"I have the utmost confidence in the virtue of Peruna. It is a great medicine. I have used it and I have known many of my friends who have obtained beneficial results from its use. I cannot praise Peruna too highly."

HON. C. C. BROOKS.

There are a host of petty ailments which are the direct result of the weather.

This is more true of the excessive heat of summer and the intense cold of winter, but is partly true of all seasons of the year.

Whether is be a cold or a cough, catarrh of the head or bowel complaint, whether the liver be affected or the kidneys, the cause is very liable to be the same.

The weather slightly deranges the mucous membranes of the organs and the result is some functional disease.

Peruna has become a standby in thousands of homes for minor ailments of this sort.

SHARES IN ESTATE.

Iowa City, Iowa, April 22.—J. W. Spriggs, a clerk in the Burkley hotel here received advices yesterday from England that he would share in the division of the Devonshire estate of his ancestor, Sir Francis Drake. The property is now estimated to be worth millions of pounds sterling, and Mr. Spriggs share will be worth $50,000. He is a former resident of Monmouth, Ill., and says that several Illinois citizens will be co-heirs. He is a son of the late Dr. J. S. Spriggs of Monmouth.

Ex-Governor Hanly Lectures.

Calumet, Mich., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ex-Governor Hanly of Indiana lectured at the Calumet theater Tuesday night under the auspices of the Women's club. He spoke upon "The Spirit of Democracy" the same subject upon which he recently lectured in Duluth, and was greeted by a large audience.

MARINE

STRIKE MAY BE AVERTED

Local Men Have Not Yet Taken any Action.

Word was received in Duluth this morning that the referendum vote taken in Chicago among the members of the lake seamen's and cook's unions, has resulted in a decision by both organizations, not to declare a strike The majority of the men are tired of the winter's enforced idleness, and expressed themselves as desirous of going to work as soon as the season permits.

No action has as yet been taken by the local unions. It is the sentiment of many members that nothing will be lost by waiting until the Chicago and Cleveland organizations have decided on their course of action. The vote, which was ordered, has not been completed at all lake ports, but the action of the Chicago unions is expected to have an effect upon the general vote.

Chicago vessel owners are having no difficulty in finding crews and several boats are reported ready to sail.

SUSPENSION FOR PACKAGE LINES

Buffalo, N. Y., April 22.—As a result of hiring their engineers without requiring the open-shop contracts adopted by the Lake Carriers' association, the Anchor line and the Western Transit company have been suspended from membership in the association and have been so notified by President Livingstone.

When asked yesterday if he had as yet received official notification from the two lines of their course in closing with the engineers, President Livingstone stated that he had heard from both lines through the mails.

"What is their course to be?" was asked.

"The course they pursue is of no further interest to me or the Lake Carriers' association," he replied.

"Have they withdrawn from the association?"

"No, but they are not members," said President Livingstone grimly. While he was not inclined to discuss the matter at length, President Livingstone admitted that quick action had been taken upon receipt of the notification from Buffalo.

It is learned that the two lines have been informed by wire of their suspension, which is said to be for violation of the policy and the resolutions of the Lake Carriers' association, with the knowledge that they were so doing. It is evident that the Lake Carriers' do not intend to fight with any weak spot in the ranks.

"We have decided for the open shop and we shall stand by that declaration first, last and all the time," repeated President Livingstone yesterday.

Contrary to a general impression gained from printed reports from Buffalo, the two lines mentioned above are the only ones of the four that have settled with their engineers that are members of the Lake Carriers' association. The Rutland line is practically a part of the Western Transit company however. The Lehigh Valley Transportation company has not been a member of the association for a number of years, being known as a non-union line and not being in sympathy with the course of the association in making wage agreements every spring with the various marine labor organizations.

WILL RAISE VESSEL.

Steamer Hattie Lloyd Sank at Her Dock in Superior.

Efforts will be made tomorrow morning to raise the ferry steamer Hattie Lloyd, which sank in the Tower bay slip on the Wisconsin side of the bay. The Lloyd is one of four vessels owned by the Independent Ferry company and operated between Duluth and Superior. She sank while tied at her dock and the cause of the accident cannot be ascertained until she is raised. The boat had not gone into commission for the season.

Marine Notes.

Reports from the Soo this morning indicate that the blockade conditions remain unchanged. Several vessels arrived there today, among them the steamer Rochester of the Western Transit company's fleet. It is likely that ice breakers will be used if there is no break-up within a week or ten days.

The finishing touches are being put on the Hainonic, the new 5,000-ton passenger and freight vessel building at Collingwood, Ont., for the Northern Navigation company. She will make her maiden trip to Duluth in June.

Salt Water As a Weed Killer.

The Oregon Short Line railroad has been using salt water for ridding its roadbed of weeds, a process which is very inexpensive for that company, because of its exceptional facilities for getting the brine. The water of the Great Salt Lakes is approximately 22 per cent salt, and it is only necessary to pump this water into tank cars and haul them over the lines. The roadbed is sprinkled in the ordinary manner and kills grass and weeds satisfactorily. The most satisfactory beverage of today is Golden Grain Belt Beer. A case should be in every home and served at each meal. See that a case is sent you today. Order of your nearest dealer, or be supplied by Duluth Branch Minneapolis Brewing company.

Walked To Crookston.

Crookston, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Three Grand Forks young men showed their walking ability Sunday when they made the trip from Grand Forks to Crookston via the ties. They left Grand Forks at 9 o'clock in the forenoon and arrived here at 4:25 p. m., making a stop in Fisher of about half an hour. Sandy G. A. Tomlinson, A. C. Weiss and F. A. McDonald, Walter Hawkins and Will Woods are the young men who turned the trick.

BIG DULUTH, SAYS FOLK

Terror of Grafters Prophesies City of 250,000 to 300,000.

"Keep on the Firing Line of Reform," He Urges.

That Duluth will, within a comparatively few years, be a city of from 250,000 to 300,000 population, the prediction made by ex-Governor J. W. Folk at the beginning of his lecture on "The Era of Conscience" in the First Methodist church last night, was emphatically repeated just before he took the train at 8:15 this morning for Fargo, N. D.

Mr. Folk told his audience last night in his opening remarks following a happy introduction by Rev. J. S. Kirtley of the First Baptist church, that God intended a great city to be where Duluth is located.

It was announced that the closing number in the lecture course will be furnished May 10 by William Jennings Bryan, whose subject will be "The Price of a Soul." Immense applause followed the announcement.

The Missourian's talk was full of pithy illustrations and startling comparisons. He said if Jesus Christ had remained on earth and drawn a handsome salary daily for every day since He was born, He would not have nearly as much as some Americans have amassed in a few years, and that the same would be true of Adam, if the first man had drawn a princely income since the day he first saw light.

Folk gave some interesting anecdotes of his campaign for good government in Missouri. His closing point was to urge his hearers to stay close to the firing line in the battle of the reformers in American politics. Reforms come and reforms go, he said, but this reform movement that has been sweeping Uncle Sam's domains the last few years is to be permanent.

He cited his own prosecutions against grafters and liquor law violators in Missouri, Governor Hughes' actions against race track gamblers in New York, the prosecution of railroads for rebating, and the introduction into American political life of the initiative and referendum and the primary laws, as samples of what the reform revolution is achieving.

"They told me," he said, "that with the Sunday lid on the saloons, grass would soon be growing in the streets of St. Louis. The Sunday lid went on and it stayed on. St. Louis was never more prosperous than now; its real estate was never so booming; and its business enterprises were never in so healthy a state.

"I received many letters from mothers, wives and daughters, saying that after the Sunday lid went on they had had something to eat on Sundays and Mondays, as the wages of the heads of their families were not dissipated in the all-night saloons Saturday nights. With just one such letter from a good woman, I felt more than able to read with calmness the bitter attacks of the army of brewers and grogshop keepers."

The former governor was entertained at lunch at the Kitchi Gammi club by G. A. Tomlinson, A. C. Weiss and F. A. Patrick were also present. Mr. Folk later visited the board of trade and spoke briefly, and he was shown about the city in an auto.

WEST END

WILL PROBABLY VETO LICENSE

Action Expected of Mayor Haven on Meier Application.

It is expected that Mayor Haven will veto the William Meier liquor license, granted by the council at its meeting last Monday evening, in the face of strong opposition from the Seventh ward. The license came before the mayor yesterday, but he refuses to make public his action on the matter until the council meeting next Monday evening.

For several years past certain residents of Oneota have been trying to rid themselves of a saloon operated by Carpenter Bros. Through the sale of liquor to minors, the Carpenters lost their license, and when William Meier applied for a license to operate a saloon in the same place, petitions were circulated against the granting of it, and a large delegation of residents of Oneota attended the council meetings to voice their protest. There were also counter petitions asking that the license be granted.

So many claims have been made about the petitions and the trend of public sentiment they express, that it is hard to tell whether petitions opposing the granting of the license, or those favoring it, have the most names for the district most affected. The police and license committee reported that within a radius of four blocks of the saloon there were twice as many men favoring the saloon as opposing it, and that there were more men favoring it than both men and women opposing it, according to the petitions themselves. The side opposing the license also claims a majority.

Mayor Haven has received numerous letters, telephone calls and personal calls since Monday night's council meeting urging him to veto the license. It is pretty generally understood that he will veto it.

ANNIVERSARY.

Odd Fellows Will Commemorate Founding of Their Order.

The coming anniversary of the founding of the Zenith City lodge No. 160 of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows will be held Sunday at Grace M. E. church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street.

The feature of the occasion will be a special sermon to be delivered by Rev. M. O. Stockland, pastor of the church. A special program of music is also announced. The annual gatherings of the Odd Fellows on occasions of this kind, are generally large.

Quarterly Meeting.

A quarterly meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church was held this afternoon at the church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street.

Rev. W. Schevenius gave an address on the Indies' work in the church and Andrew Otterson talked on his recent western trip from which he has just returned. A string quartet will furnish a special musical program. Refreshments were served.

ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION —OF— HENRICKSEN CONSTRUCTION COMPANY.

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS, That we, the undersigned whose names are hereto subscribed, do hereby associate ourselves together and adopt and sign these articles for the purpose of forming a corporation, in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 58 of the Revised Laws of Minnesota, 1905, and all acts amendatory thereof and supplementary thereto.

ARTICLE I.

The name of this corporation shall be Henricksen Construction Company. The general nature of the business of this corporation shall be contracting and construction work, and to buy and sell or otherwise deal or to traffic in wood, stone, brick, cement, lumber and other materials, and any of the products or by-products thereof, and any articles consisting or partly consisting thereof, to construct, purchase, lease or otherwise acquire buildings of all kinds and descriptions, bridges, machinery, slips, boats, ferries, docks, wharfs, elevators, mills, storage houses, manufacturing plants of all kinds and descriptions, and other equipment, to acquire, purchase, lease, own, hold, mortgage, sell and convey lumber and improved or unimproved real estate, and to construct, erect and operate thereon houses, buildings, manufacturing plants, machinery and appliances, and to buy, sell, exchange and deal in all kinds of merchandise at wholesale, retail or on commission, and do a general building, contracting, construction, trading, lumbering, shipping and forwarding business, or any one or more or all of the same. NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

COMES IN FOR ROAST

The Legislature Criticised for Friendship for Liquor Interests.

Methodists of Brainerd District Conference Take Whack at Lawmakers.

Sauk Center, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The board of bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church at their next meeting will consider a petition from the Brainerd district conference passed here Wednesday to appoint Bishop Robert McIntyre as presiding officer at the next annual conference at Duluth in October.

The resolution was by a standing vote and was immediately forwarded to the bishops. Another resolution was to ask Bishop McIntyre to reappoint the present district superintendent, Rev. E. K. Copper of Brainerd, for another year, and commended his efficient services as superintendent.

Governor Johnson was petitioned to kill the Sunday baseball bill, and the present legislature came in for a good deal of condemnation for its friendly attitude to the liquor interests.

The conference adjourned to meet at Duluth in October at the annual conference of the Northern Minnesota conference.

The conference began on Tuesday with an address of welcome from Rev. Dr. Oehler, Congregationalist, and Dr. DuBois, for the city. Mayor Silmeetie sent an official welcome to the pastor, Rev. J. T. Brabner Smith. Mrs. Brecount spoke for the local church and Rev. E. R. Stevenson replied for the preachers.

Pastors were present from Wadena, Glenwood, Alexandria, Melrose, Motley, Menagha, Sebeka, Hewitt, Mora, St. Cloud, Akeley, Brainerd, Long Prairie, Little Falls, Royalton, Northome, Ogilvie, Park Rapids, Pine City, and other towns.

Rev. C. F. Davis was elected secretary and Rev. J. T. Brabner Smith treasurer. Rev. E. K. Cooper, superintendent, presided at the meetings.

Rev. Dr. Koch preached the conference sermon and Dr. Cleveland gave a lecture on Wendell Phillips. Rev. Dr. Burns of Minneapolis, district superintendent, preached a fine sermon, and Rev. A. H. McKee, superintendent of the Crookston district, gave an address. Rev. H. Nobbs spoke of Sunday school work. Over forty clergymen were present.

Addresses were given by Rev. W. H. Farrell of Wadena, Rev. R. G. Green of Akeley, Rev. J. C. Jewell of Little Falls, Rev. J. H. Keppel of Ogilvie, Rev. Charles Fox Davis of Brainerd, Rev. M. A. Soper of Menagha, and other clergymen.

D. R. Bradford, a layman of Park Rapids, spoke of the Sunday school work, and Rev. J. J. Parish of Mora and Rev. W. G. Follensbee of Motley took part in the discussions. Rev. W. K. Gray of Pine City gave several short addresses.

The reports of the pastors and district superintendent, E. K. Cooper, gave a steady growth in membership and church property.

The conference was the best attended in years and a great success. Dinner and supper were served in the church parlors by the ladies of the Methodist church, and the business men gave the members on the conference a sight-seeing tour in automobiles.

CRAZY BREED SCARES MANY

Thief River Falls, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the most sensational cases of insanity recorded in Northwestern Minnesota for years was that of Joe Morin, a half-breed living near here.

He was taken suddenly insane Tuesday and visited several farm houses near here that morning and with a huge club smashed windows and terrorized women and children. Several farmers gathered and started in pursuit of him and several desperate encounters took place. They beat the breed up with clubs, breaking an arm and cutting ugly gashes in his face and bruising up his body, but were unable to capture him. Finally they sent for the Thief River police and they managed to overpower Morin after a desperate struggle, and he was taken to Fergus Falls last evening after an examination as to his sanity. He was in a pitiable condition, being bound hand and foot with the exception of his broken arm, which was helplessly dangling at his side.

STATE SCHOOL IS CARED FOR

Crookston, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is genuine rejoicing throughout Northern Minnesota over the manner in which the legislature treated the Crookston school of agriculture, in the way of appropriation for the ensuing year.

The farmers throughout this section have just begun to realize the importance of the work being done and the great influence it will have on the better development of the Red River valley, including all Northwestern Minnesota. The new main building and the ladies' dormitory will be greatly needed next year, and with the increased room and facilities the capacity of the institution will be taxed as interest in the work of the school has reached such a pitch that applications have already been received for admission for next year.

EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGE AGAINST ASHLAND MAN.

Ashland, Wis., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sheriff Ellensterber left last night for Houghton, Mich., after William A. French, former agent of the Schlitz Brewing company, here, who is charged with the embezzlement of $100 from the company when in their employ here last summer. French stated that he was willing to return to Wisconsin without requisition papers, claiming that he would be able to establish his innocence without much trouble.

REACHED GREAT AGE.

First White Woman Married on Keweenaw Peninsula Is Dead.

Eagle River, Mich., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Joseph Long, aged 95, oldest woman in Keweenaw peninsula, died here suddenly yesterday. She was married in 1851, and was the first white woman to be married on the peninsula, now known as the "Copper country." With one exception her children were the first white children born in Keweenaw county. She took her first ride on the railroad when 93 years old.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR ELECT.

DeWitt C. Moore of Grafton, N. D., Is Elected Grand Commander.

Fargo, N. D., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a meeting of the grand commandery of the Knights Templar of North Dakota, held here yesterday, Grand Forks was selected as the next convention place, the convention to be held in April, 1910. The meeting will probably be held the first Tuesday after Easter Sunday.

Every commandery in the state was represented, and yesterday afternoon the delegates gathered and elected officers for the coming year. Following are the officers eletced:

DESTROY LIQUOR JOINT.

Flaxton, N. D., April 22.—The women of Lignite, a small town on the Great Northern road a short distance southwest of Flaxton, have taken a strenuous hand in the suppression of blind pigging. Sunday afternoon a dozen Lignite wives and mothers armed themselves with hatchets, revolvers and gasoline and after demolishing the contents of a liquor resort operated by Oscar Sands, baptised it with gasoline and burned it to the ground.

They then notified keepers of four other joints to quit or a like fate would befall them. A dozen men who were in the place at the time stood by and watched proceedings without protest.

CALUMET TO BE HOST.

Copper Country Metropolis Planning to Entertain State Elks' Meet.

Calumet, Mich., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Calumet lodge of Elks will entertain at least 2,000 antlered brethern from all over both peninsulas of Michigan on the occasion of the annual convention, to be held here June 15, 16 and 17.

Some of the biggest attractions to be seen in Calumet this year will be held during the convention of the state Elks. The entertainment committee appointed by the local lodge to take care of the visitors has been exceedingly busy and exceedingly fortunate in its selection of only the best of what is on the market, for there is certainly nothing too good for "The Best People on Earth" when they come here in June.

The Calumet Elks will do everything in their power to make this convention a record breaker, to make it go away above any other gathering of the Elks of Michigan. They are being backed in their plans and work to make the convention a success by the business men and private citizens of Calumet and the entire Copper country. The Elks of Hancock, which includes those of Houghton, are out to assist their Calumet brethern in every possible way.

CO-ED IN MALE ATTIRE.

Appleton, Wis., April 22.—Punishment at the hands of the high tribunal of the Students' House Government association is in store for a Lawrence co-ed, who, for a lark, strolled about the campus in masculine attire.

Ormsby hall was the scene of a unique entertainment given the upper classmen, or rather classwomen—by the co-eds of the two lower classes. The hostesses sent emissaries to the various fraternity houses of the city and when the juniors and seniors arrived at the function in their honor they were received by the lower class girls attired as boys.

CHEMICAL WAS FAULTY.

Failure of Machine Prevented Checking Verndale Fire.

Verndale, Minn., April 22.—The failure of the chemical engine to work was largely responsible for the magnitude of the fire which swept this village Tuesday night, destroying a large part of the business section. The work of the bucket brigade saved the complete destruction of the town. The women rendered no little assistance in fighting the flames.

The loss will total $50,000 and perhaps more the losses being as follows: Smith Bros.' store building, $10,000; Farmers' Mercantile company stock, $18,000; Ben Lalone, building, $2,000; Andy Lalone, saloon, stock and fixtures, $600; Dr. Morrill, building and drug stock, $6,000; Gelfer & Deltz, meat market, $300; Coon Bros.' building, $500; Louis Helnig, building, $800; Sid Reynolds, stock, $500.

The township and village records were burned.

The Farmers' Mercantile company is the heaviest loser. About fifteen farmers were interested co-operatively in this store, and all will sustain losses on account of the fire, as the insurance was only half the value of the stock.

BEGIN GRADING FOR NEW WALKER SCHOOL.

Walker, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Grading for the new Walker high school site commenced yesterday, and the grounds will be made ready for the contractors as rapidly as possible.

The site is on a hill overlooking the entire village, as well as Leech lake, and is most admirably located. It is expected that fully $2,000 will be expended in preparing the site for the building. When completed, the school will cost fully $50,000. The ground was donated to the school district by ex-Mayor Charles Kinkele for a consideration of $1. This week the school children presented Mr. Kinkele with a bag containing 100 pennies, which they had raised themselves, and presented it to him of their own free will.

CROOKSTON MOURNS BASKERVILLE'S DEATH.

Crookston, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The tragic death of H. R. Baskerville at Tabrez while leading a sortie in order to secure provisions, has caused great sorrow here, from the fact that the young man was born in Crookston. His father, Rev. H. C. Baskerville, was the first minister of the Presbyterian church in this city, serving from July, 1882, to July of the following year. His career has been followed very closely since he was sent to the Orient as a missionary by the Presbyterian board, and his tragic death is deeply regretted.

EX-GREAT WESTERN SUPERINTENDENT DEAD.

Red Wing, Minn., April 22.—C. S. Weston, aged 50 years, formerly division superintendent of the Chicago Great Western railway in this city, and recently superintendent of the Des Moines division, died at his home in this city yesterday. He is survived by a wife and five children.

Eric Winblad, 28 years old, died suddenly yesterday of heart disease. He leaves a wife and two children.

Welcome Ex-Governor Folk.

Fargo, N. D., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Former Governor Folk of Missouri will be royally welcomed this evening by ex-Missourians when he arrives from Duluth for an address here. The "Show Me" club has the affair in hand, and a few others who were not born in that state will be permitted to participate.

New Crookston Band Director.

Crookston, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Crookston band has closed a contract with Arthur Wasshausen of Chicago, who will succeed Bandmaster G. O. Riggs as director of the Crookston band, assuming his duties May 1. Mr. Riggs has accepted the leadership of the Grand Forks band.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Ashland—A paper from Aberdeen, S. D., mentions a serious accident that befell one of the children of Ben Harper, formerly of this city. A piece blew off the roof of a schoolhouse, hitting him on the head and fracturing his skull. His condition has been extremely critical.

Kaukauna—The saloons of Knukauna may soon commence closing every evening at 11 o'clock, in accordance with a law on record here ever since the city was organized, but which has never been enforced.

Madison—The present legislature may complete the state historical library building, by providing for the erection of the west wing. Two bills on the same subject have been introduced in both houses.

Sheboygan—Two genuine European storks, the kind that build their nests on house chimneys, and first cousins to "the" storks, have been ordered by General Manager Gonzenbach of the street railway company for the picnic grounds at River View farm. They will require a heated apartment in winter.

Green Bay—Frank Zero, a brakeman on the Milwaukee road, in an accident near Menasha on Tuesday, had his feet badly mangled. Walter Gabriel, aged 11 years, was struck by a Green Bay & Western engine and buried several feet along the tracks. Although badly cut and bruised, he will recover.

Rio—A fire in the photograph gallery of Peter Skogen was caused, according to the owner, by the sun shining on the lens of a camera.

Fort Atkinson—Senator Stephenson has introduced a bill appropriating $60,000 for a federal building in this city.

Grand Rapids—Demonstration spraying of cranberry marshes for insects and fungus pests will be begun soon by the agriculture experiment station of the University of Wisconsin. This work will be done at the cranberry sub-station near Grand Rapids.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Negaunee—The Negaunee Scandinavian society will hold a picnic on Midsummer day at the Cleveland park. One of the Ishpeming societies will also picnic in the grove. The Negaunee organization has secured the east pavilion. The Ishpeming Light Guard band has been engaged by the Negaunee society.

Negaunee—A four days' examination for the position of midshipman in the United States naval service is in progress at the government building. Three candidates are taking the examination, two from the Copper country and one from Munising.

Ishpeming—The new building of the Young Men's Christian association will soon be completed and made ready for the men of Ishpeming and vicinity. The dedicathon will be held in May. The definite date to be announced later.

Negaunee—The members of the police force have had their measures taken for new uniforms, which will be furnished by H. J. Peterson. M. T. Murphy will furnish the hats.

Chassell—August E. Sauvola, a taxidermist, had an order for a mounted wolf and found it impossible to secure one from any hunter. All who agreed to bring him a wolf failed in the effort to land one of the wary animals, the wolves refusing to fall victims to traps or poison or any of the other means in use.

Hancock—For threatening to kill his wife upon various and frequent occasions, Joseph Vezina of Atlantic, a miner, who is said to have concluded that he is a bad man, was sentenced to ninety days in the county jail by Judge Olivier.

Houghton—The new electric bridge coal hoisting device at the Van Orden docks, the first of its kind on Lake Superior, was tested Monday and was found to work smoothly.

Calumet—Capt. John Trevarrow of Company A Engineers, has confirmed the persistent rumor to the effect that he was to retire from his official capacity in connection with the Michigan state troops. The retirement will take place May 4 and will bring to a close a military record of fifteen years' duration.

Hancock—The lighthouse at the ship canal went into commission Sunday night for the first time and the range lights were lit Tuesday night. The life saving station at the canal is also open, the navigation season being now fairly under way with the departure of several eastbound boats and the starting of a number of vessels from the lower lakes for Lake Superior.

Houghton—George H. Mance, treasurer of the Cactus Development company, in which Copper country people are heavily interested, has returned to his home in Duluth, after a brief visit here.

Laurium—Mrs. Johanna Sistela of Wolverine, died Monday, cancer being the cause of death. She was aged 55 years, and is survived by a husband and five children. The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon, with services at the Wolverine church, Rev. A. I. Heidemann officiating.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Grand Forks, N. D.—Romain Paradis, the 11-months-old baby of Mr. and Mrs. Olive Paradis, died Monday at the home on 704 Third avenue. The funeral took place Tuesday morning from St. Michael's church.

Fargo, N. D.—United States Marshal James Shea has received authority from the department of justice to appoint an extra deputy marshal during the rush the next two months when the federal grand jury and a couple of terms of court will hold forth. In accordance Bert Wood has been named to act.

Devils Lake, N. D.—W. H. Vanderhoef, the Devils Lake hotel keeper recently arrested for violations of the prohibition law, pleaded guilty before Judge Cowan Monday afternoon and was sentenced to ninety days in the county jail.

Bismarck, N. D.—The appeal in the case against Dr. Thor Moeller, charged with manslaughter in the second degree, will be taken up by the supreme court in October. The court is rapidly disposing of a large number of cases that have been pending for some time.

Minot, N. D.—As a result of the complaints made by local shippers against the freight charges out of Minot, the Commercial club of this city will take steps to secure a reduction. It is claimed that the commercials are charging rates that are too high in accordance with rates in effect elsewhere.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Michael Merosky, who was injured last week by being run over by a hand car, is improving rapidly at St. Michael's hospital, where he is being cared for. The physician says that he is not suffering much pain and although his injuries for a time were considered serious, it is now thought that he will recover.

Fargo, N. D.—A systematic plan of campaign in the effort to make Fargo a city of more civic beauty and a more healthful place in which to live was the result of the meeting of the executive committee of the Civic Improvement league, held at the Commercial club Monday evening.

Valley City, N. D.—There are forty-six traveling men making their headquarters in Valley City. The change of the Northern Pacific station from down town to the hill will result in several families removing from the city.

Grand Forks, N. D.—M. F. Murphy left Tuesday evening for the east with New York as his ultimate destination. In New York Mr. Murphy will make arrangements for the return of his wife to this city. She was injured in the collision of the Republic last winter and has since been in New York. Mrs. Murphy has recovered from her injuries.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Anoka—Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pratt of Helena, Mont., spent Thursday and Friday in Anoka, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Pratt. They have been visiting in Rochester and the Twin Cities for three weeks.

Little Falls—Lucile Minnie, the 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Klewel, died Monday after an illness of several weeks' duration. The child had been ill for some time, and death came from complications. The funeral is to be held Thursday afternoon.

Mankato—Several more of the ball players have arrived to join Manager Benack's team, Dexter, first baseman; Monroe, pitcher, and Campbell, shortstop, arrived Monday night. Two or three more have yet to arrive, and then the team will be complete. It is believed to be a strong team, and the opening game will be awaited with interest.

Grand Marais—Matt Johnson returned Sunday night from Duluth, where he went to have his eye treated, over which a film had grown. Last winter a stick flew up and hit his right eye, which was the cause of all the trouble. The member is entirely blind.

Aitkin—Next week Friday will be the talk and demonstration of the use of dynamite for the purpose of clearing land. It is probable that the men in charge of the work will accept the invitation of the ladies of the cemetery association for removing the stumps on the land adjoining the cemetery.

Rochester—E. P. Lowrie, formerly a resident of Horton, died April 11, at his home in Seattle. He was 74. Mr. Lowrie left Horton in 1895, going to Simmons, Mo. From there he went to Washington, locating at Seattle. He is survived by his brother, George Lowrie of Pleasant Grove, and three sisters, who reside in New York.

Moorhead—Funeral services over the remains of the late Ambrose Lamb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Lamb, were held Tuesday morning at St. Joseph's church, the Rev. Father Charles officiating.

Brainerd—William P. Bartsch has sold his residence on Bluff avenue north to Nels Johnson of Johnson Bros., who will give possession about May 1. The consideration was $1,800 cash. Prof. Bartsch has rented the Charles Walker residence on Norwood street, now occupied by J. C. Manville, and will occupy it as soon as that gentleman goes to Two Harbors.

Stillwater—The marriage of Miss Rose Isabel Mackey, one of Stillwater's popular young ladies, to Samuel Charbonneau, was solemnized at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning at St. Michael's Catholic church by Rev. Father Corcoran.

Bemidji—A proposition has been made to the Bemidji Commercial club for the establishment here of one of the largest machine foundries in the Northwest, the offer being submitted by C. J. Anderson of Menomonie, Wis., who appeared at a meeting of the Commercial club held Tuesday evening and explained his proposition.

If you are not satisfied to continue the treatment, you will not owe me one cent. I believe

I CAN CURE EVERY CASE OF EYE STRAIN, EYE DISEASE OR FAILING SIGHT

If the structures are not too badly diseased. I have treated over a hundred thousand cases and restored sight to many who had been blind twenty years. If your eyes need attention I want to help you.

Put an (x) mark in front of the symptoms in the following list which you find you have:

Are the lids granulated?
Do you see objects double?
Do your eyes smart or burn?
Do they weep or run water?
Do you suffer with Wild Hairs?
Must you rub eyes to see clearly?
Do they itch, scratch or feel dry?
Can you read small print clearly?
Do the words blur or run together?
Any floating spots before your eyes?
Do your eyes feel weak, sore or tired?
Do you wear glasses for weak sight?
Are the eyeballs red, sore, inflamed?
Ache or pain in or about the eyeballs?
Vision becoming smoky, cloudy or dim?
Have you any Spots, scums, Pterygiums or growths of any kind growing on the eyeball? If so, describe them.
Have you cataracts forming in eyes?

Try This Test: Stick a pin through a plain white card; close one eye; look through hole with other. If you see any spots or webs it is Cataract or some breaking down of the internal eye.

DON'T NEGLECT YOUR EYES

These are thousands of people whose sight is just commencing to fail, others are rapidly growing blind who do not know where to go to prevent blindness. A little hurrying of the sight to-day may mean blindness a year if neglected. Cut out this ad, sign coupon and write me to-day about your eye troubles and let me prove at my expense that I can cure them.

CONCERNING WOMAN.

"We want the public to visit the children's home," said Mrs. T. J. Davis, the president of the home board, today. "We, of necessity, ask contributions from the public year after year, and receive most generously, but comparatively few of the many who contribute to this work realize how fine an institution the people are supporting. In order to give them special opportunity, the board of the home has arranged for a series of receptions to the public Fridays during April, and we hope that many will avail themselves of this opportunity to see just how Duluth is caring for the helpless little ones, who are dependent upon public charity for their life. The home is open to the public at all times, of course, but we will be especially glad to greet visitors tomorrow or next Friday."

Receiving at the home tomorrow will be the following members of the board: Mrs. T. J. Davis, Mrs. S. R. Holden, Mrs. J. H. Crowley and Mrs. J. N. Kindley. The building has been recently renovated and improved and the work is being carried on with much satisfaction to every one concerned

Tomorrow afternoon Mrs. T. L. Chapman, who conducts a Kindergarten class at the home twice each week for the little children, not yet of school age, will have a class to which the visitors are invited.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week the members of the board will go through the city to solicit contributions for the rummage sale which will be held next month. It is hoped that a large sum of money may be realized from this effort for the support of the home, and every citizen of Duluth will be urged to keep the sale in mind and save articles for contributions toward it.

MRS. CHARLES E. MERSHON,
Formerly Miss La Rue Sellwood, Daughter of Capt. Joseph Sellwood. The Wedding Took Place Last Evening.

BRILLIANT WEDDING.

All Duluth society was interested in the wedding last evening of Miss La Rue Sellwood and Charles Edward Mershon, which took place at the home of the bride's father, Joseph Sellwood of 1802 East Superior street. Miss Sellwood has been one of the most feted brides in several seasons, and the wedding last evening was a fitting culmination of a series of beautiful affairs. The service was read at 8 o'clock in a room that was transformed into a bower of sweet peas and smilax. At the appointed hour the wedding music was played by Flaaten's orchestra, and the bridal party entered the rooms. The two little nephews of the bride, Masters Richard and Gerald Sellwood, entered first and marked out an aisle with wide satin ribbons, and were followed by Rev. M. S. Rice of the First Methodist church, who read the marriage service. Little Miss Frances Sellwood entered next, and was followed by the matron of honor, Mrs. L. W. Leithhead, and last came the bride with her father. Mr. Mershon awaited her at the improvised altar, and during the service the orchestra played softly.

The bride wore an exquisite gown of duchess satin in a directoire model, with panels of beautiful rose point lace, and she carried a shower bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Leithhead wore a directoire gown of pale apricot satin, and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The little flower girl wore a pretty frock of white.

At the reception which followed the ceremony a large number of guests called. Assisting about the rooms were Mrs. A. B. Wolvin, Mrs. John Panton, Mrs. Werner Pressentin, Mrs. A. W. Hartman and Mrs. C. D. Thompson of St. Paul.

The supper was served at Mrs. Leithhead's home adjoining the Sellwood residence. In the dining room there, a large centerpiece of lilies of the valley and orchids were used, and through the parlors Killarney roses were the decorations chosen. Later in the evening La Brosse's orchestra played for an informal dancing party.

Mr. Mershon and his bride left last evening for a wedding trip to the East, and after June 1 will be at home at 1802 East Superior street, until their new home is finished on East Superior street.

The out-of-town guests for the wedding, Miss Elsie Mershon, Miss Jane Mershon, Mrs. Ralph Morley, Miss Morley and Miss Wickes, will leave tomorrow for their homes at Saginaw.

Informal Musicale.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Kolling entertained informally last evening at their home, 1125 Second street, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Horace W. Reyner and the quartet and choir of the First Methodist church. An informal musicale was enjoyed.

Thimble Bee.

Mrs. Jacobs and Mrs. Cook were hostesses yesterday afternoon at the parlors of the First Methodist church, at a delightful meeting of the Thimble bee of the church. The members brought their own sewing and enjoyed an informal afternoon together. There were sixty-three present.

Card Party.

Mrs. J. B. Kelly and Mrs. B. F. Wilson entertained at cards yesterday at 4511 Cambridge street. Five hundred was played at three tables.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. A. H. Smith and children, and the Misses Hanton of Chester terrace, have gone to Winnipeg, where they will make their home.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Harrington of Coleraine, who will leave soon for California, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Quick for a few days.

WOMAN IN BUSINESS

Is Gently Discouraged For the Common Good.

In deploring the fact that women are usually paid less than men for the same work, many writers overlook certain points which are necessary to a just consideration of the question. As no one individual or corporation, more than another, is to blame, it is the world in general that must be blamed or justified. With many notable exceptions, the world tends to frame its customers so as to work out the greatest good to the greatest number. The individual must be forever secondary to the common good, says Collier's. The question may then be stated thus: Can we blame the world for not encouraging women to give up the proper feminine ideals of home making by making them even-handed competitors with men and independent of them? The world especially needs two things, more and better homes and more and better people. Is it to be blamed for not framing its customs to attain those ends? If it be denied that this general the means to gain it are good. But if result is good, then it may be denied that it be admitted that the general result is the right one, then the world is justified in not encouraging too great a divergence from whatever will conduce to that end. The world is justified in saying to woman: "For you, business it but a preparatory school, a stepping stone, a partial service. Your real work is to be wife and mother. Be employed at any useful work so long as that seems best for you individually, but remember that you are endowed with a higher capacity for service, and there is need for your work in the home." To give emphasis to this dictum, and to keep it hourly fresh in mind, the world, perhaps wisely and kindly, declines to encourage woman overmuch to prefer an independent life.

It is difficult, if not impossible, to speak in general terms of the problem of women in business without seeming to countenance many flagrant wrongs. In presenting this view it is not to justify any known injustice the reader may have in mind, but to afford a perspective which may enable us to consider universal tendencies.

Medieval Styles.

Modern customs require dressing that is essentially different from the styles of bygone centuries, and when all is said and done modern taste in dressing is by far the most artistic the world has ever known. No longer will American women as a class accept freakish and outlandish styles, by no matter how high an authority they are launched. Styles must be modified to the more refined taste to meet with any general acceptance. This was well proved only last fall with the entrance of the sheath skirt, which had to be decidedly changed before it was accepted by American women.

There is a dearth of 1830 styles among the latest French models, despite its having been so loudly heralded from the other side. Byzantine and Egyptian ideas are mostly confined to the beauty and glitter of the new trimmings that are used to ornament the corsage, and of these there is an abundance. Directoire and empire effects are decidedly modified, for the new waistline is much more near the normal than it has been in some seasons. The one-piece gown, the princess style, continues to be what is most often seen.

• • •

Medieval styles are shown in costumes only, and they must be still more modified if they are to find any general acceptance in this country. For the woman who wants something different, this medieval costume will undoubtedly be the choice. This is a tight-fitting garment from above the bust to below the hips. The fitted portion is rather short in the back, and curves gradually down in front, where it is sometimes of rounded outline, while in other models it ends in a deep point. The full skirt is attached to this fitted bodice. In other models the fitted effect is produced by a rather plain drapery.

• • •

The great value of this medieval costume to the average woman will be that its points the way to a gradual lengthening of the waistline of which we shall, undoubtedly, see better and greater expression in the coming autumn.

LIFE A CHESSBOARD.

Hunt For Move to Win the Game.

A man of large affairs who had won great renown in his profession, was asked his secret. "I have none," he replied, "unless it is that I never admit failure. I treat every group of circumstances, good, bad or indifferent, as if it were a game of chess, and I try to find the move that under those conditions seems inevitable." Such an attitude masters circumstances, whatever they may be says an exchange.

A factory girl in a college town, partly as a result of the poison she had breathed in at her work, was struck down by a disease that makes her absolutely helpless except as she is moved mechanically. She might have had only the charitable pity which her condition would warrant. But instead, she has made her sick room such a center of cheer and inspiration that people visit her as they might royalty. A club of a hundred college girls find in her constant stimulus, and the whole town is the better for her bright, courageous spirit. As a factory girl, they might never have heard of her. But, crippled and apparently out of the race, she has used to the utmost the one talent she had and chosen the attitude of mind that makes her life a glory.

Usually, however, our trials are not so dramatic. Everyday character tests seem rather stupid oftentimes, not nearly so interesting as those done before the public. But because we can make heaven or the reverse out of the very same materials, and because the materials for our earthly heaven, at least, are just these humdrum incidents, our point of view toward them is perhaps the most important of all.

CASTE VS. CULTURE

Higher Education Brings Different Ideals.

In an argument against college for girls, which appeared some time ago in a journal that stands pre-eminently for culture, it was contended that the college not only demands just those four years during which the girl would naturally take up social life, and develop acquaintance, but that its ideals and course of study put her out of sympathy with the ambitions and interests of the girls, and men of her caste, writes Vogue.

Although it seemed peculiar to meet such views in a journal of leading and light, those who have intimate acquaintance with modern progressive mothers know that this problem of college or no college for their girls is one with which they all wrestle; that, while the many advantages of college experience are appreciated, they are outweighed in large measure by the fact that its training, and the influence of association with fellow students, so changes the girl's point of view that the eligible men in her own class cease to interest her, and that a good marriage, in the sense in which that term is used socially, loses its glitter. Anxious for the social success of her daughter naturally the mother does not regard with favor a course of study which may kill her ambition for social preferment, and yet, if she is progressive, does not feel altogether justified in withholding from her child latter-day opportunities for intellectual development. Herein lies the problem which she worries over for years, and usually decides in the negative.

No better illustration than that of stunting a girl intellectually and depriving her of the inestimable experience of college life, because of the fear that she may marry out of her class, could be adduced to prove the truth of the contention that we are a long way, as yet, from practicing social democracy. To deprive the girl of higher education is far more reprehensible than foreign practices in regard to which we are most virtuously indignant, and the time will come when the force of public opinion will demand justice, not only for the girl's sake, but also for that of the nation. Those mothers who substitute the ideals of caste for those of culture, cripple their daughters intellectually, and stunt them morally.

Porch Furniture.

In selecting porch furniture, avoid rustic chairs. They collect dust which is absolutely impossible to remove. Such chairs are best suited for garden purposes, and then only in very large gardens or flower yards.

A soft rush chair, the wood work of which is smooth and plain, is best, and a light oak is to be preferred to dark green or a painted piece, as it does not show the dust.

One should have all rockers covered with half-rounds of rubber, to prevent the scratching of the porch floor.

Costuming Hints.

Watches were never daintier than they are now.

• • •

Many sleeves are buttoned from shoulder to wrist.

• • •

• • •

Sweet peas nod on summer hats.

• • •

Paris says colors are growing crude.

• • •

White crepe ruching, doubled, is much used as a finish for neck and lace.

• • •

New effects in net are a leading feature of the lace and trimming departments.

• • •

Even lingerie waists of the most costly sort have adopted the little soutache braid.

• • •

For linen suits, and in fact for suits and frocks of all washable materials, the Irish crochet buttons promise a vogue such as they have never yet enjoyed.

• • •

Filet net stockings in lisle and in silk are the rage of the moment.

• • •

The separate waist and skirt has almost disappeared from view.

• • •

The gold and silver rose of the winter reappears on the shirred taffeta hat.

• • •

When two immense roses appear on the same hat they are unusually flat in shape.

• • •

Jet has not lost its popularity, and it appears frequently upon gowns and hats.

• • •

Lace will be more than rivaled in popularity by embroidery and braid trimming.

• • •

One of the new French toques is termed the "Marie Antoinette." It is made of soft straw or shirred liberty satin.

• • •

Ribbons still have a strong hold upon the coiffure, and are wound in and out with the hair while it is being done up.

BODY OF MISSING MAN.

Barnesville, Minn., April 22.—The body of Robert Hutchinson, who left his home last November, after telling his family that he was going to a neighbor's, was found Tuesday twelve miles north of Fargo, in the Red river, where the Cheyenne empties into it. The body looked as if it had been in the water only a short time. Whether he drowned himself or fell through the ice may never be known. When he left home he had $2 in his pocket, but when found there was not a thing on his person to tell whose the body was. He leaves a wife, two girls and one boy. One of the girls, Miss Latto, is seriously ill at her with brain fever.

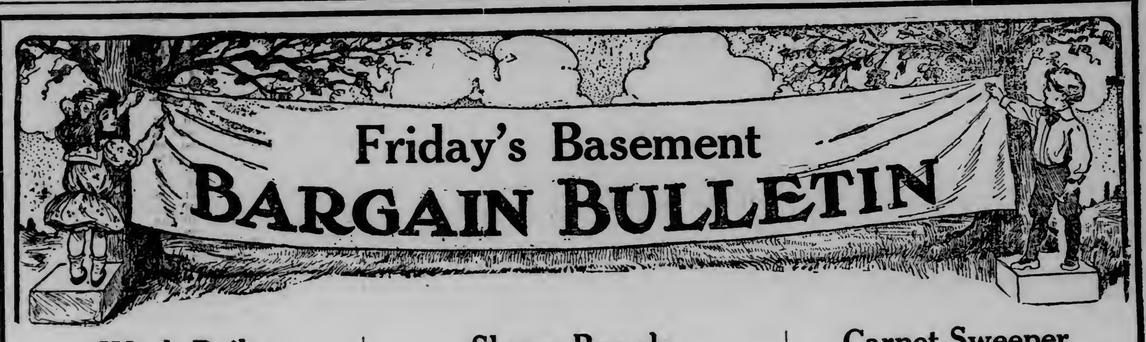

NEGRO IS HEIR TO $35,000.

California Authorities Endeavoring to Find Trace of Missing Black.

Sioux City, Iowa, April 22.—Heir to an estate valued at $35,000, Charles Elgin, a negro, is being sought by the officers of Oakland, Cal. Elgin ran away and joined a circus in Fayette, Mo., when he was 11 years old. Hiram Elgin, his father, who was a cotton grower, died recently in California. Elgin was married here in 1898 under the name of Charles Williams, to Kate Taylor, but nothing has been heard of him lately.

HOMESTEAD SHACKS TAXABLE PROPERTY.

Fargo, N. D., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Amidon of the United States court has upheld the decision of one of his referees to the effect that homestead shacks and residences are subject to taxation even if final proof has not been made. It is claimed that this is the first time the point has ever been passed on in court. Of course the land is not subject to taxation, but the court holds that all improvements are. The decision is a far-reaching one and may be carried up by homesteaders, though their improvements are rarely of such great value prior to final proof that the burden of taxation would be serious.

HOLD LANDS ON RESERVE

Those Who Filed on Lake Superior Reserve Need Not Worry.

The Rights of Entrymen Will Be Respected By Uncle Sam.

Bemidji, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Many residents of this vicinity filed on lands which are embraced within the territory which was supposed to have been included in the new Superior forest reserve, and there has been considerable speculation as to just what action the government would take relative to the filings.

Congressman Steenerson has written the following letter to Anton R. Erickson of this city, relative to the matter:

"Washington, April 12, 1909.—Mr. Anton R. Erickson, Bemidji, Minn.—My Dear Sir: Your letter of the 7th inst. in regard to stone and timber entries on land in St. Louis county, which has been included in the recently established Superior forest reserve, is received.

"I am advised by the bureau of forestry that this forest reserve does not affect any land upon which entries have been made and proof not as yet made, or where proofs have been made, but the entryman will hold his land the same as if a reserve had not been established, and he can make his proof the same as if there was no reserve, and he will continue to own his land in the reserve, after his proof is accepted and patent issued. The proclamation for the Superior forest reserve was issued by President Roosevelt.

"I trust this answers your inquiry. Cordially yours.

"H. STEENERSON."

PREPARING FOR GAMES.

Eveleth, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a meeting of the boys of the high school yesterday, Louis Andrews was elected captain of the baseball team and Walter Corbin manager. The team will be backed this season by the Crescent Literary society of the high school, and has already authorized the purchase of bats, balls and gloves. The team will turn out for practice next week and will have games arranged with Hibbing, Virginia and other range high school teams.

The White Sox, the Eveleth junior team, will be out next Sunday at the ball grounds for the first practice game of the season. William Brown, manager of the team, has been arranging games with some of the fast range town teams. Quite a number of fast local players are trying for the White Sox team.

The Independents, another local amateur team, will again be in the field this summer, and will hold a meeting of its members in a few days to elect officers.

KNIFE UNDER PILLOW.

Complaining Witness in Assault Case Got Into Trouble.

Eveleth, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Yesterday, in the municipal court, Martin Maurin was up on a charge of assault and battery, preferred by Marco Osterman. When Maurin was on the witness stand it was brought out that Osterman was his roommate and slept with a knife under his pillow, and made threats against many in the house. As there was evidence of an assault, Judge Prince fined both the defendant and complainant $5 each. The defendant paid his fine, but as the complainant had no money he is still in jail. All the witnesses testified that the complainant was the cause of all the trouble. Cases against Charles Jacobson and Mike Kalepich for drunkenness and disorderly conduct, were dismissed.

AURORA APPOINTMENTS.

Village Council Names C. T. Murphy as Village Attorney.

Aurora, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The village council last night appointed Charles T. Murphy village attorney, succeeding D. H. Lawrence of Two Harbors, who did not seek reappointment. The other appointments were not taken up because of the absence of President Charles Olson. The State Bank of Aurora was designated as the village depository.

Half a dozen applicants for liquor licenses were disappointed on being informed that the new liquor law limits the number of saloons to one for every 500 inhabitants.

NATHAN LAMPSON DEAD.

Old Eveleth Citizen Passes Away After Several Months' Sickness.

Eveleth, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nathan Lampson, about 40 years old, one of Eveleth's oldest settlers, died at 1 o'clock this morning. For some years he was foreman for Drake & Stratton, at the Fayal mine, but has been sick the past few months. The exact cause of death is not known. He is survived by his wife and one child.

EVELETH ODD FELLOWS TO CELEBRATE TUESDAY

Eveleth, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Odd Fellows are making preparations for a celebration next Tuesday night in the Monitor hall, to commemorate the ninetieth anniversary of Odd Fellowship. The arrangement committee, composed of Robert Downey, Thomas Boundy, Richard Trevarthan, William Pope and Jacob Palki, assisted by a committee of Rebekahs, composed of Mrs. Richard Eddy, Mrs. F. C. Cerveny, Mrs. Richard Trevarthan, Miss Laura Kellow and Mrs. Mary Murray, are preparing a fine program which will be the more enjoyed by the addition of musical numbers, refreshments of cake, ice cream and dancing. A financial report of the local lodge will be received. Rev. Schwartz of the First Presbyterian church will deliver an address on "Odd Fellowship."

EVELETH DEPARTMENT PUT IN GOOD SHAPE.

Eveleth, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new current indicator at the fire hall has now been connected up and it in working order. Besides the current indicator, four buttons had been placed in close proximity to it which, when pushed open up the doors for the horses, ringing bells and lighting the incandescents. A large clock is also attached giving the correct time at all hours of the day, and a dial showing the pressure at all times coming from the pumping station, so that one can easily tell what the pressure is at all the hydrants. These new additions are great helps to the men in the department, and also make the department one of the best equipped on the range.

MERCHANTS ARE BUYING FREELY

Future Assured, Range Business Men Prepare for Good Trade.

Eveleth, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Traveling men who have made Eveleth in the past couple of days are very much pleased and say that the veto of the tonnage tax has certainly increased their business.

When the senate passed the bill, all the merchants on the range refused to buy goods until the bill would be vetoed by the governor and a number of the traveling men left the range on account of the slackening up of business.

The last few days the merchants have renewed courage and are buying with the knowledge that a good season is ahead of them. The vetoing of the tonnage tax was certainly a blessing to the range country.

HIBBING FEELS EFFECT OF VOTE

Hibbing, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The restoration of confidence in the future of Hibbing and the balance of the range, that came with Governor Johnson's veto of the iniquitous tonnage tax bill, is felt in every line of business. Depression has given away to buoyancy and on every side optimism has taken the place of pessimism.

The best illustration of this "era of good feeling" is shown in the amount of building that is under way. Work was begun today to entirely remodel the buildings owned by Mrs. Hibbing and occupied by J. A. Miller, as a curio store and Mixe's restaurant. An entire new front will be put in; the latter building and new ceilings and walls will adorn the inside.

The building which Joseph Flowers is constructing on Center street is practically completed and will be ready for occupancy in a short time. The building is a two-story brick, and adds considerably to the opinion of a great many that Cedar and Center streets will soon be as thoroughly business as Pine and Third streets.

Mrs. P. H. McPhail is erecting a new two-story building on Third avenue. Mrs. McPhail will occupy the ground floor with a confectionary store when completed. Her present location will be by her leased for a barber shop.

Erick Nord has been appointed by the council to take the place vacated by Patrolman Wilson.

William Kitz, who has been in the dry goods business here for some years past and who recently closed out his affairs, has left for a two weeks' stay at West Baden from where he will proceed to Chicago to make his future home.

S. S. Scott left yesterday for Duluth to be absent a couple of days on business.

A. H. Konze was a business visitor yesterday in Hibbing. Mr. Konze has opened up his new billiard hall in Chisholm and will install bowling alleys as soon as the building can be gotten in shape to receive.

Dud Hailey, who has been attending law school in Milwaukee has returned home for a two weeks' visit with his parents.

There is great joy in the home of George Kelly of Fourth avenue over the arrival of a son.

OLIVER CLUB AS HOST.

Entertainment to Be Given This Evening By Hibbing Organization.

Hibbing, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Oliver club, a social organization maintained by the officers and office men of the Oliver Iron Mining company, will be the scene of an entertainment tonight, to be given for club members and guests. It will consist of a program of athletics and music, marking the debut of the new orchestra recently organized under the leadership of O. J. Tucker.

The orchestra is composed of twelve or more players, many of whom had considerable experience before coming to Hibbing. All are employes of the Oliver Iron Mining company.

A brass band has also been organized by the club members. It is composed of twenty-four players. A set of new instruments, silver plated and of a high grade, arrived recently and nightly practices are being held in the auditorium of the club building. The band is under the leadership of Charles Bennett, an employe of the Oliver machine shop. Mr. Bennett formerly lived in Tower, and while there organized the boys' band, which gained considerable fame in the county.

TO RAISE CHURCH DEBT.

Eveleth M. E. Church Women Inaugurate Money-Raising Campaign.

Eveleth, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The women of the M. E. church have started a campaign to raise $6,000, necessary to lift the church debt.

They have divided themselves into two teams, led by Mrs. Penrod and Mrs. Ellsworth. Those under Mrs. Penrod will wear white ribbons and those under Mrs. Ellsworth the blue. The contest will last up to June 16, and longer if found necessary. In addition, they will do home cooking for the public and turn in the profits. The white ribbonettes have already announced a home cooking sale to take place Saturday at 2 p. m. at the Eveleth Cash grocery.

The members of the two teams are Mesdames James Floyd, J. C. Bradford, Bawden, Cavener, James Wilson, John Wilson, J. F. Williams, A. Peterson, Provor, J. A. Robb, Angove, Trengove, Bloomfield, Penrod, Nancarrow, Cornwell, C. E. Hailey, Dungan, Ellsworth, Alfred Davey, Nettie Morrill, Edwards, Ferris, Robert Johnson, Nannibal Hart, Krinning.

MUCH BUILDING IS UNDER WAY

Several Structures Are Already Under Way in Nashwauk.

Nashwauk, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald)—The ruins of the buildings owned by Dominic Tarro and E. J. Cram, which were destroyed by fire last winter, are being removed and new structures will soon be in course of erection on the site.

W. A. Gordon is completing the remodeling of his residence on Third street, where he will live as soon as the building is completed. Mr. Gordon has rented the Q. P. hotel to a party from Ironwood, Mich.

Mr. McCloud of Minneapolis, arrived Tuesday, to examine the work on the new high school building, for which he has the contract.

Capt. E. Thomas of Ely arrived here Monday. He will take charge of the underground work at the Pearson mine, under Supt. Fred Cram. It has been rumored that the mine will employ 200 men the coming season.

The Hawkins mine has completed the repairing of the engines and steam shovels, and is waiting for word to start shipping ore.

The Catholic ladies are holding a bazaar at the village hall, which will last four days, beginning Tuesday. A delicious supper was served Tuesday evening. Many fancy things are being exhibited.

The building owned by Mrs. Sarah Blurd has been quarantined the past week, on account of scarlet fever. An occupant of the house is reported to have died with the disease.

Officials of the Larne and Crosby mines were here in their special cars Wednesday to look after their properties. It is expected that an independent company is about to establish a telephone line here. Some days ago three outside men were here looking over the field and were entertained by a committee of the Commercial club. They seemed enthusiastic about the prospect and were of the opinion that Nashwauk is one of the coming towns on the range. These men are supposed to represent Minneapolis capitalists who are looking for openings in the telephone field. Such a line, if established here, would take in the neighboring villages of Keewatin, Calumet, Snowball and several construction camps.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORK.

Theme Discussed at Meeting Held at Coleraine Wednesday.

Coleraine, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—With delegates present from Coleraine, Bovey, Taconite, Marble, Nashwauk and other points on the Western Mesaba, an institute of the Minnesota Sunday School association was held in the Presbyterian church here yesterday afternoon and evening. Many matters pertaining to Sunday school work were discussed.

The following program was rendered:

Afternoon—Devotional exercises led by Rev. F. W. Hill of Coleraine. "In what way can the Sunday school be of of greater assistance to the home in teaching and training of the youth," by Miss Ruth F. Cole of Coleraine; "How may parents do more than they are now doing to help the Sunday school in the work of teaching and training the youth," by Mrs. E. H. Bither, Bovey; discussion on different topics led by the state representative, Mr. Trelstad of Duluth; announcements and benediction.

Evening—Song service, led by Rev. W. O. Garrett of Coleraine; address, "How the Sunday School Association may help the individual Sunday School and how the Sunday school may assist the association," by Mr. Trelstad of Duluth; offering, music, address, "Educational worth of the Sunday school," by Supt. J. A. VanDyke of Coleraine; discussion on topics presented in addresses, led by A. S. McCullough of Bovey; music and benediction.

REPAIR MAN INJURED.

Thomas Stratton Falls and Is Hurt at the Burt Mine.

Hibbing, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thomas Stratton, a repair man employed at the Burt mine, met with a serious accident yesterday afternoon while repairing one of the steam shovels. He had climbed up on the boom to make some necessary repairs and in some manner slipped and fell. Stratton was unconscious for about an hour. He was taken to the hospital, where an examination revealed a badly sprained arm and several wounds about the body.

LODGE RUNS THEATER NETTING A NICE SUM.

Hibbing, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local lodge of the Maccabbees took over the entire performance at the Power theater last night and sold tickets, the idea being to raise funds. The affair was a success both financially and artistically. The bill was the best shown at the theater this season.

MRS. LE BEAU BURIED; MANY ATTEND FUNERAL.

Eveleth, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Mrs. Napoleon Le Beau, wife of the assistant superintendent of water works, who died Monday night at her home on the Adams location of a sudden paralytic stroke received in the the morning was held yesterday afternoon from the St. Patrick's church under the auspices of the Lady Maccabees and Eagle lodges. Many lodge members were in attendance. Interment was at the Virginia cemetery.

GRAND RAPIDS HOTEL HAS CHANGED HANDS.

Grand Rapids, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Hearld.)—The Fountain hotel has been taken over by E. F. LaValle, recently of Lawrence Lake, north of Bovey, who is now in charge of the hostelry.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Doble, who have been running the hotel, have removed to Taconite, where they will run the I. O. M. Boarding house.

amidst quotation of crop statistics, that actual users were responsible for the high price, and that the cereal was worth all that was being paid for it.

"Were we entirely out of the market, prices would be as high or higher than they are," said the bull leader.

Since then the market has been declining in a way that the ordinary followers of Mr. Patten have been unable to explain. Today, instead of the recovery expected after the 6 cents decline of Tuesday and Wednesday, the market opened extremely nervous and weak. May sold at $1.28⅛ early, 3⅞ cents under yesterday's close and 8⅛ cents below the high price last week. July, in which the bulk of trading has been done recently, declined to $1.10⅜, 3⅛@⅜ cents below yesterday's close and 8⅛ cents under the record price last Friday.

Bears Pressed Advantage.

At these prices the market steadied, but showed no evidence of recuperative power. Bears jubilantly pressed their advantage, pointing to the weak foreign market as indicative of the correctness of the bear view that there is no world-wide shortage of wheat. Stop-loss sales were numerous.

Armour, who in a recent interview upheld Mr. Patten's bullish survey of conditions and whose house was credited with buying yesterday, was rumored to be selling on the Liverpool market.

In the Bartlett-Patten offices it was stated that there was no reason to change any statement previously made by Mr. Patten. The break in prices was characterized as a flurry. The lost ground, it was said, would be regained without any manipulation. Timid holders, it was declared, were unloading, frightened at the decline, or because their resources were insufficient to maintain them in the market. It was this class of traders mainly who expressed curiosity as to Mr. Patten's present views. Despite his assertion that he is not manipulating the market, they expected that he would prevent any such slump as the present one.

Among Mr. Patten's allies and intimates, however, the word "wait" was spoken optimistically, although some of them said "It looks funny the way the market acted."

Eight cents decline has made a big hole in paper profits, although to what extent no one can say, as no one knows the extent of the long lines held, nor at what prices purchased. Also there have been heavy actual losses among traders whose resources have given out and their trades closed.

pired men in the Constantinople garrison and the replacement of the remainder of the garrison by Saloniki troops; the punishment of soldiers according to the degree of their guilt in the revolutionary movement of last week and the transfer of the policing of Constantinople to the reformed Macedonian gendarmerie, all of these conditions to be executed with care and moderation in order to prevent bloodshed.

Contingents of the Third army corps have been sent to points in Asia Minor, notably Eski-Shehr, a station on the Anatolian railroad, to intercept fugitives and cut off communication with the capital on this side.

Americans In Peril.

Beirut, April 22.—Five American women missionaries are in danger at Hadjim, in the vilayet of Adana, Asiatic Turkey. One of them, Miss Lambert, has sent a message down to the coast asking for immediate help. The women are entirely alone and defenseless. The villages surrounding Hadjim are in flames and Hadjim itself is invested by Nomad tribes. Messages from the interior are being suppressed by the authorities.

Miss Virginia A. Billings, Miss Olive M. Vaughan, Miss Emily F. Richter and Mrs. Mary P. Rogers, wife of Rev. D. M. Rogers, who lost his life in Adana, are stationed at Hadjim.

The situation in the country north, east and west of Alexandretta arising from the anti-Christian outbreaks is serious. There has been massacre and pillage at Antioch and rioting at Birejik. Aleppo is in a state of panic, and there are but 400 Turkish soldiers in the city. Business is at a standstill and there is every reason to fear an outbreak. The city is full of Bedouin Arabs, Kurds and Circassians.

Kirikan, a short distance east of Beilan and southeast of Alexandretta, has been sacked and burned. At Ayas, on the west coast of the Gulf of Alexandretta, 418 murderers were released from prison. They joined the mob and began committing depredations.

At Tarsus 100 persons have been killed, houses have been burned, and there are today 5,000 persons without homes. Several native pastors from Antiab were killed while on their way to attend the district missionary meeting at Adana.

Al. H. (Metz) Wilson.

Al H. Wilson, the sweet singer and German dialect comedian, will be the attraction at the Lyceum tonight, tomorrow and Saturday matinee and night, in Sidney R. Ellis' romantic comedy drama, "When Old New York Was Dutch." In this play Mr. Ellis has furnished Mr. Wilson opportunities; both in the singing and acting lines, which are said to show him at his best. During the progress of the play the audience is drawn into the picturesque pioneer days of old New York, two centuries ago, and the heart interest is awakened by the love affairs of a young nobleman (Mr. Wilson), temporarily reduced to rags, and a young maiden of noble family. The play throughout appeals to those who appreciate strong sentiment, and a generous measure of the romantic. Mr. Wilson is supported this season by a competent cast, including Irma La Pierre, Julia Batchelder, Florence Stover, Edith Wright, Fletcher Harvey, William Balfour, Ross O'Neal, Richard Milloy, Ross Mobley, Max Myers, Vic Jossenberger, Olive Wright, Burt Sheridan, Rollin V. Mallory, Lillian Van Arsdale and Florry Sloan.

"The Melting Pot."

"The Melting Pot," Israel Zangwill's new play, with Walker Whiteside in the principal role, will be the attraction at the Lyceum on April 26, 27 and 28. Mr. Whiteside comes with the same splendid company, which ran for five months in Chicago, where its daring themes started a discussion that is now sweeping the country, the Jewish rabbis and Christian ministers lining up, part of each on one side and part on the other, Jew against Jew and Christian against Christian. No Jew, save one who stands in the high position of Mr. Zangwill, would have dared to advance the plan of the intermarriage of the people of the two religions, but this is what Zangwill has done in "The Melting Pot." He advocates the wiping out of religious differences between Jew and Gentile, the fusing together in the crucible of American citizenship and American life of all the old racial prejudices, and the refining of all the dross of the ages into the pure gold of a higher life in the melting pot—America. Whiteside plays the part of David Quixano, a young Russian Jewish composer, whose parents have been butchered at Kisheneff, he barely escaping with his life, to flee to America. Here he meets Vera Ravendal, Russian girl, Christian, revolutionist, settlement-worker and daughter of Baron Ravendal, "The Butcher of Kisheneff." Unaware of her parentage Quixano falls in love with her. Later he learns the truth. In the scene in which he denounces the butcher, describes the massacre, and renounces his love, Mr. Whiteside is said to present a scene, which, for power and force has seldom been equalled. In the supporting company are Crystal Hearne, John Blair, Henry Bergman, Grant Stewart and many other players of equal note. The production is under the management of Liebler & Co.

MEETING WILL BE IMPORTANT

Several Live Matters to Come Before Commercial Club.

Important matters are slated for consideration of the West Duluth Commercial club members at the regular meeting of the club tomorrow evening. One of the first things to be done will be to pass a resolution of thanks to Governor Johnson in vetoing the tonnage tax measure. Many of the individual members of the club have already wired the chief executive of Minnesota their thanks.

The West Duluth delegation to the session of the St. Louis County clubs at Virginia will report tomorrow evening. The party from West Duluth included L. A. Barnes, L. A. Sulcove and P. H. Martin. If the business session is long enough, the Commercial club members may also consider the proposition of agitating for more parks and public playgrounds.

The West Duluth club will join hands with the Superior club in the matter of the Grassy Point bridge. Already each club has petitioned congress to provide that when the Northern Pacific constructs the bridge, it shall be required to have a passageway for pedestrians and team traffic. The charter under which the bridge is to be built states that whatever congress shall deem necessary for the accommodation of people on either side of the bridge, shall be provided by the railroad company.

Church Services.

Services were held last evening at the Asbury M. E. church by the congregation of the Finnish Apostolic Lutheran church, about 100 members attending. Services will also be held at the church tomorrow evening.

Will Visit Cloquet.

A party of young people at West Duluth will leave Saturday afternoon for Cloquet, Minn., where they will attend a party Saturday evening. Among those who have signified their intention of attending are: Misses Oro Bleau, Mary and Frances Polinski and Ernest Bleau, Alphonse Bleau and Ed Winters.

Lodge Anniversary.

Fraternity lodge No. 860, M. B. A. celebrated the twelfth anniversary of the order and the fifth of the lodge last evening at Gilley's hall. The program was varied, consisting of a number of speeches, a pie social, and ending with a dance.

Among those who spoke during the evening were L. A. Barnes, W. H. Richter and J. C. Wesenberg. The lodge has a membership of about 205 members.

DEATH LIST IS GROWING

One Embassy Places Fatalities in Turkey at 15,000.

Armenians Well Armed Against Attack By Moslem Tribesmen.

Constantinople, April 22.—The situation in Asiatic Turkey, according to the latest intelligence received here, is very threatening. The wave of fanaticism, which originated in Adana ten days ago and found its expression in the killing of Christians, is spreading generally through the eastern provinces. Upward of 10,000 Armenians were massacred in Syrian towns and villages, principally in the vilayet of Adana during outbursts of fanatical zeal which took place at the time of the spring festival in honor of Mohammed and on the receipt of the overturn of the government in Constantinople. One embassy places estimates of killed as high as 15,000.

A dispatch received from Mersina says the Armenian town of Hadjim in the northern part of Adana vilayet is beleaguered by Moslem tribesmen, who are only awaiting sufficient strength to rush the improvised defenses erected by the Armenians. The Armenians, however, are well armed and will put up a vigorous defense.

Reports Roger's Death.

London, April 22.—A message received here from Tarsus, referring to the casualties there, says Rev. D. M. Rogers, the American missionary, was killed, but that the other Americans are safe.

This communication is taken to indicate that Henry Maurer, who was reported to have been killed at the same time as Mr. Rogers, is alive. It was sent by Thomas D. Christie, a missionary at Tarsus, at midnight, to the Bible Lands missions here.

Is a Hoosier Girl.

Elkhart, Ind., April 22.—Miss Rose Lambert, a missionary at Hadjim, who has asked for protection for the mission there is daughter of Rev. and Mrs. George George Lambert of this city. She has been a missionary of the Mennonite brethren ten years and is 20. Her father has been in Europe a year, and is on his way home.

Mrs. Lambert has been informed by her daughter that she and two sisters, named Baldwin, whose home is in Michigan, have charge of an orphanage school, in which there are about 400 children, and that the school is a haven for Christian forces.

Miss Lambert determined to become a missionary at a revival meeting conducted by her father, who declared that every one should answer the call of God when he heard it, no matter to what field. He was astonished when his daughter proceeded to the platform and announced that she would go to Turkey, but he did not oppose her. She previously had been a typesetter in the Mennonite publishing house.

WANTED TO KNOW.

Mayor Haven was one of a group of men standing on the rear platform of a West Duluth car last evening. Two of the men were discussing the tonnage tax bill and its veto by Governor Johnson. Two lumberjacks were squeezed up against the back of the car, smoking, and listening to the conversation. Finally one of the woodsmen turned to the other and, in a low voice, asked: "Say, Jack, who is this Bill Tonnage, anyway?"

LAKE SEAMEN ARE VOTING

Will Decide Whether They Favor a Strike or Not.

In accordance with the instructions received recently from the head officials of the Lake Seamen's union, the organization at the Head of the Lakes this afternoon began taking a referendum vote on the advisability of declaring a strike. A large number of ballots were cast during the day, but as the vote was secret no intimation could be obtained as to the probable outcome. Balloting will continue several days and until a sufficient vote has been cast to determine the sentiment of the union body beyond doubt. The feeling among local shipping men is that the local union will follow the lead of Chicago and declare against a strike, and that some settlement agreeable to both sides will be reached before the opening of spring navigation.

CHILDREN WERE CAUSE OF FIGHT

Dan Maher, 731 West Fourth street, was fined $1 and costs by Judge Cutting in municipal court this morning for assaulting John P. Melander of 719 West Fourth street.

The original trouble began with treatment said to have been accorded the defendant's children by Mrs. Melander. Mr. Maher resented what he heard of the actions of the woman, and, meeting her husband on the street, had an argument with him.

According to the story told the police, Maher grabbed Melander by the ears and shook him violently. Maher was arrested, but the judge concluded there was some reason for Maher's anger, and let him down with a light fine.

TWO ORPHANS MISSING: KIDNAPING IS FEARED.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 22.—A Journal special from Beloit, Wis., says: William Thomas Northey, aged 6, and Doris May Northey, aged 9, two orphans, are missing, and are believed to have been kidnaped by a relative. It is thought they the on the way to Ireland.

Charles Northey, grandfather of the children, and a 12-year-old brother, are distracted over the disappearance of the little ones. The supposed kidnapers and children went to Janesville, from which all trace has been lost.

ORGANIZE FOR REAPPORTIONMENT.

The attention of the entire state of Minnesota is earnestly called to the following paragraph in Governor Johnson's message to the legislature vetoing the tonnage tax bill:

> Northern Minnesota claims, with some show of reason, that had its counties a legislative representation based on a just population apportionment, this bill would never have passed. Fifty-nine counties of this state receive more money from the state treasury than they pay into it, and it scarcely seems possible that these districts should attempt to impose upon another section of the state a system of taxation based upon an inequality. Such attitude obviously threatens the state with a condition of sectional hatred and prejudice which is ominous to the state's future peace, harmony and progress.

The Herald has proved conclusively, upon several occasions, in the past few weeks, that the passage of the tonnage tax bill through both houses and the final defeat of all reapportionment at this session of the legislature were intimately connected; that, in fact, they are parts of one and the same plan.

Some people who want reapportionment have also wanted the tonnage tax law. But the point of this matter,—and it is a very serious point to be considered, is just here: if the denial of equitable representation can be made use of to thrust upon one section of the state a law to which that section is to a man opposed, that same denial of representation can be made use of to oppress in like manner some other section of the state. The lesson is absolutely plain. The first duty of Northern Minnesota is to stand as one man for a reapportionment of the state, which will give every county in the state a representation based upon its population.

Reapportionment is dead until the next session of the legislature. Before that session convenes we shall have a new enumeration of the people of the state, and the glaring inequalities of representation in the Minnesota state legislature will be more strikingly shown than ever. Now is the time for Northern Minnesota to act. It can never secure its rights, until it secures this fundamental right,—that it shall be represented by just as many lawmakers at St. Paul as is an equal population in some other portion of the state. This is Northern Minnesota's supreme need at this time, but it will never secure it, until it makes its supreme need its supreme issue. On the other hand, united effort, beginning right now, and continuing right up to the end of the next session of the legislature will secure a just representation for the future just so surely as the next session of the legislature is held.

What Northern Minnesota needs, to secure its fundamental right to representation in the legislature, is unity of purpose and coherence of effort. No practical, systematic effort has yet been made to secure justice in this respect. Northern Minnesota already has the votes to secure a proper apportionment, for the entire state from and including the Twin Cities north, is in favor of reapportionment. What is needed now and at once is organization. A reapportionment league should be formed at once with funds sufficient for a determined and systematic and continuous campaign to unite the people in a demand for reapportionment. Such a demand is a latent power; it can be made active, when it can no more be resisted than can the rising of the tide.

Equitable representation in the legislature is the fundamental need of the people of Minnesota today; without it, the state is subject to the greatest evils, for such is always the case when the few have more power than the many.

NO MORE RACE PROBLEMS WANTED.

The underlying causes for the anti-Japanese agitation upon the Pacific coast are functional, not economic.

It is not because they fear the importation of cheap labor from Japan that the people of California and other coast states look with dread to a possible immigration from Japan. That is a matter which was met and successfully dealt with in the case of the Chinese, and if the labor problem is all that they bring us, the problem of the Japanese can be just as successfully solved. But it is not the fear of cheap labor that causes the anti-Japanese outbreak on the coast, but a far more serious thing—the fear of another race problem, the fear that the West may be called upon to go down into the valley of death as was the South, and to toil as painfully and as long up to the plains and the mountain peaks of life and prosperity. It is the spectre of another race problem that scares the West.

"From his first entrance into the Golden state," says Representative Kahn of California, an earnest supporter of President Roosevelt in his Japanese policy, "the Chinaman was willing to concede absolute domination to the white inhabitants. He did not care who was president, or governor, or mayor. He took no interest in our governmental affairs. He made no pretense, whatever, to social equality. He was content to be a hewer of wood, and a drawer of water, and he was ever ready to concede that the white man was his social, mental and moral superior. So that the Chinese question never rose to the dignity of a race question. But with the advent of the Japanese coolies, the situation changed radically. The Chinese coolie was docile, obsequious. The Japanese coolie is defiant, tricky, cocky. He, too, cuts wages. He, too, consumes rice instead of meat. He, too, works long hours. But he also claims to be at least the equal of the white man, not alone socially, but in every other way."

Here lies the crux of the whole situation on the Pacific coast. The matter is one that calls for serious thoughtfulness on the part of every citizen, whether he lives in the West, the South, or the East. One race problem is more than we have been able to solve or to pay for as yet. We certainly do not want another. Simply by taking care we may now prevent a second; by being careless we may have to pay all over again the fearful price we have paid for the as yet not worked out solution of the negro problem.

The intelligent, conservative sentiment on the Pacific coast does not fear an immediate danger. It is not advocating retalatory measures against Japan because it fears that Japan is plotting a war. It believes, in fact, that Japan is earnestly endeavoring to carry out its agreement, in good faith, to prevent its coolies from coming to this country. It is not the government of Japan that is feared, but the Japanese people, the Mongolian race in its highest development, the brown man from Dai Nippon. If the Japanese government can make good its pledges and keep its brown men on its own side of the Pacific, all will be well with both nations, but if Nippon cannot hold back its people, then all this country must unite with the Pacific coast in maintaining Asiatic exclusion.

THE JUSTIFICATION.

The people of Minnesota rejoice today that their confidence in Governor Johnson has again been justified. Particularly in Northeastern Minnesota, this stronghold of Republicanism, where the people abandoned party and voted for John A. Johnson because they believed that he would give them a square deal whatever might be the issue,—here particularly do people rejoice that their confidence has been justified.

The Herald naturally rejoices along with the rest, for it was upon its advice, as well as upon their own judgment, that hundreds and thousands put their trust in John A. Johnson last November. The Herald therefore has double cause to rejoice, for its own confidence has been justified, and it has been made most abundantly sure that it did not in the least lead its readers astray, but that on the contrary it assisted them, in some small measure, to their completest victory.

Their completest victory,—for the victory over the tonnage tax agitation would not have been quite so complete had some other man than John A. Johnson sat in the governor's chair on Tuesday last. Because Johnson is a Democrat? Not at all. But because through four years of conspicuous service in their behalf, the people of Minnesota have come to know Governor Johnson and to thoroughly believe in him. When he vetoes the tonnage tax, therefore, and sets forth his reasons for the veto, he speaks with greater authority than any other man in Minnesota could speak. The record of four years of service in singleness of purpose, and the weight of the largest degree of public confidence ever given to any man in Minnesota, speaks in that veto message. When Governor Johnson condemns the tonnage tax he condemns it more thoroughly than any other man in the state could do it. His word will carry weight where no other would be listened to. So Governor Johnson has rendered Northern Minnesota, and all Minnesota, a greater service than that of simply defeating the Bjorge tonnage tax bill. He has condemned the tonnage tax principle itself and with the strongest voice that can be raised against it.

In such fashion has Governor Johnson justified the faith that was reposed in him.

What an interesting parade the people who miss Roosevelt would make!

Turkey appears to be about cooked. Will Russia ask others in to dine or will she dine alone?

It seems appropriate at this time of housecleaning that Governor Johnson should hammer down the tonnage tax.

Northern Minnesota has got to fight for its rights and it should remember that education is its most effective weapon.

The excesses that we go to over the heroes that we know about just help to strike a fair average for the many that never get into the papers.

If all Minnesota from St. Cloud north had been as strong for reapportionment as is Governor Johnson in his tonnage tax message we might have had it ere this.

Discussing the game, seeing the game, and being paid to see the game are the three degrees of comparison of unalloyed joy, from which it appears that of all mortals the umpire is the happiest.

Thirteen million dollars is Minnesota's budget and Northeastern Minnesota will continue to pay three-fourths of it. Unburdened by a tonnage tax it will be able to pay and have plenty left for its 350,000 people.

Mr. Harriman intimates that he could save us money if he had the running of the government. Maybe; but he never saved us any as a dictator of railroads, and we are inclined to look with suspicion upon Mr. Harriman's singleness of purpose.

Economists say that a man ought not to pay more than one-seventh of his income for rent. President Taft has just paid $2,000 for one year's rent of the Stetson cottage at Beverly, Mass., so that the country is assured that he is living well within his income in this respect at least.

A. B. Stickney of the Great Western says that he is going to retire and take it easy. Other railroad magnates will be able to take it easier if Mr. Stickney retires, also, for the former president of the Great Western had an embarrassing habit of telling the truth in regard to railroad matters.

HOTEL GOSSIP.

G. J. Mitchell of Fort Frances was at the Lenox hotel yesterday. Mr. Mitchell says work upon the power dam that is being erected at the falls by the Backus-Brooks company, aided, it is believed, by Eastern capital, is progressing rapidly, and it is probably safe to state that the dam is half completed at the present time, according to the estimate of Mr. Mitchell.

Work upon the paper mill at International Falls, the biggest mill upon the continent, by the way, is also well under way. Then there is a pulpwood mill under course of construction at Fort Frances. The Backus-Brooks people are building the mill at the falls, while Canadian capital is interested in the mill upon the Canadian side of the boundary line.

The big dam at the falls will be utilized for power purposes. It is proposed, according to Mr. Mitchell, to generate electricity with the power obtained from harnessing the river.

Mr. Mitchell says that both International Falls and Fort Frances are growing. Fort Frances will have electric lights by next September. It is expected that many tourists will come to the falls this summer.

Mr. Mitchell believes that the manufacture of paper from the pulpwood of the northern part of the state will become a great industry at International Falls, with the completion of the paper mill. The mill upon the Canadian side of the line will manufacture from the Canadian pulpwood. These industries are expected to add additional prosperity to the growing towns of International Falls and Fort Frances.

Ex-Governor Folk of Missouri is the kind of a man who grows upon you. The first glance at the prosecutor who sent the gang of St. Louis boodlers to the penetentiary leads to the opinion that Mr. Folk is a quiet, kindly man, whom you would never suspect of conducting one of the greatest, if not the greatest, anti-graft campaign that has ever been waged in this country. But to get a different opinion of the ex-governor of the state of Missouri it is only necessary to get him wrought up upon some subject.

Then you will see the strong, fighting lines in the face of the Missourian. Mr. Folk is the kind of a quiet man who deceives. It is said that big Ed Butler, the grafting king of St. Louis, smiled in amused derision when he was informed that Folk had started after the scalp of some of his cohorts.

Butler refused to take the young prosecuting attorney seriously. It was considered highly amusing among the grafting assemblymen of St. Louis.

They didn't know Mr. Folk. How soon this smiling, sneering, derisive attitude changed to one of fear. The men who had laughed at the little prosecuting attorney begged to have this fanatic called off—this new kind of a grafter, whom they said, would stop prosecutions when he received his price.

Again were the grafters and corrupt business men of the city of St. Louis mistaken. They had taken an extremely superficial view of Joseph W. Folk. How soon they were to learn the true estimate of the man. They came on their knees to the prosecuting attorney, begging for mercy. Some of the grafters "squealed." They turned state's evidence. They peached upon their pals in iniquity. It was in these strenuous times, that Joseph W. Folk showed to the people of St. Louis of Missouri, and of the United States, what manner of man he was.

It is said that Mr. Folk never became angry; never lost that quiet manner, that leads many to mightily misjudge the man. It is this quiet manner, this kindly smile, that has caused many to fail to comprehend the iron that lies beneath the surface in this man.

But merely ask the reformer some question about graft, about the crusade of reform, get him interested once, and you will begin to see the Joe Folk that made a hell of haunting fear for the doers of municipal evil of St. Louis. You will get a flash of the fighter, the relentless opponent of graft and wrongdoing in the body politic. That is the kind of a fight he waged at St. Louis, and it is the kind of a fight Mr. Folk says he is going to keep on waging.

Mr. Folk was the recipient of many calls at the Spalding yesterday. He showed a deep interest in the tonnage tax, and also in the municipal affairs of Duluth.

THE WEATHER.

The little snow flurry this morning was short lived, and was promptly followed by bright sunshine. The weather man looks for fair weather tonight and Friday, with moderate winds.

The sun rose this morning at 5:07 and will set this afternoon at 7:06, making thirteen hours and fifty-nine minutes of sunlight.

A year ago today the weather was dry and fair.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Slight barometric depressions overlie western Lake Superior, Mexico and British Columbia. During the past twenty-four hours these disturbances, in connection with another that moved northeastward into the lower St. Lawrence valley, caused rain or snow in the North Atlantic districts, the lake region, Upper Mississippi and Red River valleys, Kansas, Colorado, New Mexico, Utah and Wyoming. Colder weather attends an increase in pressure over the central valleys, lake region and Northwest, freezing temperature extending southward to and including Nevada, Utah, Colorado, Nebraska and Iowa. A ridge of high pressure extends from Kansas to Oregon. The British Columbia low pressure is attended by warmer weather."

Heney Said to Control.

Sacramento Bee: The Medford (Or.) Tribune complains bitterly of the influence of Francis J. Heney at Washington, declaring that for nearly four years he has named United States attorneys, federal marshals and land office officials in that state, and that the appointment of a new federal judge for Oregon is held up until Heney passes upon the fitness of the candidates. The Tribune closes with this observation:

"If President Taft is to continue Heney's dictation in Oregon affairs, he will complete the demoralization of the Republican party in Oregon."

The Republican party in Oregon deserves to be demoralized if it cannot furnish candidates honest and public-spirited enough to stand Heney's scrutiny. It would be a good thing for California if he had the same influence regarding federal appointments in this state which the Tribune credits him with for Oregon.

THE TONNAGE TAX VETO

Minneapolis Journal: Governor Johnson did a courageous and sensible thing when he vetoed the Bjorge tonnage tax bill yesterday. A native of the southern part of the state, whence has come the most insistent demand for the immediate enactment of the law, the governor nevertheless was able to take a broad and statesmanlike view of the matter. In his veto message he goes straight to the point, without turning or trimming. He states the well-known objections to the bill clearly and cogently. He shows that it is hasty, unscientific, experimental legislation, and probably unconstitutional; that it aims a vicious blow at a single section of the state through its principal industry, and is, therefore, calculated to arouse sectional feeling and imperil the state's development; that the present system of ad valorem taxation is working well, yielding a revenue that is thirty-three times as great as it was a decade ago; and that the better course is to proceed slowly, after due study of the various problems involved by the state tax commission.

Declining to "play politics," the governor speaks plainly. He declares that fifty-five counties are now receiving more money from the state than they pay to it in taxes, and adds that it scarcely seems possible that such counties should now strive to impose on another section of the state a system of taxation based on an inequality. He calls attention to the fact that, if the legislature had done justice to the northern counties and given them fair representation according to population, the bill could not have been passed. These are not the shifting and plausible arguments of a politician, but the plain speaking of a public man who is not afraid.

The fact is that Minnesota has arrived at a critical point in her career. The whole future is now at stake. We have developed a dangerous tendency in the legislature and elsewhere to treat taxation as a means of punishment and revenge. Our lawmakers, finding their inspiration to a large extent, no doubt, in an unreflecting public sentiment, are inclined to pile the burdens of taxation heavily on the corporations, both railroad and industrial.

The future growth of Minnesota depends to a very great extent on the activity of capital within the state's borders. Entitled to no privileges above those of ordinary citizens, these corporations must, nevertheless, be treated with fairness and justice, if they are to do their share in the work of developing the marvelous, but scarcely touched resources of the state. Any other course means that capital will pass Minnesota by and engage in other commonwealths, where the people and their representatives are not so short-sighted. The tonnage tax bill was a peculiarly unfortunate exhibition of this tendency, because it sought to lay a heavy and unequal burden on one section and one industry.

Superior Telegram: Governor Johnson of Minnesota has placed himself in the class of real statesmen of the constructive kind in vetoing the iron ore tonnage tax bill. • • • The tax bill is now dead with every probability that it will remain dead for a long time. Northern Minnesota is happy, and Northern Wisconsin, the prosperity of which is in some particulars linked with that of Northeastern Minnesota, also rejoices.

Minneapolis Tribune: The next time the governor's enemies in both parties and in his official family think they have put him up against it, they will remember the tonnage tax veto. He is a man of peace and doesn't mind playing a little politics on the side. But when crowded into a corner he is a hard hitter with a long reach.

It is impossible to read that message without finding in it the ring of sincere conviction. He met the issue squarely. He could have signed the bill without giving reasons. A veto had to be defended, and it would have been hard to conceal base or mean political motives in so conspicuous an act. In a position where either course was sure to make enemies and invite misconception, we believe that the governor has put aside every other consideration to take that which he thought was right.

That separates the final act in this drama from all that have gone before. The tonnage tax never has been considered fairly on its merits. The Steel corporation tried to beat it with money—legitimately of course, by financing the amendment fight and junketing the senate. Demagogues tried to pass it by appealing to corporation hatred. Both parties played politics and appealed to sectional jealousy. The governor was so hemmed in that the line of least resistance was the neglected consideration of merit. He was wise and bold enough to take it.

Not since Hughes vetoed the 2-cent fare bill has it been given to a governor to serve his state so well. Whatever the academic virtues of the tonnage tax, this bill had become so involved with lower considerations that its enactment would have been a public calamity. The governor has saved the state from a fiscal crisis with millions of revenue tied up in the courts. The state of New York has hung up $40,000,000 under the franchise tax Roosevelt jammed through.

Moreover, he has saved it from a sectional division more bitter at the beginning than that which separated North and South before the Civil war. If this isn't getting out of a hole, we don't know what would be.

Stillwater Daily Gazette: If the governor vetoes the tonnage tax bill, as he should, he will receive the warm congratulations of the northern portion of the state in particular, as well as the central part of the population, and if he does not sign the bill there will be a few who will be disappointed. This imposing any more than a just tax on any community is an injustice.

St. Cloud Daily Times (before the veto): It is not an exaggeration to say that the passage of this measure is due to sectional feeling—Southern Minnesota against Northern Minnesota, and a belief that the United States Steel company should be hit in this way. In doing so, it is very probable that the northern portion of the state, and thereby Minnesota as a whole, would be the greater sufferer. The governor is certainly placed in a position which will test his firmness, and determination to do what he regards as right, regardless of pressure. Under all the circumstances a veto of the bill seems to us the proper course.

Rochester Daily Bulletin: We of Southern Minnesota have little conception of the anxiety that has prevailed over the northern section of Minnesota in regard to the imposition of the tonnage tax on iron ore. If the state should levy a special tax on every bushel of barley we produce, what a cry would go up. The people of the north are as jealous of their iron crop. The prosperity of hundreds of communities depends upon the full operation of the mines, and the people would suffer much hardship if the Bjorge bill became a law. Governor Johnson's veto message will be misjudged by many, but the Bulletin believes it reveals the governor's knowledge of conditions and fair-minded statesmanship to a marked degree.

St. Cloud Times: The enactment of such a law would have been a grave mistake, and in interposing a veto Governor Johnson has performed one of the most meritorious acts of his three terms.

Brainerd Dispatch: Governor Johnson has vetoed the infamous Bjorge tonnage tax measure and in so doing has lifted a load from many a man's mind in the iron regions of Northern Minnesota. The action of the executive in exercising the right of veto in this instance and his fearless stand for what he thought was right will meet with the commendation of the people of Northern Minnesota, and throughout the state for that matter.

Winona Republican Herald: The newspapers of the northern section of the state appear to imagine that the people of Southern Minnesota strenuously urge the passage of the tonnage tax bill, which is far from the case. There is little public sentiment in this section for or against the bill, and there would be no popular uprising if Governor Johnson should veto it. The people of Southern Minnesota do not want an injustice done the iron range country and if this tax will work injury to them, as they generally claim, they would find no fault with the governor for withholding his approval of it. The clamor for this tonnage tax has been largely of a factitious origin, with no real public sentiment behind it that we have been able to discover.

Mankato Daily Free Press: Members of the legislature from Southern Minnesota are not making any complaint against the veto. They invariably voted in favor of the tonnage tax, believing that in so doing they were carrying out the wishes of their constituents. Senator Works of Blue Earth county voted against the bill and delivered a speech in opposition to its passage.

Crookston Times: Locally, the message has been received with considerable favor by both Republicans and Democrats, most of whom took the same stand as the governor, namely, that the measure would have been a severe blow to the development of Northern Minnesota. There is no question but that the governor has made himself a name in the history of Northern Minnesota and his backbone in opposing a measure which seemed to be popular in the greater portion of the state, will win him many friends.

The accident was the result of a "header" caused by the too sudden use of the brakes.

E. G. Chapman of Duluth has gone to Tower to occupy Cashier Hertges' position at the First National bank until the latter's return.

George S. West of Tower has gone to Des Moines, Iowa, where he will be married this week.

Work will begin at once on the West Duluth incline road, which will extend one and one-half miles to the summit of the hill, about 600 feet above the bay level. It is expected that the tracks will be laid by Sept. 1.

Rev. E. C. Bailey, who has been supplying the Unitarian pulpit for several Sundays, returned today to his parish at Beverly, Mass.

A. J. Miller and family leave in a few days for a two years' visit in Germany.

W. G. Peck of this city, who is now in Florida, has fallen in love with the winter climate there and has purchased a couple of orange groves in the highlands near the center of the state. The groves were bought from Mr. Kedney, brother of Mrs. C. A. Poole.

Fielder B. Chew, the well-known land attorney, has returned from a long visit at Washington.

Hoare's Easter concert at Turner hall last evening was poorly attended, not over 100 people turning out to hear the finest orchestral concert ever given in Duluth.

Pilgrim church was packed to the doors last evning by Duluth people gathered to learn of the works and needs of the Duluth Humane society. The meeting was called to order by Rev. E. M. Noyes, who turned the conduct of it over to Col. E. C. Gridley, president of the society. Addresses were delivered by Prof. W. F. Phelps, secretary of the chamber of commerce; Rev. Dr. A. W. Ringland, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and Judge Page Morris. Several ladies went among the audience and obtained about 100 new members for the society.

J. H. Malon, wife and family, and George Jonney, left today for Isle Royale. They are the keepers of Siskiwit lighthouse, which will now be put in operation for the season.

Herbert R. Tinkham, whose wife died yesterday after several weeks' illness at the residence, corner of Seventh street and Tenth avenue west, will leave tomorrow with the body for her former home in Maine.

HOW VIRTUE TRIUMPHED

Pearl, the Little Cut-Up, Learns Her Hard Lesson.

When papa died, he called brother to his bedside and told him that whatever else he did in life, he must look after the moral and financial welfare of his sisters, Pearl and Minnie, so when Pearl said she was tired, wanted to retire and end a discussion of morals for the evening, Jolly old brother, true to his trust, nearly choked the life out of the girl, and then, fearful that the punishment had not been severe enough, as there still seemed to be a spark of life left in her body, he humanely smashed her over the head with a poker.

Of course, the girl lived, because it was only the second act of "Why Girls Leave Home," given at the Lyceum last night, and as the heroine, she must be persecuted for three more acts before the curtain would end her labors for the day and permit her to go out to a Denver sandwich with the stage carpenter.

Slapped Her With Poker.

After big brother had wrung his sister's neck and given her a few fond cracks with the stove poker, and the honest young man who really loved her had remonstrated with him, both gentlemen kindly came down the stage and bowed their heads and permitted Dolly Fletcher—oh, such a wicked woman—to spirit the unconscious girl out of her home and carry her off to her roadhouse, to enable the girl to recuperate and give a quick finish to the villain and all his assistants at the big climax of the fourth act. That is Miss Fletcher took her to the roadhouse to place her in the villain's pow-wow-er, but what really happened was the incident suggested above.

Pearl was not a bad girl. Far from it. She really loved Sam Stone, a poor but honest young jackass whose devotion made up for his mental limitations, and her family thought she was falling into the clutches of Joseph White, supposed to be a rich and villainous New York clubman, who had nothing particular to do but to try to lure the girl from her home and to her ruin.

Poor old Sam Stone with his simple black suit, made by the Five Little Tailors of Cliffdeothe, Ohio, about the year of the Philadelphia centennial, was overshadowed by the brilliance of the gay old White, the man about town.

Pearl a Regular Cut-up.

When White came on in the first act, with his Oscar Hammerstein hat, his diamond-studded shirt bosom, and his cravanette, it is no wonder that poor Pearl, who had just returned from New York and had therefore never seen any swells, was dazzled. Besides that, she wanted to chase around with him, just to show the folks that she had a mind of her own, and maybe to make the other girls in town jealous.

White was all right in the first act, when he kept his coat on, but when he took it off in the second, any one with half an eye could have seen he was a shine. He looked more like a prosperous plumber from a side street in a suburban town, than a howling swell from New York, and he never, never could get into the best clubs wearing a white tie with a tuxedo.

White was a hot sport, just the same. He took Pearl, another girl to the swellest cafe in the town, and bought domestic champagne like a good fellow. The scenery in the swellest cafe seemed to be suffering from general debility, and they had a not over the bar, evidently to prevent the customers from spearing too much free lunch, but presumably it was the best place to be found.

"Is my sister in there?"

It was the deep voice of big brother, this being just prior to the poker-slapping incident. Sister was there, but she was not keen about meeting brother.

The handsome features of Joe White blanched at the sound of Dan Sherwood's (brother's) voice so he quickly invited Dolly Fletcher, the prosperous proprietor of a roadhouse, to join the party and hid Pearl under the table.

Brother Was Peeved.

Brother bounced into the room and barked several times at the other members of the cast. They came right back at him, and Pearl was sitting on the floor beside the table. He could easily have found her if he had his eyes open and wanted to, but the author of the play would not let him.

So brother went away again, disappointed, and Pearl, grief-stricken, hurled from her the property man's champagne with the knock-out drops in it, and announced she was going home.

"You induce the girl to go home with you, Dolly, and I will see her there," hissed the villainous White.

"Never fear," said the gaudy, but beautiful Dolly Fletcher, "I often loved her-r br-rother and he cast muh aside, and now I will do anything for r-re-venge."

But trustful Pearl wants to go to her own home before she goes to the home of the beautiful lady with the blue cockatoo hat, the white opera cloak, the pink dress, and the yellow slippers. So she goes home to receive the cracks on the head, and be spirited away to the beautiful lady's roadhouse unconscious.

A Generous Lockup.

All the lunk-heads in the East believe the notorious Dolly Fletcher when she says that Dan Sherwood killed his sister, and that she disposed of the body to cast suspicion from him. Nearly every member of the cast is locked up by the police, charged with the killing. Of course, they couldn't put mother in jail because as soon as the first act was over, mother had changed wigs and clothes, and was enacting the the trying role of Dolly Fletcher.

It was in the fourth act that the big climax came, of course, and it was also then the biggest laugh in the show was handed out. Pearl is confined to the roadhouse, to await the coming of the villain. Dolly Fletcher sends her meals in to her, and occasionally visits her in person, but she cannot leave the room, because a contle-paper negro with very red lips, stands just outside to prevent.

Finally, that old spendthrift, Joe White, enters. He still loves Pearl and means to get her in his power, which is where all first-class melodrama villains want to get the leading ladies. White has changed ends on his cuffs, donned a frock coat and a speckled trout vest, in place of his tuxedo, but he still wears the trousers that went with his alleged evening dress. He is feeling very flossy and advances down stage with a big swank.

"Ah, me gerl," says he, "At last you are where yuh must listen to muh. I seen that yer was avoiding muh, so I had yuh brung here."

"Have a care," says Pearl, as she hides a long piece of glass behind her.

The villain laughs noisily and scornfully, at the same time knocking the stick of glass to pieces with his cane and destroying the poor girl's only weapon of defense. Then he gets tired of waiting to clasp her in his arms, and he gives chase.

Locked in the Bed.

The girl squealing and running like mad, the villain puffing and blowing—he is a bit heavier than he was last season—first time they do a Marathon around the room, over beds, chairs and everything. Then the villain falls on to the bed, which is a folding affair, and the heroine, with great presence of mind, shuts him up in it, to the unbounded delight of every one in the audience.

Dolly Gets Hers.

Then the girl does a little smashing on her own account. She throttles Dolly Fletcher and breaks a water pitcher over the head of the colored guard.

It is great. The cheering lasts ten minutes, to borrow a sentence from the gentlemen who write up the political conventions.

Pearl hustles to town and to the jail, where her family and several other members of the cast are locked up. Although she hurries, Dolly Fletcher and White get there first, but they also visit the jail, a consideration on their part which permits the author to have them locked up in full view of the audience, when Poll tells all and everything comes out all right.

The program says "Why Girls Leave Home" is founded on an actual incident which occurred in the summer of 1903. Well, maybe it is.

WEALTHY FARMER IS KILLED IN RUNAWAY.

Washburn, N. D., April 22.—As Oscar Gustafson, a wealthy farmer residing seven miles north of Washburn, was returning home, a colt which he was driving with another horse became frightened at an object by the roadside and started a runaway that resulted in the death of Mr. Gustafson and the serious injury of his daughter. Another daughter and a son who was in the rig with them escaped injury.

ing according to the degree of kinship and also according to the amount of the bequest, became a law.

• • •

Among the bills that died were the amendments to the anti-pass law, for the benefit of firemen, policemen, etc., and the bill fixing 40 per cent as the standard rate of assessing property for taxation in this state.

• • •

Governor Johnson vetoed the Pugh bill, allowing the governor to appoint a court of claims to consider timber trespass cases which have gone to judgment on technicalities. The Lesure Lumber company and the Rat Portage Lumber company were interested.

On its last leg, the business of the Thirty-sixth session of the Minnesota legislature was very largely of a routine charteter yesterday afternoon and evening. Many bills—mostly of minor importance—were awaiting consideration, and it was a rush to see how many of them could be put through. The house was farther advanced than the senate, and was in a much easier position. In the senate a large general order was left unconsidered, but no bills of real importance were among those that died at the finish.

Yesterday afternoon the house killed the L. H. Johnson county agricultural school bill, partly because the senate had amended it out of recognition, and partly because the bill for agricultural high schools had already become a law, and in a measure met the demand for widespread agricultural education. There may still be county agricultural schools, and St. Louis county will have one of them, but there is to be no state aid for them.

When the Johnson bill was returned from the senate, its author moved that the house concur in all the senate amendments, and demanded a call of the house. When the members had been gathered in from the corridors, Representative Gates moved that the bill be indefinitely postponed, and he was supported by Representative Wells and others. The motion carried, 72 to 35.

Representative Holmberg again tried to advance the bill by Senator Johnston to prohibiting shipments of cream, except in refrigerator cars, the idea being to kill off the centralized creameries. The motion to advance the bill required eighty votes, and it got but sixty-nine, with forty against it. This made it evident that there was no hope for the bill.

After killing it in the morning, the house passed the Allen bill, continuing for two years more the annual tax levy of $175,000 for the extension of the state university campus. The forenoon vote was 42 for and 39 against, and the bill passed in the afternoon, 62 to 57, every member voting. The motion to reconsider the defeat of the bill was made by Representative Congdon of Duluth, who stated that he did so at the request of friends of the bill, though he had voted to kill the bill, and would do so again.

Representative Allen then had his bill increasing the university tax levy from .23 of a mill to half a mill, indefinitely postponed.

• • •

The Thorpe senate bill, providing for uniform bills of lading, was passed by the house in the afternoon, after the house had voted it down in the forenoon.

• • •

On motion of Representative Horton the house killed the senate bill, providing that persons to whom hunting licenses are issued must report the number of animals and birds taken by them, to the state game and fish commission.

• • •

The house passed the senate bill authorizing judges to suspend sentence and place on probation, persons convicted of first offenses, the punishment for which does not exceed five years in prison.

• • •

The bill by Senator T. M. Pugh of Duluth, reorganizing the staff of the Duluth naval militia to put it on the same basis as the United States navy, got through.

• • •

The house last night killed the bill by Senator Hall removing the limit upon campaign expenditures, under the impression that it repealed the corrupt practices act, as originally introduced. It did repeal the entire act, but the senate amended it so as to repeal only the sections putting a limit upon campaign expenditures, and leaving the sections which provide publicity of campaigns. Nobody in the house, apparently, knew that this change had been made, so the bill was defeated, getting 51 votes with 62 against it.

• • •

Among the bills passed last night by the house were the following:

By Senator Gunn—Authorizing the creation of park boards in cities and villages having a population of more than 1,000 and less than 10,000.

By Senator Calhoun—Prohibiting the payment or receiving of rebates on fire insurance premiums.

By Senator Anderson—Authorizing town boards to cause trees or hedges within road limits to be cut down when they are detrimental to the roads.

By the senate judiciary committee—Creating a state board of accountancy, and providing for the issuance of certificates to qualified public accountants who pass examinations.

• • •

The senate last night passed Representative Lobeck's bills prohibiting the importation of women into the state for immoral purposes, and prohibiting the detention of women in evil resorts for debt; the house bill providing a gravity tests on oils; the Stuart bill making the mortgage registry tax 10 cents per $100 instead of 50 cents, with an amendment requiring the concurrence of the house; and the house drainage committee's bill authorizing the state drainage commission to make a topographical survey of the state in order to frame a system of drainage that will prevent the outflow from one section flooding some other section.

• • •

The galleries were packed in both houses most of last evening, but the proceedings were rather tame most of the time, and along toward 10 o'clock the crowds began to thin out rapidly. Late in the evening a substantial lunch was served to both bodies with the compliments of George R. Kibbe, manager of the Merchants hotel.

STILLMAN H. BINGHAM.

MRS. McDONALD WEDDED AGAIN

Woman Who Made Trouble for Lumberman Is Married.

St. Joseph, Mo., April 22.—It was learned yesterday that Mrs. Amber Belle Hamilton Tourney McDonald of matrimonial fame was married secretly in St. Joseph the evening of March 9 last to D. D. McMillan, who told the officiating clergyman that he was a grain merchant of Minneapolis, Minn. The discovery was made through portraits of Mrs. Amber Belle Hamilton, published in connection with sensational stories in the St. Louis and Kansas City newspapers Sunday.

The photograph was recognized as that of a handsome woman, beautifully gowned, who for nearly a week following March 9, lived at the Hotel Metropolitan, this city, with her husband. Further inquiry developed the fact that they were married on the eve of their arrival in St. Joseph.

On the county records the woman's name appears as Mrs. Annie Belle Hamilton, Kansas City, Mo., and that of the man as D. D. McMillan, Minneapolis, Kan. That they gave their correct names and addresses to the recorder, however, is evidenced by the fact that the license was made out correctly. Accurate information was also given to the clergyman, Dr. W. H. Dobyns, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, who performed the ceremony.

Dr. Dobyns declined to solemnize the marriage unless assured that neither of the parties had ever been divorced. McMillan denied that either had been divorced. He then asked the pastor to keep the marriage quiet, explaining that they had "fixed things" at the recorder's office. The couple remained at Robidoux until March 14, when they left, leaving no forwarding address with the clerk.

EX-GOVERNOR SOLOMON OF WISCONSIN IS DEAD.

New York, April 22.—Edward Solomon, former governor of Wisconsin, is dead at Frankfort-on-Main. Years ago he was one of the foremost men in politics and reform movements. Born in Halbertstadt, Germany, Aug. 11, 1872, he was graduated from the University of Berlin, and came to the United States in 1849, settling in Wisconsin, where he was admitted to the bar in 1855. He was elected lieutenant governor of the state in 1861, and succeeded Governor Hardy the following year because of the death of the latter.

BRYAN COMING.

Will Lecture on "The Price of a Soul," May 10.

William Jennings Bryan will appear in Duluth upon the evening of May 10, when he will deliver his lecture, "The Price of a Soul," at the First Methodist church. This will be the first appearance of the Commoner in Duluth for some time. Strenuous efforts were made to have him here during the recent presidential campaign, but Mr. Bryan found it impossible to come to the Head of the Lakes then. He will appear in the Star lecture course.

St. Paul, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Delegates to the national biennial convention of the Young Women's Christian association are arriving in St. Paul today to attend the four-day meeting which begins this afternoon in Central Presbyterian church.

It is expected that about 500 delegates will be present at the opening meeting, and that 1,000 will be in attendance before the convention closes. This afternoon the meeting will be devoted to greetings and organization.

BAKERS' TRICK REDUCES WEIGHT OF BREAD LOAVES.

New York, April 22.—Although bakers in New York and vicinity have taken no concerted action either to raise the price of bread or to reduce the size of loaves, a canvass of scores of bakeries in this city reveals the fact that the full pound loaf is a myth. In all but three cases the loaves were shortweight, due to the high price of wheat. At a casual glance, however, the loaves were as large as before the recent raise in wheat prices, but examination showed that sticks had been resorted to give this appearance. More yeast is added to the dough, causing the bread to rise more and producing more air bubbles, thus creating an apparently full pound loaf.

MUST GO BACK.

Italian Girl to Be Sent Home to Native Land.

In company with an official of the immigration department, Marla Perrone, aged 18, started for Italy yesterday, but the Sunny peninsula will not be home for her, for her parents are dead and she has lost trace of her relatives. She is an alien, however, and she must be deported.

Since March 30 Maria has been confined in the county jail awaiting a disposition of her case. She was arrested in a house of ill fame in Hibbing, together with the proprietor and another inmate.

The other inmate is not an alien. She will stay in this country and will be held as a witness against the proprietor of the resort, who is awaiting action by the grand jury on a charge of harboring alien women.

MISSION PROSPERING.

The annual meeting of the Park Point Mission society was held in the mission hall last night. The attendance was large and the reports of the officers of the several branches of the society showed them all to be in excellent condition. The report of the treasurer showed that during the past year the receipts have been $1,434.35 and the disbursements $1,372.35, leaving a net balance in the treasury of $62.25.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: Henry C. Harrington, treasurer; Benjamin M. Buckminster, secretary; J. H. Hulquist, George Lindberg, James Maher, J. W. Harter and R. C. Henry, trustees. R. C. Henry was elected convention delegate with Henry Crossland, alternate.

Lawrence Johnson of Minneapolis thought the governor had done something that would always stand to his credit. "He has earned the gratitude of Northern Minnesota," said Mr. Johnson.

John Dalzell of Morton asked to be quoted as saying that the governor's veto of the Bjorge bill was entitled to be called one of the best acts of his administration.

"He has made a hit," said Mr. Dalzell.

At the dinner of The Friars at the St. Paul Commercial club, the governor's veto was generally commended. Ell S. Warner, president of the Commercial club, who was one of the speakers, said: "I am a Republican, but I honor Governor Johnson for anything he has done for the state. We pay more taxes than we ought to pay. St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth pay one-third of all the taxes in the state. The people feel that they ought to have fair treatment and Governor Johnson has given it to them in vetoing that tonnage bill today. I honor him for the stand he has taken and I am going to stand back of him even though I am a Republican."

British East Africa, but he warned his hearers that they could not expect to achieve in a short time what it took America several hundred years to accomplish. He commented on the fact that the people at home knew little of affairs abroad. In this connection he instanced the United States and the Philippine islands.

Strength Is Peace.

Roosevelt expressed his great pleasure at the welcome given him yesterday by the British cruiser Pandora, whose sails and masts were manned by cheering sailors when the admiral came into the harbor. He said he believed in peace, but considered that strength is peace, and he hoped that all the great nations would provide themselves with this means to the end. In concluding, the speaker referred briefly to his future plans and gave some of his first impressions of the country.

Mr. Roosevelt was followed by Mr. Selous, who expressed the hope that Mr. Roosevelt would in the future use the power of his position to bring about an entente between Great Britain and Germany.

J. Alden Loring and Maj. Mearns did not come ashore from the Admiral yesterday because of the heavy rains. They disembarked this morning.

The people of Mombasa were in a great state of expectancy, and the first word of the sighting of the ship brought them in crowds to vantage points, where they might catch a glimpse of the distinguished visitor. The Admiral, however, came slowly up to the harbor, and it was dark when the ex-president, accompanied by his son Kermit and the captain, made a landing. They were brought ashore in the commandant's surfboat and carried to a place of shelter in chairs on natives' shoulders. There was a perfect deluge of rain, but in reply to expressions of regret at the weather, Roosevelt said he was glad to get ashore in any kind of weather. He added that he was in splendid health, and that the start for the hunting grounds could not come a minute too soon. The governor's aide boarded the admiral and extended a welcome to Mr. Roosevelt, who received another cordial greeting on shore from the provincial commissioner, who conducted him to the government house. S. F. Cunningham, the hunter and field naturalist, who is in charge of the expedition, was also on hand at the pier.

Pleased With Guard.

The former president seemed highly pleased when he observed the military guard drawn up. He replied to the guards' salute by doffing his hat and smiling broadly. The crowds on shore pressed eagerly forward to see the noted American.

They were composed of Europeans, Indians and natives and presented a picturesque appearance. While generally hearty in their welcome, the people were not demonstrative.

The admiral left Adema a week ago and the voyage was without special incident, the most interesting feature of it being the captain's dinner to Mr. Roosevelt on Tuesday at which there were enthusiastic exchanges of good fellowship and good wishes. In toasting the ex-president the captain wished him Godspeed and a safe return to the United States. Mr. Roosevelt replied first in English, then in German and French.

The Gotzian Shoe

has been worn by three generations of men and women, and with every generation has deserved and enjoyed the reputation of being a good shoe, always honestly made from the best material.

It is sold today by more leading merchants than any other shoe manufactured in the Northwest:

1. Because we are the only house in the Northwest which makes its different grades of shoes in separate factories, thus insuring the highest degree of workmanship in each.
2. Because every pair of shoes we make has back of it the guaranty of more than a million dollars capital and of more than half a century's record of honorable dealing.
3. Because we carry the largest shoe stock in the Northwest and can fill our orders most promptly.

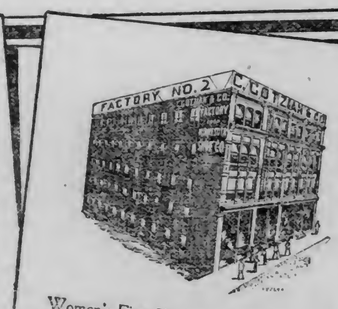

Our factories now cover nearly seven acres of floor space, but what we are most proud of is the quality of our output. No house in the world excels us in this, and our persistent policy is that in quality we shall be first.

We make shoes for men, women and children at all prices, and every shoe we make is the best for the price.

TUGS AT THE HEARTSTRINGS

MOTHER AND GIRL HANG BY FINGERS, FLAMES CONQUER.

New York, April 22.—Mrs. Rachael Mathewson and her daughter, Rose, 13 years old, discovered that fire on the floor below their fourth-story flat in an East side tenement, had cut off their escape, and they rushed to the front window where Mrs. Mathewson climbed out on the sill and lowered herself until she hung by her fingers. Rose followed her out of the window and clung with her arms about her mother's neck. Gradually the weight caused the mother's finger-tips to slip from the window sill and, just as a hook and ladder truck arrived, they dropped the four stories to the sidewalk. The daughter was not badly hurt but the mother was fatally injured.

MOTHER GETS NOTE SAYING BOY HAS BEEN KIDNAPED.

Cincinnati, Ohio, April 22.—Leo Mulhern, 12-year-old son of Mrs. John Mulhern, 415 West Fifth street, is missing, following the receipt by his mother of two letters threatening to kidnap the boy. The police, to whom the boy's disappearance was reported, fear they have a "Willie Whitla case" to solve. A third letter said the boy had been kidnaped and would not be returned to his home unless the mother deposited the money at a place designated in the former letters.

Hattiesburg, Miss., April 22.—The headless trunk of a man, found in a dense thicket on the Boule river near here, has been identified as that of J. B. McShane, who disappeared from this city Easter Sunday, after his arrival here a few days previously from McShane, Ala. Two men and three women were arrested. They are G. L. Crosby and wife, F. L. Woodruff and wife, and Pearl Woodruff.

FIREBELLS ANNOUNCE GOVERNOR'S DEATH

GEORGE LEAVENS LILLEY.

Hartford, April 22.—Governor George Leavens Lilley died last evening after battling with disease for four weeks. The governor did not regain consciousness from the coma in which he had lain many hours.

There were at the bedside his wife, three sons and the attending physicians. Firebells sounded the age of the dead governor—49—and a detachment of the governor's foot guards went on duty at the executive mansion.

The attending physicians announce that the immediate cause of death was toxi-semia, the result of acute nephritis.

CASE DISMISSED.

L. E. Wahlstrom Not Guilty of Trespassing on Widow's Property.

L. E. Wahlstrom, charged with trespassing upon the premises of Mrs. Amanda Hendricks, Fourth avenue west, was dismissed by Judge Cutting in municipal court yesetrday afternoon. The woman brought the case against Wahlstrom because she claimed he had slandered her because she did not return his affections.

The woman said Wahlstrom had been bothering her for a long time with his attentions, and had finally made uncomplimentary remarks about her, after visiting her home in a drunken condition, and being refused admission. She said, under cross-examination of Attorney McMahon, that he did not want to marry her, and never said anything about matrimony.

Judge Cutting told Wahlstrom that if he bothered the widow any more he would be liable to arrest and a heavy fine.

People past middle life usually have some kidney or bladder disorder that saps the vitality, which is naturally lower in old age. SOME OF THE ODD THINGS HAPPENING

CANADIAN TOWNS WAGE WAR ON NORTH DAKOTA RATS.

Winnipeg, Man., April 22.—The invasion of rats from North Dakota is assuming such serious aspects that the council of Winnipeg is combining with the councils of rural municipalities to take steps to wage war on the rodents. According to reports received here, upwards of 100 are being killed daily in several of the towns in Southern Manitoba, and it is feared the wheat crop will suffer seriously unless immediate steps are taken to repel the invasion.

Chicago, April 22.—A man of saving disposition, who placed a cigar butt in his pocket thinking he had crushed out the light, caused an alarm of fire and a consequent panic at the National theater, Sixty-second and Halstead streets. A hundred persons ran out of the theater and the audience was on the point of stampeding when the saving individual ran down the aisle in a panic of his own, looking like a moving pillar of smoke. When the firemen arrived the house was calmed down.

WIDOW ONCE RICH ARRESTED; SHE STOLE BREAD AND MILK.

New York, April 22.—Mrs. Anna Trafford, a strikingly handsome widow, whose husband, a Peruvian silver miner, left her $75,000 three years ago, is held by a Brooklyn police magistrate for trial on a charge of stealing bread and milk from doorsteps. Her hearing brought out the fact that she had lost all but $500 of her fortune on the race tracks, which she frequented daily, and half of that $500 was lost in a bank failure.

If you have backaches and urinary troubles you should take Foley's Kidney Remedy to strengthen and build up the kidneys so they will act properly, as a serious kidney trouble may develop. For sale by all druggists.

STEEL TRUST TALKS PLANTS

Heads of Subsidiary Companies Plan for New Business.

New York, April 22.—Heads of practically all the various subsidiary companies of the United States Steel corporation met here yesterday for one of the conferences that are held by them from time to time. It was stated by E. H. Gary, chairman of the Steel corporation's board of directors, that neither the discussion of prices nor employes' wages has been entered into, but that matters in connection with the improvements at the various plants and the development of new business were discussed.

MRS. BOYLE IS NOW IDENTIFIED

Counsel on Both Sides Say She Is Helen McDermott.

Mercer, Pa., April 22.—Mrs. Boyle, alleged wife of James P. Boyle, abductor of Willie Whitla, is a mystery no longer. Absolute information is at hand that she is Helen McDermott of Chicago. Attorneys on both sides confirm the identification. Attorney Stranahan, the woman's attorney, says Mrs. Boyle's brother has visited her once and had a long talk with his sister, and returned to Chicago to prepare means for her defense.

Since then funds have come from Chicago regularly to Mrs. Boyle. During the latter part of the week a deposit of $1,000 was made in Mrs. Boyle's favor here. Facts in regard to her alleged visits in Kansas City, St. Louis, Denver, East St. Louis, Louisville, Detroit, Chicago, Cleveland, St. Joseph, Mo., and Brooklyn are to be made public by the prosecution counsel.

Three days ago the woman's counsel were surprised to ascertain that the agents of the prosecution had wormed from the McDermott family the life history of "Helen A.," as she signs her name. It was then decided to try if possible to get the woman free from the stern laws of Pennsylvania, preferring to have her sentenced under the more lenient Ohio laws. It was for this purpose that her senior counsel made the trip to Cleveland, meeting with failure.

BLIND SPEAKER ON "HAPPINESS"

Rev. Fred Atwood Delivers Lecture at First Christian Church.

Rev. Fred Atwood, the blind grand prelate of the Knights of Pythias of Minnesota delivered his lecture on "Happiness," at the First Christian church, Fourth street and Fifth avenue west, last evening. Until about two years ago, when he lost his sight, Mr. Atwood has been connected with various churches in Minnesota. Since that time he has given up active church work for the lecture platform. He is an able and convincing talker, and his discourse last night was listened to by a well-filled house. Mr. Atwood will lecture in Two Harbors tonight and will return to Duluth later in the season, when he will lecture before the North Star lodge of the Knights of Pythias on the subject of "Pythianism."

STEALTHY SLAYER USES DYNAMITE

Chattanooga, Tenn., April 22.—Rudolph Buol, aged 55, was murdered while asleep.

No motive is assigned for the crime.

NEW DATE SET FOR FIGHT

Gunther and Whitehead Will Scrap Before a Michigan Club.

While the Whitehead-Gunther fight has begun to be quite a joke, in that it has been on and off half a dozen times, it is now said the two duskies will surely get together Saturday evening in a Michigan city.

Mustah Waltah Whitehead said this himself, and it must be so. He proudly produced the articles for proof, but the crafty rascal kept one big finger over the name of the town.

All that is known is that the fight will be of fifteen rounds' duration, unless one or the other takes the count before that time. If both men are on their feet at the end of the fifteenth, the match is to be called a draw. Stratchi Marquis of Queensbury rules will govern the contest, and a well-known Chicago man will referee the match.

Both fighters are confident and the bout is expected to be one of the best pulled off anywhere near the Head of the Lakes this season.

THROW FIVE MEN IN HALF AN HOUR

Leopold McLaghen, who says he is the champion jiu jitsu artist of the world, is in Duluth looking for a match.

He will go on with anyone and among other things promises to throw five local wrestlers in half an hour or forfeit $300.

Capt. McLaghen is a retired officer of the British army and has been in the jiu jitsu business for years. He has a scrap book full of newspaper clippings telling of his work all over the country. He is a very tall man and looks capable of doing all he says although five wrestlers in half an hour, does sound rather strong.

He came here from Minneapolis, where he appeared a number of times, and was well received. If sufficient interest is taken in Duluth he will arrange for a match with Yamagata, who is supposed to be the champion of Japan.

Gun Club Meets.

East Grand Forks, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The East Grand Forks Gun club held its annual meeting at the Commercial club, Monday. The following officers were elected for the season:

President, William Wolff, vice president, M. J. Enright, treasurer, N. C. Ludvigson, field captain, Ed Lofgard, secretary, Van Voorhis.

The membership fees were fixed at $5, and it was decided to hold the first shoot for the season on Friday afternoon next week. A free bus will leave the Blue Light corner at 3:30 to convey the shooters to the grounds. A tournament, probably in June is one of the possibilities.

Fight Is a Draw.

St. Joseph, Mo., April 22.—Kid Clipper and Pete Savoy, both of Chicago, fought a fast fifteen-round draw here last night. Savoy had the advantage in weight, but Clipper's cleverness offset that.

Gotch vs. Fred Beell.

Denver, Colo., April 22.—Frank Gotch, champion of the world, and Fred Beell were matched last night to meet at the Denver auditorium the second week in May for the world's wrestling championship and a $3,500 purse.

The match will be under the direction of Jack Curley of Chicago.

BALL SEASON OPENS IN BOSTON

Boston, Mass., April 22.—The local American league season opened yesterday. Boston scoring a victory over Philadelphia, 6 to 2. The visitors played a ragged game in the field and could not hit Cheeh when there were men on bases. Boston showed great speed.

There was a sensational tripple steal by Lord, Speaker and Gessler, Lord scoring. The all-around playing of Speaker was a feature. The customary flag-raising and march preceded the game. Besides Lieutenant Governor Louis Frothingham, who threw out the first ball, Governor Eben S. Draper and Former Governor Curtis Guild, Jr., were present. Score:

EVERS WILL REJOIN CUBS

Chicago, April 22.—Johnny Evers, the great second baseman of the Chicago Nationals, will join that club April 30, according to a telegram received yesterday by Manager Frank L. Chance. During the winter Evers decided he wanted to take a long rest and announced he would not join the team until June 15, and that possibly he might not play at all during the present season. The failure of the Cubs to get a good start and the repeated entreaties from his team mates, have evidently caused Evers to make a change in his plans.

TOO COLD TO PLAY BALL.

The White Sox Players Have a Day of Rest.

South Bend, Ind., April 22.—The weather was too cold to permit baseball playing yesterday, and both the South Bend team and the Duluth players, had a day off.

Manager Kuehnow of the Duluth team spent the day working in connection with the South Bend manager.

Let's all get together and boost for the White Sox this year. Once there was a guy who had only been married two weeks. He hitched to a nice little woman at that. Along in the second matrimonial week they had pie for dinner. This gink called his wife; told the pie was punk. That man was a pessimist. That's not the kind of people that make good rooters. We want optimists, here in Duluth, and we want good boosters for the team.

The Duluth management has spent good money on the team that will be wending its way Duluthwards in a few days. They have, and are, making a sincere endeavor to give Duluth a pennant winner. The team looks pretty good from this long distance view and it is up to the fans to begin boosting. We want a good lot of boosters this season, and we ought to begin to cultivate the spirit at the present time.

Duluth won't always be in Class C leagues. The town is going ahead in everything; it will have to advance in the baseball line. If Duluth gets the reputation of being a good baseball town, there is nothing that can eventually keep it from a bigger league. The town is in good territory, and once Duluth gets the reputation of being a good ball town, the eyes of franchise seekers will be upon the Zenith City. It is up to the fans of this town to make it a good baseball proposition.

Neighbor Frank Gotch is seeking home pastures. He is down in "Ioway" wrestling. Just to show the admiring Hawkeyes some of the ability that made the puzzled Yussif Mahmout look like a fat lady in a Sapho act. The other night champion Gotch took poor old Dan McLeod into camp, pinning the ancient shoulder blades of the little Scot to the mat in short time. It is probable that Frank will visit Humboldt, Iowa, his native burg, in a short time. Say! There will be some celebration.

When Neighbor Gotch hits Humboldt the grandfathers and grandmothers, the fathers and mothers of the second generation, and aye, the infants in arms, will be out in force to pay homage to the big boy who has brought more fame to Iowa than anything, with the possible exception of the high price of the land down that way. Some of the people don't know that ex-Governor Cummins is making a good deal of noise down at Washington, or that the Iowa idea has created some discussion; but every cross corner farmer in that fertile state is well aware of the fact that Frank A. Gotch is the champion grappler of the world. More power to you, Frank.

This reunion of Gotch and ancient Dan McLeod calls up reminiscences. It was at a county tournament, or picnic, or something of that sort, that Farmer Boy Frank Gotch received his first trimming. The man who put the present champion in bed for two weeks is no other than the passe McLeod. Frank had "thrun" all the farmer boys, by nek, and was gettin' mighty chesty. He allowed that there was no one that he couldn't beat. Then the lads that allowed an how that Gotch fellow was stuck up, imported McLeod under an ill-smelling name.

They met on the cinders of the road, and Frank says his big brothers neglected the farm work for two weeks so that they would be able to pick the cinders from the broad back of the future champion. Now Frank returns to his native state and tosses poor old Danny McLeod two falls in about twenty minutes. Verily, the world progresses.

And, by the way, Yussif Mahmout need not sigh for lack of occupation. Those Young Turk ginks are raising a lot of hub hub over in the vicinity of the royal harem. Mahmout can join the Young Turk party and make a pretty portfolio persuse the cause. It isn't supposed that Yussif knows much about constitutional government; his head isn't shaped for legal lore. Yet give him one of those two-handed slickers and he should be able to lead a splendid charge upon the sultan person.

Some one has asked The Herald sporting department to give an opinion as to the outcome of the National league race. Rather hard to do, don't you know? It looks like New York and Chicago, writing your ticket any way you like. If Billy Murray's Philadelphia Polish pitcher shows the form that he promised last year, "Philly" should be in the race all the way. Pittsburg can't be overlooked, but the Pirates are hardly expected to cop the rag.

Looking at the fight from all angles, anxious inquirer, it looks as if New York gulched ames the building. If Kling and Evers don't come back, Chicago will be fighting under an awful handicap. But even if they do, New York has a wonderful team. The West to a man wants to see the Cubs bag the fourth rag. But it looks as if it was written on the board some place that the Giants are going to register. Hope not, though.

Northwestern horsemen are waiting with interest to see what Minor Heir, the wonderful pacer, will do under the handling of Hersey. This pacer is now the stable companion of the great and only Dan Patch. M. W. Savage now owns two of the greatest pacers in the world. Dan Patch has added to his speed since coming to the Savage farm at Minneapolis, and under the handling of Henry, who first drove the big sidewheeler, and Hersey, the present driver, has established a pacing record that it may take years to reduce. Will Minor Heir show like improvement? Savage has phenomenal luck. Maybe Minor Heir will develop like the Patch pacer. Horsemen in this neck of the woods will watch the campaigning of the Hersey horse with interest.

MUCH BASEBALL FOR NEW YORK

New York, April 22.—Rain is predicted for today, but if the sun shines baseball fans of New York and vicinity will have plenty of opportunity to show their allegiance to the national game. Two openings are on the schedule—the Eastern league in Jersey City, and the postponed first home game of the New York Americans against the Washington club, which was to have been played at American league park yesterday, but was called off on account of rain—also, Brooklyn's first home game with the New York Nationals.

The Eastern league opens the season today with games as follows:

Buffalo at Jersey City, Toronto at Newark, Rochester at Baltimore, and Montreal at Providence.

President Ebbetts of Brooklyn has made elaborate preparations for the opening of the season across the east river with the Giants.

Easy for Farmer Burns.

Sioux City, Iowa, April 22.—Farmer Burns, champion lightweight wrestler, defeated Carl Von Dellvik, Austrian champion, here last night two straight falls. The first fall was taken in twenty-five minutes and twelve seconds and the second in twenty-six minutes.

League Meeting.

A meeting of the Duluth Amateur baseball league will be held tonight at the store of the Northern Hardware company.

Fight Conditions.

Columbus, Ohio, April 22.—Mayor Bond last night stipulated the conditions under which he will permit the Abe Attell-Biz Mackey fight, which is scheduled for Monday. He says it must be a sparring exhibition, without a knockout and of not more than ten rounds. If the fight is given the mayor will have police on hand to stop it unless his conditions are complied with.

Whispers of a Big Trade.

Cleveland, Ohio, April 22.—It is said here that the owners of the Cleveland baseball club have offered to trade Pitchers Falkenberg, Berger and Liebhardt to the Chicago American league for Ed Walsh, the spitball artist.

PREVENTION OF TUBERCULOSIS

Fifth Annual Session of National Association Is Announced.

New York, April 22.—Announcement of the fifth annual meeting of the National association for the study and prevention of tuberculosis was made today. The convention will be held in Washington, D. C., at the New Willard hotel, on May 13, 14 and 15. Owing to the present interest in the campaign against tuberculosis, the meeting will be of unusual interest and importance.

The various sections of the convention will meet simultaneously. On Friday evening, May 14, a large public meeting will be held, which meeting will be of unusual interest and importance.

The membership of the National association now numbers nearly 2,000, and is distributed in almost every state in the United States. The National association has also a considerable membership in Canada, Cuba, Porto Rico, Philippine Islands, and in several of the European countries.

The reports of the year's work of the National association will be presented at this meeting showing a large amount of work accomplished by the organization. The most significant piece of work which the association has carried to completion during the past year was the meeting of the International congress on tuberculosis at Washington, D. C., where nearly 7,000 delegates from thirty-three different countries were assembled. In preparation for this meeting, the National association issued a special directory of all of the tuberculosis associations and institutions in the United States and Canada. Another feature of the year's work of the National association has been its traveling exhibits. Three of these exhibits are now conducted by the National association. One is at the present time in Georgia, another in Kansas, and a third in Porto Rico. As a result of the efforts of these three exhibits, the state legislatures of Kansas, Tennessee, Porto Rico, and Nebraska, have passed laws and appropriated nearly $150,000 for the relief and prevention of tuberculosis. A large number of local associations have been formed in the various cities where the exhibits of the National association have been shown.

Under the stimulus of the work of the National association, the number of state and local anti-tuberculosis societies in the United States have shown over 100 per cent increase during the past year; the number of sanatoria and hospitals for tuberculosis, nearly 30 per cent increase; and the number of special tuberculosis dispensaries and clinics, over 40 per cent increase. The rate of increase in the number of workers is estimated as over 200 per cent, and the amounts given for tuberculosis relief have been doubled during the year.

Thirty-three legislatures, out of thirty-nine in session up to May 1, 1909, have been considering laws pertaining to the prevention or treatment of tuberculosis. In a large number of states legislation affecting this subject has already been enacted and more laws will be passed before the close of the spring session.

The National association reports that this past year has been more successful in the amount of interest shown in the anti-tuberculosis campaign, and in the number of institutions and associations established than the entire period previous to May 1, 1908.

THE VASTNESS OF NEW YORK

HOTEL LIFE AND THE ST. REGIS

New York City is the metropolis of the Western World. Within its restricted area resides a population exceeding by nearly a million and a quarter the total population of the entire state of Texas.

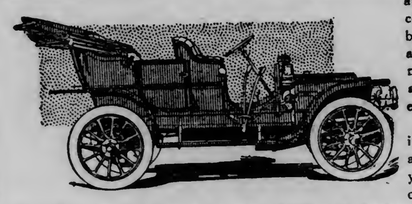

The denseness of New York's population, the volume and extended character of its business transactions, and the magnitude of its amusement enterprises and society functions, have made hotel life here a necessity. With the greater city has grown up a new race of public houses. The modern hotels of New York surpass the world in their size, their elegance of appointment, and the character of their service. They supply every want, they even anticipate one's wishes. There is one hotel in New York, with every feature of its construction, its furnishing, its equipment, its management, its cuisine and its service equal to the most famous hotels of the world, which has succeeded in incorporating and retaining the "home atmosphere" in its regime. This hotel is the St. Regis, situated on Fifth Avenue at Fifty-fifth street. With all its luxury and home refinements, it is by no means the highest priced. Splendid single rooms are obtainable for $3 and $4 a day; the same with private bath for $5 a day (or $6 for two people); while for a parlor, bedroom and private bath the rates are from $12 a day upward. The restaurant charges are no higher than those of other first-class hotels.

Franklin Automobiles

Satisfaction in Automobiling is a Matter of Comfort

In the Franklin automobile with its full-elliptic springs and laminated-wood chassis frame—large wheels and large tires, the road shocks are absorbed and neutralized. The passengers are not jarred and jolted. The automobile is not racked and strained. It rides easily on all kinds of roads. You get comfort and satisfaction.

Franklin Model D. With its light-weight and easy-riding construction Model D, $2800, 28 horse-power, five-passenger touring-car is aptly termed the ideal automobile for family use. Weighing as it does a third less than the average water-cooled automobile of similar ability, it gives minimum tire and operating expense.

Model D now in its fifth year is an automobile you can afford to own and to use every day. It is not heavy and cumbersome. Its handsome body, 36-inch wheels and the ease and grace with which it handles place it in a class by itself.

Build Up The System

A "run down" condition is due in a great many cases to the failure of the digestive organs to get proper nourishment out of the food taken. To people suffering from ill health owing to this cause, insures a quick return to health and strength. Unlike ordinary tonics which supply only temporary stimulation by furnishing food material in pre-digested form, Jayne's Vermifuge brings about lasting results. It tones up the stomach and digestive organs and puts them in a normally healthy condition. Then the digestive organs supply the body with the proper amount of nourishment, and in this way restore permanent health and strength.

DR. D. JAYNE'S

Sold by all druggists in two sizes, 50c and 35c

An average of seventy-five men ask and are given free lodgings at the police station every night. They are without money and without friends and have no other place in which to sleep.

Always at this time of the year there are applicants for lodgings at the police station, but the number just now is running higher than is usual for April. The number varies from night to night. Last evening it fell as low as thirty, probably due to the warmth of the weather and the fact of the tonnage tax veto celebration downtown. With today's weather, the applicants this evening probably will number close to a hundred.

These lodgers present a pitiful sight. They range in age from 16 or 18 years to 75 or 80 years. Most of them have been failures in life, due, in most cases, to drink. Some, of course, are merely temprarily down and out, and may yet make something of themselves. Occasionally in the list one will find young men fresh from the country, who came to Duluth with little capital, expecting to find lucrative employment immediately. Disappointed in this, they stayed at cheap lodging houses until their funds were exhausted, and then were compelled to ask the police for help.

These cases, of course, are not so sad, for it probably will be but a short time until there is work enough for all and the young men will get employment and get a start on the road to better things. It is the old men and their condition that bring moisture to the eyes of the casual visitor. Their faces lined with care and dissipation, bent, gaunt forms clothed in filty rags, dirt thickly smeared over visible portions of their bodies, a hopeless, discouraged look in their eyes, they present a picture of despondency and despair that is pitiful to behold.

Then there is the professional bum, who, if he ever had any ambition or self respect, lost it early in life, and who would rather sleep in the police station any time than get out and work for a bed. Their faces are hardened and there is a leer about the eyes that is not pleasant to see. Professional vagrants, they are liable to develop into petty thieves and burglars. The police keep a very close watch on this class, and any of the men regarded as suspicious characters are either thrown in jail on vagrancy charges, or else are ordered out of town, and if they fail to go are jailed for long sentences.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: APRIL 25. Acts 11: 19-30; 12:25; The Gospel In Antioch.

By Rev. J. S. Kirtley, D. D.

THE CONNECTION.

We go back to pick up the story of how the gospel was spread out from Jerusalem, when the persecution, that arose about Stephen, drove the disciples out of Jerusalem. We followed one party to Samaria and then we saw the conversion of the Ethiopian, and Cornelius the Centurion and Saul of Tarus. But some of the fleeing Christians went on up as far as Antioch in Syria and won converts, who started a church that was to become historic and epoch making.

THE LESSON.

I.

Gentile Converts at Antioch: 19-21.

"They, therefore, that were scattered abroad upon the tribulation that arose about Stephen traveled as far as Phoenicia, and Cyprus, and Antioch, speaking the word to none save only to Jews. But there were some of them, men of Cyprus and Cyrene, who, when they were come to Antioch, spake unto the Greeks also, preaching the Lord Jesus."

1. In Gentile Territory.

The gospel is getting out from Jerusalem and may be getting away from it. The city has finally and fatally rejected the gospel and it is doomed; it has not thirty years more to live. We follow the track of one band of exiles and they will lead us at last to the great city of Antioch, the capital of Syria the third greatest city in the Roman empire, where was a mixed and inviting population of a half million.

They went to these places for safety, but made it no man business to tell their fellow Jews that the promise of a Messiah had ben fulfilled in Jesus. It was natural for them to speak of this to Jews only, for no other were expecting Him. Though these disciples were Grecian-born Jews, they thought, even if they had heard of the conversion of Cornelius, that the Gentiles must send for them as Cornelius sent for Peter, and they need not first go to them.

2. Preaching to Gentiles.

But those refugees who reached Antioch began to tell the Greeks, who were not even proselytes, about Jesus. Those who did it were reared a long way from Jerusalem of necessity—in Cyrene down in Africa, in the island of Cyprus, where they would be less narrow and prejudiced. And they did this in a cosmopolitan city, too; they would have been slow to do so in a strictly Jewish city, or where the Jews and Gentiles were warmly antagonistic. The gospel was going a step further than the Jews without being sent for. A principle was established in the case of Cornelius; it was in active operation in Antioch.

3. A New Gospel Center.

Antioch is the future center of Christianity and its missionary work. It was an oriental Rome, "the Gate of the East," where Jews and proselytes were numerous and where Jews and Gentiles could be most easily blended into one body.

The result of this innovation was striking. The power of God was at once manifest in many conversions. So those laymen who, so far as they knew, were there only to find safety, and were in an artless way telling everybody, without any discrimination, what was uppermost in their minds were really planting a dynamo of spiritual power in a new center of world-wide influence. They were doing far better than they knew. They had no commission; they made no pretensions. They told the news of a Savior. And "the hand of the Lord" was withheld from them till they ceased to discriminate between races and bloods; some success came before, but not so much as now, and when it did come it was largely because they were on the road to the true practice.

II.

Jerusalem Helping Antioch 22-26.

"And the hand of the Lord was with them; and a great number that believed turned unto the Lord. And the report concerning them came to the ears of the church which was in Jerusalem; and they sent forth Barnabas as far as Antioch, who, when he was come, and had seen the grace of God, was glad; and he exhorted them all, that with purpose of heart they would cleave unto the Lord; for he was a good man, and full of the Holy Spirit and of faith; and much people was added unto the Lord. And he went forth to Tarsus to seek for Saul; and when he had found him, he brought him unto Antioch. And it came to pass, that even for a whole year they were gathered together with the church, and taught much people; and that the disciples were called Christians first in Antioch."

1. A Careful Investigation.

The church at Jerusalem was sure to send up to see about this matter. It was still the mother church and had a guardianship over all the churches that sprang up anywhere; they wanted correct information as to how the Gentile question had been treated and perhaps had a dislike for too much liberality toward the Gentiles; they wanted to put the work on right lines and correct any blunder that untaught laymen would make. Possibly, the older Jewish Christians in Antioch were confused and uncertain what was best and had sent to Jerusalem for advice, though the sending of Barnabas seems to have been voluntary.

2. Barnabas, the Investigator.

And they sent the very best man for the work to be done. Barnabas was a Grecian-born Jew to begin with; he was reared on the island of Cyprus and was a fellow-citizen with some of these laymen, now turned preachers, as well as friend, and would be referred to as teacher; he had a reputation that would aid him in his delicate work; he was a man of great personal influence, he was a benevolent and consecrated man, being the very first to sell his property on the island of Cyprus ten years before and put the money into the common fund; he was a sympathetic friend; he had an insight into men and motives, as shown in his indorsing Saul to the brethren in Jerusalem when they were afraid the arch persecutor had not been really converted; he was powerful in that form of speech which was called exhorting and which is so comforting that the very word exhortation came to mean consolation as well, for the brethren ceased to call him by his original name Joses, and gave him the name of Barnabas, which means Son of Exhortation or Consolation. There was no man like Barnabas to send on such a mission, not even among the apostles.

3. His Delightful Discovery.

Barnabas visits all intermediate points but does not halt long till he is at the great center of life, where the problems to be solved are most intricate and pressing and where the work to be done is greatest. What feeling could he have but gladness at what he saw? There was pleasure in seeing souls saved, in seeing the fruits of the Spirit growing on hitherto uncultivated soil, and in seeing a new feature in the grace of God. One of the fascinating studies of that age must have been to watch the new marks of God's power and grace, as His plans were revealed and His work extended. It was a stirring sight, this new type of Christian character in the composite city of Antioch, yielding a larger homage to the purposes of God. True to his tastes and his history, this son of exhortation goes to exhorting, and the one point to which he sharpens all his teachings is that they must grapple Christ and their new calling with the resolute purpose of the deepest nature—the heart. His work was evangelistic as well as instructive, and under his powerful appeals the converts increased rapidly. The explanation of his joy and of his own success in teaching, as well as the reason for his being sent from Jerusalem is given in the statement that he was a good man; and his goodness is indicated in the faith that he had and the indwelling Spirit. The faith had that type of wholeness which makes one trust in God and trusted by God. Natural qualities of a high order were in the control of the Holy Ghost.

4. Reinforced by Saul.

When Barnabas needed help to instruct the growing throng of disciples, direct the activities of the new and preach to the thronging inquirers, he did not go back to Jerusalem for an apostle, but went for the coming man, Saul. He goes after Saul, remembering his striking conversion and his fruitful work in Damascus; remembering the fact that he had been divinely appointed to the Gentiles, as he had learned from Saul himself; remembering that he himself had already invested something in Saul; remembering those superb qualities that he had a glimpse of, so fitted to the demands of the work in Antioch; perhaps remembering the rumors that had been reaching him about the great works Saul has been doing over in Tarsus and the surrounding country for several years. What has Saul been doing all the time? Working, no doubt; probably studying the philosophies of heathenism, maturing his experience and convictions, founding his Christian religion in his old home. He is ready for the larger work now. He rises on the world at Antioch. The man and his mission have met. The Holy Ghost sent Barnabas for Saul to introduce him to his work, as he once introduced him to the church at Jerusalem. The movement toward the Gentiles has been started from the right point, the mother church; the revolution has been made. Saul can at last lay his hand to his work in safety, and at last the right starting place is made for him.

For one year they work in Antioch and it is not thought best to tell us but two things concerning that year of labor: They taught much people; a new name was given to the new body. The former statement implies that these two made it their chief business to instruct the converts, while no doubt the members generally did the evangelistic work. The term Christian applied to them had never been heard before. It could not have been chosen by the disciples, as they had not been using other names, and they "were called" by others. It could not have been given by the Jews, for it was the Greek for Messiah, and the Jews would never have done anything that would have implied that Jesus was the Messiah. It must have been given by the people in Antioch, not as a term of derision, but as a descriptive word to designate this new sect which was distinct from the three or four sects of the Jews. The word was appropriate and it is today the best word that can be used of anyone.

III.

Antioch Helping Jerusalem 27-30.

"Now in these days there came down prophets from Jerusalem unto Antioch. And there stood up one of them named Agabus, and signified by the Spirit that there should be a great famine over all the world: which came to pass in the days of Claudius. And the disciples, every man according to his ability, determined to send relief unto the brethren that dwelt in Judea: which also they did, sending it to the elders by the hand of Barnabas and Saul.

"And Barnabas and Saul returned from Jerusalem, when they had fulfilled their ministration, taking with them John, whose surname was Mark."

It is not strange that he should tell his people in Judea that the famine was coming; nor that one of their number should go up to Antioch and tell the Jewish and Gentile converts about it; nor that those ardent Christians should send them help. It was beautiful. It helped mightily to unify the Jewish and Gentile Christians.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

A free church in a free state, where every man is the equal of every other man before the Constitution, develops broad hearts; hearts that have desire to attend to the world's needs. Sovereign grace is best made known by sovereign man. A city freer in its spirit than Antioch was not to be found in that day, and here God raised up the church that bore so honorable a part in giving the truth to the world.—Stifler.

The hour Saul had been waiting for had struck, and he threw himself into the work of evangelizing the Gentiles with the enthusiasm of a great nature that found itself at last in its proper sphere. The movement at once responded to the pressure of such a hand; the disciples became so numerous and prominent that the heathen gave them a new name—that name of "Christians," which has ever since continued to be the badge of faith in Christ, and Antioch, a city of 500,000 inhabitants, became the headquarters of Christianity instead of Jerusalem.—Stalker.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

1. Why does Christianity die when it is not missionary?
2. What is a religious parasite?
3. What are the marks of a good man?
4. Why are Christians the good seeds of the kingdom?
5. Why is it more blessed to give than to receive?

Object to Strong Medicines.

Many people object to taking the strong medicines usually prescribed by physicians for rheumatism. There is no need of internal treatment in any case of muscular or chronic rheumatism, and more than one out of every ten cases of the disease are of one or the other of these varieties. When there is no fever and little (if any) swelling, you may know that it is only necessary to apply Chamberlain's Liniment freely to get quick relief. Try it. For sale by all druggists.

Danderine

GROWS HAIR and we can PROVE IT!

A lady from Minnesota writes: "As a result of using Danderine, my hair is close to five feet in length."

Beautiful Hair at Small Cost

HAIR troubles, like many other diseases, have been wrongly diagnosed and altogether misunderstood. The hair itself is not the thing to be treated, for the reason that it is simply a product of the scalp and wholly dependent upon its action. The scalp is the very soil in which the hair is produced, nurtured and grown, and it alone should receive the attention if results are to be expected. It would do no earthly good to treat the stem of a plant with a view of making it grow and become more beautiful—the soil in which the plant grows must be attended to. Therefore, the scalp in which the hair grows must receive the attention if you are to expect it to grow and become more beautiful.

Loss of hair is caused by the scalp drying up, or losing its supply of moisture or nutriment; when baldness occurs the scalp has simply lost all its nourishment, leaving nothing for the hair to feed upon (a plant or even a tree would die under similar conditions.)

The natural thing to do in either case, is to feed and replenish the soil or scalp as the case may be, and your crop will grow and multiply as nature intended it should.

Knowlton's Danderine has a most wonderful effect upon the hair glands and tissues of the scalp. It is the only remedy for the hair ever discovered that is similar to the natural hair foods or liquids of the scalp.

It penetrates the pores quickly and the hair soon shows the effects of its wonderfully exhilarating and life-producing qualities.

One 25-cent bottle is enough to convince you of its great worth as a hair growing and hair beautifying remedy—try it and see for yourself.

NOW at all druggists in three sizes, 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle.

DETECTIVES WATCH BOY

Mother Fears Divorced Husband Will Kidnap Him.

Fearing her son would be kidnaped by her former husband, Mrs. W. A. Loveland of 409 First avenue west, has employed the services of a detective to watch over her boy while he is at school. The boy, a son of her former husband, W. J. Strickler, is 7 years old is named George.

Strickler is a traveling buyer for a large fruit concern in the South. Mrs. Loveland was divorced from him in 1907 and married W. A. Loveland, who is employed at the engraving plant of the News Tribune.

It is said that Strickler met his little son at the school on Monday last, impressed him in tales of life in the South, and asked him if he would not like to go with his "daddy" to the land where the cotton blossoms grow. But Strickler backed out of the proposition and did not take the boy away, returning him to his home.

George told his mother all about the wonderful trip his father intended to take him on, with the result that detectives were employed by Mrs. Loveland for the purpose of shadowing her son. This morning he attended school under the espionage of a detective, but no attempt was made to interfere with him. This afternoon George did not attend school, his mother fearing that he would be kidnaped by his father.

Mrs. Loveland has employed Ross & McKnight as her attorneys, and it is understood legal steps will be taken to prevent the father interfering with the boy.

BANK CLEARINGS SHOW A GAIN

Duluth bank clearings for the past week were $2,738,538.22, which is approximately a $200,000 increase over the figures of a week ago. The increase in the figures, banking officials say, shows a steady increase in the volume of business being transacted in Duluth.

Monotype Composition.
Quick work by Thwing-Stewart Co.

Lecture at Temple.
A lecture on "A Modern Concept of the Merchant of Venice," will be delivered by Leo Cooper, at the Temple Emanuel, Second street and Seventh avenue east, Friday evening, at 8 o'clock. Admission will be entirely free.

New Style of Stamp.
Notice has been received at the Duluth postoffice that the new special delivery stamp, recently authorized by the government will soon be placed on sale in the local postoffice. The new stamp is engraved after a French design and shows an olive branch entwined with a mercury helmet. It is about one-half the size of the stamp at present in use.

Entertainment

Goes to Jail.
John Makl, charged with petty larceny, was fined $100 or ninety days in jail in municipal court this morning. He is the man arrested yesterday for the theft of numerous small articles from a Superior street store. He escaped from the police station and was later caught by Chief Troyer in the act of shaving off his mustache, presumably to disguise himself from the police. He was unable to pay the fine, and will have to spend the next three months in jail.

Verdict for Storey.
In municipal court this morning Judge Windom directed the jury to return a verdict for the defendant in the suit brought by Henry G. Hansen vs. T. J. Storey, tackledermist. Hansen asked $300 damages for the loss of a moose head seized by the state game and fish commission, because it was not properly tagged, laying the blame for the loss on Mr. Storey. The state retains the head.

Woodland Sewer.
City Engineer McGilvray is working on plans for an outlet sewer for Woodland. It will drain the district east of Tischer's creek and west of Woodland avenue, and practically all of East Duluth east of the creek. The work of constructing the sewer, which has been under consideration for some time past, probably will be done this summer.

Many Garbage Heaps.
Health Commissioner Patton's men, under the new card index system of keeping track of the city's cleanliness, have about 2,000 piles of ashes and other refuse in different parts of the city recorded. Owners of the premises have beenordered to remove the unsightly heaps, and where they fail to do so, steps will probably be taken to prosecute them.

Charged With Forgery.
Matt Erfeson, charged with forging two checks drawn on the American Exchange bank, under the name of H. S. Hammond, was arrested on Lake avenue yesterday by Detectives Terry and Toewe.

Drunk; 30 Days.
John Mackie will spend the next thirty days with Sheriff Bates. He was brought down from Eveleth this morning on a drunk charge.

Bank Officers Dined.
David Williams, vice president of the First National bank, gave a dinner last night to the officials of the bank at the Spalding hotel. Covers were laid for eighteen.

More Telephone Lines.
The board of public works, at its meeting tomorrow, will take up the request of the Duluth Telephone company for permission to place telephone lines underground, in different parts of the city. The district covered by the application extends from Thirtieth avenue west to Woodland. The request will probably be granted.

Retaining Wall Finished.
The retaining wall of the subway entrance of the Soo railroad to this city was completed yesterday between Sixth and Eighth avenues west. This is one of the largest pieces of the wall that retains the tunnel work. The bench work of the tunnel is progressing very rapidly, there remaining less than 200 feet of the lower part of the tunnel to complete.

Will Elect Treasurer.
At a meeting of the board of directors of the Commercial club, to be held tomorrow noon, the treasurer of the club will be chosen. All of the other officers of the club were chosen at the meeting of the directors last Saturday.

Label League Meets.
The regular meeting of the Ladies' Independent Label league was held last evening at the Kalamazoo building. Mrs. H. O. Lovald of Lakeside spoke to the members on the advantages of organization for working women and a communtication was read from Mrs. Raymond Robins of Chicago, urging the attendance of some of the members at the convention to be held at Chicago in September. The members will meet Tuesday afternoon of next week at the home of Mrs. H. F. Barrows of Fifty-eighth avenue east to work on the quilt which the members are making. The next regular meeting will be held May 5.

Will Give Dinner.
The men of the Unitarian church will give a dinner at the Commercial club tonight.

Elect Lieutenant.
The election of Fred Wood as first lieutenant of Company C., Third infantry, took place last evening at the armory. He advanced from first sergeant. Company E will elect a first lieutenant tomorrow evening.

Your Only Chance to Attend.
Vendes band next Sunday. Lyceum.

Modern Samaritans

A large attendance of the members of Alpha Council is desired tonight, Thursday, to hear the report of delegates to the Grand Council. Both degrees are invited.

SUPERIOR NEWS

SCORNS RIOTERS AND MINISTERS

Thomas Holmes, a railroad switchman, of 1117½ Ogden avenue, has a natural aversion to doctors, so strongly manifested that the authorities are looking into his mental condition.

Several times he has been seen drinking water out of a stagnant pool, and it is claimed that he also drinks soapsuds. He called at the office of a Superior physician yesterday and tried to talk the medic out of business.

Yesterday afternoon he was taken in hand by the sheriff. He is being held for an examination as to his sanity. He says that religion and medicine go hand in hand, and there is no need of advice from either the preacher or the doctor.

Men's Club Meets.
The Men's club of the Cumming Avenue M. E. church held a banquet last evening at the church parlors. President V. E. McCaskill, Superior normal school, spoke on the "Bad Boy," his address being the feature of the evening. There were about 125 in attendance.

HIGH SCHOOL CONTEST.

Orators and Declaimers Will Meet at Blaine School.

The declamatory and oratorical contest of the high schools in Northern Wisconsin will take place at the Blaine high school tomorrow evening. Ashland Ironwood, Washburn, Spooner and the Blaine school are those which are represented.

The Blaine speakers are Elmon Welner in the oratorical contest, and and Miss Laura Cote in the declamatory contest. The two winners in this contest will go to the state contest.

Will Move to New Temple.

The Masonic orders of Superior will move into the new Masonic temple at Belknap street and Hughitt avenue on April 29. The housewarming will not take place until the structure is entirely completed, which will be in a few weeks. The new building cost about $50,000.

Extend the "White Way."

Preparations are being made to extend the "great white way" of decorative lights to Sixteenth street, instead of Belknap, as was originally planned. Accordingly, preparations began yesterday for the removal of the wooden poles at the corner of Belknap street and Tower avenue. The publicity committee of the Superior Commercial club is pushing the matter.

Will Build Grand Stand.

The directors of the Superior baseball club in the Minnesota-Wisconsin Baseball league are planning on the erection of an up-to-date grandstand with a seating capacity of 1,000 people. Just what grounds will be used by the club as a ball park have not yet been decided upon.

EX-SHERIFF JACKSON DEAD.

Calumet, Mich., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thomas Jackson, 77, of Allouez, deputy sheriff of Keweenaw county during the Civil war, died last night. He had resided in Keweenaw county sixty-one years, or longer than any living resident. He had long been prominent in politics.

ALL OVER BUT POUTING

Rival Daughters of Revolution Candidates Are Confident.

Scott and Story Forces Active as Voting Approaches.

Washington, April 22.—Even before nominations were made today the rival candidates for president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution felt that it was all over but the pouting. The campaign has been conducted with a vigor such as never had been witnessed before in the history of the organization and since the present congress began the election of officers was the absorbing topic of discussion.

A beautiful, clear spring day made it possible for the candidates to bring out their full strength, so that when the congress was called to order the great auditorium was packed to the doors. The galleries, which are set apart for daughters, who are not delegates were filled early in the day, while the lobby was crowded with daughters who showed genuine grief over their inability to get inside.

Mrs. Scott, administration candidate and Mrs. Story, anti-administration candidate for president general, were on the ground early and their lieutenants, actively at work to the last minute, kept them advised of the situation.

Second only in interest to the election of a president general is the election of a vice president general in charge of organizing of chapels. Mrs. Moses J. Draper is the running mate of Mrs. Scott, while Mrs. Miranda B. Tulloch has cast her fortunes with Mrs. Story.

NORTH BUTTE HAS BIG DECLINE

North Butte's sensational decline was the feature of a dull copper stock market today. The bears began driving North Butte early, and the issue went off five points or more during the first two hours of the session, the low point being $60.12½. It rallied about a point and a half after that.

The rest of the market was dull and the curbs were also very quiet, with closing prices a bit irregular.

North Butte opened at $65.50, declined to $70.12½, rallied to $62.75, went off to $61.25, rallied to $62.50 and closed at $62 bid and $62.50 asked.

Amalgamated opened at $75.75, declined to $75.25, rallied to $75.50 and closed at $76 bid and $76.25 asked. Anaconda opened at $45, declined to $44.87½ and closed at $45 bid. Greene-Cananea opened at $10.25, declined to $10.12½ and closed at $10 bid and $10.12½ asked. Butte Coalition closed at $24 bid and $24.37½ asked. Calumet & Arizona sold at $100 and closed at $99.50 bid and $100 asked and Giroux closed at $8.12½ bid.

Superior & Pittsburg sold at $13 and $13.25 and closed at $13 bid and $13.12½ asked.

By reason of its weakness, Butte-Alex Scott was one of the features of the local curb. Sales of the $2 paid stock were reported at $6.62½ and closing price was $7 asked. The full paid Alex Scott closed at $9 asked.

Chief Consolidated was firm around $1.50 and $1.75 and closed at $1.50 bid. Cactus declined from $3.75 to $3.25 and closed at $3.25 bid and $3.50 asked. Globe sold at $4.50 and closed at $4 bid and $4.50 asked.

Denn-Arizona was inactive and closed at $2.87½ bid and $3.12½ asked; Calumet & Sonora $15.50 asked; Butte & Superior 85 cents bid and 86 cents asked; Red Warrior $1.87½ bid and $2.12½ asked; Mowitza $1 bid and $1.12½ asked; Carman, $1.37½ bid and $1.50 asked; Savanna $1.75 bid and $2 asked.

Will Continue in Office But With Powers Restricted.

Constantinople, April 22.—The Sultan of Turkey and the chiefs of the constitutional party have reached an agreement under the terms of which his majesty remains as soverign of the empire, but with powers somewhat more restricted than before the palace conspiracy of April 13.

WEALTHY KANKAKEE MAN DROWNS IN FOX RIVER.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 22.—An Evening Wisconsin special from Green Bay, Wis., says: Don Marcott, 35 years old, a member of one of the wealthiest and most prominent families of Kankakee, Ill., was drowned in the Fox river today, after falling from the dock.

MILLIONS UNEMPLOYED IN GREAT BRITAIN.

New York Sun: According to the mangement committee of the General Federation of Trade Unions in Great Britain, more than 7,000,000 persons are suffering hardship and want on account of hard times. Ten per cent of the 5,000,000 skilled workers in the country are wholly or partially unemployed. For every skilled workman out of employment two unskilled men are without work. Each idle workman represents, it is estimated, a family of five.

The federation calls upon union men to refuse to work overtime in any trade or shop which happens to be extra busy. Engineering trade unions, with a membership of 153,353, report 12 per cent unemployed, while shipbuilding unions, with a membership of 60,631, have 25.2 per cent of their members out of work. Other trades show similar returns.

ARE YOU IN THE MARKET FOR A HOME?

Instead of purchasing an old house built from 15 to 25 years ago, why not get a brand new and up-to-date one, when it costs no more? Chances are the old house needs reshingling, repainting and perhaps remodeling, and still after you have had all these expenses, you only have an old building. Ask some builder what the depreciation on a frame building is, and he'll tell you about 3 per cent. Many houses in this city have been very poorly "kept up," and those are just the ones, too, which are on the "for sale" list. We own some fine lots in Lakeside, Normal school district and central and will build to suit you. If interested call at once.

RAILROAD NEWS

BEGIN WORK VERY SOON

Construction of Cuyuna Road Will Commence Within Sixty Days.

Grading Will Be Done From Both Ends of Line.

Active work on the construction of the Cuyuna Iron Range railroad, the new line that is to connect Deerwood and the Cuyuna range with the Head of the Lakes, will be commenced within the next sixty days. The company's contracts require that the road shall be in a position to handle tonnage from the new range by June or July of next year, and to complete the line within the required time it is necessary that the work be begun at the earliest possible moment.

Grading crews will be started at both ends. Track-laying will be commenced at the Rabbit lake end to enable the company to use its line at the start as a connecting spur to the Northern Pacific and facilitate the transportation of machinery and supplies to the mines.

Several surveys have been made, and the company has the choice of several routes. The line will start from the Mississippi river and cross Rabbit lake at its narrowest point. From thence it will run southeasterly and intersect the Northern Pacific at or close to Deerwood. The road will probably run from there direct to the Head of the Lakes. It will be single track at first, but with grading sufficient for additional trackage when needed.

The rapid developments of the range and the frequent locating of new deposits, has made it difficult to decide on the most feasible course for the main line. A belt line from Deerwood, tapping the mineral lands both north and south of the Northern Pacific, is being considered and numerous spurs to properties which will not be touched by the main line, are included in the plans.

About forty acres have been purchased for the Eastern terminals. This gives about half a mile of water frontage, and more land will be purchased as needed. The road will be equipped both for heavy ore hauling and passenger traffic.

There is little doubt that the Soo will build into the range country as soon as possible. It is a comparatively short distance from the main line of the Soo, south of Mille Lacs lake to the range, and surveys have been made with a view to running a branch either to Brainerd or Jonesville and bidding for a share of the traffic.

Deerwood and the surrounding country, are just now experiencing a land boom of a small proportions. Iron lands are practically out of the market. Mineral finds are so frequent that property owners and would-be buyers are kept in a state of constant expectancy. The new town of Cuyuna, near Rabbit lake, has several store buildings, a postoffice, hotel and other structures, and lots are selling at prices that would have purchased several acres of the same land a few years ago.

SHORT LINE TO CHIGAGO

Will No Longer Be Considered a "Weak Line."

Close upon the heels of the acquirement of the Wisconsin Central by the Soo comes the story of the decision by the Soo officials to shorten the mileage of the Wisconsin line between St. Paul and Chicago.

It is said that this will be one of the preliminary steps taken in the effort to bring the Wisconsin line from the second class to the position of a standard line.

According to the story of the contemplated plans, as they are told in railroad circles, the route of the Wisconsin Central, or the Chicago division of the Soo, as that road is known since the consolidation of the two lines, will be shortened sixty or seventy miles by constructing a cutoff. One of the drawbacks of the Chicago division of the Soo is that the road takes a longer route to Chicago than the other Chicago-St. Paul lines. This objection upon the part of the traveling public, it is said, the officials of the Soo propose to remove.

With the distance of the Chicago division shortened, and the road brought up to first-class condition in every way, the former Wisconsin line would rank with the other lines running between St. Paul and Chicago and would furnish added competition to the present traffic between the two cities.

It has been the intention of the Wisconsin Central officials, from the time the short line between Duluth and Chicago was planned, to make the former Wisconsin Central line between this city and Chicago a first-class line in every detail. Since the acquirement of the Wisconsin Central by the Soo, these plans, it is said have been even further improved upon, for the reason that the Canadian Pacific will make the Head of the Lakes one of its strong terminal points, and the route from Duluth to Chicago will give a splendid outlet from this city, and will further strengthen the position of the Canadian Pacific in the traffic affairs of the West.

Best Treatment for Colds.

"Most ordinary colds will yield to the simplest treatment," says the Chicago Tribune, "modest laxatives, hot foot baths, a free perspiration and an avoidance of exposure to cold and wet after treatment." While this treatment is simple, it requires considerable trouble, and the one adopting it must remain in doors for a day or two, or a fresh cold is almost sure to be contracted, and in many instances pneumonia follows. Is it not better to pin your faith to an old reliable preparation like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, that is famous for its cures of colds and can always be depended upon? For sale by all druggists.

TRAIN EMPLOYES IN CONFLICT

Scramble for Desirable Runs Is Causing Bitter Feeling.

Fond du Lac, Wis., April 22.—Wisconsin Central trainmen have already come into conflict with the trainmen of the Soo line over the rights of employes. The Soo men have been demanding rights on the new acquisition to their line. But as the Wisconsin Central men are for the most part younger than the Soo line employes, the move is being bitterly fought.

If the Soo men are granted their demands under the new organization rules, the old men would have the right to the better runs. This would handicap the Wisconsin Central men, putting most of them on the northern and western divisions.

Local men claim they will fight decidedly against the granting of any such rights to the Soo men.

An attempt was made to get the upper end, from Minneapolis to Abbotsford, rights by the Soo liners almost as soon as the Wisconsin Central was turned over to the new owners, but it was met with immediate protest on the part of the Wisconsin Central men.

Rheumatism.

More than nine out of every ten cases of rheumatism are simply rheumatism of the muscles, due to cold or damp, or chronic rheumatism. In such cases no internal treatment is required. The free application of Chamberlain's Liniment is all that is needed, and it is certain to give quick relief. Give it a trial and see for yourself how quickly it relieves the pain and soreness. The medicines usually given internally for rheumatism are poisonous or very strong medicines. They are worse than useless in cases of chronic and muscular rheumatism. For sale by all druggists.

CALUMET WOMEN TO DEBATE ON NEWSPAPERS.

Calumet, Mich., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Friday will be "Newspaper Day" at the Calumet Women's club regular meeting to be held in the Y. M. C. A. assembly hall. A paper on "The Making of a Newspaper" will be read, followed by a debate on "Is a Local Daily a True Representative of a Community?" The affirmative side of the question will be taken up by Mrs. Margaret M. Anderson and the negative by Mrs. Anna H. Vivian. The musical portion of the program is in charge of Mrs. Mary T. Hoar.

Marries Duluth Woman.

Anoka, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the home of William Ringhand in Ramsey there occurred Tuesday, the marriage of Henry C. Ringhand of St. Paul and Miss Lorna L. Mather of Duluth. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a few immediate friends. The happy couple have gone to St. Paul to live.

It is pure! The sealed lead packets of "Salada" guarantee your tea free from artificial coloring matter, dust, dirt and all foreign substances. Ask your grocer for it.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

Negaunee Has Fast Team.

Negaunee, Mich., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Negaunee indoor baseball team is considered about the fastest organization of its kind in the upper peninsula, it having again won a decisive victory over the crack Ishpemig team early in the week.

It is understood that Negaunee will also be strongly represented this year in the Marquette-Alger County Baseball league. Several new players have already been secured and arrangements are being made to secure the services of Tate Selhenthal, who is recognized by the majority of baseball enthusiasts who have seen his work in the box to be one of the best pitchers in the upper peninsula.

Opening at St. Paul.

St. Paul, Minn., April 22.—Today is baseball day in St. Paul, and it will be the more exciting because the St. Paul team will meet its old-time enemies, known as the "Millers," from Minneapolis. The contests between these two teams are always attended by much rivalry between the "rooters" from both cities. The weather is clear, but a cold north wind is blowing, and the temperature was at the freezing point early in the day. The game was called at 3:30 p. m., with Mayor Lawler in the pitcher's box to throw the first ball.

Wagner Arrested.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 22.—Hans Wagner, champion batter of the National league, was charged with exceeding the speed limit in his big automobile on Grant boulevard yesterday by Motor Cycle Policeman Bender. Charging Wagner with speeding at the rate of forty miles an hour, Bender today filed information against him and a summons was served on him for a hearing tomorrow morning. The time was fixed in the morning so that Wagner need not be kept out of a game.

During the spring every one would be benefitted by taking Foley's Kidney Remedy. It furnishes a needed tonic to the kidneys after the extra strain of winter, and it purifies the blood by stimulating the kidneys, and causing them to eliminate the impurities from it. Foley's Kidney Remedy imparts new life and vigor. Pleasant to take. For sale by all druggists.

GOES SUDDENLY INSANE.

Farmer Loses His Reason, Attempting Murder and Suicide.

Foley, Minn., April 22.—Pat Griffin, a Glendorado farmer, was examined for his sanity in probate court here yesterday and was committed to the insane asylum at Fergus Falls, where he was taken by the sheriff.

Griffin went suddenly insane Sunday afternoon at his home. He seized a knife and attacked his wife, attempting to kill her. In this he did not succeed and so made an attempt on his own life. He put the knife to his own throat and succeeded in severing his wind pipe, but the knife was torn from him before he could cut the jugular vein.

POLISH PRELATE WILL VISIT AT ST. CLOUD.

St. Cloudy, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Great arrangements are being made to receive Rt. Rev. Paul Rhode, auxiliary of the arch diocese of Chicago, who will arrive in this city from Browerville this afternoon. Rev. John Kromolicki, who is in charge, has made elaborate arrangements for the occasion. All of the Catholic societies of the city have been invited to meet the bishop at the 3:15 Great Northern train, from where he will be escorted to the St. John's Polish church.

In the evening there will be a reception at St. Mary's hall, when an elaborate program will be given.

Mr. F. G. Fritts, Oneonta, N. Y., writes: "My little girl was greatly benefited by taking Foley's Orino Laxative, and I think it is the best remedy for constipation and liver trouble." Foley's Orino Laxative is best for women and children, as it is mild pleasant and effective, and is a splendid spring medicine, as it cleanses the system and clears the complexion. For sale by all druggists.

FIND FORTUNE IN A MISER'S TRUNK

St. Paul Man Who Fooled Relatives as to Finances.

St. Paul, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Cash and securities worth $50,000 have been found by two nieces of Jacob Roth, an eccentric contractor, who died Sunday at St. Joseph's hospital, leaving the request that he be buried at an expense not to exceed $60. He had that much, he said.

Roth was buried from Assumption church Tuesday. Afterwards his two nieces went to his former home, 841 Rice street, and there, in an old trunk, discovered the cash and securities.

For thirty years Roth had lived in St. Paul most abstemiously. He never rode on a street car, or spent an unnecessary penny. No one knew anything about him. He was 58 years old and unmarried, a native of Germany. He went to the hospital in March after some months of poor health. His two nieces live in the Buckingham apartments.

COLVILL STATUE WILL BE UNVEILED MAY 29.

Cannon Falls, Minn., April 22.—At a recent meeting of the Colvill monument committee, C. W. Gress was appointed to confer with the commission which has in charge the placing of the statue upon the hero's grave in Cannon Falls. The surviving members of the First Minnesota will hold their annual reunion May 29, and it was decided to arrange for the unveiling on that day. The statue of the Gettysburg hero, a replica of the one recently unveiled in the state capitol, is to stand on a massive pedestal, on a knoll overlooking the cemetery. A field cannon will be placed on a smaller pedestal a short distance in front of the statue.

First Night Train.

Brainerd, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first train for International Falls on the new night service of the Minnesota & International railroad went up Monday night. The train consisted of a combination baggage and mail, smoker, day coach and sleeper, besides the business car of the road. It was thirty minutes late out of Brainerd, the train from the Twin Cities being late in here, but the new train made its running time easily. The first train left International Falls Tuesday on the return trip.

WHEAT PRICES GO DOWN WITH CRASH IN AMERICA

Chicago Market Breaks Four Points—More Than Three Here.

Stop-Loss Orders Are Thick—Flax Very Dull.

Duluth Board of Trade, April 22.—Wheat went down with a crash today. Opening prices were weak, and after that the decline began in earnest, lasting right up to the last minute of trading, the closing prices being about the lowest of the session.

Bartlett-Patten interests were supposed to be selling, and from the way prices fell off, it seemed as if every one were selling the grain and that no one had the inclination or the resources to buy it. The market was honeycombed with stop-loss orders, which added to the panicky feeling which prevailed.

In Chicago both nearby months lost 4 points and May and July declined more than 3 points from yesterday in Duluth.

Cables were very heavy. Argentine estimates larger than expected, car receipts in the Northwest larger and weather forecasts for the grain belt more favorable. The news favored the bears and the bearish sentiment prevailed all day.

Liverpool closed 1⅛d to 2⅛d lower, Budapest ⅝c higher, Berlin 1⅜c higher and Antwerp ⅝c higher.

The May option closed 3¼c lower in Duluth, 4c lower in Chicago, 3⅜c lower Minneapolis, 3c lower in New York, 2⅞c lower in St. Louis, 3⅝c lower in Kansas City and 3¾c lower in Winnipeg. The July option closed 3⅜c lower in Duluth, 4c lower in Chicago, 3½c lower in Minneapolis, 4c lower in New York, 3⅜@3½c lower in St. Louis, 3½c lower in Kansas City, and 3⅞c lower in Winnipeg.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Wheat—The market at the start was steady and from ⅛d to ¼d higher in sympathy with the firmness in American markets yesterday, which induced some shorts to cover. Following the opening and during the remainder of the morning, the market was severely under selling pressure and values broke ¾d to 1⅛d with the principal weakness in July. Selling was the result of a growing lack of confidence, larger Argentine and Australian forecasts than was expected, continued brilliant weather here, and favorable European crop advices. At mid-day the market showed a slight recovery, but was still very irregular and from ¾d to 1d lower, the distant months showing some support.

"Corn was steady at the start and unchanged to ⅛d higher. Later May showed an additional advance of ¼d. Strength was due to the scarcity of American mixed and dearer American offers. July lost ⅛d in the later trading on larger and cheaper La Plata offerings."

Primary receipts of wheat were 224,000 bu., last year 248,000 bu. Shipments 236,000 bu., last year 409,000 bu. Clearances of wheat and flour were 72,000 bu.

Primary receipts of corn were 163,000 bu., last year 451,000 bu. Shipments 246,000 bu., last year 260,000 bu. Clearances of corn were 257,000 bu.

Wheat was active in Duluth. May wheat opened ½c lower at $1.21½, advanced to $1.21⅝, the high point of the day, and was gradually swept off to $1.18½, closing at $1.18¾, a loss of 3¼c from yesterday. July wheat opened ⅜c lower at $1.22, advanced to $1.22¼ and slumped, with occasional rallies, to $1.18⅞, closing at $1.19, a loss of 3⅜c from yesterday.

Durum wheat closed 2¾c lower.

Flax was very dull. May closed ½c lower at $1.64¼. July closed at $1.64, a loss of ½c. September flax closed ½c lower at $1.43 and October flax was unchanged at $1.38.

Oats closed ¼c lower.

Following were the closing prices:

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Prices Break Sharply: Advance on Covering By Shorts.

Chicago, April 22.—Wheat prices broke sharply again today, the July delivery selling off to a point more than 1c below the low mark reached during the sensational bear raid of last Tuesday. Borne down by a general selling pressure that option today declined to $1.11, which was nearly 3c under the final quotations of the preceding session. Prices then advanced about a cent on covering by shorts.

The market opened weak, influenced by additional foreign news of a bearish character and by the generally favorable weather for the new crop in this country. An official estimate on the week's exports of wheat from Argentina placed the amount at 2,800,000 bushels, which was nearly half a million bushels more than the actual shipments of the previous week. The Liverpool market also was weak with prices of a penny. Opening quotations here showed declines of ⅜@½c to 1⅛c, July being $1.22⅞@1.23½ and May at $1.23½@1.24⅛. On the break July dropped to $1.11 while May declined to $1.23. The July then rallied to $1.12.

After touching a new high mark for the season at 72c corn for May delivery broke nearly 1c on profit-taking brought out by the slump in wheat. The opening was firm with prices ⅛c lower to ⅛c higher, with May at 71½@71⅝c. After selling at 72c May dropped back to 71⅜c. Local receipts were again small and prospects for any material increase were slight.

Oats were firm at the start, but weakened along with wheat and corn. May opened ⅛c lower to ⅛c higher at 56⅛@56⅜c and sold off to 55⅞c.

Provisions were quiet and firm. A 5@10c advance in live hogs offset for a time the easier tone of grain. The prices at the start were 5@7½c higher.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 22.—Sentiment was bearish from the opening. Cables were lower, weather and crop reports favorable. The movement through the Northwest compared favorably with last year. Local stocks decreased 450,000 bushels for five days. The market was weak with an apparent nervous undertone. There was a break of 3½c, May going as low as $1.19¾ and closing at $1.19⅝. Minneapolis today received 116 cars, against 118; Duluth 22, against 20; Winnipeg 202, against 124. May opened $1.22¾; high, $1.22¾; low, $1.19¾@$1.19⅝ close, $1.19½@1.19⅝. July opened $1.23; high, $1.23; low, $1.19⅜; close, $1.19⅝. Cash wheat was easier at the opening, but later firmed up and premiums advanced. Millers were eager buyers of the top grades. Offerings were light, No. 1 sold for 3c to 3¼c over the May option, and No. 2 northern sold for 2¼c over. No. 1 northern, $1.21@1.22⅜ spot; to arrive, $1.21⅜; No. 2 northern, $1.19@1.20⅜; to arrive, $1.19⅞. No. 3 wheat, $1.16⅞@1.18⅜. Flax receipts 5 cars today against 18; shipments, 1. Demand was strong for the light offerings at the Duluth May option. Close, $1.63¾.

Barley—Receipts, 9 cars today against 6; shipments, 64. Continued light receipts and a strong demand stimulated the market and prices advanced ½c. Inquiry was the strongest for malting barley. This market seemed out of line with outside markets. Closing range, 62½@64½c.

Millstuffs—Shipments, 1,335 tons. The market continued active and strong. Demand was far in excess of the supply. Shipments showed a light falling off and prices held firm. Bran in bulk, $23.00@23.50.

Flour was only in fair demand at the best, due to the weakness in the wheat market. Prices declined again. Foreign and Eastern inquiry was light. Shipments were about steady, 41,514 barrels. First patents, $5.80@6.00; second patents, $5.70@5.90; first clears, $4.85@5.05; second clears, $3.35@3.55.

HEARD ON THE FLOOR.

Gossip of the Trading Room and the Pit.

No news of seeding in North Dakota or the north and central parts of Minnesota has reached the floor as yet. The weather has been rather chilly and the ground still contains too much frost to permit the farmers to put in their grain.

Argentine shipments of wheat this week are estimated at 2,800,000 bu. The shipments last week were 2,344,000 bu, and for the corresponding week last year, 2,584,000 bu.

Minneapolis puts were $1.17½ and calls $1.21¾ and $1.21 ½asked.

Chicago July ups were $1.12⅜ and downs $1.07@1.07½, $1.07 and $1.07⅝.

Illinois and Indiana—Generally fair weather except probably showers in extreme south tonight or Friday.

Missouri—Partly cloudy in northern; probably showers in southern tonight or Friday.

Lower Michigan—Partly cloudy tonight and Friday.

Wisconsin and Iowa—Generally fair tonight and Friday.

Minnesota—Generally fair tonight and Friday; warmer in northwest tonight.

Nebraska—Partly cloudy tonight and Friday; warmer tonight.

Kansas—Unsettled tonight and Friday with probable showers.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Market Started Up at Opening and Rise Fairly Maintained.

Profit-Taking Sales Took Only Fraction Off the Prices.

New York, April 22.—Prices started up with the beginning of business at the stock exchange today. The transcontinental railroad stocks were prominent, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Atchison, St. Louis & San Francisco second preferred, Norfolk & Western and Southern Railway preferred rose large fractions. Chesapeake & Ohio 1 and Minneapolis & St. Louis 1¼.

Outside of a rise of 1⅛ in Union Pacific there was practically no reflection in the active stocks, but the vigorous advance in the industrials and mine railroads. In fact Reading showed heaviness, reacting a point from its best price. Mackay company improved 2⅝. American Telephone & Telegraph and Metropolitan Street Railway 2, Great Northern ore certificates 1⅝, Colorado & Southern first preferred 1¼, the second preferred, American Beet Sugar preferred 1⅜ and the common, Delaware & Hudson, Wisconsin Central and North American 1. National Lead fell 1⅜.

The price movement was sluggish and fluctuations showed its uncertainty. Gains of a point or more were made by Southern Pacific, New York Central, American Can stocks, American Ice and Allis-Chalmers preferred. Atlantic Coast Line declined 1. Lackawanna sold at an advance of 5 and Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha declined as much. Bonds were strong.

Speculative sentiment was more cheerful as there was a brisk demand for Union Pacific and other representative stocks. Crex Carpet jumped 5¾, New York, Chicago and St. Louis 3, Union Pacific and Southern Pacific 2, New York Central 1⅝, Norfolk & Western 1½ and Texas & Pacific, St. Paul, Great Northern preferred, American Sugar Consolidated Gas and Pittsburg Coal 1. American Hide & Leather preferred, St. Louis Southwestern and Colorado & Southern yielded 1.

The market closed irregular. The advance carried up Utah Copper 2½, Pullman 2, Colorado Fuel 1¾; United States Steel and Cleveland, C. C. & St. Louis 1¼, Amalgamated Copper and Sloss-Sheffield Steel 1¼, the preferred 4½, and American Smelting and the Republic Steel stocks 1. Profit taking sales took a fraction off prices, but the selling was not pushed far. Reading was an exception, giving way again to near the lowest.

REMARKS.

Light rain or snow fell over practically all districts except Missouri, Nebraska and the greater portion of the Dakotas. Freezing weather prevails in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Nebraska and the Dakotas.

H. W. RICHARDSON,
Local Forecaster.

T. Indicates inappreciable rainfall. *For yesterday †For twenty-four hours ending 8 a. m., 75th meridian time. ‡Minimum temperature for twelve hours ending 8 a. m., 75th meridian time.

NOTE.—The average maximum and minimum temperatures and the average rainfall are made up at each center from the actual number of reports received. The "state of weather" is that prevailing at time of observation.

THURSDAY, APRIL 22, 1909.

Butte-Alex Scott is now in stronger hands than ever before. Look at the people who got $11 and $12 for the part paid. Nearly all this money is ready to go into the market again. No matter what the papers say regarding the heavy purchases of Scott stock the fact remains the same. You have lost no money because you never had it. It reminds me of the fellow who said to his friend: "Let me take $10 for ten minutes." The other fellow said: "Wait ten minutes and you won't need it."

Some seem to think they lost money. Why, boys, you are better off to hold your Scott stock until next Christmas, for this is a real mine, plenty of money in the treasury, good management and a property located amongst mines worth $100,000,000 and do not over look the fact that the Butte-Alex Scott mine is worth a few millions.

The company has nothing to do with the market of the stock. They are in the mining business and you will see inside of a short time that this issue will be more active than any on the board. I will wager $1,000 that the $2 paid stock sells above $20 before next Christmas. It should sell at $35, but to be safe we will say $20. It may begin in a day or so. Common sense will tell you it cannot stay down. If a mining company has to suffer on account of a broker quitting business then we may as well all quit speculating.

Even our enemies are now taking on Butte-Alex Scott stock. Why shouldn't they? Is it not the best buy on the board? They are paying top notch prices for it and if they want to sell you any cheap stock take it, it is an absolute cinch that you have to make big money. The full paid at $10 gives you the property for $600,000, which is over six times less than the Ballaklava is now selling for.

Many of you have got your profits on the part paid. Now is a dandy chance to get again as much in the next week. The part paid is scarce and hard to find. I believe it will sell pretty near the full paid in the next few days. The quotations at the present time are hardly a criterion of the market. An order for 2,000 shares of the part paid would easily drive it up to $12. The full paid is a little different and cannot advance so fast, but a 2,000 share order should easily drive it to $14. Do not forget the people were all paid for the $2 Scott and this money is in the market right now.

Some of the papers are not doing justice to the people on Butte-Alex Scott stock. They do not understand that they are making many who have all their money invested in this issue sacrifice their stock. I am here to tell every paper in this city that they are doing wrong and all they have to do is to send men to Butte, Mont., and see the mine and they will find out their mistake. I own a large block of stock. Much of this trade has passed through my office. Many people have left their stock with me to have it transferred. I have to do so gratis. No one in this city has worked harder to bring about a big success for this company than I have and let me tell you to your face that it is the biggest success ever brought to Duluth for many and many a day. Remember the stock is worth about $40 a share in real value. Now, then, it is up to the people to believe me or to gather their information from what one of our local papers would imply. The people who follow me make money. I try to treat them fair and square. We owe no one a dollar who can not get it if it rightfully belongs to him or her.

We do not run away from our trades like some of the bigger offices have done. It reminds me of a lot of sick cats. Everybody likes a man who will stand back of his trades to the last dollar.

Give us your business. We are as safe as any of them in all kinds of weather.

Eminent Italian engineers, some of whom have already performed more marvelous feats, now seriously propose the construction of a barge canal over the Appenines and Alps mountains. A system of tubular canals is the idea. As one barge ascends another barge descends.

It is asserted by a traveler that "the best cigaret tobacco in the world comes from Macedonia; that the best tobacco (when it is tobacco at all) in European cigarets comes from Macedonia, and that when it does not come from Macedonia it is said to come from there.

We hardly think it wise to extoll our merits in the columns of the press; we do think it good advertising to solicit business in a business like way from those of the public who wish to deal with a strictly reliable house with ample capital to take care of and clear their own trades as well as those of their friends and clients.

We have not built up our business from a small co-partnership to such immense proportions simply on advertisements and hot air flotations, but on straight legitimate brokerage business and honest dealings and advice. Our many satisfied customers are our best advertiser.

We want your business, and suggest that before you place any trades in the future with a house, that you look them up thoroughly and thus protect yourself from any possible losses. We have a rating with Bradstreet and Dunn that is second to none, and our banking friends in both this city and on the range will be our best references as to responsibility.

We are an incorporated firm with a full paid capital of $50,000, and resources of over $250,000, and our bank account was such last night that we felt that we would like to get some of our loose cash to earning interest, therefore we will be pleased to advance one-half the amount required to buy any of the good Duluth curb stocks on thirty days' time. All we want is the business we deserve, and if we can't get it by honest conscientious dealings, then we will give up the brokerage business entirely.

We believe that the firm that stands by their trades is the firm that deserves and will get the business. We have never yet executed an order to sell stock on which a check for the full amount was not given the moment the stock was presented at our cashier's window.

In conclusion, we wish to say that we earnestly solicit your business, simply because we believe in square dealing, and because we have the capital and financial backing to carry our trades through at all costs.

Our motto is now and has been: "Conservatism and Responsibility." Cash for stocks and stocks for cash, unless otherwise arranged.

Give us your business; we will in return guarantee you service.

With our own private wire connections with New York, Boston and the copper countries of Michigan, Montana, Nevada, Utah, Arizona and Mexico, we are the best equipped to give you quick executions on all the leading local stocks of any brokerage house in the city.

In Probate Court.
The petition of A. J. Braden, representing, among other things that the claim filed by him in the above matter and allowed by this Court and entered in the final account of the administrator of said estate as having been paid, was in fact never paid, and that for reasons stated in said petition, the order of this Court, allowing said final account, and the final decree of distribution, should be vacated and set aside:
IT IS ORDERED, That said petition be heard before this Court at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House in Duluth in said county on Monday, the 17th day of May, 1909, at ten o'clock A. M. and all persons interested in said hearing and in said matter, are hereby cited and required at said time and place to show cause, if any there be, why said petition should not be granted.
IT IS ORDERED FURTHER, That this order be served by publication in the Duluth Evening Herald, according to law.
Dated Duluth, Minnesota, April 21st., 1909.
By the Court.
J. B. MIDDLECOFF,
Judge of said Court.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL

LEADERLESS AND AIMLESS WAS THE SESSION OF THE LEGISLATURE JUST ENDED

Fortunately There Was a Governor to Correct Its Errors.

Nearly Four Months of Fuss and Feathers, Doing Little.

All St. Louis County Bills Passed and Inimical Bills Stopped.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The work of the thirty-sixth session of the Minnesota legislature can perhaps be reviewed more accurately and more fairly when time has provided a better perspective than is available at present.

For at this time, and in the circumstances in which everybody interested in Northern Minnesota finds himself, there is an irresistible impulse to be critical to the verge of peevishness.

It looks now very much as though the legislature met in January, found absolutely nothing to do, and spent nearly four months of fuss and feathers doing it.

At this time proper respect for the legislature is almost impossible, for there are too many vivid memories of the legislature passing a bill in a hurrah, and then turning about and killing it in a panic; too many vivid memories of the legislature killing a bill in a fury one moment, and then resurrecting it and passing it enthusiastically the next; too many vivid memories of legislation which the members know should pass being defeated for unworthy reasons; too many

ROOT OPENS THE LAW CONVENTION

Washington, April 23.—Important phases of international law will be discussed by the American Society of International Law, which began its third annual meeting today. Among the speakers will be men of international reputation on such questions as the growth of the American system of international law, as compared with universal international law, the powers which an international court of arbitration should possess, political offenses in international extradition, and the codification of maritime international law.

Senator Root, president of the society, opened the meeting today, taking for the subject of his annual address "The Relation Between the Jurisdiction of National Courts and International Arbitration." This was followed by a discussion on "Arbitration As a Judicial Remedy," among those taking part being Former Secretary of State John W. Foster, who dealt with English and American cases of arbitration, as did Prof. F. W. Aymar of New York University law school. Wayne MacVeagh spoke on the work at The Hague, in matters of arbitration, while Senor Luis Anderson, late special envoy from Costa Rica to the United States, covered Latin-American cases.

CALIFORNIA PROFESSOR FOR WISCONSIN UNIVERSITY.

Palo Alto, Cal., April 23.—Prof. C. H. Huberich, head of the Stanford University, law school, has been granted leave of absence for next year to take a professorship in the college of law at the University of Wisconsin and Prof. H. T. Smith, senior professor of the Wisconsin law school will fill Huberich's chair. This exchange of professors is in line with the policy of the larger universities advanced by Prof. Abbott, president of the Association of American Schools. Prof. Huberich is considered an authority on conflicts of laws and is writing a book on his specialty.

EX-SENATOR STEWART OF NEVADA IS NO MORE

Washington, April 23. — Former United States Senator William A. Stewart of Nevada died in Georgetown hospital here today, following an operation. The body will be taken to Nevada Sunday.

"Silver" Stewart was said to have been the last man to whom Abraham Lincoln wrote. This was on the night of Lincoln's assassination, when the emancipator had an engagement with the Nevadan at the White House. Lincoln wrote Stewart that he could not meet him, as he was going to the theater.

Mr. Stewart had been in the hospital since March 30. On March 31 he underwent an operation, the nature of which the physicians have not made public. About a week ago his condi-

SORRY STATUE IS DUPLICATED

Hodgenville, Ky., April 23.—Citizens of this little town, historic for being the birthplace of Abraham Lincoln, are regretting the fact that on the campus of the University of Wisconsin is to be a replica of their famous Weineman Lincoln statue.

Weineman carved the statue for the town square of Hodgenville and at first an attempt was made to have the cast destroyed after the first molding was formed.

The sculptor secured the right, however, to make one replica, and the University of Wisconsin is to have this.

CASTRO ORATES IN HIS NIGHTCAP

St. Naize, April 23.—The steamship Versailles, with Cipriano Castro, deposed president of Venezuela, aboard, arrived here at daylight. An intimate friend of Castro and a number of Venezuelans and journalists boarded the vessel as soon as possible. Castro had not emerged from his cabin, and his friends were the first to reach him. When they appeared after fifteen minutes they announced that Castro still complained of being ill, and that he had suffered severely from the rolling of the ship. The captain of the Versailles, however, said Castro appeared in fairly good condition, and during the voyage had appeared frequently on deck, talking with compatriots.

Before Castro left his cabin he sent for a newspaper correspondent and sitting up in bed with a nightcap on his head, delivered a long and rambling harangue.

His remarks were directed principally against the United States for "playing into the hands of his enemies in Venezuela and sending warships to follow his movements." He declared that Venezuela was lost if the people submitted like slaves to foreign meddling.

Referring to France, Castro said he was astonished that a country, which had shed torrents of blood in the cause of liberty, should join in the cabal against him. He then declared that the motion of the ship had reopened the wound of the operation performed at Berlin, that his condition was extremely serious and that he must have immediate medical attention.

When asked regarding his future plans the deposed president said he had made none, as he considered himself a prisoner of war. When informed that the French government gave him full liberty he replied:

"But I am not free if I desire to return to Fort de France and cannot. France should respect the rights of man proclaimed a century ago."

In spite of his assertion that he did not know what he was going to do, it later became clear that Castro plans to go to Paris. His baggage was taken ashore and placed on a train and he left at once for the capital.

Passengers on the Versailles said that when Castro was brought on board the steamer at Fort de France declared if he had been allowed to make his way to Venezuela he would soon have raised an army to overthrow his enemies.

RIDES ON COWCATCHER

Roosevelt Travels Fifty Miles in Africa That Way.

The Former President Is Delighted With the Experience.

Makindu, British East Africa, April 23.—The special train that left Mombasa at 2:30 yesterday afternoon, bearing Theodore Roosevelt and the members of his party to the ranch of Sir Alfred Pease on the Athi river, pulled in here at 6:30 this morning.

The travelers are enjoying the trip immensely. Mr. Roosevelt, E. J. Jackson, acting governor of the protectorate; F. C. Selous and Maj. Mearns, rode on a broad seat attached to the cowcatcher of the locomotive from Mombasa as far as Macklinnon road, a distance of fifty miles.

The visitors are delighted with the experience, and Roosevelt was deeply impressed with the marvelous scenery that unfolded itself to his views. Voi was reached last night, after which the party turned in.

The other passengers of the special

NINETEEN ARE DROWNED AT SEA

Christiania, April 23.—Nineteen persons were drowned off Christiania last night by the sinking of the Norwegian steamer Edith after collision with the British steamer Oxford.

Those who went down with the Edith are the captain and his wife, one passenger and sixteen members of her crew.

The Edith, a vessel of 869 tons, was last reported at Christiansand. The Oxford is of 802 tons and is owned in Hull.

WESTON STUCK IN MUD IN TOWN THAT CURES JAGS.

Dwight, Ill., April 23—Edward Payson Weston, the noted pedestrian, was stranded in the mud here yesterday. The going was too heavy and the veteran was forced to spend the day here instead of proceeding on to Bloomington, as he had intended. The day previous Weston walked in Illinois muck up to his knees in the midst of a soaking deluge. He had trouble with his attendant yesterday and let him go. He also had a tilt with the automobile firm which has been sending a machine with him, and announces that he is going back to the old-time horse and buggy.

Gigantic Frozen Cakes Throb, Preparing to Surrender.

No Government Aid to People Along the River.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., April 23.—Slowly but surely, one of the most wonderful blockades of nature known to history is surrendering to one of the most forceful weapons of violence within the use of man. Niagara Falls, yesterday, a solid mass of ice, fantastically and wierdly frozen, has yielded to the bombardment of a ton of dynamite aimed by the state's engineering force, and broad rivers are gushing here and there, rapidly widening and intermingling, while gigantic cakes of ice now and then throb and heave, signalling the huge capitulation to the inevitable.

Last night a breach was made in at Youngstown,

REVOLUTION DAUGHTERS ELECT MRS. M. T. SCOTT

MRS. MATTHEW T. SCOTT.

Illinoisan Wins Most Exciting Contest Ever

Mrs. [illegible] Awake All Night Awaiting Results.

Washington, April 23.—Mrs. Matthew T. Scott was today elected president-general of the Daughters of the American Revolution. She was the administration candidate and won in the most exciting election the daughters ever held. Mrs. Donald McLean, retiring president-general, lay awake until 4 this morning awaiting the returns, and most of the other members of the society got little sleep, so great was the excitement. A miscount of votes caused much delay and wrangling among the thirty-two tellers. Mrs.

Second Prohibition Debate.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 23.—The second of three debates on prohibition between Mayor David S. Rose, Milwaukee, and President Samuel Dickie, Albion, Mich., college, will be held in Orchestra hall in Chicago on the night of April 30 at 8:30 o'clock.

TAFT WILL OPEN THE YUKON FAIR

Seattle, Wash., April 23.—President William H. Taft will press the key that will open the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition at 12:30 p. m., Seattle time, June 1.

At the same moment Mayor McClellan of New York will fire the shot that will start the New York-to-Seattle automobile race from New York; every whistle or noise-making contrivance in Seattle is expected to extend a greeting to the New World's fair.

Street cars will stop two minutes and business will suspend for that space of time.

[illegible] ONE WEEK

[illegible] Now Planned to Begin Them on April 30.

Mercer, Pa., April 23.—Anticipating the return of true bills against James H. Boyle and Mrs. Boyle today, on the charge of kidnaping Willie Whitla, plans have been made for the beginning of the trials on Friday of next week.

The Mercer county authorities are greatly worried over an alleged attempt of Boyle to commit suicide. Boyle was found in his cell in the agony of convulsions. Doctors were summoned and worked until his condition improved. Except that his illness was such as would have resulted from some powerful drug, nothing can be learned.

SALVATION ARMY MEN GO TO JAIL

Threaten to Fill All the Cells at South Bend, Ind.

South Bend, Ind., April 23.—"We'll fill the South Bend jail with Salvation Army officers," declared Maj. William Escott, division manager of the Salvation Army, who arrived here today to take charge of the campaign against the police rule that the Army shall not hold meetings on business corners.

"Every officer in the country," he continued, "will volunteer to go to jail here, just as Capt. Brooke has done."

Capt. Brooke, who was sentenced to jail a few days ago, and whose wife and children, against their protest, are free under suspended sentences, continued to hold religious meetings with other prisoners and says his imprisonment is of good effect.

THE LID IS ON.

MASSACRES MAKE ARMY OF WIDOWS

Beirut, April 23.—The Armenian population of Antioch and vicinity has been partially wiped out in the massacres of the last few days by fanatical Moslems. There are thousands of destitute Armenian widows and orphans still in the district, unable to get away. There is no security anywhere in the vicinity of Antioch.

The situation at Alexandretta continues critical. Belian is still holding out against the tribesmen that surround it. Beirut is quiet as yet, but there is great tension between the Christian and the Moslem populations. Troops are arriving here, and the authorities are taking forceful measures for the preservation of order. Many people are leaving Beirut for the Lebanon. The British cruiser Diana came into port today.

Would Depose Sultan.

Constantinople, April 23.—It is reported that at a secret session of the national assembly in San Stefani yesterday, 150 deputies voted in favor of the deposition of the sultan.

A cablegram received here today from Mersina sets forth conclusively that Henry Maurer and D. M. Rogers, American missionaries, were killed during the rioting at Adana.

The sultan appeared upon the streets of Constantinople today and was greeted by the people with cries of adoration. With a mask like a countenance and his head sunk between his stooped shoulders he acknowledged the salutations of the throng by curt nods.

Massacres Are Raging.

Tarsus, Asiatic Turkey, April 23.—The rioting that originated at Adana broke out here April 16. Several Armenians were killed, the whole Armenian quarter was burned, and the churches were sacked. Over 4,000 refugees are still gathered in the yard of the American college. Their condition is pitiable. The missionaries at Tarsus are safe, but they are still apprehensive for the refugees. Massacres are raging today in the neighborhood of an American village, and instant relief is needed.

All the Villages Destroyed.

Alexandretta, April 23.—Fugitives who have arrived relate that all the Armenian villages and settlements in the Alexandretta district are being destroyed. Nearly every Armenian dwelling has been burned by the fanatical Moslems and the Armenians still surviving are living in the open, half-starved and in great fear, especially of Friday and Sunday.

Russia Moves Troops.

St. Petersburg, April 23.—The shah of Persia, having failed to notify the royalist commander in Tabriz that an armistice had been granted, Russia has ordered the viceroy of the Caucasus to dispatch troops to that point by forced marches.

Squadron Puts to Sea.

Sebastopol, April 23.—The active squadron of the Russian Black sea, under command of Admiral Bostrem, put to sea today. The destination of the vessels is not known.

Refugees' Condition Miserable.

Aleppo, Asiatic Turkey, April 23.—Many refugees have arrived here from the Alexandretta district. Their condition is miserable. Intense alarm exists among the Armenians still alive of a recurrence of the attacks upon them.

vivid memories of legislation that ought to have been killed being passed for reasons still more unworthy.

But fortunately, though a feather-headed legislature rioted irresponsibly with the state's vital concerns, there was a governor on the job who had a keen vision to see and the courage and manhood to correct the errors that inevitably grew out of a session so leaderless, so aimless, so heedless and so irresponsible.

Had the governor been as neglectful and as heedless of consequences as the legislature showed itself to be on many occasions; had he consented mean and despicable impulses, as many members of both houses did altogether too often, the state would have had reason to view the results of the session with far less complacent toleration than is possible now.

It is hard to respect in the abstract a legislature that would pass so shamefully unjust and oppressive a measure as the tonnage tax, for instance, when the great majority of both bodies knew that it was shamefully unjust and oppressive. It is an unchallenged truth that at heart, only a narrow majority in either house really believed that the bill ought to pass. The arguments presented against it were overwhelming and unanswerable. Also, they were to a large extent unanswered. Yet the bill passed both bodies, even though in each case its majority was small, one vote to spare in the house and six to spare in the senate.

Yet on the whole, and always remembering the fortunate foresight of the fathers of American liberty who fixed it so the executive has a last say on matters of legislation through the veto no harm has been done, and some good has come out of the session.

Good even came to Northeastern Minnesota in the matter of the tonnage tax, and great good, too, though thanks need not be wasted upon the legislature for its unconscious help in this matter.

While the sentiment for the tonnage tax throughout the state has been grossly exaggerated for one purpose or another, there is no getting around the fact that there was a positive and alarming demand for it in many parts of the state. Chiefly this was due to the poison spread by conscienceless self-seekers who howled for the tonnage tax to cover up their own shortcomings or to help their shrunken political powers. The sentiment was based on a complete misapprehension of the facts and conditions.

The Herald's St. Paul correspondent talked, during the winter, with a great many citizens from widely separated portions of the state. Almost invariably the conversation ran something like this:

Being asked how the folks up his way looked at the tonnage tax, the visitor promptly replied:

"Oh, we're for the tonnage tax, of course. The steel trust ought to be made to pay its fair share of taxes, and so far it has escaped by paying almost nothing."

It took not more than five minutes to change such men from tonnage tax theorizers to tonnage tax opponents. All that was necessary was to show what the mines are now paying, what proportion of the state's expenses the iron counties now contribute, what had been done under the ad valorem system in increasing state and local revenues from the mines, what the proposition to seize for state purposes an inordinate proportion of these taxes meant to the localities and the people living therein, what it meant to the state to jeopardize its chances of gaining a steel manufacturing industry vastly more important than anybody's pet method of taxation; in short, to show that the mines are paying a big tax now, that if it isn't big enough it can be increased in the same way as in the past, and that the localities in which the mines are situated are entitled to the same proportion of the taxes on their property as the people in other sections.

This shows how unsubstantial the sentiment for a tonnage tax is. The members of the legislature, with few exceptions, were as easily convinced by the representatives of Northeastern Minnesota, even though they still persisted in voting for the bill in deference to local sentiment in their districts—an excuse which will do as well as another.

Yet all this was merely converting individuals. The great good that came out of the legislature was that the conversion of the whole state was made possible. When the state knows that though the bill passed the legislature a large majority of the legislators were at heart against it, and when the state reads the brilliant, forceful and conclusive reasoning of Governor Johnson in his veto message, a result will be accomplished far greater than would have been the defeat of the tonnage tax bill in either branch of the legislature.

Looking to the future as well as to the present, the outcome could not have been better for Northern Minnesota had it been planned to come out just as it did.

With the governor's veto message as the basis, a campaign of education throughout the state must be begun immediately, while the situation is ripe. By taking advantage of the present situation, it will be possible to end the tonnage tax agitation for all time to come. Had the bill been merely defeated in one branch of the legislature, it would simply have been laid over till the next campaign and the next session.

• • •

The St. Louis county delegation comes back absolutely scatheless.

It was badly scared at times, but as the matter stands it comes out of the session in better shape than any previous delegation.

It did not lose a single local measure, and it did not suffer the passage of a single measure that is harmful to this section. It fought against great odds, and it fought faithfully and well. The tendency may possibly be to withhold due credit from the delegation because the tonnage tax bill had to be killed by the governor. As we have stated, it couldn't have happened better than it did. But it should also be remembered that the campaign of education begun in the legislature by the strong delegation which this county sent down in January, has gone far toward turning public sentiment on this matter. Though many members still persisted in voting for the tonnage tax bill because of real or fancied danger from their constituents if they voted otherwise, it is beyond question that the arguments and personal work of the members from St. Louis county actually did convert a majority of both branches, and these men will in most cases go back to their districts to say that while in deference to home sentiment they voted for the bill, home sentiment is mistaken and the tonnage tax principle is wrong.

The results show that it is worth while to force strong men, even against their personal inclination, into the legislature. The Duluth delegation was respected, admired, consulted frequently, and it had a large influence on other matters of state-wide importance. It made friends, friends of the staunchest kind. When hostile resolutions were expected in the closing hours of the session, these friends formed a picket line clear across the chambers, ready to repel the enemy.

The Duluth delegation is entitled to the warmest thanks of the communities it represented, and the practice of sending strong men, having been happily begun, should be continued.

The fact that no attempt was made to pass the tonnage tax bill over the governor's veto showed how well aware its advocates were of the change in sentiment that had come about. Many of those who had timorously voted for the bill, against their own convictions, were only too willing to support the governor, and if the friends of the bill had brought it to a vote, it would have fallen far short of a majority in either body.

• • •

One of the most important local measures passed in the last hours of the session was Representative Grant's bill allowing rural and city electric lines to make mutual traffic arrangements. This bill was introduced to make it possible to build an electric line through the farming country back of Duluth, in order to provide transportation of the farmers' products to the Duluth market. There was strong opposition to measures of this character, and the fate of the bill was in doubt until the end.

One of the last bills passed was Representative Congdon's bill allowing cities of the first class to condemn land and establish parks and parkways outside the city limits. This was Mr. Congdon's pet measure, and it was desired by many citizens of Duluth.

Among the local bills passed were the following: Giving St. Louis county commissioners traveling expenses; authorizing bonds for the completion of the courthouse; fixing clerk hires in the offices of the county auditor and treasurer; increasing the salary of the special municipal judge of Duluth to $3,000 a year; broadening the powers of the Ely municipal court; giving the Eleventh judicial district an additional judge to hold court on the ranges; authorizing bonds to pave Garfield avenue; providing a county examiner for towns, villages, school districts and charitable institutions; creating a courthouse commission; fixing salaries of court reporters in St. Louis county; fixing salary and clerk hire in the office of judge of probate; increasing the salary of the iron range county attorney; authorizing sewer construction in Virginia; authorizing cities and counties to Torrens their land titles.

Representative Austin's bill allowing cities and villages in the iron country to take in outside territory passed.

Senator T. M. Pugh's bill allowing $5,000 for a boathouse for the naval militia and reorganizing the naval militia staff became laws.

A measure that will be important in future sessions is that by Representative Congdon, providing that laws applying to cities of the first class shall not be applicable to home rule charter cities unless they specifically so declare. Much watchfulness was necessary this session to prevent the bond issues and salary increases for the Twin Cities from applying to Duluth.

While there was no reapportionment, Representatives Buck and Congdon got through a law which gives one of the two representatives from the Fifty-first legislative district to Lake and Cook counties, a matter that has been long desired.

• • •

The failure of the legislature to provide reapportionment of legislative representation is a crime of omission that cannot be forgotten. There is absolutely no excuse for it except the selfishness of the representatives of Southern Minnesota. It is unfair to blame this upon the people of Southern Minnesota; the blame belongs to those lawmakers who feared that just apportionment would crowd some of them out of their places.

The representatives of Northern Minnesota worked hard for reapportionment, but they were outnumbered.

One of the most important products of the session was the creation of a commission to investigate the subject of compensation for injured workingmen and to report a proper measure to the next session of the legislature. While this is one of the most valuable results of the session, it is one that confers little credit upon a large element in the legislature.

The bill was asked for by united labor and capital, whose demand was presented to the legislature by Governor Johnson in a special message. Because this message came from the governor, the Republican "steering committee" immediately began a campaign to defeat the plan. Various half-baked compensation acts were proposed, and an attempt was made to crowd one of them through, though it was opposed by both labor and capital. All this for fear that the Democratic governor of the state would get some credit out of it if the measure really desired by the whole state should become a law.

In this connection, one of the most ridiculous features of the session was an attempt by some of the Republican members to play politics. They began the session by determining to "put the governor in a hole," and to "stop this business of a Republican legislature fetching and carrying for a Democratic governor." The result was that every move of this character redounded to the credit of Governor Johnson and plunged the partisan Republicans in the legislature deeper and deeper into confusion and disgrace. It is fair to say, however, that the substantial Republicans of the legislature stood firmly against all attempts to play peanut politics.

Among the more important measures which became laws were the following: Creating a state department of banking, separating this work from the public examiner's office.

Provision for the new state prison and the manufacturing establishments there, $2,250,000 spread over ten years in equal annual installments.

New inheritance tax law.

Reduction of the mortgage registry tax 50 cents per $100 to 10 cents per $100.

State license and regulation of automobiles.

Granting authority to home rule charters to adopt the commission plan of city government.

Setting apart 1,000,000 acres of land in Northern St. Louis and Lake counties as part of an international game preserve.

State aid for ten high schools installing departments of agriculture.

Legalizing Sunday baseball.

New act for protecting the state's forests from fire, including the employment of forest rangers and the requirement that lumbermen burn their slashings at the end of the cutting season.

State license for peddlers outside the three large cities.

Teachers' pension bill, applying to the three large cities.

Probation system for juvenile delinquents extended to the whole state.

Torrens system extended to the whole state.

Uniform bill of lading act—in the opinion of many one of the very most important measures passed.

Requiring railroads to keep track of freight charges paid in excess of rates established by the railroad commission, and to refund them if they lose in the courts.

• • •

Though the session lasted 108 days, there were but 99 legislative days, or days on which the legislature could sit, and the house sat 79 days and the senate 71 days.

• • •

A measure that will be widely criticised was that paying the members at the close of this session $500 each in salary, which was not to become due until next year, under the salary law passed two years ago.

• • •

The J. N. Johnson bill, requiring railroads to get the permission of the railroad and warehouse commission before issuing stocks and bonds, passed the house but slept in the senate railroad committee at the close of the session.

More than 2,000 bills were introduced and 588 were passed.

• • •

It was expected at the beginning of the session that the absence of railway passes, and the substitution of the salary basis for the per diem basis in the payment of members, would result in a shorter session, and that there would be fewer week-end adjournments.

The session took up the full constitutional limit, which was one day longer than usual because Good Friday was a legal holiday this year, and hadn't been before, and there were at least as many long week-end adjournments.

An attempt was made to pass a proposed Constitutional amendment, limiting the session to sixty instead of ninety days, but it fell between the two houses at the finish.

• • •

Though the legislature started in to "put Governor Johnson in a hole," it ended by adopting most of the suggestions in his annual message, including the following: The separate state banking department, the new prison plant, local schools of agriculture, the re-enactment of the commodity rate law of 1907, with the penalty clause eliminated; the Bicknell bill allowing shippers to recover the overcharge where state rates are upheld in the courts.

• • •

All attempts to change the primary election law were defeated, and it stands just as it has stood for several sessions, though many Republican members—and a few Democrats—started in determined to repeal it or to make radical changes in its provisions.

• • •

The attempt to put public utilities under a state commission failed, but considerable sentiment was created for it, and it will be tried again next session with better chances for victory.

• • •

The "pork barrel" road appropriation of 1907 was perpetrated again, with the annual appropriation raised from $200,000 to $300,000. This money goes into a grab bag, and is cut up among the members with some attention to equality, but absolutely no attention to state-wide road improvement, the state highway commission having absolutely nothing to do with its expenditure.

• • •

One important drainage measure went through, empowering the state drainage commission to make a topographical survey of the various watersheds of the state with a view to putting drainage upon an economical basis and to preventing overflow from one section injuring another section.

• • •

Among the bills killed were the following:

County option.

Local option for fourth class cities. (Under 10,000.)

Thayer bill for stamp tax on deals in futures.

Bjorge tonnage tax bill. (Passed but vetoed.)

Extension of primary law to state officers and United States senators.

Women's suffrage amendment.

The Lee bill to prohibit treating.

The "midnight lid" for three large cities.

Creation of new state land department.

The twice-a-month pay day bill.

Abolition of capital punishment.

Regulation of patent medicine sale.

Swanson bill to abolish tuberculin test for cattle.

Making railroad commissioners appointive.

CHILD'S DREADFUL SKIN TROUBLES

Had Sixty Boils when but Six Months Old—Was Annually Attacked by a Humor—It Looked Red Like a Scald and Spread Over Half Her Head—Both Troubles are Cured.

"When my little Vivian was about six months old, her papa had a boil on his forehead. At that time the child was covered with prickly heat and I suppose in scratching it, her own head became infected for it broke out in boils, one after another. She had about sixty in all and I used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment which cured her of them entirely. Then, sometime later, her little foot got sore between the toes. Being afraid it was salt rheum, I spoke to our doctor. He gave me a powder which dried it up, but soon after it broke out behind her ears. They cracked half way around and the humor spread up on to her head until, on several occasions, it was nearly half covered. The humor looked like a scald, very red with a sticky, clear fluid coming from it. This occurred every year. I think it was toward the spring. I always bathed it with warm water and Cuticura Soap and applied Cuticura Ointment which never failed to heal it up. The last time it broke out was when she was six years old. It became so bad that I was discouraged. Then I procured a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent which soon cleared it out of her blood. I continued the use of Cuticura Soap and Ointment with the Resolvent until she was perfectly well. She is now about eight years old and has never been troubled in the last two years. We also find Cuticura Resolvent a good spring medicine and we are just giving the children Cuticura Resolvent Pills as a tonic. We do not think any one can praise Cuticura Remedies too highly. Mrs. M. A. Schwerin, 674 Spring Wells Ave., Detroit, Mich., Feb. 24, 1908."

Complete External and Internal Treatment for Every Humor of Infants, Children and Adults consists of Cuticura Soap (25c.) to Cleanse the Skin, Cuticura Ointment (50c.) to Heal the Skin and Cuticura Resolvent (50c.), (or in the form of Chocolate Coated Pills, 25c. per vial of 60) to Purify the Blood. ROOT UPON NATION LAW

Washington, April 23.—In opening the third annual meeting of the American Society of International Law today, Senator Elihu Root of New York, the president, took for his subject "The Relations Between International Tribunals of Arbitration and the Jurisdiction of National Courts." Particular reference was made to the Drago doctrine, Senator Root contending that submission to international tribunals implies no impeachment of sovereignty.

Root admitted that the rule that, where there has been a denial of justice in national courts, their decisions are not to be held conclusive, and arbitration or other further action may be called for, had been injurious in its effect. It involves aspersions upon government, imputations upon high officials, and tends to destroy good feeling between nations.

Submission to Arbitration.

"The better rule would be to avoid the danger of denials of justice and to prevent the belief that justice has not been done, which must always possess the parties defeated in a tribunal suspected of partiality," said he, "by submitting to an impartial arbitration tribunal all such cases as are liable to be affected by the consideration I have mentioned."

The reason of such a rule, he explained, would require that when such cases had been decided already by national courts, and the impartial justice of the decision seriously questioned, they should be resubmitted to an arbitration tribunal, not for proof that justice had been denied, but for rehearing on their merits.

Root argued that in controversies the only question is "What is justice in this case?" "Sovereigns and presidents, ministers and department officers are not insulted by a provision for a court to ascertain what is justice," he added, "because the common sense of justice recognizes that their relation to the questions which arise between the government which they conduct, and others, is such that they cannot well be impartial."

The statement was made that the same rule could not be ignored in arriving at what is just in an international case. Circumstances such as the general state of feeling, the resources of the country, and the political importance of the issue, were cited to show how impartial international decisions might be difficult to obtain without arbitration tribunals.

"If recourse to arbitration is a reflection upon national courts," he said, "the people of the United States have been strangely abtuse. Nowhere in the world, surely, is greater honor paid to the courts of justice, yet we have embodied in the fundamental law which binds our states together a recognition of the liability of courts to be affected by local sentiment, prejudice and pressure."

Revered Their Judges.

Root told how the proud independent sovereign commonwealths like Virginia, Pennsylvania, New York and Massachusetts, which formed the American Union, revered their judges. "They were prepared to give, and did give to their courts a degree of authority over them and their executives and legislatures without precedent in the history of free government, but they also revered justice; they prized peace and concord and friendship and brotherhood between the states and their citizens. When the ever-recurring question arises between the submission of controversies to international arbitration on the one hand and insistence upon the jurisdiction of national tribunals on the other, the nations who look to the framers of the American Constitution as an example of high constructive statesmanship and wisdom, should not fail to find in their judgment matter to arrest their attention and influence their action."

RESUME WORK ON BOTH OF DRIFTS

Rogers-Brown Company Keeps Up Work on Cuyuna Range.

Cuyuna, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Rogers-Brown Ore company has resumed work on both drifts at the mine. For some time work on the south drift has been discontinued, while work has been pushed in the drift which was running toward the location of the second shaft, which will be about ninety feet northwest of the present shaft.

The company has decided to rebuild the boarding camp into a dwelling for the mine captain so that he may be on the grounds and close to the mine at all hours of the day and night.

John Peterborough has his store building well under way and Charles Oppell, Stone-Ordean-Wells company was here Wednesday to sell him the stock of goods.

Reinert Olson has his store building so nearly completed that he expects to move the postoffice and store into it next week.

DEERWOOD CELEBRATES DEATH OF BJORGE ACT.

Deerwood, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Deerwood celebrated the vetoing of the tonnage tax bill Tuesday with an enthusiasm not exceeded in any place in Minnesota, though there may have been more people in other places the rejoicing was not more sincere, nor was there more noise per capita. All the available fireworks in the city were purchased by the enthusiastic citizens. Bells were rung, guns fired and a regular Fourth of July indulged in.

FOUR WEEKS SUMMER SCHOOL AT PINE RIVER.

Walker, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Cass county is to have a four weeks' term of summer school this year, and the session is being widely advertised by Supt. Hall.

Prof. P. P. Kennedy of St. Peter will conduct the school and he will surround himself with a valuable corps of assistants, which, the superintendent says, will make the Cass county school one of the best training schools for teachers in the state. The sessions will be held at Pine River, commencing July 5 and continuing to July 30.

SECOND ATTEMPT SUCCEEDS.

Disappointed in Affair of Heart, St. Paul Girl Takes Life.

St. Paul, Minn., April 23.—Mary Doris L. Morris, 17 years old, killed herself by eating the heads of a box of matches in the apartments of Miss Frances Johnson, a school teacher, at 614 Central Park, yesterday.

It was her second attempt to end her life. Two weeks ago she was found in a critical condition from taking some kind of poison at Miss Johnson's home, and was saved by a physician.

An unhappy love affair is thought to have impelled the girl to self-destruction, although her secret was never disclosed and never spoken of by her to her friends.

KILLS WIFE AND SELF FOLLOWING A QUARREL.

Cedarsburg, Wis., April 23.—Special to The Herald.)—Charles Gottschalk, Jr., and his wife were found dead in their room last night. A discharged revolver on the floor indicated that Gottschalk killed his wife and then shot himself. The couple had quarreled frequently and it is presumed that the shooting followed such a quarrel.

Farmer Owes Much Money.

Mankato, Minn., April 23.—Bernt T. Hanson, a farmer of Highwater township, Cottonwood county, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with $18,899 liabilities, of which $2,300 is secured, and assets of $13,400, including $5,100 claimed as exempt.

Mankato Y. M. C. A. Secretary.

Mankato, Minn., April 23.—P. M. Deerhake, assistant secretary of the Minneapolis Young Men's Christian association, has accepted the general secretaryship of the local Young Men's Christian association, to succeed A. C. Graw, who leaves June 1 to become general secretary of the La Crosse Y. M. C. A. Mr. Deerhake will take up his work June 1.

Sues Physician for $1,000.

PREPARING FOR THE LOGS.

Men Clearing Way for Immense Number Coming Down Mississippi.

St. Cloud, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Mississippi & Rum River Boom company has a large crew of men at work below the dam clearing the way for the immense jam of logs which will pass through here from Little Falls some time next month.

The crew of sixty men arrived in the city Monday in their wanagans. Eight teams were put to work. Several thousand feet of logs are being placed into the middle of the stream. The men state that there is a jam of about 125,000,000 feet of logs at Belle Prairie, some miles below St. Cloud, which has just started on the move. Another large jam is moving about ten miles north of Minneapolis.

After the men complete their work below this city they will be put on the river between St. Cloud and Little Falls. Several hundred housand feet of logs are in the jams which were recently placed in Little Falls. These will arrive in a few weeks.

HUGE ELECTRIC CRANE.

Recent Acquisition of Northern Pacific Brainerd Shops.

Brainerd, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Brainerd Northern Pacific shops recently received a nine-ton magnetic locomotive crane. The machine is mounted on standard gauge trucks and can propel itself to any part of the shops or yards. The machine resembles an ordinary steam crane, except that instead of a set of grappling hooks it has a heavy circular mass of iron which can be charged with magnetic electricity at will. When the current is on the crane will, it is said, lift a mass of iron weighing nine tons.

It was in use in the yards near the depot yesterday and a large crowd gathered to see it work. It was only a short time in unloading a carload of switch frogs, lifting them with ease and placing them on the freight house platform.

BUTTER AND CHEESE INDUSTRY GROWING.

Marquette, Mich., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—While mining and lumbering are its principal pursuits, and will be for many years yet, the upper peninsula is gradually attaining rank as a butter and cheese-making center. Probably a dozen creameries have been established the past few years, and others will go into commission this spring. Two of these new plants are at Manistique, in Schoolcraft county, and Rudyard in Chippewa county. The Rudyard creamery will begin operations May 1. It has a capacity of 1,000 pounds of butter per day, although it is not expected that the supply of milk will permit it to operate at full capacity at the start. Milk from some 500 cows has been contracted for.

ROAD-MAKING PLANT.

Iron Mountain, Mich., Will Improve Adjacent Highways.

Marquette, Mich., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Following the example of Marquette, which for years has operated its own rock crusher and road rollers in constructing its own macadamized streets, the city of Iron Mountain, on the Menominee Iron range, will soon have one of the finest road-building plants in the West.

A vast deposit of rock suitable for paving purposes has been acquired a mile south of the city and there has already been erected at the site a crusher guaranteed to treat from twenty to fifty tons of stone per hour, depending upon the size of the material. Other equipment will be a steam road locomotive and roller of 50-horse power capacity and a train of six steel dump cars of a capacity of five tons of crushed rocks each. Some $15,000 will be expended in street construction this season.

WILL THANK GOVERNOR.

Brainerd Commercial Club Likes Veto of Tonnage Tax Bill.

Brainerd, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Brainerd Commercial club elected eight directors Wednesday evening for the full two-year term as follows: Mons Mahlum, A. G. Trommald, W. H. Cleary, J. C. Jamieson, H. F. Michael, G. A. Keene, F. H. Gruenhagen and Con O'Brien. Judge George W. Holland and H. W. Linnemann were elected for one year to fill vacancies.

A committee consisting of R. R. Wise, George D. La Bar and G. A. Keene was appointed to write to Governor John A. Johnson in behalf of the club expressing its appreciation and thanks for his veto of the tonnage tax bill.

FARGO FAIR IN JULY.

Annual Interstate Show Promises to be Up to Standard.

Fargo, N. D., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Secretary Wilson announces that the Interstate fair will be held July 26-31 this year.

The Winnipeg fair will be held two weeks earlier, the Grand Forks fair comes in between, making three big shows in succession. The North Dakota state fair is on wheels and this year it goes to Grand Forks. In off years Fargo puts on an Interstate fair that is just as large and attractive, except the city does not have the state appropriation. The management has gotten the run of things and each display is an improvement over former events.

Fargo is to have a double-header race meet this spring, as the opening week of the Central circuit will be here June 1-3, and the closing week during the fair. The circuit includes the best towns in the state, and a large number of horses from other states will be here; one Kansas horseman announces he will send fourteen harness horses to make the circuit and get in shape for the large Eastern races later.

WANTS PART OF PROFITS

Lydia Becker Sues Martin Rosendahl, Local Broker, for $25,000.

Says She Introduced Him to Butte-Ballaklava Officials.

Lydia Becker has brought suit against Martin Rosendahl, stock broker, for $25,000, claiming that amount is due her as commissions upon the sale of stock by Rosendahl. The plaintiff says the broker made $150,000 from the sale of the stock, and asks $26,000 as her share.

In May, 1907, Miss Becker claims, Rosendahl came to her and proposed that she should introduce him to prominent officials of the Butte-Ballaklava Copper company, so that he might acquire confidential relations with them and become a booster for the stock. Miss Becker was at that time employed in the office of the company.

She claims the broker agreed to give her a commission, in return for her services, on any and all profits he should make in his handling of the Butte-Ballaklava stock. But she says when she introduced Rosendahl to officers of the company and placed him in confidential relations with them and assisted him in purchasing 5,000 shares of the capital stock, he then repudiated his contract with her, and refused to pay her the promised commissions.

Accompanying the complaint is an affidavit of garnishment, sworn to by Miss Becker, to the effect that Rosendahl's place of banking is at the City National bank.

train included Mr. Sandiford, local superintendent of the railroad line; Mr. Cruikshank, the traffic manager; M. J. Monson, secretary of the administration; J. H. Wilson, a member of the legislative council, and K. F. Cunningham, manager of the Roosevelt expedition.

This afternoon the party went up to the Pease ranch. They will have several days in camp before going on to Nairobi. At the conclusion of the visit with Sir Alfred Pease, Roosevelt probably will go to the Ju Ju ranch and be the guest of George McMillan. After this he will shoot buffalo at Hugh Heatley's Kamid ranch, fifteen miles from Nairobi, on the Forthall road.

Before leaving Mombasa Mr. Roosevelt received an address of welcome from the American missionaries. He will visit at least three mission stations while in the protectorate.

The vote was:

Mrs. Scott	436
Mrs. Story	428

A number of the delegates refused to make the election unanimous, when such action was moved by Mrs. Story.

For more than half an hour, the opening of today's session was postponed in order that the tellers' report of the election might be received as the first order of business. Mrs. Avery at 11:15 a. m. presented the report of the weary tellers. Rounds of applause greeted the announcement of the vote.

The office second in importance to that of president general is vice president general, in charge of organization of chapters, and the race between the candidates—Mrs. M. R. Tulloch and Mrs. A. G. Draper—also is very close.

tion became worse and he sank steadily until this morning, when at 7:05 o'clock he passed away.

Mr. Stewart was 82 years old and had been a familiar figure in this city during the better part of the last half a century. For twenty-eight years, altogether, he represented Nevada in the senate, a lapse between 1875 and 1887 intervening to prevent a continuous service record from 1865 to 1905.

He left the regular Republicans in 1896 and went over to the silver cause at the time of the first nomination of William J. Bryan for the presidency.

Drainage Canal Inspected.

Joliet, Ill., April 23.—Twenty-five members of various committees interested in the construction of a lakes-to-the-gulf deep waterway, began the inspection here today of the Chicago drainage canal, which is intended as the first link in the all-water route to the gulf. The trip along the canal will be made in automobiles and launches.

BORG DIDN'T WANT TO DIE

Thought He Did, But Cold Water Changed His Mind.

Jumped Into Canal and Then Yelled for Help.

Axel Borg, a laborer, in an attempt to suicide, last night jumped from the north pier of the Duluth canal, but as he felt the icy water closing about him, he decided he did not want to die and called loudly for help. Watchman Thompson of the government engineers' building heard his cries and pulled him from the water. He was warmed up at the government building and later was taken to the police station.

Borg explained his action by saying he was despondent because he was out of work and had told a lie in order to obtain money with which to purchase meals. He was also greatly worried over $150 which he claims is due him from a farmer for whom he worked, and who refuses to pay him. The man says he has been trying his best to find employment, but has failed, and so he decided the best way to do was to end it all.

A few feet under water there is a ledge running along the canal piers, and when Borg really decided he did not want to die, he managed to climb onto this ledge, which little more than brought his head above water. He could gain no foothold to climb the rest of the way, so had to stand in the one spot and yell lustily for help. If Mr. Thompson had not arrived soon the man probably would have been overcome with the cold and fallen off into deep water.

The icy bath had at least one good effect, Borg is now of the opinion that the ill luck which has been pursuing him has departed, and that henceforth he will have no trouble finding work at good wages. He says he has a wife and five children in Sweden and that he now wants to live for their sake.

but the immediate results of the explosion were disappointing to the army of spectators. Engineer Kunze and his hundred workers hammered away until a tiny rivulet, trickled through the east side of the jam. Further more explosions, and the floating ice broadened the trickle into a large stream.

No Government Aid.

There will be no government aid to the people along the lower Niagara, who are suffering great loss from the ice jam, because the government is powerless in the matter. United States Engineer Fiske of Buffalo says:

"Tugs at the mouth of the Niagara would be utterly useless to break up the pack. Tugs such as we have at our command would be ineffective. The ice jam extends many feet beneath the water and to go at the pack with a tug would be like trying to batter down Pike's Peak with a walking cane. Moreover, such an effort, if but partially successful, would place the crews of tugs in grave danger. If a break was made in the ice so that the water might get through, it would boil up with a terrific rush and swamp the little boats in a thrice. More than this there are no boats available in this section."

Acting Secretary of War Oliver directed the chief of engineers of the war department to secure from Col. Fiske a full report on conditions, with a recommendation as to what steps should be taken by the department to relieve the situation. Col. Fiske's report will be along the line of his statements last night.

Great Danger Near Lewiston.

The greatest danger now is from floods on the lowlands, below the Lewiston escarpment. At Lewiston the situation is exceedingly alarming. The ice is piled sixty feet high in the river, and a man standing upon the top of the pack can touch the flooring of the Lewiston suspension bridge. A rise of seven feet in the ice jam would mean the destruction of the bridge.

Workmen here removed the rear verandas of the Cornell house and of Philip Pitt's Anglers' Retreat, to save the lumber before it was ground to pieces by the ice. The basements of both of these hotels, which are located some thirty or forty feet above the normal level of the river, are full of ice and water.

At Lewiston, near the American shore, a mound of ice arose in the air and towered over the roof of the pavilion north of the Cornell house. After attaining a height of about sixty feet it ceased to move. A great block of ice at the apex threatened to crash through the roof of the pavilion. Workmen climbed the mound and chopped it away.

TO OPPOSE LA FOLLETTE.

Walter Alexander of Wausau Is Being Groomed for Senate.

Madison, Wis., April 23.—Current gossip in Madison is to the effect that Walter Alexander of Wausau will oppose Senator Robert M. La Follette in the primary for the United States senatorship a year from next fall. The rumor is not confirmed but the report is being generally talked of around the capitol.

It is known that the anti-La Follette forces have been casting about for some time to find a suitable man to oppose the senior senator and the election of Mr. Alexander, it is said, would please all who are averse to seeing La Follette return to the senate.

It is understood that Mr. Alexander will have the backing of those members of the legislature who have opposed the investigation of the recent senatorial primary, and friends of Senator La Follette state freely that the Wausau man will be pushed by the old line stalwarts.

DULUTH CONCERN WILL BUILD TWO ELEVATORS.

Bordulac, N. D., April 23.—Foster county is to have at least two new grain elevators before the 1909 crop is ready for the market, one to be built at the spur, four miles east and the other at the spur four miles west, of Bordulac. They will be of 30,000 bushels capacity each, and will be built by the Sorenson Grain company of Duluth. Work on the east house was commenced on Monday.

Much seeding has been done. The ground is in good condition, although the cold nights prevent rapid progress being made.

Boy Kills His Playmate.

Monroe, Wis., April 23.—Playfully pointing a loaded rifle at Eddie Keller, aged 7 years, the 10-year-old son of Edward Ellefson at Browntown remarked, "I'll shoot you." The bullet took effect in the Keller boy's abdomen. The rifle was a 32-20 and contained sixteen cartridges. The boy's bowels were pierced in nine places.

NEW WEAPON IS FAVORED

By Military Experts and Rearmament of Europe Is Nearer.

An Automatic Rifle That Would Be Formidable as Aeroplane.

London, April 23.—Mr. Huldane, secretary of state for war, recently said in the house of commons that all the chief military nations were agreed that the time had come for rearming with a rifle embodying an automatic system. The new Sjogren system, a demonstration of which was given at Hendon a few days since, offers such advantages over the ordinary weapon that its cumpulsory adoption would seem to be only a matter of time. The particular merit of the Sjogren system is that the soldier is enabled, after firing a shot, to keep his rifle at the same level and to correct his aim immediately without glancing away from the object at which he is aiming. Such weapons in the hands of hidden defenders of a position would enable so deadly a fire to be maintained at an attacking enemy that successful advance would be simply impossible.

At the demonstration at Hendon it was proved that over 1,100 shots per hour could be fired without any of the disadvantages of the ordinary automatic rifle. The new weapon has met with the enthusiastic approval of military experts in France, Germany and in Austria, and apparently rearmament of Europe is a step nearer. After all, it only means a trifle of $0,000,000 rifles and an expenditure of $500,000,000, and if the competetive system of armaments is to be maintained the powers will have to face much larger figures by the time aeroplanes are perfected. A really efficient automatic rifle would be almost as formidable as a military aeroplane, and is apparently much nearer realization.

Foreign Tariff Problems.

The Daily Chronicle has this to say regarding the tariff reform agitation. Tariff reformers in this country are agitating for the imposition of a general tariff. In the United States they are pressing for a reduction of theirs. The contrast is instructive, and one lesson of it may be carried further. While in the United States the movement is towards a reduction in duties, in France it is towards an increase. Tariff reformers tell us that the imposition of a general tariff is the only way, and the sure way, to national health and wealth. Clap on duties to everything, and everybody will be the better. Revenue, employment, trade will all simultaneously benefit. Yet if we look around at the principal countries which are already in possession of the alleged panacea, we find that in all of them there is tariff trouble. The state of nations under a tariff is like that of a man at large: It "never is, but always to be blest."

We in this country are confronted with a considerable deficit, and the chancellor of the exchequer is in some perplexity as to the means of meeting it. There would be no difficulty, we are told, if only we had a tariff. But what do we find in other countries. The United States, Germany and France are all confronted with the same, or greater, difficulty. The real cause was given by President Taft in his inaugural message to congress. In all progressive countries alike the sphere of government action is being continuously expanded.

Is It a Panacea?

Is a tariff a panacea from the point of view of employment and wages? Notoriously it is not. The United States has been suffering and grievously suffering from unemployment; and Germany has devoted much of her admirable thoroughness to the elaboration of remedies and palliatives which would be superfluous if the assertions of our tariff reformers about "work for all" were true. As for wages and cost of living, the workingman in free-trade England works for shorter hours and in return for higher wages than does the workingman in the protected countries of Europe.

Is a tariff a panacea, then, in the commercial world? The genesis of the American tariff bill, and President Taft's summoning of a special session of congress to deal with it, are very instructive in this connection. We are told by the opposition (and the statement is true, though their deductions from it are not) that nothing is more harmful to business than uncertainty. President Taft has said the same, but he ascribes the paralyzing uncertainty in his country to the tariff. Tariffs do not relieve the commercial world from uncertainty; what they do is to introduce an extraneous element of self-interested motives into the political world.

"Far East," His Topic.

In carrying out their hospitable practice of entertaining distinguished persons, the Authors' club have never had as their guest a more interesting man than Sir Robert Hart, who a few nights since occupied the place of honor at a dinner of the club at Whitehall court. Following the usual rule of these functions, there was a set subject for conversation after dinner, and the selection of the Far East as the topic gave the company the opportunity of hearing something of China from the lips of Sir Robert Hart, whose long official connection with the Chinese empire enables him to speak with greater authority than any other Englishman.

Sir Robert said in part: "The Chinese are in a general way, a homogeneous people, but, of course, spread over some 5,000,000 square miles of the earth's surface, divided into some two dozen provinces, which are each large enough to be kingdoms themselves, the smallest having a population of 6,000,000 or 7,000,000 and the largest of 60,000,000 or 70,000,000, while there is general similitude, there are infinite differences, the outcome of climate, environment, occupation, etc. The Chinaman of today may be considered the product of heredity, education and custom. Ask him why he does so and so, he replies, 'Berry old custom,' and that old custom has come down through perhaps a hundred or more generations, and is now as much part of his nature as acquired habit could possibly be."

BROTHER SHOOTS TO AID SISTER

Her Fiance Grabbed an Ax on Eve of Wedding.

Plattsburg, N. Y., April 23.—Benny Newman, an 18-year-old boy, shot and probably fatally wounded Ben Duden, his sister's fiance, believing he was saving the young woman from serious injury or death.

Duden and Bessie Newman were to have been married last night, but they quarreled, and Duden seized an ax.

The girl screamed for help, and her brother shot Duden three times. Bessie was shot in the shoulder by a stray bullet. Newman was arrested.

DESTROYER IS AT WORK

Historic Buildings in Paris Are Fast Being Demolished.

Architecture of the Early Periods Is Rapidly Disappearing.

Paris, April 23.—One sees in the London and New York newspapers from time to time protests and complaints at the disappearance of ancient buildings—most of them of historical interest—and regrets the destruction of these glories at the hands of the "housebreaker" in the interest of what is termed "progress." But the hand of the destroyer is even still more busy in Paris, and buildings that possess memories of peculiar interest to all lovers of history and students of old Paris are year by year falling with astonishing rapidity—and this without a word of notice or protest. To the casual visitor, the man to whom the Haussmann boulevards mean everything in Paris worth considering, these demolitions are nothing; but to the poet, the historian, or the student the destruction of Old Paris can only be as deplorable as the remarkable indifference exhibited by the Parisian towards the chief monuments of the former glories of his city.

Demolition Goes On.

A ramble through the Ile de la Citex, the Ile de St. Louis and the Marias section of Paris reveals the rapid demolitions that are going on at the present time. For example, the Hotel du Prevot in the Passage Charlemagne in the Antoine quarter, has just been pulled down. The building was erected in the fourteenth century as the residence at the Marmousets (a popular name for the counsellors of Charles V.), and this monarch afterwards bestowed it upon his provot, Aubriot. Its beautiful turrets and open stairway, together with the caryatides and ornate windows facing the court, were a fine feature of the house. Gone, too, is the Tour de Dagobert, a fifteenth century house in the Rou Chanoinesse under the shadow of Notre Dame, and workmen at this present moment are busy demolishing the old Hotel de Dieu and the interesting Ampitheater de Medicine, with its Gothic arches and curious circular theater near the Sorbonne.

busyaecub-rde-bct

,C , THSTHT HT AR ARA T

Not alone is the work of destruction going on; quite as notable in proclaiming the vandalism of the city is the shameful neglect of existing buildings. The Hotel de Sens, a fine stone building in the elite, is now a glass warehouse. This building which was erected by Louis XI, takes its name from the archbishop of Sens, for whom it was intended. A hundred and twenty years after it was the home of Queen Margot, the ill-fated wife of Henri Quatre. In the seventeenth century is was a coaching inn, and from its courtyard swung out into the night, on its long journey, the famous Lyons mail. In the revolution of 1830 an attempt was made to destroy it, and a cannon ball imbedded in the masonry over one of the windows exists to this day, telling its silent story of perilous times.

Begrimmed and Bespattered.

Near at hand, too, is the beautiful Hotel Sully, a glorious stone building in the Rue Antoine, where Henry of Navarre's great minister, Maximilien Bethune, Duc de Sully, lived; now it is given up to shameful uses, disfigured with trade signs and advertisements and the gateway rich with the splendid decorations of the time, begrimmed and bespattered with dirt and damp. Its front facade has been spoilt by the building of a modern addition between the two pavilions and by the introduction of shops beneath, but the gateway and inner court remain as they were in the days of Sully. It was to this house that the king was proceeding in his coach, to inquire as to the health of his great minister, when he was assasinated.

In the same street stand the Hotel Mayenne, once the residence of the famous Diane de Poitiers and later the Duc De Mayenne. Today a grocer and money changer hold possession of the front of the hotel with their shops, but fortunately the inner court and buildings are used as a school for boys. Fortunately, too, the beautiful house on the Qai Celestins, the Hotel Fleubet, has also been converted to a similar use and has thus been saved from decay. Here lived Fleubet, the minister of Queen Anne of Austria, ni 1671. The house, the front of which presents one mass of finely carved stonework, is a fine specimen of the architecture of the period.

The Hotel Beautais, in the Rue Francois Miron, is now used for the ignoble purpose of a lodging house. It was from its balcony that Cardinal Mazarin watched the state entry of King Louis XIV into Paris with his bride. The gates and courtyard remain exactly as they were, but they have fallen into squalor.

b. Overture—"Mignon" .....Thomas

This program, designed to show the music of modern French composers, embraces the most celebrated compositions of the several musicians selected for the orgon.

The features of this style of French music are its sprightliness and grace. It appeals to the ear and is restful because easily understood; generally playful and humorous, it catches the fancy and pleases.

Offenbach is called the originator of opera bouffe, and his "Orpheus aux Enfer" was his first decided hit. In this opera he gives full swing to his sarcastic humor, stripping the Olympian deities of their dignity and making them ridiculous.

"Carmen," Bizet's masterpiece, was the cause of his death through disappointment at the manner of its reception. Its music is peculiarly Spanish, with an Oriental rhythm. The "Toreador's" song is one of the characteristic pieces of the opera. Lecoq responded to the popular desire for the light and sparkling in music, and "Giroflе-Girofla" is one of his most chacacteristic compositions. In the "Cid," by Massenet, is some peculiarly French music, while "Faust" and "Mignon" represent the compositions of Gounod and Thomas.

New Warroad Time Cards.

Thief River Falls, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—A new time card will go into effect next Monday on the Great Northern railway running from this city to Warroad. It is likely that in place of the one passenger train that makes the round trip in a day, that two trains will replace it, thus giving faster and better service to the traveling public.

SYNDICATE BUYS DULUTH ACREAGE

The largest real estate deal of the year was closed yesterday, when a syndicate of local men composed of Alex W. Hartman, A. M. Marshall, F. A. Patrick and C. E. Van Bergen acquired an unplatted 66-acre tract lying on both sides of Tischer's creek. It extends from Superior street to J. C. Hunter's residence at Woodland.

The purchasers secured the land for $66,000, or $1,000 an acre. For many years this property has been held by the estate of a Baltimore man, and the deal was made through the offices of E. P. Alexander and R. P. Dowse, Mr. Alexander representing the seller and Mr. Dowse the purchasers.

The property touches Superior street, but has little frontage there. It touches the street at Thirty-first avenue east. The eastern boundary follows the section line north for about half a mile to a point that would be St. Marie street, were it extended. The west boundary is Princeton street. The property is now held under the name of the Hartman Building company.

The company plans on platting the ground and putting it on the market. There is a constant demand, it is said, for larger tracts of land for the finer residences being built in the East end. It is the purpose of the company to supply this demand. E. P. Alexander has already reserved an acre for himself, where he intends to erect for himself a fine residence.

BOX CARS BROKEN INTO.

Brookston Suspects Said to Have Stolen Some Liquor.

Brookston, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Boxcar robberies are becoming quite numerous here lately. Tuesday night the seals on two merchandise cars were broken while the train was standing in the local yard, and several small boxes of goods were stolen. Harry McArdle and William Russell were arrested as suspects, and, after a hearing before Justice Garland, were bound over to the district court. A quantity of liquor, which was stolen from one of the cars, was found upon them, and other evidence produced to show that they were the guilty parties.

CRYPTIC SIGN.

On the Closed Saloon Door Says "to the Rag Weeds."

Shelbyville, Ind., April 23.—A cryptic sign graces the front door of the saloon vacated by James Smith, April 13. Smith being one of the first to feel the sting of county local option victory. The sign, which none has deciphered, reads:

"Closed by the D. M. T. P. C. & H. C. Back to the Rag Weeds for Me."

RED LAKES STILL COVERED BY ICE.

Thief River Falls, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Capt. Peter Eberhardt returned from Red Lakes, where he has been superintending the repairs on his towing boats. He reports that the ice on the lakes is still solid, and that the settlers continue to haul logs and hay across the lake. The prospects are that the lakes will not open up for three weeks yet, and the water is so low that it may take even longer.

DEMORALIZATION IN GRAIN PITS CONTINUE.

Chicago, April 23.—Demoralization was general today in the grain pit, the heavy liquidation which caused the sensational slump in wheat prices yesterday having extended to coarse grain. During the first few minutes of trading July wheat sold off to $1.09⅞, which was 3c below the low point of the preceding session. Corn for May delivery broke more than four cents from the best mark of the previous day, declining early in the day to 67½c per bushel.

EDITORS AND PUBLISHERS DINE IN WALDORF-ASTORIA

New York, April 23.—Editors and publishers of this country to the number of 600 attended the joint banquet of the Associated Press and the American Newspapers Publishers' association in the Waldorf-Astoria.

Count Johann Heinrich Von Bernstorff, German ambassador, and Joseph H. Choate, ex-ambassador of the United States to Great Britain, delivered speeches. Other speakers were Maj. John C. Hemphill of the Charleston News and Courier, Rev. Robert E. Burdette of Los Angeles and ex-Senator T. M. Patterson of Colorado.

BROKERAGE SKY CLEAR

War Between Different Shops to Cease for Present Anyway.

As compared with yesterday, calmness rests upon the sea of the local copper stock curb.

Yesterday was marked by a lack of confidence on the part of the public in all curb stocks and further by such a lack of confidence in each other among the brokers that at least one fistic encounter and a considerable amount of conversational sparring resulted.

Fred H. Merritt, the broker whose failure brought about such chaos in the curb and such a weakness in Butte-Alex Scott stock, is still out of the city. One of his employes said this morning that Mr. Merritt had not been heard from today and that his office did not know when he would return.

Merritt's fellow brokers have swallowed their losses resulting from the smash, or else they have repudiated their trades in Butte-Alex Scott and today they are bending their energies to the proposition of getting back to business once more, and the curb market shows an improvement in activity, at least, over yesterday.

There is a better inquiry for Butte-Alex Scott which has been in the thick of the turmoil, than there was yesterday. Martin Rosendahl, whose personal encounter late yesterday afternoon with J. H. Robbers, another broker, caused some excitement, said today that he would post no more bulletins on his board to offend the Butte-Ballaklava eyes, and the Butte-Ballaklava brokers have intimated that they will cease their petty bickerings with the brokers who are enthusiastic over Alex Scott. So brokerage skies are more serene. Indeed, today, Rosendahl and Robbers are friendly once more, having agreed to forget their differences of yesterday which grew out of Rosendahl's statement, asking Robbers to explain some Butte-Ballaklava affairs, which did not appeal to him as just right.

When seen this morning Mr. Rosendahl was inclined to be amused over the suit brought against him by Mrs. Lydia Becker.

"There is nothing at all to it," said Mr. Rosendahl. "No contract was ever entered into with Mrs. Becker."

Mayor Says New Saloon Ordinance Will Be Strictly Enforced.

Minors Found Loitering in Saloons Liable to Arrest.

The new ordinance governing the sale of liquor to minors, making it a misdemeanor for them to enter a saloon except upon business for their employers, becomes effective today, and Mayor Haven says that it will be strictly enforced.

"I shall instruct Chief Troyer to notify all his men to closely watch for violations of this ordinance," said the mayor this morning, "and to make arrests wherever such violations are encountered. The measure will be more than a mere printed form. It was not passed to be immediately forgotten.

"Under this ordinance, both the bartender or man in charge of the saloon, and the minor entering it, may be punished, unless said minor is acting on behalf of an employer, such as a telegraph company, grocery store, etc. The measure thoroughly covers the ground, and places the police in a position where they can stop for all time, the practice some minors have of visiting saloons.

"I am very glad the council adopted the ordinance. Up to this time the police have been greatly handicapped in trying to keep minors out of saloons. Unless they actually drank intoxicants, there was no way of keeping them out of such places, and when they did purchase intoxicants the offense was hard to prove, as court records show, and it is well known that numerous violations never came to the attention of the police. Even if a patrolman were morally certain that a minor seen in a saloon was there for the purpose of drinking, he could not force him to leave unless he caught the youth actually in the act of drinking.

"Conditions are now changed, and the police have full power to keep boys out of the saloons altogether. No leniency will be shown anyone. As soon as an arrest is made, both the man in charge of the saloon and the boy found in it will be taken into court, and if charges lodged against them are found to be true the court will mete out such punishment as is provided by the ordinance."

WORKMAN HURT; WANTS DAMAGES

For injuries sustained while working on the new St. Louis county courthouse last January, Anton Lasinski wants $1,995 from the Sykes Steel Roofing company. The complaint in the action was filed this morning with the clerk of the district court.

Lasinski was not employed by the roofing concern, but by a sub-contractor on the building. He was, he claims, working at the bottom of the light shaft, and two wooden horses used by the Sykes company fell on him, injuring him about the head, face and shoulders.

He claims that the roofing company was negligent and asks judgment for the amount above stated.

The company in its answer declares that there was no negligence displayed and that it was purely an accident with no blame to be placed on any one's shoulders.

NEW ULM WOMAN COMMITS SUICIDE.

New Ulm, Minn., April 23.—Miss Margaret Fraas, aged 42 years, committed suicide Wednesday by shooting herself in the left temple with a .32-caliber revolver. She had been demented for some time on account of illness. She was keeping house for her father, John Fraas, a retired farmer. As the noon hour was approaching no preparations were being made for dinner, as had been her custom. A search of the premises revealed her lifeless body in an outhouse. Coroner Fritsche deemed an inquest unnecessary.

DALY'S CONTEMPORARY PASSES AWAY IN BUTTE.

Butte, Mont., April 23.—"Louie" Wise, aged 52, a well known pioneer of Butte, is dead after an illness of about a month of dropsy, which was a sequel to several months of declining health. In the early days he owned property which is now worth fabulous amounts. His advent in Butte was contemporaneous with James A. Murray, W. A. Clark and Marcus Daly, when all three were without means.

WISCONSIN LEGISLATURE MAY ADJOURN JUNE 1.

Madison, Wis., April 23.—The senate has concurred in the Cleary resolution providing that all bills shall be reported from committees on or before May 5. This action indicates that the legislature will probably be able to adjourn sine die about June 1.

Will Move to Cincinnati.

Nashville, Tenn., April 23. — The headquarters of the National Hardwood Manufacturers' association will be removed from Nashville to Cincinnati in May, the executive committee considering the Ohio city the most central point.

Harry Mitchell's Editorial

NO FRILLS!

Why should a man wear store clothes anyhow, when he can have his clothes made to measure, and as reasonable as he can today? I can't see why he persists in going around with clothes on his back that he knows and everyone else knows were not made for anyone in particular.

I make good clothes for thousands of men in the big cities of Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth. I know that I can please you, and for $15, $20 or $25 I'll make you as nice a suit as you want to wear and guarantee you to equal any other tailor's $30, $40 or $50 kind.

If you want to buy a suit of clothes for spring, go all over town and look, but wait till you come to my store at 18 East Superior street, and look at my goods. I can save you a ten spot and please you better than anyone else in town. I am hooked up for it.

Yours truly,

HARRY MITCHELL,

WARSHIPS IN THE AIR

Germany to Have Twenty-Four Mammoth Zeppelins By 1912.

Her Other Military Dirigibles Will Number Fully a Dozen.

Berlin, April 23.—In 1912 Germany will have at least twenty-four mammoth Zeppelin ships, each capable of oversea excursions, and probably speedier than any naval vessel. In the present year she will have four Zeppelins, and the magnificent factory at Friedrichshafen, endowed with over $1,500,000 by the German nation, will be able to turn out at least eight vessels a year after this autumn. Thus by 1912 Germany can have twenty-four Zeppelins, and her other military dirigibles will number at least a dozen. England's rate of production is one vessel per annum, and by 1912 she may have at most some five small-sized, slow, non-rigid airships, which, as compared with the Zeppelins, will be antiquated cruisers to dreadnoughts.

England has had no up-to-date facilities for building large dirigibles even of the non-rigid type, and as for the faster craft of the Zeppelin type, she has absolutely no experience or resources, either of the government or private, which would enable her to lay down such ships successfully. British experts have sneered at the Zeppelin, and they have never built a ship of this kind, though it is now estimated to be the fastest and the most powerful, and the only craft which can attempt low oversea voyages. The British fleet of five ships in 1912, if built according to the present estimates, will be fitted only for overland work, and will be quite unable to cope with the larger and swifter German vessels, which can mount better guns and carry more explosives.

What a Moral Effect.

A Zeppelin of the present day type could reach England in ten hours and do enormous damage in a brief space of time. British experts have no adequate idea of the improvements which can be effected in the Zeppelin in the next year or two. Twenty-four great vessels of a vastly improved type might in 1912 put ten or more of England's dreadnoughts out of action, and damage her naval bases seriously; while Germany would still have a well-tried second aerial fleet of twelve dirigibles to carry out further operations. It is not necessary to say anything of the moral effect of this sudden aerial attack, or of the panic which would be created by a single German ship making a demonstration over London.

The majority of people in England laugh at the whole idea, and even aeronautical writers pooh-pooh the possibility of attack by dirigibles, and yet the records made by the Zeppelin in 1908 show that a ship of this type has traveled over 300 miles, and later records show its speed to be up to thirty-five miles n hour, with power to ascend to an altitude of over a mile. It can carry at least a ton of explosives and sufficient supplies for a run of over 800 miles. The see-line distance between the most contiguous parts of Germany and England is under 250 miles. Yet the whole notion of aerial attack by vessels of the Zeppelin type is ridiculed in England. At least three highly equipped factories in Germany are now making dirigibles, and Count Zeppelin alone has $1,500,000 for the work.

None Was Successful.

England has not yet built a successful dirigible—her two attempts were failures, too slow, too small in carrying capacity, too limited in range of action, and altogether unsuitable for oversea work. At present she has another vessel on the stocks, at Farnborough, where she cannot lay down a really modern ship. This vessel will be her product for 1909, and the admiralty may add another experimental dirigible, as promised. There is no private factory in the British Isles which has ever produced a really successful dirigible. Thus, by 1910 England may have at most two non-rigid dirigibles of more or less experimental types and probably too small for practical work. In 1911 she may be no better off and may be content to produce two more ships, also more or less experimental, and by the critical period of 1912 she can add only one more.

Unless most extraordinary activity is evinced at once in making preparations, England will be utterly unable to produce by 1912 a fleet of ships capable of giving her any degree of security against the attack of vessels like the German aerial fleet. It has cost Germany years of well organized preparation, and the expenditure of over $2,500,000 to accomplish this. The German people, of their own free will, gave Count Zeppelin $1,375,000 to carry on his work, and by 1912 most of that money will have been transferred into a splendid and well tried aerial fleet. Before 1908 France, it is computed, spent over $750,000 on experimental work, which resulted in the establishment of her aerial fleet.

When the history of Germany's mighty naval developments comes to be written, one name will stand out in boldest relief—Admiral Alfred von Tirpitz, secretary of state for the imperial navy. To this giant, fork-bearded sailor-statesman, a magnificent specimen of Teuton physique of the old school, must fall the lion's share of credit for the persistent aggressiveness with which the Fatherland has rushed to the front rank as a sea power. He is the real creator of the German fleet.

CONQUEST OF THE AIR

Every Corner of the Earth Is Now Being Exploited.

London, April 23.—Airships as aids to literary adventure are heralded by several English critics as saving the public taste from becoming jaded. Already books have begun to appear in which the aeroplane is assuming an important position. The writing up of the earth has been going on so systematically that practically every portion of its surface has been covered by certain authors who have, as it were, during the last quarter of a century, divided the globe into spheres of influence. Thus, Stanley Weyman has taken France; Seton Merriman, Russia; Marion Crawford, Italy; J. M. Barrie, Scotland; Robert Hichens, Sicily and the Sahara; Robert Louis Stevenson, the Pacific islands; Nansen, the North Pole; Dr. Cook and others, the South Antarctic, and so on. Even in such a small place as England, minute division of the country has taken place among authors, Thomas Hordy taking Dorset, Eden Phillpotts Devon, Hilaire Belloc Sussex, and W. W. Jacobs the east coast. It is the same with America, various writers exploiting the Southern states, others the Northern, Western and other sections of the country.

Even the air, however, has been more or less pre-empted by H. G. Wells, and the literary Alexander, looking into new worlds to conquer, will have to get off the earth, betaking himself, say, to the unlimited space beyond Mars.

"The reason aeroplanes and other new ideas are making their way into modern fiction," said a well-known writer in discussing this and kindred subjects recently, "is because this age demands novelty and sensation before anything else. The true delineation of character may be done away with if a writer undertakes to provide a sufficient number of thrills and shocks, and keep things moving. Character delineation is becoming decidedly old fashioned. It is for this reason that you find many modern novels dealing with mysticism and similar topics. The formula for writing has changed. It is not necessary to hold the mirror up to nature. The best books are often passed over, while mediocre productions, giving endless sensations, succeed."

Mrs. Humphry Ward has aroused the ire of many authors recently by remarking: "People who read only novels never properly appreciate what they are. They are the jam of literature, and all properly conducted persons should begin their usual meal with bread and butter."

Most novelists are asking if Mrs. Ward looks on her own works in this light; and quite an amusing controversy has arisen over the question of novels as foodstuffs. If Mrs. Ward's novels are to be regarded as jam, one critic points out that J. M. Barrie should be looked upon as the Scotch broth of the literary symposium, while Marie Corelli is recommended to young women as a cure for headache. This idea and the remark attributed to Mrs. Humphry Ward emphasize the fact that people of these days read novels only for amusement; which fact is further driven home by the failure of most novels which attempt to do anything else than entertain. There are few authors who can afford to instruct their audiences and amuse them at the same time.

Sir Ernest Clarke, who owes his title to literature through his connection with the curious publication known as the "Sette of Old Volumes," has been giving his views recently on the subject of plagiarism among authors, and also upon the benefits of prison life upon composition. Plagiarism is so commonplace in these days, says Sir Ernest, that it is unnoticed. Only occasionally, when an action for infringement of copyright calls attention to the subject, do cases of actual theft come before the public. He excuses it, however, on the ground that every writer, not even excepting Homer, has dealt rather freely with the subject matter provided by his literary contemporaries; and particularly of those who have lived before his time. In a discussion on this topic which arose in a literary circle in London recently, one of the disputants maintained that the plagiarism committed by most authors was of an unconscious kind, and was due as largely to mental telepathy as to deliberate fraud. This may be true, but there is no gainsaying the fact that there are lots of literary kleptomaniacs roaming around, and the excuse of telepathy should not be accepted without due caution.

Sir Ernest Clarke has great admiration for literature produced in prison, and cites the instances of Leigh Hunt in Marshalsea; Walter Raleigh in the Tower and others. After speaking for some time on this subject at a recent meeting at the author's club, he concluded his remarks by saying:

"But as one reads today some of the effusions poured forth on a confiding public, one cannot help thinking that if prison in the past produced such splendid results, would not something similar be highly beneficial at the present day? Only two or three years of kindly incarceration, only two or three years of firm restriction from pen, ink and paper, only a judicious discipline in syntax and analysis and, perhaps, we should see hands of men and women discharged from their temporary homes at the end of their term with at least a real moral consciousness of the difference between adverbs and adjectives, and a nobler, higher sense of duty to the relative pronoun and its antecedent, and more thought for the little verb which now occasionally trips along, alas, in the wrong furrow."

As to the influence of prison life on authorship, it depends largely on the nature of the offense for which an author may happen to be committed to jail. W. T. Stead, editor of the Review of Reviews, told the writer recently that, in his opinion, an author is not seasoned until he has been in jail. Stead, it will be remembered, suffered incarceration in Holloway prison for some time as the result of his "Maiden Tribute to Modern Babylon." He had a nicely furnished room, practically nothing to do; and managed to run his magazine until he came out. He was imprisoned as a first-class misdemeanant, which makes all the difference in the world as to whether prison life be good for a man or not. Poor Oscar Wilde was not benefited by his term of hard labor, and neither was Arthur Lynch, though the latter has made considerable copy from his prison experiences. Lynch, while undergoing the death penalty, wrote some very good blank verse, which he has since published.

John Lewis Roget, son of the author of the famous work, "Roget's Thesaurus of English Words," recently died leaving an estate worth $365,000. It is curious how this wonderful book came into existence. It seems that old Peter Mark Roget, the author, was a Frenchman, who had great difficulty in mastering the English language, and to aid himself in this task began preparing his Thesaurus of words which ultimately developed into the work which has been so valuable to so many literary men. The work was under preparation for nearly fifty years, and on the death of the author, his son continued it. Whether the $365,000 left by the latter came from profits on the work or not is unknown. The book is still copyright, however, and doubtless brings in a steady revenue.

HONOR PRINCE OF MONACO.

Paris, April 23.——The Academy of Sciences has elected the prince of Monaco to be a member of that illustrious body, to fill the chair rendered vacant by the death of Lord Kelvin. There was practically no contest, although three votes were given for Lord Rayleigh. It was not unfitting that the prince of Monaco should be chosen to succeed Lord Kelvin. The great English physicist scored some of his greatest triumphs in connection with the ocean. The prince of Monaco has also rendered great service to science in connection with oceanography.

While Lord Kelvin devoted himself to the physical side of this branch of science, the prince has carried on a most brilliant work of research and discovery in the domain of the natural history of the ocean. He has applied his life and his fortune to prosecuting inquiries into the flora and fauna of the profound depths of the sea, and has endured great fatigue and made long voyages in the course of this work.

"Suffered day and night the torment of itching piles. Nothing helped me until I used Doan's Ointment. It cured me permanently."—Hon. John R. Garrett, Mayor, Girard, Ala.

PRINCESS WOULD DANCE.

Novel Performance Which Was for the Nobility Only.

Rome, April 23.—There was a gorgeous display of dresses and jewels recently at the Theater Quirino, where the elite of society gathered at the invitation of Prince Abamalek Lazareff, to witness the graceful dancing of his wife.

The young Russian princess possesses beauty as well as real talent, and although her birth and social position would preclude her from ever taking up dancing as a profession, her husband frequently deplored the fact that she could never be known to fame. Some time ago the idea occurred to him of hiring a theater to which their friends could be invited to witness her performance.

The performance was a great success. The house, which was beautifully decorated with flowers, was packed to overflowing, and after a scene from "Cavalerria Rusticana," sung by Baroness Korf and Princess Trubitskoy, and conducted by the composer himself, the "star" appeared on the scene, clad in an "early Empire" gown of shimmering gold.

The young princess was rather nervous, but after treading the first few measures of the classical Italian "pas de deux" in company with her dancing master, she seemed to forget her audience, and gave herself up completely to her art. She was greeted with a thunder of applause and repeated encores.

It is an old story now that nervous people tell of how the blood became thin and poor and then the nervous symptoms followed.

How many correctly guess that the thin blood was responsible for the nervous disorder?

The nerves get all their nourishment through the blood and as thin blood is deficient in nerve-building material, the nerves become starved. Pain and nervous breakdown result.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

are a tonic for the blood that supply it with the necessary elements to nourish and tone up the nerves and, the cause being removed, nature does the rest and health is restored.

SURGEONS PROTEST

Against Ruling Forbidding Operations Without Patients' Consent.

Berlin, April 23.—A judgment delivered by the supreme court of the empire that an operation performed on a patient without his consent or without the consent of his legal guardians constitutes a criminal offense, has given rise to indignant protests among the German medical profession.

The principal of the Berlin university, Judicial Councilor Dr. Khal, declares that an operation ought not to be performed against the will of an adult patient who is in full possession of his mental faculties, but that in a large number of cases it is absolutely impossible to obtain this consent while pressing danger exists.

Dr. Khal declares that any surgeon who hesitates to operate in cases which demand immediate operation would be guilty of a grave moral offense if he allowed himself to be influenced by the fear that he might subsequently be punished for inflicting malacious bodily injury on a sick person. Many other strong criticisms on the verdict pronounced by the supreme court have been published by other eminent members of the medical profession.

S.S.S. DRIVES OUT RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism is due to an excess of uric acid, an irritating, inflammatory accumulation, which gets into the circulation because of weak kidneys, constipation, indigestion, and other physical irregularities which are usually considered of no importance. Nothing applied externally can ever reach the seat of this trouble; the most such treatment can do is soothe the pains temporarily; while potash and other mineral medicines really add to the acidity of the blood, and this fluid therefore continually grows more acrid and vitiated. Then instead of nourishing the different muscles and joints, keeping them in a normally supple and elastic condition, it gradually hardens and stiffens them by drying up the natural oils and fluids. Rheumatism can never be cured until the blood is purified. S. S. S. thoroughly cleanses and renovates the circulation by neutralizing the acids and driving the cause from the system. It strengthens and invigorates the blood so that instead of a sour, weak stream, depositing acrid and painful corrosive matter in the muscles, joints and bones, it nourishes the entire body with pure, rich blood and permanently cures Rheumatism. S. S. S. contains no potash, alkali or other harmful mineral, but is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks of great purifying and tonic properties. Book on Rheumatism and any medical advice free to all who write.

REFORMATORY NEEDS REFORM

Conditions in Ohio Industrial Home Appeal to Governor's Wife.

Columbus, Ohio, April 23.—Mrs. Judson Harmon, wife of Governor Harmon, has appealed to the women of the state to interest themselves in the formulation of some practicable plan by which the deplorable condition at the Girls' Industrial home, near Delaware, may be remedied. After visiting the institution in company with the governor and becoming cognizant of the unfortunate situation there, and the need for action for the betterment of the welfare of the inmates, she concluded to send out a message to the women of the state, asking them to co-operate with her in doing something that would bring about an improvement of conditions in the institution.

The slight of between 600 and 700 girls huddled together in cramped quarters, and that of girls of 6 or 7 years associating with those much older, and many of whom, she feared, were none too good, aroused her pity. She found that the library in the home was very small, and that there was little reading material for the girls, and that, as a result, they would have much time on their hands. Mrs. Harmon thinks that it would be wise if the women of the state, among other things, would see to it that these girls are furnished with plenty of wholesome reading matter, and she suggested that they should send the right kind of books and magazines.

She saw but a single Bible in the whole institution, and that was in the hospital. The girls are in need of more spiritual and moral training. She also noted the crying need for more room. Two girls occupy single beds in rooms so small that there is hardly room enough to turn around. In addition to the bed there is a small washstand in the room, and the walls are without decorations of any kind. The surroundings are such that there is little to develop the best qualities that may lie latent in the girls. Mrs. Harmon suggests that the rooms be made more attractive. She also noted the lack of proper sanitary arrangements. The girls as a whole looked as clean and tidy as could be expected under the circumstances.

Mrs. Harmon says that there is great need for such action as will give the fullest encouragement to the girls to reform, and also to give them such industrial training that when they go out into the world they will be able to earn an honest living. The building in which the two girls who were brought to Columbus for medical treatment were located is some distance away from the main building, and it was found in a badly crowded state. There were eighty-five girls in it, and there is but one matron to keep them under surveillance. More matrons should be provided, as the present number is entirely too small to watch those entrusted to their care.

UNION GETS A SETBACK

Many Projected Church Mergers Halted By Tennessee Decision.

Property Awarded to the Anti-Union Faction in Cumberland Church.

Philadelphia, April 23. — A setback has been given to the many current projects for church union in America, by the recent decision of the Tennessee supreme court, awarding the property which belonged to the Cumberland Presbyterian church before the union with the Northern Presbyterian body to the anti-union faction in the Cumberland church. Property to the value of more than $2,000,000 is involved in this decision; but of even greater importance is the bearing of the case upon all future efforts to unite denominations.

While the loyalists or anti-union wing of the Cumberland church, had expressed confidence that the decision would favor them, the Northern Presbyterians showed no solicitude, for exactly similar cases in Georgia, Texas, Illinois, Kentucky and Missouri had been determined favorably to the unionists by these respective supreme courts.

Plans That May Be Halted.

Something akin to panic has seized the leaders of the Northern Presbyterian church, who are also prominent in endeavors to bring their body into union with the Southern Presbyterian, the Welsh Calvinistic, German Reformed and United Presbyterian denominations. The Congregationalists, United Brethren and Methodist Protestants have been negotiating union for several years. The Evangelical and United Evangelical churches have got to the point of talking about healing their division. The Methodist Episcopal church is making eyes at the Southern Methodist church, incidentally and meanwhile planning to take in the Methodist Protestants, whose zeal for union with the Congregationalists has greatly waned. The Northern Baptists and the Free Baptists are merging and both are closer to the Southern Baptists than ever before. The Protestant Episcopal church is even increasing her well-known activity in favor of Christian union. Unprecedented union movements among the men of the churches are afoot.

And now falls this bombshell. The decision was rendered on the very day that the men of Canada, in the epochal congress at Toronto, were being uplifted by a vision of a united Protestantism. Against an undoubted tide of sentiment in favor of closer relationship between the various denominations rises this obstacle. The law of at least one state has stepped in to declare that ecclesiastical unions must finally have their validity determined by the civil courts. The almighty dollar, in the form of vested property interests, has the right of way over spiritual convictions.

The United States supreme court had held (in the case of Watson vs Jones, 1872) that a supreme ecclesiastical judicatory was the only competent authority to pass upon doctrinal points, the present decision specifically differs from this.

Union and Strife.

Three years ago this union of the Cumberland and Presbyterian churches was effected, being consummated by a joint general assembly two years ago. The debate over the proposed union had raged bitterly for several years prior to final action. Both bodies had divided into factions on the question, the anti-union forces in the Presbyterian church, being led by President Patton of Princeton Seminary, and the union forces by President Moffat of Washington and Jeffe son college. Practically all the officials and the better known ministers of the Cumberland church came into the union.

The antis or loyalists, refused to unite, and laid claim to the title and property of the Cumberland denomination. The most potent sources of their objection are said to be the sectional one (the Cumberland Presbyterian church being found chiefly in the South), and objection to the fact that negroes are to be found in the Northern church.

This minority has proved to be very much more numerous and formidable than was at first thought. Some of its leaders claim for it a full half of the original Cumberland membership; the officials of the united church say that it really has only 30 per cent, or, by a most liberal estimate, 35 per cent. Be that as it may the state of Tennessee, where the present momentous case has been decided, is the stronghold of the old denomination and of the anti-unionists. In the Red-Foot Lake region, it is estimated that four-fifths of the membership has stood out against union.

Two Million Dollars Involved.

The general property of the Cumberland Presbyterian denomination is in Tennessee, which fact gives more importance to the decision of the state courts than to the many other state decisions upholding the union. The Cumberland Presbyterian Publishing house at Nashville, which, since the union, has been issuing the Sunday school lesson helps for the whole Presbyterian church, is valued at $200,000. The university and theological seminary at Lebanon are said to be worth more than $250,000. Local church properties throughout the state are estimated as being worth $1,500,000. The case before the supreme court was that of the congregation at Fayetteville; the decision is accepted (there being no appeal from a state court when purely intrastate questions are involved) as binding upon all the other congregations in Tennessee. Already a number of the church buildings have been vacated by the unionists.

Authorities of the Northern church say that both the publishing house and the university and seminary can probably be kept outside of the scope of the decision. The former has always been held by a board of trustees residing in several states; this makes possible, they claim, an appeal to the United States supreme court. Likewise, they declare that the educational institutions are safely theirs, because, three months prior to the union, the board of directors, foreseeing some such complications as have arisen, voted the control into the Northern assembly.

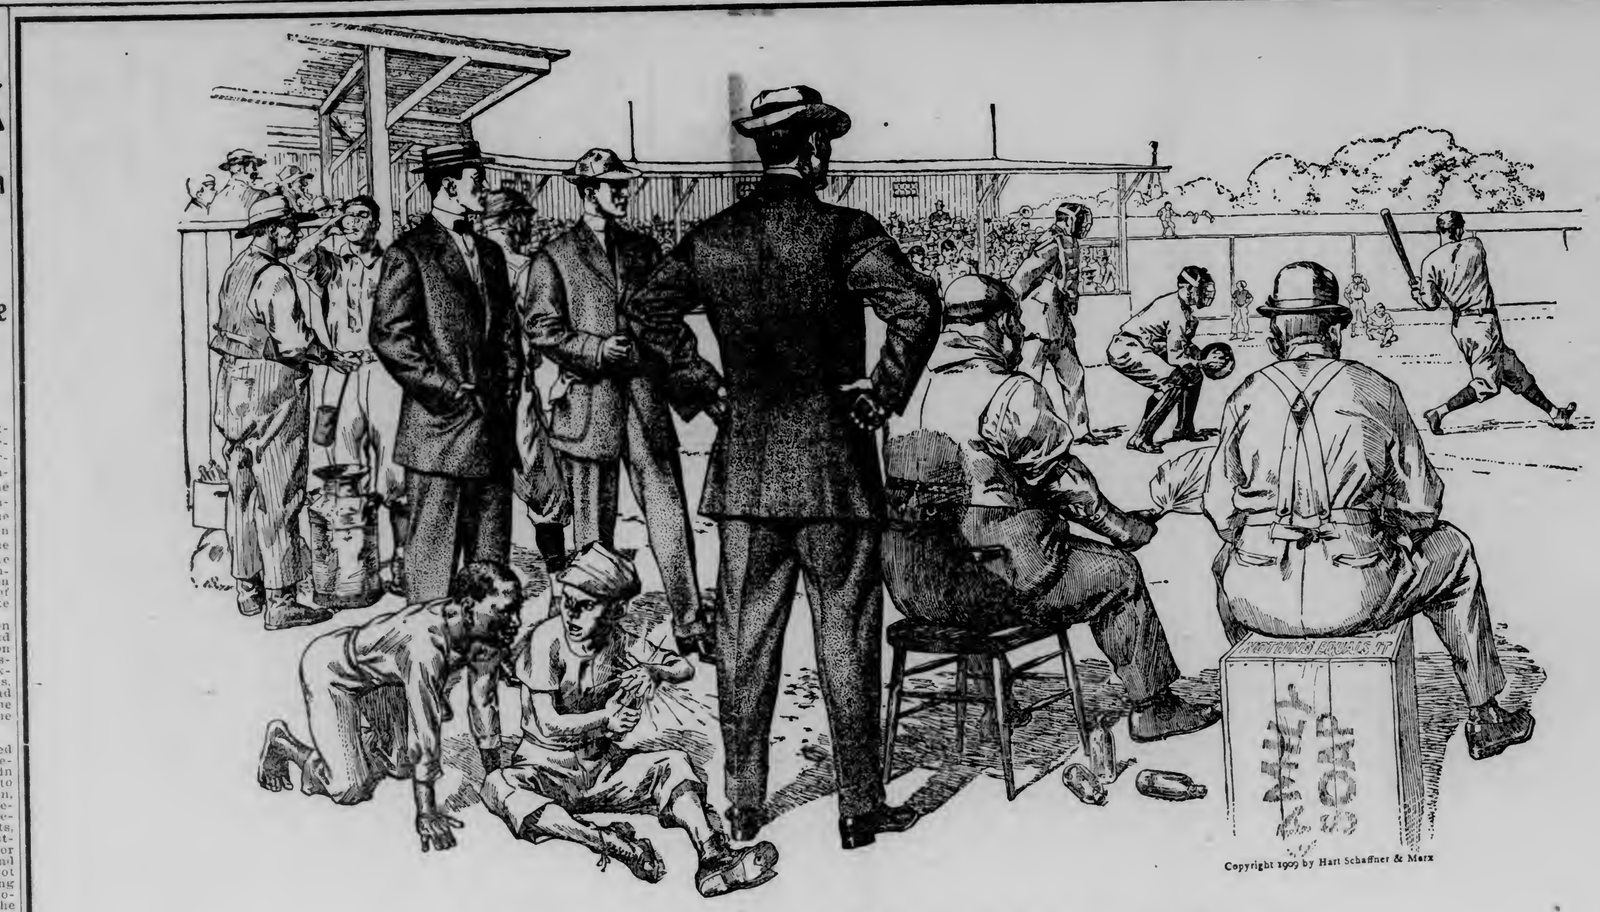

These bigger ecclesiastical and property questions, which the religious press will thresh out for weeks to come, are of less human interest than the hardships entailed upon individual congregations and persons. Where the early decisions have gone against the loyalists they have lost the houses of worship which had become endeared to them through years of worship. Now the unionists must experience the same suffering. Wherever there is a single anti-union member in a congregation, he or she can claim the property for the Cumberland church. The Presbyterians must move out and build. What all this means in neighboring bitterness, and, incidentally, in sectarian activity, may readily be imagined.

Pastors Pay Heavily.

The pastors of the churches that favored union have nearly all paid a heavy price for that action. They have lost more or less seriously in membership, and, consequently, in salary. In many cases, this has been true of the loyalists, also. Both have shown a brave willingness to suffer for conscience's sake.

Interested churchmen are asking, "Is this another Wee Free decision?" Historic in the annals of modern christendom is the case of the Highland dissenters from the union of the Free Church of Scotland and the United Presbyterian church into the United Free church. This handful of Wee Frees, as they are commonly called, claimed to be still the Free church. The matter finally reached the house of lords, which handed over to them all the immensely valuable properties of the big and wealthy Free church denomination.

There, it is to be hoped, the analogy ends, for the Wee Frees have shown no ability to manage their suddenly acquired wealth; and have grown narrower, more sectarian and more bigoted with each passing year. At present, their course is almost a scandal in British religious circles. The opinion that the Cumberland Presbyterian loyalists will follow their example is probably born of the partisanship of the losing side in this case, which will be historic; if for nothing else than that it has probably set back the cause of church union a decade.

WATCHING THE GAME

YOU have your favorites, of course; you may have it all figured out just who's going to win, and why, and how; you may be posted on "form" and have the averages and percentages down fine; or you may not care much about it; or be anywhere between these extremes. Men are like that about clothes as well as baseball; some are over-critical, some are careless, but the great big majority of us want good clothes; and want to be sure of getting them. We've got the right things for all of these men, the critical, the indifferent, the sensible. They're

To the Editor of The Herald:

I was stirred to righteous indignation by seeing that some vandal had marred and disfigured our new and beautiful Y. M. C. A. building by scratching with some sharp instrument the letters "W. L." on one of the basement stones near the Third avenue entrance. How could a person be so low and contemptible to perpetrate such a thing? I thought that the source of it was our besetting sin of irreverence, and I was reminded of a sermon that I once heard on the subject of reverence, in which the preacher said that he had heard the story that once, as the chief justice of the United States was passing into the lobby of a large hotel, a young man with a hat on his head and a cigar in his mouth, without removing either, saluted the judge with a "Hello, judge!" The preacher added that if the young man had stood with Moses when he beheld the burning brush he would not have thought to remove his shoes unless it was too warm for his feet on the heavenly fire. May we be delivered from the sin of irreverence.

Washing Windows.

Before windows are washed, remove the dust both outside and in with a dry soft cloth, clean the corners and grooves with a skewer, covered with a cloth. Have ready a pail of warm suds made by dissolving a tablespoonful of Gold Dust washing powder in warm water. Dip a soft cloth in the water, squeeze almost dry and wipe the glass off. Polish with chamois as it leaves no lint and does the work with more ease. Do not wash windows when the sun is shining on them. Wash mirrors in the same way as windows. Then polish with a soft cloth charged with powdered whiting. Finish with an old silk handkerchief.

WOULD JOIN IMMORTALS

Paris Restaurant Keeper Aspires to the French Academy.

Has Written Poetry, History and Even a Tragic Drama.

Paris, April 23.—Michel Pons, poet, tragedian, author and restaurant keeper of Paris, is greatly disappointed that he has not been selected at the recent election of the French academy to fill the place among the immortals made vacant by the death of Francois Coppee. There are hosts of other disappointed would-be immortals in France, but none, perhaps, whose grief is so poignant, and who feels so deeply the slight which his country has put upon him.

This is, perhaps, the first time on record that an out-and-out workingman has made a bold bid for official recognition among the intellectual giants of his country. His title to the honor is not, at least in Michel Pons' judgment, an empty one. In the first place, though pursuing the life of an humble restaurateur in the Rue des Moulins, he has not permitted the mere waiting upon customers to interfere with his literary production. His first volume was a small pamphlet of poems entitled "Early Dreams", which shows that the poet was a believer in the brotherhood of man, and in all the fraternal amenities that go along with that aspiration. Of course, liberty and equality figured largely in his "Early Dreams," which, incidentally, met with considerable success. The fact that they were produced by a genuine workingman, unskilled in poetry, helped their success so much that the author was encouraged to continue his outpourings. His first attempt was followed by a volume entitled "Soul Blossoms," which displayed to an admiring world, the introspective genius of the resaturant keeper, and demonstrated the fact that restaurateurs have souls, and also that they can blossom, on occasion.

Went Into History.

Exhausting his poetic vein, for the time being—or, rather permitting it to remain temporarily unworked—Michel next turned his attention to prose and turned out a volume of "Impressions of Italy." This work was reviewed with some favor by the press and M. Pons then lapsed into history, taking a flyer on some "Notes on the Midi." Little is heard of this effort, but he next broke into tragic drama, producing a play called "Slaves."

With all these displays of genius, he thought himself entitled to come forward and claim a place among the immortals. In his address demanding rather than asking for this exalted position, he describes himself as:

"A son of the generous French nation from whose bosom democracy made its first attempt to soar. I have in the honor and the courage, humble and lowly writer as I am, to offer myself as the candidate of the workers.

"And what man is there on the face of the earth," he continues, "or even the god of literature and of art—who would have the assurance to tell mankind at large that my doing so is an act of folly, that my dream is a nightmare, when one sees deputies, senators and even ministers in the world of politics who have sprung from the ranks of the workers?

"Has not the worker a will, an intelligence and a heart, like other men? Was nature, when she gave him birth, a bondmother? Did she not endow him with the gifts she gave to others?" he asks.

The Workman's Value.

"The masterpiece of the architect would not live without the workman who translated the idea into stone. Napoleon would not have conquered the world without the workman who won his battles.

"I offer myself with confidence in the hope that all of you, poets, historians, orators, statesmen and men of science, who, as it were, are the supreme quintessence of literature, of science and of art, you who symbolize the crown of literary glory which our great country wears—in the hope, I say, that your lofty souls will put aside petty considerations and antiquated prejudices, and that you will welcome heartily the man of the people who comes to you full of courage, but void of pride."

After this impassioned peroration, the French seeker after immortality deserves at least to receive, at the hands of his country, a consolation prize to encourage him to produce still more poetry, history, prose and tragedy which may, in time, entitle him to the place he has strenuously sought.

CONVERT OF REVIVALIST

New York, April 23.—Chief Postoffice Inspector Walter S. Mayer, who years ago was converted through the ministry of Rev. George Waverly Briggs, former pastor in the M. E. church south, appeared as bondsman for that clergyman when he was arraigned in Jefferson Market court on a charge of petty larceny.

"He is an old boyhood friend," said the postoffice inspector, after he had told Magistrate House that he would furnish bail in any required amount.

Then the inspector told between sobs how he had been converted many years ago in Galveston, Tex., during a revival conducted by the prisoner, then known as the "Revivalist of the South." As the story was told the old preacher also broke down and wept.

The preacher had been arraigned in the court charged with the larceny of three atomizers from Henry Bohmfalk, a druggist, at 660 Third avenue.

"Where is the complainant?" asked the court.

"He is not here. I don't think that he will prosecute," said Detective Flynn.

"We'll get him here," said the court. "This is a sad case, and we'll have him come and clear the prisoner's name. I'll make the bail the lowest possible—$100. Can you get some one to go on his bond?"

In 1878, after being graduated from the University of Alabama, Rev. Mr. Briggs was sent to a small church in Galveston, Tex. Later he conducted revival services all through the South and became pastor of a large church in New Orleans. In 1885 he was made editor of the Christian Advocate of Nashville, Tenn.

SCHOONERS BEAT 'KATY."

Vinita, Kla., April 23.—The story of how the Frisco railroad finally secured a crossing over the "Katy" at Vinita, following a prolonged watchfulness on the part of the latter to prevent such a crossing being made, is told by John Swain, one of the old-timers in Indian territory, and who helped survey the boundary line between Texas and the Indian territory before the war; crossed the great plains twice; was stationed in Arizona as a soldier in the United States army during the war; dug for gold in California, and who has, for the past thirty-six years, lived in Vinita, where he has sold goods and groceries to travelers and traded with the Indians. One of the most amusing stories of frontier life is how the Frisco railway crossed the Missouri, Kansas & Texas line when the former road came into Vinita.

The "Katy" was about the first road through the territory. Vinita was then a kind of gateway for wagon trains to the Southwest, and was called Downingville. When the "Katy" learned of the Frisco's coming it became jealous and attempted to change the town site by going further south two miles. But the majority of the people of Downingville did not take kindly to the project, and Downingville stayed where it was. The Frisco came on into town and built up to the "Katy" track. Then they stopped because the "Katy" kept trains of cars slowly moving up and down the line. This lasted for two days and the people became interested.

One morning the Frisco force was in readiness to do quick work. The "Katy" train moved up slowly and passed to where it usually stopped. Between that place and an intersection was a wagon crossing, and a long train of "prairie schooners" held the "Katy" engineer. The drivers were very leisurely about it, crossing the track and occasionally one would get stuck. The engineer whistled and blew off steam and tried to scare them, without success. He was afraid to run into a wagon and knock it off, as the men with the wagon train carried Winchesters.

When the last wagon passed the engineer tore down the track to see what had happened. But, alas, he was too late. The Frisco had crossed the "Katy."

Words To Freeze The Soul.

"Your son has Consumption. His case is hopeless." These appalling words were spoken to George E. Blevens, a leading merchant of Springfield, N. C. by two expert doctors—one a lung specialist. Then was shown the wonderful power of Dr. King's New Discovery. "After three weeks use," writes Mr. Blevens, "he was as well as ever. I would not take all the money in the world for what it did for my boy." Infallible for Coughs and Colds, its the safest, surest cure of desperate Lung diseases on earth. 50c and $1. Guarantee satisfaction. Trial bottle free. All druggists.

Recent experiments made by balloonists show that the upper air is not free from germs, as has long been supposed. Gelatin plates exposed three miles above the earth have caught many germs, mostly pigmented, the pigment probably forming protection against ultra-violet rays and cold.

ON THE IRON RANGES

MANY ARE AT MEETS

Farmers' Discussions This Week in St. Louis County a Success.

A. B. Hostetter and Others Give Men of Soil Pointers.

Eveleth, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The potato meetings held this week in many of the small townships of the county under the direction of A. B Hostetter of the Duluth Commercial club, were well attended. Beginning Monday, Mr. Hostetter assisted by Forest Henry of Dover, Minn., a famous potato grower, who speaks at many farmers institutes both in this state and in Maine, and C. E. Brown of Elk River one of the largest potato growers in the state, have held meetings almost twice a day.

At Cook eighty-three farmers were present at two sessions in the morning and afternoon. After the meeting the potato workers visited the farm of John Olson, who cleared twenty acres last summer.

At Forbes sixty farmers were present in the morning and at Zim the same afternoon, thirty-six were present. A large meeting was held Monday at Embarass, while at Loon Lake, sixteen miles south of Biwabik, farmers came to the meeting for miles around. It was held in the Temperance hall and fifty-four men, fifteen women and thirty-five children attended. Meetings are being held today at Alborn and Meadowlands.

On saturday three meetings will be held in small places around Duluth, while a final meeting will be held in Duluth tomorrow night.

At the meetings Forest Henry talks on "Clover," showing how the ground should be prepared for potato growing. Mr. Brown, who is a very practical farmer, speaks on "The Practical Side of Potato Raising."

Great Benefit to Farmers.

To many of the farmers these meetings have been of great help as they they have been shown that potatoes can be made to mature from three to four weeks earlier than with the present method of potato raising. This is done by a thorough cultivation of ground before planting, attending to it three or four times a week while the potato plant is growing, conserving the moisture by letting in the sunshine through this cultivation.

The farmers are invited to ask questions as to any fault they find in raising potatoes and are also instructed as to how to raise strawberries and raspberries on small patches so that they can make ready money to help clear away their other land. Mr. Brown was greatly surprised at the amount of agriculture going on in St. Louis county. In some places he found sixty and seventy acres all under cultivation. Mr. Henry states that the conditions in St. Louis county are very favorable for raising clover so as to get the maximum potato yield from the soil. The great need in this part of the country is a proper knowledge of the condition of the soil. With a good knowledge of the soil he says there is a fine chance to make good money.

Mr. Hostetter, Forest Henry and C. E. Brown were in Eveleth last night after their Zim meeting resting up for the final meetings of the week. They are all pleased with the turnouts at the various meetings and see a bright future ahead for agriculture in St. Louis county.

STEEL CO. NOW SHIPPING ORE

Two Harbors, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is no little rejoicing here over the announcement that loading of ore began yesterday at the Adams mine at Eveleth and the Savoy and Jura mines at Ely, which are Steel corporation properties and means the opening of the shipping by that company. About 50,000 tons per week from the Eveleth district and 20,000 tons per week from the Ely district are the amounts expected for the start and with an additional 7,000 tons per week from the independent mines will mean the employment of many men at the docks and on the road. It will mean five or six trainloads per day to be received here and perhaps that many train crews put on, besides additional crews for switching service here and at the mines.

Conductor William Smith was called to Stover, Mo., yesterday by the death of his mother at that place.

The fire department was called out yesterday noon by a small blaze at the home of Conductor Martin Beckett on Eighth avenue. The loss was small.

MAPLE SYRUP IN A HOLLOW LOG

Novel Device to Send Sweet Substance to Roosevelt Family.

Coleraine, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mr. Black, the man employed by G. G. Hartley of Duluth to manage his sugar camp at Trout lake, is busy collecting the sap and making maple syrup. A package of the fresh maple syrup has been sent to the family of ex-President Roosevelt, as is the custom each year. This year the cans were shipped inside a hollow log, a decidedly rustic-looking crate for shipment.

George Flery, the engineer of the Bovey school, has his new residence on the boulevard in Coleraine enclosed.

Jennie Dunkort broke her arm on the playground at the Bovey school last Tuesday.

Rev. Troistad of Superior conducted a Sunday school institute at the Presbyterian church in Coleraine Wednesday.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist church is arranging for an entertainment in the high school auditorium, called the "District School."

Miss Elizabeth McDonald, the efficient kindergarten teacher of the Greenway school, has not accepted re-election. The position has already been filled.

Miss Louella McCarthy, teacher of the Trout Lake school, has been ill this week.

Miss Amelia Nelson of Marble attended the Sunday school institute here Wednesday.

N. C. Goodwin of the firm of Peterson & Goodwin has returned from a visit to Blooming Prairie in the southern part of the state.

Miss Alice Dolan, principal of the Taconite school, spent Saturday in Duluth.

The force of civil engineers is making preparation for some very effective work on the foundation of the new concentrating plant for which an appropriation of $1,500,000 has been made.

The great steel beams are being put in place for the Mesaba railroad bridge over the mouth of the Canisteo pit.

All of the teachers of the grades of school district No. 2 in which is situated the schools of Coleraine, Bovey, Taconite, Marble, La Prairie and Trout Lake have accepted re-election for the coming year.

An additional room was opened in the new town hall at Marble last Monday. Two teachers have been employed, but both occupied the same school room.

Ingalls new boat house is practically completed. E. G. Ingalls, the junior member of the firm, went to Shell Lake Monday to inspect a large order of boats before shipment.

OPEN PIT MINES ARE STARTING UP

Hibbing, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Hull, Morris and Burt, three of the big open-pit mines here of the steel corporation, are busy places today, being placed in condition to ship ore. The engines and steam shovels have been overhauled and everything is now in readiness for the opening of the season, which will undoubtedly be one of the biggest in the iron ore industry of Minnesota. Several of the underground mines in the Hibbing and Chisholm district of the Oliver Mining company, with the exception of the Monroe, at Chisholm, began operations yesterday. The list includes the Meyers, Clark, Glen, Chisholm, Tener and Winnifred. This starts the ore shipping season from this district practically three weeks ahead of last year.

Eveleth Shipping Begins.

Eveleth, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The shipping season at Eveleth began yesterday, with the loading of ore cars at the No. 6 shaft of the Adams mine, and the Nos. 1 and 4 shafts at the Fayal. The cars will be sent away today. At present shipping will only be done from the shafts, as the stock piles will be taken care of later.

The Iron Range road is building tracks from their West Adams yard through the Adams open pit. Shipping in that direction will not be started for some time. Stripping is going on steadily at the open pit mines, and the present season promises to be a good one. Much work is being done around the old No. 4 Adams shaft, that has been out of commission for some time.

PUSHING WORK ON NEW HIBBING SCHOOL.

Hibbing, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Work on the new Central school is being rapidly pushed forward according to the contract, which allows the contractors, Bailey & Marsh, $25 for every day in which they finish ahead of the specified time for completion of the building. The contractors in return, are to forfeit $25 a day for every day in which they work over the time set for the turning over of the building to the village.

FORMER DULUTHIAN IS DEAD AT BESSEMER, MICH.

Eveleth, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. J. Davey and Alfred Davey of the Adams Spruce offices, went to Bessemer, Mich., yesterday to attend the funeral of their brother, George Davey, who died Wednesday at that city. The deceased worked some years ago in Duluth, but then went to Globe, Ariz., for his health, as he had been suffering with consumption, the cause of his death.

Miller Soon to Ship.

Aurora, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—A party of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad officials were in town Wednesday looking after the ore shipping. It is stated unofficially that the Miller may begin shipping next week.

Supt. A. Holter of the Spring mine was in town Wednesday. The Spring has not opened yet, but Mr. Holter is quite cheerful at the prospects for this summer.

ELY COUNCIL HAS FIXED SALARIES

Ely, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The salaries of the various city officials and employes were fixed at an adjourned meeting of the city council, as follows: City clerk, L. W. White, $75 per month; superintendent of the light and water plant, T. W. Toal, $125 per month, with rent, light and water; engineers at light and water plant, $80; firemen at the light and water plant, $79; chief of police, John Lamuth, $80 per month; police officers, J. Seraphine and Oscar Kauppi, each $79; street commissioner, William Phillips, $70; janitor at city hall, C. Wulotiz, $60; chairman of the board of health, Dr. O. W. Parker, $150 per year; members of the board of health, $50 per year; street labor, $2 per day; teams, $5 per day.

A petition was received from the fire department asking for an increase in the salaries of firemen, and for the hiring of a team for the use of the fire department for the ensuing year. It was referred to the finance committee for a report at the next regular meeting.

The petition of John Pluth for a saloon license was refused on the grounds that the city could not legally grant such license as the recent law specifying the number of saloons to certain populations would not permit of the license being issued.

Municipal Judge Thomas Jury sent in a communication to the effect that he had appointed L. J. White as clerk of the municipal court and asking the city council to fix his salary. The council fixed the clerk's salary at $50 per month, after confirming the judge's appointment.

All bids were rejected, the council fixing the amount to be paid the scavenger for the ensuing year at $90 per month, and calling for applications to be considered at the next meeting.

The report of the superintendent of the light and water plant showed that there were earnings for the month amounting to $2,021.60, and a charge against this of $1,761.77 for expense and depreciation of the plant.

The council refused to continue the office of City attorney for the coming year, but preferred to employ an attorney whenever the exigencies of the situation at any time might require it. The council voted, however, to retain the services of the attorneys that had been employed by the previous council to defend the city against the action brought by Herman Kandelin, for injuries received by falling through a defective sidewalk last winter.

FORTY HOURS' DEVOTION.

Services at Two Harbors Holy Ghost Church Next Week.

Two Harbors, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. Father D. V. Patt of the Holy Ghost church announces the following program of the forty hours' devotion, commencing Tuesday next: Rev. Joseph Wurm will have charge of the service, assisted by ev. Patt and Rev. J. Lemire of Duluth; Tuesday, 27th, 9:0 a. m., solemn high mass and sermon; 7:30 p. m., sermon and benediction; Wednesday, 8 a. m., high mass and sermon; 7:30 p. m., sermon and benediction; Thursday, 9 a. m., solemn high mass and sermon and closing exercises of the devotion. Confessions will be heard each afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock, and each evening from the close of the sermon until all are heard.

On Wednesday afternoon and evening there will be a French priest for the French people, and he will hear confessions at the hours mentioned.

TWO HARBORS GRADUATES.

High School Commencement Will Be Held on June 4.

Two Harbors, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The high school commencement exercises will be held Friday evening, June 4, at the Metropolitan opera house. Rev. J. W. Powell of the Endion M. E. church, Duluth, will be the speaker.

The Baccalaureate sermon will be delivered by Rev. J. F. McLeod at the Presbyterian church Sunday evening, May 30. The class day exercises will be held at the high school assembly hall Thursday evening, June 3.

CHISHOLM MAY HAVE A MISSABE STATION.

Chisholm, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is reported the Missabe road will build a station here near the Great Northern tracks and not far from the Pierce stockpile.

R. Beeks of Rush City, Minn., is the new Great Northern station agent here, succeeding C. R. Deus, who has gone to the state of Washington. A. G. Jordan, assistant agent and cashier for the past five years, resigned yesterday and will be succeeded by P. Judy of Indianapolis.

ARREST FOLLOWS THEATER FIGHT

Virginia, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—F. C. Whiting, owner of the Orpheum theater building, was arrested Wednesday on a charge of assault on James O'Neil, a performer at the theater. The matter grew out of a row between Whiting and Smith & Dees, lessees of the building.

The written lease of Smith & Dees expired last Friday. Whiting leased the building to another firm. Smith & Dees claimed a verbal extension for six months, which Whiting denied. They held possession of the place, sleeping in the theater nights and guarding it by days.

Yesterday Whiting gained possession and it is claimed that when Dees and O'Neil attempted to enter he repelled them with a chair. O'Neil claims to have been hit on the head. Whiting was arrested and Smith & Dees hold the fort. Ouster proceedings are pending.

LARGER HIGH SCHOOL.

Important Matter to be Discussed in Virginia Saturday Night.

Virginia, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The question of enlarging the school accommodations of Virginia will come up at a mass meeting to be held in the Roosevelt school tomorrow night. The decision of the school board, made some time ago, to build a new $125,000 high school has not met with the approval of a great many citizens and the mass meeting was called to allow an expression of public opinion for the benefit of the members of the board.

The high school is badly crowded in the Roosevelt school and the grades are congested. Some favor the erection of one or two new grade schools, while Supt. Bliss and some members of the board want a new high school, leaving the present high school rooms for the accommodation of the grades. They say better domestic science and manual training departments are needed, as well as more laboratory room.

The site of the proposed new high school is Roosevelt park, the only athletic field in Virginia. There is much opposition to the destruction of the park and many of the protests against the proposed new high school are based on that consideration.

OLIVER CLUB ENTERTAINS.

Several Athletic Stunts Delight Patrons of Hibbing Club.

Hibbing, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Oliver club entertained its members and a few friends last night with an athletic entertainment. Some very good boxing and other stunts were pulled off. The club has some excellent talent that with more experience will make most any of the professionals hustle. The athletic exhibitions greatly pleased those present and it will be the policy of the club to provide entertainment of this kind every few weeks for its members.

Miss Ida Franks of Lake Linden, Mich., is visiting her cousin here, Mrs. R. L. Geiselman.

The students of the high school are making elaborate preparations for the annual junior-senior hop, to be given May 7 in Close's hall. La Brosse's orchestra of Duluth will furnish the music.

RANGE ATTRACTIONS.

Lyceum Bureau to Include Principal Towns is Organized.

Virginia, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—A lyceum bureau circuit comprising Virginia, Eveleth, Biwabik and Coleraine has been organized on the range. Hibbing and Ely will very likely be added to the circuit, with Aurora and Buhl as possibilities.

Attractions from a lyceum bureau will come to the range next season, appearing on successive nights in different towns. The arrangement gives better attractions at a reasonable outlay of money.

FIRST BASEBALL IN VIRGINIA SATURDAY.

Virginia, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first baseball game of the season will be played in Virginia tomorrow, the Elks, a juvenile team, meeting the Mountain Iron team at Roosevelt park.

FARMERS ORGANIZE.

Two Harbors, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Lake County Farmers' club perfected an organization and elected the following officers: President, J. Turnquist; vice president, William Pepperling; secretary, Charles Rosen; treasurer, Chris Carlson; board of trustees, two years, John Boyer and Robert Johnson; one year, Charles Turnquist, L. W. Anderson and Charles Larson. The next meeting of the club will be held Saturday afternoon, April 24. At this meeting the question of purchasing dynamite in large quantities will be discussed and decided upon. There will also be important discussion in connection with dairy cows.

Gilbert Mine Loading.

Two Harbors, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Gilbert mine at Pettit commenced loading ore into cars Thursday, and will load about fifteen carloads per day for the present. The ore will be held at the mine until boats are started to handle it from the ore docks.

Eveleth Militia Drill.

Eveleth, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—At last night's drill of Company F several new maneuvers were shown by the company. The drill was well attended, as the members are out to make a good showing at the summer camp this year at Lake City, which commences June 14.

Small Eveleth Fire.

Eveleth, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—A small chimney fire on Pierce street was the means of arousing most of the town about nine o'clock last evening, but very little damage was done. The fire department, just a few doors from the scene of the fire, was called out and quickly extinguished the flames.

To Visit in Hibbing.

Laurium, Mich., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Inga Peterson of Laurium has left for Hibbing, Minn., where she will visit for some time.

La Rue Pitman Hurt.

Nashwauk, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Peterlin, pitman at the La Rue mine, had both legs badly mangled under a mass of falling earth, and he may lose both limbs.

MUCH CROOKSTON BUILDING.

Coming Summer Will Witness Large Amount of Work in That Line.

Crookston, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—There promises to be a great deal of activity in building in the business section of Crookston the coming summer.

John Buhn has had plans completed for a brick and stone structure on South Main street, which will be occupied by the Queen City Fruit company. Bjoin & Carlson will erect a modern garage, 40 by 70 feet, one of the best in the Northwest. Fontaln & Anglin will erect a store building on Main street, adjoining the C. O. D. Clothing house, and will erect a three-story hotel on Second street, adjoining the Great Northern depot. Excavating for the foundation of the new $90,000 federal building has started already, and many other buildings are talked of, in addition to scores of residences. The season will be a very active one in the building line.

ATHLETIC PROGRAM BY BRAINERD Y. M. C. A.

Brainerd, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Y. M. C. A. will give its second annual athletic exhibition this evening. A program has been prepared and the association will realize a good sum to add more equipment. The athletics have been under the management of J. C. Manville, general secretary, who goes to Two Harbors, May 1, to take the position of physical director and boys' secretary in the association there.

Would Establish Alibi.

Fargo, N. D., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Claiming that he was in Fargo Dec. 27, when the postoffice at Strathcona, Minn., was robbed, Andrew Hendel is endeavoring to prove an alibi. His wife and other witnesses swear to his presence in this city at that time. Hendel was once a witness in the postoffice case and is charged with "peaching" on some pals.

Minneapolis Sawmills Start.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 23.—The big C. A. Smith sawmill began sawing lumber yesterday. For the present a day crew only will be employed, but beginning Monday a night crew is to be added, and the mill will then run steadily until the log supply is exhausted. The Carpenter-Lamb Lumber company has opened up with a day and night crew, and the Bovey De Laittre company is operating with a day crew.

EAT WHAT YOU LIKE

If Your Digestion Is Good You'll Enjoy It. If You Don't Enjoy It, Take a Little Kodol. It Digests All Food You Eat.

We mean any kind of food. It makes no difference what you may eat—no matter how difficult of digestion your food may be for the stomach, a little of Kodol will digest it. A tablespoonful will digest 2¼ pounds of food easily and naturally, just as a healthy stomach does. That is why Kodol is so sure to prevent dyspepsia and the many other serious ailments which result from undigested food remaining in the stomach. Indigestion and dyspepsia are always caused by food not properly digesting in your stomach. When your stomach cannot properly digest food, of itself, it needs a little assistance—and this assistance is readily supplied by Kodol. Kodol assists the stomach, by temporarily digesting all of the food in the stomach, so that the stomach may rest and recuperate. Kodol is really a very excellent preparation for any digestive disorder. Our guarantee—Get a dollar bottle of Kodol. If you are not benefited—the druggist will at once return your money. Don't hesitate, any druggist will sell you Kodol on these terms. The dollar bottle contains 2½ times as much as the 50c bottle. Kodol is prepared in the laboratories of E. C. De Witt & Co., Chicago.

A LESSON FOR THE PLAIN MAN.

The legislature of 1909 will not be highly commended anywhere for the good that it has done, but those of us who spend our energy in condemning it had better save our words for a better cause. The legislature is not to blame that it proved to be a sort of chaotic body, with little coherence of purpose and with few real accomplishments, for it was simply the creature of those who made it. The people of Minnesota during the past two years have been too aimless, uncertain, and chaotic in their thinking upon public questions and the legislature of 1909 has quite faithfully reflected this condition.

Contrast the session of the legislature which gave the state the board of control law, the primary election system, established a permanent policy of state drainage, and gave us other noteworthy reforms. That session was proceeded by a period of very active, definite thinking and discussing of public affairs. The press of the whole state was alive to the importance of these questions and they were discussed in every issue of Minnesota's 700 newspapers. Public discussion of these questions was very general. The Minnesota State Drainage league was organized and held several largely attended meetings at different points throughout the state. The people were actively interested in railroad lgislation and in other public questions. What was the result? When the legislature met, it immdiately began the consideration of these policies, quickly formulated bills covering each question and passed every one of them without difficulty and with expedition. That legislature represented the leteramination of the people; the legislature of 1909 has represented the indecision of the people.

The question of primary election reform is a large one, but the people of Minnesota are undecided; they merely grumble at the defects of the present law. Reapportionment is absolutely vital to the welfare of the state and to the development of Northern Minnesota but the press of Northern Minnesota, with a few exceptions, has discussed it only in the most incidental way. What we need now is a reapportionment league that shall do the work for reapportionment that the drainage league did for the state drainage. We fret over our crude tax laws but we give the matter little or no serious, unprejudiced consideration. We have gained greatly in the tax commission and it is to be hoped that this commission during the ensuing two years will render us valuable service by systematizing and digesting the needs of the state in this respect and by preparing proposals which may have public discussion and may result in intelligent legislation.

The one great accomplishment of the recent session of the legislature of Minnesota has been its agricultural legislation, and even this reflects the prevailing looseness of thought among the people, for it is crude and experimental and must be largely remodeled by the next legislature. Provision has been made for agricultural instruction in high schools, a very doubtful experiment; some money has been appropriated to carry out Mr. Hill's idea of demonstrating modern methods by competent demonstrators upon the very farms of the farmers; the beginning of what will eventually prove to be a system of district agricultural schools has been made. This is notable progress concerning a matter of vital importance to Minnesota and it is altogether the most admirable thing about the legislature of 1909.

The people of Minnesota ought to take this lesson to heart. Their representatives at St. Paul have very faithfully represented their own indecision. In the matter of agricultural legislation, they rose above their source, and in this respect the legislature was better than the people it represented. Looseness and uncertainty of thought, begets loose and uncertain legislation; what Minnesota needs now is to give itself thoughtfully to the consideration of public matters. Then we shall have no cause to complain of the quality of the legislation we shall get in 1910.

ST. LOUIS COUNTY'S URGENT NEED.

The closing days of the legislative session of 1909 sees the passage of the L. H. Johnson house bill appropriating $7,500 each to the first four counties of the state which establish agricultural schools. This law is the net result of the agitation for more and better agricultural instruction. It undoubtedly means that in time an agricultural school will be established in every congressional district in the state. In addition to the state agricultural school at St. Anthony Park in connection with the state university, the state has what is practically a district agricultural school located a short distance outside of the city of Crookston. The Johnson law provides for four more such schools.

One of these schools should be located in St. Louis county, and that at once. The county has already voted in favor of establishing a county agricultural school, and it is now necessary only for the commission appointed for that purpose to locate the school and for the board of county commissioners to establish it, whereupon St. Louis county will become entitled to the $7,500 state aid provided for this purpose, and what will be practically an agricultural school for the eighth congressional district will be established.

St. Louis county has urgent need of this school. No more productive agricultural lands lie out of doors anywhere than the lands of St. Louis county. To apprise the people of the county of this fact, and to induce settlers, and to show forth the easiest, the quickest and the most sure way to make these lands profitably productive the Duluth Commercial club has gone to large expenses. It has engaged by the year an able agricultural expert, who has held meetings in all parts of the county and has stirred agricultural sentiment to a remarkable degree, it has provided during the past winter for a noteworthy course of lectures on agriculture, gardening, dairying, etc., and the final lecture of this course will be given at the lecture room of the Y. M. C. A. this evening. It has distributed bulletins, held meetings and in other ways stimulated interest in farming and dairying in St. Louis county until we begin to realize that the greatest mineral county in the state has also agricultural possibilities of the largest.

Naturally the world looks upon St. Louis county simply as an iron-producing region. Once we have established a flourishing agricultural school, however, we shall have a powerful agent for the mending of this unfortunate misconception. The primary purpose of an agricultural school is to teach the best and most scientific methods of farming, and in this respect the St. Louis county agricultural school will be enormously profitable to the people of the county. When all our farmers, as few, comparatively, as they are, are applying the best methods in their farming, agriculture will rapidly grow in importance in this country and new settlers will come in with ever increasing rapidity so that St. Louis county may supply the ever increasing demands of its market. Industrial and commercial development must surely come on apace at the Head of the Lakes, and the rich lands of St. Louis county must be made to yield the products that this increasing prosperity demands.

The way for the immediate establishment of a county agricultural school in St. Louis county is now open and the county urgently needs the school.

JUSTICE ALIVE AND JUSTICE DEAD.

Justice done by the cold letter of the law is a sort of dead justice, and it sometimes works in the end the most terrible injustice; justice that takes cognizance of the ethical principles involved and that is based on a broad understanding of human nature and a deep sympathy for humanity, is living justice, justice that inevitably makes for right.

Out of dead justice grew the fellow servant doctrine, now repudiated in so many jurisdictions and not long to live in Minnesota. "It arose," says the Philadelphia Press, "from a judicial blunder in considering the problem in its narrow judicial aspects without regard to the economic or ethical principles involved." The doctrine of the fellow-servant rule was first laid down in England in 1837. Its application in this country was due to the adoption of the reasoning by Chief Justice Shaw of the Massachusetts supreme court, who with Lord Abinger of England, its author, expounded the doctrine with great force and learning, and effectually fastened it upon both countries. Both men were exceedingly learned in the law, and were jurists of the highest repute, but they lacked that sympathy with humanity which Theodore Roosevelt so strikingly illustrated in his recent editorial in the Outlook on "A Judicial Experience." Because of this doctrine, falsely arrived at, through the dead reasonings of the technical law, injustice was fastened upon laboring men for many years, and for seventy years in this country the doctrine has brought terrible hardships and sufferings to families whose support was cut off and to whom the law has denied any recompense whatever.

The doctrine was repudiated in England some years ago and the states of the American Union have been gradually wiping it from the law books. Among those states which have repudiated the doctrine are Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York, Delaware, Pennsylvania, Georgia, Montana, Colorado, Kentucky and Connecticut. Governor Johuson vigorously urged the repudiation of the doctrine by statute in Minnesota in his message to the legislature this year, and the commission authorized by the legislature to investigate the employer's liability law and to draft a new measure will undoubtedly incorporate in such a law a provision definitely doing away with the doctrine of fellow-servant liability in Minnesota.

Every court ought to be a court of law and a court of equity; too often, our courts have been courts of law alone. A court of law, uninfluenced by the humanitarian and ethical aspects of the case may declare the letter of the law but it is most liable to do injustice so great that it can be set right only after long suffering through many years. In such a way, and by such means, was the doctrine of the fellow-servant created and fastened upon two great Anglo-Saxon peoples to their fearful loss.

HOTEL GOSSIP.

W. J. Parks, a lumberman from Shell Lake, stated at the St. Louis yesterday that the competition of Southern pine would result in making inroads in the lumber business of the North.

Mr. Parks stated that the Southern pine is sold for $2 a thousand for stumpage, while the Northern dealers will lose money at that price. Unless they receive in the neighborhood of $7 or $8 for stumpage, they will lose money. Under the difference in the scale of prices the Southern dealers are beginning to compete with the dealers in this section of the country.

The reason why the Southern dealers can sell the Southern pine for a lower price is that in many instances the timber was secured by them at a very low figure. In many instances the dealers have needed ready cash. This has resulted in the sale of lumber at a very low figure, and has also resulted in the Southern dealers being able to ship lumber to the Northern markets and undersell their Northern competitors.

Mr. Parks says there is a ready market for all the white pine in this country. He says there is not such a strong demand for Norway pine. He also says that a great deal of white pine is being held in this section of the country for future prices. The price at the present time is not what many of the larger dealers believe it ought to be, according to Mr. Parks, and much of this lumber will be held until the time when the lumber dealers think the price meets the value of the lumber.

It is the same in the lumber districts of the South. Here, Mr. Parks says, Weyerhaeuser and the Edward Hines Lumber company have vast holdings of Southern pine that they will not sell at the present low figure that is being obtained in the Northern markets for Southern pine. These men believe that the market value of lumber will advance, and they are holding their lumber until that time.

Said a gentleman from Bemidji, at the Lenox hotel last night: "A man in the present legislature, from the city of Bemidji, did not make a great hit with his fellow townsmen by voting for the Bjorge tonnage tax bill. This bill, in the event of its becoming a law, would have injured the interests of the entire northeastern part of this state. Bemidji would have been included in the section of the state that would have felt the ill-effects of the bill. Therefore the fact that a man from Bemidji voted for the bill, hasn't exactly pleased his constituents. If the governor hadn't vetoed the bill, the position of this man would have been rather embarrassing. Even as it is, he has made no hit with the people who sent him to the legislature by thus voting for a measure that would have resulted in injury to the section of the state that he represents."

Judge Thomas Brady of Hibbing, who was at the St. Louis and who is manager of the Hibbing baseball team, stated that Hibbing will be represented upon the diamond by the fastest aggregation in the northern part of the state, and that the team that Hibbing will place in the field this year will be the best team that it has ever had.

Judge Brady expressed the hope that Virginia would finally see some possible chance of placing a team in the field, as without the aid of Virginia in sustaining interest in the sport, baseball would not have the standing that it would with the great rivalry between the two towns. And, then, too, the judge admitted that the people of Hibbing were just naturally longing for the opportunity of getting back at the Virginia people for the rude way they treated the Hibbing fans last year. The baseball fans upon the range have a long memory, and the incident of the lifting of the Healey cup will not be forgotten by the Hibbing fans for some time.

The Tale of a Tub.
(Not by Dean Swift.)

Faith, Molly O'Neal,
Why should you conceal
A face that no artist could flatter?
There's no hint of your nose—
Your chin's all that shows
Since my colleen's become a tub-hatter

No longer your eyes
Seem to mirror the skies
When those heart-killin' glances you scatter;
'Tis a cave that's come down
To the neck of your gown—
Why should Molly become a tub-hatter?

If your face were not fair
Sure nobody would care,
As to church of a Sunday you patter,
But for you to be hid
In a laundry-style lid
Is sheer cruelty, charming tub-hatter.

So, Molly O'Neal,
Give your lad a square deal—
Don't stamp, and declare 'tis no matter—
Or perhaps, jealous miss,
He'll be stealing a kiss

THE WEATHER.

CLOUDY

Last night was cold—very cold for this season of the year, and Duluth people shivered in spite of the clear, dry air. Today it is a little warmer, and still fair and bright, although the weather man looks for cloudy weather.

A year ago today there was a northeaster blowing.

The sun rose this morning at 5:05 o'clock and will set this afternoon at 7:07, making fourteen hours and two minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Somewhat colder weather attends a rise in pressure over the Upper Mississippi valley and western lake region. Freezing temperatures prevail throughout the Northwest and southward to and including Nevada, Utah, New Mexico, Kansas and Oklahoma. During the past twenty-four hours snow or rain fell over the upper lake region, Ohio and Lower Mississippi valleys, Middle Atlantic states, Colorado, New Mexico and Alberta, due to barometric depressions central over North Carolina and the extreme Northwest. Warmer weather prevails in the Dakotas, Saskatchewan and the plateau region, attending a fall in barometric pressure. This rise in temperature should reach the Head of the Lakes tonight."

Following were last night's lowest temperatures:

•••The Marine bank, which will open its doors on April 10, filed articles of incorporation yesterday. The capitalization is $100,000, which the incorporators state will in a few months be increased to $250,000, at least. Stockholders are Frank Osborne, H. D. Sizer, S. H. Robbins, Edwin Saeger, all of Cleveland; C. E. Shannon, James Billings, Wilmot Saeger, George A. Elder, I. H. Bradford, H. A. Wing, S. F. White, all of Duluth. The officers will be: James Billings, president; Wilmot Saeger, cashier.

•••The injuries sustained by W. E. Richardson yesterday were much worse than was supposed at first. Both arms were broken at the elbow joint. Every day for a month he will have his arms unbound and reset at different angles, a most painful process, and it will probably be several months before he will be out again.

•••Prof. A. H. Wigdahl, who has been very ill for some time, is very low and may not live more than a few days.

•••Both houses of the Minnesota legislature adjourned sine die at noon today. The Keyes bill, applying the Australian system of elections to all cities of 10,000 or more inhabitants, was passed and signed by Governor Merriam. The Duluth & Winnipeg land grant forfeiture bill was indefinitely postponed by the house.

•••The Baptist reunion at the First Baptist church last evening was largely attended. Z. D. Scott read the early history of the church from the records. A. R. McDonald responded to the toast, "Our Brothers-in-law." Prof. Rudolph gave a recitation. W. B. Patton made an address on "Our Outlook." Music was furnished by the choir of the First church, consisting of Messrs. McEachran and W. P. Hurlbut, Mrs. Dr. Bowman and Mrs. E. McIlroy. Rev. G. H. THE TONNAGE TAX VETO

Crookston Times: There can be no question but that Governor Johnson has materially increased in the estimation of every citizen who forgets politics and regards a public official as an individual with a mind and a judgment of his own. The governor was confronted with a situation that required the use of considerable backbone and nerve, and he has acquitted himself with great credit. He believed that the tonnage tax measure, which was sent up to him for his endorsement, was unjust, and a statute which was not required and would serve no good purpose; that it was aimed against the best interests of the state and would materially hamper the better development of a section of the state which at the present time should be given consideration.

On the other hand, there was no question but that from the political viewpoint the tonnage tax was popular. It had a hold upon the people simply because it was seemingly aimed against a corporation, and had been used by politicians and demagogues to arouse public opinion. They gave no consideration to the merits of the bill; no thought as to its justice or the effect it would have on the future of Northern Minnesota. Many said the governor would not have the nerve to return the bill to the state legislature with his veto. Irrespective of party and irrespective of our opinion as to the merits of the measure, we should take some pride in a state executive who is not afraid to state his position, notwithstanding to many it may appear in the light of a political blunder. The governor did right in vetoing the bill when he could not give his personal endorsement to it, and the people of the state should give him credit for his independence.

We are of the opinion that the tonnage tax bill was intimately connected and associated with the development of the entire northern section of the state, and had it become a law it would have been a factor in interfering with the plans already made for the establishment of an industry which will have a direct bearing upon the future growth and development of Northern Minnesota from the Red River of the North to Lake Superior. There can be no doubt but that it would have materially affected Northeastern Minnesota, and we are of those who believe that what affects a part affects the whole. With greater development in Duluth and the range country, we believe that the Red River valley and Polk county will be benefited, and consequently the governor, in coming to the aid of Duluth and the surrounding territory, has also given something to this section of the state which will result to its benefit.

Cambridge Independent Press: The hostility displayed by the people of St. Louis county to the Bjorge tonnage tax bill was the outcome of either a wonderful unanimity of conviction or else extravagant testimony to the skill and ingenuity of interested parties in manufacturing and fostering false public sentiment. We prefer to accept the former, and to think that the people of Northeastern Minnesota really believed that the Bjorge bill, if made into law, would spell ruin to that section of the state. The bill passed the senate Friday night and the governor held it until Tuesday before returning it to the legislature without his approval. The veto message does Mr. Johnson credit. He gives his reasons for not signing the bill, and to those who were opposed to the change in the system for taxing the ore of the state they will seem good and sufficient. The supporters of the measure will soon, if they do not already, realize that no harm will be done by its failure to become law at this time, and when the question again comes up—if it ever does—the people of the state will be far better qualified than they are at present to answer it intelligently and satisfactorily.

Virginia Virginian: By his action Governor Johnson has risen to the height of a statesman. A man who will use the veto power in such a situation to save one section of his state from being plundered by the whole state through an unjust taxation measure is big enough to be president.

Eveleth News: When the reliable news did arrive yesterday noon, the happiest men were those who had supported Governor Johnson for three campaigns, because they had faith in his honesty and confidence in his judgment. They had cause to be considering the fight that was waged on the governor, when it was crammed down the necks of everybody that a vote for him meant a vote for the tonnage tax. Even his words defining his position were, and have since been, misquoted and garbled by feeble intellects.

St. Cloud Journal-Press: Governor Johnson can have the St. Louis county delegation in his candleacy for president. And if he should be the Democratic nominee, the Republicans will have to keep awake to prevent his appropriating the electoral vote.

DULUTH AND THE HERALD.

St. Peter Free Press: One of our best exchanges is The Duluth Herald. Of course it is a little daffy on matters pertaining to the steel trust, especially on the taxation of iron ore, but in most other respects it presents and discusses questions of the day with an independence rarely met in a Democratic party paper. Besides it is newsy and metropolitan throughout. The Herald would be a credit to any large city.

Mankato Free Press: The Herald says: "These are genuine spring days in Duluth." We would like to take your world for it, but you'll have to show us first.

Stillwater Gazette: The Duluth Herald evidently is not much alarmed at the ordinary wolf as it is at what that paper terms the 'gray-wolf" that is now howling and howling, but insists upon coming right in and sitting at the council board.

Roseau Times: If there was any legislation the present legislature understood it was the "tonnage tax on ore." So great was the knowledge of the prairie member on this matter, that all the arguments of the representatives of the iron ore industry fell like cotton flakes on the hirsute and unembellished heads of these devoted statesmen. Alas, Duluth! Woe, Iron range!

Itasca News: April 17th brings not the first rain shower, still Duluth will claim swarms of canaries—feeding on snow flees.

Ely Miner: And now comes Rabbi Lefkovitz of Duluth and says the Jews did not crucify Christ, and that the teachings of the Sunday schools and churches are not Christian in this respect as creating a hate for the Jewish race

Two Harbors Iron News: Duluth has passed an ordinance that hits the right spot. This makes it a misdemeanor punishable by a fine or imprisonment for a boy between the ages of 18 and 21 years to go into a saloon and misrepresent his age in order to obtain a drink of liquor. This places the responsibility where it properly belongs. If it is wrong for a boy to drink in saloons, and it undoubtedly is, then the boy is at least equally guilty with the man who sells it. This will also do away with the sending of boys to saloons by so-called detectives to buy liquor in order to trap the saloonkeeper.

Le Sueur Sentinel: The Duluth Evening Herald gives the following stages of intoxication; getting "an edge," "a gentle slant," "keyed up" "pickled," which is when his tongue gets tangled and he sees more than he ought to; and after that comes the last three stages, which get worse by rapid degrees; "loaded," "soused" and "paralyzed." These seven stages are said to include about all the symptoms an ordinary case will develop, and have been classified by some wise man of the Zenith City.

GUESTS DO NOT HURRY

Medley at Harcourt Reception "Stick" to Dinner Hour.

Alfred Vanderbilt Preparing to Create Quite a Splurge.

London, April 23.—Mrs. Lulu Harcourt has resumed her weekly receptions, which were interrupted on one or two occasions because she contracted influenza. These are parties of a semipolitical order and very catholic to which all and sundry may come. They are made up of ministers and their womenkind; labor members and their better halves, and very often the friends of the latter, altogether a fascinating and interesting medley where no one is dull. Mrs. Harcourt is one of those hospitable hostesses who do not put an hour of departure on their cards. The result is some people do not know when to go. At least the other afternoon there were some who apparently understood the invitation to mean a night's stay. They got fixed, some wit afterwards said, "near a glue pot."

The Harcourts were giving a dinner party that evening and a royal princess was to be among the guests. Mrs. Harcourt's frame of mind can be realized when at 7:30 some of these awful people were still sitting in her drawing room. Like the typical husband, "Lulu" does not always show up at his wife's afternoon parties. As a matter of fact, he had spent the greater part of the time in the square playing with his two little girls, seeing the guests come and go. He went in when he thought they had all cleared, only to hear the voices of the freezers-on talking animatedly. Feeling it his duty to help Mrs. Harcourt out of the difficulty he went to the drawing room and was button-holed. They wanted to know all about the naval vote of censure on the government.

The poor hostess wandered about the room frantic, kept looking at her watch, and still they would not go. At last an idea struck the butler. He thought that if he sounded the gong they would think it was the announcement of dinner and leave. Not they. They still stuck. Seeing this the resourceful servant entered and said to his master, "If you please, sir, a fire has broken out upstairs and we have telephoned for an engine." Still loth to depart, the undesirables suggested that they would go upstairs and see what could be done. At this juncture a junior servant appeared and explained that the fire had been put out, but that Mrs. Harcourt had fainted, overcome by the fright and that she wanted her husband. Then and then only the guests departed.

Leader of British Society.

Lady Lister-Kaye has been always somewhat overshadowed by Consuelo, duchess of Manchester, her more beautiful and more witty elder sister, who, in spite of all newcomers, remains par excellence the hostess of kings, the first favorite of society; practically the leader of British society. Nevertheless, Lady Lister-Kaye is having her innings just now and has been doing a great deal of entertaining. Her dinner for the prince and princess of Wales the other night was the biggest thing she has done yet. Those who understand the inner workings of society and the idiosyncrasies thereof consider that it is in many ways a greater privilege to entertain the princess of Wales than the king or queen. The princess, of course, knows all the American best set in the ordinary way, but on her private visiting list there are not half a dozen names of Americans. Among this privileged half dozen is the evergreen Consuelo, duchess of Manchester, Lady Lister-Kaye and Lady (Arthur) Paget. She has a special regard for the last two. Lady Lister-Kaye was the only American who was asked to Marlborough house to the exclusive dinner party given by their royal highnesses this week.

Vanderbilt Coach Still Popular.

Alfred Vanderbilt has taken a house up the river near Henley—a beautiful place, owned by Lord Egmont—where he will entertain when the time comes. It is being decorated regardless of expense. The houseboat he intends to have afloat will be a thing of beauty and joy for the season. He hopes through it to revive the lost interest in houseboats. A special band has been engaged for him to entertain his guests both in Piccadilly, where his flat is situated, and on the Thames. He has the same suite of rooms at the Metropole, Brighton, which he occupied last season. Owing to the visits of King Edward to Brighton, the place is more popular than ever, and the influx of visitors for the coaching time will be, judging by the booking, phenomenal.

Already people are clamoring for tickets for the coach. Some of the philanthropic societies have suggested to the millionaire that he should accept the "fancy" prices which he might have without the slightest trouble for the drives, and to hand over the same to them, but it appears that Alfred says that would not be "cricket," and has declined the hint, remarking that he would far prefer to give a check of his own than defraud the public.

No Interest in Motor Cars.

A London motor firm has received instructions to send down to the place at Henley half a dozen of their best cars, and a garage is being built in the grounds.

According to his friends, this multimillionaire gets tired of everything except horses. Motoring has practically no interest for him, and the cars he has ordered are for the accommodation of his guests. He is a host en prince, nothing being good enough for his guests. Numbers of the "sponger" order got hold of him last year and had the time of their lives. The stock that is in the background awaiting his arrival just now has increased considerably, and it is said to include a good portion of the more dangerous order of the "shark" variety. Where money is concerned he has his head screwed on fairly level, and loses very little to sharpers, so he may be trusted to take care of himself.

"BEAUTIFUL FACE AND NO MORE WRINKLES"

FREE BEAUTY COUPON
FOR HERALD READERS.

Arrangements have been made with Harriet Meta, World's Famous Beauty Specialist, of Paris, London and Syracuse, N. Y., to furnish free particulars to all readers of The Duluth Herald in regard to what is believed to be the most remarkable method of removing wrinkles which has ever been discovered.

Mlle. Meta has been awarded nine Gold Medals by Paris, London, Brussels, Rome, and other International Expositions on her great Beauty discoveries. The French government has honored her with a Patent on her wonderful new process for removing wrinkles, and patents are also now pending before the United States government at Washington.

Mlle. Meta is, herself, a living example of the great power of her remarkable beauty-making discoveries. By many she is considered the most beautiful woman in all Paris.

She took her own wrinkles out in three nights by her new discovery over three years ago, after face massage, masks, straps and steaming pots had all failed to remove them, and her skin today is still soft and smooth; her face beautiful, and she has no more wrinkles. But best of all, her discovery not only succeeded in her own case, but it seems to have worked even more astonishing results in the cases of others.

Mrs. Mary J. Davis of East St. Louis, Ill., says: "My wrinkles were very deep and of long standing, so you can imagine my surprise when, after only two applications, they entirely disappeared." Mrs. L. E. Haskell of 2502 Clay street, San Francisco, Cal., writes: "I am 50 years old, consequently my wrinkles were of long standing, and I had not thought it possible to erase them, but now, when I view my changed reflection in the mirror, I can scarcely realize the transformation that has been wrought."

Mrs. M. A. Edwards of Raleigh, N. C., says: "I look younger than I did 25 years ago." Mrs. Nellie W. Hoyt of Brooklyn, N. Y., writes: "Your treatment has removed every mark and blemish from my face, and filled out the hollow places, giving it a most natural tone."

No other Beauty Specialist, living or dead, has ever been honored by gold medals from International Expositons, and patronized by Countesses and ladies of high title and rank to the same extent that Harlett Meta has been.

You will never again have the opportunity of consulting a Beauty Specialist of such world-wide reputation as Harlett Meta. Therefore, be sure to cut out and use the below Free Coupon today. You need send no money, not even a postage stamp, but merely enclose the following coupon in a letter addressed to Harlett Meta, Syracuse, N. Y., and you will receive an answer in a plain sealed envelope.

ENGLAND IN BLUE FUNK

German Scare Has Even Made Impression on Smart Society.

First-Aid Tea Parties Are Fad of the Moment.

London, April 23.—First-aid tea parties are the fad of the moment in high society. Mrs. Lulu Harcourt, niece of J. Pierpont Morgan and the wife of one of the leading men of affairs in England, and Mrs. George West, one time Lady Randolph Churchill, also an American, are responsible for the latest vogue. At the present moment it is considered imperative by every society woman that she know how to manipulate bandages, treat wounds and behave generally toward the injured pending the arrival of the doctor.

The reason for all this is to be found in the ceaseless talk about the coming German invasion of England. The whole country, including the staidest members of the house of commons and the house of lords, are in a blue funk because there is a remote possibility that some three years hence the kaiser's fleet of Dreadnoughts might approach in number that of John Bull. It used to be openly boasted that an Englishman was worth ever so many men of any other nationality, but all that is changed now, and it appears to be the general fear that if put to the test, it will take a couple of Britishers properly to handle a single foreigner.

First-Aid Lessons.

Lady Esher, wife of one of the king's chief advisers, has publicly announced a series of first-aid lessons, and her example is being followed by the upper ten. Famous medical men from Harley street and Cavendish square are invited to attend and give demonstrations to the would-be nurses.

A well-known English peeress, who has the fever bad, told me the other day that it was easy to get the big doctors to attend the classes, but the difficulty was in finding a volunteer subject for the demonstration. This is because there are no men in the world so afraid of ridicule as Englishmen and they think that their appearance in bandages and splints for imaginary wounds is likely to produce amusement. Occasionally, some self-sacrificing woman jumps up and offers herself as a subject, but not often. Even the domestics have resented bitterly being called upon, as they express it, to play the fool for a crowd of aristocratic onlookers. It is now the custom for hostesses to engage a district messenger to perform the patriotic part of being wounded for his country at half a crown an hour.

Fetching Uniforms.

At one aristocratic house, where the hostess and her audience take themselves seriously, they wear the most fetching uniforms. The gowns are of rich deep purple cashmere, the aprons exquisite things of lace and tucks, and cobwebby arrangements of the same rest on their perfectly coiffe hair. Little jabots of real lace and cuffs to match are added. The final touch is given in the chatelaine, which is sometimes of filigree silver and enamel. This contains a number of small instruments, including scissors, penknife, tape box, etc. These chatelains are now among the very smartest things which may be given as presents.

At the conclusion of the first-aid lectures, elaborate teas are served, and the guests are all expected to be able to discourse fluently on the characteristics of the respective navy and army of Germany and England. Everyone studies carefully the special articles appearing in her pet morning paper, and everything else she can get hold of on these subjects so as to express ideas and to impart information as it is her duty to do.

ATTORNEYS WILL NOT HAVE TO TELL WITNESS TO "SPEAK UP"

A new idea was adopted in preparing rooms on the second floor of the McDonald building, directly west of the police station, for municipal court purposes. The two rooms are different from any other in the city intended for a similar use.

The difference lies in the fact that the witness chair in each case is placed as far from the judge's desk as it can possibly be. The chair is placed close against the wall, while the judge occupies a chair in the center of the room. The two chairs are about ten feet apart.

The purpose of the new plan is to make witnesses speak loud enough so that not only the judge, but the attorneys and everybody else interested can hear what they are saying. The system also brings the witness far enough away so that, if he is particularly filthy, as is not infrequently the case in police court, the stench arising from his unclean person is gently wafted out the window, without tarrying around the judge's chair, and forcibly diverting his mind from the trial going on before him.

In the old courtrooms in the basement of the city hall conditions were different. In both rooms the witness chairs were placed close beside the judge's desk. The prisoner and the man deciding whether he was guilty or not guilty were snuggled up side by side. If the witness barely whispered, the judge could understand what he was saying, but the attorneys and other interested persons were decidedly up against it if the man or woman on the stand did not speak in a clear tone of voice.

Knowing their remarks were principally directed at the judge, the witnesses would appear to forget all about the fact that the attorneys were also there to hear what was going on, and would drop their voice so low that only his honor could hear what was going on. Time after time, during the progress of every trial of any length, it was necessary to call upon some of the witnesses to speak louder.

In the new rooms the witness, seeing the distance that separates him from the judge, naturally speaks loudly, so that his honor may hear, and if the judge hears, the attorneys and stenographer must also hear, for they are as near the witness as the judge.

IRISH EXODUS SHOWS DECLINE

Dublin, April 23.—Last year deserves to be marked as a red letter year in the Irish calendar, for not since the statistics of Irish emigration have been kept has the number of emigrants been so low as in 1908. It is probable, indeed, that the figures are the lowest for seventy years, for, according to O'Connell, the population of Ireland was falling rapidly before 1841.

The previous low-water marks since 1841 were in 1876 and 1895, but there were 9,000 fewer emigrants in 1908 than in 1898, and the emigration rate last year was only 5.3 per 1,000, compared with 7.1 in the previous low-tide years. The decade of which 1908 was the closing year was also the lowest on record, thus proving beyond a doubt that the flow of population from Ireland has been permanently checked.

A remarkable feature of the emigration is that Ulster, which has always boasted of its prosperity, is now furnishing the greatest number of emigrants. Antrim, including Belfast, last year lost 3,365 of its inhabitants or about as many as all Leinster, including Dublin, and half as many as all Munster with two and a half times the population.

It is significant, too, that the majority of the emigrants were not skilled workmen from Belfast, driven away by the depression in the shipbuilding and weaving trades. They were chiefly farmers and farm laborers, and it must be remembered that the northeast corner of Ulster is the one part of Ireland that has not been seriously affected by the recent land legislation. Landlordism still flourishes in Ulster and the people are fleeing from it.

Of course the chief cause of the decline in emigration is the growing prosperity of Ireland, but in addition to this there is the growing realization that all is not so bright in the new countries as the people have been led to imagine. A striking lecture on the subject was delivered at Cork a few days ago by Rev. M. Phelan, who declared that the display of wealth made by the one returned exile was often accountable for a great deal of the unrest among our people. They never heard, however, said Father Phelan, of the submerged ninety-nine who are dying in poverty and squalor in the slums of the great American and colonial cities. A display of pictures which told the truth about conditions abroad would do much to counteract the display of fine clothes and jewels and the lying letters boasting of nonexistent wealth.

TOO MUCH WINE IN ITALY.

Rome, April 23.—Discussion in the chamber of deputies on the reduction or abolition of the duty on corn has aroused a considerable amount of interest, but, as was expected, the government has refused to sanction either proposal.

The question, like most economic problems in Italy, is complicated by the difference between the North and the South. The North wants the duty removed, the South desires it to be maintained, while the Ministerialists emphasize the difficulty of meeting the large expenditure on the public service without it. Their remedy is that Italy which now produces more wine than she can sell and less corn than suffices for her wants, should diminish her wine-growing area and increase her cornfields, but in order to induce the farmer to do this he must be protected against the foreigner.

It is pointed out by the Protectionist party that when in 1898, under the influence of the labor riots of that year, the Rudini cabinet reduced the duty on corn, the reduction in price to the consumer was small; the middleman profited, the state lost, and the people remained much in the same position as before. The bread question is further affected by the recent law prohibiting baking at night, with the result that for his breakfast the consumer has to eat bread that is not only dear but also stale.

GOVERNMENT BLAMED FOR BAD NAVAL CONDITIONS.

Paris, April 23.—Much has been said of late, publicly and otherwise, of the weakness of the government of France, the rotten condition of the navy, armaments, etc. Doubtless many factors have contributed to bring about these conditions, but an eminent Frenchman, in talking over the matter this week, remarked that the French government was much more occupied in keeping power than in maintaining the strength of the army and navy.

The council of ministers, he said, meets nearly every week at Mme. Sorel's of the Comedie Francaise. Mme. Sorel, it appears, was a bonne amie of President Felix Faure, and Felix Faure got her into the Comedie Francaise. At first she could not act at all; but she is a woman of great personality, and soon she began to show a real aptitude for certain roles. She is now perhaps the best exponent of the coquette on the French stage. Not only does more than one minister consult her, but it is a fact that the council of ministers meets very frequently at her house. Mme. Sorel is a sort of feminine prime minister and she undoubtedly has a good deal to do with the government of the country.

DOG SMOTHERED A BABY.

Paris, April 23.—The danger of leaving infants alone in their cradles in a room with dogs or cats has been exemplified once more in the case of a poor family of charcoal burners near Coulommiers.

After their mid-day meal the parents went into the forest to resume their work, leaving their little daughter, Suzanna, aged 3 months, sleeping in her cradle, under the protection of two dogs. No sooner had the parents gone than one of the dogs leaped into the cradle and curled itself up to sleep on the top of the infant. When the father and mother returned some hours later they saw the dog jump from the cradle and run out of the door. The mother hurried to her infant, only to discover, to her horror, that the poor little one was dead, suffocated by the weight of the dog lying upon her for some hours.

In the Great Southwest

The Southwest is growing rapidly. Thousands have taken advantage of the low fares in effect on "Homeseekers' Dates" and made a trip of investigation to the Great Southwest.

They were amazed at the evidences of prosperity which abound on every hand. They saw for themselves the great promise the future held in store, and they decided then and there to stay. Today many of them are independent and men of influence in their respective communities; others are on the road to prosperity and independence.

We Sell to Mothers Who Know

We would sell all the boys' clothes in town if all mothers knew the truth.

For we control the XTRAGOOD line—the Ederheimer-Stein suits for boys. No other boys' clothes give so much for the money.

The makers of XTRAGOOD specialize in clothes for young folks—they are tailors to young men and boys.

They have built up a business of 500,000 suits per year by excelling on these lines alone.

The trousers are lined in every XTRAGOOD suit for boys. That more than doubles the life of them.

One-third more cloth is used in XTRAGOOD suits than the common. That's so the boy won't outgrow them.

No suits pay the maker or dealer less profit. But you get twice as much for your money.

And the styles are distinctive. Pick out any specially well-dressed boy and you'll find he wears an XTRAGOOD label.

You are wronging yourself and the boy when you get an inferior suit. Come and see the XTRAGOOD. We've a wealth of styles and sizes.

A MONUMENT FOR COLUMBUS

Columbus, Ohio, April 23.—The unveiling of a beautiful monument to Christopher Columbus in the capital city of Columbus, Ohio, the largest city in the world which bears the name of the great discoverer, is planned as a feature of the first centennial celebration of the Knights of Columbus, in 1912. If the passage of the bill in the national congress making Oct. 21 a legal holiday, to be known as Columbus day, is secured on that date, commemorating the anniversary of the discovery, will be selected for the ceremonies incident to the unveiling.

John A. Connor, grand knight of Columbus Council, No. 40, K. of C., has announced his intention of bringing the matter before the next state convention of the knights and interesting them in it. He feels confident that every Knight of Columbus in the state of Ohio will lend his assistance to such a project and hopes that the Ohio knights will become sponsors of the movement.

The erection of a monument to Columbus has been informally discussed in local council gatherings for the last two or three years, but no formal action on the matter has ever been taken. Mr. Connor has addressed a letter to the knights on the subject, and says in part:

"No man has done so much for the world and specially for us who live in the Western Hemisphere, as Christopher Columbus, and no man in history has received so little credit for the work he has accomplished. He was unintentionally robbed of the distinction of having one of the largest continents of the New World named after him.

"Not even an island, be it ever so small, in the oceans and seas surrounding North and South America, bears the name of Columbus. There are several cities in North America that have the distinction of bearing his name; and the largest, richest and most populous is the city in which we live. It is surely a rare distinction for Columbus, Ohio, to have said of it that it is the largest and most prominent place in either of the New or Old World that bears the name of the great discoverer.

"And yet, admitting all this, there is not even a plain shaft of granite or marble in this city commemorating the achievements of Columbus. Why is it that this man is so little honored, not only in this city, but throughout the country at large? There can be but one answer to the question and it is this: Our people are not public-spirited enough to advance and insist upon the honors to which his memory is entitled.

"There is no more appropriate city in the state, in fact, in America, North or South, to erect a monument to the discoverer of this country than in the largest city in the world which bears his name.

Members of the Knights of Columbus residing in Ohio will endeavor to secure an appropriation from the the state legislature for the purpose of erecting the proposed monument.

REMOVAL OF SILK PLANT

From France to America Is Due to Protective Tariff.

United States the Best Market for Its Own Goods.

New York, April 23.—Some weeks ago I referred to the removal of a very extensive lace manufacturing plant from France to this country, and now it is announced that a large silk manufacturing plant from the same country is about to move to the United States.

It is said the owners control a capital of about $10,000,000, and that the combination includes dyeing, weaving and finishing establishments of a high standard of workmanship.

It is thought that most of the working persons can be found in this country, but workmen will have to be brought to the United States in order to teach our silk workers some of the latest methods of foreign manufacturing of the silks.

One of the gentlemen interested in the project of bringing these manufacturing plants to this country said, relative to the subject:

"The United States has been the greatest silk buying country in the world for many years, and it has been here that the French manufacturers have had the greatest market for their goods.

"They have had to face the tariff, however, and that means a tremendous lessening of their profits.

"That has been the principal reason for the decision to transfer their works here."

The gentleman evidently meant to express the idea that if the goods are made here their profits will be greater, owing to the protection offered by the tariff.

The removal of these works to the United States will give employment to several thousands of employes, even if it does not give silks at lower prices to the people of the country.

It means more work for our own people and will save for the home market several millions of dollars that our people annually send to France for these same silks that it is proposed now to manufacture here.

Need For Imports.

Our progress in manufacturing is so advanced in many articles that it is not necessary to import them now, where years ago they made large contributions in duties to the United Sates treasury. It would seem from our extension in the line of manufactures and developments in our new possessions of tropical productions, that our home supplies will shut out importations to a greater extent every year and that finally the custom duties will dwindle so that internal taxation will have to be laid upon the people with a heavy hand.

We have so many things to protect and so few things to come in that we do not produce that when importations cease by reason of our own production of protected articles our customs duties will all be derived from articles we need and which protection will not give to us.

Then we will have a tariff for revenue only, for it will be levied on articles we cannot produce, and therefore cannot protect.

It will not be many years from now until other large manufacturers, like Carnegie and Schwab are doing at present, having made their millions and controlling natural supplies, profitable patents and immense capital themselves, will feel able to face foreign competition without protection, and if protection be cut down or taken completely off they would soon be rid of annoying competition in the United States and have to themselves the entire home market.

The French manufacturers of silks and laces are coming here to enjoy the larger profits accorded to them by our tariff.

They will give our people work. They will bring with them that which Carnegie had to first borrow, capital.

They will give our people good silks and laces produced in this country, and thus save our people's cash for home uses.

Will Aid Our Industries.

These are all excellent things for the United States under present conditions of the lace and silk industries in the United States.

But if these same lace and silk manufacturers grow wealthy through the great profits afforded by the tariff and obtain control of the natural supplies of silk and of profitable patents covering its manufacture, and we are at last able through their combination to face foreign competition and make profits without a tariff protection, would they be justified in demanding the repeal of the duties so they could absolutely destroy competition in the United States and have our home market at their mercy?

Humble petitioners for protection of one era may become industrial tyrants in a succeeding one.

Hunger may be appeased, but avarice is never satisfied.

The Long Island Railway company reports that during 1908, along its lines, outside of Brooklyn and Long Island City, there were 4,785 dwelling houses and more than 300 store buildings erected.

This will give the public some idea of the transformation that is taking place in the suburbs of Greater New York.

The sales of acreage to be subdivided and of subdivisions recently cut from acreage have been this week of great extent and immense value in the aggregate.

On Long Island alone they have run far higher than the million-dollar mark, and deals are now under negotiations there that will run above $5,000,000 in consideration.

In the Bronx on Thursday of this present week unimproved realty to the amount of $1,750,000 changed owners through one single transaction. Real estate in New York city suffered nothing during the panic through reduction of values. For several months it was dull, but very strong. Now it is becoming very active and values are climbing in every portion of the city itself, while Westchester, L. I., beyond the city limits, and New Jersey for miles away from the Hudson are each receiving hundreds of new settlers every day.

"Greatest" New York.

They may hold their state and county lines, but they are New York city today in thought, sentiment, work and policy as much as Brooklyn, Harlem or Staten Island. The steam lines, the bridges, the tunnels, the trolleys, bind them securely to this metropolis, and every month they are more closely tied.

Their realty is feeling the effects of the spreading out of the ever-increasing population, dependent upon the city and its business interests.

In every city and town of Connecticut and New Jersey can be found former residents of the greater city, and in their present locations, fixed in business locally, they still call themselves and believe themselves New Yorkers.

And why not? Trenton, Hartford and New Haven are within an hour's ride of city hall and Tammany's wigwam.

The New York morning dailies are at their breakfast tables and the numerous editions of the evening papers are delivered to them damp from the presses in New York city.

PRINCE TO TRAVERSE CONGO FOREST AFOOT.

Brussels, April 23.—Prince Albert of Belgium has started on the trip he is to make in the Congo. The prince intends to visit Rhodesia, then he will walk over 1,500 miles through the Congo forest to the source of the Congo river, which he will follow to Boma, where he is to arrive in August.

King Leopold at first refused to allow Prince Albert to go to the Congo, but the prince was inclined to disobey. The king then traced a program for the trip which would be comfortable and superficial, but Prince Albert wrote to his uncle: "I owe my people an example. If I do not go through the dangerous zone it is no use going at all. I want to see everything."

After that the relations between uncle and nephew were somewhat strained. The prince did not go to the Riviera to say good-by to King Leopold. The prince is accompanied only by two officers and a valet. At Broken Hill an escort of 300 men will await and escort him through the Congo forest.

MENINGITIS IN PARIS.

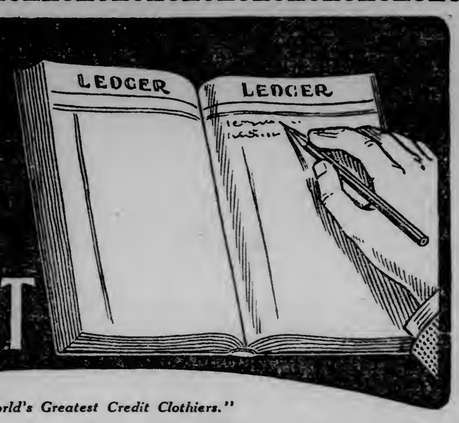

Ninety-Two Cases of the Dread Spine Disease.

Paris, April 23.—It is officially stated that there are at present ninety-two cases of cerebro-spinal meningitis in Paris and the suburbs, and that for the moment, the epidemic is slightly on the increase. The patients are being treated with serum discovered a few years ago by Dr. Wasserman of the Koch institute in Berlin. This remedy has for some time been successfully used in the French military hospitals and good results are expected from it upon the present occasion.

A Catholic missionary father who had contracted sleeping sickness during the course of his labors in Central Africa, was seized with a fresh attack in the Luxembourg gardens a few days ago and has succumbed to the disease at Pasteur institute. There are now fourteen patients in various stages of the sleeping sickness undergoing treatment at the institute.

INFORMS ON CONSPIRATORS.

Tutor Saves Son of Ameer of Afghanistan From Death.

Allahabad, April 23.—Further details have reached here concerning the conspiracy against the ameer of Afghanistan. It appears that when his majesty was about to leave Kabul for Jellalabad in January he directed that Sardar Umar Jan should accompany him. But the youth excused himself on the plea of illness, and remained at the capital with his mother, the Bibi Halima, who proceeded to work out a plot that had been arranged some time before. She had won over a number of ex-refugees belonging to the old Shere Ali faction, who had returned to Afghanistan a few years ago on the invitation of the ameer. The conspirators took an oath on the Koran binding them to secrecy.

The original idea was to poison the ameer, the heir apparent, Inayat Ullah Khan, and Sardar Nasrullah Khan, brother of the ameer. This plan fell through, however, and it was then arranged to take action on March 13 and to murder also the sipah salar, or commander-in-chief, who is grandfather of Inayat Ullah on the mother's side. There was to be an outbreak simultaneously at Kabul and Jellalabad.

Unfortunately for the conspirators, one of their number, a mullah named Siraj-ud-Din, informed Inayat of the plot. Siraj-ud-Din had been tutor to the young prince and could not bring himself to share in the murder. He furnished a list of those who had committed themselves to the conspiracy, and this was sent at once to the ameer at Jelabad. There were in the camp at the place about twelve men, including some young sardars, whose names figure on the list. These were immediately arrested.

Meanwhile at Kabul Inayat Ullah had seized the local ringleaders. Two of these the nazir safal and the naik kotwal of the city, were blown from guns on March 13. These measures, coupled with some executions at Jellalabad, seem to have been effective, for the plot failed completely.

HOW ROYALISTS GOT EVEN.

Paris, April 23.—By way of revenge for the trial and sentence of their comrades recently, some young Royalists who have been conspicuous in Paris lately, have treated M. Hamelin, the police magistrate, to a practical joke on a very large scale.

Throughout the whole morning there was a ceaseless procession of tradesmen and carts along the street in which had been ordered in his name. Among the goods that were collected at his door were six pianos, 200 bottles of cod liver oil, half a hundred weight of cabbage, and fourteen silk hats, and there were also a corncutter, and undertaker and an embalmer.

The public quickly gathered that the whole affair was the result of a prank and collected in large numbers round the house. A force of police was called to keep order and tell the tradesmen that the goods had not been ordered by the magistrate.

Weak Over-worked Women

Who are broken down and made invalids by the drudgery of never ending household cares and duties, or by over-frequent bearing and nursing of childern, and many other cares, burdens and strains which the weaker sex have to bear, are deserving of profound sympathy. But while sympathy is commendable what these unfortunate women most need is a good, honest, square-deal Restorative Tonic and Strength-giving Nervine and Regulator—one compounded and carefully adapted to act in harmony with woman's peculiar, delicate, ever sensitive organization.

Who so well fitted to select, carefully proportion the ingredients and compound a remedy for the cure of these distressing and often pain-wracking weaknesses and derangements, as the carefully and thoroughly educated and regularly graduated physician who has had a long and successful experience in treating just this class of cases.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

THIS MEDICINE IS

THE ONE REMEDY Now, and for over 40 years, sold by druggists for Woman's Peculiar Weaknesses, and Distressing Ailments, gotten up by one having all of the above qualifications.

THE ONE REMEDY which absolutely contains neither alcohol (which to most Women is rank poison) nor injurious or habit-forming drugs.

THE ONE REMEDY which is so perfect in its composition and so good in its curative effects as to warrant its makers in printing its every ingredient, as they do, on its outside wrapper, verifying the same under solemn oath.

In all the above most important particulars, the "Favorite Prescription" stands absolutely alone—in a class all by itself—as woman's most reliable and trust-worthy remedy in time of sickness and distress. It is a pure glyceric extract made from American curative roots, found by long time experience most valuable in curing woman's weaknesses and derangements. The leaders in all schools of medical practice have endorsed each of its ingredients as of the best known remedies for the complicated affections for which it is recommended. These professional endorsements should count for far more than any number of lay testimonials. A booklet full of them sent free on receipt of name and address.

GETS AN ORDER FROM THE COURT

W. J. Strickler Must Not Attempt to Take Son From Mother.

Fearing attempts on the part of her former husband, W. J. Strickler, to kidnap her 7-year-old son, Mrs. W. A. Loveland of 402 First avenue west, yesterday, through her attorneys, Ross & McKnight, obtained an order from Judge Cant of the district court, restraining Strickler from interfering with the child or attempting to take him from her custody.

Monday, Strickler, who was at one time the husband of Mrs. Loveland, and who is the father of the little boy, took him from school for a trip about town, but brought him back to the house. Yesterday, it was feared that he would attempt to kidnap him, and take him out of the city. Detectives watched, but nothing happened. Mrs. Loveland, however, decided to take action to insure her son's safety.

PATTEN IS OUT OF THE MARKET

At Least, That Is the Story Believed In the Pit.

Chicago, April 23.—That James A. Patten, hailed throughout the country as the wheat king has withdrawn from the market, after disposing of his heavy holdings of May and July wheat, is asserted in many quarters here. To this assertion verisimilitude is added by the fact that prices have tumbled over 9 cents in the last week, and that Mr. Patten himself has sought rest in the fastnesses of a New Mexico ranch.

Many a fortune has been wiped out by the decline this week, and many a man who had a handsome profit on paper, but still hung on for more, now confronts a deficit. There are many such. The wide publicity given the market brought into it many a man who ordinarily walked in quietr paths.

FAT AND THE DIRECTOIRE.

The coming season will be a hard one for fat ladies. The directoire mode endorsers already lift scornful eyebrows at such a plebianism as bulgy hips. Fat, in short, wheresoever it may be deposited, has merited great condemnation and is anathema. In Chicagoese, it's got to go.

Many minds—many methods. 1. Exercise. 2. Dieting. 3. Worrying. 4. Tight lacing. 5. Marmola. All these are suggested, but not all should be adopted. For instance, 1 and 2 are not easy, while 3 and 4 are not hygienic. Thus we set them on one side and consider Marmola.

What is it? A harmless powder obtainable of any good druggist, which, when mixed with ½ ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic and 2½ ounces Peppermint Water and taken after meals and at bedtime will, without causing any inner disturbances or outward flesh wrinklings, reduce the excess flesh, proportionately and uniformly, 12 to 16 ounces a day.

WIFE CHARGES INFIDELITY

Mrs. Thiel Files Answer to Her Husband's Complaint.

Counter charges against her husband, Carl Thiel, a Hibbing photographer, were made yesterday by Mrs. Carl Thiel in her answer to the divorce proceedings begun some days ago, by the Hibbing man.

She says that he forfeited her respect by having improper relations with other women, and recites incidents when and where the alleged misconduct on his part took place.

Mrs. Thiel says that she is destitute and has no means to defend the suit. She asks the court for a judgment for divorce, allmony and the costs and disbursements of the action.

In his complaint Mr. Thiel says that his wife deserted him over a year ago, and has since that time refused to live with him. Thiel is 49 years old and Mrs. Thiel is 43. They were married in 1884 and there are two children, one of whom is a minor.

LAST LECTURE IN AGRICULTURAL SERIES.

Prof. Freeman of the department of botany and plant pathology at the Minnesota state agricultural school, will lecture at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium tonight. His subject, "Farm Botany and Plant Diseases," is one of great interest at this season of the year. The lecture tonight will be the eighth and last of the series, and Prof. Freeman will go into his subject exhaustively. An orchestra will play between 7 and 8, at which latter hour, the lecture will begin.

Prof. Freeman is an authority in the field of botany, and plant pathology. He served for some time in the government department of agriculture. He recently resigned from that post to become an instructor in the state agricultural school.

Telephone In Asylum.

Newberry, Mich., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Upper Peninsula Hospital for the Insane here has been provided with a private telephone exchange connected with both the local and long-distance lines of the Michigan State company. There are forty-six telephones on the system, which serves every department of the big asylum, and is proving a great convenience. A similar system is in operation in the Marquette penitentiary.

PORK CHOP SHORTAGE

Loins Have Been Steadily Going Up in Price.

Higher Level Predicted By Packers—Produce Market Is Stronger.

Duluth faces a shortage of pork chops.

Pork loins have gone up again, and the packing house representatives surmise that the end of the rise in them has not been seen yet.

"I would not be surprised if there were times between now and the middle of August when it will be impossible to secure any pork loins at all in this market,' said one wholesale meat dealer today.

Quotations on pork loins have gone up a point in the local market this week. They are selling now at 13 to 13½ cents, which is considered a high price.

Receipts of hogs at the killing centers have been very light. The price of feed has been so high that the proposition of raising hogs for the market has not appealed to the agricultural mind as a profitable enough undertaking. The farmers have devoted their time to other things, letting the hog-raising go.

Lard has also gone up another notch. Lard is 12 cents a pound, instead of 11⅞ cents in Duluth today.

It will soon be cheaper to eat chicken than pork chops.

• • •

The rest of the produce market is on a higher price level than last week. Receipts of various commodities have been light, owing to unfavorable weather and a stronger tone to the quotations is inevitable.

• • •

Fresh eggs are up a cent, being quoted at 21 cents a dozen, instead of 20 cents.

• • •

The market for cheese is stronger. Full cream twins are quoted today at 17 to 18 cents, instead of 15 to 16 cents, and Wisconsin flats have undergone a similar rise.

• • •

Tomatoes are a bit stronger than they were last week, owing to a storm in Florida, which destroyed part of the growing crop. Still, everything considered, receipts have been good and prices are on a fair basis. They are quoted at $2.75 for six-basket crates.

• • •

Pieplant is arriving in large quantities now, from Washington and Illinois, and is selling wholesale at $2.75 for fifty-pound boxes.

• • •

Louisana and Mississippi continue to send some nice strawberries and they are listed at $2.75 per crate of twenty-four pints.

• • •

Oranges are still the big feature of the fruit market. The market for them is a trifle stronger, quotations today being $3 to $3.50 per box. The fruit is still of excellent quality.

• • •

Grape fruit is still plentiful in this market, at $5 a box and bananas are arriving freely at 4 cents a pound.

• • •

Apples are very firm. Stocks of them are diminishing and as of course, there will be no receipts of them until fall, the market is advancing. They are selling in Michigan street at $6 to $7 a barrel and $2 to $2.50 a box, according to the size and quality.

• • •

Potatoes continue to be very strong. Old stocks are selling here for $1.25 a bushel and new potatoes from Florida, and the Bermudas, are quoted at $8 a barrel.

• • •

Prices for other staples and green vegetables, remain unchanged from last week. Receipts have been good and prices are considered reasonable for this season.

• • •

Radishes, onions, lettuce, and other green stuff, are plentiful at last week's quotations.

• • •

Butter prices remain unchanged. Creamery prints are 30 to 32 cents a pound, and tubs 28 to 30 cents. The renovated variety is 26 cents a pound, and packing stock is a little stronger, at 17 to 18 cents.

• • •

Quotations on poultry and fish are unchanged.

"I'd Rather Die, Doctor,
Than have my feet cut off," said M. L. Bingham of Princeville, Ill. "But you'll die from gangrene (which had eaten away eight toes) if you don't," said all doctors. Instead he used Bucklen's Arnica Salve till wholly cured. Its cures of Eczema, Fever Sores, Boils, Burns and Piles astound the world. 25c at all druggists.

ONLY WOMAN WHO DREW PENSION AS SOLDIER EXPIRES.

Washington, April 23.—Mrs. Sarah E. Thompson, who is said to have been the only woman drawing a pension as a soldier of the Civil war, has succumbed to injuries received when she was knocked senseless in a street car accident. She was a native of Tennessee, and in the Civil war marched at the head of a troop of cavalry and discovered the whereabouts of Gen. John T. Morgan, the Confederate raider. For this service she was highly commended by Grant. For many years she held a clerical position in the postoffice department.

MORE IRON ORE WILL BE MOVED

Martin Pattison Says Last Year's Figures Will Be Exceeded.

Martin Pattison, who returned yesterday from a Southern and Eastern trip, says that in a conversation in New York with United States Steel corporation officials he was told that more ore would be shipped this year than last from the Minnesota ranges. Mr. Pattison says the business situation in the East appears to be steadily, if somewhat slowly, improving.

At Washington the mining men had a talk with Senator La Follette, who expressed himself as being of the opinion that it would be June before the tariff matters are disposed of. Mr. Pattison, who on his trip East and South was accompanied by his daughters, Misses Myrn and Lois, is well pleased at the stand Governor Johnson took on the tonnage tax bill.

The father and daughters visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frazer at Macon, Ga. Mrs. Frazer is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pattison. Mrs. Pattison, who had been visiting her son at Bisbee, Ariz., joined the family at Macon.

RICHARD CROKER IS BANQUETTED BY MACK.

New York, April 23.—Richard Croker was the guest of honor at a dinner given last night at the Hoffman house by Norman F. Mack, chairman of the Democratic national committee. Croker voiced his grateful appreciation of the welcome everywhere accorded him during his visit to the United States. He was pleased to realize, he said, that some of those who previously had most [illegible]nced him, now showed him friendliness.

VATICAN GALLERY OPENS.

Seven Rooms Filled With Works of Art—Addition Probable.

Rome, April 23.—The new picture gallery of the Vatican has at last opened to the public. Both the gallery and the arrangement of the pictures are in every way admirable, and Mgr. Misciatelli, who directed the work, may be warmly congratulated on the result.

The gallery is on the ground floor immediately below the Vatican library, between the Belvedere court and the outside road which leads to the entrance of the sculpture gallery. A handsome new doorway has been built in this road, so that the entrances to the sculpture and picture galleries are now but a stones throw from each other. The gallery, which is designated by the Architect Commendator Constantino Snelder, consists of an entrance hall, leading into five rooms on the right and three on the left. The rooms are all lighted on the east side, looking into the Belvedere court, their large windows being furnished with an elaborate arrangement of small blinds, which permits an exact moderation of light. They have also an excellent system of heating. The floors are parquet; the walls, which have a wainscoting of dark walnut-wood up to the height of three feet, are covered with olive-green moire silk, which makes an extremely good setting for the pictures. The vaulted ceilings are of white stucco, in the cinquecento style decorated with the arms of Pius X., whose bust, an admirable likeness by a German sculptor, stands in the entrance hall. Each of the rooms is provided with a certain number of seats, of a kind which is in strict keeping with the rather severe and restrained character of the decorations. In the center of some of them have been placed handsome marbles from the Vatican.

The most important feature of the art gallery is, of course, the new arrangement of the pictures, many of which, now brought together for the first time, have hitherto been hidden in various apartments and closets of the Vatican. This collection and arrangement is due to the late Prof. Seitz, formerly director of the old gallery, and Prof. Pietro d'Achiardi. At present there are seven rooms, to which another may be added later.

ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION —OF— HENRICKSEN CONSTRUCTION COMPANY.

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS. That we, the undersigned whose names are hereto subscribed, do hereby associate ourselves together and adopt and sign these articles for the purpose of forming a corporation, in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 58 of the Revised Laws of Minnesota, 1905, and all acts amendatory thereof and supplementary thereto.

ARTICLE I.

The name of this corporation shall be Henricksen Construction Company. The general nature of the business of this corporation shall be contracting and construction work, and to buy and sell or otherwise deal or to traffic in wood, stone, brick, cement, lumber and other materials and any of the products or by-products thereof, and any articles consisting or partly consisting thereof, to construct, purchase, lease or otherwise acquire buildings of all kinds and descriptions, bridges, machinery, ships, boats, ferries, docks, wharfs, elevators, mills, storage houses, manufacturing plants of all kinds and descriptions, and other equipment, to acquire, purchase, lease, own, hold, mortgage, sell and convey lumber and improved or unimproved real estate, and to construct, erect and operate thereon houses, buildings, manufacturing plants, machinery and appliances, and to buy, sell, exchange and deal in all kinds of merchandise at wholesale, retail or on commission, and do a general building contracting, construction, trading, lumbering, shipping and forwarding business, or any one or more or all of the same. Also to do and transact all kinds of business incident and necessary, convenient and expedient to be done in the acquiring, holding, selling and disposing of property of every kind nature and description, and in erecting and constructing all kinds of buildings, manufacturing and storage plants, wharfs, bridges, docks mills, and etc., and generally to acquire, hold, use and dispose of such property and do any and all things and acts usual, incident, necessary, convenient, expedient or conducive to the attainment of any of the purposes aforesaid, or to the conduct or management of the business of said corporation. The principal place of business of said corporation shall be Duluth, Minnesota.

ARTICLE II.

The time of the commencement of this corporation shall be May 1, 1909, and shall continue for a period of thirty (30) years.

ARTICLE III.

The amount of the capital stock of this corporation shall be Fifty Thousand Dollars ($50,000.00), to be paid in in cash and property, or both, at such times and in such amounts, and in such manner, as may be determined upon by the board of Directors of this corporation.

ARTICLE IV

The highest amount of indebtedness or liability to which this corporation shall at any time be subject shall be Two Hundred Thousand ($200,000.00) Dollars. No instrument evidencing indebtedness or liability or transferring real estate shall be valid without the signatures of both the president and secretary.

ARTICLE V.

The names and places of residence of the persons forming this association for incorporation are Marius Henricksen, Henry C. Henricksen and Helmer M. Wick, all of Duluth, Minnesota.

ARTICLE VI.

The government of this corporation and the management of its affairs shall be vested in a board of directors, all of whom shall be stockholders, and who shall be elected annually by the stockholders at their annual meeting to be held on the 16th day of February of each year, and in the president, vice president secretary and treasurer, who shall be elected by the Board of Directors at a place and in a manner prescribed by the by-laws of this corporation. The offices of secretary and treasurer may be held by the same person. The names of the persons forming the first board of directors are Marius Henricksen, Henry C. Henricksen and Helmer M. Wick, all of Duluth, Minnesota, and until their successors are elected the officers of this corporation shall be Henry C. Henricksen, President; Helmer M. Wick, vice president, and Marius Henricksen, treasurer and secretary.

ARTICLE VII.

The capital stock of this corporation shall be divided into five hundred shares (500) of the par value of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) each.

SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

TENNIS TO BE POPULAR

Game Is Expected to Boom This Year in Duluth.

New Cement Courts Are Being Built at Boat Club.

Tennis promises to be one of the most popular of outdoor sports in Duluth this summer, and there will be at least four places where it will be played in the city.

The Longview Tennis club has been reorganized for the season and it will be more active than ever. It is very popular in the normal school district, and has about fifty members.

The boat club is planning to put in three cement courts, replacing the old dirt courts, which proved rather unsatisfactory last year. If this is done, the boat club will have the best courts in this part of the country, and tennis should be a very popular sport among the club members.

At the Spirit Lake branch of the boat club, there are some excellent clay courts which will be in even better shape this year than they were last season.

And last, but not least, is the Northland Country club, where tennis loomed last year. The game got a footing among the club members, especially during the fall months, when a tournament was pulled off, and its popularity should increase this year.

With the four sets of courts in operation, the game should flourish this year, and it is likely that some tournaments will be arranged between the members of the different clubs.

The Endion club tournaments used to attract players from all parts of the Northwest, and if a combination tournament were arranged by the three clubs interested, it should be even more of a success.

If ever a moral were pointed in the game of athletics, we have that moral in the case of the white life of old "Farmer" Burns, the veteran Iowa wrestler.

The press dispatches yesterday morning contained the news of the ancient Burns person defeating one Carl Von Dellvuk, advertised as the Australian champion. If old man Burns is a day, he has turned the half century mark, and yet the old fellow is actively engaged in the mat game, and it really takes a good man to beat the original rube of wrestlers.

And why has the ancient Iowan lasted so long in the strenuous struggle of the lock game? The reason is very simple. Burns has never known the taste of liquor, tobacco, or indigestibles of any nature. He lives close to the bosom of old mother nature, and that appreciative old dame has allowed the Iowa farmer to travel along all these many years, without losing physical force or vitality.

Farmer Burns has been before the wrestling public for years. He has seen them go, and he has seen new champions come. He has seen the passing of Muldoon, Whistler, the Jap, Evan Lewis, the "strangler," and like the steady little brook, he keeps steadily on.

It would be folly to say that the farmer is as good today as he was ten years ago. But the mere fact that he is pinning "champions" shoulders to the mat at the age of 50 years shows what a clean life will do for an athlete. The farmer may not be the wisest person in the athletic game, yet he has learned one cardinal principle of the athlete's life, and his life should prove an example to many of the younger athletes before the public.

• • •

Lil' Arthuh Johnson has been grievously disappointed. It all happened in Pittsburg. You know that it is awfully smoky there, and when Johnson walked along the smoky streets of the stogie town, it was almost impossible for gaping pedestrians to distinguish the features of the ebony champion. It was planned to give a parade to the big black when he struck the town of the newly rich. But the futility of the whole show was borne in upon those who had the arrangements in hand, and the parade was called off. Johnson loves the spotlight of glaring publicity, and the dark and sooty atmosphere, offering a blurring background to the complexion of the champion, gave him little opportunity to burst studs in his bosom front.

The return of diminutive Johnny Evers to the Chicago Cubs was chronicled in yesterday's telegraph news. It will be joy and balm for wounded feelings to the legion of supporters of the Chicago team. There is only one second baseman playing ball that rivals little Johnny. That man is big Larry LaJoie. Many fans prefer the little chap's work to the elegant ease with which Larry performs at the mid station. There is a difference of opinion upon that score, but all agree that Evers is one of the greatest players the great national game has ever produced. And, withal, he has baseball brains of the high quality. It was Evers who saved the pennant for the Cubs, by taking advantage of Merkle's failing to touch second base in that memorable game at the Polo grounds last fall.

That is not mentioning the many other games that the little fellow has saved for the Cubs by brainy and timely plays. He is the brains of the Chicago infield, not forgetting the work of Frank Chance, and his return to the Cubs gill mightily strengthen the team.

Have you noticed the progress of the French brother? Henri St. Yves wins the Marathon derby. It was a sad day for the Irish, too. Maloney and Hayes also ran. But now, Henry Renaud, with the blood of the Gauls in his veins, trots home a winner in the Patriots' day Marathon run of the Boston Athletic association. There were American, Irish, German, English, Greek and Indian runners in the race, but the Renaud boy carried the honor of La Belle France well to the fore. With Larry LaJoie, St. Yves and a few other frog eaters breaking into the athletic spotlight, the Irish-Americans will have to look to their laurels.

And now scientific minds are turning their attention to the squared circle. By scientific use of oxygen, fighters are sent beyond the limit of their natural endurance. It is a grave question as to whether this fangled fad will prove a real benefit to the fight game.

• • •

It was Young Corbett who first introduced this idea, pumping oxygen into his exhausted body. When the conqueror of Terry McGovern is wont to feel himself sliding to the wobbly stage, he stalls until the end of the round. Then he runs one of his seconds get busy with the elixir of life stuff. By this method of recuperating an exhausted fighter, he is enabled to finish strong.

• • •

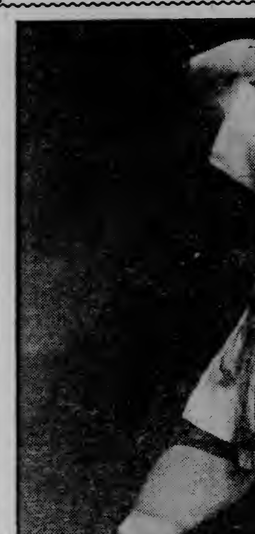

It is a question as to whether this doesn't hurt a fighter in the end. It is a mere or less artificial stimulant, and any athlete who carries his wanning powers along beyond their natural endurance by the use of artificial aid, is bound to suffer in the end. Mother Nature wont stand a jilt.

• • •

The other night in the gay capital of Paris, two big dinges fought for the "patty-du-foie" championship. The principals were Joe Jeannette of New York, N. Y., and Sam McKey of the boulevard de Honore, late of the stockyards, Cook county, Ill.

The fight lasted most of the night, fifty sessions weng the battle. Brother Joe saw many wobbly visions along in the interim between the twentieth and fortieth rounds. Then they began to pump oxygen into his dark frame, and brother Joe came back and rudely jolted brother Sam. It was another case of the oxygen. If this thing continues to develop, it may inspire some of the old champions to draw deeply of the oxygen pump and hurl challenges to the younger generation.

"IRISH GIANT" SNAPS LEGS WITH JIU JITSU

CAPT. LEOPOLD McLAGLEN.

Capt. Leopold McLaglen, an Irish captain in his majesty's imperial service, bearing a medal for royal service well rendered, and with an English walking stick and an English accent that smacks of Picadilly, don't you know, old chap, is with us.

"The Irish Giant," as the captain is known in many parts of the world, for he comes of Irish parentage, though educated in the schools of merrie England, is an exponent of the Jiu Jitsu style of self-defense. The captain explains that the game is not wrestling, but the art of self-defense.

The Japanese have it, that it is the weak protecting themselves. According to the genial captain's explanation of this game of leverages and knowledge of nerve centers, it is not a game for a man who has engagements for cotillions. A man is very liable to lose a limb in this kind of a game.

"Oh, yes, you are allowed to kick an opponent in the stomach; surely, that is part of the game?"

With that remark the captain lets you in on some of the little pleasantries of this Jiu Jitsu struggle.

Jiu Jitsu is a game that has come down through the centuries. It originated before the Christian era. It is that national style of self defense of the Japanese, and so complicated are the many holds, so great is the variety of attack and counter defense, that the captain says it requires years of study for a man to become proficient in the sport.

It's a fine game for Sweeney.

Capt. McLagen says that he could defeat Frank Gotch under the free-and-easy rules of the Jiu Jitsu game. But Frank avoids the Jiu Jitsu entanglement, according to the captain, as a colored brother would avoid the haunted graveyard, and after some of the explanations of the captain of the deadly holds and a few practical demonstrations, you will commend Gotch for having a cool and calculating noodle.

The captain wants to wrestle any five men in Duluth. He will guarantee to throw the quintet inside of half an hour. If the captain fails to throw the five men in the stipulated time, he stands ready to forfeit $500. He will deposit this money in the hands of the sporting editor of The Evening Herald, to be held as a forfeit for the five prospective opponents.

A great struggle was pulled off in Minneapolis only recently between the captain, who claims the Jiu Jitsu championship of the world, and a Jap.

The contest attracted a great audience. The captain will be here for some days, and would like to hear from five brawny mat artists. His wife is on the Bijou circuit, and will appear at the Duluth theater next week. Like her athletic husband, the captain's wife is engaged in an exhibition of strength.

Let the other fellow experiment. You buy the hat you KNOW is good.

FITWELLS CINCH THE PENNANT

Take Three Straight Games From the Central Team.

The Fitwell bowlers last night got a firm hold on the championship pennant for the season, by winning three straight games from the Centrals. Sam Olsen, for the Fitwells, carried off the honors of the evening by rolling 229 for high score, with an average of 211 for the three games.

The Fitwells won out by a comfortable margin in each game. In the first their total score was 932, and that of the Centrals was 861. In the second they rolled 976 and the others 917, and in the third the score was 900 to 791. This gives the Fitwells the championship for two successive seasons. Following are the scores for last night in detail:

CRICKET LEAGUE WILL HOLD MEETING.

Calumet, Mich., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The league officials of the Copper Country Cricket league have notified the teams that a meeting will be held tomorrow evening in the Arlington hotel, Red Jacket, for the purpose of reconsidering the division of the two sections of the league, known as the north and south.

The calling of this meeting is the result of of the recent agitation started by several of the teams, asking for a reconsideration, claiming that the decision made by the league would be to the disadvantage of all the teams.

It is believed that the league officials will reconsider the action of the previous meeting, and so arrange the schedule that each team can meet all of the others.

Under the system first proposed, it was decided to divide the league into two sections, grouping the teams in the north end of the county together, and doing likewise with the Portage Lake and South Range teams. At the end of the season, it was decided that a championship game be played between the winners of the north and south sections, respectively. This was feasible, but entirely against the wishes of many of the teams.

REDS WIN CLASH WITH PIRATES

Pittsburg Loses Season's First Game on Its Home Grounds.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 23.—The National league season was opened locally here yesterday with an exciting game at Exposition park. Vincinnati defeating Pittsburg by a score of 7 to 4, thus advancing into first place. A band concert was the only ceremony that marked the opening of the season. However, every one in attendance at the game was supplied with a whistle, and the many exciting features gave ample opportunity to start the season with plenty of noise.

Pittsburg made the run getting in the initial inning on a hit by Clark and Wagner's triple, but the visitors forged ahead in the third inning and kept in the lead until the eighth, when Manager Mergey allowed the home team two runs, placing them in the lead.

The hopes of the local enthusiasts were dashed to the ground in the final round, however, when Cincinnati made four runs on the same number of hits, coupled with three errors. Brandon was relieved in the sixth inning, as the heavy hitting of the opponents could not be stopped. Paskert played a splendid game for the visitors, making several sensational catches and hitting well. Score: R. H. E.

Cubs Wallop St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., April 23.—The Chicago team won the inaugural game of the season from the St. Louis team at the new league park 7 to 3. Mayor Kreismann pitched the first ball. More than 15,000 enthusiasts braved the unseasonable weather. Chance's men pulled the game out of the fire in the eighth, scoring five runs. They hit Salee freely and the locals hit at critical periods. Score: R. H. E.

Back Bay Crowd Whitewashed.

Philadelphia, April 23.—The Boston team was beaten in the opening game of the local National league season here yesterday, 4 to 0, before a large crowd. Covaleski was a puzzle to Boston, and only one of the visitors got as far as third base. Ferguson was wild, and the home players took advantage of his passes by timely hits. In the seventh inning Philadelphia made two runs on a double by Doolin, Covaleski's single, Grant's sacrifice and Knabe's double. The Philadelphia club yesterday announced the release of Third Baseman Hamilton and Catcher Christ to the Detroit club. Score: R. H. E.

Giants Win From Brooklyn.

Brooklyn, N. Y., April 23.—Twenty-five thousand spectators saw the season opened here yesterday, New York defeating Brooklyn, 8 to 5, in a game marked by hard hitting and plenty of errors. Ground rules, allowing two bases for a hit into right field, was enforced. The home team looked like sure winners until the seventh, when Alperman made two misplays which, with three hits and two passes, put the visitors in the lead. Murray's home run drive over the right field fence, in the eighth, clinched the victory. Ames was relieved in the sixth by Wiltze. Score: R. H. E.

HIGHLANDERS HOME, HAPPY

New York, April 23.—The New York Americans, making their first home appearance of the season yesterday, defeated Washington, 8 to 1. The visitors were unable to bunch hits on Quinn, while the home players were able to make their safeties count. Smith was found for five hits in the third, which, with a pass, netted the locals five runs. Engle led in batting with a single, a double and a home run, his home run being one of the longest drives ever made on the grounds. Score: R. H. E.

Long Game at Cleveland.

Cleveland, Ohio, April 23.—Cleveland's postponed opening of the season was held yesterday, only a small crowd being present. St. Louis won in the fourteenth inning on two bases on balls, La Joie's error and Perris' sacrifice fly. Joss and Graham were knocked out of the box. Bimingham's fielding twice saved the game and Clark's batting was a feature. Score: R. H. E.

Saints Lose to Millers.

St. Paul, Minn., April 23.—The American association's season here was opened yesterday, Minneapolis defeating St. Paul 1 to 0. Although the weather was cold, there was a large crowd, and both teams played fine ball. Hall and Oberlin both pitched good ball. Two singles and a fielder's choice gave Minneapolis the only run of the game in the second inning. Score: R. H. E.

Senators Lose in Thirteenth.

Columbus, Ohio, April 23.—In a game of high quality, the Columbus club opened its home season this afternoon and sustained its eighth straight defeat by a score of 0 to 2. Both the Louisville runs, for which Dunleavy made a start with a double, were scored in the thirteenth inning. Several times in the regular innings, a long fly would have given either side the lead. SPORT OF KINGS AT LEXINGTON

Ponies Are to Run on the Kentucky Track.

Lexington, Ky., April 23.—Tomorrow the racing season in Kentucky and the South for 1909 will be inaugurated here, the first of the best meetings ever held at the running course is expected.

More than 500 horses are stabled at the track, and every stall has been reserved by breeders from all parts of the country. Horses were shipped from Los Angeles and Oakland last Saturday, so as to be here to run in the coming meeting, which will continue for seven days. Six races will be run daily, with a total of $10,000 hung up in purses.

Former famous stakes have been cut out, as betting at Lexington and Louisville is conducted by the Parl-Mutuel system. As the machines are being tried for the second time, the meeting is something of an experiment financially. This meeting will be followed by one of eighteen days at Churchill Downs, Louisville, after which the Latonia Jockey club will cut in for a month, according to plans recently announced by the officials of that organization. The fate of Latonia, however, still hangs in the balance, but the court of appeals clerk has fixed May 4 as the day on which arguments in the case of the Latonia Association against the State Racing Commission would be heard at Frankfort.

Because of the unsettled condition of racing throughout the country, horsemen are hoping that the commission will be sustained by the appellate court, fearing that to inaugurate an all-summer meeting, as is said to be contemplated by Latonia in the event it wins the fight against the commission, will result in a law being passed at the next session of the legislature in January prohibiting the sport altogether in Kentucky.

CLOQUET Y. M. C. A. ATHLETES BUSY

Baseball and Other Sports Will Be Kept Up.

Cloquet, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a meeting of the athletic committee of the Y. M. C. A. the matter of summer outdoor sports was taken up. Dates were set for the spring track meet and plans made for the organizing of a baseball league the teams of which are to be made up of the members of the association. Four teams will be organized by a committee from the names of the members handed in. In this way evenly balanced teams can be put in the field, and as there are a number of good players the success of the league is a foregone conclusion.

A tennis club has also been organized and work on the courts will begin at once. In all probability a tennis team will be chosen to take part in the Duluth tournament this year and a challenge may be issued to some of the neighboring cities for team play.

The city baseball team will play its first game this season with a Duluth team, the name of which has not yet been given out. The prospects for a fast team are good. The players are all young, but are experienced.

The high school baseball prospects are the best they have ever been. All the old men, with two exceptions, will be in the game and the incoming freshmen of last fall brought some excellent material with them. Their schedule includes games with the Superior high schools and some of the range schools teams.

WILL HAVE A SHORT MARATHON

High School Boys to Run Six Miles Through City.

A six-mile Marathon race will be run this afternoon by a number of the high school boys who have been training for the long-distance runs.

They will start at the school, run up Lake avenue to Fourth street, along Fourth street to Eighth avenue west, up to Fifth street, west to Eleventh avenue and north to the boulevard. The rest of the run will be east along the boulevard and back to the school.

Coach D. W. Helstand and a party will follow the boys in an automobile. He does not know just how many will run. Only those who are in shape will be allowed the privilege, and those who show signs of fatigue will be picked up and not allowed to finish.

Track work is going along nicely at the school, and the coach is as enthusiastic over prospects for a winning team as are the boys themselves.

YOUNG CORBETT-KEYES.

Unless There Is Court Interference, Fight Will Come Off.

New York, April 23.—Unless there is court interference, Young Corbett and Bert Keyes will fight before the Fairmount Athletic club tonight. The bout is scheduled to go ten rounds. Corbett is a 5 to 4 favorite.

The manager of the club announces that there will be no police interference, as the club is protected by a permanent injunction and that the law governing membership will be strictly adhered to.

This statement of confidence is made in spite of the action yesterday of Magistrate Butte, who summoned the boxers and club officers to court, under the authority granted by the penal code, which authorizes a magistrate to issue a warrant when he believes a misdemeanor is about to be committed. A decision by the magistrate is expected today.

MAKES OFFER TO KETCHEL.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 23.—Manager McCarey of the Pacific Athletic club, last night wired Stanley Ketchel an offer of $10,000 to meet Sam Langford before his club in a ten-round contest. If the offer is accepted by the fighters, it will take place during the week of July 11, in connection with the festivities of Elks' week here.

BROOKSTON WILL HAVE FAST TEAM.

Brookston, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—A meeting of baseball enthusiasts was held at the B. L. A. hall Monday evening, when plans for the coming season were outlined. Plans were thoroughly discussed, and it was decided that Brookston should be represented on the diamond by a fairly fast team. W. A. Sippson was chosen as manager of the club, H. M. Wilkinson was selected as captain, and J. F. Ryan as treasurer. There are in the neighborhood of fifteen good ball players in and around the village, and there is no reason why a good team should not be selected. The grounds will immediately be put into first-class condition, and as soon as the weather permits the candidates for the numerous positions will be put through daily stunts under the watchful eye of Capt. Wilkinson, who will endeavor to pick out only the strongest and best material. It is planned to have the team play every Sunday throughout the season, and about half of the games will be played on the home diamond provided the necessary financial support is forthcoming. A committee of three has been appointed to solicit funds and this committee will commence work at once.

POLICE RAID CLUB.

New York, April 23.—A score of men were clubbed and twelve persons were arrested in a raid made early today by the police on the Carlisle Athletic club in Brooklyn. The police have been active of late suppressing boxing in these clubs, which they assert are not conducted in accordance with law. The managers of the club yesterday obtained an injunction from Justice Carr restraining the police from raiding the club as long as the athletic contests were held in accordance with law.

Runners in Readiness.

New York, April 23.—Henri St. Yves, the Frenchman, and Alfred Shrubb, the Englishman, have put on the last touches before their 15-mile race will be run under the glare of electric lights at Amercan League park, tomorrow night. The race will be started at 9:15, and will be run over a grass course, six laps to the mile. Interest centers in the contest, as it is a departure from the many recent full Marathon events, and because of the doubtful results. St. Yves demonstrated that he was a great runner by winning the $10,000 Marathon, but Shrubb has always maintained that he is the fastest 15-mile man in the world and that he can easily defeat the Frenchman at this distance.

St. Paul Player Hurt.

St. Paul, Minn., April 23.—While turning second base during the last play of the game yesterday, Outfielder Jimmy Murray of the St. Paul team broke a small bone in his left ankle, and will be out of the game for several weeks.

OLD FRIENDS MEET.

Al. Wilson and Audience Have Jolly Time at the Lyceum.

There was a family reunion at the Lyceum theater last night when Al "Metz" Wilson opened a half week's engagement in his new play "When Old New York Was Dutch."

Mr. Wilson is one of the old favorites and has been making Duluth for a number of years. His work is well known, and that he is one of the most popular players to make this city was evidenced last night, for the theater was well filled.

Mr. Wilson is a comedian of rare ability. He is so good natured, fits into his parts so naturally, that he sings, laughs and jests his way into the hearts of his audience.

He was never in better voice than he was last night. His new songs are a hit, and he sings them with ease and quaintness.

Last night he was encored repeatedly and was forced after the third act, to appear before the curtain and tell some stories.

The story of the play is laid near New York in 1661. There is a touch of burlesque melodrama, some real melodrama, a lot of comedy and just enough of the serious for a variation.

Mr. Wilson takes the part of Metz Von Freiburg, a happy, reckless, danger-loving, young devil, who can only be serious when he is forced to be, and who is the possessor of a wonderfully fine tenor voice.

It is from the beginning a story of love and romance, remarkably well told, and at all times interesting.

The real hit of the piece, outside of Mr. Wilson, is little Miss Olive Wright as "Kiddo Kip," described on the program as "a wee mite of a Dutch," and who takes the part of a privileged character in the play.

The stage settings and costumes are excellent. The play will be repeated tonight. Saturday afternoon and night.

"The Melting Pot."

Walker Whiteside and "The Melting Pot" should form an enjoyable combination at the Lyceum on next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The new play by Israel Zangwill, suggests the idea of an American race uniting Jew and Gentile. Mr. Whiteside is an actor who leans unswervingly toward the highest ideals. His persistence has cost him several fortunes. He clung to "Hamlet" and to that frequently unprofitable region, the "one night stands" for years, when his careful art, more tactfully managed, would have been welcome anywhere. Edwyn A. Barron "discovered" Whiteside some fifteen years ago in Chicago. Barron in his grandiloquent style observed "Mark you, my masters! If he lives he will rule us." Early this season Mr. Whiteside was rediscovered in Chicago by a new generation. And the joke of it all—a pathetic joke—is that Whiteside was just as good an actor fifteen years ago as he is today.

Bottle Floated 33 Years.

Bottles containing messages thrown overboard from vessels have been picked up after drifting about for long periods, but in all probability the bottle picked up last summer at a point in the Atlantic ocean, three miles south of Monomoy Point, Mass., holds all records. The paper within the bottle stated that it had been thrown overboard from the ship, "Hattie E. Topsley," April 13, 1874, a little eastward of the Cape of Good Hope. It will probably be interesting to know that you can find enjoyment in a bottle of Golden Grain Belt beer. Order a case and see for yourself. Order of your nearest dealer, or be supplied by Duluth branch Minneapolis Brewing company.

Brought Body From Alaska.

Wausau, Wis., April 23.—The remains of Fred Miller, whose body was found floating in a river at Katchikan, Alaska, and sent to his home here, were buried yesterday. Miller was seen alive an hour before his body was found, and it is supposed that he was a victim of foul play.

TO ENLARGE THE BASIN

Dredging Work in the Harbor Will Be Resumed Tuesday.

The work on the extension of the Duluth harbor anchorage basin, which was suspended last fall, will be resumed next Tuesday. One dredge will be used at first and another put on the work later. The plans contemplate dredging an area of about eighty acres, considerably more than half of which was done last summer. This work, when completed, will give anchorage area of practically 250 acres of a general depth of about twenty-two feet. It is expected that the work will be finished by the middle of the summer.

Col. Fitch, of the corps of engineers, is receiving numerous answers in reply to his letters sent out the first of the month, regarding the improvements in the river channel, all favorable to the project. It is proposed to deepen the channel from Spirit lake to the stone quarries above Fond du Lac, a distance of approximately nine miles. In the replies received by Col. Fitch, the general opinion is that the river channel should be deepened to twenty feet as far as New Duluth, and to ten feet from there to the quarries.

The time for a preliminary examination of that part of the upper harbor, has not yet been determined upon, but it will probably be made early in May.

SOO BREAK-UP IS EXPECTED

The break-up at the Soo is expected within a few days, according to telegrams received this morning by the local transit companies from their agents at that point. The weather is reported as warmer with the wind shifting to the south. The steamship Superior arrived at the Soo this morning and two more boats are expected there this afternoon, making a total of nineteen boats which will be anchored above the locks this evening.

Tugs at Round Island yesterday report downbound boats as fast in the ice about ten miles south of Whitefish Point.

FIRST STEAMER TO CROSS LAKE

Ashland, Wis., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Navigation on the southern shore of Lake Superior was opened today by the arrival here of the Charles O. Jenkins. The Jenkins cleared from Fort William yesterday, and is the first vessel to cross Lake Superior this season.

IMPROVEMENTS AT MARQUETTE

Col. Fitch Wants Opinions on Proposed Changes in Harbor.

Lieut. Col. Graham D. Fitch is anxious to secure opinions from those interested in the proposed improvement of the harbor at Marquette, Mich.

The act of congress approved March 3, 1903, provided for making a preliminary examination of the harbor at Marquette, Mich.

The duty of making the above preliminary examination has been assigned to Mr. Fitch, and it is expected that his report on the subject shall state whether or not any changes should be made in a certain plan which had previously been recommended for an extension of the breakwater.

Under an act of congress approved June 13, 1902, plans for the extension of the present breakwater for a distance of 1,500 feet were prepared by Capt. Potter in 1903, the estimated cost of which was $303,000. These plans were duly approved by the division engineer, by the board of engineers for rivers and harbors and by the chief of engineers. No appropriation has as yet been made by congress for this work of extension, but it is understood that parties interested intend to urge the passage of an item providing for this work by the next congress.

The proposed extension of 1,500 feet was in a direction due south from the end of the present breakwater, which would make it a continuation of the present direction.

A further study of the subject in this office since the preparation of the foregoing report, a period of more than five years, leads to the belief that a modification in the position of the proposed extension would be advantageous, namely, a deflection lakeward of the extension, that is in a southeasterly direction from the end of the present breakwater (instead of an extension in the present direction southward), as this would facilitate the entrance of vessels in heavy weather, and lessen the danger of their being thrown on the beach.

The need of providing greater safety to vessels in entering harbors has been emphasized in recent years by the difficulties experienced by vesseds at certain harbors on the lakes where there was insufficient room. The increase in the size of lake freight vessels which have been built, and is liable to continue in the future, adds to the necessity for more room in the harbor entrances.

At the north end of the harbor, and in front of the No. 4 ore dock, there is shoal water extending about 600 feet out from the harbor line, and covering an area of about ten acres, with a depth of less than twenty feet, and from that down to fifteen feet, as is seen on charts of the harbor.

This shoal was not an obstruction to the smaller vessels of earlier years, but is an obstruction to the larger vessels of the present time, and it is believed that it should be removed, as it would add materially to the available harbor room.

No dredging has been done by the government in this harbor, and there is no money nor authority for such work. Dredging, therefore, cannot be done without provision for same by congress.

Expressions of opinion are requested regarding this matter also by Col. Fitch, with a view to determining whether or not the removal of the shoal is a needed and worthy improvement.

Replies should be sent to him not later than by May 15.

A CLOSE SHAVE

Many of Them Happening Every Day But Soon Forgotten.

Close shaves would be of more frequent occurrence but for the tender faces of many men, which will not permit of shaving often. Heretofore, nothing has been said in these columns about poslam, a new skin discovery, in connection with its use after shaving. Its publicity and sales have been confined almost exclusively to its remarkable properties as an eczema cure; it stops the itching at once and cures the worst cases in a few days. While the application of poslam after shaving is one of its minor uses, such as for pimples, the complexion, etc., shavers will find it a revelation, as it does for abrasions, roughness, and severe scrapings what it does for all manner of skin difficulties—heals and cures in a few hours. It is the only article possessing real antiseptic and curative value that has ever been exploited for this purpose, and will soothe and tone up the skin as no toilet preparation could possibly do.

Poslam can be had for fifty cents at any reliable druggist's, particularly the Lyceum Pharmacy and W. A. Abbett's in Duluth, and Holmberg's in Superior, who make a specialty of it. Or the Emergency Laboratories, No. 32 West 25th Street, New York City, will send a trial supply free by mail to any one who will write for it. This is sufficient to show results in 24 hours.

HARBOR WAS FILLING UP

Government Must Do Lot of Dredging at Port Wing.

The government has entered into a contract with the Northern Dredge & Dock company tor the dredging and deepening of Port Wing harbor on the south shore. The work, which will be commenced at once, will cover a period of about two months.

G. A. Taylor of the government engineer's office and a party of assistants went to Port Wing Wednesday, making the trip in the government boat Vidette. They made a complete survey of the harbor, and found the entrance clogged with sand and a mean depth of but twelve feet of water inside.

The depth at the close of navigation last fall was about sixteen feet. It is the intention to dredge and deepen the harbor so that the work will not have to be repeated another year. The contract work will be done under the supervision of Col. G. D. Fitch of the Duluth office.

NEW FIRE TUG IS COMING HERE

The new fire tug McGonagle, built at Lorain, Ohio, for use at the Missabe docks in this city, will leave her dock at the former city for Duluth tomorrow morning. The new boat is one of the finest and most completely equipped fire tugs on the Great Lakes, and will aid materially in protecting water front property from heavy losses by fire. With the coming of the McGonagle, the tug America, which is equipped with fire fighting apparatus, and has been in use for some time at the Missabe docks, will go into service as a harbor tug.

ON WAY TO DULUTH.

Many of the vessels of the Pittsburg Steamship company's fleet of ore carriers have left their winter berths at various lake ports and are now on their way to Duluth. Ore shipping will begin as soon as the boats arrive. The company does not anticipate that the vessels will be held up at the Soo more than a day or two.

The John W. Gates is at present unloading coal at Detour. As soon as the cargo is discharged she will proceed to Duluth.

THREE BOATS SEEN OFF PORT ARTHUR.

Port Arthur, Ont., April 23.—Three big steamers can be seen between Thunder Cape and Isle Royale, apparently in drifting ice. Isle Royale is forty miles from here, but is plainly visible today, and the boats, which are unknown, must be at least thirty miles out.

HANDLES FREIGHT FOR FOUR LINES.

The City Dock company will handle freight for the season of 1909, for the following lines only: Mutual Transit company, Port Huron & Duluth Steamship company, Chicago & Duluth Transportation company and Anchor line.

Marine Notes.

Members of the Lake Seamen's union are still voting at their offices in Superior. It is probable that the result of the vote will not be known here until the returns have been sent to the head officials in Chicago.

The contract for raising the fishing tug F. B. Hall, which is under water at Isle Royale, has been let to Whitney Bros. of Superior.

The ferry steamer Hattie Lloyd, which sank in the Tower bay slip, has been raised and taken to dry dock for an overhauling. A large hole was found in her side, the result of ice jamming against her.

LIVES ENDANGERED BY FIRE AT DUELM.

St. Cloud, Minn., April 23.—Several lives were endangered by fire early yesterday, which destroyed the large store and residence of Mathias Notch, at Duelm, involving a loss of $4,000 with insurance of $4,200.

Awakened by the sound of breaking glass, Mr. Duelm, who was asleep in the rear of the store gave the alarm and awakened his children sleeping upstairs. The smoke had got into the rooms above and the children were forced to leave with little wearing apparel. One of the younger children became excited and ran into the store building, where the smoke was so thick that it was almost impossible to see. The father rushed after the child and succeeded in saving him, but with great difficulty. Several of the neighbors appeared on the scene, but owing to the lack of fire protection nothing could be done. The smoke and fire spread so rapidly that practically nothing was saved. The building was burned to the ground.

FINE FLORAL TRIBUTE.

Anoka Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The railroad men of Staples sent a beautiful floral tribute to St. Paul Monday to the funeral of General Superintendent Gilbert of the Northern Pacific, who died Saturday.

It was procured at a local greenhouse and is said to have been one of the finest ever seen at a Minnesota funeral.

It was a railroad track with a railway car on it. The track was six feet long and the spur was four feet long. The car was about three feet long and two feet high. In this monster piece nearly 1,000 roses, carnations, lilies, daisies, sweet peas, etc., were used, and quantities of green stuff for background.

It was designed and built by Victor Peterson, and was done in a hurry, as it had to be shipped by express on the early train Monday morning.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR INSTALL.

Montrose Commandery of Calumet Has Impressive Exercises.

Calumet, Mich., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Exercises were held in Masonic temple Wednesday night, when Montrose commandery, Knights Templar, installed new officers, as follows: Grand Standard Bearer Gordon C. Campbell being assisted in the work by Richard C. Chamberlain, grand marshal; Frank Lyon, eminent commander; Charles Noetzel, generalissimo; Edward G. Heckel, captain general, James G. McCallum, senior warden; Oscar W. Bruns, junior warden; William F. Hartman, prelate; James E. Fisley, recorder; James A. Claymowell, standard bearer; William J. Anderson, sword bearer; Frank H. Getchell, warder; Thomas D. Meads, sentinel; John D. Kerr, third guard; George Fox, second guard; Albert H. Fleeter, first guard.

ACCIDENTALLY KILLED GOPHER HUNTING.

McHenry, N. D., April 23.—Alonzo Thurlow was accidentally shot by a playmate, named Logan, while gopher hunting. The accident proved fatal. The shot was fired at close range and entered below the groin near the left leg, making a terrible wound. Medical aid was promptly summoned, but the loss of blood was so great that nothing could be done to save the young man's life, though he lived an hour.

GAINED NINETEEN POUNDS IN TEN WEEKS' TIME

Rapid Development of Texas Boy Due to New Cooper Treatment.

Parents who have weak, puny, delicate children will be interested in the story of little Arthur Hartmann, Jr., of Houston, Texas, which was recently brought to public notice. He is the son of A. R. Hartmann, steam engineer, who formerly lived at 2019 Hutchins street, Houston, Texas, but has since removed outside the city limits and lives on one of the rural routes.

Regarding his little boy's illness and subsequent recovery, Mr. Hartmann says: "My baby boy was sick for two years. He had an attack of inflammation of the stomach and intestines, and later suffered from indigestion. I consulted several doctors, but they could prescribe nothing in the way of food that would agree with him, and although I spent hundreds of dollars for drugs, tonics, patent foods, etc., there seemed to be no hope of pulling him through.

"I was not a believer in advertised remedies, especialy for children, but when so many doctors had failed to help him, I decided to try Cooper's New Discovery, which had been highly recommended by responsible persons. I make no exaggeration when I say his condition changed for the better the very first day we gave him the Cooper medicine, and his rapid improvement was a delight to see.

"His bowels were thoroughly cleansed, his appetite increased, he gained strength, and soon began to play and show signs of life and health. We gave him the New Discovery about ten weeks, by which time he was entirely recovered. He is now three years old and weighs forty pounds, or, in other words he gained nineteen pounds while taking the Cooper medicine.

"We feel deeply grateful for what Cooper's New Discovery has done for our little boy—in fact, I do not believe he would have been with us now were it not for this splendid medicine."

Cooper's New Discovery is now on sale by all druggists everywhere. It is a boon to stomach sufferers. A sample bottle sent free upon request by addressing The Cooper Medicine company, Dayton, Ohio.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

THIRD FAIR AT BEMIDJI

Beltrami County Agricultural Association Prepares for Big Event.

Fixes Dates Sept. 15, 16 and 17 and Elects Its Officers.

Minnesota, April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The third annual fair of the Beltrami County Agricultural association will be held on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Sept. 15, 16 and 17, these dates having been selected at a meeting of members of the society just held.

The following officers were elected: President, W. G. Schroeder, Bemidji, vice president, L. G. Townsend, Blackduck; secretary, W. R. MacKenzie, Liberty township; directors, to include the above named officers and A. G. Partridge, W. S. Bowser, J. P. Pogue, J. J. Opsahl, Fred Maizahn and John Armstrong, Bemidji; C. F. Schroeder, Grant Valley; Ole A. Sime, Solway; D. Monahan, Blackduck; August Jarchow, Frohn; Lars O. Myhre, Spalding; A. A. Gilbertson, Aure; Charles Gustafson, Tenstrik, and E. E. Schulke, Hagali.

The president and secretary were authorized to add the names of any persons they saw fit to the board of directors.

The report of Secretary Mackenzie showed that the association was in a good condition, from a financial standpoint. There is cash in the bank of only 71 cents, but there are buildings valued at $825; due from the state, for last year's premiums, $150, making total assets valued at $1,275.71. For liabilities there is due banks of the city the sum of $252, leaving a balance in favor of assets of $1,023.71.

To Offer Liberal Premiums.

It was decided to issue the premium list at once, and very liberal premiums will be offered, so that there will be inducements held out to the farmers sufficient for them to make special efforts to grow the best vegetables, grains and grasses and raise the best-bred dairy cattle and blooded horses. An especial effort will be made to have the farmers raise fine grades of potatoes for large premiums.

Secretary Mackenzie stated that he had been over several portions of the county during the past winter, and that everywhere he visited there was general enthusiasm for this fall's fair, assuring the success of the enterprise. There are now fourteen farmer's organizations in the county, all of the members being enthusiastic fair boosters.

The secretary said he had made arrangements with the people at Bagley for a Clearwater county exhibit at the state fair, which would be shown in conjunction with an exhibit from Beltrami county, if this county would appropriate the necessary funds, which was promised Mr. Mackenzie. Mr. Mackenzie also stated that the lease for the fair grounds had been extended another two years.

CLOQUET MILLS ARE ALL BUSY

Cloquet, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—All the mills are operating for the first time, four of them starting up yesterday morning and furnishing employment to about 1,000 men. As soon as the night crews are put on many more mills will be employed. A strong wind yesterday carried most of the ice down the river and the spring drive will soon start.

With the exception of the Diamond Match company, which has abandoned their plant here, all the industries in the city are in full swing and with good prospects of steady employment for all. There is marked activity in all lines.

CLOQUET YOUTH HAS CLOSE CALL

Cloquet, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Nehlbe of this city was the victim of a fortunate accident, the story of which has just been learned, owing to the young man's reticence about telling of the affair.

Last Saturday he returned to his home with his hand in a bandage, remarking that he had hurt it playing. His trousers were badly torn, and the mother was not quite satisfied with the story. After referring to the subject a number of times, the boy finally owned up to having had an accident with his shot gun. He had been hunting crows in a nearby field, and while endeavoring to crawl up on the birds, so as to hide behind a stump his gun, which he was pulling after him, exploded, tearing away part of his trousers at the hip, and also taking his thumb nail off, but besides a few scratches on his hand, the shot did no further damage.

Nehlbe, who is 17 years old, declares that he will never drag another gun along the ground after him. Had the direction of the gun been an inch either way, amputation of either arm or leg would undoubtedly have followed.

MUCH DITCHING PLANNED.

Towns Northeast of Thief River Falls to Drain Land.

Thief River Falls, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ditching operation are being planned by the towns in the section of country northeast of this city, and as soon as the frost leaves the ground several large contracts will be let. A number of farmers are also combining to buy smaller ditching machines that are ordinarily used by contractors, and with these machines will soon have all the low lands in this territory placed in a state which will admit of their cultivation.

The farmers east of this city have organized and purchased two imported Percheron stallions. These will be controlled by this association, and it is expected that the breeding of thoroughbred horses will be a line of farming which will soon bring in good returns to the interested investors.

FIND FLOATER IN RED RIVER

Crookston, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—A sensation was caused here last evening by the discovery of a man's body in the Red Lake river, by Ben Krueger, near Mese Gilbert's warehouse, east of the Northern Pacific depot.

Krueger went to the bend of the river after wood and was horrified to see the floater. Capt. Vondelbeck and Officer Godbout were summoned and fished the body out. It was in a bad state of decomposition. Coroner Stenshoel took charge and after the clothing had been searched, nothing could be found to identify the dead.

The dead man's watch had stopped at 9:55. His purse contained two $5 bills, showing that the man had not been the victim of foul play, with robbery as the motive. There was a time book found, but this only contained certain days' work checked off, without the name of the firm the man worked for or his own name. He had evidently drowned some time last fall, as he had on cotton underwear and overalls only. The body looked to be that of a man 35 or 40 years old, and will be held for a few days, in the hope of identification. The body might have floated down from Red Lake Falls or Thief River Falls, and the authorities there have been communicated with.

GIRL IS GREAT SLEEPER.

Suffering From Nervous Exhaustion She Slumbers Two Weeks.

Green Isle, Minn., April 23.—Sadie Corrigan, the 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Corrigan of this place, has been in a partial stupor for two weeks, being aroused at intervals only in order that she could partake of food and drink. She is now convalescing. Relatives and friends of the family have regarded the case as a mysterious one, but the attending physician declares there is nothing particularly remarkable about it. The patient, he says, is suffering from nervous exhaustion. She is now able to sit up a little each day and yesterday dictated reassuring messages to several friends.

MEETING AT BRAINERD.

Session of Crow Wing County Educational Association On.

Brainerd, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Crow Wing County Educational association is meeting here this (Friday) afternoon, the afternoon session being an address on "Contagious Diseases in the Public Schools," by Dr. A. Thabes, former health officer of the city. President Bohannan of the Duluth normal school will address the Saturday afternoon session, and J. F. Smart, county auditor of Crow Wing county will speak on "The Economics of Taxes."

ITASCA PARK ROAD TO BE CONSTRUCTED.

Bagley, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Word has been received from St. Paul that the special road appropriation of $10,000 for the construction of a good road from Bagley to Park Rapids, via Itasca Park, passed both houses and has been approved by the governor.

The commercial clubs of Bagley and Park Rapids are to have charge of the appointments of superintendents to look after the construction of the road.

Clearwater county will add $2,000 to this appropriation—through road funds of the commissioner districts and towns affected and through which the road will pass.

CASS LAKE COUNCIL RECONSIDERS ACTION.

Cass Lake, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a meeting of the village council Wednesday evening, the election of Charles Argall as village attorney was reconsidered and R. M. Funck was elected. At a meeting a week ago Attorney Argall was declared elected, but it was afterwards noted that the vote of the entire council was not taken. A protest was presented, with the result that the former motion was lost. The councilmen then balloted for an attorney, with the result that Funck received 3, Argall 1 and Smith 1.

Policeman Brewerlette was reappointed for another term.

QUINCY MINER KILLED, COMPANION IS INJURED.

Calumet, Mich., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Falling rock in No. 8 shaft of the Quincy mine instantly killed Nat Eystanen, aged 25, and seriously injured John Vanth.

DULUTHIAN LOOKS ABOUT FOR POTATOES.

Greenbush, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Roise of Duluth has been driving through the country the past week in search of potatoes. While not getting the quality of potatoes desired, Mr. Roise has used his time profitably in talking the potato question to the farmers and we hope they will follow his advice and put in potatoes this season. There is no question but that they can be successfully raised and at a profit. Mr. Roise has also been talking poultry and eggs, and will be here again in the fall to pay a good cash price for the farmer's potatoes, eggs, chickens, ducks and geese.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Brainerd—Thomas Jackson, formerly machine foreman of the Northern Pacific shops here, but now in charge of the shops at Livingston, Mont., and John J. Miller, formerly a blacksmith in the shops here and now a foreman of the blacksmith shop at Livingston, arrived Wednesday morning and spent the day looking over the shops.

Beaver Bay—A sneak thief "togged" himself up in great shape last week at the expense of three men working at Laocour's, by stealing a suit of clothes, under-clothes, and a pair of shoes. The constable was notified and was in hot pursuit, but the robber had too good a start, going in the direction of Knife River.

St. Cloud—The funeral of Henry Fietsong, who died at the home of John Imholte, April 19, in Clear lake, was held from the Roman Catholic church Wednesday. The deceased was 56 years of age. He is survived by a wife and three children, Mary of Royalton, Henry of St. Augusta and Minnie of Seattle, Wash.

Little Falls—The canning factory proposition is being aired to quite an extent of late and it is possible that it will be taken up at the next meeting of the Commercial club and some action may be taken to secure such a factory for this city.

New York Mills—Thomas Jackola sold his farm and all on it to Andrew Tolvaniemi last week. The consideration was $6,000. The place is in Deer Creek township, near the Lent River schoolhouse. Mr. Jackola intends to return to Calumet, Mich.

Crookston—Section agents of the Northern Pacific railroad have received circulars from the main office at St. Paul directing them to increase the number of men upon their respective sections. This will mean the employment of a large number of additional men upon the system. This order means that general road repairing will begin in the near future.

St. Cloud—Mrs. Mary E. Ketcham, aged 75, one of the pioneer residents of St. Cloud, died at the woman's building at the State Soldiers' Home Tuesday evening at 9:30 o'clock, following a protracted illness.

Stillwater—Edward G. Foster, city treasurer for the past ten years, and just commencing his sixth term, handed his resignation in writing to the city council Tuesday night.

Rochester—Mrs. Emery Hunt of Rose Creek, a village ten miles east of Austin, attempted suicide Monday by taking a large dose of carbolic acid. She was in a half demented condition and her family had noticed her strange actions for some days. Quick medical aid saved her life, and she will be placed in the Rochester state hospital.

Isanti—The village school board met Monday evening to engage teachers for the next school year. Miss Daisy Chapman and Miss Jennie Scofield, the present teachers, were among the applicants, and the board decided to reengage them at their present salaries, $60 per month, for the principal and $50 for the primary teacher.

North Branch—Last Friday morning the farm residence of Anton Stahl, about four miles from this village, was totally destroyed by fire. The fire burned with such rapidity, practically nothing was saved. The house was a new one and was valued at in the neighborhood of $1,000, while the insurance was only about $400.

Anoka—Monday in Anoka at the home of Peter Linston, occurred the death of Gilbert H. Leathers, one of the oldest residents of this county. Mr. Leathers has been sick for some weeks and his death was not unexpected. Gilbert H Leathers was born in Nottingham, N. H., Dec. 12, 1824.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Ashland—By a decision of the state supreme court, handed down Tuesday, Mrs. Anna Lind will get $4,600 from the Uniform stave factory for the death of her husband, who was killed by falling into a vat of boiling water at the company's plant here last summer.

Madison—The senate committee on transportation has favorably reported the Lockney bill, requiring interurban cars to be heated by temperature of not less than 65 degs. between Oct. 15 and April 15.

Manitowoc—Bonds furnished the city by its treasurer must cover funds deposited in banks and guarantee the city from loss by failure of the banks. This decision was reached by the council when it refused the bond of a bonding company which did not cover bank deposits.

Eagle River—Eugene Hull, 26 years, attempted to commit suicide by stabbing himself over the heart.

Milwaukee—Relatives of Mrs. Martin Rode, who was buried March 30 from her home, have asked to have the body exhumed, and the district attorney has started to investigate the circumstances incidental to the woman's death. The relatives fear that Mrs. Rode's death was not entirely due to heart disease, as indicated in the certificate.

Fond du Lac—Fred Hunter, the negro murderer who escaped from the Northern hospital at Oshkosh, was recaptured on the Wisconsin Central track in the town of Byron by Constable Charles Peters and a section foreman named Andrew Collins Tuesday afternoon.

Merrill—John Nelson has been awarded $6,200 damages for the loss of an eye in his suit against the A. H. Stange company. In a former trial $5,000 was the amount fixed by the jury.

Munising—Important alterations are in progress at the big plant of the Munising Leather company. The manufactory is being converted into a drylide sole leather tannery. At the same time the plant is being enlarged.

Calumet—Isaac Bjorkland of Allouez was arrested Wednesday on complaint of a man named Kakela, charged with keeping barmaids in his place of business contrary to the state law. Justice Trathen, before whom the case was brought, on hearing the plea of not guilty, set April 27 as the date for the examination.

Ishpeming—Peter Fitzpatrick of Ishpeming, deputy state building and factory inspector, will recommend to a number of the church societies of the upper peninsula that complete changes be made in the main entrances to their houses of worship.

Houghton—L. A. Dravel, South Shore ticket agent, left Wednesday for a visit to his home at Tomah, Wis. From there he goes to Merrill, Wis. During Mr. Dravel's absence, C. H. Frear will look after the duties at the local station.

Hancock—All of the bids received for water pipe by the board of public works for furnishing water pipe for the proposed extension of the water system in West Hancock, were thrown out by the council Tuesday night and the board of public works authorized to advertise for new proposals.

Laurium—Arrangements are being made by the secretary of the Laurium firemen's committee, Harry Hermann, to engage Prof. Martin of the Martin Balloon company of Petoskey for ascension here during the week of the upper peninsula firemen's tournament.

Calumet — Bernhardt Wikman died at his home at 2322 County Road Tuesday, aged 24 years. Tuberculosis was the cause of death. The decedent has been in a hospital at Buffalo for some time. He was brought back to Calumet six weeks ago.

Houghton—F. G. Coggin, for a number of years head of the Copper Range Consolidated mills, has tendered his resignation to become effective May 1. Edward Koepel, for the last five years assistant superintendent of the Trimountain mill at Beacon Hill, has been appointed superintendent of the consolidated mills.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Dickinson, N. D.—A change in the stock holdings of the Gladstone State bank has recently been made. The interests of Mr. Richards were purchased by L. A. Simpson, and he in turn disposed of the Richards' stock to Senor Ferdinand Lentz of Hebron. Senor Lentz will succeed Mr. Richards as vice president and director. The officers will remain the same, with Mr. Simpson as president and A. L. Ritt as cashier.

Grand Forks, N. D.—It is probable that Abner Brown, who was charged with a serious crime in which a number of young girls were involved, in this city, may be deported to Canada. Brown is now in jail here, but wealthy sisters of his, who live in Canada, have appeared and are working in his behalf.

Fargo, N. D.—Bids for the sale of the $100,000 bond issue recently authorized by the voters of the city of Fargo, or any part thereof that is necessary to make the improvements planned by the city council, will be received by the city auditor up to May 3.

Jamestown, N. D.—While stealing a ride on the westbound North Coast Limited, Tuesday evening, John O. Potarnick, a youth of 19 who resides at Portland, Or., received injuries near Medina that resulted in the amputation of his right leg, a few inches above the knee, at an early hour Wednesday morning.

Fargo, N. D.—Rev. J. S. De Long, pastor of the Broadway M. E. church, has resigned and in June will begin the pastorate of the Albion, Iowa, Methodist Episcopal church. He will be succeeded by Rev. S. S. Wyand, the present pastor of the Albion, Iowa, church, the two pastors simply exchanging pulpits. The change is effective June 1.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Anton Ekern, one of the former well known Grand Forks business men, is here from Oregon. He left Tuesday for Baudette, Minn., where he has business interests. Mr. Ekern likes the country in Oregon, but still holds a warm spot under his vest for the Red River valley country, which he says is hard to beat.

Minot, N. D.—In view of the criticism of the street grading contracts, Alderman Anderson, at the meeting of the council Monday evening, urged that a committee be appointed to check up the street grading contracts of the last year, to see if the estimates of the city engineer were fair.

Grand Forks, N. D.—The contract for the construction of the addition to the W. R. Jack auditorium was let Wednesday afternoon to Contractors Johnson & Pansgaard for $2,490.

Masquerade Ball
Tonight by the Zenith City Tent, No. 1044, K. O. T. M., at Maccabee hall, 224 West First street. The public is invited, and a pleasant time assured. Admission will be 25 cents.

Moves to First Street.
N. H. Witt, who for years has been a familiar figure among the Superior street merchants, will move his store to West First street May 1.

Mary J. Thompson Dies.
Mrs. Mary J. Thompson, 88 years of age, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. M. J. Durkan, 205 South Sixteenth avenue east, at 7:30 o'clock last evening. The deceased was a grandmother of Mrs. W. A. Eden. Funeral arrangements will be announced later. At the request of the family no flowers will be in evidence at the funeral.

Walter Turle's Sister Dies.
Mrs. Charles Petre Lovell, only sister of Walter Turle of Duluth, died at Wellington, Somerset, Eng., April 22.

Richard Bailey Improves.
Richard Bailey, who was operated on this week for appendicitis at St. Luke's hospital by Dr. W. H. Magie, continues to improve and will soon be able to be about town.

Mrs. Silpola Dies.
Mrs. Eva Silpola, 65 years of age, died yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. Lahtinen. She is survived by six grown children. The funeral services will be held at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon from the Finnish Evangelical Lutheran church. Interment will be at Park Hill cemetery.

Sundby-Hunt.
The wedding of Miss Mary Sundby and William A. Hunt, both of this city, took place yesterday afternoon at Superior. Mr. Hunt is a well known local architect, and with his bride left for a wedding trip. They will later return to this city, where they will be at home. The wedding was a very quiet one.

"The Count" at McKay Shop.
Hugo Gustafson, more familiarly known as "The Count," has assumed the management of the McKay barber shop, leaving the St. Louis shop to take up the duties of his new position.

Examination as to Sanity.
Anna Bentley, 46 years old, will have an examination as to her sanity before Judge Middlecoff of the probate court this afternoon. She is a resident of Bemidji, Beltrami county, and was visiting her brother, Joseph Powdare, of West Duluth in the hope of getting better. The brother this morning filed information against her.

Vagrants Arrested.
P. A. Peterson, Louis Lyons, Sylvester Krobt and Ole Stevenson were arrested on vagrancy charges last night. They have been hanging around the city doing nothing for some time past, and the police thought it was about time for them either to move on, go to work or go to jail. Stevenson pleaded guilty in municipal court this morning and was ordered out of town for a year. If he returns before the expiration of that time he will be sent to jail for sixty days. The other cases will be disposed of late this afternoon.

Will Not Play in Duluth.
The attempt of Manager C. A. Marshall of the Lyceum to book "The Lambs," one of the big Klaw & Erlanger productions, for Duluth this season has failed. In a message today from New York, Mr. Marshall received word that the tour of the famous all-star company has already been arranged. It will only play the large cities.

To Entertain at Cards.
Star of Peace temple, No. 29, Pythian Sisters, will entertain their members and friends at cards in K. of P. hall Monday evening.

Trades Assembly Meeting.
The regular bi-weekly meeting of the Duluth Trades and Labor assembly will be held this evening in Kalamazoo hall. A number of important matters will come before the organization.

For Yale Graduates.
The Yale graduates at the Head of the Lakes are planning on giving a banquet Saturday evening at the Spalding.

Treasurer Chosen.
At a meeting of the board of directors of the Commercial club, held this noon, G. A. Everest was elected treasurer of the club and H. V. Eva, secretary of the club, assistant treasurer. The membership of the club has reached the limit, there being 1,005 resident members, so those applying for membership will be placed upon the waiting list.

A Norwegian has patented a process for manufacturing colored woods. Whole trunks of green trees are colored, the sap being forced out by means of force and the dye injected in its place. It is claimed that wood thus treated is much more durable and will not warp.

WEST END

BOAT CLUB FOR WEST ENDERS

Much Talk of Such an Organization is Being Heard.

Considerable talk is going on of the organization of a West end boat club this year. Last year an attempt was made to organize one, but the matter was never pushed through.

The last of the ice has disappeared from the bay, and many launch owners are getting their boats out. Yesterday John Moir launched his craft, and many others expect to do the same today or tomorrow.

At the front of the boathouse at Twenty-first avenue west a large deposit of mud has accumulated in front of the docks, caused by shifting currents in the bay. This will have to be dug away before some of the boats can be taken out.

"NO PLACE LIKE DULUTH."

"There is no place on earth like Duluth," says Gustave Erickson of Twentieth avenue west and First street. He has just returned after a year's stay in Western Alberta.

According to Mr. Erickson, the reports that induce many to go to Western Canada are highly colored, and the possibilities of mushroom wealth are few. Mr. Erickson was in the plumbing business when he left Duluth for the West.

Former Duluthian Here.

H. Webb, formerly of the West end, but now of Glindon, Minn., is visiting his uncle, George Jewell of the U. S. block. Mr. Webb was once a printer and was formerly employed at The Herald. He gave up this line of work, however, on account of his health, and became interested in farming. He has a valuable piece of land near Superior. Last week he was in consultation with a landscape gardener of Minneapolis, as he intends planting trees on his property.

Hillsiders Will Meet.

There will be a meeting this evening of the West End Hillside Improvement club, and the matter of the Piedmont avenue grading will be taken up for consideration. A petition asking that the grade on that avenue be cut down so as to permit the passage of street cars as far as Tenth street, has been signed by a large number. The proposition will probably come up before the next meeting of the council.

Horses Go to Canada.

A large number of horses are being sold in the West end and are being shipped to Canada, where they are bringing good prices. A team from one of the fire halls was the last pair to go, being shipped yesterday. Many of the horses that are purchased for this purpose have come in from the woods recently.

West End Shortrails.

Joseph Nacey left for Virginia last evening on a short business trip.

The Unique Social club gave a dancing party last evening at Columbia hall. The party was successful, many attending.

R. B. Warner of Brainerd was a business visitor at the West end yesterday.

Miss Clara Morsh of 2629 Courtland street has returned from Bayfield, where she has been visiting friends and relatives.

Mrs. Ekblad of 2120 West Second street has gone to Scandia, Kan., where she will visit her mother for a month.

The young ladies of the First Swedish Baptist church will meet this evening at the home of Mrs. John Nord of 2613 West Third street. Arrangements may be completed at this time for the coming May festival.

Ed Nelson came down from Virginia yesterday on a short visit.

A quarterly meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church was held last evening at the church. The speaker of the evening was Rev. W. Schvenlus, who gave a short talk on the ladies' work in the church. Refreshments were served.

"Napoleon Bonaparte" has been chosen as the subject of a lecture to be delivered Sunday at the St. Jean Baptiste church by John H. Norton. The lecture will be given under the auspices of the French Naturalization club. A musical program will also be given.

A very important meeting of the parishioners of the St. Luke's Episcopal church will be held this evening at 8 o'clock, at the church. Plans will be outlined for the ensuing year. Every member of the congregation is urged to attend.

The boys of the Adams school are looking forward with much interest to the approaching interscholastic field meet. Every evening a number of them get out for training. The meet will be held some time in May.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Larson died this morning at the family residence, 1825 West Second street. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon from Forward's undertaking parlors and the interment will be at Park Hill cemetery.

Rev. Peter Beckstrom will occupy the pulpit Sunday morning and evening at the First Swedish M. E. church, Third street and Twentieth avenue west. Sunday school will be at 10 o'clock in the morning.

W. Welberg, who has been engaged for some time past in the house-building business in the West end, has given up this line of work. Mr. Welberg has built a large number of houses in the West end.

The Central Butter & Egg company has moved from 1806 West Superior street into its new warehouse and office building at Nineteenth avenue west and Michigan street.

Arthur Johnson and Albert Peterson have returned from a fishing trip about five miles up Miller's creek. Mr. Peterson landed twenty-one speckled beauties and seventeen were hauled in by Mr. Johnson. Fishing, they say, is not very good as yet.

Theodore Dahlgem, a West end baker who conducts a shop at 2419 West Third street, denies the report that he runs an open shop and claims that his bakers are union men. He furthermore says he does not attribute the burning of a batch of hardtack to the unionists, who, it was rumored, stuffed up his chimney.

CONGRATULATE DULUTH FIRMS

Duluth business houses are receiving the written congratulations of Twin City commercial houses upon the defeat of the Bjorge tonnage tax bill. Yesterday one of the leading commercial houses of St. Paul mailed letters of congratulations to a number of Duluth houses. The letter contained an appreciation of the stand taken by the governor and a statement of the fact that any of the leading houses of the two cities were alive to the fact that the passage of the tonnage tax bill would greatly lessen the business of Twin City houses in this part of the state.

DECISIONS ARE HANDED DOWN

Judge Dibell Refuses Four New Trials and Grants Two.

Four motions for new trials were denied and two were granted this morning by decisions handed down by Judge Dibell of the district court.

John Raggart, who some time ago entered a demurrer asking that he be left out of the case of George Bjelos against the Cleveland-Cliffs Mining company and himself, was refused his request. Raggart was employed as superintendent at the Crosby mine at Nashwauk when Bjelos was injured by the caving in of the walls of a pit.

Carlo Mainello, who some time ago sued Dr. Bowers for $1,000 because Powers would not give him possession of a building he had rented from the doctor, was awarded $715 by the jury. In this case Dr. Bowers wanted a new trial, on the ground that the contract had been cancelled. Judge Dibell granted him a new trial.

In the cases heard during the last term of court, of the Independent Brewing company against C. B. Burt for money, the company alleged it was unable to collect, that the company was awarded $836 and $747.50 in two separate cases. One of the cases was over an account, the other over a note. Judge Dibell granted a new trial in both cases.

Hilding Gradine, who brought suit against Dr. J. H. Jern for malpractice, and was given nothing by the jury, was refused a new trial.

Max Wetzler, who sued the city for $1,225 because his horse backed into a gully at Twelfth avenue west, and lost his case, was refused a new trial.

George A. Toor, who secured a verdict of $1,400 from the city, for injuries sustained by slipping on a broken sidewalk, must consent to a reduction of the verdict to $900 or stand a new trial.

EIGHTEEN PERSONS TAKE THE PASTEUR TREATMENT.

Bloomington, Ind., April 23.—On examination of the brain of a dog that died in convulsions a few days ago, the medical department of Indiana university, announced today that the animal had rabies and seventeen students and Prof. Charles Hazeman will at once take Pasteur treatment.

BOY TURNS UP, TELLS TALE OF KIDNAPING.

Cincinnati, Ohio, April 23.—Leo Mulhern, a 12-year-old boy, who has been missing from his home in this city since Wednesday, appeared in the home of his grandfather, Policeman Edward Rafferty, in Ironton, Ohio, today.

The boy told his grandfather he was stolen by two men and taken to some town in West Virginia. He said he escaped and came to Ironton on a Chesapeake & Ohio train. It is believed the boy ray away from home and that no one had a hand in his disappearance.

He disappeared following the receipt of two letters by his mother demanding that $300 be deposited at a Fifth street nickelodeon. The threat was made that the boy would be kidnaped if the money was not deposited.

SWEDISH BAND.

Royal Vendes Organization of Stockholm Coming to Duluth.

The Royal Vendes Artillery band and orchestra will appear at the Lyceum Sunday afternoon and evening, under the auspices of the Svea Glee club, and the visit of this fine organization promises to be one of especial interest among the Swedish people of the city. The American tour of the band has been a most successful one. Miss Hilma Mattson, soprano of the Royal opera house of Stockholm, is the assistant soloist. The concerts by the organization have been everywhere received with enthusiasm.

Vendes band next Sunday, Lyceum.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

LEAGUE HAS ELECTION

Commercial Ball Players to Have Gala Opening of Season.

Double-Header Will Be Played First Week in May.

L. A. LaVoie was elected president of the Commercial Baseball league, at a meeting of the organization held last evening. President LaVole is a member of the F. A. Patrick company's team, which, with the teams of the Wolvin building, the Board of Trade, and a nine composed of workers in the different local banks, make up the league.

Other officers elected last night are: Secretary and treasurer, H. L. Pierce of the bankers' team; press representative, Walter M. Stuart of the Wolvin building's organization.

The same by-laws which governed the league last season will be in force this year.

It was decided to open the league's season with double-headers in the first week in May. All four teams will play, and plans are being made to have a band and quite a celebration over the event.

The league leaders say the different teams will be much stronger than they were last season. The Wolvin building and Board of Trade will have good nines out, and the Patricks are to be much faster, unless their calculations fail.

The fourth team in the league last season represented only one of the banks, a circumstance which did not allow of enough choice of good players. This spring all the banks are going in together in organizing a nine, and this will enable them to gather a speedy bunch of players.

MAKE GOOD CLIMBS.

Auto Contests on Tennessee Hills Prove Very Exciting.

Chattanooga, Tenn., April 23.—With at least 50,000 people lining the course, drivers in the automobile hill climb, yesterday made some startling records. Lewis Strang, youngest member of the Buick team, won three events.

Speeding around the sharp curves, the drivers did not slacken speed. Frequently their tires were on the edge of the roadway, where a swerve of half an inch, would have sent them to the bottom of a deep ravine with their cars.

George DeWitt went into the ditch at the "hairpin" curve. Though his machine was smashed, he escaped with a few bruises.

In the seventh event, two cars were ditched at the "hairpin," in one of which accidents, Louis Doerherfer, in a mammoth Locomobile, skidded from the roadway, turning a complete somersault. His car was demolished and he was severely injured. His hands and face were badly mutilated, but no bones were broken.

John G. Capers Ill.

Washington, April 23.—John G. Capers, commissioner of internal revenue and Republican national committeeman from South Carolina, is critically ill in this city, as the result of an operation, Monday. A turn for the worse occurred late last night, but it was stated today that he was getting along as well as could be expected.

Minnesota Postmasters.

Washington, April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank H. Lambert has been appointed postmaster at Fowlds, Beltrami county, vice William Burce, resigned.

MILLIONAIRE IN AUTO KILLS GIRL

Child Runs in Front of Brewer Pabst's Car.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 23.—Col. Gustav Pabst, the millionaire brewer, while driving in an auto today, accidentlly ran down and killed Lillie Winkler, a 14-year-old girl, living at 946 Beecher street.

The accident occurred at Lake and Reed streets, just as the girl alighted from a street car and walked in front of the rapidly moving auto.

Col. Pabst was making a trip to Chicago.

MAY MAKE HAINS A MERE EXHIBIT

His Lawyers Wish Jury to Decide as to Insanity.

Flushing, N. Y., April 23.—Capt Peter C. Hains, jr., may be put on the witness stand by the defense in his trial for the killing of William E. Annis, for the purpose of revealing to the jury his mental condition.

Announcement of such a possibility was made by attorneys for the defense today, prior to the opening of the fifth day of the trial. Capt. Hains could be called, it was said, before any insanity experts were put on the stand, as it might be deemed expedient to give the jurymen an opportunity to form their own opinions of the defendant's condition from personal observation of his conduct under examination as a witness.

The prisoner's lawyers declare he has no intelligent comprehension of the nature of the proceedings in which he is playing such an important part, and John F. McIntyre, of the defense, said that if he found difficulty in inducing Capt. Hains to take the stand he might even place him in evidence as an exhibition in the case, identified as such on the court record, like any other exhibit.

SULTAN HAS ON COAT OF STEEL

Wears Gray Garment, Mail-Lined, Evidently Fearing Bullets.

Constantinople, April 23.—When the sultan drove to the mosque today for his customary Friday devotion, his uniform, that of a field marshal, was covered by an old gray overcoat he has not worn for years. This garment is commonly believed to have a lining of fine steel mail and his majesty certainly looked thicker through the body today than he does when he is receiving in the palace.

At noon the gates were thrown open and the sultan appeared in his victoria. He drove the short distance to the mosque and at once entered to say his prayers. After the completion of his devotions he returned by the same way he came and disappeared through the broad portal into the guarded precincts of his palace. His majesty's progress was marked by an ovation.

As the sultan drove by the terrace of white stone that is used by distinguished visitors to witness his passage to and from the mosque, he looked carefully to see if any of the ambassadors were present. None were there, however, as they had by common consent agreed to remain away.

CONCERNING WOMAN.

The housewife was puzzled.

Should she make a rhubarb pie or should she have strawberry shortcake, or would she let it all go and just have any little thing for dessert, and instead begin spring housecleaning by calling up the Bethel to see if she could get a man to dust the rugs, or should she do the mending that was to be done, or would she finish that little bit of ironing that was left, or would she clean the windows, or should she lay out that comforter that had to be begun right away, or should she let all of these things go and start in on the spring sewing. Dear knows there was enough of that to be done, or should—

The necessity for decision was delayed for a moment, for there was a knock at the rear door.

The housewife answered it.

"Good morning," said the man who stood there.

"Good morning," said the housewife briefly. It's always well, she thinks, to be very brief, especially when they come to the back door.

"I," said the man, "am from the board of health and we are trying to get Duluth cleaned up spick and span before the spring is any further advanced."

The housewife stiffened perceptibly.

"That's all right," said she, "but I guess we don't need any of your help. If you'd go to the people who keep dirty yards and leave the rest of us alone, it would be a great deal more to the point." The housewife spoke sharply.

"I know, of course," said the inspector, earning his money by endeavoring to placate the lady. "But that Christmas tree, now—"

"You just let that Christmas tree alone," said the woman, sharply. "If there was nothing worse in town than that Christmas tree I guess you wouldn't have any more of a job than a rabbit. That Christmas tree will stay right—"

"That Christmas tree," said the inspector, firmly, "will be removed. After all, the inspectors are only human."

"There's that next door," said the housewife, "and I don't suppose you ever go near them."

"I will," said the inspector. "But those ashes in your yard—"

"Those are perfectly clean ashes," said the woman, "and you needn't think you can come around here and scaring me into moving those ashes until I'm—"

"They should be kept in a barrel," said the inspector.

"I'll keep them in a barrel if I feel like it," said the woman.

"Well," said the inspector, "we are determined to have Duluth the cleanest city in the country, and we'd like to have your help. Those ashes must be removed, and after this they must be put in a barrel. No more dumping them on the ground. You understand, and if you could clean up the paper and burn the stuff that will accumulate—"

"It's a pity you wouldn't go down on First street where you might do some good," said the housewife. "But that's always the way. You go snooping around where people are keeping their houses clean, and never pay any attention to—"

"I hope you will give the matter your immediate attention," said the inspector. "The board of health will insist upon it," and he took himself away.

"The darn fool," said this inspector, softly to himself. "Thank heaven I'm not married to a temper like that, and then they talk about women's sense of civic responsibility, and her fine influence in politics. There's not one in fifty it gives you a decent greeting at the door, let alone an assurance that she will attend to the matter that you draw her attention to. It's always, 'why don't you mind your own business,' or 'why don't you go to the neighbor.' And little she knows that the neighbors make the same request in regard to her. Until women," says this health inspector, "can get a civil response to the simplest civic laws, as they relate to health and cleanliness, she should not have another single political privilege."

For the benefit of those many women who are always anxious to do the right thing in the correct form, the following instructions are given for greeting health inspectors on their visits:

Say "Good morning" graciously.

When he has made known the matter in which he and the city of Duluth would like you to improve your premises, by burning old papers, removing ashes that have been spilled on the garden, or a general cleaning up, one should reply, "It will be attended to at once. And thank you so much for calling our attention to it. While in many other things to see to, one is so likely to overlook these little things. But we'll have a bonfire tonight and the matter will receive our earliest attention. And I hope that it will never be necessary for us to come again. We'll try to live up to the law."

Then say again, "Good morning," also graciously, and you might end the pleasant encounter by a simple little remark about the pleasantness of the weather, or the lateness of the season, or the coldness of the air, or something like that.

Nevertheless, it is a pity that so many Duluth women are daily displaying to the health inspectors shrewish tempers, a willingness to evade the laws of cleanliness and civic health, and showing a great tendency to see the discarded Christmas tree in her neighbor's yard and overlook entirely the tin cans, ash heaps and papers in her own.

Duluth women from one end of the city to the other, have a fine opportunity to do a citizen's duty, pleasantly, efficiently and graciously, and it's a pity they wouldn't do it.

Theater Party.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Dickerson of 1221 East Third street entertained at a theater party last evening at the Lyceum in honor of their guests, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Stevens and Mrs. E. C. Alvord of Washburn, Wis.

Miss Julia Stevens, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Stevens, will take part in an oratorical contest at the Blaine high school at Superior this evening. Miss Stevens won first place at the Western division contest at Spooner.

Assembly Dance.

The members of the Assembly and their guests will enjoy the first of the after Easter dances this evening at the ball room of the Spalding. La Brosse's orchestra will play. A large number of invitations have been issued for the affair.

Equality Club.

The Political Equality club will meet this evening at the council chambers. James A. Wharton will address the meeting on "Government by Commission."

Saturday Club

The last meeting of the year of the Saturday club will be held tomorrow afternoon at the club room of the library. The annual reports will be read and the election of officers will take place. The business meeting will be followed by a social hour.

"Come Under My Plaidie" ..... McNeil

"Ye Banks and Braes" ..... Miller

"Caller Herrin" ..... Niel Gow

"The Laird o' Cockpen" ..... Old Dance

Miss Waldo will be Mrs. Kleswetter's guest for the week end.

Birthday Party.

Miss Anna Hoverson was the guest of honor at a birthday party last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Hutchinson. An informal dance was enjoyed by thirty guests.

Personal Mention.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Burt of 1107 East Fourth street left today for a months' visit at Baltimore, Washington, Philadelphia and Atlantic City.

Mrs. Lesbia Hill of Fourteenth avenue east, has returned from California where she spent the winter.

Mrs. Holmberg of Minneapolis is visiting her son in this city.

Mrs. McClure, who has been the guest of her son, Edward McClure of 520 East Fifth street, has returned to her home in Idaho.

Many of the Duluth people, who were at Chicago to attend grand opera have returned home. Mrs. R. R. Bailey, who chaperoned, Miss Rebecca Bailey, Miss Marjorie and Isabel Patrick, returned today. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lachmund and Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Hartman have returned.

The Misses Turrish are visiting friends at St. Paul.

GAY PARIS.

Outwardly, May is one of the most unpleasant months of the year in Paris. As far as the climate is concerned the French capital is given over to what the Irish most aptly term "the gloom." The sun sulks behind sullen, threatening clouds, and every evening the myriad lights in the Rue de l'Opera are reflected in the wet asphalt of the rain-drenched streets, and the polished dolphins of the fountains of the Luxembourg are all but drowned under the sudden onslaughts of the cold May showers and heavier storms.

But the Parisienne treats the moods of her city with scant respect. She mocks at its ill temper, and flits about with an utter disregard of the leaden skies overhead and the wet pavements under foot. For May is a very busy month—one of the gayest in the social calendar. The spring wardrobe is complete, and there are many places of interest where one can see and be seen with equally gratifying results. After all, electric lights are an excellent substitute for sunshine when one has a new gown to display, a new hat to be envied and admired, says the Mayl Delineator.

The opening of the spring salon, the flower show and the first spring races at Longchamp and at Auteuil, come crowding one after the other in rapid succession. They attract a never-ending, ever-varying procession of smartly dressed women of every nationality, but each and all of them stamped with the indefinable chic of their French made clothes, their French coiffed hair and their hats of unequivocally French manufacture. Handsome Englishwomen with their broad-shouldered, indolent looking husbands, Russians and Slays, lithe sinuous, distingue, vivacious Frenchwomen, voluble Italians and gay, holiday-hunting Americans, in short, the world and his wife in their best bibs and tuckers, bent on pleasing and being pleased, led to Paris a fete-day appearance in spite of itself.

With due apologies to the well-established tradition of the Anglo-French novel that the Parisienne never shows herself before noon, I must confess that I have always found the morning hours among the pleasantest and the best attended of the day at the expositions. Sedate young girls—our jeune Elle has a dignity that would sit well on a grandmother—and solemn-eyed, moon-faced children are among the most interested of the spectators during the early hours of the day. I remember last fall going down to the automobile show on one of the coldest, bleakest days of the year and being passed by a very large car with a very small child in the seat next the chauffeur. She was so bundled up that all one could see of her was a ridiculous little button of a small red nose between the glasses of an enormous pair of goggles.

In the morning, one sees the French trotting-frock at its very best. With a scant, narrow skirt that clears the ground by a generous three or four inches, disclosing trim pumps and neat silk stockings, a smart bodice and a bewitching hat, the Parisienne makes a most attractive picture—a fact of which she is quite well aware.

TO GET WIVES

Is Object of Atlantic State Association.

A man and a woman, purporting to represent a syndicate of Oklahoma men and claiming to have the indorsement of Governor Haskell, are establishing agencies in the Atlantic states, the object of which is to obtain wives for Oklahoma bachelors, relates the Woman's National Daily. The campaign, which has just begun, is to be continued until 10,000 young women have been taken to the Western state. The agencies offer good homes, good husbands, and a future of promise as inducements. They pay all expenses and guarantee the girls positions until they decide to marry. Asked where the profit came in, John Gibson, who is the principal agent of the syndicate, said: "We make our money simply through the development of the state."

This campaign for wives is not the first one of the kind that has been waged, but so far as is known it is the first one in the history of the country to be inaugurated by land promoters. Here we have matrimony put upon a purely business basis. Land sales drag. The owners of the land, realizing that they cannot better conditions while there are so many bachelors in the new country, arrange to reduce the number of bachelors. They scatter young women through the state. Young men meet these young women and the rest is left to Cupid—and Fate. The young men, their thoughts turning to matrimony, begin to dream of homes of their own. And here is where the land agents come in. Doubtless the imported girls will be married, and when they seem to have won young men's hearts the young men will be approached with the suggestion that a town home or a farm over in the next county would be just the thing for them. Simple, isn't it? And practical, too. Incidentally, it is a tribute to women. The foresight that these men have shown is not better evidenced in any feature of the plan, however, than by the one that takes into consideration the time for beginning the campaign. The financiers are looking for early returns. Spring will soon be here—and is not spring nesting time.

FOR WAISTS

Chinese Crepe Is a Fashionable Material.

Fine white Chinese crepe is leading all materials for wash waists. It is the fashion of the moment. One can pay almost any price for such a blouse, according to the quality of the crepe, the name of the maker and the weave of lace or embroidery used on it.

Domestic crepe, which is a good imitation of the imported weave, sells at less price, and the ready-made blouses of it are within the average purse.

The usual trimming on these is a narrow Cluny lace, although women who have Irish lace without immediate use for it, apply it to these blouses and make them quite handsome.

The newest touch is to use a center band, three-inch cuffs and straight collar of polkadot pique.

No lace or hand-embroidery is used in combination with the pique. The use of the latter gives the shirt waist a severe tailored style, which makes it quite appropriate for morning use with cloth coat suits.

Old-Fashioned Scarf.

Much has been written about the old-fashioned scarf being back in favor, but in the last week or two it has become such a dominant note in evening costumes that it ought to be described more fully.

Women used it moderately at first, but now it is part of the costume. It is an excellent idea, by the way, to use in making an old frock fashionable. If one has a white or a black gown that has no special character and whose lines allow it to be made over in one piece, the essential thing to do is to get a vivid colored scarf.

It is wonderful what transformation these bits of tulle and gauze accomplish. They make a gown look distinctive, which otherwise would be dowdy or commonplace.

PATTEN FISHES, SAYING NOTHING

Wheat King Determined to Be a Hermit for Awhile.

Trinidad, Colo., April 23.—James A. Patten, the Chicago wheat king and for the present the "sphinx of the Rockies," set forth to catch trout this morning and kept right on saying nothing.

Clad in a khaki suit and armed with a reel and trout rod, the broker left the Bartlett ranch house shortly after 10 o'clock to spend the day fishing. When the telephone rang he started slightly and walked precipitately out of the room. He seemed as unconcerned about the affairs of the Chicago wheat pit as the Mexican herders on the ranch. The nearest he came to discussing the wheat situation was when he directed that a liberal supply be packed in his lunch basket.

According to the men at the ranch the broker has not seen a newspaper or received a message from Chicago since Tuesday. Mr. Patten slept twelve hours last night and set about enacting the role of hermit with apparently as great determination as he would plan a coup in wheat.

RICH REWARD IF HE "STAYED IN"

Assemblyman Louch Had Offer From a Stephenson Detective.

Madison, Wis., April 23.—"I am authorized to tell you that you can have anything you want, if you'll stay in—you needn't vote for Stephenson—but stay in there."

This statement, Assemblyman Louch told the senatorial primary investigating committee, was made to him by D. H. Davis, a private detective in the employ of Henry Overbeck, one of Stephenson's managers, if he would stay in the joint convention in order to build up a quorum when the vote for United States senator was being taken. Louch said he "cut Davis short" by telling him he would not vote for Stephenson. He added he considered staying in and building up a quorum under such circumstances equivalent to voting for Stephenson.

Game Warden Stone, the next witness, went over some of the testimony covered in previous sessions. He referred to his letter to Warden Immel telling him he wanted to keep the department out of politics, after he knew that "the boys were soliciting and collecting campaign funds." However, he did not see "anything wrong" in the collection of campaign contributions.

DECREASE IN KANSAS WHEAT ACRES 400,000.

Topeka, Kan., April 23.—Secretary F. D. Coburn of the state board of agriculture, says there has been a decrease of 400,000 acres in wheat in Kansas as compared with last year. He places the acreage at 6,000,000 and the average condition at 88 per cent. There are few insect pests in the fields and the conditions are poorest in the eastern and southeastern sections of the state.

WOMEN HELPING WITH LUNCHES

Tallahasse, Fla., April 23.—The fight for submitting state wide prohibition to the voters of Florida, which the Prohibitionists won in the senate, was continued in the house today. Late last night the house adjourned with the McMullan state wide bill, as passed by the senate, still under consideration.

Tallahasse is crowded with women supporters of Prohibition prepared to furnish the moral support of their presence and campaign songs and physical support in the shape of tempting lunches and dry beverages to the legislators.

ROBINS SEEN AT LAKESIDE

First Flock of the Season —Ducks Are Also Here.

A flock of real, live, bona fide robins was seen at Lakeside this morning. Reports have been received during the last few weeks of individual red breasts observed in different parts of the city, but this is thought to be the first flock of birds to arrive in Duluth this year.

All of which goes to show that spring is here, although the air may not feel like it today. The robins did not appear very enthusiastic over their cold reception, but made the best of the situation, and hopped around in a lively manner in order to keep warm. From now on it is expected the birds will be arriving daily, doing what they can to herald the arrival of spring.

A flock of about forty ducks was also seen resting near the lake end of the Duluth canal yesterday. Other flocks have been reported along St. Louis river.

WHEAT PRICES CAUSE SUICIDE

Denver, Colo., April 23.—The skyrocketing in wheat and flour seems to have been responsible for the suicide today of an unidentified man, apparently a German, about 50 years old, who threw himself under the wheels of a street car at Fifteenth street and Cleveland place.

The man was dragged nearly a block, his body being terribly mangled. It is believed he came to Denver recently from Chicago.

Clippings from Chicago papers but a few days old were found in his pockets, all of them containing articles on the wheat and flour situation. In his hat were the initials "H. H.," and on a card in his pocket was the name of John Nienstadt, 1233 Milwaukee avenue, Chicago.

THE MOST UNIQUE AUTOMOBILE IN DULUTH AND ITS OWNER AT WHEEL

AXEL BERG AND "THE EXPERIMENT."

"The Experiment" is what Axel Berg of 1127 West Second street calls the "car" photographed above. It is all his own work done after working hours and at odd moments during the day.

"She isn't very much on looks," declares Mr. Berg, but gracious how she can go." It is equipped with a 3½-horse power engine and for the most part is constructed of iron and steel. He made the whole affair himself just to see if he could construct an automobile that would go.

He doesn't like to use it on the streets very much because it attracts so much attention, but early in the morning once or twice a week, he takes a run into the country and he says that he understands fully why people go daft over automobiling.

He made most of the engine himself, used four regular bicycle wheels, a leather belt, and from old scraps of iron and steel constructed the rest of the body.

Mr. Berg says that had he the tools he could make a machine that would not be out of place on the streets of the city.

RAILROAD NEWS

TO SHIP ORE NEXT WEEK

Blockade at Soo Delays Opening of the Season.

Range Roads Preparing to Haul Ore From Mines.

The Duluth, Missabe & Northern and the Duluth & Iron Range railroads will actively enter upon the shipping of ore by the middle of next week. This announcement was made today. At the present time cars are loading at the mines on the Mesaba range, ready to be sent to the docks with the arrival of the first ore boats from the lower lakes. This is expected to be Wednesday at the latest.

At the present time there is a fleet of boats detained at the Soo. The ice is preventing the boats from passing the Soo. It is expected that these boats, both those of the Pittsburg Steamship company and of the independent lines, will get away today or tomorrow. That will bring them to Duluth by the first of the week. Their arrival will inaugurate the ore shipping season of 1909.

There is a little ore shipping being done by the Duluth & Iron Range road from the Virginia mines to the docks at Two Harbors. It has been a light movement as yet, however, and only for the purpose of getting some ore upon the docks at Two Harbors. The real season will begin with the arrival here of the ore boats that are at the present time detained at St. Mary river.

The traffic departments of the two roads are merely waiting for the appearance of the boats to begin the immediate shipment from the mines of the ranges. Cars have been distributed at the various mines. Most of these cars are filled and ready to move. The docking of the first boat at the Head of the Lakes will be the signal for the starting of the cars from the mines.

Cars of the latest type are being received at the shops of the Duluth & Range. They are now being set up, and many of these will be in shape to start the season next week. The consignment of new steel ore cars is being shipped from Pittsburg as rapidly as the cars are being sent out of the shops.

While not anticipating a heavy shipping during the earlier stages of the navigation season, until some definite line is secured upon the turn the labor situation on the Great Lakes may take, many of the railroad officials, as well as mining men, are of the opinion that the present season will show a heavier shipment of ore than the season of a year ago.

They give as their reasons better conditions over the country, an increased demand for structural steel as a result of these conditions, and an anticipated increased demand for steel rails.

With the clearing of the ice at the Soo, quite a fleet of vessels will be released, and the arrival of this fleet at the Head of the Lakes will give a more imposing opening to the ore shipping season than would the arrival of a straggling line of vessels.

RAILROADS IN BATTLE.

Kalispell, Mont., April 23.—Four deeds for right-of-way in the vicinity of Coram, in the North Fork river territory, have been filed by an agent of the Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound Railroad company. The instrument was the first evidence of any transfer for right-of-way purchase in the contest between that road and the Great Northern. An hour later an agreement for sale of right-of-way to the Great Northern of land in the same district was made in the recorder's office.

The Milwaukee road stole a march on its competitor, the Great Northern, by getting the clerk of the road to make a flying trip to the courthouse and file papers in condemnation proceedings to secure the right-of-way through important property of the Flathead reservation.

The company evidently decided not to trust the filing of deeds alone, and sought the courts to aid it in securing the desired right-of-way through the North Fork pass.

WILL SPEND A MILLION A MONTH

Vice President Mann Talks of Plans of Canadian Northern.

Winnipeg, Man., April 23.—D. D. Mann, vice president of the Canadian Northern railway, arrived in Winnipeg last evening and stated in an interview that his company will spend on an average, more than $1,000,000 a month during the balance of the year on new construction. In addition, rolling stock to the value of $3,000,000 will be purchased. In all, the company will build approximately 400 miles of new track in Western Canada this year, including a portion of the line Westward from the Rocky mountains to the Pacific coast, surveys for which are now being made.

FINE SOO DEPOT AT MOOSE LAKE

Workmen Coming Next Week to Begin Building Structure.

Moose Lake, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Word has been received by Mr. Nevers, proprietor of Hotel Moose, to make arrangements to care for a large crew of men, who will arrive the first of the week to begin the erection of the depot, car houses, water tank and other necessary buildings for the Soo railroad company. The men are coming from McGrath where they have just completed the buildings there.

So far as can be learned the depot will be a very large structure and of the latest plans to care for the business of the three lines which will be built here. Since it has been learned that the Soo company will build to Thief River Falls and the Cuyana range from here, there is no doubt that the Frederick, Wis., line will be extended to Moose Lake, giving the company the shortest line from Duluth to the Twin Cities and passing through a country that is far superior to that from Duluth direct to Frederick.

It is rumored the Northern Pacific will put on a new schedule May 23, and that the limited trains will probably be included to stop at Moose Lake hereafter. From the amount of business the company gets out of the town citizens feel they are entitled to have these trains stop here, and since there has been such a demand from the public it is believed the company will arrange to include the stopping of the limited trains in the new schedule.

Railway Club.

A meeting of the Northern Railway club will be held in the rooms of the Commercial club tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. There will be a discussion of a paper, "The Soliciting of Freight, the Carrier and the Shipper," and W. H. Siedel of the Great Northern railway will read a paper upon dispatching trains. Music and cigars will follow the business part of the meeting. All out of town members are requested to be present. A special train will be run from Two Harbors.

Train Derailed.

The Duluth, Missabe & Northern train that left Duluth this morning, was derailed at Saginaw, a station on the Duluth, Missabe & Northern, a short distance from Duluth, and was delayed about an hour. It is not known how the derailment occurred. No one was injured and the engine was not put out of commission.

Railroad Personals.

H. R. Groucheau, freight claim agent for the Northwestern line, is in the city today. Mr. Grocheau was formerly general agent of the line at Superior.

Mart Adson, general passenger agent of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railroad, returned today from a business trip to the Twin Cities.

TAFT LOOKS TO CZAR FOR HELP

Up to Russia to Protect Americans in Persia.

Washington, April 23.—President Taft and his advisers are greatly concerned for the safety of American missionaries' interests in Turkey, appalled at the fate of the Armenians there, and perturbed over the desperate conditions at Tabriz, Persia, where the American consular offices fear a massacre. Everything that may be done by the American embassy in Constantinople, and the legation in Teheran, for the protection of American life and interests in the afflicted countries, the officials in Washington say, evidently has been done.

The state department is in communication with the embassy in London to learn what is being done under the Berlin act of 1878, under which Turkey promises to carry out certain reforms regarding the Armenians, and a dispatch has been sent to St. Petersburg, indicating that as there is nothing more the American government can do to relieve the situation in Tabriz, the state department will have to rely on the czar's government for the humanitarian work of saving our citizens.

SAYS MRS. BOYLE IS IN CONTEMPT

Prosecutor Fails to Make Her Talk to Grand Jury.

Mercer, Pa., April 23.—An attempt was made today by District Attorney Lininger to have Mrs. James H. Boyle, held on the charge of kidnaping Willie Whitla, testify before the grand jury, and she was taken from the jail to the grand jury room. When her counsel, Mr. Miller, heard of it, he rushed to the room and instructed her to refuse to say a word. She declined to answer any questions put to her.

Lininger then went before Judge Williams and asked that the woman be committed for contempt. Judge Williams said it was too serious a matter to decide without having it fully argued, but ruled that neither Boyle nor his wife could be compelled to testify until he decided the question.

The first question asked of Mrs. Boyle was:

"Are you married to James H. Boyle?"

The state will try to prove that she is not, so that she can be used as a witness against him.

SENATOR VAIL TREASURES PEN.

Senator P. R. Vall of Virginia reached Duluth this morning, proudly carrying the pen that defeated the tonnage tax measure. The pen was the one that Governor Johnson vetoed the measure with, and was the gift of the chief executive to the senator from Virginia. Mr. Vall exhibited the pen to friends today.

"This pen should be placed in some place where it can be exhibited to the many admirers of the governor in this section of the state," said Senator Vall. "I am proud of the fact that Governor Johnson should choose to give it to me. It is surely a case where the pen proved mightier than the sword. I shall keep the pen in my possession, for it is a fitting souvenir of the act that has proved a boon to the interests of the northern part of the state.

Senator Vall says that the governor is still receiving the congratulations of hundreds of people for the stand he took on the tonnage tax issue.

S. S. WORKERS ORGANIZED

Association Composed of Fifty Schools in the County.

Two Days' Convention Is Opened at the Y. M. C. A.

Delegates representing about fifty Sunday schools of St. Louis county met this afternoon in the assembly hall of the Y. M. C. A. and organized a society to be known as the St. Louis County Sunday School association. The association is modeled after the state organization, but membership is confined to the churches of St. Louis county.

The meeting was opened with prayer, after which the business of the convention was taken up. Officers were elected and committees appointed. Brief talks were made by Prof. Carl Ulrich, A. M. Locker, general secretary of the Minnesota State Sunday School association, and Paul Gilbert. About 100 delegates were in attendance this afternoon.

Tonight's session will be held at Pilgrim Congregational church, Lake avenue and Second street. The principal address of the evening will be delivered by Dr. S. M. Dick, pastor of Wesley church, Minneapolis, who will have for his subject "The Complete Sunday School: What Is It?"

The meetings tomorrow will be held in the Y. M. C. A. hall and the convention will adjourn tomorrow afternoon. There will be a grand post-convention rally Sunday afternoon at the Norwegian Methodist church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street. The program for tonight's meeting at the Pilgrim Congregational church is as follows:

F. N. Burrall, presiding.

7:30—Song service.....
Leader: Paul Gilbert.

Scripture.....
Rev. Arthur H. Wurtele, pastor of Trinity Pro-cathedral.

Prayer.....
Rev. Campbell Coyle, pastor of First Presbyterian church.

7:45—Roll Call, by districts, of Sunday schools in St. Louis county...
A. M. Locker.

8:15—Address: "The Complete Sunday School. What It Is".....
Rev. S. M. Dick, D. D., pastor of Wesley M. E. church, Minneapolis.

NORTH BUTTE IS IMPROVED

The improved tone of North Butte, which advanced during the session, was an encouraging feature of the copper stock market today. The local curb was somewhat easier, but there was a better feeling about the stocks pervading than yesterday.

North Butte opened unchanged from yesterday at $62, declined to $61.75 during the first hour, rallied to $64.50, declined to $63.50 and closed at $63.50 bid and $63.75 asked.

Amalgamated opened at $76.37½, declined to $76.25, rallied to $76.62½ and closed at $76.25 bid and $76.37½ asked. Anaconda opened at $45.37½, declined to $45 and closed at $45 bid.

Greene-Cananea opened at $10.12½, declined to $10, rallied to $10.25 and closed at $10.12½ bid and $10.25 asked. Butte Coalition opened at $24 and closed at $24 bid and $24.25 asked. Calumet & Arizona opened at $100, declined to $99.50 and closed at $99.50 bid and $100 asked. Giroux opened at $8.12½, declined to $8 and closed at $8 bid and $8.12½ asked.

Superior & Pittsburg opened at $13.26, declined to $13.12½, rallied to $13.25 and closed at $13.12½ bid and $13.37½ asked.

Cactus sold at $3.25 and $3.37½ and closed at $3.25 bid and $3.37½ asked. Chief Consolidated sold at $1.37½ and $1.25 and closed at $1.37½ bid. Carman was traded in at $1.50 and closed at $1.50 bid. Butte & Superior sold at 92 cents and closed at 90 cents bid and 92 cents asked.

Cliff was inactive and closed at $2.37½ bid and $2.62½ asked, Globe $4 bid and $4.50 asked, Denn-Arizona at $2.87½ bid and $3.12½ asked, Calumet & Senora at $13 asked, Red Warrior at $2 bid and $2.12½ asked, Mowitza at $1 bid and $1.12½ asked, Savanna at $1.75 bid and $2 asked, National at 60 cents bid and 63 cents asked, Butte-Ballakava at $15 asked, Butte-Alex Scott ($2 paid) $6.75 bid and $7.25 asked, Butte-Alex Scott (full paid) $9 asked, Copper Queen of Idaho at $1.50 bid and $1.62½ asked.

Black Mountain was $1 bid.

WANTS TO WALK IN WOODS ALL NIGHT

Young Gnesen Farmer Is Causing His Friends Much Worry.

Peter Lobeski, a young farmer, 20 years old, living at Gnesen, will be examined as to his sanity by Judge J. B. Middlecoff of the probate court some time tomorrow. This morning the mother filed information against him.

He will not stay at home, seems to want to walk around through the woods all night, and will pay no attention to anything his friends or relatives tell him.

He has caused the people living in the vicinity of his home much anxiety of late. Several parties have at different times had to be organized to look for him, and only last week he went walking out on Pike lake. The ice was very thin and it wasn't long before he was heard to call for help. The neighbors pulled him out, but only after a hard struggle.

His mother says he is too much of a worry to keep at home longer and wishes him sent where he will have to respect orders given him.

IN COURT AGAIN.

Madame Gain Charged With Keeping House of Ill Fame.

The trial of Madame Mary Gain, on the charge of keeping a house of ill fame, was started in municipal court this morning, but was not finished at the noon recess of court.

Three witnesses for the state, regular policemen, testified that they had occupied rooms engaged from the madam, at the rate of $1 a night, on two occasions between April 1 and 10. They told of conversations they had with a chambermaid by the name of Dottie, when the madame was not within hearing, and said the girl told them she was a chamber maid, paid at the rate of $20 a month.

The madame herself did not offer to furnish them with girls, they said, and refused to sell them beer, saying she had none on the premises. The conversation with Dottie was held while she was showing them to their rooms, they testified. All testified that they had not been unlawfully intimate with the girl.

MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL IS DENIED

Anna Rober, who brought suit for $15,000 against the Oliver Iron Mining company some time ago, for personal injuries alleged to have been received by her little daughter from dynamite caps, and who lost her case, was this morning denied a new trial by Judge Dibell of the district court.

She claimed as a basis for a new trial that the Oliver company's agent had tampered with some of the witnesses, which the company denied.

The chief trouble seems to arise over the testimony of Eli Marion. He testified at the time of the trial that he was in Pennsylvania at the time of the accident. Attorney Power, who represented the plaintiff, swore that Marion had told him that he was at the place at the time of the accident, but that the company had threatened Marion many times if he did not testify in the way they wished.

The company comes back at the plaintiff and her attorney by saying that Attorney Power tried to make the man, Marion, testify that he was on the scene of the accident.

There were many other charges and counter charges.

JOHNSON DECRIES TURKISH HORROR

Governor Calls for the Protection of American Citizens.

St. Paul, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor Johnson today made the following written statement:

"The civilized world stands aghast at the horrors in Armenia. The European powers should intervene at once in the interests of humanity and higher civilization. The United States should use every means at its command to protect American citizens.

JOHN A. JOHNSON,
"Governor of Minnesota."

A meeting of the Armenians of St. Paul and Minneapolis will be held tomorrow night, at which resolutions will be adopted appealing to President Taft for intervention to protest against a continuation of Moslem rule in Turkey, and expressing sympathy for the Young Turks and the Liberals.

Tending toward the same end is a set of resolutions adopted by the biennial convention of the Y. W. C. A., in session here, deploring the atrocities in Turkey, and asking the United States government to intervene to stop it.

HARD FIGHT TO PREVENT VETO

A strenuous effort will be made by those who favor the granting of a saloon license to William Meier at Oneota, to induce the mayor to place his approval on the action of the council in granting the license.

Those who want to see the saloon there claim that a count of actual voters in that vicinity would show that those who favored the saloon license being granted were in the majority.

An attempt is also being made to show that the district in which the saloon would be located is a business district, and not a residence district, being near the ore docks and other large industries. It is further pointed out that Carpenter Bros., who were formerly connected with the saloon, and once convicted for selling to minors, will not have anything to do with the Meier saloon, one of them having left the city. William Meier is an old resident of Oneota.

NORWEGIAN IS CALLED CITIZEN

The State Supreme Court Deems His Ignorance No Bar.

St. Paul, Minn., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Lack of accurate knowledge of the Federal Constitution and form of government is not necessarily a bar to citizenship, is the substance of a decision of the Minnesota supreme court today in affirming the decision of a Jackson county court which held that Marias Hanson, a Norwegian and resident of that county is entitled to citizenship.

Hanson, though a resident of the state for nearly eighteen years and with a large family, showed a woeful lack of knowledge concerning the national and state governments.

Witnesses testified that he was a good neighbor, paid his debts, was good to his family, and observed the laws. The court, without further questions pronounced him a citizen of the United States. The majority of the court in commenting upon its affirmation of the lower courts ruling, says that Norway has furnished Minnesota many good citizens. With them good citizenship stands above everything else, and when such is proven there should be no other bar.

THE EVENING STORY

THE THORN ON THE ROSE

By Edward E. Webb.

On a cold night last winter four men sat around a card table in a private room of one of Toronto's largest hotels. It was late, and that the party had entertained themselves well a dozen bottles and as many cigar stumps on the floor mutely testified.

The tallest man with a stack of yellow checks reaching to his chin, was dealing. The red-whiskered fellow was fingering his few remaining "reds" with a nochallance which bespoke familiarity with losses, and he of the bald head was stroking his mustache luminatively. The fourth wabbled in his chair in a manner betokening sleepiness, the cause of which might have been guessed by the regularity with which he picked up one of the empty bottles and essayed to transfer the contained therein into his glass.

The tall man at last showed evidences of sociability and broke the silence of an hour with the remark; "Poor policy to spend a long evening at cards when there is so much fun to be had in this town."

"No chance of fun here," retorted the owner of the whiskers, as he tossed off the balance of his "reds" in another effort to make a four-flush win.

Fortune favored the daring for once, and after raking in a fair-sized pot, the winner became more sociable. "There isn't anything in this town to do but play poker."

"Tobogganing," suggested the tall man as he accidentally upset his stack. "Ring for the waiter, friend; Will buys on the strength of that last pot."

The "friend," who was evidently a chance acquaintance, hailed with joy a chance to get something more substantial than the contents of the air-laden bottles littered about, obeyed with alacrity, and the tall, handsome young fellow became still more communicative after another glass all around.

"You old rascals who never go out of doors when there is danger of freezing a nose are making a great mistake," he began. "Come with me tomorrow night, and I will show you a life that will make you boys again.

"One's initial toboggan trip occupies but a few seconds, but those few seconds are never to be forgotten. You climb to the top of the slide and look down at the icy chutes, inclined at a frightful angle, while far away toward the horizon stretches the expanse of ice. Some one asks if you will make the descent, and since you came ostensibly for that purpose, you see no escape.

"Lovely girls and ruddy, robust men, all clad in Eskimo attire surround you; sparkling eyes and witching smiles confuse you, and sweet voices, like tinklings of bells in the frosty resonant air, lull your fears and partially convince you that a ride might not prove suicidal after all. The indescribable exhilaration and charm of the scene overpower you, and you consent to have a queer-looking, snub-nosed machine shoved up to you and take your seat with many misgivings. As you do so you wonder why these pretended friends laugh so merrily on so serious an occasion.

"Some one gets in behind you—a pair of small, soft mittens are placed on your shoulders and you are cautioned by a bubbling voice to 'sit still and hang on tight.' The voice heightens your appreciation of necessity for correct behavior and you decide to die game.

"Some demon in human form gives you a gigantic shove and yells 'you're off!' and for a moment you believe you really are off as you shoot down the incline at a rapidly increasing pace. Were it not for the merry ring of the rings in your right ear and the tightening grip of the hands on your shoulders, you would be sure the infernal machine was bearing you down to one of those unspeakable witnesses whereof the poet sings. You give an involuntary gasp for breath as the artificially created wind whistles past your ears at the rate of a mile a minute and interferes with the mouth shut. If you were alone you would fall off and take chances at bringing up against some object that would hold you for awhile, but you must be brave, and, outwardly, at least, calm.

"You see nothing but a gray mass which represents the world in general, and half way down you have a sensation of elevation and then scoop through a depression with a jolt that drives your backbone a little further into your head. Suddenly you realize that your hat is gone, and that one ear muff is flying wildly behind the one still attached to your ear.

"The irrepressible bubbles of mirth behind, continue—truly, the girl is both brave and heartless! Your hair is gone, too, you feel sure of that. What a sight you must be! You have already fallen several miles through space. Another bump, and your vertebrae come together like castanets and you become conscious that you are no longer falling, but gliding swiftly forward. With the shock of striking 'aqua firma' you swerve, and then the nose of the toboggan hits the side of the chute, the mittened hands fall ignominiously to keep you in place—and off you go!

"You spin around on the ice in the most undignified manner. Soon you move more slowly and see, far in front, the solitary occupant of your toboggan looking back. You regain your feet and walk forward completely crushed. She is lying on the miserable vehicle too weak from laughing to arise. Some one brings your hat. He, too, is laughing. Soon you see the fun and laugh also.

"'Isn't it glorious?' she asks. 'Let's try it again.'

"'All right,' you say, and you're initiated."

"Bravo," exclaimed the man of the flowing beard. "You should have been a poet."

"Well," admitted the narrator, modestly, "I must confess I had fond recollections to inspire me. I merely described my experiences of a year ago tonight. Ah! There was the girl for you! If ever there was a 'good fellow,' she was. I saw her every day during my stay after that, and had some trouble breaking away from her. She grew extremely fond of me," he concluded in reminiscent mood.

"Why—yes. After I had been gone from here six months I began to miss her, for I really did think a lot of her. So I came back to look her up. I encountered her quite unexpectedly on the street. At first she refused to recognize me, but I corralled her, and she said, in a frightened way, that she was married—had been wedded two months before. I suppose I did wrong, but I urged her to meet me that evening, and after long hesitation she consented.

"Four days ago she met me by appointment in Chicago—made the excuse that she was going to visit one of her old schoolmates, I understand. I brought her back this morning. She is a pretty girl. Grace is—lives over in F— avenue. Always had everything she wanted; father made a mint in Michigan copper,"—and the wine-befogged narrator stifled a yawn.

The silent man of the party turned pale and quickly arose. Seizing a full quart bottle by the neck, he waved it aloft and brought it down with despairing force full upon the head of the handsome young story teller, crushing his skull like an egg shell. Then, while the astonished witnesses of the scene were still speechless, he put on his hat, threw his overcoat across his arm, and remarked, quietly, as he walked to the door:

"You'll really have to excuse me, gentlemen, but the lady referred to is my wife. Good night."

MR. MACBLINK ON BOOKS.

New York Sun: "It is some satisfaction to me to think," said Mr. Macblink, "that if ever I should be cast away on a lone desert island I could along very comfortably if I had any books at all.

"I say any books, with the emphasis on the any advisedly, because I have never yet seen any book that did not have at least something in it worth reading for the pleasure conveyed by it or for the knowledge it contained. The dullest of us have happy thoughts that please ourselves, and sometimes we have fancies bright enough to please others; and we may be able out of our experience to put into a bushel of chaff a grain of information that will be of real value.

"I have never yet talked with anybody from whom I did not learn something; and I have never yet read a book, however dull or apparently hopeless, from which I did not gain some pleasure or profit.

"Lately I have read a long story that was all talk and ruffles, nothing to it, but having started, I traveled on, and in the middle of it I came upon five lines that contained a wise suggestion for our guidance, something really worth knowing, and I felt that I had been far more than repaid.

"This is not a method of reading that you can, as you might say, apply backward. For instance, I remember reading once two lines of poetry that impressed me greatly, and I thought reading once two lines of poetry that impressed me greatly, and I thought, 'What a man who could write poetry like that must be a noble poet; and so I bought his complete works, in two volumes, but with some few exceptions I found his poems pretty dreary reading.

"So it may be that in many books we shall find but a very small gem and a good deal of setting; and I would not counsel reading poor books for the sake of what we may find in them; we shall do better than that if we can get good books, but I do say that if I were cast away on some lone desert island I could get along very comfortably if I had any books at all; for I have never yet seen any book that did not contain something."

FLAGS TRAIN FOR MARRIAGE WITNESSES.

Fort Patterman Correspondent San Francisco Call: Rather than postpone a wedding ceremony he had been called from a distance to perform, the Rev. Mr. Daniels yesterday flagged a freight train, pressed the train crew into services as witnesses and proceeded with the ceremony. Charles Page and Louise Conwell had called him to marry them. There were no witnesses.

Hearing a train whistle, the three hurried to the little flag station, the Rev. Mr. Daniels stopping the train and explaining the dilemma to the astonished conductor. Then, with the bride standing on the steps of the caboose, and the blushing bridegroom on the ground and the conductor and brakeman paying strict attention, the ceremony was performed.

PRIMUS BUTTER IS BEST

Because it is made at our own factory, under the most scientific and sanitary methods known, from the selected cream of inspected dairies, by an expert buttermaker. Country butter for the most is unsatisfactory, and cannot compete with creamery butter. You don't know the conditions under which the country butter is made. Sometimes the average water content of country butter is so high that it ought not to be legally sold. Lack of knowledge of the maker and the use of unsatisfactory utensils are the causes.

GIVE BUTTER ITS NEW NAME

Fitzsimmons-Palmer Co. Will Call Its Product "Supremo."

The Fitzsimmons-Palmer company has selected as a name for its new creamery butter "Supremo," being a Latin word, meaning the highest and best. This name has been selected out of a list of over 2,000 that has been sent in in answer to its ad for a name. There were many very desirable names and designs submitted, for which the company wishes to thank the senders very kindly. "Supremo" was suggested by two people, Miss Lizzie Markus and Miss Mayme Rakowsky, each, therefore, being entitled to share in the prize offered.

The company selected "Supremo" for its brand because it stands for the quality that its butter will have at all times, the very highest and best. This butter is made right in the center of one of the best butter sections of the state, in a creamery that is strictly up-to-date, with all the latest improvements, and the head buttermaker has one of the highest records held in the United States.

Ask your dealer for "Supremo" brand creamery butter and give it a trial, and be convinced that it is the highest quality butter in the market. See that the word "Supremo" is on each wrapper. The company guarantees the butter to be all that is claimed for it, or your money refunded.

SWITCH FOREMAN CUT TO PIECES

A. E. Harris of Crookston Meets Death at Devils Lake, N. D.

Devils Lake, N. D., April 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. E. Harris, aged 31 years, foreman of a switching crew in the Great Northern yards here, was killed this morning at 8 o'clock under a freight train, his body being cut directly in two across the chest.

The victim of the accident is a resident of Crookston and a son of T. A. Harris of that city.

OBJECT TO THE POLES

Property Owners Want Underground Conditions for Wires.

Violent Opposition to Duluth Telephone Company's Plans.

The application of the Duluth Telephone company for permission to establish telephone pole lines in different parts of the city, covering a district from the West end to Woodland, has met with violent opposition on the part of property owners in front of whose property it is proposed to set poles, and when the matter was taken up at the regular meeting of the board of public works this morning, so many people were on hand to lodge their objections that the hearing had to be held in the council room, because of a lack of space in the rooms of the board.

After a lengthy discussion, pretty freely participated in by the irate property owners, the hearing was adjourned for one week. The question probably will come before the council for further consideration. From present indications, final regulations covering the setting out of poles in the affected districts, will not be made for several weeks.

The property owners all want any additional lines to be laid in underground conduits, and complain that the poles are unsightly and a damage to property values. They say that with the telegraph, telephone, street car and electric light companies all putting up lines, a regular forest of poles and network of wires results.

Several business men were in evidence among them was Henry Nolte, who argued in favor of an ordinance prohibiting the placing of any more telegraph or telephone poles anywhere in the city. He said that in a city the size and importance of Duluth the companies should be compelled to lay all their wires underground, in the outlying districts as well as in the city proper. The strongest objections this morning came from property owners along Twenty-third and Twenty-fifth avenues east.

On some of the streets where the company asks for the right to erect pole lines the city has no right to grant a right-of-way. This permission will have to come from owners of property. The plan of the company includes some underground lines, but for the most part the application covers poles only.

DULUTH MEN BACK OF IT

Form New Company To Operate Package Freight Boats.

Steamers Auburn and Yonkers First Two Boats Secured.

Articles of incorporation will be filed with the secretary of state within the next few days, which will bring into existence a new packet line, to be known as the Cleveland-Chicago Transit company. It is backed and financed entirely by Duluth parties, and the main offices will be maintained in this city.

The company has secured two vessels, the steamers Auburn and Yonkers, which will begin at once to ply regularly between Cleveland and Milwaukee and Chicago. Both vessels are package freighters, well known on the lakes. More vessels will be added as needed.

Through freight arrangements have been made with the railroad lines south of Cleveland connecting that city with the Pittsburg district and with lines west and south of Milwaukee and Chicago.

The Auburn left Buffalo today for Cleveland, where she will load for Chicago. The new company will be capitalized at $50,000 and will be managed by W. J. Douglass of Cleveland.

ESCAPE WAS NARROW ONE

Jumped Into Waters of Kingsbury Creek After Him.

The timely appearance of an unknown man, who refused to divulge his name, is responsible for saving little Willis Nelson from a watery grave in Kingsbury creek yesterday afternoon.

The episode occurred at the point where the creek flows into the St. Louis river. Young Nelson, who is the 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Nelson of 31 South Sixty-first avenue west, was playing on a raft with a number of other lads at the time.

He took a dare to go over the falls at this point with the raft. The result was that he was thrown out into several feet of water. His cries for help attracted the attention of a passerby, who helped the boy from his plight, by jumping in after him. The boy was badly scared and received a scolding when he reached home. There were no ill-effects.

CIVIL WAR VETERAN DIES

R. L. Booker Passes Away at the Age of 94 Years.

Richmond L. Booker, 94 years of age, died last evening. He was a member of Company G, Thirty-first regiment, Maine Infantry Volunteers.

Funeral services will be under the auspices of Willis A. Gorman post, G. A. R., and will be held from the family residence, 4508 Grand avenue west, at 2 o'clock Saturday. Rev. M. S. Rice will conduct the services, and interment will be in Forest Hill cemetery.

Mr. Booker leaves a wife, 92 years old, two granddaughters, Mrs. Frank Roscoe and Mrs. O'Leary, and one grandson, George Booker, all of this city.

BOAT LAUNCHED.

F. H. Wade Puts His Fast Motor Boat Into the Water.

F. H. Wade launched his motor boat today. The ice is gone and there is nothing to obstruct the passage of boats in the bay.

Sunday, it is expected, will be a banner day for the West Duluth boat enthusiasts. Many boat owners, who have not already done so, will probably launch their crafts then.

A number of the old boats have been painted since last year, and now make a fine appearance. There will be several new launches put into the water this year. In a few days races will be arranged.

TRIAL SATURDAY.

Joseph Jacobs, the tug captain who was arrested Tuesday morning on the charge of slandering Miss Ethel Hall, will be tried tomorrow morning in Judge Flack's court by a jury. Jacobs resides at 422 South Sixty-first avenue west.

It is charged by Miss Hall that Jacobs used words such as would defame her name. Jacobs was released without bail on his own recognizance.

JOINT SERVICE.

West Duluth and Proctor Odd Fellows Will Celebrate Together.

West Duluth lodge No. 168, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, will hold anniversary services at Proctor Sunday, jointly celebrating with the Proctor lodge.

The feature of the occasion will be the sermon, which will be delivered by Rev. C. W. Ramshaw.

Commercial Club Meeting.

A large attendance is expected at the meeting of the Commercial club tonight. The matter of thanking Governor Johnson by means of proper resolutions will be disposed of, and the Grassy Point bridge proposition also will be taken up.

Anderson-Berg.

The marriage of Miss Annie Anderson and Carl Berg took place last evening at the parsonage of the Elim Swedish Lutheran church. Rev. J. A. Krantz, pastor, officiated. Both of the young people are well known in West Duluth and will make it their future home.

Had No License.

John Burke, porter at the New Era hotel, 5508 Raleigh street, has been arrested on a charge of selling intoxicants at an improvised bar back of the hotel without a license.

West Duluth Briefs.

J. M. Johnson was down on a short business trip from Hibbing today.

Mrs. L. W. Cary is ill at her home, 16 North Fifty-eighth avenue west.

D. Marble of North Fifty-seventh avenue, is again able to be up and around after his recent illness.

Mrs. Romaine Greene was down from Colbyville this morning to look after her property holdings at West Duluth.

L. A. Barnes has purchased lot 5, block 46, Oneota, from L. Gauthier. The consideration was not named in the deed. The property is a house and lot on Fortieth avenue west.

Revival services will be held this evening at Our Savior's Norwegian Lutheran church.

A delegation from the Improved Order of Red Men, West Duluth lodge, participated last evening at a joint entertainment given by the Superior order at Superior.

Ed Doane and Guy Nettleton have gone to Cloquet, where they will be employed in a sawmill.

Murray Bros. manufacture the famous Non-excelled ice cream.

Rev. J. A. Kranz has returned from Two Harbors, where he attended the recent district conference of his church.

Old Hickory Camp, M. W. A., will meet next Wednesday and initiate a large class of new members. The degree team has been drilling for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Lehman have returned to their home at South Bend, Ind., after a two weeks' visit with relatives at West Duluth. They were called here on account of the serious illness of Mrs. Lehman's mother, Mrs. J. W. Moerle of 615 Forty-ninth avenue west, whose condition has improved.

Rev. C. W. Scherenius, pastor of the Second Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, will leave Monday for Virginia to be in attendance at a week's conference of the Methodist pastors of the Lake Superior district. Ashland, Washburn, Grantsburg, Superior, Hayward and Duluth are the cities which will send delegates.

Watch repairing, Hurst, W. Duluth.

SUPERIOR NEWS

MURDER MAY BE CHARGE

Victim of Youth's Assault Is in Critical Condition.

Was Struck on Head With Piece of Scrap Iron.

Robbed of his reason by a blow on his head from a piece of scrap iron last Saturday, Arthur Levenson, who has been employed at the Superior Metal & Iron works, is today a raving maniac. At St. Mary's hospital, where the unfortunate man is confined, attending physicians fear that he can live but a short while.

His predicament is due to a controversy, in which he and a number of boys were engaged over the purchase of some junk, which they wished to sell him last Saturday afternoon. He refused to have anything to do with the boys, telling them that he thought that the property they were trying to dispose of was stolen goods. One of the boys, Ray Brand, took offense at the remark and hit him a blow over the head with a piece of the iron.

Levenson succumbed to the blow and was later taken to the hospital. Brand was arrested shortly afterward on a charge of assault. Today, when the serious condition of Levenson was made known, another warrant was sworn out for the arrest of Brand on the more serious charge of assault with intent to kill. If Levanson dies, it is understood that Brand will be held on a murder charge.

Would Murder for $10.

That there were men in Superior who could be hired to commit murder for $10, was the sensational statement that was made by Attorney George C. Cooper yesterday before a jury in superior court. The case being tried was that of Ida Nelson vs. N. C. Drew. The plaintiff in the action is seeking to recover $960 for alleged services performed for him.

Attorney Cooper also stated that many persons who took the witness stand in superior court day after day, perjured themselves. The arguments in the case were continued this morning and afternoon.

Annual Inspection.

The annual inspection of officers of the Superior commandery, No. 25, Knights Templars, was held last evening. P. H. Sperry of Marinette, inspector general, was among the out-of-town people to witness the affair.

Judges Chosen.

Miss Ethel M. Long, and Miss Anna M. Carey, both of the Duluth normal school faculty, together with J. Hagmann of the Mellin schools, will act as judges for the annual declamatory and oratorical contest in which a number of Northern Wisconsin schools are represented. It will be held this evening at the Blaine school.

Falls Dead in Chair.

F. Fromberg, alias John Anderson, fell dead in his seat in the back room of a saloon at 1712 West Third street at 11:15 this morning. His death is attributed to heart failure, brought about by heavy drinking.

Little is known of the man. He is a woodsman, 28 years of age. His body is held by a Superior undertaker pending funeral arrangements.

Will Meet Spaldings.

The Clippers, the East end baseball team, have arranged a game with the Spaldings of Duluth, for the formal opening of their season on Sunday, May 2. They are arranging to play a number of out of town teams this summer.

Coleman Is Fined.

Percy A. Coleman was found guilty in municipal court yesterday of pointing a revolver at J. W. Leach, a negro mail carrier on the Billings park route. Coleman was fined $10, or had the option of fifteen days in the workhouse. In the trial it developed that Coleman did not like a colored mail carrier on general principles and had complained, also, of poor service.

NINTH ANNUAL BALL.

The Third Regiment band gave its ninth annual ball in the Armory last evening, and the big drill room was crowded from 9 o'clock until midnight, the affair being a financial and social success. No programs were furnished, great generosity being shown by the musicians in the matter of encores. The full band played, and rendered a number of inspiring two-steps and pretty waltzes, besides a few three-steps and fancy dances. Refreshments were on tap after 9 o'clock.

WHEAT HAS AN ADVANCE

Recovers Part Loss in Bear Drive of Previous Day.

Flax Is Dull and Prices Are Lower at the Close.

Duluth Board of Trade, April 23.—In a good buying market today wheat recovered some of the loss it sustained in the furious bear drive of yesterday.

Prices at the opening were strong, and a selling movement during the first hour did not keep prices down very long after. During the rest of the session the options were in good demand and the prices steadily improved, closing fractionally higher than yesterday in Duluth and more than a point up in Minneapolis.

The Modern Miller's report of conditions in the Southwest had rather a bearish tone, the Argentine shipments were late and cables weak, but the weather in the spring wheat district continues to be such as to retard seeding and the foreign demand for the actual grain is firm, these last being the principal news which favored the bulls.

The Modern Miller says:

"The generally improved condition of the winter wheat crop is well maintained though warmer weather is needed to forward plant growth. So far the growth is backward, but nearly everywhere the plant has a healthy color. Prospects are better than when April opened."

Argentine shipments of wheat were 2,936,000 bu., against 2,344,000 bu., last week and 2,594,000 bu., a year ago.

The May option closed ⅜c higher in Duluth, 1⅛c higher in Chicago, 1@1⅛c higher in Minneapolis, ⅝c higher in New York, ⅜c lower in St. Louis, 1c higher in Kansas City and 1⅞c higher in Winnipeg. The July option closed ⅜c higher in Duluth, ¼@⅜c higher in Chicago, 1@1⅛c higher in Minneapolis, ⅞c higher in New York and Kansas City, ⅛@¼c lower in St. Louis and 1⅛c higher in Winnipeg.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool:

"Wheat—The market here was unsettled and rather heavy at the opening under liberal offerings and some selling, stimulated by the severe break in American markets yesterday, and the more liberal shipment from both Argentina and Australia than was expected. During the early morning, July suffered a further decline of ⅜d and at this time was 1⅜d lower than yesterday under liberal realizing. Later, the market showed strength and the decline was recovered and more, too. Shorts were induced to cover, owing to the improved demand for cargoes, strength of Manitoba parcels and the comparative strength in spot markets. It is expected that Russian shipments this week will not show any increase over those of last week, and that shipments from America will be small. At the close, the market was very firm and from 1d to 1⅝d higher than the low of the morning and ⅛d higher to ⅛d lower than last night.

"Corn was steady at the start and unchanged to ⅛d lower. Later the market declined ⅛d to ⅜d on the liberal shipments from Argentina, increase in the visible there and the pressure of both La Plata cargoes and parcels. At mid-day, the market was ⅜d to ⅝d lower than yesterday."

Car receipts of wheat at Duluth were 27 against 7 last year, and at Minneapolis 92 against 108 last year, making a total for the Northwest of 119 against 115 last year. Chicago received 4 against 16 last year.

Primary receipts of wheat were 174,000 bu., last year 268,000 bu. Shipments 202,000 bu., last year 134,000 bus. Clearances of wheat and flour were 154,317 bu.

Primary receipts of corn were 191,000 bu., last year 382,000 bu. Shipments 322,000 bu., last year 346,000 bu. Clearances of corn were 250,257 bu.

Wheat trading was active during the session in the Duluth market. May wheat opened 1c higher at $1.19¾, declined to $1.18½ and rallied from that level to $1.19¾, closing at $1.19½, a gain of ¾c over yesterday. July wheat opened ½c higher at $1.19, advanced to $1.20, declined to $1.18⅞ and gradually fluctuated to $1.20⅛, closing at $1.19¾, a gain of ¾c over yesterday. September wheat opened late at $1.05⅛, and closed at $1.05⅝, a gain of ⅝c over yesterday.

Durum wheat closed ½c higher. About thirty loads of wheat were worked for export during the day, most of them being durum.

Cash spring wheat was 2¼c over May for No. 1 northern.

Flax was dull and closed weak. May flax opened unchanged at $1.64, declined to $1.63 and closed ½c lower than yesterday at $1.63½. July flax declined from $1.64 to $1.63½, a loss of ½c from yesterday. September flax was unchanged and October flax closed ½c lower at $1.37¾.

Oats closed ½c lower, barley ½c higher and rye 3c up.

Following were the closing prices:

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Prices Break After Rebounding From Thursday's Close.

Chicago, April 23.—After rebounding sharply from yesterday's closing figures, wheat prices today broke to a level considerably below the lowest point touched during the severe slump in the previous session, the July delivery selling off to $1.08⅞. The more distant deliveries were also subjected to heavy selling pressure under which the December option declined to the dollar mark.

The market quieted down materially during the last half of the day and a much steadier feeling developed, after prices had rallied from one to two cents. The close was fairly steady with July up ¼@⅜c at $1.10¼. May was 1⅛c higher at $1.22⅛ and September a shade higher at $1.02¾.

The market opened irregular with prices ⅛c lower to 3½c higher, the latter being on the May delivery which sold at the start at $1.23 to $1.24½. July opened at $1.10½ to $1.11. After the opening bulge the market quickly developed a decidedly weak tone and prices again started downward. Within the first half hour May had declined to $1.21 while at the same time July had sold off to $1.08⅞. The market then rallied a trifle on covering by shorts. With the exception of a comparatively firm market at Liverpool, the news of the day was bearish.

The low price for May was reached at 67¾c. The market then rallied on buying by cash houses and regain a large part of the early loss. The close was steady with May 1@1½c lower at 69⅛c. July was off ⅛@⅞c at 67½c.

Corn prices slumped severely early in the session under a flood of selling orders, the May delivery declining 4⅜c from the best mark of the preceding day and the July option opening 3 cents. The selling was chiefly by leading holders who were anxious to secure profits. At the opening prices were ⅛c to ⅜@½c higher, May being at 70¾c to 70⅞c. July opened at 68½c to 68¾c. Before the decline was checked May had dropped to 67⅝c, while July had sold off to 66¼c.

Oats shared in the general liquidation, but prices experienced less severe declines. May, after opening a shade higher at 56⅛c, declined to 55¼c.

Trade in provisions was dull and the market was bearishly affected by the weakness of grain. Prices at the start were 2½c lower to 2½c higher.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Gradual Strength Appears and Wheat Closes Slightly Higher.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 23.—The opening responded to the surprising advance in the cables. Profit taking, though, caused a break of 2c in the first half hour. Local stocks of wheat decreased 575,000 bushels this week as compared with a decrease of 690,000 bushels last week. The market gradually strengthened at the opening and closed 1⅝c higher than the low point. Minneapolis today received 92 cars against 108; Duluth 27, against 7; Winnipeg 87, against 46. May opened $1.21; high, $1.21¼; low, $1.19; close, $1.20⅝. July opened $1.21⅛; high, $1.21⅛; low, $1.19; close, $1.20⅝@$1.20⅝@1.20¾. Cash wheat was inclined to be a little earier today. ffering were light and several cars were carried over. Local millers were the principal buyers. No. 1 northern sold for 2¾@3c over the May option and No. 2 northern for ¾@1c over. No. 1 northern spot $1.23⅛; to arrive, $1.22⅞@1.23⅛. No. 2 northern, spot, $1.21⅛; to arrive, $1.20⅞@1.21⅛. No. 3 wheat, $1.18⅛@1.19⅛. No. 3 yellow corn, 67¾@68¼c. No. 3 white oats, 52⅜@52⅞c. No. 3 rye, 84¾@87¼c.

Flax—Receipts 1 car today, against 15; shipments, 2. No change was reported. Lack of offerings made the market inactive. Prices were the same as the Duluth May option. Close, $1.63¼.

Barley—Receipts, 14 cars today, against 10; shipments, 42. Today's market was inclined to be a trifle easy. Prices were generally quoted ½c off. Demand for malting barley was strong and other grades met a fair inquiry. Close, 62½@64½c.

Millstuffs—Shipments, 1,665 tons. Demand was strong and in excess of the supply and the market was very active. Shipments showed an increase and prices remained the same. Bran in bulk, $23.00@23.50.

Flour was in fair demand. There were some large sales reported yesterday, but it was impossible to confirm these sales. Shipments were steady and prices held firm. Shipments, 41,911 barrels. First patents, $5.80@6.00; second patents, $5.70@5.90; first clears, $4.85@5.05; second clears, $3.35@3.55.

STOCKS ON DOWN GRADE

Market Started Out Active and Higher, But Soon Declined.

New York, April 23.—Active opening dealings today carried prices of stocks upwards in uniform small fractions. There was a sprinkling of declines including a number of the principal active stocks. Exceptional gains were shown by New York, Chicago & St. Louis, which rose 2⅜, and American Locomotive and American Car preferred 1.

The market showed indecision for a while, some of the leaders reacting, while others held their own or advanced. Subsequently the list moved upward, but the principal stocks did not get much away from yesterday's final prices. The industrials were unusually prominent.

Profit-taking caused prices to sag. Here and there stocks sold lower than last night. Trading became very dull at that stage. Hocking Coal, Corn Products preferred and American Cotton Oil preferred rose 1½, Distillers Securities 1¼ and Union Bag preferred 1. Crex Car Pedro preferred rose 2¼ and American Beet Sugar 1. Bonds were steady.

Buying of a few leaders failed to stimulate the general market when Reading and American Smelting began to weaken the list yielded sympathetically. Trading increased considerably on the decline. Virginia-Carolina Chemical preferred sagged 2, Reading 1¼ and Iowa Central preferred, American Smelting and American Sugar 1. Northwestern preferred was marked up 3 points. American Linseed preferred 1½, Rock Island preferred 1⅜ and Amalgamated Copper and Corn Products 1.

Concerted buying of the metal stocks which lifted National Lead 1½ above yesterday's price and wiped out the point loss in American Smelting had only a momentary settling effect on the general market, which afterwards became very weak. Reading and other dividend-paying railroad stocks were sold freely. Wisconsin Central lost 2¼, Reading 2, American Smelting 1⅝, Union Pacific, Northern Pacific, Great Northern preferred, Baltimore & Ohio, Delaware & Hudson, Pennsylvania, Missouri Pacific, Kansas & Texas, Southern Pacific, American Telephone & Telegraph and International Paper preferred 1.

The market closed generally weak and unsettled. There was extensive covering by shorts in the final hour, which worked a substantial rally. At the higher level stocks poured out again and prices receded to a lower point than before. There were some renewed rallies in the final dealings.

REMARKS.

Low temperature prevailed last night in all districts except Kentucky. Light rain or snow fell over Ohio Valley states.

H. W. RICHARDSON, Local Forecaster.

T. Indicates inappreciable rainfall. *For yesterday †For twenty-four hours ending 8 a. m., 75th meridian time. ‡Minimum temperature for twelve hours ending 8 a. m., 75th meridian time.

NOTE.—The average maximum and minimum temperatures and the average rainfall are made up at each center from the actual number of reports received. The "state of weather" is that prevailing at time of observation.

The Cotton Market.

New York, April 23.—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 2 points on May, while later months were generally 1 to 2 points lower under scattering liquidation. After a net decline of 3@4 points the market rallied, with new crop months relatively steady during the morning. Prices ruled net unchanged to 2 points higher.

Spot quiet; middling uplands, 10.45; middling gulf, 10.70. The sales for the day were 100 bales. Futures closed steady. Closing bids: April, 10.18; May, 10.20; June, 10.19; July, 10.19; August, 10.08; September, 10.00; October, 9.99; November, 9.99; December, 9.98; January, 9.91; March, 9.91.

New York Money.

New York, April 23.—Money on call firmer, 2@3 per cent; ruling rate, 2; closing bid, 2; offered at 2¼. Time loans steady; 60 days, 2¼@2½ per cent; 90 days, 2½; 6 months, 2¾. Prime mercantile paper, 3½@4 per cent. Sterling exchange steady, with actual business in bankers' bill at $4.86.10@4.86.20 for 60-day bills and at $4.87.45 for demand. Commercial bills, $4.85¾@4.85⅞. Bar silver, 52¼c. Mexican dollars, 44c. Government bonds, firm; railroad bonds, irregular.

Midway Horse Market.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul, Minn., April 23.—Barrett & Zimmerman report: Market was somewhat quiet, the bulls if the movement going to local commercial and teaming interests. Several new consignments of logging horses were among the receipts. A number of inquiries are being received from railroad contractors who expect to close contracts in the near future, and will need a large number of both horses and mules. Big, rugged, young mules found easy clearance. Driving and saddler horses are meeting with increased demand.

APRIL 23rd, 1909.

Butte-Alex Scott is beginning to show the strength back of it from a mine point of view. Here is a proposition that can stand anything. The mine is worth over $4,000,000 and boys, if you lose a dollar, do not blame me for it, it is up to you to find out what this proposition is. We are treating you fair and square, we pay every dollar we owe to anybody who has it coming, you do not see any run on this office even in the most strenuous times, for we always come through. My customers have made millions, and the Butte-Alex Scott mine will make over $3,000,000 for my people before one year rolls around.

We will gladly buy your stock, but remember, in a few days this mine will have more friends than ever before. We are all friendly now; everybody feels better; we sincerely hope that from now on, everything will continue on a friendly basis. But remember, as far as the public is concerned, they find out that we try to handle mines of real value. It is sometimes a good thing to find out what a proposition is that you are interested in.

The whole market should do better as far as the curbs are concerned, Zenith Lead & Zinc, Calumet & Sonora and others should be bought. We are as strong as any curb office in Duluth.

Give us your business, we will treat you right.

TURKISH CAPITAL FALLS; REVOLUTIONISTS CONTROL; THOUSAND MEN ARE SLAIN

Vast Numbers of Hamid's Troops Are Taken Prisoners.

American Newspaper Correspondent Shot in the Neck.

"But what good came of it at last?"
Quoth little Peterkin.
"Why, that I cannot tell," said he;
"But 'twas a famous victory."
—The Battle of Blenheim.

Constantinople, April 24.—The men in the Tasch Kischla barracks surrendered at 1 o'clock, and with this event the entire capital passed into the possession of the Constitutionalists. It is impossible as yet, accurately to set forth the number of killed and wounded, but the casualties probably will exceed 1,000.

The Red Cross society is active and many Armenian women are busily engaged in caring for the wounded.

Several thousands of the Constantinople garrison have been taken prisoners by the Constitutionalists.

Rifle firing this morning, mingled with the occasional rattle of artillery from the heights surrounding Yildiz Kiosk, marked the culmination of the expected clash between the troops of the Constantinople garrison and the army of investment, which began its advance on the city yesterday afternoon. The fighting started in the southwest part of Pera, near Yildiz Kiosk, between the troops under Gen. Mahmoud Schefket, commanding the army of investment, and part of those loyal to the sultan.

The firing was still in progress at 7, the Salonikl troops having attacked the Matchka, and Tasch Kischla barracks, south of Yildiz Kiosk, where they met stubborn resistance. The casualties are heavy.

Despite the fighting, excellent order prevailed in the city for a while, but later a panic ensued and thousands began fleeing. Detachments of military cadets, commanded by officers of the Constitutionalists, are protecting the foreign embassies, and every possible measure has been taken to prevent disturbances in the city. Enver Bey, one of the Young Turk leaders, has sent a company of infantry to Guech location.

At 10 the firing had almost ceased, but at long intervals the field guns

SON ENTERS PEN FOR HIS FATHER

Benson Bidwell Freed Due to Sacrifice of Offspring.

Chicago, April 24.—Benson Bidwell, freed of a prison sentence by the sacrifice of his son, Charles, walked from the county jail today a free man. The parting between the aged inventor and his son who has a week more to spend in jail before being taken to the penitentiary, was affecting. It was the father, about to breathe the free air again, and not the son, self-doomed to prison, who needed and received comforting words.

The Bidwells were convicted of swindling stockholders by means of an alleged worthless "cold motor." The younger Bidwell appealed from this decision, and had expressed the hope of ultimately gaining his liberty. In the midst of these hopes his father's health suddenly gave way. Feeling that the latter could not live long within prison walls, Charles offered to abandon his appeal providing his father were allowed to plead guilty to a minor charge. To this there was no objection, and today the elder Bidwell finished serving the ten days to which he was sentenced, under the new arrangement.

Benson Bidwell is a brother of the Bidwell brothers who robbed the Bank of England of an immense sum, a generation ago. Both died after serving long prison sentences, and were buried by Benson Bidwell.

SCOTT DECLINES TO BE AN AMBASSADOR.

Washington, April 24.—Harvey W. Scott of Portland, Or., who was tendered the ambassadorship to Mexico, today declined that office. The declination is made in a letter received by President Taft today.

ROAD'S CONTROL OF OTHER LINES ENDS.

Columbus, Ohio, April 24.—The Franklin county circuit court, in a decision handed down today, ousts the Hocking Valley railroad from control and management of the Toledo & Ohio Central, the Zanesville & Western, the Kanawha & Michigan railroads and from ownership and control of the stock of the Buckeye Coal & Railway company, the Sunday Creek company, and other coal companies.

FOUR PERISH IN FIRE WHEN TOPEKA HOTEL IS BURNED TO THE GROUND

OPERA HOUSE MAN IS REPORTED DEAD

HEINRICH CONREID.

Paris, April 24.—It is reported here that Heinrich Conreid, formerly director of the Metropolitan opera house of New York, died today at Merna, in the Austrian Tyrol. Mrs. Conreid was with him.

Sleepers Lose Lives in Rooms Having No Windows.

Crossed Electric Wires Cause Destruction of the Central.

Topeka, Kan., April 24.—Four persons lost their lives and three were seriously injured in a fire that destroyed the Central hotel here early today.

The hotel, which was a two-story brick structure, was situated on Kansas avenue, between Fiftieth and Sixth streets, in the business district.

The dead:

JOHN W. ERICKSON, Clay Center, Kan., county clerk.

BENJAMIN SHIPLEY, Belle Plain, Kan.

WALTER SHIPLEY, Topeka, Santa Fe railway, chemist.

L. R. STRATTON, Polk county, Mo., district watcher in hotel.

Stratton was a telegraph lineman and carried a letter from the telegraph department of the Union Pacific at Omaha instructing him to report for duty here.

Erickson formerly was county clerk of Clay county, Kan. He was in Topeka, attending a Christian Endeavor convention.

The fire started at 4 o'clock, from crossed electric light wires, on the first floor, and spread rapidly. The rooms on the second floor were small, and those on the side of the building where the four men lost their lives, had no windows while the hallway was narrow and dark.

Today's is the second serious hotel fire in Topeka in three months. January 14 the Copeland, a famous stopping place for politicians, was destroyed. The Copeland at the time was filled with prominent persons from all over the state, attendant upon the legislature. Isaac Lambert of Emporia, a well-known railway attorney and politician, lost his life, and twenty persons were injured. There were many sensational escapes, several of the guests jumping from the upper windows.

DESTRUCTIVE FARMER HELD TO GRAND JURY.

Marinette, Wis., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Quick, who several months ago, in his determination to prevent the extending of the Marinette-Peshtigo canal through his property, smashed a dredge, owned by the contracting company, has been bound over to circuit court to stand trial on a charge of maliciously destroying property.

FIND HIM WITH BOY

Brandenburg, Wanted for Larceny, Caught in Frisco.

Country-Wide Flight Ends —Child Was Thought Kidnaped.

San Francisco, Cal., April 24.—Broughton Brandenburg, novelist and magazine writer, was arrested here last night as a fugitive from justice in New York, on charge of grand larceny in connection with a political article printed in the New York Times, and claimed to have been written by Grover Cleveland. He declares he is the Dreyfus of America, and has been made the scapegoat of politics.

Shortly before the election last year he sold the Cleveland article to the New York Times, which published it after F. S. Hastings, Cleveland's executor, had pronounced the signature genuine. Later, Hastings declared the letter a forgery and Brandenburg was indicted on two counts, one for forgery and one for larceny. The forgery charge was dropped and Brandenburg was released on $1,500 bail to appear Feb. 1, for trial on the other charge. He failed to appear when the case was called and the police of the entire country have been searching for him.

Brandenburg's 5-year-old stepson, James S. Cabanne, who disappeared from St. Louis and was thought to have been kidnaped, was with him when he was arrested in a hotel.

The child was asleep when Brandenburg was interviewed regarding the part the little one took in the continent-wide flight. He said:

"I arrived in St. Louis a little more than a week ago and stopped here to get my stepson, who was with his grandparents, who are members of a prominent family. It was then that I determined to come to California to work until my fortunes turned. My wife is in New York and I had planned to send for her and establish my family in a little summer home."

WIFE IN POOL OF BLOOD.

Woman Claims She Was Knocked in Head and Wrists Cut.

Gary, Minn., April 24.—A serious cutting affray, of which Mrs. Fred Meyers was the victim, took place some time Monday. Both her wrists were badly cut and one quite seriously. Mr. Meyers had been at Ada during the day and returned in the evening, finding his wife in a pool of blood. Dr. Helmark was called and arrived there about midnight to dress the wounds. Mrs. Meyers claims some one struck her senseless, when the act was committed.

Stillwater Elects Mayor.

Stillwater, Minn., April 24.—J. W. Foley, a Democrat, was elected mayor at the special election Thursday, receiving 638 votes. There were thirty scattering. About a third of the voters were out. Mr. Foley took hold at the council meeting last night.

Menominee, Mich., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Game Warden Bedell this week pounced upon several big nets, set in Springer's Creek about five miles from Menominee and confiscated the nets and several hundred pounds of trout. George Anderson, the owner of the nets, has been ar-

FORMER GOVERNOR, PARDONED, AND HIS BEAUTIFUL GIRLS FINISH EXILE AND RETURN TO OLD KENTUCKY HOME

CALEB POWERS, Principal Defendant in Gobel Murder Case.

GOVERNOR WILLSON Of Kentucky, Who Issues the Pardons.

Taylor and Finley Prepare to Leave Indiana Haven.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 24.—After having been for nine years an exile, a fugitive from his home state of Kentucky, Former Governor W. S. Taylor is today preparing to return to the blue grass region from which he fled after being charged with murdering Former Governor Goebel, following that fearful election contest that racked Kentucky from edge to edge. With Taylor will go Charles Finley, former secretary of state of Kentucky, who fled with him, being charged with complicity in the Goebel murder. Pardons announced today, as granted by Governor Willson of Kentucky to Taylor, Finley and others, clear the way for the return of the fugitives.

It has been a long nine years that Taylor and his family have put in, across the line from their beloved home commonwealth. Ever since the dark night when Taylor crept over the state line and cast about for a safe dwelling place on the Hoosier side, he and his wife and daughters have lived in constant dread that some time the governor of Indiana might heed the constant call of the governor of Kentucky and extradite the fugitive. And all of that time Taylor has lived almost within the shade of the Indiana state capitol, but never have the political faiths of the governors of the two states been of exact enough shade to permit the granting of the extradition requests.

Once, in those long nine years, the Taylors essayed to break from their bonds of seclusion, and the two pretty Misses Taylor—dark-eyed beauties as ever the blue grass soil boasted of—attended a grand society ball, but on the way home that night they were waylaid and narrowly escaped with their lives from the hands of a small band of assaulters. It was written then and there on Indianapolis police annals that Kentucky vengeance had been at work.

To Finley the pardon means an opportunity to visit his father and mother and care for them in their old age. He expects to return to his home in Kentucky.

Friends gathered at the Taylor home in North Delaware street last night to congratulate Miss Anna Taylor, the former governor's eldest daughter, upon the pardon of her father.

"The news is almost too good to be true," she said. "I have always longed to go back to Kentucky to the old home. Of course since the death of my mother it would not be the same, but there is no spot in the world like one's native state."

Taylor's old home is in Morgantown, Ky. His wife died in Indianapolis in 1901. Finley will return to his home in Williamsburg.

Others Are Pardoned.

The Kentucky governor has also pardoned John Powers, brother of Caleb Powers, who is believed to be in Honduras; Holland Whittaker of Butler county, John Davis of Louisville, and Zach Steele of Bell county, under indictment, and who did not flee the state.

Those over whom indictments are left hanging are Wharton Golden of Knox county, now in Colorado; Frank Cecil of Bell, now a railroad detective in St. Louis, and William H. Culton of Owsley county, said to have died in the West a few months ago.

These cases, with the possible exception of Cecil, will be dismissed, leaving Henry F. Youtsey, now serving a life sentence in the state penitentiary, the only person to suffer for Goebel's death.

Wilson bases his pardon of Finley on the idea that the only connection of Finley's name with the murder was the bringing of 1,500 armed men from the mountains to Frankfort five days before the shooting took place. He holds that the visit of these men had no connection whatever with the taking off of Goebel.

In pardoning Davis, Whittaker and Steele, the governor says they have been in Kentucky ready for trial and have not been called to trial. In passing on the John Powers case, he says: "The only evidence affecting John L. Powers is substantially the same affecting Caleb Powers. I do not believe that evidence and I do believe Powers is not guilty."

Governor's Statement.

Louisville, Ky., April 24.—In extending clemency in the Taylor case, Governor Wilson says:

"For years it seemed as if there never would be no end to the political use of the Goebel murder to keep up hatred and contention. In the campaign of 1907, it was again brought up, as it had been in every campaign since 1899 by speeches in which it was claimed that the Democratic nominee for governor would not pardon Taylor, Powers and others, and that the Republican nominee would pardon them if elected.

"I made no answer to these speeches until I came to the home of Powers

STORY OF THE MURDER OF GOVERNOR GOEBEL

The gubernatorial campaign in Kentucky in the fall of 1899, in which the candidates were State Senator William Goebel, Democrat, William S. Taylor, then attorney general, Republican, and Former Governor John Young Brown, bolting Democrat, was one of the most bitter ever held in that state. Following the election, which showed that Taylor had received a majority of about 3,500 on the face of the returns, Senator Goebel and his associates on the regular Democratic ticket filed contests. During the progress of the hearing before the legislature in the gubernatorial contest hundreds of mountaineers were imported to Louisville, it was charged, by Taylor, Finley and others. The assassination of Goebel took place in front of the state house Jan. 30, the shot being fired from the office of Caleb Powers, then secretary of state, and adjoining the reception room of the executive offices. It was proven that Powers had gone to Louisville that day to arrange for the bringing to Frankfort of more men and that the key to his office had been secured by Henry Youtsey, then private secretary to Governor Taylor. The Democratic majority in the legislature declared Goebel elected governor, and he was sworn practically on his death bed. He died Feb. 3, 1900.

SALOON BRAWL FATAL.

One Man Killed and His Brother Loses His Mind.

Rapid River, Mich., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—As the aftermath of a saloon brawl many months ago, Richard Oravelle is dead near Ford River, in Delta county. He was about to be taken to the Newberry insane asylum. With his brother, Oravelle attacked a bartender three years ago, and the saloon man shot in self-defense. The brother was killed instantly. Richard Gravelle received a bullet wound in the head, which finally brought about his mental derangement and has now resulted in his death. The bartender was exonerated. Gravelle was 53 years old and was a halfbreed Indian. Six children survive him.

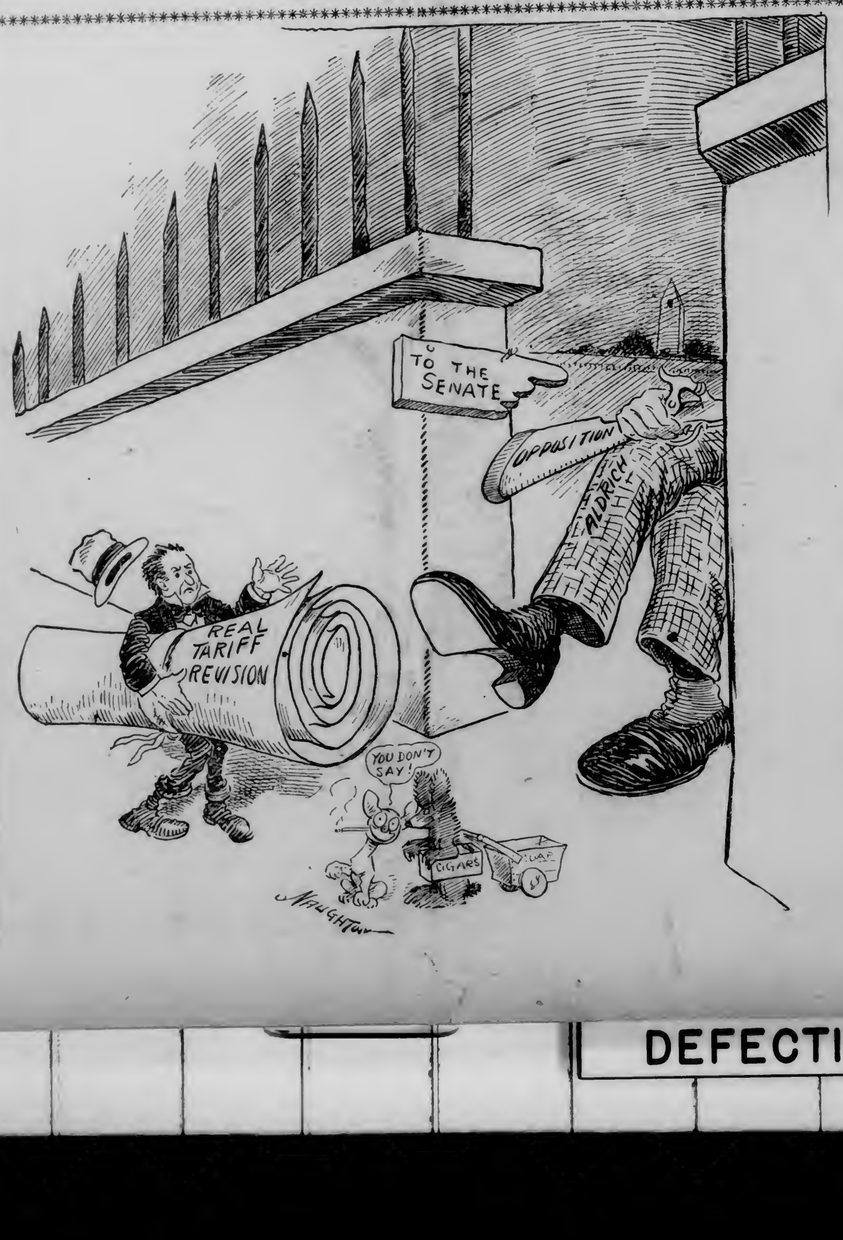

WOMAN'S CLOSE CALL FROM BEING DROWNED.

Walker, Minn., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Bell Lord, assistant matron at the Leech Lake school, went through the ice in Leech lake one day this week while crossing the lake. Fortunately companions were with her and she was rescued, after being wet from head to foot.

Jury Couldn't Agree.

Marinette, Wis., April 24.—After deliberating for twenty-six hours during which time the jury stood deadlocked—10 to 2—the Oconto circuit court jury, trying Dr. Du Fresne on a sensational criminal operation charge, was discharged by Judge Hastings. A new trial will take place at the next term of court.

BLOCKING THE WAY.

IRE ROUSED AT HUNTERS

African Press Angry Because British Writers Are Barred.

Roosevelt Spends His First Night in the Camp.

Kapiti Plains, British East Africa, April 24.—The first night of the Roosevelt expedition under canvas in Africa was spent in the elaborate camp set up for the party near the railroad station at Kapiti Plains. It was without incident.

No decision has yet been received as to when the expedition will leave here. Some of the baggage sent by the Smithsonian Institute was left behind at Mombasa, and this fact probably will cause a delay in the start of the shooting trip of two or three days.

Mr. Roosevelt, who arose this morning in splendid spirits, has forbidden all members of his expedition to give out any information regarding the future plans or movements of the party.

The Mombasa Standard yesterday published a violently worded attack upon F. J. Jackson, acting governor of the protectorate, and Mr. Roosevelt, for allowing only representatives of American newspapers to accompany the Roosevelt special train from Mombasa to Kapiti Plains. This attack is copied today by the Nairobi newspaper, and it is said the imperial government has asked an explanation from the local authorities of this exclusion of English newspapers. An exception was made in the case of the representative of an English news agency, who was allowed to accompany the special.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY WOULD SET ASIDE WILL.

Menominee, Mich., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Claiming that she was mentally incompetent when she made the second will, the Norwegian Missionary society has begun proceedings to have the last testament of Mrs. Helgina Anderson, who left $4,000 to her stepdaughter, set aside. This will was made two weeks before her death, but several months previous to that time Mrs. Anderson drew up an instrument leaving all her worldly possessions to the society.

WHEAT SELLING UNDER DOLLAR

Chicago Bulls Face Unwelcome Situation—New York Restive.

Chicago, April 24.—Wheat for delivery in September and December selling under $1, and July wheat depressed to a point 3¼c under yesterday's close, were unwelcome facts presented for bull consideration at the opening of the board of trade today. During the first half-hour of business but few trades in May wheat were recorded, the opening price being from 1⅝@2⅝c below the previous close at $1.19½@1.20½.

July, opening at $1.07@1.06½, was at the first-mentioned price practically 12c under the level attained at the height of the bull campaign before James A. Patten betook himself to the trout streams of Colorado. September wheat opened at 99½c and December at 88¾c.

The resumption of the decline after a faint steadiness yesterday was based on a drop of 2½@3½d at Liverpool, which market weakened under heavy shipments of wheat from all sections of the globe.

Opening Is Wild.

New York, April 24.—There was a wild opening for the New York wheat market today, following a break in the price at Liverpool. The decline reached 2@2¼c for July, with active liquidation and selling for foreign account. The general weakening of the position is accentuated by worldwide reports of favorable new crop prospects and recent movements of grain.

EARL YOUMANS, RICH WINONA MAN, DEAD.

Winona, Minn., April 24.—Earl S. Youmans, aged 54 years, president of the First National Bank of Winona, lumber dealer and capitalist, died last night.

BOY TRAIN ROBBER GETS LIFE SENTENCE.

Great Falls, Mont., April 24.—Henry Rheams, the 16-year-old Great Northern train robber, was sentenced to life imprisonment yesterday. Three youthful "pals," Albert Howard, William Smith and George Cresswell, were each given six years in the pen. Their ages range from 16 to 18. Rheams killed William Dempsey, a passenger, in a holdup of the train near here a year ago.

UNION LABOR NEWS

LABOR NEWS OF THE WEEK

Troubles of the Electrical Workers Before the Assembly.

Cigarmakers Opposed to Importation of Philippine Cigars.

Although the matter was brought up, the trades and labor assembly failed at its meeting last evening, to decide whether the local electrical workers' union was affiliated with the national body, and recognized by the American Federation of Labor, and, therefore entitled to representation in the assembly or not.

A letter was read from Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation, explaining the difficulties in the electrical workers' national body and the attitude of the federation in the matter, but the entire matter got little threshing over last night. It was decided to place the question in the hands of the executive board, which will be asked for a report at the next meeting of the assembly.

This electrical workers' trouble has been bothering local labor leaders for some time. There is a split in the national body and one faction is recognized by the American Federation of Labor, while the other is not. It is a question whether the electrical delegates to the assembly are on the federation side or not, and it is up to the executive board to decide.

* * *

Edward M. Morgan, assistant city attorney, will be invited to speak at the next meeting. His subject will be "The Commission Form of Government." This is a subject which has greatly interested the members of the assembly and it is on their request that Mr. Morgan takes it.

* * *

A communication was read explaining what the Building Laborers' union would have to do to become a regularly accredited branch of the national organization once more. At the time of the strike, a year ago, there was some misunderstanding about the support the local branch should have from the national headquarters, and the local men allowed their dues to the national body to lapse. Now the national body wants the money. No action was taken upon the communication, it being read merely to familiarize the assembly with the situation.

* * *

Henry Perrault asked to be heard in the matter of the cigarmakers' attitude toward a revision of the tariff which would permit cigars to come in from the Philippines, free of import duty.

He said that there had been some misunderstanding about the matter, the theory gaining ground that the cigarmakers were willing to have 150,000,000 cigars come free from the Philippines, and that nothing could be more erroneous.

The lifting of the duty upon Philippine cigars would be a serious menace to the welfare of the men engaged in the cigarmaking trade in this country, declared Mr. Perrault.

He eloquently described the consequences which might ensue, saying that the tobacco octopus would immediately bring in thousands of cigars made by cheap Filipino and Chinese labor, and that the manufacturers of cigars in this country, who employ union labor, would be unable to compete with them. The cigarmakers in the Philippines, said the speaker, could live on a little rice, and live in a hut, but in America they must pay for fuel, wear shoes, buy clothes and pay good prices for food, all of which took a great deal more money than the trifling sums which the Eastern labor exacted.

His speech made a profound impression, and it was the sentiment of the assembly that its members should bear in mind the fact that cigarmakers everywhere in the country are opposed to the bringing in of any Philippine cigars free of duty.

* * *

P. G. Phillips suggested that the assembly give a dance or some sort of entertainment to raise funds for a treasury nest egg. The assembly decided not to become a host as yet, however, in view of the fact that the Labor Pavilion association was planning a big dance, and that the Women's Label league had some social affair in mind.

The assemblymen were interested in Mr. Phillips' suggestion, though, and they may give an excursion or a dance at a later date.

Thomas Morandow of the carpenters' union, Thomas O'Meara and Henry Perrault made speeches under the general topic, "The Welfare of the Order."

* * *

The Women's Union Label league will hold its first annual banquet on Monday evening in Kalamazoo hall. Dr. Mary McCoy will deliver an address on "Women and Child Labor," and there will be a number of talks by other women. A number of feminine union label workers from Superior have been invited to be present. After the banquet there will be dancing.

McEWEN IS SATISFIED

Labor Commissioner Says Legislature Gave Workers a Square Deal.

Declares No Administration Has Ever Been So Favorable.

William E. McEwen, state labor commissioner, was in the city for a few hours yesterday. He came up to attend to a few personal business matters and went back to the capital on the night train.

Mr. McEwen was enthusiastic over the way things are going in his office.

"There never was an administration in the state so favorable to the working men as the present one," said Mr. McEwen. "We certainly have nothing but praise for the interest that has been shown the help that has been given.

"The legislature treated the working men and the department of labor very well. The legislature provided for a female assistant in the office of the labor commissioner and this will greatly facilitate the work of the department.

"The representatives and senators also provided enough money to carry on the work of the department of labor in a suitable fashion. The department has more money at its disposal than ever before and this will increase its efficiency.

"The employers' liability was referred to a commission, and a number of other measures favorable to the working classes were passed during the session.

SUES FOR VALUE OF BOXCARS

Claiming that employes of the Republic Iron & Steel company were responsible for a collision which damaged a number of boxcars to the extent of $2,015 the Great Northern railroad has brought suit against the company for that amount.

The Great Northern has a spur in to the Forest mine, owned by the Republic company, and a train of twenty-seven cars was standing on the spur track. The cars were not properly blocked, it is claimed, and they got away, running down to the main line at a speed of about thirty miles an hour, and crashing into some empty cars standing there.

ROYAL SWEDISH BAND COMING

Will Give Two Concerts at the Lyceum in Duluth.

Lovers of music in general and the Swedish population of Duluth in particular are enthusiastic over the coming of the Royal Regimental band and orchestra of Stockholm, which will appear at the Lyceum theater tomorrow afternoon and evening. This is the foremost musical organization of Sweden. It has been greeted with crowded houses wherever it has appeared, and the Svea Glee club, under whose auspices the Duluth concerts will be given, has been particularly fortunate in being able to bring it to the city. The band is accompanied by Miss Hilda Matsson, soprano of the Royal opera of Stockholm, one of the most famous vocal artists of North Europe. The band is on a tour of the principal cities of the United States.

DRUGGISTS AT BANQUET

Northwestern Branch of Pharmaceutcal Association Has Meeting.

Pharmacists Have Physicians as Their Guests at Big Spread.

Druggists and physicians of Duluth and neighboring towns sat down to a jolly banquet at the St. Louis hotel last evening.

The druggists were the hosts, for it was a banquet of the Northwestern branch of the American Pharmaceutical association, which embraces Minnesota and the Dakotas. However, there was not a very large attendance from out of town.

Dean Wulling of the College of Pharmacy of the University of Minnesota is president of the Northwestern branch, and he presided as toastmaster last night. No business meeting was held, the spread being the only event.

Members of the St. Louis County Medical association and several physicians and druggists from Superior were the guests of the pharmacists, as well as a number from Northern Minnesota towns.

The banquet was quite informal and there was no regular program of toasts. Several of the diners gave short talks, however. Among those who spoke were Doctors Eklund, Patton, McCuen, Bagley, Tuohy, Tufty and Braden of Duluth, Dr. Biddl of Two Harbors, Dr. Kelley of Aitkin, Dr. Moody of Superior and C. W. Aust of Superior.

There were about seventy-five people at the banquet.

DEATH STOPPED VISIT.

Former Negaunee Man Expires Before Returning From Nevada.

Negaunee, Mich., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—A telegram has been received announcing the death of Samuel Murton, a former, well known and popular young Negaunee man, which occurred at Tonopah, Nev., some days ago. Murton was struck by the cage in the mine where he was working.

Deceased was a son of John Murton, who left here for Nevada over four years ago. He had written a letter to a friend in this city a few days ago, stating that he intended to return to Negaunee this summer to locate permanently, as he did not like the Western country.

SELLS COTTON FOR REAL LINEN

Agent Works Swindle on Several Duluth Women.

An agent in the city is selling mercerized cotton materials under the name of linen and many Duluth women have purchased gowns and waists. One or two have learned of the quality of the goods represented and are complaining bitterly of the semi-swindle perpetrated. The worst of it is that the cotton is sold to them at linen prices.

FLOATER TAKEN FROM THE BAY

Remains Thought to Be Those of Christ Fossom.

The body of a man, believed to be Christ Fossom, from the papers in his pockets, was picked up from the bay near the Singer dock, on lower Lake avenue, yesterday afternoon. The remains were badly decomposed, and the indications were that they had been in the water since late last fall.

The features are so badly decomposed as to be unrecognizable, but the clothes are in good condition. A heavy coat, and cap and mittens were on the man's body when it was found, indicating that it must have been late in the fall or during the winter that he came to his unfortunate end.

A careful examination failed to disclose any marks of violence, and it is the belief of the authorities that the man came to his death accidentally. Several employment office tickets, the means of identification, were found in one pocket.

The remains are now at Durkan & Crawford's undertaking parlors, and an effort will be made to locate friends and relatives of the deceased.

Chronic Diseases Permanently Cured

Progressive Medical Experts Dissolve Diseased Organisms.

Fever in the Colon and Pelvic Region produce such diseases as Piles, Fistula, Fissure Pruritis (Itching Piles). These latter diseases are more painful than bowel trouble, and also destructive to the general health, increasing the poisonous effects, causing a general nervous breakdown and finally a collapse. They terminate many times in Tuberculosis or Cancer. Attention to these diseases in their early stages is time-saving and money-saving, preventing much acute suffering and probably a premature invalidism or death. These diseases are dangerous, for they become incurable if cancer develops.

Rectal Disease requires the attention of a skilled specialist, one who has devoted a lifetime to the study and treatment of these diseases. The family physician, who only gives casual attention to these diseases, is rarely able to cure them permanently. The knife is severe and seldom effects a permanent cure, as it does not remove the cause of the disease.

Rupture A painless, plastic method that cures Quickly, Safely and without Operation, no Blood and without interfering with the Usual Occupation.

The efficacy of the method we employ for curing rupture can best be attested by the number of men whom we have cured without the use of the knife or other severe painful operation. We can refer you, by permission, to many prominent men of this vicinity who will tell you what our treatment has done for them. There is no delay or interference with your usual occupation in taking this treatment. By suppling the demands of nature in the form of tissue builders, a speedy and permanent cure will be effected. REMEMBER—NO KNIFE, NO BLOOD, NO EXPERIMENTS—but permanent cures.

We Guarantee our cures and have never failed yet in a single case to get permanent and lasting cures. There are many thousands we have cured of all kinds of chronic diseases.

They do cure you of all maladies peculiar to men—Blood Poison, Locomotor Ataxia, Bright's and Kidney Diseases, Weakness, Paralysis, and all complicating diseases. Cancer, Tumors, Brain Diseases, Impure Blood, Eczema and all skin diseases. Rectal Troubles, Piles, Fistula, Neuralgia, Rheumatism and all chronic affections of men. Skin diseases and all maladies which men are afflicted with.

You will be charged no fee for consultations and you can see the doctors from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m., and Sunday from 10 to 1. The specialists' offices are No. 1 West Superior street, Duluth, Minn.

JIU JITSU EXPERT PUT TWO SIX-FOOTERS "TO THE BAD"

Capt. Leopold McLaghlen, champion jiu jitsu expert, gave a practical and surprising demonstration of the science of self defense in a Superior street cafe last evening. Two stalwart, six footers were laid out unconscious on the floor, to the amazement of the onlookers, and greatly to the astonishment of the willing victims, and the captain did it all as easily as he would bring a rabbit into submission by tapping it behind the ears.

The champion and a party of Duluth friends were seated at a table, and the talk naturally turned to jiu jitsu. The captain told of different experiences he had had, and waxed enthusiastic over the system as a means of defense. Before he was through with the crowed he had shown to its satisfaction that it was also adaptable as a means of offense.

"Any contest where one man is expected to kick another in the stomach, or break a leg and a couple of arms, is altogether too rough for me," said one of the Dulutlhians.

"But, my friends," interposed the Irish giant, "it is not all so brutally rough. Much can be accomplished by the simplest of means. It is all in knowing how, and in being able to locate the vital nerve centers. For example, you are strongly built and over six feet in height, but I will wager that, with your consent, of course, I can put you to sleep in five seconds, and hypnotism will not be employed, either."

The Duluthian was game, and stood up as requested. McLaghlen took his position behind, passed his hands in front of the young man, and placed his fingers on the latter's throat. Three seconds later he was lying on his back on the floor, dead to the world, and it was two or three minutes before the jiu jitsu expert got him back to consciousness.

McLaghlen said there were other methods of accomplishing the same results, and prevailed upon a second six-footer to submit to an experiment. "I am taking chances in doing this," he remarked, as he lightly flicked the side of his hand somewhere on the back of the victim's neck, so quickly that the motion could scarcely be seen. It appeared that it was the victim who was taking the chances, for he subsided in a heap in the arms of the jiu jitsu man, and was lowered to the floor, where he twitched about in manifest discomfort until he regained consciousness. He said his head ached when he came to. The other man felt no ill effects.

The captain wanted to demonstrate some more, but there were no volunteers.

SMOOTH SWINDLER SLIPPED ONE OVER ON THE CLERK

George Moore was arrested last night after working a time-worn swindle on a clerk in the pool hall at 208 West Superior street. In municipal court this morning he was charged with petty larceny and was fined $45 and costs, with an alternative of thirty days in jail. He secured a dollar by his swindle.

Moore last night approached the man behind the cash register and, laying down $1 in change on the counter, asked if he could exchange it for a silver dollar. The cashier produced the dollar and shoved it towards Moore, who then placed his hand over both the dollar and the change and shoved the pile towards the man.

"If you can just as well, I would you would give a two-dollar bill for these," he said.

The clerk gave him the bill, took the $2, and Moore departed. It didn't dawn upon the pool hall man that he had been swindled out of a dollar until Moore had left. Then the cashier, feeling rather sheepish, called in the police and told them what had occurred. Moore was rounded up without much difficulty. His partner, giving the name of George Powell, was also arrested and a charge of vagrancy placed against him. He was sentenced to sixty days in jail, and sentence was suspended on condition that he get out of town today and stay out. He decided in favor of the latter.

CONVENTION ADJOURNS

Sunday School Workers End Their Sessions in Duluth.

Officers Are Chosen—Will Meet Here Again Next Year.

The first annual convention of the St. Louis County Sunday School association closed its deliberations late this afternoon and adjourned to meet again in this city next year. The sessions today were held at the Y. M. C. A. assembly hall. J. L. Cromwell presided this morning, and the following subjects were discussed: "Teacher Training," Mrs. C. M. Wilson and A. M. Locker; "The Place and Purpose of the Home Department in the Sunday School," Rev. F. L. Trelstad of Superior, and round table discussion, conducted by Rev. J. A. McGaughey.

During the afternoon a conference was held of the pastors and Sunday school superintendents, representing the churches of all denominations in all parts of the county. The convention dissolved into various sections, and each section adjourned as soon as its work was completed.

The promoters of the convention are proud of the work accomplished and predict a closer union of the Sunday schools of the county as a result. System will now prevail and the work will be carried on under the plans laid down by the convention and assigned to the several committees.

The first officers of the association were elected yesterday, and are as follows: President, F. N. Burrall; vice presidents, Hibbing district, L. D. Cooper; Eveleth and Virginia district, F. R. Ellsworth; Vermilion district, Mrs. G. S. Turner; Duluth district, Andrew Ringgred and Rev. Carl O. Nelson; secretary and treasurer, Eugene Harbeson; superintendent elementary grade, Mrs. John McLeod; superintendent teachers' training, Mrs. C. M. Wilson; superintendent adults' Bible class, W. L. Smithies; superintendent home department, Mrs. Edward Belamy.

Delegates to the convention and others interested in the work of the Sunday schools met last night in Pilgrim Congregational church and listened to an address by Dr. S. M. Dick, pastor of Wesley church, Minneapolis, on the subject of "The Complete Sunday School—What It Is."

Dr. Dick believes that no teachers should be accepted by a Sunday school who have not had a thorough training along the line of their work, training to be gained only by the systematic and conscientious study of the Bible. He outlined a course of study and suggested that all teachers should take it up and follow it carefully. Dr. Dick compared the responsibility of the religious teacher to that of the professor of chemistry or mathematics, and urged that a thorough preparatory training is essential.

There will be a grand rally of Sunday school workers tomorrow afternoon at the Norwegian Methodist church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street.

HANCOCK'S MAYOR WILL OBSERVE THE STATUTE.

Hancock, Mich., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mayor James, who is a fire insurance man, took an unusual course when he announced at the council session that he proposed to transfer all the policies he held from the city to other agencies, so that there would be no business relations between him and the municipality that he has been elected to serve.

The alderman protested that there was no need for his making this sacrifice, but he abided by his decision. There is a statute forbidding municipal officers and members of municipal boards from dealing with business houses in which they are interested, but in practice it is one of the deadest statutes in the law books. It is only the exceptional cases, like that of Mayor James that occasionally remind of its existence.

SUNDAY SCHOOL RALLY.

West End Schools Will Meet at First Danish Church.

A Sunday school rally of West end churches will be held tomorrow afternoon at the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street. The meeting will be called at 2:30 p. m.

A feature of the affair will be an address, which will be delivered by Rev. M. S. Rice, pastor of the First M. E. church. Dr. Rice will talk on "The Sunday School Work."

In connection with the occasion, there is being prepared a special musical program. It is expected that the rally will be largely attended.

Petition Ratified.

The West End Hillside Improvement club met last evening and ratified a petition asking that the grading on Piedmont avenue be cut down so that cars could run up as far as Tenth street. The petition will be presented to the council at the next meeting.

West End Shortrails.

Miss Agnes Shaw of Detroit, Mich., is in the West end, the guest of friends and relatives.

Mrs. G. Beckham is here from Fond du Lac on a short visit with West end friends.

Theodore Dahljem and wife of Twenty-eighth avenue west have returned from Taylor's Falls, where they were called to attend the funeral of Mrs. Dahljem's mother.

Arthur Swanson of St. Paul was visiting in the West end yesterday.

A. J. Damody was here from St. Paul yesterday on a short business visit.

Mrs. Caldwell and daughter, Lulu, have moved from the West end to Smithville, where they will reside in the future.

L. J. Morrison has returned from the range, where he has been on business.

John Laughton of Thomson is at the West end to visit his mother at 2507 West First street.

Austin Lindseth will leave for Minneapolis tomorrow, where he will take up a position with the Tri-State Telephone company.

There will be an Old Folks concert at the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street, next Friday evening.

Rev. James Sanaker, district superintendent of the Red River valley district of the Norwegian-Danish M. E. churches, arrived in the city this afternoon, and will be heard tomorrow at the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church.

The Varde club meets this evening at 8 o'clock at Columbia hall. Plans will be discussed at this time for celebrating the Norwegian Independence day, May 17. It is understood that this will be gala day for the Norwegians of the West end.

Rev. H. K. Madsen, pastor of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church will leave Monday for Virginia, where he will attend a week's conference of the pastors in the district. The session will end Saturday.

C. A. Olund of 615 North Twenty-fourth avenue west, left this afternoon for Phillip, Wis., his future home, for a few days' visit.

A debate has been arranged between the Franklin and Adams schools, to be held Friday evening next. The question to be discussed will be the Japanese immigration problem. A musical program and reception will follow the debate.

Work will begin Monday on dredging the bay. The Great Lakes Dredge company hauled out its big hydraulic pump yesterday from the shop.

The Monarch Athletic club, an organization to promote boxing and wrestling activities, has been formed at the West end. A meting will be held some time next week, officers named, and headquarters provided.

The Young People's Society of the Zion Norwegian Lutheran church held a very interesting literary and musical program last evening at the church. It was largely attended.

Invitations will soon be out for the annual ball to be given by the Emerson Alumni association on May 4. It will probably be held at Harmony hall.

The recently organized Lincoln Alumni association at a meeting held last evening at the school building adopted a constitution and made arrangements for the annual dance to be given May 7. Committees were appointed to take charge of the affair. A social session followed the business meeting last evening.

ATTALIA

On the Beautiful Columbia River, Washington

IRRIGATED FRUIT LANDS.

And spend a couple of days, a week or a month: we want to show to you what kind of a proposition we have there.

Our sales since October last have passed the half-million dollar mark.

EXCURSION FRIDAY, APRIL 30

Owing to the inquiries we are having for wanting to go out under the cheap rates, ending with the close of this month, we have arranged to run a special excursion on April 30th. This will be your last chance to go out for $25.00, with the privilege of visiting the Coast Cities. After this excursion the granting of full free fares hitherto will be discontinued and no allowance will be made for same. Notice has been given me of a general raise of $25.00 per acre in May. We will run no excursion until the big outpour for the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition takes places. With the opening of this Fair, the values of high-class fruitlands will take an upward jump and you will have reasons for regrets. Make your own investigation at this time; act now and have no regrets. Your delay means less favorable location and a higher price.

By joining our excursion, you will be afforded better service and greater comfort, as we have special car-accommodations... On May 1st the one-way fare is $40.00.

THE ATTALIA 5 AND 10 ACRE TRACTS

In the magnificent Columbia River District and Valley, east of the Cascades in the great state of Wahsington and famous Walla Walla county, are pre-eminently the most desirable and valuable commercial fruitlands on the American continent. Follow the experienced men and you never go wrong.

THE ATTALIA CLIMATE, SOIL, WATER, RAILROADS

Have attracted expert fruit-growers from New York, Utah, Yakima, Wenatchee and other places. These men are at Attalia now with their knowledge and work, making it a beauty spot.

Mr. A. T. Wright, a Chelan-Wenatchee expert and a fruit-grower for over eighteen years, and who has taken scores of first prizes and diplomas for apples and to whom was given the largest number of first prizes at the recent big apple show, came to Attalia last week and made a thorough examination of soil, water and climatic conditions. He was so favorably impressed that the purchased 25 acres of land and will at once move there and cultivate same... He said: "The land I bought at Attalia has great prodnctive power and will be worth in five years not less than $1,500.00 an acre, or I would not have bought."

I am receiving letters of thanks from parties from this city and country who have taken our excursions and who are at Attalia now to remain. We want you to go and see. We can satisfy the most skeptical man from the East in regards to these advertised receipts of from $300.00 to $1,500.00 an acre per year, by simply taking him to the orchards in our valley producing these results, and show what is being done at Attalia.

Read what another man says returning from there:

Duluth, Minn., April 18, 1909.

Mr. E. Hultquist, Hotel McKay, Duluth, Minn.:

Dear Sir: I was greatly pleased with everything at Attalia, Wash. You have a most excellent proposition. A great future ahead of it. I bought a small tract of land and so the rest of the party did. I expect to make Attalia my home in the nearest future. Your statements to me before going were correct. I beg to remain, yours very truly.

LYMAN HAGENSEN.
Duluth, Minn.

If you call on me I shall be glad to give you the names of a large number of people in Duluth who have been out and purchased Attalia lands. These gentlemen are all going to make Attalia their home, as they are delighted with the country.

RAILROADS. Attalia has four railroads and water transportation. Attalia is also a terminal for one of the roads. The Northern Pacific has completed its new spacious depot. An electric line, a fifth conveyance, is under way and will encircle the valley through Attalia. The O. R. & N. will make connections with the new North Coast railroad at Attalia. We are also at the head of Columbia river navigation, boats running up and down the year around. Attalia will be one of the large centers of the Inland Empire and you can rest in a comfortable home within sight of a city of several thousands in less than two years.

WATER. Our source and water supply is inexhaustible, deriving it from the Walla Walla and Columbia rivers. An excellent and soft drinking water is to be had at Attalia, entirely free from any injurious substances. Our headworks and canal is one of the finest and best in the country, indestructibly concrete, costing over one-quarter of a million dollars.

SOIL. We have the deep rich volcanic ash, a perfect air-drainage, freedom from frosts due to our nearness to the famous Columbia Gap. We have the longest frostless growing season, maturing upwards of a month earlier than any other section. Two vegetable and strawberry crops a year. From these productions you can meet the requirements for living and otherwise while your orchard is growing.

CLIMATE. The Walla Walla-Columbia River Valley climate is known the world over for its very healing tendencies. Your rheumatism, your catarrh and asthma will not bother you at Attalia. Your nerves will become stronger from the beautiful outdoor life and vitalizing air. I speak from my own experience as I have been in the country for years that I am selling. The enthusiasm among the settlers in our Valley are realizing already what a climate like ours is worth. They all have a smile and a good word for it.

EMPLOYMENT. We are prepared to give steady work to investors who feel they must have an extra income to start with, at from 25c to 45c per hour.

TERMS. The prices on land range from $150.00 to $325.00 an acre, perpetual water right included. We sell it on easy long-time payments. We will also sell you the land under orchard contract, plant it, take care of it for any specified time, giving one full half of the gross receipts of production every year.

DON'T FORGET NEXT FRIDAY, APRIL 30th.

Wrecked Nerves

A Woman's Tonic

Cardui has been found to rebuild wrecked nerve force and make weak, shattered women into bright, happy, healthy beings.

For long years it has been doing this work for the women of America, until today it is well-known as "the woman's tonic" and thousands of weak, sick, miserable women, write enthusiastic letters in praise of Cardui.

Mrs. M. C. McElroy, of Clinton, Ky., writes. "For six years, I was a sufferer from female troubles. I could not eat, could not stand on my feet without suffering great pain. I had such awful hurting, down in my right side, that I could hardly bear it. My doctors said that I was in a critical condition and going down hill, and I had lost all hopes of ever being better, when I began to take Cardui.

"Before I had taken one bottle of Cardui I felt better and in a week's time I was better than I had been in six years. Cardui works like a charm. I think it is the best medicine I ever used. I advise all suffering women to take Cardui."

Your druggist carries Cardui always in stock. Get a bottle today.

Baby Boy Wore a Mask Over His Little Face

"Baring, Maine, March 3, 1909.

"C. I. Hood Co., Lowell, Mass.

"Dear Sirs: In our home we have so much reason to be thankful for Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Olive Ointment, that I must freely tell you our experience with these medicines.

"When my baby was four months old his face broke out with small patches of eczema. The doctor said baby would soon be all right, but he steadily grew worse and at sixteen months of age, baby's face, hands and arms were in a dreadful state. The eczema seemed to be spreading all over his body. His face was so sore, and such a dreadful sight, we were obliged to put a mask or cloth over his face, and we were obliged also to tie up his little hands and arms with cloths to prevent him from scratching, and making the inflamed places bleed. The disease also affected his eyes, and we were afraid he would lose his eyebrows and eyelashes entirely. We consulted other doctors, used ointments and salves sent us by friends and neighbors. Some of these things would seem to have a little effect, but after a few days would act like a poison, and increase this terrible stubborn disease.

"Just one year ago this month baby lay between life and death. The doctor had told us he could do no more, and we felt that we must give up trying to find any cure or relief. Our hearts were just breaking, and we had the sympathy of many friends and neighbors who knew of our affliction. Finally my husband said one day, 'I am going to try Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Olive Ointment.' We began to use these medicines, and oh! the results were astonishing! We could soon see that the inflammation was diminishing, and the eruptions did not itch so badly.

"Gradually the improvement continued, and to make a long story short, in a few months he was entirely free from that terrible eczema, which had caused him so much suffering. Today he is a fine healthy boy, happy and hearty, and full of roguish pranks. His skin is perfectly clear, and his blood seems to be in fine condition. I keep Hood's Sarsaparilla on hand, and give him a dose once in a while. No one will wonder we are strong friends of Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Olive Ointment." Mrs. Inez Lewis.

Need we add anything to this frank letter? Does it not show the wonderful power of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier and a cure for all humors, eczema, scrofula and blood diseases?

☞Hood's Sarsaparilla effects its wonderful cures, not simply because it contains sarsaparilla, but because it combines the utmost remedial values of more than 20 different ingredients, each greatly strengthened and enriched by this peculiar combination. These ingredients are the very remedies that successful physicians prescribe for the same diseases and ailments. There is no real substitute for Hood's Sarsaparilla. If urged to buy any preparation said to be "just as good," you may be sure it is inferior, costs less to make, and yields the dealer a larger profit.

At the first suggestion of summer weather let the range fire die out, set a New Perfection Wick Blue Flame Oil Cook-Stove in a corner of the kitchen, and at once the family boiling, frying and baking may be done with comfort, because the "New Perfection" delivers the heat under the kettle and not about the room. Another convenience of the

NEW PERFECTION

is its CABINET TOP—a feature found in no other oil stove. Presents the appearance of a steel range. Fine for holding dishes—for keeping meals hot after they are cooked—for warming plates and for keeping towels handy. Made in three sizes—with or without Cabinet Top as desired.

Rheumatism.

More than nine out of every ten cases of rheumatism are simply rheumatism of the muscles, due to cold or damp, or chronic rheumatism. In such cases no internal treatment is required, as the free application of Chamberlain's Liniment is all that is needed, and it is certain to give quick relief. Give it a trial and see for yourself how quickly it relieves the pain and soreness. The medicines usually given internally for rheumatism are poisonous or very strong medicines. They are worse than useless in cases of chronic and muscular rheumatism. For sale by all druggists.

CROOKSTON GETS GOOD.

Lid is Being Applied Very Tightly These Days.

Crookston, Minn., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—With the saloons closed Sundays and every night at 11 o'clock sharp, the pool rooms restricted to the same hours, with the restriction prohibiting cards and all games of chance in the pool rooms, and an ordinance pending in the council stopping all moving picture shows on Sunday, Crookston has about as tight a lid as can be found in the state.

In addition to this, every house in the restricted district has been closed. To evade this order one place has been started up just outside the city limits, but the county authorities are working to get evidence against this place and it will also be closed in the near future.

HAVE TWENTY CHILDREN.

Former Wisconsin Couple Doing Pretty Well at Menominee, Mich.

Lena, Wis., April 24.—The arrival of the twentieth baby in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Maxim Marcouiller of Menominee, Mich., is reported to relatives here. The parents are former residents of this vicinity and for many years back Mr. Marcouiller has conducted a butcher shop and grocery store. He is 50 years of age and his wife is 46. Three years ago when a birth occurred in the family, President Roosevelt sent a letter of congratulation which is prized highly.

Mr. Marcouiller is a prosperous business man, has a bank account and money out at interest, a pretty home and has never found any trouble in buying enough shoes and stockings and school books and tablets.

HOTEL CLERK ARRESTED FOR EMBEZZLEMENT.

Devils Lake, N. D., April 24.—Sheriff Belford received a telephone message from State's Attorney Kehoe of Towner yesterday requesting him to be on the lookout for Arthur Gale, who was wanted at Cando for embezzlement. Sheriff Belford located Gale at one of the hotels and placed him under arrest.

Gale, it seems, had been clerking at the hotel in Cando several weeks, and before taking his departure neglected to turn over all the cash belonging to the landlord. Prior to going to Cando, Gale clerked at the Parker house at Leeds.

Big Fish Stories Begin.

Foley, Minn., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—M. M. Quigley, G. G. Wood and Wallace Danleck captured a large pickerel recently at Rice lake. Some idea may be gathered of its size when it is learned that it was forty-four inches long. The monster was speared and it took the three to haul it into the boat, which was accomplished only after a struggle.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

ARE AFTER FIREBUGS

The County Authorities Will Sift Burning of Ranier Building.

Three Suspects Arrested and Reward Offered for Another Party.

International Falls, Minn., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Much determination is being shown by W. V. Kane, county attorney of Koochiching county, in conjunction with the National Board of Fire Underwriters, and the state fire marshal office, to convict the party or parties who are alleged to have caused the fire which destroyed a boarding house at Rainer on Dec 17 last.

Joe Kenville, Ella Taylor and John Woods were arrested on the charge of arson in connection with this fire. They were given a preliminary hearing here on March 16, at which time they were held to the grand jury at the next term of district court, which will be held in July.

Kenville subsequently furnished bonds in the sum of $5,000 and was released, the Taylor woman and John Woods being retained in jail.

There is still another party who is wanted in connection with this crime, and who, it is alleged, knows a whole lot about the case. This is William Wagoner, alias "Billey Rogers," and County Attorney Kane and the National Board of Fire Underwriters are offering a substantial reward for his arrest and conviction.

Circulars have been issued containing this description of Wagoner: "Ears, large, protruding; chin, large, square; eyes, blue; hair light; complexion, sandy, reddish; height, 5 feet 10½ inches; weight, about 180 pounds; shoulders broad; age, 27 years; born in Iowa (?). German descent; spreks considerably; has worked on farm, as lumberjack and as teamster in logging; more recently in vicinity of Funkley, Houpt and Lammers Spur, Minn."

Large Rewards Offered.

The rewards offered for his arrest are:

"Fifteen dollars will be paid to the person whose prompt, prepaid notice of said Wagoner's then present location, definitely stated in a manner that results in said Wagoner's due arrest, is first in reaching said sheriff; $35 additional reward will be paid to said person if he also promptly places said Wagoner in custody of said sheriff or of local authorities, and eventually and duly into the custody of said sheriff, a letter of advice of such notice and also of such other attention (in other or both cases) to be at once promptly mailed to the undersigned.

"Three hundred dollars reward is also offered by the National Board of Fire Underwriters for the detention, conviction and punishment of party or parties guilty of the crime of arson in the same case."

ILL-LUCK PURSUES WITH VENGEANCE

A. C. Hammond of Wausau Victim of Continued Round of Trouble.

Shawano, Wis., April 24.—The champion hard luck experience in the state is crowded into the last four years of the life of A. C. Hammond of Wausau, who was in Shawano on business recently.

April 13, he was caught between the belt and fly wheel of a twenty-horsepower engine and received injuries that took from April to November to recuperate from. June 20, his head was so badly cut by a circular saw that two ounces of his brain came out.

It was not until the next spring he was able to go to work again, this time in a flouring mill, but the injury to the left side of the brain left the right hand unable to locate an object except when guided by the sense of sight. For this reason his right hand was caught in the rolls and he lost three fingers.

He worked as a millwright four weeks at Goodrich for the Rib River Land company and was then the victim of an attack of typhoid fever from the middle of June to the last of August.

Despite all this Hammond is still hustling to pay his doctor bills and get a home that he may have his youngest boy with him. A grandmother is looking after a daughter.

NEGAUNEE HIGH SCHOOL IS FINE

Building Nearing Completion to Rank Among Best in Country.

Negaunee, Mich., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new Negaunee high school will be opened to the public in June. The new building, when fully completed, will cost more $165,000 and will be one of the most complete and modern to be found in Northern Michigan. The structure is of cut stone and pressed brick, 196 by 110 feet. Excluding the basement the building will consist of three stories, in the basement will be the fan room for the ventilating system, and gymnasium, encircled by a running track and dressing and bath rooms. The gymnasium, domestic science and manual training department will take up the greater part of the ground floor.

On the second floor, the assembly room, with accommodations for over 500 pupils, class rooms, commercial department and offices will be located while the third floor will be mostly given up to the physical and chemical laboratories, biological laboratory and aquarium, lecture, music and art, and several class rooms.

The auditorium will be one of the most attractive to be found in any school. The stage is of a good size and there will be nineteen studded lights above the proscenium arch and twenty studded lights on the face of the balcony. The auditorium and balcony will seat over 600 people.

All of the class rooms, laboratories, offices, etc., are to be very attractive. The domestic science room, also the various laboratories, are to be larger than the departments are in most of the other high schools in the upper peninsula. A new feature is a lecture room with raised seats. This room is finished in oak.

The domestic science department will be provided with three rooms, demonstrating, kitchen and dining room. The department will be thoroughly equipped with gas-cooking stoves and other necessary utensils.

There are five exits on the first floor and the building is to be provided with fire escapes from the second and third floors. The main entrance is on the north side and will be provided with four doors.

The main laboratories have entrances from the first floor corridor. The one for the boys located on the west side and the one for the girls on the east side of the auditorium, are to have tile floors and marble extending five and one-half feet up the side walls.

WILL IRRIGATE VERY MUCH LAND

Vast Reclamation Scheme to Be Undertaken in North Dakota.

Bismarck, N. D., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—State Engineer Atkinson, who has returned from the western part of the state, says that arrangements are about completed for a complete survey of all the irrigable land along the Cannon Ball, Heart, Knife and Missouri rivers, during the coming season.

The surveying will be done under the direction of the United States reclamation bureau in co-operation with the state engineer, and will cover all the irrigable land that can be watered by the entire year's flow of each stream system. All reservoir sites will be examined and surveyed in detail so that at the end of the season it will be possible to know exactly what land can be irrigated and what the cost per acre will be.

Under a recent order issued by the reclamation service it is now possible for the farmers along the line of a new project to work out their payments, or a part of them, by the use of their teams on the construction of the main ditches.

The work will be under direction of George E. Stanton, project engineer.

RED LAKE LOSES ITS COURTHOUSE

County Building Is Destroyed By Fire From Defective Chimney.

Red Lake Falls, Minn., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire that is supposed to have started from a defective chimney at 8:30 o'clock last night destroyed the Red Lake county courthouse. The loss on building and contents is fully covered by insurance. It is believed the safes and vaults saved the records, but this cannot be determined until they have cooled sufficiently to be examined some time today.

FIRE MARSHALL INJURED.

Crookston Official Thrown in Runaway, Breaking His Collar Bone.

Crookston, Minn., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire Marshal John Risch was severely injured late yesterday afternoon, while starting to exercise one of the fire teams. When the automatic harness was dropped on one of the horses the collar failed to snap. The team is high spirited and as they leaped through the door of the fire hall the harness slipped back. This frightened the animals and in attempting to stop them the driver simply pulled the fire trucks on the team and they started to run away. They dashed down the street for a block when the driver steered them into a huge pile of sand and one of the horses fell. The stop was so sudden that Risch was hurled to the pavement, breaking his collar bone and sustaining severe bruises. Bystanders caught the team before further damage was done.

CASS LAKE BAND ELECTS.

A. B. Williams Chosen President and A. J. Engleman Leader.

Cass Lake, Minn., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a meeting of the band enthusiasts the following were elected officers: President, A. B. Williams; secretary, Glen Harding; treasurer, John Osborne. A. J. Engleman was chosen as leader, and the members feel very much elated at having secured the services of such a musician.

From the present outlook the village will have a band this summer equal to any in this part of the state. The boys have been diligently practicing for the past two months. There are at present twenty-three members, and it is expected that several more will be added before the summer concerts begin.

POLK COUNTY SEEDING.

Good Progress Has Been Made By Farmers This Week.

Crookston, Minn., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Despite rather cool weather during the major portion of the week, the farmers of the Red River valley have made splendid progress with seeding operations.

At least 25 per cent of the wheat is seeded and a few farmers have finished wheat and started seeding oats. Early each morning there has been a slight crust of frost which delayed work for a couple of hours, but the cool weather made the work easy on the horses the balance of the day so that nearly as much has been accomplished as would have been done had the weather been very hot. The soil conditions are such that a general feeling of optimism prevails throughout this section.

CASS LAKE PREPARES FOR SUMMER TOURISTS.

Cass Lake, Minn., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Commercial club has been busy for the past few days getting into condition for the summer trade. This summer promises to surpass any in the history of the town for tourists. The recent act of the forestry department permitting the leasing of sites on the forest reserve has caused many to erect cottages along the lake shore and put in launches. A meeting of all the members of the Commercial club will be held soon and the matter of building driveways and in other ways improving the country hereabouts will be taken up.

CROOKSTON CLUB HAS SOME FINE FURNITURE.

Crookston, Minn., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two full carloads of furniture arrived yesterday from Minneapolis for the new quarters recently leased in the Union block by the 25,000 Commercial club and is now being installed. The new suite consists of a large assembly hall with a capacity of 500 people, which will be used for the public gatherings, conventions, etc., a commodious directors' room, a billiard hall, a card room, a large smoking room, a reception room, kitchen, buffet, cloak rooms, toilet rooms, etc. Leather upholstered Old Mission furniture has been provided for the entire suite and the rooms will present a fine appearance as the decorators have just completed their work.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Ashland—A number of Northwestern officials visited Ashland Thursday headed by General Manager Alston, Assistant General Superintendent Strickland, Supt. of Motive Power Quayle, and Supt. of Engineering Towne. They were accompanied by Supt. Quigley.

Regents Crownhart, McGregor and Mrs. Youmans, appointed to select a successor to W. J. Brier as president of the River Falls normal school, have selected Prof. H. L. Wilson of River Falls, who will probably be unanimously elected by the state board of normal regents.

Grand Rapids—The homes of J. B. Arpin, A. F. Billmyer and Peter Rellund, all of this city, have been entered by burglars. At Arpin's they secured $4.75. At the other places they were frightened away.

Manitowoc—Rushing to the assistance of his wife when he heard a groan from her room, Charles Monk found her dead in her bed. Mrs. Monk, a native of Fond du Lac, was aged 55.

Milwaukee—Judge Henry L. Palmer, former president of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company, is ill in his home, at Juneau avenue and some anxiety is felt over his condition.

Shawano—Game Warden Hull has located an immense fish trap in the Wolf river, just south of town. The approaches to the trap, were formed of chicken park fence wire. Mr. Hull pulled the trap out of the river, but was obliged to hire a team and secure a long chain to do the work.

Black River Falls—Dr. James Robie, aged 87 years, one of the first physicians to locate here, is dead at his home. He was known as the "City's Oracle." He leaves a widow and five children.

New Richmond—Edward J. Quinlan, local cashier of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha railroad, and Miss Mary Linehan, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Linehan of this city, were married Thursday morning at the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Rev. Father M. T. Boyd officiating.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Fargo, N. D.—Certificates of membership are being issued by the Masonic Grand lodge to those who were members of the lodge or who received any degrees in the military lodge which was created by the Masonic Grand Lodge of North Dakota and stationed in Manila during the Spanish-American war.

Ellendale, N. D.—The Dickey County Fair association, which has been granted a charter, proposes to hold a fair in Ellendale next fall. The organization is made up of prominent business men of this part of the county.

Minot, N. D.—A second dividend of 10 per cent has been declared in the Frank case. The second dividend amounts to over $3,000. The first dividend was for 5 per cent. It is thought that altogether the trustee will declare from 30 to 35 per cent in dividends.

Cleveland, N. D.—The Methodists have organized a new church at Cleveland, with forty members, all new converts, and Dr. Danford has placed Rev. Mr. Stebbins in charge as pastor. They will build a new church this spring.

Fargo, N. D.—At the annual meeting of the Florence Crittenton Home association these officers were elected: President, Dr. J. A. Carpenter; vice president, George H. Hollister; secretary, B. G. Tenneson; treasurer, H. W. Gearey; financial secretary, Mrs. Kate Wilder.

Minot, N. D.—Hiram T. Van Wagner was bound over by Judge Davis on a charge of running a gambling place. Van Wagner was arrested on a warrant issued by Judge Davis. He was placed under $500 bonds.

Crosby, N. D.—Louis Fitzgerald, a farmer living east of Kermit, had a narrow escape from death through the accidental discharge of a shotgun. He had been out shooting gophers, when a shell exploded, bursting the barrel of the gun. The charge entered the forearm, lacerating it badly, but fortunately the bone was not sufficiently injured to necessitate amputation.

Bismarck, N. D.—A wedding of more than ordinary interest occurred at the Presbyterian church Tuesday afternoon, when John Kreutz, a prominent rancher of Pretty Rock, and Miss Carrie Nigey, one of the most prominent ladies of Mandan, were united in marriage.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Owen Kane, a former resident of this city, died Wednesday morning at the home of his mother at New Richmond, Wis. Mr. Kane was at one time manager of the Southern hotel in Minneapolis. He was born in Marietta, Ohio, in 1856.

Minot, N. D.—James Brennan, arrested a few weeks ago on a charge of assault, was released after a hearing in the county court Wednesday.

Jamestown, N. D.—While stealing a ride on the westbound North Coast Limited, John O. Potarnick, a youth of 19, who resides at Portland, Or., received injuries near Medina that resulted in the amputation of his right leg a few inches above the knee Wednesday.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Calumet—At least eighteen of the Upper Peninsula Pythian lodges will be represented at the convention in Calumet in June by third rank teams, according to advices received locally.

Houghton—Miss Eliza Alice Turner, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. G. Turner, was wedded Wednesday night to Percy Alexander Staples, at the Turner residence, 61 College avenue. Rev. J. E. Curzon, rector of Trinity church, performed the ceremony in the presence of a large circle of invited friends and relatives.

Hancock—Peter Oksa, who was a candidate on the Socialist ticket last fall for sheriff of Houghton county, has returned from an extended stay at Duluth.

Laurium—The following officers were elected at the annual meeting of the Ho-On-Kee Rod and Gun club: President, J. C. Vivian; vice president, Ed P. Bast; secretary, Harry Hermann; treasurer, C. J. Webb.

Calumet—The entertainment committee of the Eagles, in charge of the arrangements for entertaining the convention visitors the second week in June when the Eagles' state convention will be held here, are negotiating for the well-known acronaut, Prof. Martin, to appear here for three ascensions and parachute drops during the meeting.

Hancock—The dance given Wednesday evening by the Quincy band at the Amphidrome was attended by a large crowd, many persons being present from Hancock and Quincy. A fair sum was netted toward paying for the handsome new uniforms worn for the first time.

Calumet—J. R. Jones, formerly connected with the Tamarack Co-Operative association, with the Postal Telegraph company, and with the Paine, Webber Brokerage office in Calumet, has communicated with local people relative to the installation of a wireless telegraph station in Calumet, by the Clarke Wireless Telegraph company.

Hancock—Camille Beauchamp, aged 65, a Copper country pioneer, who lived to see Hancock grow from a ragged frontier settlement to the city which it is today, and who materially assisted in this growth, passed away at midnight Thursday after a year's suffering from infirmities brought on by old age.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Middle River—Another scare was thrown into the village council by the finding of a couple of very small leaks in the dam. The leaks were soon stopped by a few shovels full of dirt and the facing of the dam on each side of the spill was reinforced.

St. Cloud—George M. Schaefer, Peter Kraker, John Wertin and John Wellenstein, prominent business men of Albany have organized a company for the purpose of building a fine two-story business block. Work is to be commenced on the new improvement at an early date.

International Falls—High School Inspector George A. Aiton came from Blackduck to visit the schools on Tuesday. Mr. Aiton was pleased with the work of the school, but did not hold out any encouragement of getting a place on the high school list, for the reason that the enrollment is entirely inadequate.

Crookston—William Anglim, vice president of the First National bank, returned Thursday after an extended vacation in the South. He states that his health is much improved and to all appearances his trip has been of the greatest benefit to him.

Foley—If the present fine weather continues Frank Kotsmith will soon commence to manufacture concrete blocks for building purposes. The first lot will be for the large concrete building which he will construct this spring adjoining his store building.

Gary—S. W. Yundt, who owned 120 acres one and one-half miles south of town, known as the Burr farm, has sold it to John Conner of Minimac, Ind., for $37 per acre.

Wadena—O. H. Button writes from California that he will return to Wadena soon. He writes that California has nothing but a fine winter climate to commend it. Work is scarce and wages low.

St. Cloud—Right Rev. Paul Rhode, auxiliary of the arch diocese of Chicago, arrived from Browerville Thursday afternoon. All of the priests of the city, together with several Catholic societies, met the prelate at the station and escorted him to the St. John's Polish church.

Warren—Ole M. Holson last week returned home after wandering about the world for several years. During his absence he is said to have visited Alaska, Norway, South America and Africa and he has many interesting tales to tell of the places he visited and the things he saw in the four quarters of the globe.

Milaca—Building permits have been issued by the village council to Denison & Carter for a brick structure on the lots adjoining north of the Milaca State bank and to Albin Allen for a brick structure on the south. They are already under construction and the corner is live with men and teams rushing them to completion.

Princeton—William M. Orton, one of the early settlers of Mille Lacs county, and a man whom to know was to honor and respect, died at his home in this village, April 16, aged 70 years.

Funeral services were held in the Methodist church on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Little Falls—A meeting of the Commercial club will be held Monday evening at which a proposition for the building of a shoe factory in this city will be considered. A number of local busines men have a plan for opening such a factory for the manufacture of hand-made shoes of the heavier nature such as driving and work shoes.

WEST END LODGE OF GOOD TEMPLARS IS PLANNING TO HAVE A BUILDING OF ITS OWN

PROMINENT MEMBERS OF NORTH STAR LODGE, GOOD TEMPLARS.

Work has already been started on the new clubhouse for the North Star (Nordstjernan lodge, No. 11, of the Independent Order of Good Templars, which is to be erected on the corner of Twenty-sixth avenue west and Second street. The ground has been broken and some progress has been made in laying the foundation.

The new headquarters of the Good Templars will have a frontage of forty-eight feet on West Second street and will run back seventy-two feet. It will be a one-story frame structure with a large basement, in all equivalent to a two-story building. The present quarters of the Good Templars are at Sloan's hall.

According to the plans of the building committee, the basement of the structure will be used as a large dining hall for special occasions. A kitchen will be built in the front part of the main story, which will also be divided up into two other small ante rooms and an audtiorium, where the meetings will be held. An up-to-date stage will be constructed so that home talent plays may be presented by the Templars from time to time.

Gustave Landin is chairman of the building committee, and the work of erecting the structure will be done mainly by members of the order who volunteer their services. It is thought that the building will be finished in about three months, and members of the order look forward to the opening of the building about Aug. 1. Ceremonies of an elaborate nature will be held in connection with the dedication of the new hall. An effort is being made to have Governor Johnson come to the Head of the Lakes to speak on the occasion. There will also be other prominent speakers, among them being William P. Carlson of Minneapolis, grand chief templar.

The Nordstjernan lodge of Good Templars is nearing its twentieth anniversary, having been organized over nineteen years ago as a part of the grand lodge of Minnesota. There were fourteen charter members. In 1891 the membership had incorporated so many Scandinavians that the order was turned over to the Scandinavian grand lodge of Minnesota, under whose direction it still is. The membership at the present time is about 165.

For the purpose of raising money for the building fund a contest is now on and will be brought to a close in Sloan's hall on May 6. In connection with the affair there will also be a program given during the course of the evening. An open installation of officers will take place at this time.

CLUBS STILL UNDECIDED

The failure of the legislature to pass the bill making it unnecessary for private clubs to take out local liquor licenses, has again brought up the question of bar or no bar in several of the social and fraternal clubs of Duluth.

The Commercial club has taken no action. It's bar has been closed for some time to all sales except lemonade and other soft drinks. As a money making adjunct of the club, a bar is not always a success and the question of whether it is expedient or not to take out a city license, will probably be left open until the club is located in its new quarters.

The Elks have made provision for a bar in their new building on West Second street, but have not taken out a license. B. S. Segog, chairman of the house committee, has been appointed to head a committee which will look into the advisability of paying $1,000 for the privilege of quenching the thirst of members. This committee will find out what Minneapolis and other lodges have done, and report to the lodge next week. There is a divided sentiment among the members, many feeling that to take out a license will make the club too much like running a saloon. The Elks' buffet, cafe, and billiard and pool tables, are the main source of revenue on which the club rooms are maintained, in addition to the dues.

Secretary Jones of the Kitchi Gammi club stated this afternoon that the directors have not as yet considered the matter. It is a subject of current talk among members, and the question will be taken up at the next director's meeting, and a decision reached.

The Northland Country club stands in about the same position as the others, so far as a definite decision is concerned. Informal discussions are frequent, but the officials and trustees will let the decision rest for the present.

The only way in which the law requiring a license can be avoided is by the locker system, by which is meant that such club members as must have their liquors will be provided, and make their own purchases. This is quite common in clubs and and lodges in prohibition states, and in cities where patrol limits prevent maintaining an open bar.

WELL EARNED PROMOTION FOR LOCAL RAILROAD MAN

E. C. Blanchard Becomes General Superintendent of Northern Pacific.

Will Succeed F. W. Gilbert, Who Died Recently in St. Paul.

E. C. BLANCHARD.

E. C. Blanchard, for the past eleven years division superintendent of the Northern Pacific, with headquarters in Duluth eight of those years, has been appointed general superintendent of the Northern Pacific, with headquarters in St. Paul, to succeed F. W. Gilbert, who died about two weeks ago.

This substantial promotion is a well deserved recognition of long, faithful, and efficient service. Mr. Blanchard is regarded by railroad men generally as one of the most capable men in the Northwest in this line of work. Practically his whole life, since he began making his own way in the world, has been devoted to railroading.

As a young man he started as a telegraph operator in Kansas. He worked for different roads, gradually climbing to the top, until he became chief dispatcher for the Northern Pacific on the Lake Superior disvision. This position he held for many years, and left it to become superintendent of this division about eleven years ago. He was stationed in Duluth for a couple of years after that, then his division headquarters were transferred to St. Paul, but about six years ago he came back to Duluth, and his headquarters have been here ever since.

There have been rumors to the effect that Mr. Blanchard would be selected to succeed General Superintendent Gilbert, but the oficial announcement of the appointment was not made until today. The appointment becomes effective next Monday, April 26, and Mr. Blanchard will leave tomorrow night for St. Paul to assume the duties connected with his new office. His successor as division superintendent has not yet been appointed. It is understood the selection lies between two or three men, and it may be a few days yet before the appointment is announced.

Mr. Blanchard is very popular among the railroad men at the Head of the Lakes, and it is with regret that they see him leave, although, of course, they are glad to see him given the higher position. The new general superintendent is very well known in Duluth outside the railroad business, and has been a prominent citizen ever since taking up his residence here. He is especially well liked by the men working under him, both in the offfice and along the line. Their devotion to him is almost proverbial.

The regard in which he is held by brother railroad men is shown by the fact that he was the Northern Railway club's first vice president, and the second president to be elected by that representative organization. The first year of the club's existence W. A. McGonagle was made president, and Mr. Blanchard first vice president, and the following year the latter was elected president. The membership of the club comprises Duluth, Superior and the range.

UPPER PENINSULA ROAD HAS MADE MANY CHANGES

Negaunee, Mich., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Marquette & Southeastern railroad has been making many changes of late. A regular freight and ticket office has been established at Big Bay, J. S. Madigan, formerly of Birch, having been appointed agent at that place. Arthur Bolduc, formerly in the Marquette freight office, has been appointed agent at Birch. C. O. Boogren, the railroad agent at Gwinn, has been transferred to Princeton and C. G. Kemp of Munising, has been transferred to Gwinn.

A new office has been established at Lawson, a junction point, the office at Carlshend being discontinued. W. C. Small, who has been the operator at Lawson, has been appointed agent and is now prepared to handle any and all freight and passenger business.

The site for the new depot for the Lake Superior & Ishpeming railroad, a branch of the M. & S. R. R., which is to be erected in this city within the next year, has been definitely decided on. The new station, which will be built near the Jackson school, will be much larger than the old one and will be one of the best equipped stations on the company's right-of-way.

DELIRIOUS MAN RUNS AT LARGE

Clad in His Pajamas He Frightens Lakeside Residents.

Lakeside women were terrified this morning to see a barefooted and pajama-clad man running about the streets of the suburb.

The man was a well known Lakeside resident, who has been suffering from delirium. He slid down a porch post early this morning, from a second story window, and ran through Lakeside. He looked in several kitchen windows, frightened maids almost into hysterics, and was finally found near Lester river and taken home.

FORECAST OF THE COUNCIL

The council committee on streets, alleys and sidewalks will grant Eleventh avenue east property owners a hearing next Monday afternoon, and will be ready with a report for the council meeting Monday evening. The property owners, after the improvement of the street was decided upon, asked that the work be postponed one year. They will be given an opportunity to give reasons for this request at the hearing Monday.

The application of George Holmes for a saloon license in the Clifton hotel on First street, between Third and Fourth avenues west, is likely to cause something of a stir among the aldermen. When the application for the license was first made there was some objection offered on the part of nearby property owners, but it is claimed that this opposition, in a measure, has been overcome. However, there are still enough lined up against it to make an interesting fight.

This is the season of the year when miscellaneous licenses come up for renewal, and several of them will be considered by the council Monday night. Among them will be applications for renewal of licenses of plumbers, pawnbrokers, employment agents, pool and billiard halls, second-hand dealers, etc.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.

Default has been made in the payment of the sum of Seven Hundred Forty-four and 71-100 Dollars ($744.71), which is due and claimed to be due at the date of this notice for principal and interest upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Minnie Foucault, a widow, mortgagor, to Margaret D. Edwards, mortgagee, and bearing date the 9th day of September, 1907, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 10th day of September, 1907, at 4:45 o'clock P. M. of said day in book 196 of Mortgages at page 148. Mortgagor has also made default in the payment of Seventeen and 51-100 Dollars ($17.51) for insurance premium to insure the buildings upon the mortgaged premises, which sum was paid by the mortgagee on January 3rd, 1908, and September 9th, 1908, and for which mortgagee claims a lien upon the mortgaged premises. It added to the principal and interest makes, as full amount due at the date of this notice, a total of Seven Hundred Sixty-two and 22-100 Dollars ($762.22).

No proceeding has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN: That said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, which are situated in St. Louis County, Minnesota, and described as follows, to-wit:

Lot Number Four (4), Block Number Seventy-one (71), West Duluth, Sixth Division, according to the recorded plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said County, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said County at the front door of the County Court House in the City of Duluth, in said County and State, on the 17th day of May, 1909, at 10 o'clock A. M. at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of Seven Hundred Sixty-two and 22-100 Dollars ($762.22), and Fifty Dollars ($50) attorney's fees stipulated in said mortgage and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale.

COPPER STOCKS CLOSE FIRM

The Market Is Quiet, But Closing Prices Are Steady.

The copper stock market was quiet today, but prices remained steady and the close was not much changed from yesterday's. North Butte opened at $63.75, advanced to $64, declined to $62.25 and closed at $62.75 bid and $63 asked. Amalgamated opened at $76.50, advanced to $76.87½ and closed at $76.75 bid and $76.87½ asked.

Greene-Cananea opened at $10.12½, advanced to $10.25 and closed at $10 bid and $10.37½ asked. Butte Coalition opened at $24.25, advanced to $24.37½, declined to $24 and closed at $24 bid and $24.25 asked. Calumet & Arizona opened at $99, advanced to $99.50 and closed at $99 bid and $100 asked. Giroux opened at $8 and closed at $7.87½ bid and $8 asked. Anaconda opened at $45, advanced to $45.50 and closed at $45.50 bid. Superior & Pittsburg sold at $13.12½, advanced to $13.37½ and closed at $13 bid and $13.25 asked.

Chief Consolidated sold at $1.37½ and $1.25 and closed at $1.25 bid and $3.50 asked. Cactus sold at $3.25 and closed at $3.12½ bid and $3.25 asked.

Dom-Arizona was inactive and closed at $3 bid and $3.12½ asked. Cliff at $2.37½ bid and $2.62½ asked, Globe $4 bid and $4.50 asked, Butte & Superior 90 cents bid and 92 cents asked. Calumet & Sonora $15 asked, Red Warrior $2 bid and $2.12½ asked, Mowitza $1 bid and $1.12½ asked, National 60 cents bid, Copper Queen of Idaho $1.50 bid and $1.75 asked, Butte-Alex Scott ($2 paid) $7.25 bid and $7.75 asked and Butte-Alex Scott (full paid) $10 bid and $10.50 asked.

Black Mountain was $1 bid.

Walker's Copper Letter in Saturday's Boston Commercial says:

"Copper is steady at unchanged prices. Lake is 13 to 13¼ cents, and electrolytic 12⅝ to 12⅞ cents per pound. The feature of the market is the heavy export movement, which is averaging about 1,000 tons daily, equivalent to nearly two-thirds of the American production. It is apparent, therefore, that foreign consumers have again decided that copper is cheap enough to buy, and that they are accumulating supplies for the future. American consumers, also, are buying copper somewhat more freely, and the outlook is improving.

"There is every reason to believe that consumption will increase rapidly during the remaining months of this year and cause copper to sell considerably higher. At the same time it cannot be denied that the sentiment in the metal market is still in a more or less depressed state, due to the fact that production continues unprecedentedly large, while supplies are held almost wholly by producers and speculators. The movement of copper now under way, however, is gradually changing this condition and an improvement in sentiment is about due."

ATTEMPT TO LIBERATE BOYLE IS CONTEMPLATED.

Mercer, Pa., April 24.—The board of county commissioners have received warning that an attempt to liberate James Boyle from the Mercer county jail will be made. A letter intercepted by the police written to a man in Sharon is said to have promised a large amount to get Boyle out of jail.

SLANDER IS THE CHARGE

Tug Captain Being Tried on Complaint of Young Girl.

The Hall-Jacobs slander suit was begun this morning in Judge Flack's court and was continued until late this afternoon.

The case, as the testimony showed, grew out of a neighborhood "scrap" between the Halls and Jacobs. The Hall family resides at 430 North Sixty-first avenue west and the defendant, Joseph Jacobs, lives at 422 North Sixty-first avenue west.

The complainant is Miss Ethel Hall. She alleges that Jacobs called her obscene names on Saturday afternoon last. Jacobs is a tug captain and retained for his attorney in the suit, M. H. McMahon, Jr. E. F. Berg, assistant attorney, is prosecuting the case. The following jury was drawn this morning to try the case: L. A. Barnes, A. A. Pond, Alexander Hendrickesen, W. Harker, Gus Weslin, A. P. Freeberg, W. Kilten, W. H. Richter, John Morgan, Seth Warren, P. H. Martin and Henry Hughitt.

The complaining witness, Miss Ethel Hall, first took the stand. She said that she was 17 years old and that she lived with her parents on Sixty-first avenue west. She told the court of the obscene names that Jacobs is alleged to have called her, and the statements reflecting on her character he is claimed to have made.

The next witness called by the prosecution was her sister, Sadie Hall, aged 19. Her story was somewhat along the same lines as that told by the younger girl, although she made several conflicting statements when cross-questioned by Attorney McMahon. In one instance when she contradicted herself, Mr. McMahon asked of her: "Are you trying to tell the truth?" An affirmative answer brought forth the comment that she was making a "bad job of it."

A mild sensation was sprung in the case when Attorney McMahon asked Miss Sadie Hall if she was a frequent visitor in Superior, and if she had ever been arrested while over there. She emphatically denied ever having broken the laws while visiting in Superior.

John H. Hall, the father of the complainant took the stand and told substantially the same story as did the other witnesses. He was asked by Mr. McMahon if there were any hard feelings existing between the two families. Hall said that there were, but that even if Jacobs was "shooting off his mouth all of the time" he didn't want to "start anything," because he might do some damage that he might sorry for. This brought forth a ripple of laughter from the small and crowded courtroom.

The other witnesses for the prosecution called to take the stand this morning were Mrs. John Hall, mother of the girl and Miss Lottie Hendrickson. This afternoon the remaining witnesses for the plaintiff were called, after which the defense put on a few witnesses. The case went to the jury late this afternoon.

NEW CHURCH NEARLY READY

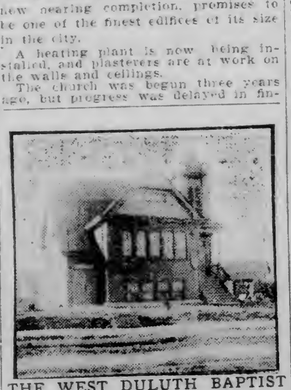

West Duluth Baptists' Home Will Be Dedicated Soon.

The West Duluth Baptist church, now nearing completion, promises to be one of the finest edifices of its size in the city.

A heating plant is now being installed, and plasterers are at work on the walls and ceilings.

The church was begun three years ago, but progress was delayed in finishing the structure, because of lack of funds. Up to this time all meetings have been held in the church parlors in the basement as the church auditorium, intended for meeting purposes, has never been finished.

From now on the work of interior equipment will be rushed to completion and in a few weeks, it is expected that the dedication of the edifice will occur. Next Wednesday evening for the purpose of raising money for the building fund, Dr. J. S. Kirtley will give a lecture on "In the Barefoot Kingdom." Rev. A. J. Hoag is pastor of the West Duluth Baptist church.

TALK OVER PLANS FOR ROADS

Plans for road building and bridge construction were discussed last evening at the meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club. Considerable stress was laid on the necessity of concerted action in the matter of taking steps to prevent the Northern Pacific road from rebuilding the Grassy Point bridge from West Duluth to Superior without providing a passageway for pedestrians and teams.

According to the charter under which the road will construct the new bridge, congress may direct the road to include such accommodations as the people on either side demand. The Superior Commercial club has brought considerable pressure to bear along these lines and has also forwarded to Washington, D. C., a petition asking that the bridge provide for foot passengers and team traffic.

The Commercial club also passed unanimously resolutions commending the governor on his action in the tonnage tax measure. The delegation to the St. Louis County club's session last week at Virginia also made a report. The delegation included L. A. Barnes, L. A. Sulcove and P. H. Martin.

WAR VETERAN IS BURIED

The funeral of Duluth's oldest Civil war veteran, Richmond L. Booker, who died yesterday morning at the home of his granddaughter, 4508 Grand avenue west, was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family residence. The ceremonies were under the auspices of Willis A. Gorman post of the G. A. R.

Mr. Booker was 94 years old. He leaves a widow, 92 years old.

YOUNG MAN FINED FOR CONTEMPT

Roy Cyr, a West Duluth young man, was fined $10 and costs in municipal court this morning for contempt of court. He was subpoenaed to appear in a case where the defendant was charged with selling liquor without a license, but failed to show up. When asked the reason why this morning, he said a friend told him he did not have to go to court unless he wanted to, and that nothing would come of it if he stayed at home.

West Duluth Churches.

At the St. Stephen's Evangelical Lutheran church, Sixty-seventh avenue west and Raleigh street, there will be services Sunday evening at 8 o'clock, conducted in the English language, by Rev. W. Sievers.

• • •

The "Common Need of Good Sight" is the subject of the morning sermon at the Asbury M. E. church, Sixtieth avenue west and Raleigh street, tomorrow, to be delivered by Rev. Thomas Grice, pastor. The morning services will begin at 10:30 a. m. Sunday school will be at 11:45 a. m. Epworth League, 7:45 p. m., will be conducted by Miss Hilda Renfrew. BIG COLLEGES IN FIELD MEET

Big Athletic Carnival Is Being Held in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, April 24.—The greatest intercollegiate athletic carnival of the year will be held on Franklin field this afternoon, under the auspices of the University of Pennsylvania. More than 1,500 athletes, representing 200 or more educational institutions, east of the Rocky mountains, are here for the relay races and field sports. This entry list is said to be the greatest in the history of intercollegiate or scholastic sport.

The big sport events of the day are the one, two and four-mile relay national championships. The track today is fast and new records are expected in the two and four-mile races. Yale and Princeton say it will take a new record to beat them in the two-mile race, while Pennsylvania has the best four-mile team it has had in years and will try to lower Michigan's colors, which never has been done since the Western institution has sent a four-mile team to the East.

The Michigan men have won this event six times and hope to make it seven straight.

All the big institutions East and West are entered in the national championships, the smaller colleges being grouped in one-mile relay races, according to their past performances. All events will be finals except in the 100 and 200 yards dashes and the hurdles.

Olympic and intercollegiate champions are entered in the short dashes and field events.

GETTING AT IT EARLY THIS YEAR

There will be some excitement next Saturday afternoon when the Courthouse baseball team and the nine representing the police force get together.

"Tommy" Clark says he has the greatest bunch of "would-be's" in the world, and the policemen think they have everything backed off the map when it comes to the national game.

Every afternoon the courthouse bunch is out on the "campus" practicing. They began some weeks ago by playing "ante over" at the jail. This was to teach the men to be ready for unexpected balls from almost anywhere. After getting this down pat they were taken into one of the courtrooms and taught the principles of the game by their captain, who drew a number of diagrams on the board. A number of disputes arose.

It is said that they have proved to be willing pupils and that they now thoroughly understand the game.

The policemen are not idle, by any means. They practice each day and are rapidly rounding into shape.

The game will be played at Athletic park and will begin as early as possible, so that there will be an end.

INTEREST IN BOWLING.

Upper Peninsula Contest at Marquette Is Quite Absorbing.

Marquette, Mich., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.—Unusual interest is manifested in the upper peninsula bowling tournament, now being held here. A large delegation from Negaunee and Ishpeming accompanied their respective teams to Marquette earlier in the week. The highest scores to date in the Class "A" events are as follows: Gray, Ishpeming, singles, 563; Schilling, Ishpeming, singles, 550; Tompkins, Negaunee, singles, 547; Allen and Miller, Marquette, doubles, 1,052; Bushell and Barbeau, Lake Linden, doubles, 1,021; Van Iderstine and Foard, Marquette, doubles, 1,018; Bushell, Brockway and Barbeau, Lake Linden, trios, 1,570; Allen, Miller and Conklin, Marquette, trios, 1,504; Godwin, Manes and Stafford, Marquette, trios, 1,437; five-men team, Millerites, Marquette, 2,512; Negaunee five-men team, 2,404; Ishpeming Hematites, five-men team, 2,319.

WILL LAW BE ENFORCED?

Cigarette Smokers Are Wondering Whether the "Pills" Will Be Sold.

Will the anti-cigarette law, passed by the legislature, and intended to prohibit the smoking of cigarettes, really prohibit?

Those who delight in smoking the "pills" are wondering just what effect the law, which becomes effective Aug. 1, will have in Duluth. The general opinion seems to be that the measure will not be rigidly enforced, and that while cigarettes will not be displayed in windows or show cases, dealers will be able to produce them from behind their counters.

There is a wide difference of opinion regarding the new law.

Duluth smokers of the "pills" say that when the law first becomes effective there may be some difficulty in getting the attractive little tobacco rolls, but predict that the sale of them on the quiet will be common a little later on. That is what happened in Superior when the Wisconsin anti-cigarette law became effective. At first it was almost impossible for any one not well known to the tobacco dealers to buy the "pills" or "makings," but it wasn't long before virtually every dealer in town had them on sale, and now, while the law is still effective, a stranger has no difficulty in purchasing all the cigarettes and cigarette-making materials he wants in Superior.

It is understood that all tobacco sold in Duluth after Aug. 1, will be labeled pipe tobacco. The papers, while they will come in the same form as at the present time, will be labeled "eye glass cleaners," or something of a like nature. The printing on the cover, instead of telling about the quality and material, guaranteeing it to be of the very best rice paper, will tell about the price of the eye glass cleaners. There probably will be quite a demand for these cleaners after the 1st. of August.

"PILL" SMOKERS BEFORE COURT

Juvenile cigarette smokers crowded the juvenile court this morning.

Nearly a score of youngsters from the grade schools of the city were brought before the court on the charge of smoking cigarettes. Judge Ensign handed out a severe lecture on the evils of cigarette smoking for boys, and released the lads, after placing them on their good behavior.

Cigarette smoking among school boys in Duluth is becoming very prevalent, according to the probation officer and the juvenile court officials, and an effort is being made to put a stop to it. If evidence can be secured against dealers who sell to minors, some arrests may follow.

It is hoped that the anti-cigarette law, passed by the legislature, even if it cannot be enforced where it affects the sale of cigarettes to adults, may check the use of tobacco and cigarettes by minors.

P. O. CLERKS MAKE MERRY

The social and dance of the local branch of the National Association of P. O. clerks, which was held at Steinway hall last night, was a most enjoyable affair, and so successful from that standpoint that it will be followed during the coming summer by others of a like nature, varied by an occasional picnic and moonlight excursion. The postmaster, assistant postmaster and heads of all departments were guests of honor, and assisted materially in making the evening a pleasant one. Assistant Postmaster Weld gave a very entertaining and instructive five-minute talk; Alton B. Heimbach and Don Clark furnished unlimited fun and amusement with humorous readings. songs and original witticisms, interspersed with local hits. Dancing was the order until 12 o'clock, with an elaborate luncheon at 11.

The local association has lately been strengthened by a number of new members, and will hereafter pay more attention to social affairs. It was organized about twenty years ago with five charter members. At the present time there are nearly forty members on the roster, with officers as follows: Frank S. Huse, president; Ira B. Jones, vice president; Charles Jones, secretary; B. A. Erickson, treasurer; J. M. Fuegen, corresponding secretary.

A., through whom the young man was located after a worldwide search, have not seen him for several days.

SUPERIOR NEWS

Oratorical Contest.

Elmon Weiner of the Blaine school captured first honors in the annual league declamatory contest held last evening at the Blaine school. Several Northern Wisconsin cities were represented. Second honors went to Lloyd Owens of Ironwood.

In the declamatory division Miss Laura Strong of Ashland and Miss Laura Cotey of Superior took first and second places respectively. Elmon Weiner and Miss Strong will each go to a state contest, to be held later. A large crowd attended the contest.

Oppose High License.

The recommendations of Mayor Crumpton to the council that the license fee be boosted to $500, from $500, is being looked on by the brewery interests at Superior in a very unkindly light. A meeting of the brewery men was held yesterday at a Superior hotel, and a discussion took place. It was proposed to bring pressure to bear on the council to defeat the mayor's recommendation. The sentiment in Superior is said to be strong for high license, however, the redeeming feature being that low dives are largely eliminated.

Oaxaca, Mex., April 24.—Because one of the girl pupils of the schools had rejected him, Ismael C. Pineda, for thirty-six years head of Porfirio Diaz college in this city, committed suicide. The bullet passed through Pineda's body and mortally wounded another man sleeping in another bed in the same room.

BEACH HARGIS ON STAND TELLS OF FATHER'S DEATH.

Irving, Ky., April 24.—When court convened today Beach Hargis took the stand to give the details of the difficulty in which his father was killed. The court held that evidence of former difficulties between father and son may be given, but not as to details. This will shorten the testimony of the defense. The object of detailing former difficulties is to show that young Hargis was brutally treated by his father, and that on one occasion the father tried to kill him and nearly succeeded, according to the defense.

WILL PLAY IN CHICAGO

Board of Trade Team Planning to Meet Windy City.

Will Also Have Games With Minneapolis and Winnipeg.

Baseball enthusiasts in the Board of Trade building have organized for the season, elected officers and raised something like $200 to buy sweater vests for the players and to purchase other equipment for the team, which is a member of the Commercial league and one of the fastest amateur aggregations in this part of the country.

Charles H. Thornton will be manager of the team again this year. Wilfred H. Kilchli has been elected treasurer, and Ray Withrow, captain of the team.

Besides its games in the Commercial league, the Board of Trade men will have several out of town events. Arrangements are already being made for a game with the Chicago Board of Trade team, to be played in the White Sox park there some time in July, and there will also be games with the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce team and one from the Winnipeg grain exchange. Besides that, these teams will probably come here to play.

The grain men finished last season with a great record. They won fourteen games and lost none. They expect to have just as fast a bunch this year. The team will lose but one man, MacAuley, who played short and who is to play professional ball with Brandon this year. Capt. Withrow will likely get his men out for practice next week.

MARATHON RACE FOR WINDY CITY

Chicago Promoters Secure Professionals for Distance Run in May.

Chicago, April 24.—Arrangements were completed yesterday for a Marathon sweepstakes, to be run about May 20 at the American league baseball grounds, with all the famous long-distance runners of the world entered.

The race will be run at night with the aid of a new system of lighting tried out by Garry Hermann at the Cincinnati ball yard and found eminently satisfactory. The date has not absolutely been fixed, but it will occur within a few days of the date mentioned, the final date hinging on arrangements with the runners.

Lou M. Houseman and James J. Callahan, who are handling the local end, received a wire from Charles J. Harvey, who is in touch with the runners, accepting the terms. He announced that he has received promises from the following men to compete: St. Yves, Shrubb, Longboat, Hayes, Maloney, Svanberg and Pat White. Dorando, the Olympian champion, will run also, and it was his entry that hung up the promoters, as he absolutely declined to race until he had five weeks' rest after the April 3 grind at the polo grounds in New York city.

The race will be run on the turf outside of the infield at the White Sox grounds, a day's work with a steam roller being all that is necessary to put the track in condition, according to Callahan.

A GOOD SELECTION.

Fielder Jones Says Sullivan Knows All About Baseball.

Portland, Or., April 24.—Fielder Jones, who came to Portland to live upon his retirement from baseball, expressed great satisfaction when informed that Billy Sullivan had been selected as manager of the Chicago American league club. Jones said:

"In selecting Billy Sullivan to manage the team, Comiskey secured the very best possible man for the position. Sullivan will keep the team in the race. He is popular with the fans and the players all like him, and he knows the game from A to Z. I am ready to assist him in any way possible, should he think it necessary to consult with me, except to go back on the team."

ESCANABA MEN ARE MAKING GOOD.

Escanaba, Mich., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—But few cities of the size of the Delta county metropolis can boast of having supplied to the professional ranks this season as many baseball players as has Escanaba.

Nine Escanaba men are in league company this year, and another one is a star on the college diamond, this one being John Walsh, catcher for the University of Michigan team. Those in professional company are: Marvin Aubin, catcher, Bozeman club of the Montana State league; Henry Olmstead, pitcher, Denver-Western league team; Herman Aronson, third baseman, Menasha team, Lake Shore league; Mike Walch, pitcher, Racine team, Wisconsin-Illinois league; Joe Hoffman, second baseman, Manitowoc team, Lake Shore league; Fred Olmstead, third baseman, Moose Jaw team, Western Canada league; Peter Molden, pitcher, Sheboygan team, Lake Shore league; Clarence Lehr, second baseman, Kewaunee team, Central association, and Cully Lentz, shortstop, Menasha team, Lake Shore league. Aside from the ten players mentioned, Jack Loell, catcher last spring for the University of Michigan team, is an Escanaba man and will captain Escanaba's semi-professional nine this season. He is still at the university, but having accepted salary from the Escanaba management last year he was ineligible for college ball this spring.

NORTH DAKOTA KENNEL ASSOCIATION MEETING.

Fargo, N. D., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The North Dakota Kennel association has fixed the dates for the first annual bench show in Fargo, July 28, 29, and 30.

The show will follow those at the fairs in Winnipeg and Grand Forks and it is expected a large string of outside dogs will be sent to make the three shows. The North Dakota association is a strong organization and includes the leading fanciers of the state. There is a great deal of local enthusiasm and the show in the last week in July is sure to be a success. The show will be under American Kennel association rules.

Toledo, 3; Indianapolis, 2.

Toledo, April 4.—Toledo again defeated Indianapolis, taking the second game of the first series at home by a score of 3 to 2. Because of an old injury that is bothering him, Williams, the visitors' second baseman, was forced out of the game in the second inning. Score:

Columbus Loses Again.

Columbus, April 24.—Kruger's fielding was the feature of yesterday's game that Louisville won, 5 to 3, thus sending Columbus her ninth straight defeat. Geyer was batted hard throughout. In the ninth inning he cleared the bases with a two bagger. Score:

Louisville	2 0 0 0 0 1 0 2 x	5	14	0

Milwaukee, 5; Kansas City, 3.

Milwaukee, April 24.—By hitting hard in the first two innings yesterday Milwaukee scored five runs, which proved enough to beat Kansas City. Dougherty showed signs of weakening in the eighth and was succeeded by McGlynn after two men had hit safely with none out. McGlynn pitched fine ball. Score:

Minneapolis, 6; St. Paul, 2.

Minneapolis, April 24.—Minneapolis opened the at-home season here yesterday with an easy victory over St. Paul, 6 to 2. Hits were bunched off Gehring in the fourth and eighth innings, while Olmstead was seldom in a hole. Snow fell steadily throughout the contest and the chill weather was accountable for several errors. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
St. Paul	0 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 1	2	5	2

AUTO NEWS OF THE WEEK

Big Demand From the Range for High Power Cars.

Believed Number of Duluth Machines Will Double This Year.

The automobile season of 1909 is opening with unprecedented activity. There were over 200 machines licensed in Duluth last season, but those in position to know, state that the number will be doubled this spring and summer, and may reach as high as 500. One of the features is the demand from the range towns for high power touring cars, capable of withstanding rough usage and bad roads, and numerous sales are reported to Hibbing, Eveleth and Virginia parties. Some of the local dealers have established sub-agencies at these towns, with demonstrators in charge.

The demand for a local race track is reviving with the coming of warm weather. The desire of many to have a course where the speed laws are not counted among the possible dangers of racing, is stronger and more persistent than ever, this year. Whether anything will be done, remains to be seen. Orders have been placed for a number of racers to be delivered during May, and the owners of these machines are nervous over the prospect of being confined to paved streets and being watched by officers with time watches.

* * *

R. T. Goodell, of the Kitchi Gammi club, has received his new Oldsmobile touring car. It is the newest model high-power car.

* * *

A. M. Russell, of the Russell Motor company, left yesterday for Flint, Mich., to look over the Buick factory and talk over the year's prospects with the officials of the company. He is expected back Monday.

* * *

A new feature in the noise line has developed in Duluth during the past week. A. W. Hartman has had a Klaxon electric horn attached to his machine. It is operated by a push button on the steering wheel, and is the only one in the city. The sound it produces is somewhere between a siren whistle and a dying gasp, and those who have heard it on Superior street agree with the makers, that it can be heard for two miles.

* * *

W. T. Smith has fitted up a new garage at 117 Fourth street west.

* * *

The Buick company has opened sales offices in Hibbing and Virginia.

* * *

S. R. Kirby, a former resident of Hibbing, has purchased a new Thomas flyer.

* * *

It has become customary for those who have an unconquerable craving for high speed to get out in the small hours of the morning, when the streets are deserted, and race to their heart's content. A dozen or more were out last night, using some of the suburban streets for a speedway.

* * *

H. Sorenson received his new Buick racer this week. It is the only car of its model in the city.

College Baseball.

Evanston, Ill., April 24.—Northwestern University defeated the University of Indiana yesterday 2 to 1. Jacobson the Northwestern pitcher, did not allow the Hoosier team a hit.

Minneapolis, April 24.—Illinois defeated Minnesota at baseball here yesterday 11 to 2.

ATHLETICS' NEW HOME: BEST PARK IN WORLD

Philadelphia, Pa., April 24.—Shibe Park, the new home of the Athletics, is not only by far the most magnificent baseball plant in the world, but an institution of which all Philadelphians are at present very proud. It cost two or three times more than any baseball park ever built and is perhaps a quarter to half a century ahead of the times. Other cities may in time have baseball grounds to rival Shibe park in size, magnificence and cost, but few of them will likely be able to make that boast for the next twenty-five years.

An outlay of from half to three quarters of a million dollars is represented in the athletics' new plant. In design, construction and every detail Shibe park is a departure from the old style of baseball grounds. On the outside the grandstand for instance looks like anything but a ball park. It has more the appearance of a huge grand opera house or hippodrome in continental Europe.

Constructed entirely of steel, stone and cement—reinforced concrete as the builders call it technically—the entire plant is fireproof and really indestructable from any other cause. In brief grandstand, bleachers and walls are all solid as rock. Strength and safety of the stands were given the first consideration by the owners, after which details of beauty of architectural design and the many other details of modern improvements were taken up and most handsomely worked out.

As a result all that is modern in the evolution of baseball park construction—aye many years ahead of the times—is embodied in the athletics' new home. Not only are the stands the most mammoth in size but architecturally the most attractive, beautiful, comfortable and substantial, but the playing field is the most roomy and best of any baseball plant ever dreamed of before.

Shibe park covers an area of over six acres of ground. Two streets—had to be stricken from the city plans by councils to provide this large plat of ground for the athletics' new playing field, which is nearly twice as large as two average city blocks.

The exact dimensions are 485 by 520 feet. After taking up plenty of room for the stands and allowing lots of space for foul ground on either side of the diamond and back of the home plate, the playing field is still so large that it is doubtful whether any player will ever drive the ball over the fence for a home run.

The distance from the home plate to the right field wall is 340 feet and to the left field wall 378 feet. From the home plate to the flagpole in center field it is 515 feet. This means that no ground rules will be necessary any time there is an overflow crowd into the outfield.

Everything at the new park is of majestic proportions. The passages are all extremely wide, so as to permit of no congestion of the most crowded days. There are eight of these wide entrances leading past ticket offices to the mammoth grandstand, and eight to the bleachers. Then there are as many additional big gates or exits which open directly from the outer edges of the field, so that a crowd of 50,000 people can be dismissed after a game without any congestion anywhere in a few minutes.

There are 10,000 opera chairs in the grandstand—5,500 on the lower floor and 4,500 in the upper pavilion. Then there is standing room in the wide promenades and aisles for at least 5,000 more, making a capacity of 15,000 for the grandstand. On the left field bleachers 7,000, and on the right field bleachers 6,000 persons can be comfortably seated. There is a wide promenade on top of each of these bleachers, which furnishes standing room for thousands more.

In brief 17,000 more spectators can be comfortably taken care of in the stands than the 23,000 seats provided for, so that 40,000 people must be present before it will be necessary to put up ropes in the outfield to accommodate overflow crowds. In providing for overflow crowds the outer edges of the field have been banked like the football ovals in England, so that the spectators stand in rows one above the other, but sufficiently in back of the fielders as not to prevent their free playing.

Even with 10,000 spectators in the field there will be ample room for long drives, and the batter who gets one past the fielders is sure of a home run before the ball can be returned to the home plate.

The new chairs in the grandstand are an innovation for outdoor parks, and are as comfortable as parlor car seats. Theer is no crowding anywhere, the rows of seats both in the grandstand and the bleachers being far enough apart to leave plenty of knee room. The private boxes are on a level with the field, but do not obstruct the view of those seated behind them—indeed there is not a post or any other obstruction in front of any seat in either the grandstand or the bleachers.

One of the many innovations at Shibe Park is the way the bleachers stand. They are on an acute angle to the foul lines, so that there is not a seat from which the entire field cannot be seen. The bleacher can see to the home plate without bending over or craning his neck as he must do at all parks where these stands run on a straight line instead of being on an acute angle.

MAKING GOOD ON THE COAST

Zelder and Tracy Will Not Play With Duluth.

For the past month Al Kuehnow, of the local baseball team, has labored to land Joe Zelder, formerly third baseman for the Winnipeg team and one of the best players ever seen on the local diamond. At one time it looked as though Zeider would play in Duluth this coming season, but the plans have now fallen through and he will not be seen here this year.

Zelder is playing with San Francisco and is making good, according to all reports. He is at his old position and is hitting at a merry clip.

In a letter recently received by Mr. Kuehnow, Zeider says that he likes the work out West, and that the climate seems to agree with him. Although he would like to play with Duluth, he thinks he can do better in the Western city.

Harry Tracy is also in the West. The former White Sox first baseman is playing with the Fresno team, and he, too, is making good.

SPALDINGS TO OPEN SEASON

Will Meet Iron River Team on Latter's Grounds.

The Spaldings will open their season in Iron River, Wis.

The contest will be in the nature of a good, stiff workout for each team. The Iron River manager is anxious to see just what to expec' from his team, and as Manager Lavall has a number of new men this year, he also is anxious to see what his team is made of.

The weather has been so cold of late that the local team has had no chance to practice, but they imagine they have a strong lineup and expect to win their first game of the year. A number of extra men who are trying for the team will be taken along and given a chance to show what they can do.

HE'S BACK IN SHAPE

Young Corbett Wins on Points From Bert Keyes.

Police Surround the Clubhouse, But Fight Is Pulled Off.

New York, April 24.—Young Corbett last night defeated Bert Keyes on points in a slashing fight before the Fairmont Athletic club. In the ten rounds there was not a lull and each lad from the start tried for a knockout. Fight experts declared, after the contest, that Young Corbett had come back into his own and that he is entitled to a bout with anyone in his class, including Battling Nelson.

Although the clubhouse was practically surrounded by policemen, members of the club had no difficulty in entering. There was no interference with the boxers. After several preliminaries, Jack Ryan of Chicago and Jack Ladbury of Australia boxed six clever rounds to a draw in the semi-finals.

Young Corbett and Keyes then got together at close quarters and plugged away from bell to bell. Keyes' left eye was closed and he was bleeding when the round was over.

Forces the Fighting.

Corbett forced the fighting and had the better of Keyes in the second and third rounds. In the latter a right upper cut staggered Keyes, who clinched and held on till the referee separated them.

Keyes was the aggressor in the fourth, landing heavily on the body and sending a hard right to the neck. He also had a shade the better of a rapid fire exchange at the bell.

Corbett drew blood from the Philadelphian's nose in the fifth. Keyes sent Corbett back several times with hard smashes on the face, but the Denver boy was willing, and went back with a right on the neck that almost sena Keyes to the floor. The round was pretty even.

Corbett opened the sixth with a right hand swing, forcing Keyes to clinch and later with a body blow and a left jab to the jaw made Keyes break ground. Corbett easily had the honors at the bell.

Ents Up Warm Blows.

Again in the seventh the Denverite was on deck with heart and stomach punches and had a slight advantage over his adversary, although the Philadelphian handed him some warm blows in the midsection.

In the eighth round Keyes met Corbett's rushes with three lefts to the face and a left jab opened a gash over Corbett's left eye. Then Corbett sent in right and left and a mixup followed in which Keyes had a shade the worse of it.

Corbett began the ninth by jabbing Keyes twice and got in a hard right on the ribs, but Keyes came back with stiff right to the jaw which jarred Corbett and had the better of the round.

In the final round Corbett rushed, landing both hands on the wind. Keyes fell back to the ropes from Corbett's next rush, but broke away. Corbett was tiring toward the finish, but the bout was his on points.

BAT IS TO CUT OUT FIGHTING

Nelson Says He Will Scrap But Three Times More.

New York, April 24.—Battling Nelson says he will take part in three more fights and then will retire permanently with his lightweight title. He has already picked two of his three opponents in Dick Hyland and Cyclone Johnny Thompson, and has offered to make a match with McFarland at 133 pounds, weigh in two hours before entering the ring. But Nelson has absolutely nothing to say about a fight with Freddie Welsh, the English challenger, who has a $5,000 forfeit up and is ready to make 133 ringside.

When Welsh made an even break of a twenty-five round bout with McFarland in Los Angeles last July and then followed it up by whipping Attell in a fifteen-round bout at 130 pounds last November, Nelson began to dodge the Briton and he has been dodging him ever since. It is evident that Nelson intends to retire without taking any chance of losing his title, but if he meets Cyclone Thompson, the Dane may have an exciting time of it, at least for a while.

TALKS ON THE NATIONAL GAME

Mrs. Frank Chance Says Feminine Fans' Presence Prevents Rowdyism.

Chicago, April 24.—At the opening of the baseball season, Mrs. Frank L. Chance, wife of the world's champions' leader, is out in an interview declaring that it is upon women—not the flighty volatile kind, but the steady, home variety—that the future of the national game depends.

To prevent the game from becoming a rowdy pastime, one only for bleachers full of men to watch, she believes that more women should occupy seats in the grand stand.

"If more women would forsake the bridge whist and pink tea, sofa cushions and kimonas, and turn out to watch the cleanest sport in the world, there would be more robustness and fairmindedness among our sex," Mrs. Chance said. "If women would only come out and expand their lungs to the fresh air by 'rooting' for the 'home team' there would be less work for the doctors."

GOOD SPEED DEVELOPED

The High School Students Show Fine Form in Marathon.

Coach Delighted With Results of the Cross-Country Run.

Twenty-seven high school students yesterday afternoon took part in a foot race which combined the features of a Marathon and a cross-country run. The course covered a distance of six and one-half miles, much of it hilly, but every youth who entered the contest finished in good form. The time made was forty-three minutes. Not a man dropped out, and at the finish the first and last man were less than a block apart, with the others bunched in between.

The race was for members of the Central high school track team who have been in training for the last four weeks. Coach Hiestand was delighted with the splendid showing made. Throughout the entire course the runners were well bunched, and on the home stretch the speed increased until at the finish every runner was sprinting his best. Those who finished in the first division were William Stevens, captain of last year's football team; Arnold Berg, Ernest Merritt captain of the track team; Clifford Thorburn, McMeekin and Forvzik. Forvzik is a freshman, and he made an unusually fine showing.

A big crowd gathered to watch the race, and lustily cheered the runners. An automobile, containing the coach, a photographer and reporters, and driven by the owner, Royal Alworth, followed the runners. The contest was for the purpose of getting a line on the distance runners of the high school. It is believed from the results that when representatives of the Duluth high school visit Minneapolis at the end of May, to compete in the races held under the supervision of the University of Minnesota, they will be numbered among the winners.

Coach Hiestand, after the run yesterday, expressed keen gratification at the showing made. He said he did not believe there was another high school in the United States that could pull off an event of such magnitude in the fashion it was pulled off here. The time, he declared, was exceptionally good, considering the nature of the course. Some of his best long-distance runners did not enter yesterday's contest at all. The coach is especially pleased with the great interest taken in the sport

Evers, Kling and Walsh, three of the brightest of the stars in the baseball firmament, are beginning to harken to the appealing voice of Chicago fandom.

Evers will return. Announcement of that fact was made yesterday. Close upon the heels of the Evers announcement, comes the statement from Kansas City, that Johnny Kling, premier backstop, may return to the Cubs. And Ed Walsh, too, is beginning to show an anxiety to have his case disposed of.

This holdout business is getting entirely too frequent for the good of the game. There are, it is true, two sides to the argument, but from the laymen's viewpoint of this "retirement" stunt, it looks as if it was a case of star players attempting to hold out for big money.

Hans Wagner has had much to do with this setting of the retiring habit. Last year the massive Teuton announced that his health was such that he considered it necessary that he remain away from the diamond for a year. When Barney Dreyfus boosted the salary of the Dutchman to a figure commonly believed to $10,000 shining shoepegs per season, the health of the big shortstop improved immediately—to such an extent that he was enabled to leap gayly from his invalid's chair and lead the National league batters.

This season the retiring habit is more frequent. Four stars in the two big leagues, have become affected with the habit. Mike Donlin, Johnny Evers, Johnny Kling and Ed Walsh, all have been absent from the diamond so far this season. Mike Donlin will not return; Ed Walsh may not play, and there is no positive assurance that Kling will be in the game.

The absence of great players naturally hurts the gate receipts; yet at the same time the managers cannot permit players to annually hold them up. It may be said that the baseball public is not in sympathy with either Kling or Walsh. Little Evers, it appears, was really sincere in the belief that his health would not permit the strain of a gruelling fight without an extended rest. That he has harkened to the entreaties of the players upon the Chicago team is proof sufficient that the little fellow has the proper spirit.

Walsh is going to take his case before the national commission. He wants to be declared a free agent. If the big hurler leaves Comiskey, he will be showing the height of ingratitude, and the baseball public will most assuredly reserve its censure for the pitching wonder, who only developed after the old Roman had taught Walsh all he knew.

• • •

Now we have some exhibitions of the spirit of the English sporting public. It comes up through the efforts to match Rector, the Virginia sprinting phenomenon with Walker, the South African wonder; the chap who took the measure of the Virginian in the London Olympic games.

The English sprinter says he will not run in this country unless the race is set under way by an English starter. He further contributes to the bitter athletic spirit that has been fomented between the two countries, by declaring that there is an attempt to do him over here in Uncle Sam's big domain. Walker is credited with a mark of 9 2-5 seconds for the 100-yard dash. It is even claimed that he negotiated the distance in a fifth of a second less than that wonderful time. If the South African can really cover cinders that fast, he has little to fear in this country. But that is really aside from the question. The fact that Walker made the statement reflecting discredit upon the fairness of American athletic officials will not help to heal the bitter feeling that exists at the present time between the two countries.

• • •

When one reads the foreign sporting news these days, he at once recognizes the names of the American horses upon the other side of the big pond. There are American horses in France and England at the present time, and they are getting some of the coin. The fact that betting is not permitted in any of the racing centers of the United States, accounts for the fact that our best thoroughbreds are at the present moment answering to the bugle in the land of Gaston and Rotund Johnny Bull. Across the border of Mexico too, many of our best horses are being shipped, and some followers of the running game are of the opinion that the sport of kings is destined to become an institution of little interest in this country.

Inquiry has been made of the sporting department of The Herald, regarding the terms of the guarantee made by Capt. Leopold McLaglen, in his offer to throw any five wrestlers in Duluth in the course of half an hour's actual wrestling time.

The captain announced yesterday that he would impose one condition, namely that his opponents be required to wear the regulation Jiu Jitsu jacket, and that also the articles of the match stipulate that his opponents wrestle in bare fee.

Capt. McLaglen has announced that he stands ready to deposit $500 with the sporting editor of The Herald, that amount going as a forfeit to his opponents should he fail to fulfill his contract to beat his opponents in the stipulated time.

Through this column the captain issues a challenge to any five wrestlers of the city. He will bar no one. He would be particularly pleased to have Walter Whitehead as one of the opposing quintet. The larger they are the harder they fall, is the slogan of the redoubtable captain, and he would like nothing better than to face five giants in one ring upon the same evening. If any five men will get together, consult each other, and make up their minds that they can annex that $500, they can reach the captain through the sporting columns of the Evening Herald.

ROWING UNDER DIFFICULTIES

Thursday evening the senior crew was on the water. In spite of the fact that the thermometer was hovering several degrees below the freezing point. The crew came in with their oars coated with ice, and their sweaters frozen stiff. There was a stiff breeze blowing, and every few minutes the spray would drench the men in the boat.

Last evening the water was smooth, but it is still rather chilly on the harbor.

BIG DAY FOR FISHERMEN

All Old Timers Will Be on the Streams Sunday.

Tomorrow should be a big day with the trout fishermen.

Reports are coming in that the trout are biting well, and all the old-timers will be out tomorrow.

Many of them will leave this afternoon and this evening for their favorite retreats, and will be on the streams at sunrise tomorrow morning for the early morning fishing. Knife and French rivers are the favorite resorts for those who do not care to go far from the city.

Negro to Meet Irishman.

Pittsburg, April 24.—Jack Johnson, heavyweight champion and Jack O'Brien of Philadelphia, were matched here yesterday to fight a six-round bout at Philadelphia on May 19, for a guaranteed purse of $5,000. A forfeit of $2,000 posted in New York by O'Brien will be covered at once by Johnson, the money said to be now on the way to New York.

CONVICTION IS SECURED

Madame Gain Found Guilty of Running Immoral House.

Attorney Claims Police Have Singled Her Out for Persecution.

Attorney McMahon, in municipal court yesterday afternoon before Judge Cutting, during his argument at the trial of Madame Gain on the charge of conducting a house of ill fame, delivered a seathing arraignment against Chief of Police Troyer and his department, in which he said that dozens of disorderly houses, in every way more offensive to the community and to the laws of the city and state were allowed to run openly in Duluth without any interference whatever on the part of the police.

"It begins to look to me, and to the general public, as if the police department of Duluth is run for the special purpose of persecuting Madame Gain," he said, wheeling about on his heel, and dramatically pointing his finger at Chief Troyer. "It is the worst case of persecution of an individual by a police department that I ever heard of. It is unfair, unjust and uncalled for. For the same reason, carefully withheld from the wondering and curious public, Madame Gain is selected from dozens of women known by all to be operating houses of ill fame, every one of them many times worse in character than even the enemies of the madame claim for her place.

"Why is she persecuted in this strange fashion when the others are allowed to go free? So far as we can see, no attempt whatever has been made to secure evidence against some of these other places. Even the most notorious of them are allowed to run without police interference. This is an open secret. Why is it? That is what I would like to know, and that is what the public would like to know. Can anyone give a satisfactory answer? No one can. I speak without exaggeration when I say it is persecution. It can be called by no other name.

"Stool pigeons have been employed by the dozen, and have shadowed Madame Gain's hotel night and day, weeks at a time, in a fruitless endeavor to secure evidence that would convict her before a jury. Any jury in the country would return a verdict of not guilty in the case now before this court after a careful consideration of all the evidence that has been presented, and it would take a very short time for the jurymen to do it, too.

"Knowing, as she did, after three arrests in less than that many months, that the police were watching her every move, ready to pounce upon her like hungry wolves at the first sign of unlawful doings in her house, it is absurd to try and make any intelligent man believe taht Madame Gain would be so utterly foolish as to try and do anything the police could object to, at a time when the slightest wavering from the path of lawfulness and decency would be sure to land her in the police station."

Judge Cutting found Madame Gain guilty of the charge lodged against her, but withheld sentence for the time being, granting a stay of ten days for an appeal to the district court, where the woman will be given a jury trial. Conviction was secured upon the evidence of three policemen, not one of whom claimed that he had been unlawfully intimate with a girl in the madame's hotel, and all of whom admitted that the madame said nothing to them about supplying them with girls.

They testified that they had carried on conversations of a questionable nature with Dettie, a chambermaid, who told them she was working at the hotel for $26 a month, but said these conversations were held at a time when the madame was not within hearing.

"They might easily have had exactly the same kind of a conversation with a chambermaid in any hotel," said Attorney McMahon, "and yet the proprietors could not be accused of running houses of ill fame."

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The most interesting event of the week was the special meeting of the senior class, which was held last Monday afternoon. Ever since the class voted to charge admission to the class night exercises there has been considerable comment on the wisdom of such a proposition, so this meeting was called to see if a better plan could not be worked out for raising funds to provide a memorial for Mr. Smith. While the majority were in favor of the proposition first adopted and maintained that it was the best of those proposed at that time, still they were willing to adopt a better one if such a one could be found.

Mr. Denfeld addressed the meeting first. He spoke at some length upon the last days of school and upon the closing exercises and what they mean to the senior. These, he said, should be the most popular event of the year, and should never be held in such a way as to arouse any opposition or ill-feeling among the seniors, nor should they cause any hardship or trouble to any of the class members. While in this case it was pardonable, yet it might start a custom which no one wished to see put into practice, said Mr. Denfeld, and he proposed a new plan which is to have the class night exercises free and to take up a collection among these present and deposit upon their generosity to get the fund for a memorial. Miss Wells, who has given much advice to the class of '09 and helped the members a great many times during their career, was next called upon and she proposed another plan. This was to give each senior four tickets after he had paid up all his dues, and give each junior a ticket, and then charge for the remainder of the house. After a little deliberation by the class a compromise was made between these two, and the final plan adopted is to give each junior a ticket and to divide the remainder of the tickets among the seniors, if all the dues are paid up. So the question is now peacefully and satisfactorily settled, and class night will be free.

Mr. Custance has selected the play to be put on that night, and is now at work getting the cast together. The play is "All Tangled Up," and is a very funny farce. At this meeting Harlow Watkins was elected class orator; John Quinn, track captain, and Eurll Wharton, baseball captain.

The last regular meeting of the Sophomore-Freshmen Philomathian society was held last Monday afternoon. The club has been giving such fine programs and so much interest is being shown in them that it was decided to have a few more meetings before school closed. At the last meeting the features of the program were piano solos by Kathleen Flynn and Josephine Sanders and a reading by Mildred Prudden. The season will probably be closed by a social entertainment of some kind.

Spring athletics are now in full swing. Although baseball is not to be taken up this year by the athletic association, yet that does not mean that baseball is dead. A few of the stars, for some of the best amateur players in the city are in high school, are going to pull off some stunts of their own. These old players will get up a team of their own, and play with the amateur teams of the city, and also with some of the Superior teams. This will please a great many who do not like to see the national game omitted by the school athletes. A game will be arranged for next week.

The track work is booming. The squad taking the cross-country runs, has been steadily increasing in size until now it is the largest track squad ever seen at the school. This preliminary work is at an end, and today the candidates will be given their first chance at the dashes, weights, and other events. This is very welcome news to the candidates, who are chafing under the slow, long-distance work, and are very impatient to let themselves loose and see what they can do. No one is more anxious for this moment to arrive than Coach Hiestand, who will then be able to see what his men are capable of, and will get an idea of what Duluth's chances will be at Minneapolis. The men have been doing very well in the cross-county runs and are getting so long winded, and have acquired so much endurance, that they are beginning to get ambitious and so are attempting Marathon racing. Twenty miles is a long distance though, so they have decided that six miles is plenty long enough for a Marathon in Duluth, because one block of hilly Duluth ought to be equal to about a mile in New York or Athens. So a six-mile Marathon was pulled off yesterday for the benefit of the ambitious ones who just wanted to see how far they could run, when once they get started.

The freshmen class had a meeting last Wednesday. As usual at this time of the year there was not a very full attendance. Allen Johnson was elected to captain the team, which will represent the freshies on the diamond this year. There is some excellent material in the class in the line of athletics, and they ought to have a good team in the class contests which come off pretty soon. Glen Merrill was elected track captain over Herbert Halmer. Merritt was given great recommendations because his brother is captain of the school team, and it was thought he might inherit his brothers abilities, and much is expected of him.

At the chapel exercises on Friday morning Miss Frances Burris sang "Lead Kindly Light" with variations, assisted by the choir. All year long the choir has been giving special music in the Friday morning chapel. This music is generally classical and conducted by Mr. Custance. The soloists and the choir have treated the school to the very best, and they enjoy it to the fullest extent.

The inter-class debates will be pulled off soon. Most of the preliminary debates have been held and the teams selected. The teams that have been chosen are as follows: Seniors, Erling Mostue, John Skadberg, Ralph Johnson; Juniors, Harry Zlaykovski, Rupert O'Brien and Archie McDermett; sophomores, Stanley Lamb, Rodger Lerch and Mortimer Bonday. These debates arouse a great deal of enthusiasm and rivalry, and they are looked forward to by the school.

The debate with Pine City was a very fine one, although the other side won. Pine City was very strong, and so was Duluth. That Duluth had some claim to victory is shown by the fact that one judge cast his vote for Duluth. The Duluth boys put up a great argument and delivered it in great style, but Pine City seemed to have the call in everything but rebuttal.

FLORENCE ROBERTS TALKS OF DIVORCE

SCENE FROM "THE HOUSE OF BONDAGE."

FLORENCE ROBERTS.

THE COMING WEEK IN THE THEATERS.

LYCEUM—Tuesday and Wednesday, Walker Whiteside in "The Melting Pot."
LYCEUM—Friday and Saturday, Florence Roberts in "The House of Bondage."
BIJOU—High class vaudeville all week.

"The House of Bondage."

Florence Roberts says she has been reconciled for the failure of "The Struggle Everlasting," by the success of "The House of Bondage," which will be at the Lyceum next Friday and Saturday, with a Saturday matinee. The former play was her dearest treasure, but New York refused to listen to it, and Manager John Cort did not have the temerity to fly in the face of further disaster by bringing the play West. That was a sad disappointment to Miss Roberts, who last season still bemoaned the fate of Boyle's drama, "The Struggle Everlasting."

It's non-success, though compensated somewhat by Miss Roberts' personal success in New York, was a double blow to the California actress, because only the season before she had made her Broadway debut and woke in the morning to find herself famous where fame counts. She wanted, of course, to accentuate the first good impression.

"The House of Bondage" is a problem play exploiting the divorce laws of England. Though Miss Roberts, as protege first and wife afterward, of Lewis Morrison, is one of the actresses who has never been before a judge pleading for release from matrimonial bonds, her interest in problem plays and dramas with a past, so to say, is well known and accounts for much that she has been writing and saying on the eternal subject, "Divorce."

She believes in it.

"Whom God hath joined together, let no man put asunder" is the fine Biblical injunction. "But who shall declare that God did join them?" she asks. And there you are.

In the play, "The House of Bondage," the inequalities of the English divorce laws are available for the release of man, but rigid and unyielding to woman, are exploited.

"It is very natural," said Miss Roberts in a recent interview, "that the turbulent demonstrations of England's suffragists should be followed by a renewal in parliament of the agitation for new divorce laws which will be alike in their operations between husband and wife. The present laws there are an outrage in these enlightened days, and the play I have this season has had its share in making public opinion.

"Divorce is a theme which, from the days of Moses has made trouble among the law makers. Even today nearly any husband can obtain an absolute divorce if he cares to go to the trouble to change his residence to suit the law under which he thinks himself protected.

"Women in this country have an equal opportunity with their husbands in the divorce laws, but in England it is very different. Even when armed with evidence of her husband's infidelity she can do nothing but stay home and weep. The court's doors are closed to her, though they swing open freely if her husband knocks. Unless the lord of the home absolutely employs physical violence and abuse, she must grin and bear whatever other indignities his royal highness may care to inflict. She must meet her faithless spouse over the melon in the morning, or the consommé in the evening she must abide his verbal taunts and defiances without complaint. Unless he is a brute and beats her, or a cad and denies her support, she is bound to him through life.

"There is probably a general belief throughout the civilized globe, that there should be a uniform law governing the marital relations, but men differ so radically in regard to its just scope, that there is little hope that, even in this country, a Constitutional amendment could be passed that would bring about such a result. The difference of mankind on the subject dates back to that Mosaic law, which translated, reads as follows: "When a man has taken a wife—and it comes to pass that she finds no favor in his eye because he has seen in her some evil, then let him write her a bill of divorcement and give it in her hands and send her out of his house.

"In pre-Christian days, the import of this language was sharply contested, some giving it a general meaning and holding that a man might divorce his wife for the most trivial cause. Thus in the first instance, the early Roman divorced their wives for such causes as feasting with strangers, frequenting the theaters without the husband's consent, or counterfeiting the husband's keys. Among the other most forward nations of ancient times the Greeks had little regard for women's rights. They bought and sold their wives. Until recent years, many countries gave the husband paramount rights in regard to divorce. It is only for a comparatively short time that in France a husband could not act as he pleased in his attitude toward women. In some parts of Germany, however, the laws have been for years exceedingly liberal, in other sections severe. The old Prussian law which is still in force, in some German colonies, allows divorce by mutual consent. And so it runs down to the Hindus and the Chinese, who still show in their laws little regard for wives.

"Nowhere is there such a diversity in the divorce laws as in the United States, where no two commonwealths have exactly the same statutes. And in no other nation among civilized powers is divorce so prevalent."

The cause which Seymour Obermer espouses in his drama, "The House of Bondage," is the cause of many British wives. The central figure is the wife of an English peer, the latter a man of intellect and innate refinement, who recognizes and respects the goodness of this lady, but who has little regard for his own morals. He is in love with another woman and takes scant pains to conceal it from his wife. Eventually she in turn falls in love with another man, and it is the struggle between the spirit and the flesh that these two undergo that forms the motive of the play. Fate places the life of the lover in the hands of the man who loves and is loved by his wife, and the honorable manner in which the latter meets the situation finally arouses his lordship's long slumbering sympathy and his promise of freedom to her, providing his powerful influence can bring about an amendment to the divorce laws which may make such an event possible.

The lesson that "The House of Bondage" teaches is not confined to the divorce question. It teaches the absurdity of laws which offer relief for the infliction of mere physical pain, while the imposition of mental cruelty must be suffered without redress. It is a message worth thought and consideration.

Direct from a sensational run of five months in Chicago, Israel Zangwill's great play, "The Melting Pot," with Walker Whiteside and the same cast of players, which gave the play its great vogue in Chicago, will appear in this city next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights and for a Wednesday matinee.

This latest Zangwill play, besides being probably the best of all his works for stage presentation purposes, is claimed to be one of the finest dramatic offerings of recent years on the American stage, and to come as close to realizing the ambition of the great army of playwrights striving to build "the great American play," as any play written. In the first place, the central idea of the play, that America is the crucible of the nations, the great melting pot of the Almighty, in which, by the fusion of all the races, the superman of the poet's dreams is eventually to be brought forth, is a remarkable, and at the same time, a purely logical one. And the playwright has developed his theme so consistently, and has so completely succeeded in avoiding distracting complications, that no play presented in this country in a long time, is so thoroughly understandable, or followed to its intimate happy ending with so little effort. In his impassioned outburst in the opening act, the crucible speech that explains the following actions of the young Jew, who is the principal character of the play, the whole idea on which the play is based, is unrolled to the audience, so that in some degree one anticipates what is to come, yet so adroitly has this keynote speech been touched, that one feels no resentment, but merely gratitude to the author, who has so closely outlined, in advance, an idea or theory which, at the outset, must have promised to many more brain effort than is generally conducive to the thorough enjoyment of a dramatic offering. Mr. Zangwill has given a powerful play, and not the least of its good points is the fact that, while no effort is necessary to follow it, it furnishes food for a great deal of thought after it is over. And who cares to see a play which is forgotten with the fall of the final curtain?

Presented by such a cast, this remarkable play scored so heavily that the Chicago Tribune remarked:

"No theatrical season can justly be voted a fruitless that sees the production of such a play as Israel Zangwill's 'The Melting Pot.'"

Story of "The Merry Widow."

When the curtain is raised on Henry W. Savage's magnificent production of "The Merry Widow," the present musical sensation of Europe, at the Lyceum a week from Monday the playgoers of Duluth will have an opportunity to witness a light opera that marks a musical epoch in compositions of its class. Never in the history of music has a production caused such a furore throughout Europe and of the thousands returning from abroad, who saw the piece on the other side, not one can be found who does not enthusiastically aver that "The Merry Widow" is the greatest ever." In Franz Lehar, the composer, another genius has been found who can tickle the fancy of the musical connoisseur, at the same time write music whose languorous melodies haunt the man who doesn't know the difference between a major chord and a spool of cotton.

The story of the piece deals with Prince Danilo of Marsovia, who is suffering from the effects of an unfortunate love affair, and is trying to forget it, and has plunged into the dissipations of Paris. Some few years earlier he had set his heart upon Sonia, a farmer's daughter, but his uncle, the king of Marsovia, refused his royal approval to a match between the blue-blooded heir apparent and a little country girl; so Danilo was hustled off to serve as an attache to the Marsovian legation in Paris.

Meanwhile the broken-hearted Sonia, found solace in marriage with a banker, the richest man in Marsovia, who died shortly after the wedding, leaving $20,000,000 to Sonia. She closes her Marsovian castle and hurries to Paris, where she becomes a merry widow, professing to care no more for the prince or for love at all. She treats with contempt the offers of marriage which pour in upon her wherever she goes. Paris, and the gay life her money can buy, attract her, and it is there in the midst of her merry-making that she meets her old lover for the first time since the death of her husband. The prince on that occasion is not in his best form. He has been spending days and nights riotously at Maxim's, and is scarcely sober. This does not seem to disgust her, however, possibly because she guesses that love for her has something to do with it, and her heart goes out to him. But when he presumes to grow affectionate, she informs him icily that she will have none of that, as she believes that he, like the rest, is after her money. This blow brings the prince to his senses, and his pride being wounded, he tells Sonia that nothing on earth will ever induce him again to say that he loves her.

When, in a fit of repentance she selects him as her partner for a dance before all other suitors, he accepts the honor, only to put it up at auction, selling his privilege to the Vicomte de Jolidon for some thousands of dollars. The pair now become as bitterly hostile as lovers can be, and each determines to make the other give in. Near the end of the second act, it looks as if Sonia would win, as when the prince refuses to dance with her, she starts on her own account an old Marsovian dance, which at last so intoxicates him that he is forced to join her. This is the famous dance that delighted audiences in every music-loving capital.

Still the Prince retains self-control, and believing she is fooling him, says good evening to the Merry Widow and leaves her as disconsolate as ever.

A sub-plot, which is intertwined with the main story, concerns Natalie, the wife of Baron Popoff, the Marsovian embassador at Paris. She is carrying on an intrigue with the Vicomte de Jolidon. The Baron has perfect trust in his wife, but he sees a man and woman entering and closing a pavilion, and believing they are lovers, he looks through the keyhole and sees his wife and the Vicomte kissing. He is not, however, absolutely sure of the identity of the woman, as it is dark, and Sonia, in order to madden the Prince, takes Natalie's place by getting into the pavilion through a secret door and comes out on the arm of the Vicomte. The Prince now loses all self-control, and after abusing Sonia, rushes off the stage, saying that he has done with her forever. After his retreat the curtain descends on a song of triumph by Sonia, who feels that at last she is quite sure of the Prince's love.

The same sub-plot turns upon a missing fan with the words "I love you" written on it by the Vicomte. This fan gets into the possession of the Prince, and in the last act Sonia sees him lay it aside. She jumps to the conclusion that he has written the words, as he is too proud to say them, and determines to get the confession from his lips by telling him that she loses her fortune when she marries again. The ruse is instantly successful. The moment the Prince hears that she will be penniless, he takes her to his arms, as a hero should, and all ends happily.

After a long process of elimination, Mr. Savage selected a cast of splendidly equipped players, who combine vocal excellence with dramatic talent, to interpret the interesting characters in "The Merry Widow."

At the Bijou.

One of the most sensational and wonderful novelties that has ever appeared on any stage will be the big feature attraction of the bill opening Monday afternoon.

This big feature will be "The Little Queen of Norway," by Miss Marie Rolfson, who comes direct from Stavanger, Norway. During her thirty weeks in American vaudeville theaters she has been not only a sensation in every city, but has baffled the scientific minds in each city where she has appeared. One of the phenomenal feats performed by this woman of mystery is the lifting of ten men. The same ten men cannot lift her. She also performs many other feats of equal mystery. Miss Rolfson is assisted by Dr. Leopold McLaglen, who is the champion Jiu Jitsu wrestler of the world. With these two big drawing cards, the act is the greatest novelty that has ever entered the vaudeville field. The following is a recent notice from the Minneapolis Journal:

"Marie Rolfson cannot be lifted—not even when ten men try it. This is, of course, if she places one of her little hands under the chin of one of the venturesome committee. Capt. Leopold McLaglen, in introducing Miss Rolfson last night, declared that he stood ready to give $100 to any one who could lift her when he was in contact with her flesh. Ten strong men went on the stage. They pushed, tugged and strained, but no success attended their efforts. The captain further announced that some evening he was going to bring two trick horses on the stage and drive them in different directions to try to loosen his hands, which will be held together by Miss Rolfson's opwers. The act is very puzzling and exceptionally good novelty. It is impossible to see the trick. If trick it is, which is emphatically denied by both the captain and Miss Rolfson that it is a trick. This little woman, who is possessed of some amazing power that resists all attempts of science or strength to control, will appear at each performance at the Bijou starting Monday afternoon.

Among the many other attractions for the week will be Kelly and Reno, known as the men with the chairs, who introduce a comedy acrobatic act that offers a marvelous combination of lumps and sensational acrobatic feats. The old minstrel favorite and sweet singer, Billy Windon, presents his original singing novelty, "The Colored Nurse Girl."

A good singing and dancing act will be given by the Ward brothers, whose eccentric dancing has made them great vaudeville favorites.

A dainty little singing act will be given by Virginia Grant, who introduces a singing novelty that is above the ordinary. Miss Grant has an excellent voice, an attractive stage presence and introduces many of the newest song successes.

As an added feature one of the best stock actors in the United States will appear in the person of Frank Bacon, who will present his newest sketch success, entitled "An Easy Liar." The following is from Amy Leslie, the great Chicago critic: "The feature of this week's bill at the Majestic is Frank Bacon and company in 'An Easy Liar.' The playlet is splendidly constructed; it is seldom that a short sketch can tell as strong a story and sustain the close attention of the audience throughout. Mr. Bacon and his associates are welcome additions to vaudeville. The actor's humor is unctuous. With his grasp upon the art it is but a step from humor to pathos."

Isadore Silver, who has been a popular favorite for the past two years, singing the illustrated songs, will sing his farewell song this week, singing his favorite selection, entitled "Mandy Lane." "Izzy" leaves Duluth with a sad heart, as he has been the most popular singer that has ever sung at the Bijou and has made countless friends.

The moving pictures will be all new and exclusive subjects. Matinees are given daily at 2:45 and every night at 8 and 9:30. Seats may be reserved by either telephone. A special school children's matinee will be given Saturday afternoon at 2:30, when all seats will be sold for 10 cents.

Performances are given Sunday afternoon and night.

MISS ROSEMARY GLOSZ, The "Merry Widow."

Lyceum Notes.

Al. H. Wilson will close his engagement in "When Old New York Was Dutch" at the Lyceum this evening.

Richard Carle comes to the Lyceum soon with "Mary's Lamb," his newest musical comedy. In this French-American story Mr. Carle appears as a hen-pecked husband, Leander Lamb. The character is said to be the most congenial of all in which he has been seen on the stage. He played the part for three months in New York during the hottest part of the summer. His support is excellent, Julia Ralph appearing as the shrewish wife, Cecilia Rhoda, as an adventuress, Doris Goudwin as a prima donna, Sylvian Langlois as a Westerner, DeWitt Mott as an artist, and "Scamp" Montgomery as a darky servant. The chorus is large and pretty and composed of splendid singers.

On May 7 and 8 at the Lyceum the Messrs. Shubert will offer Clyde Fitch's latest comedy success, "Girls," which ran for one year at Daly's theater, New York. "Girls" is a comedy, a play which pleasantly argues a question which has been the theme of both harmony and discord since the days of Eden. There are five types of girls in the play—the serious-minded, sober businesslike girl who resents the domineering man; the artistic girl who is willing to be convinced; the giddy-girlish girl who is perfectly satisfied that she is taking part in a mistaken opposition to much that is nice; the girl who is married to indulgent old age, and the girl of the chewing gum disposition who is always on the lookout for a man. In the end the man-hating girls all find their natural destinies, in the arms of man. In this age of suffragettes, it is worth while to see how Mr. Fitch lets his girls work out their own salvation along lines which grow into least resistance. The company supplied by the Messrs. Shubert is composed of well-known metropolitan players and the production is complete and correct down to the smallest detail.

In these days, when the stage seems to be almost wholly devoted to the exploiting of cheap music and scantily clad women, it is a relief to be able, occasionally, to turn from the theatrical tawdriness and "tommy-rot" and see real actors play real parts in a real play. It is a relief to watch the development of a logical, interesting story and see real, living, breathing characters walk the stage. It is for this reason that Klaw & Erlanger's presentation of the dramatic version of Sir Gilbert Parker's "The Right of Way," with Guy Standing and Theodore Roberts in the leading roles, is being ranked as one of the biggest successes on the road this season. It will appear at the Lyceum in May.

In "Right of Way" Sir Gilbert Parker wrote a virile, vital story, and in dramatizing the book Eugene W. Presbrey has made a virile, vital play, it is claimed. In Charley Steele and Joe Portugais, Sir Gilbert drew two characters that have not been excelled in modern fiction. Mr. Presbrey has injected the breath of life into these characters and has transferred them from the pages of the novel to the stage in all their sympathy-compelling force and all their naturalness.

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

"THE BEAUTY SPOT" CONSIDERED GOOD FOR SUMMER RUN — "THE CLIMAX" A PLAY OF MERIT—"GOING SOME" GETS THERE : : :

New York, April 24.—"The Beauty Spot," by Reginald de Koven, libretto by Joseph Herbert, succeeded Bertha Galland at the Herald Square, and starts off with rosy prospects of supplying all-summer attractions at that playhouse, where "Three Twins" scored so hotly and endured so lastingly a year ago. It is one of those colorful summer attractions which counteract the fatigue of the dog days, with views of lightly clad maidens and glimpses of realistic surfs and stretching beaches. The plot really and truly turns upon a a mole on the left knee of Gen. Semovar's wife, who was an actress and a model before she became the wife of the redoubtable, fire-eating Russian diplomat, impersonated by Jefferson De Angelis. The jealous old swashbuckler is looking for the young American artist who painted "The Beauty Spot" picture, in order to toss him into the sea over the beetling cliffs, and the way this prospective tragedy is averted is worthy of a greater librettist than Joe Herbert. At the critical moment of the exposure of the painting the artist's friends, with their brushes, neatly draw the veil of modesty over the figure of the insouciant Nichette, and when Semovar gazes upon the canvas he beholds his wife in proper attire, with a black rodent on her left knee. It is the "mole," but the nature of the beast has changed, and the general is pacified and consents to the marriage of the artist to his daughter by his first wife, who was not an artist's model.

De Koven has written some graceful and rapidly flowing melodies for the work, and the producers have mounted it in the most picturesque manner, besides providing a strong cast to assist De Angelis and Marguerite Clark, who daintily impersonates the daughter in love with the artist, and the operetta starts off with strong prospects of realizing its mission as a provider of light comedy for the dullness of the approaching season.

Weber's theater was the scene of the first performance of "The Climax," a quartet drama by Edward Locke, which scored with the thinking critics and is likely to hold the boards for some time to come. It has many of the delicate touches of human nature and homely humor of "The Music Master," and resembles that familiar player in atmosphere as well as in interest. Only four people are concerned in the plot, and the scene, which does not change during the three acts, is laid in the apartment of an old Italian singing teacher, Luigi Golfanti. With him are living his son Pietro, a talented young musician, and a very distant relative, Adelina von Hagen. The events take place in New York, and Albert Bruning plays the old musician, and a newcomer, Leona Watson, plays Adelina. Pietro is desperately in love with Adelina and is always composing songs and madrigals to her. But Adelina, who has come to New York from Azalia, Ohio, disgusted with the narrow circles of her home environments and ambitions to become a great prima donna, of which she has more than reasonable prospects, is devoted to her art and laughs at Pietro, and mends his socks and looks after his father's poor little household in work for her lessons. The fourth participant in the plot is a young physician, who loved Adelina in Azalia, and has followed her to New York, to be near his idol. Neither does Adelina love Raymond well enough to give up her love of the stage and become a settled woman with a home. It is all in her glorious voice, the color and romance of the future, fame, fortune and the devotion of princes. And just then she loses her voice and knows not how it transpired, and is hurled into the lowest depths of despair.

Her future gone, she accepts gladly the proffered opportunity of becoming Raymond's wife, and even Azalia expands in dignity to a degree of possible toleration in her clouded vision of the time to come. But in the act of going to the church at Raymond's side, already in her wedding dress, she attempts to sing Pietro's "Song of the Soul," and behold! her voice bursts forth in all its pristine glory of tone and golden melody. What has happened? She has neglected the spray which Raymond prescribed for treatment of a slight operation on her throat, and now the truth comes out—the climax: Raymond has deliberately suspended the function of her voice in order to make her give up the stage and become his wife. There is talk of "thought suggestion" in the problem, but most of us preferred to ascribe the Adelina's loss of voice to the spray. She dismisses her selfish lover, but the piece ends in an interrogation point. We are left to the charitable conjecture that she may some day recall him and forget to what extent his zeal carried him. The production was as remarkable for the tender, sympathetic acting of Miss Watson as for the inherent interest of the story. She has a sweet, cultivated soprano, and as "The Song of the Soul" plays a prominent part in the drama, the role has to be impersonated by an actress who can sing well enough to carry out the illusion of possessing unusual vocal powers. Both in the acting and the singing she was most happy, and her artistic future seems assured. Bruning was admirable as Golfanti and William Lewers played Raymond well, with Effingham A. Pinto an efficient Pietro.

"The Alaskan" got off to a flying start at the Great Northern theater, Chicago, making an emphatic hit with the public and an equally pronounced one with the newspaper reviewers. More kindly comment has never been passed upon a musical show. This is what the critics of the great Chicago dailies had to say:

O. L. Hall, in the Journal: "With all its splendid singers, it's industrious comedians and its willing chorus, 'The Alaskan' is a dandy show. It is worth much more than the Great Northern tariff and deserves to be seen by all who can get in the theater."

C. W. Collins, in the Inter-Ocean: "'The Alaskan' may be guaranteed as the most ingratiating affair seen at the Great Northern in seasons."

Amy Leslie, in the Daily News: "The best musical offerings ever seen at the Great Northern."

The foregoing extracts take no account of the individual hits made by the singers, Mr. Martindel, Mr. Huff and Miss Lieb, and by the comedians, Mr. Carroll and Mr. Welnburg, nor of the sprightly work by the numerous chorus. "The Alaskan" proved itself distinctly an entertainment to suit all tastes. Its music ranges from the lively rhythm of specialties to the dramatic finale of the first act, and when there is no music there is fun in abundance."

Paul Armstrong appears to have better luck at the side of Rex Beach as collaborator than he had with "The Renegade" and "Blue Grass" earlier in the season. There has probably been no play on Broadway this season that made the audience laugh so continuously as "Going Some," which he and Rex Beach have written and which is offered at the Belasco theater. It was tried out last season, but since that time many new touches have been put into the action and several of the characters have been elaborated and developed, and the Shuberts have staked it in the best form of the art.

The whole plot turns with farcical perversity upon the straits of a youthful Yale football enthusaist, who comes West and pretends to be a famous intercolleglate sprinter. He is pitted to run against a fleet-footed cook of a rival ranch, and discovers, too late, that the cowboys, who have staked their all and their honor on him, are taking his imposture in dead seriousness, so that he must either win or die at their hands. In the end, when the complications are beyond unraveling, the cook offers to throw the race, and the Yale champion wins the stake, as well as the girl whom he sought to impress. Lawrence Wheat was happily chosen for the part of the 'varsity champion, Walter Jones made a decided hit as his masseur and valet, who assumes to be Speed's trainer, and Herbert Cothrell divided honors with both as a jolly fat jollypop of a glee club tenor singer, who is Speed's rival for the affections of Helen Blake and is the means of arousing the cowboy's suspicions and thus making the Yale man's path an even harder one to travel. The piece went with a rush over the boards and seems destined for a good, long run.

Nearly every one of the late plays is above the average in interest, and "A Happy Marriage," by Clyde Fitch, was well received at the Garrick, as was "The House Next Door" at the Galety, with J. E. Dodson in the principal role. The latter play is taken from the German by J. Hartley Manners, who has transferred the scene to England. The problem deals with the question of intermarriage between Jew and Gentile, but in a new, and to a large extent, in a comedy way, in which Dodson, as Sir John Cotswold, who sees his estates dwindle steadily and accrue to the aggrandizement of his neighbor, Sir Isaac Jacobson, M. P., was in his best vein. And Dodson is probably our greatest character actor. Everybody came away from the theater immensely pleased with what he had seen. Dodson proved a delight from the start to the finish of the play.

"A Happy Marriage" is Mr. Fitch's thesis of what should constitute happiness in conjugal ties from the standpoint of the disinterested onlooker, since the author is a confirmed bachelor and considerable of an old maid into the bargain. The theory is not novel of the unhappiness growing out of a state of neglect of a wife as charming as Doris Vane can be, by a husband working twenty-four hours a day, as Edwin Arden can represent him. Mr. Fitch has taken odds and ends from "My Wife," "Love Matches" and other familiar models, and patched the pieces together into a very interesting new comedy, in which the abused wife plans a harmless elopement and, in the end, all turns out serenely and beneficially and happily for everybody concerned. In the words of the play, "They put on the brakes and back on to the Happiness siding."

The erstwhile popular "Mascot" of Edouard Audran, reminiscent of the halcyon period of Fay Templeton's lavender wrappings and restored to the blaze of the footlights at the New Amsterdam, to provide a character for Raymond Hitchcock. Well, it was all Prince Lorenzo, and hence all Raymond Hitchcock, and of the dear old tunes and charming melodies "rendered" by a plump and sightly chorus that could not sing, all that one could make out was here and there a familiar tempo and a stray strain or two of pleasant old operetta. But there was much tripping over trains and falling down stairs, and if that does not take the place of any music M. Audran ever wrote—well, you are not up to date, that's all. Perhaps we shall shortly hear that the public will not support revivals of the old opera comiques. At least we should know the reason. As Lorenzo Hitchcock is, of course, extremely funny, but less Lorenzo and more score seems to summarize the troubles with the 'Mascot' at the New Amsterdam. Flora Zabelle made Bettina interesting and Estelle Wentworth was clever as the Princess. The production is handsome.

Francis Wilson's debut as a playwright is to take place at a matinee performance during his Baltimore engagement. The play which he has written for his own starring purposes is a comedy in three acts, entitled "The Melting Pot," and the story is as follows:

Tom Beach is the bachelor of the title. He has come to believe that children in a household are a source of tremendous annoyance. This view keeps him and Winifred West from marrying.

In the midst of his perplexities Beach suddenly finds himself the sole guardian and protector of his niece, a little girl of 5, who mistakes him for her father, his twin brother. Beach's feelings are outraged. He does not desire to be "reformed" by any such emotional moonshine, and he thinks that his brother must have been mad to appoint him by will the child's guardian.

A bachelor friend upholds him in this resentment. After that first meeting Beach has run away from the child, and upon his return stoutly refuses to meet her, although urged to do so by Winifred and the members of the household.

He is, however, tricked into meeting the youngster, and a scene of tenderness and fun follows. This somewhat moderates his ideas of children, but not his determination to withhold his guardianship.

It is not until actually threatened with being superseded as the child's guardian that the true state of his feelings dawns upon him, and he makes up his mind to fight to retain her. Things look pretty blue for Beach at first, but in the end he is successful, and of course he is induced to regard matrimony in a different light.

Next season is regarded in the Liebler & Co.'s offices as the period of fruition for the six big successes secured during the season now nearing its end. Three of these successes were made in New York, and three on the road, so that Liebler & Co. will be able to offer both the metropolis and the provinces plenty that is at the same time novel and tried.

The New York successes will naturally be sent out on extensive road tours, provided it is not seen fit to continue their long runs here, and the out of town successes will receive a New York hearing. Most noteworthy of the latter, perhaps, is Walker Whiteside in "The Melting Pot," the wonderful success of which, wherever it has been presented makes it local premiere an event to be looked forward to with a great deal of interest.

Then, Miss Viola Allen has faund a worthy vehicle in the late F. Marion Crawford and Walter Hackett's beautiful, "The White Sister," which will also have an early presentation in New York next fall. The third out-of-town success, Dustin Farnum in "Cameo Kirby," which has pleased Chicago exceedingly, will not be seen in New York until holiday time. In the meantime, Miss Nance O'Neil in "The Dawn of a Tomorrow," William T. Hodge in "The Man From Home," and Wilton Lackaye in "The Battle," all of which have enjoyed long and prosperous New York runs, will doubtless find a hearty welcome in any part of the country to which they may be sent again provided that the popularity does not prolong their stay in New York.

Two new productions are announced. One is "Foreign Exchange," a new play by Booth Tarkington and Harry Leon Wilson, the authors of "The Man From Home," and "Cameo Kirby." Percy Haswell has been secured for the principal woman's role, and H. B. Warner for that of the hero. The other new play accepted for production is Henry Blossom's new comedy, "Miss Philura." It is given out that the underlying theme of the play concerns itself with the doctrines of Christian Science. Chrissie Herne will be seen in the title role, and a thoroughly adequate company is promised.

Ezra Kendall is once more to be found in the number of Liebler & Co.'s stars. He will present a new version of his old-time success "The Vinegar Buyer," from one coast to the other.

Brand Whitlock, in addition to being the militant mayor of Toledo, is a dramatic critic, who knows what he likes when he likes it. Whatever this pictperformance during his Baltimore engagement. The play which he has performance may be, it is not dull, as so it is in a letter he has written Liebler & Co., managers of "The Melting Pot," which recently playcd Toledo. Mayor Whitlock writes:

"I am glad of the opportunity to tell you of the enjoyment I found in the presentation at the Valentine of 'The Melting Pot.' In all the welter of thrilling burlesques, of pale, attenuated imitations and European importations, of plays distilled from plays, of the commercial exploitation of the sensational and salacious, which for the last ten years has made the American stage almost wholly hopeless, it is not only a great pleasure, but a real inspiration to see a play as real, as virile, as original, and above all, as American as 'The Melting Pot.' As a piece of dramatic construction it is excellent, and it has high literary merit, but beyond all this, it is American, with the very essence of the American spirit beautifully expressed. I should like to congratulate Mr. Zangwill on his achievement of this great play, and on the possession of a wide, sympathetic patriotism that embraces the whole of humanity. That is what America stands for, and it is good to know that the tremendous idea has found, at last such full and adequate expression.

"And then, too, I should like to congratulate Mr. Whiteside upon his intelligent and finished interpretation of the role of David, and Miss Herne upon her beautiful presentation of the part of Vera. The whole company, indeed, is good, and one may congratulate all who are concerned in the production. But above all, America is to be congratulated that she is at last finding herself, her best self, presented in the dramatic form, even if she had to go to Europe to get it done. But that is America's way, and that is, after all, one of the largest significances of our America—that America of the mind and heart, to be a native of which one need only feel a love for the whole great brotherhood of men, and be convinced of the equality of all men, no matter who they are or where they come from—that America which is as much for the last immigrant who went through the little wicket gate at Ellis island this morning as it is for those whose ancestors have been here two centuries, yours ever sincerely,

"BRAND WHITLOCK."

Willam T. Hodge, starring in New York in "The Man From Home," did a graceful thing the other day when he invited the veterans from the actors' home on Staten Island to be his guests at the Astor theater. No, the residents of the actors' home are not playgoers any more. They haven't lost interest in the stage, but there's a rule of the institution which forbids them staying out too late, and if they attended a night performance in New York, they couldn't get back to the home by closing time And as for matinee, well, if you must know, the veterans aren't so plentifully supplied with funds as they once were, and to buy dinner would make the outing beyond their means.

So Mr. Hodge set out to overcome the several objections, and he did it by having sixteen old-timers at the matinee of 'The' Man From Home" and and they had the best in the house, too—the best stage boxes were theirs and the best performance of the whole nine months season at the Astor, for here was indeed an audience worth playing to.

And after the performance, and everybody, but the Staten Islanders had left the Astor, the curtain was run up again, and there on the stage was set a table with the finest little spread you ever sat down to, and for two hours the old fellows, and the ladies, and young Mr. Hodge ate and talked and talked and ate, and it was a fine afternoon entirely.

Among the guests were Harry Irving, who twenty years ago taught Mr. Hodge how to ease in the grease paint; Mrs. Richard Brennan, who travelled years ago and did the singing for her husband when they were presenting a panorama of Ireland; Mrs. Jeanette Campbell, who starred long ago in tragedy roles; Mrs. Frank Cotter, who, as Nannie Egberts, supported Dion Boucicault in the 70's; George Morton and his wife Ada Morton, famous as dancers of the olden time; Mrs. Nick Forrester, who played the leading roles in her husband's companies once upon a time; Charles Morris of the Morris Brothers' Minstrels; H. D. Clifton, who was in the support of Booth, Barrett and Forrest; Isaac G. Withers, who was a popular member of the San Francisco minstrels in the 60's; Eddie Wilkes, who was with Augustin Daly for seventeen years; Fred Dubois, who used to manage Mrs. Leslie Carter, Tony Roig, manager of the Mobile theater during the Civil war; Harry Hapgood, 85, and the oldest advance agent in the world, and Daddy Bauer, 87, the oldest man in the home.

An angry protest against the German production of Maj. Du Maurier's invasion play, "An Englishman's Home," which was staged for the first time in Berlin on Easter Sunday, was made by the press of that city. Later it was hooted off the stage. The New York production closed in New York on Saturday, and a brief road tour will be taken up. The reason for the German antipathy to the play is the fact that it is the Germans who invade the Englishman's home. The American lack of interest is due to the fact that the subject has no application in this country.

According to a cable dispatch from Charles Frohman, Henry Arthur Jones has delivered to him the manuscript of a new play which is to be presented here in September. Also, Mr. Frohman cabled that he had obtained the English and American rights of a play by Douglas Murray, entitled "The Great Mrs. Alloway." Mr. Murray is best known as the author of a little play called "The Sentimental Cuss," which was produced this season at the Vaudeville theater, London.

Margaret Anglin will complete her tour of the world when she lands in New York city about the middle of next month. She opens in Boston in September, with "The Awakening of Helena Ritchie," after an absence from the American stage of close upon two years. The English rights to the play were last week purchased by Miss Anglin's agent from Mrs. Deland and the dramatic author, Miss Charlotte Thompson. The actress intends to appear in it herself in London, following its run in America. She writes from Europe that before coming home she will give one performance of the play at the Theater Antoine, in Paris, for copyright purposes.

Bernard Shaw's strong problem play, "Mrs. Warren's Profession," has just been performed for the first time in an Italian dress before a select Roman audience at the Municipal theater. The first act, while followed with keenest interest, finished amid universal silence. The second and third acts stirred the assembly to indulge in counter demonstrations of applause and disproval. The fourth act, which is the most caustic and well constructed portion of the play, called forth at its close a perfect storm of excitement, which was renewed again and again till the Shawlan enthusiasts had utterly drowned the dissentients.

J. M. Barrie lives in London, in a small, quaint house in Lancaster Gate. Just across the Bayswater road is Kensington Garden. There, in the Kensington Broadwalk, the playwright takes his morning stroll among the flowers and the flowerlike children.

One morning, in the Broadwalk, an American lady twitted Mr. Barrie upon the thrifty way he uses jokes and epigrams sodes over and over again, exploding in "What Every Woman Knows," for instance, the same witticism that has already figured in "The Admirable Crichton," in "My Lady Nicotine" and in "Sentimental Tommy."

Mr. Barrie said, with a laugh, that his nationality was to blame.

"I am a Scot," he said, "and we Scots abhor waste. Did you ever hear of the aged Saunders Carlyle, who always drank off his whisky to the last drop the very instant it was poured out for him?

"'Why do you drink down your liquor in that quick, greedy way?' a stranger said to Saunders in a reproachful tone.

"'I once had one knocked over,' the old man explained."

An actor ruffled his hair carefully before a mirror.

"These steeple jacks," he said, "practice a perilous calling, but in our new tice a perilous calling, but in our new show my work is just as risky."

"How can an actor's work be likened to a steeple jack's," they scoffed, "for danger?"

"Play small parts in melodrama and you'll know," the actor replied. "In our melodrama, 'The Bleeding Hand, or, From Typewriter to Coronet,' I risk my life in every act. In the first act a bully, after insulting the heroine, is killed by the hero with a blow on the chin. I am the bully. In the second act the lovers elope by motor car, the motor car jumps over a cliff and the chauffeur is crushed to a jelly beneath it. The chauffeur is yours truly. The third act is a reconciliation scene, ending an aeroplane flight, wherein the aeronaught comes a cropper at a height of 1,000 feet, falling and breaking every bone in his body. I'm the aeronaut. Last act—wedding and grand hanging scene. My neck is all raw from the rope. That's why I wear this black silk handkerchief instead of a collar."

Thompson Buchanan, the young and distractingly good looking author of "A Woman's Way," is as modest as a girl—should be, but isn't in these modern days.

A burly broker, fuming because his party was late, and disappointed in the location of the seats which he had ordered by telephone, charged upon a slim, dark-eyed boy who was loitering in the lobby.

"See here, can't you fix this for me? They've played the devil with my tickets."

"Certainly," responded the youth, who took the offending coupons, and by quick magic returned with those representing tenure more desirable.

Apoplexy receded from the immediate prospects of the broker. "Thank you! Wish every one who hangs around the theater was as obliging. Suppose you're the advance man or something?"

"Oh, no," responded Mr. Buchanan, humbly. "I'm only the author."

The late Madame Modjeska made for herself a wonderful reputation in Warsaw, but found when she came to New York that it would not suffice to put her at once on the top of the waves there. Utterly unknown in that city she discoveerd that it was the most difficult thing to inspire confidence in a new public and a new manager.

After having made a success in playing "Adrienne Lecouvreur," she asked to be allowed to play "Camille." For a time this seemed impossible, but at last she won her point, and the night of the play arrived with a crowded house and a brilliant audience.

In the third act her great scene with Pere Duval was approaching and Modjeska was nervous, so nervous that she could hear nothing but the chirping of a canary bird that the stage manager had hung in a cage near a window. She stood it as long as shecould. Then, suddenly with a bound, she prang to where the cage was hanging; tore it from its fastening, and hurled it out into the wings. Later she told a friend:

"I acted on the uncontrollable impulse of the moment, and when I heard the cage fall outside the scene I felt a thrill of delight. I did not realize that what I had done might be considered cruel. I had no thought of being cruel. I only knew that the noise had ceased and that the success that made my career possible in America came five minutes afterward. I never knew a greater triumph in my life, and but for what I did that night in 'Camille' I might have wandered back to Poland in spite of the troubles that my husband had with the government, and the political atmosphere which was then so intolerable to all the Poles."

During Mrs. Patrick Campbell's last visit to the coast Mme. Modjeska went to see her act, and afterwards to call on her behind the scenes. Mrs. Campbell was enthusiastic over her visitor's youthful appearance.

"O, what do you do, madame," she inquired, "to preserve yourself so wonderfully?"

Mme. Modjeska merely smiled, but said nothing. Later she confided to a friend:

"I could not tell Mrs. Compbell that I preserved' myself crocheting shawls for my neighbors and dressing dolls for the institutes."

It is a well known fact that Mme. Modjeska never visited a beauty doctor nor took a "rest cure" in her life.

One of the objects that always arrests the attention and excites the curiosity of a visitor to the dressing room of Miss Beth Tate of "Babes In Toyland" company, is a funny little Japanese doll that invariably has a prominent place on the wall over the "make up" table.

"That," said the actress to a caller, "is my fetich. No, I am not superstitious. When my mother and I first visited San Francisco, we lived at a boarding house much frequented at that time by members of the profession. As in many other California houses, the cook at the establishment was a Chinese, and a very good cook, too, but superstitious.

"One day he came to our room, bearing a very mysterious bundle, which he presented to me with much solemnity while he informed me in his queer pigeon English, that if I kept the contents by me it would bring me luck. The contents proved to be the doll which the old Chinese said he had brought with him from China, where it had been blessed by a Buddhist priest of an enormous sanctity. To please him, I carried it to the theater on our opening night. It is very curious that on two occasions, once when I was playing in the West and once when I appeared at a benefit at a New York theater, the doll was not taken to my dressing room, and I forgot my lines completely. And so, although I am not superstitious, as I said before, I always hang the doll up in my dressing room no matter where I go."

Oza Waldrop, who played the pedantic miss in "Paid in Full," and later played a candid and humorless maiden in "The Chaperon," is an interesting little actress with one grave fault. She can never remember when to "change."

"I was nearly fired from the Alcazar for forgetting to change," she says with the owl-eyed gravity that is so titillating in "The Chaperon."

It was this same propensity that caused one of the laughs in "The Chaperon." At the dress rehearsal Miss Waldrop was again in disgrace. "Gracious!" she shrieked. "Is that my cue? I thought this was where I had to change." She came forth in delectable, entertaining and this side of being actually shocking.

Miss Elliott looked, laughed, decided. "Come right as you are, please. We will keep that business," she said. "It is funny." Which was what the audience thought of the moon-eyed maiden who came on the stage struggling into a shirtwaist to button which she gave a general invitation.

Louise Muldener of "The Melting Pot," has illuminative memories of Booth and Barrett, and other dramatic giants She expects to emblaim those memories in a book. The good book of memoirs is a treasure spot in a library. Good memoirs are those which shed human sidelights. Chronology is the skeleton. Reminiscences of the sort that are worth while are the fleshly, intimate wrappings that imagination and clever interpretation wrap about it. Miss Muldener, many have said to me, possesses these, and will render a book that will charm swiftly away an evening at the fireside.

Vivian Holt is a startling smaller and feminine edition of her father, Edwin Holt, who made an oath classic in "The College Widow" and has been playing the mayor in "The Mayor and the Manicure." She should have been named Edwina or Edwinette.

A French magazine relates an example of the marvelous memory of the late M. Coquelin aine:

At an evening entertainment given by a well-known Belgian book collector, the great French comedian was asked how many parts he knew by heart.

"Fifty-three," was the answer.

The company politely professed doubt as to the capacity of any human brain to retain so much. Coquelin smilingly turned to the host and said:

Take from your library the fifty-three books I shall name and let some one start reading from any page; I shall then continue the plays from memory."

All the guests took turns at starting to read plays at random, and in every case Coquelin was able to continue from memory without the slightest hesitation or pause.

Yet great as Coquelin was as an actor, this proof of his memorizing ability was but an illustration of the peculiar exactitude that marked his work on the stage—his mastery of detail.

FROM THE MINES AND THE SMELTERS

RICH STRIKES AT SHATTUCK

Solid Carbonates With Manganese Coating Which Gave Average Assay of 38 Per Cent Copper---All Workings Now in Ore.

Bisbee, Ariz., April 24.—One of the richest ore strikes ever made in the Warren district occurred a few days ago at the Shattuck mine, where discoveries of good ore have been made with remarkable frequency of late. The find was made in No. 22 raise, which was started about two weeks ago north of No. 4 crosscut on the 600-foot level. A round of holes shot at a height of sixty feet in the raise broke into a body of what was thought to be manganese and copper which was estimated to be of low grade and little attention was paid to it.

The curiosity of the office force was excited by a chunk of what appeared to be manganese and it was sent to the assay office where it was discovered that it was solid carbonates with a manganese coating. A sample of the entire face was then taken which gave an average assay of 38 per cent copper. The result of the assay caused considerable excitement among the few to whom it was made known. The raise is in about five feet of this ore, not much more of which will be required to complete segment the development's of the Shattuck.

The raise in which the strike was made was begun in reached matter and several small stringers of ore have been encountered. The ore is of a different character from any ever discovered in the mine heretofore and it was of such deceptive appearance that some of it had been removed as waste.

Good commercial ore was struck this week in No. 13 crosscut at the Shattuck, and practically all workings in the mine are now in ore. That in No. 13 crosscut will probably average between 5 and 6 per cent. This crosscut is opposite No. 21 raise, which has reached the 500-foot level, and is still in ore.

The action of the Shattuck company has been puzzling to many people in the district for more than a year. It was known to be the intention of the company to build a reduction works in Douglas, that was given out from Duluth two years ago, ground was secured in the smelter city for this purpose and twice since the production of ore has been discontinued in the mine, bids have been asked for and received from the machinery houses for the construction of the smelter, the last bids having been received last July. The property is known to possess grade but no shipments have been made during the past year, except that taken out in recent development work.

At the Denn the work of sinking on the main shaft is being continued, and about sixty feet has been made since work was resumed, more than a month ago. The shaft is now 1,260 feet deep and is still in white lime, which was encountered a short distance below the 1,200-foot level.

STRIKES AT THE JUNCTION

Two Important Finds of High Grade Ore Which Indicate the Junction Will Be Deep Mine of Great Richness.

Bisbee, Ariz., April 24.—Two important strikes of high grade ore were made a few days ago at the Junction mine, and while the extent of the bodies has not as yet been ascertained, it is reasonably certain that they will be of great importance in proving theoretically at least the unexplored depths of the mine, in addition to materially increasing the already developed ore assets of the Superior & Pittsburg company.

Probably the most important of the two strikes is that made in the 1,200 level when drills in crosscut No 53, far to the north of the shaft and within about 100 feet of the Denn-Arizona lines, broke into a body of rich sulphides and native copper. In the same crosscut high grade sulphides have been stoped and shipped for some time and the appearance of oxides is evidence of another zone of secondary enrichment at greater depth. Almost the entire breast of the crosscut is in ore today and the east wall is in the ore about five feet. Native copper in chunks and oxidized ores carrying some cuprite will bring the average of the copper yield of the body so far as explored to a high figure, as many of the chunks which carry an excess of iron will assay as high as 45 per cent copper.

Rich oxides overlaying sulphides were encountered on the 1400-level of the Junction and assays have been made showing 18 per cent copper. As in the other strike the extent of this body has not been ascertained.

Good grades of commercial ore are being encountered more frequently in the Junction mine now than in any other mine in the district, and with the discoveries of oxides at low depths, it is certain as anything in mining can be that the Junction will be a deep mine of great richness.

Recent developments north of the Junction shaft will undoubtedly create a more favorable impression for Denn, as there is slight probability of the ore bodies ending at the Junction side lines, and the bodies encountered in the extreme northern workings of the Junction apparently trend toward the Denn property.

At the Calumet & Arizona smelter four of the six furnaces are being operated. Construction work at the smelter on the plans for the enlargement of all the original 300-ton furnaces to a capacity of 500 tons has been stopped and nothing has been done along that line for several weeks. In this connection there are indefinite surmises and rumors floating around Douglas to the effect that this construction work has been discontinued pending decision on a complete overhauling and enlargement of the plant on a scale much larger than had ever been planned before.

RICH ORE FROM SILVER KING

Globe, Ariz., April 24.—The arrival in Globe recently of a pack train laden with several tons of extremely rich ore from the Silver King mine attracted considerable attention from some of the old timers whose knowledge of the famous old mine extends back to the period prior to 1884, when the Silver King mine was all that its name implies says the Globe Silver Belt. Few persons, if any who recall those prosperous times ever expected to see the old mine rehabilitated, but if the hopes of the new owner of the property, John McCabe, are realized, it will again reign as monarch of silver mines in Arizona.

Mr. McCabe secured a lease on the Silver King some time ago and has diligently explored the property, with the result that he has discovered the ore shoot which was supposed to have been lost or worked out and being convinced of its great value, he determined to secure title to the mine, in which purpose he has been successful, the deed having been placed on record recently at Florence.

Mr. McCabe has been taking out rich ore from the Silver King mine for several months and shipped some to El Paso, but is now bringing it here to the Old Dominion smelter. He has a sixty-burro train each burro carrying over 100 pounds of the rich copper and silver sulphurets.

President W. Y. Smith of the McMillen-Stonewall Mining company and H. C. Houser have returned from the mine, situated twenty miles east of Globe. Several weeks ago the Stonewall Jackson vein was cross-cutted on the 300-foot level and proved to be 115 feet wide. Since then the vein has been drifted on over 100 feet and the cross-cuts and drift are both in milling ore their entire length. Two samples taken from the cross-cut when the ore was first struck were assayed and returned seven to twenty ounces in silver, respectively. Better ore than either of the samples assayed has since been encountered. The vein in the old workings, 400 feet from the new cross-cut, is ninety-eight feet wide and 100 feet deeper.

ELECTRIC POWER FOR MINES

Mexico City, Mex., April 24.—A syndicate of Canadians, headed by M. J. O'Brien, has take steps to install a hydro-electric plant on the Mariis river, in the Ocampo district, Chihuahua, to furnish electric power for a number of mines of that section. A dam will be built across the Mariis river to form a storage reservoir. It is planned to have the dam, hydro-electric plant and transmission lines finished in six months.

The extreme dry weather is having a serious effect upon mining operations in some districts of Northern Mexico, where water is scarce. It is said that unless the situation is soon relieved a number of properties may have to close down.

The Fortuna mine, in the Placeres del Oro district, has passed into the hands of L. W. Storer and associates. This mine has been worked by its Mexican owners for several years. It is a free milling proposition. It is said that the new owners will install machinery and start development work on a large scale.

An ancient abandoned Spanish mine, in the Rio Frio district, State of Guerrero, which is owned by J. M. Barry, is being cleaned out with the view of developing the property. Assays of the ore in the mine have given satisfactory returns.

The new ten-ton smelter which was erected in the Zacatecas district was blown in recently. The new plant is expected to prove an important factor in the mining development of the Zacatecas district.

Ramon Corral, vice president of Mexico, and associates have developed a rich mine in the state of Sonora, the ore running 300 ounces in silver and three ounces in gold to the ton. Preparations are being made to ship large quantities of this ore to the smelter at El Paso.

Clancy Brothers are equipping the old Santa Rosalia mine, in the Arizpe district with modern machinery. This mine is producing an enormous quantity of rich ore, its output for the last eighteen months being valued at $1,600,000. Some of the carload shipments averaged $13,000 a ton in gold.

The Chispas Mining company will soon begin large shipments of ore to the smelter from its mine in the Arizpe district. This company recently completed a tramway eight miles long. The mine of this company has been an enormous producer of silver and gold. It is said that it will break all former records for shipments this year.

An American syndicate recently purchased the famous Bacoachila gold placers, situated in the state of Sonora. These placers have been worked since 1804 and their average annual output has been 30,000 ounces of gold. The new owners will work the ground on a more extensive scale than has been done in the past.

AT THE LAKE COPPER MINES

Houghton, Mich., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Navigation on the Great Lakes was officially declared open on the 15th, but it will be late in April before the ice on the Portage Lake waters will have opened sufficiently to permit of vessel passages. In the meantime shipments of the copper metal continue by rail at a rate fully 15 per cent in excess of production, and the accumulations of the past four months are fast melting away. The bulk of the metal now moving out of the district is going directly into the hands of American consumers, though in rather small lots, indicating a hand to mouth existence. The most encouraging feature, because practically an assurance that the metal is being consumed and not stored, is the great decrease noted in shipments to foreign points which, shipments since the first of the year have grown less frequent with each succeeding month and have now practically ceased.

Mass.

Mass is actively engaged in developing the new lode recently tapped by crosscut from the seventeenth level in "A" shaft, and a remarkable showing of copper ground is being made. The lode is being opened by drift-stopes carried along from foot to hanging wall, the width varying from twelve feet to fifteen feet, of which, fully seven feet is heavily charged with fine stamp copper. The proportion of flake copper commonly associated with the heavier shot copper in lodes of the character of this new discovery, is small and presents no serious milling problem. The lode has been opened for a distance of fifty-two feet disclosing copper ground that will probably average better than 1 per cent fine copper. An assay made of grab samples showed 4.6 per cent copper. The extent of the mineralization has been proven by diamond drilling the lode both above and to the west of the present opening, and the results there obtained has decided the company to tap the lode by crosscuts from the upper levels of the old workings in "A" shaft. Three machine drills are now being rigged up on the eleventh, thirteenth and fifteenth levels and crosscutting should be under way before the end of the month. The new lode is undeniably one of the richest disclosed in this district in recent years.

Ojibway.

The Ojibway No. 1 shaft has reached the 800-foot level, and as soon as the sump is cut below that depth, station cutting and cross-cutting to the lode will be undertaken. The shaft is sinking just under the lode at this point and discloses an epidotic rock well charged with shot copper for its entire length. The first of the twin Kearsarge lodes adjacent to this shaft will probably be reached by the crosscut within the next week. In the No. 2 shaft the 800-foot station was cut and timbered last week. Cross-cutting to the lode at that point will begin as soon as the necessary labor can be secured. The physical condition of the mine is excellent, and operations are being conducted with the utmost economy.

Adventure.

Adventure has decided upon the location of the new shaft to tap the so-called Adventure lodes disclosed by diamond drill explorations last summer. The necessary machinery to prosecute this work is being delivered and actual shaft sinking will quite likely be in progress about May 1st. The shaft will be put down vertically through barren trap rock until the first of the three, or so-called Adventure No. 1 lode is encountered at a depth calculated at approximately 1,000 feet, after which it will be turned to conform with the dip of the lodes. The work will require the greater part of a year.

Seneca.

At the Seneca property exploratory operations on the 200-foot level failed to disclose mineral values in the Kearsarge lode at that depth, and the work has been temporarily suspended, the company transferring its activities to shaft sinking. Lateral openings on the 200-foot level consist of 150 feet of cross-cutting and sixty feet of drifts. The shaft is sinking steadily below the 280-foot mark.

Trimountain.

Developments in the Trimountain mine disclose a gradual improvement with depth, the change for the better being particularly evident on the nineteenth level in the No. 4 shaft, where recent developments disclose copper ground of exceptional character. The improvements noted several weeks ago at and below the fifteenth, fourteenth and eleventh levels in the No. 2, the No. 3 and the No. 4 shafts, respectively, continue to hold and are being augmented with every additional fathom of ground opened. The disclosure of further rich copper ground at the greater depth in the No. 1 shaft would indicate that the rich shoot of copper ground rakes to the south with depth, in which event the three northerly shafts are only just entering the enrichment which already promises to put Trimountain well up among the high grade producers of this district.

Ahmeek.

Ahmeek's new shafts have been fitted with concrete collars from surface to bedrock, a distance of eighty-five feet.

PRODUCTION IS CURTAILED

Butte Mines Restricting Output and Further Curtailment Probable—Exploration Work Not Suspended by Large Companies—Developments at North Butte Add to the Mine's Productive Possibilities.

Butte, Mont., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The slow market for the copper metal and the low price for the output has caused a suspension of operations at some of the mines where the cost of production has been too high to permit a profit under the present market, and notwithstanding denials, there has been a curtailment of production generally in Butte. If it is true, as reported in New York, that all of the leading producers of this country have agreed to curtail production 15 per cent of the normal, it is certain that a further curtailment will be inaugurated in the Butte district. For several months there has been a gradual curtailment in expenditures and the quantity of ore shipped. Ore that could not be mined and treated at a profit was abandoned and mining confined to a higher grade. A large number of men have been laid off at the smelters and the forces at the mines gradually reduced, which was made necessary or possibly by the fact that mining was being concentrated on the higher grade ore bodies. A curtailment of 15 per cent on the Butte production will reduce the monthly output to 23,000,000 or 24,000,000 pounds, and if other districts curtail a like percentage, even the present rate of consumption will take care of the production and take up a lot of the surplus copper that has been accumulating.

The Amalgamated Copper company closed several of its small mines some time ago because the cost of their production was too high for present copper prices, and other companies also stopped shipping ore. La France Copper company has stopped mining, and the East Butte Copper company has also stopped shipping ore. Both companies are doing extensive development work, but what ore is taken out in the course of operations is being stored.

The Clark Mines.

The Original mine, owned by ex-Senator W. A. Clark, has been closed, but it is stated that work was suspended because of needed repairs on the shaft. The Clark mines are high-cost producers, and it is surmised that the copper market is chiefly responsible for the suspension. The Original has been employing 250 men and shipping about 220 tons of ore per day. The only other mine of the Clark company that is producing at present is the Stewart, the output from which is about 500 tons per day.

Senator Clark is doing some development work on the Elm, Orlu and Poser claims in the North Butte section of the district. So far none of the development and exploration work has been suspended by the large mining companies, which fact indicates confidence in the future. The Amalgamated, North Butte, Original, East Butte, Butte Coalition, Butte & Superior, Tuolumne, Alex Scott, and Parrot companies are pushing development work.

North Butte.

So far as opened, the Edith May vein of the North Butte on the two new levels at the 2,000 and 2,200 is not of very high grade, but the management says the developments have been satisfactory and that the drifts have not reached the point where the big ore body is expected. The fact that the vein has not opened fabulously has caused a great deal of selling by insiders and by stockholders in Butte. The North Butte is simply characteristic of Butte mines. It would indeed be a remarkable condition if the immensely rich ore and big vein opened on the 1,800-foot level would continue throughout the length of the property and to interminable depth without variance as to size or richness. All Butte mines have their rich deposits and their very lean zones. For 600 feet in depth the great Anaconda mine grew gradually poorer, and mining experts and geologists measured the life of the famous mine by a few years, but a hard-headed miner at the head of the company decided to sink several hundred feet deeper and test the theory of the experts. When the mine was opened at the 2,400-foot level the biggest and richest ore in the Butte district was encountered. That will prove the history of the North Butte, unless that property is expected to prove an exception to the Butte rule. However, instead of the developments making the property of less value, it has been greatly improved by the opening of the old Speculator vein south of the Edith May, where some fine ore bodies have been cut on the 2,000 and 2,200-foot levels, which are being extended and connected with the High Ore mine of the Anaconda company. North of the Edith May no attempt has yet been made to drive for the Jessie vein, which is as rich on the 1,800-foot level as the Edith May vein is, though not so wide. There is an immense amount of low grade ore in the Speculator vein on the upper levels, and the improved condition found in the vein on the levels adds much to the productive possibilities of that vein as well as to the North Butte company as a whole.

The Parrot.

The Parrot Mining company has begun crosscutting for the vein at the 1,100 and 1,200-foot level of the Little Mina, and the levels are in about 30 feet from the shaft. The vein is 500 to 600 feet south of the shaft. In the Parrot mine, drifting is going on in

LAKE SUPERIOR IRON MINES

Shipments Have Started by Water and Total Expected to Reach 30,000,000 Tons This Season—Many Repairs and Enlargements Made at Ore Docks During Past Winter.

The first ore went sliding down the chutes from the pockets of shipping piers into the holds of big bulk freight carriers this week, and there was commenced the work of forwarding the 30,000,000 tons which it is believed will measure the outgo from the iron mines of the Lake Superior region this year. With labor troubles holding many boats in port, and with the outlook for traffic none too promising, it will be some weeks before the shipments attain any considerable volume, and it will be late in the summer before the movement from the mining fields reaches its greatest proportions. However, a start has been made, and from now until the early days of December there will be heard the rattle of the iron-stone as it is poured into the lake craft in waiting alongside the docks.

The presence of ice in the upper lakes has occasioned much trouble, and has retarded the passage of boats, particularly in the connecting channels of the St. Mary's river, but this is always the accompaniment of the annual effort to force navigation, and the coming week will find this obstacle to commerce no longer bothersome. Docks at all six of the shipping ports are in commission for the season, ore trains have been given place on the timecards of the various railroads, cars are being distributed in response to the calls of the mining companies, and steam shovels are engaged in loading ore, for the most part from stockpiles. The season does not give promise of any great activity, but the industry and business in general have been stimulated, and there is a better sentiment in all lines of endeavor in the iron region.

Ore Dock Improvements.

As is the custom during the closed period of navigation, the past winter saw repairs in progress at many of the docks, with the result that the various piers of which use will be made this season are all in excellent condition and capable of handling a great deal more ore than will be shipped. The most important of the annual overhauling was that accomplished by the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad company at Escanaba, where approximately $75,000 was spent in the work. Docks No. 2 and No. 4 were provided with complete new decks and minors repairs were made to other piers of the system. A total of twenty-five ore docks are available for duty this season, and combined, they have a storage capacity of 1,328,116 gross tons. This capacity is somewhat more than available at the opening of navigation a year ago, one dock at Escanaba having gone out of commission since that time, and the new steel and concrete dock at Two Harbors having been added to the list. The greatest storage room of any of the dock systems is that of the Great Northern at Superior, where, notwithstanding that the piers are only three in number, the pockets are capable of holding 283,000 tons. The three docks of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern at Duluth have a capacity of 269,034 tons, and the six docks of the Duluth & Iron Range at Two Harbors a capacity of 231,656 tons, giving the United States Steel corporation, which controls both of these roads, a total of nine docks with a combined storage capacity of 500,690 tons. Although possessing seven ore piers at Escanaba and Ashland, the Chicago & Northwestern has storage room for only 268,170 tons, or less than that of either of the systems of three docks at Superior and Duluth. With three piers owned by two different railroads—the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic and the Lake Superior & Ishpeming—Marquette has a storage capacity of 114,000 tons; the Chicago, Milwaukee & Sa. Paul company has two docks at North Escanaba, the combined storage room of which is 113,900 tons, and the Wisconsin Central has one dock at Ashland of a capacity of 48,356 tons.

Large Escanaba Shipments.

Due to the opening of the new works at Gary, the Steel corporation will increase its shipments from the Menominee range, the shipping port of which district—Escanaba, near the head of Lake Michigan—is much nearer the Indiana steel manufacturing center than any of the other upper lake forwarding points. Considerable of the increased shipments will come from the Mansfield and Dober mines, in the Crystal Falls and Iron River fields, respectively, each property being slated to send out 150,000 tons. Neither mine forwarded as much as 50,000 tons in 1908, although in past years the Dober has shipped as great a tonnage as 215,000 tons. The Dober is now employing 150 men, and the Mansfield 120, both properties having recently increased working forces.

The Buffalo & Susquehanna's Hiawatha mine also is a Western Menominee range property that will ship a good-sized tonnage to the Escanaba docks. The production last year was 140,000 tons, and this is expected to be increased this season. There is a large stockpile at the Hiawatha and the stopes are well filled with broken ore ready for hoisting. A new air compressor is being installed. Other new machinery to be erected on the Western Menominee is a large hoisting plant at Corrigan, McKinney & Co.'s Crystal Falls mine. This hoist will lift seven and one-half tons at the rate of 500 feet per minute from a depth of 1,000 feet. It is of the flywheel type, with a drum eight feet in diameter and an eight-foot face, and will be operated by a second motion Corliss engine. An auxiliary drum is five feet in diameter with two-foot face. The whole machine will occupy a floor space of but twenty-five feet square.

Calumet Suspends Work.

The Calumet mine of Pickands, Mather & Co., has suspended operations for the season. This is a small property in the Felch Mountain district of the Menominee range and has been employing fifty men, most of whom have been taken on at other mines of the company. There are 20,000 tons of ore in stock and it is expected that this will be shipped. The company has just completed ten dwelling houses and several other buildings at the mine and

MINING IN GLOBE DISTRICT

Rich Ore Found in Gem Shaft of Cordova Company---Live Oak Development Company Proving Up Great Sulphide Deposit.

Globe, Ariz., April 24.—At the Gem shaft of the Cordova Copper company they are drifting on the vein from the crosscut on the 1,200-foot level, where rich ore was recently struck. The vein at that point has been opened for seventy-five feet and the ore is as good if not better than in the crosscut. A number of assays return from 6 per cent to 9 per cent copper. The ore is a clean sulphide, carrying high percentage of sulphur and iron. Sinking from the 1,200-foot level of the Gem shaft will be started within a day or two. At the Eureka property of the Cordova Copper company sinking began this week.

Another strike of high-grade sulphide was made last week on the 400-foot level. The ore was encountered in driving a crosscut from the foot wall, 300 feet south of the shaft. There are eighteen inches of the high-grade ore and considerable more that will probably run 5 per cent in copper. The winze from the 400-foot level is in chalcopyrite, going 20 per cent copper at sixty-five feet below the level. The 500-foot level drift has 250 feet to go to catch the ore shoot opened by the winze above.

The Superior-Boston company has opened phenomenally rich ore in the winze being sunk from the 450-foot level of the Great Eastern mine. A depth of 115 feet below the level has been reached and the winze has continued in carbonate and glance ore that can scarcely be equaled in the district. Recent assays of ore from this winze have indicated values of from 14 to 18 per cent in copper, and 10½, 12 and 15 ounces in silver to the ton. This winze will be sunk eighty-five feet further, at which depth a crosscut will be run to connect with the McGraw shaft at the 500-foot level. Sinking is in progress at the McGraw shaft at the depth of 175 feet, and the raise to meet it is now ninety-five feet above the 400-foot level.

The Live Oak Development company is proving up a great sulphide deposit on its property adjoining the Keystone. The long tunnel which is in low grade ore nearly its entire length has shown great improvement the last hundred feet driven, the ore averaging 2 per cent copper, and the breast being now in 2½ per cent ore. The formation is schist and the conditions are almost identical with those which obtain in the Miami mine. The copper exists in the form of chalcocite and the recent work in opening the tunnel has disclosed veinlets or seams of copper varying in thickness from a knife blade to 2½ inches. The tunnel has been driven to within 500 feet of the vertical shaft and will be continued to a connection with it at a depth of eighty-seven feet, and if driven beyond the shaft to the northern boundary of the property, this tunnel will attain a vertical depth of 350 feet. Just across the line dividing the Live Oak from the Keystone property, the General Development company has developed sulphide on the Keystone by drilling with churn drills. The Live Oak will soon resume sinking its vertical shaft.

NEARING SAN ANTONIO MINE

Southern Pacific Railroad Expected to Reach Property Early Next Fall---Intended by Company to Provide Reduction Works Then.

Bisbee, Ariz., April 24.—Col. Wood of Michigan, who has been on a visit to his mining property on the Yaqui river, 200 miles south of Moctezuma and 150 miles east of Hermosillo, was in Bisbee a few days ago. From here he returned to Hermosillo to attend to some business before returning to his home.

The property owned by Col. Wood is known as the San Antonio and the amount of development work done on it amounts to nearly 10,000 feet. The San Antonio group includes 2,300 acres. The property was secured by Col. Wood and associates nearly two years ago and work has been going on since then, with the exception of four months last summer. About thirty-five men are now at work.

All the work is being done in tunnels and in one of these a cross-cut has passed more than 100 feet in cuprite ore, which gave an average value of 10 per cent copper from assays taken every five feet.

The San Antonio was worked profitably as far back as 1862, when the ore was packed on mules to Guaymas and shipped from there to Swansea, England. Much ore has been developed that would give a profit if shipped to reduction works, even under the present conditions but this is not the intention of Col. Wood, who will await the completion of the railroad being built by the Southern Pacific, which will come within one mile and a half of the mine. This line has been completed to La Duro, twenty miles south of the San Antonio, and it is expected to reach that point early in the fall, or anyhow by the first of the coming year. A week ago 1,185 men were at work on this line at La Duro.

When Col. Wood purchased the San Antonio Mexicans were working some of the claims, gouging out the richest ore and packing it to the Toledo smelter, seven miles away.

No more has been shipped from the San Pedro since it was acquired by the present owners, as the idea of Col. Wood is to develop the copper property and provide a reduction works when the railroad is completed and in operation.

IN THE CLIFTON DISTRICT

Output of Arizona Copper Company for March Made Creditable Showing---Flattering Veins of Gold Ore Encountered on Polaris Property.

Clifton, Ariz., April 24.—The output of the Arizona Copper company for March was 1486 tons of Bessemer copper, being a very creditable showing. The company usually crowds the 3,000,000-pound mark, which gives it a handsome total for the year. Upon the installation of the new concentrates briquetting machine there is reason to believe that a great increase over the previous output will be made.

While in the Greenlee district last week it was learned that the Southwestern Development & Improvement company had recently encountered flattering veins of gold ore on the Polaris property. During the past two years this company has spent a large sum of money on development work and we are glad to be in a position to state that they have developed a large amount of milling ore. The Polaris property is located in a section of the country from which there has been taken thousands of dollars in placer mining and assays have demonstrated that it is an extraordinary good gold country.

Paul Crowley, who owned a half interest in the Copper Plate group of mines situated in the Copper Mountain district last week, disposed of his interest to C. E. Mills, general manager of the Detroit Copper Company at Morenci. The consideration has not been made public, but it is understood that Mr. Crowley accepted a very low figure in comparison to what the property is worth. The group consists of ten claims, located in one of the best portions of the producing district. Mr. Crowley and Ambrose Burke were the original locators of the Copper Plate group and they have done a considerable amount of development work on them during the past several years. Had they been in a position to go ahead with extensive development they would perhaps have one of the best producing groups in this district today. Mr. Mills has thorough knowledge of copper values in the Clifton Morenci district and Burke seems to be well pleased with his new partner.

CRIPPLE CREEK ORE OUTPUT

More Gold in Fewer Tons Marks March Record---Pushing the Roosevelt Tunnel---Wild Horse Mine Leased for Two Years.

Cripple Creek, Col., April 24.—The March Cripple Creek output was 60,224 tons, of a gross bullion value of $1,382,576. The average value was $22.59 a ton. The Golden Cycle mill led with 25,520 tons, worth each $20.25. The United States Reduction & Refining company's 13,950 tons averaged $22 each and the Portland mill's 10,000 tons $20 each. Cyanide plants reported as follows: Blue Flag, 1,250 tons, $6 each; Isabella, 3,000, $2.25 each; Ironclad, 1,240, $2. The smelter product reached 5,264 tons, of $65 average value.

The March production was 1,504 tons short of the January record, although the valuation was $20,296 increase.

The production of the first quarter of 1909 is 182,342 tons, worth gross $3,890,048. Dividends reached $813,840.

During March the Roosevelt drainage tunnel was driven as follows: Intermediate shaft, north heading, 347 feet; south heading, 299 feet; portal heading, 340 feet; total, 977 feet. The total distance both north and south from the intermediate shaft is 1,868 feet. The portal heading is now in 5,587 feet, making the grand total 7,455 feet.

The Delmonico mine, adjoining the Vindicator and Findley properties on Bull hill, is in a new vein in virgin ground. It is known as the Trewick vein and is four feet wide. The ore, a hard brecciated quartz, shows both rusty gold and sylvanite. It will ship without sorting, and the first grade of quartz and screenings will make smelting ore, as samples have returned 18.81 ounces, or $374.60 a ton. The main shaft is down 1,120 feet.

The Union Leasing company, operating the properties of the Gold Dollar company and two leasing blocks on the El Paso on Beacon hill, the Pinto of the Free Coinage company and the Deadwood of the United States Gold Mines company, on Bull hill, produced ninety-seven cars of ore during March. The total approximated 2,900 tons and the average $25 a ton, or a total value of $75,000. This is a new record for a leasing company.

The Red Cloud Mining & Prospecting company has driven a tunnel 300 feet into Mount Ervey, three miles southeast of Cripple Creek, exposing an immense dike of low grade ore.

A. C. Dean and Frank Gun have secured a two years lease on the old working shaft of the Wild Horse mine on Bull hill, United Gold Mining company, owner. Ore is in sight in the second and third levels. The mine has produced much high-grade ore. The company is developing from the Gleason shaft, without attempt at production. A long crosscut is being carried from the 1,000 foot level through the Damon group, W. P. H. and Montrose properties on Ironclad Hill, and a second crosscut is being carried southeast through the Silver Tip and Grotto claims of the Wild Horse group.

The Work Gold Mining company's properties produced during the last half of 1908, $24,500, and lessees during that period expended $50,000 on the property.

The British American Leasing company, operating on the Dante mine, output 1,000 tons of $18 ore during March. Production will be increased.

The George Martin lease on the Stratton estate on Globe Hill, block 102, has opened up a large block of mill grade ore, values ranging from $8 to $24.

The Portland Gold Mining company, has cut its regular quarterly dividend from 4 cents a share to 3 cents, in order to build its mill to treat low-grade ores of mine and dump. The method of treatment is new, but it is claimed that it will save $1 a ton from the present cyanidation method, also 75 cents from transportation. Millions of tons of ores running from $1 to $3 of tons of ores running from $1 to $3 a ton are in sight. The 3-cent dividend rate will continue until the mill is in successful operation.

ON THE IRON RANGES

PUPILS RENDER FINE PROGRAM

Three Grades in Two Harbors Schools Entertain the Public.

Two Harbors, Minn., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The following musical program was given by the pupils of the third, fourth and fifth grades at the high school assembly hall yesterday afternoon before a large audience:

"Pansy song" ..... Girls of fourth grade, Minnehaha building.

"Sweet and Low" ..... Third grade.

"O Blow, Blow Away" ..... Third grade, John A. Johnson building.

"In Spring" ..... Girls of fifth grade, John A. Johnson building.

"The Earth's Children" ..... Third and fourth grades.

"Blossom Bells" ..... Third and fourth grades, Hiawatha building.

"Lullaby" ..... Fifth and sixth grades.

"Alphabet song" ..... Fifth and sixth grades.

"The Postillion" ..... Boys of the fourth and fifth grade, John A. Johnson building.

"Dip the Oar" ..... Fifth grade, Hiawatha building.

Hoop drill ..... Girls of the third and fourth grade, Hiawatha building.

"A Vow" ..... Fifth grade, John A. Johnson building.

"The Young Musician" ..... Third grade, Hiawatha building.

"Ding Dong Daisy" ..... Third grade, Hiawatha building.

"A Round" ..... Fifth and sixth grades, Hiawatha building.

"The Shell" ..... Fourth and fifth grades, John A. Johnson building.

"O Dear What Can the Matter Be" ... Fifth grade, Hiawatha building.

Drill ..... Girls of third grade, Hiawatha building.

"Old Black Joe" ..... Boys of the fifth grade, John A. Johnson building.

"Wave Our Banner, Flag on High" .... Fourth grade, Minnehaha building.

"Child's Evening Song" ..... Fourth grade, Minnehaha building.

"Marching Song" ..... Third and fourth grades, John A. Johnson building.

FIREMEN ARE KEPT ON JUMP

Ten Calls for Hibbing Department in Past Few Days.

Hibbing, Minn., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local fire department responded to two calls during the past few days. The home of Michael Kane of the Morris location was badly damaged by fire on Thursday. Owing to the distance from Hibbing to the location, the fire had a chance to obtain a good start.

A loss of about $100 was sustained by the Messaba Laundry company by a fire which started in the engine room. The department arrived quickly and prevented greater damage by the rapidity with which they extinguished the flames.

Supt. Murray of the Crete mine has advertised for bids for the contract of moving about twenty dwellings, which comprise what is at present known as the Utica mine location. The Mahoning Ore & Steel company owns the surface right, and it is their intention to use the property as a dumping ground for the great open cut Mahoning mine. The buildings must be moved at once.

Margaret Palmer, the local librarian, has received a collection of Swedish books from the state library commission and also some new books on travel beautifully illustrated.

Hon. Robert Stratton will deliver the anniversary address at the nineteenth anniversary of the Odd Fellows, which will be held Monday evening in the Odd Fellows' hall.

Supt. James Lamson of the Drake & Stratton company left yesterday for Eveleth to bury his brother, Nathan, who died suddenly Wednesday evening.

The body of William Crangle, a promising young attorney here, who died about two months ago was disinterred yesterday and taken by his widow and two brothers, John and James, to the old home in Ramson, Ill., for burial.

There will be a meeting next Monday evening of the lodge of the Ladies of the Modern Maccabees.

Mrs. Thomas O'Connor is visiting friends in the southern part of the state.

Starting next Monday evening, the lodge of Elks will hold its first meeting in the new home in the Rood building. The meetings will be held every forthnight, instead of weekly as heretofore.

The Yeomen of America were pleasantly surprised by a number of their intimate friends at their home in the new Roosevelt addition the other evening. The evening was very pleasantly spent in dancing and singing.

ALDERMAN RESIGNS TO HOLD FRIENDS.

Two Harbors, Minn., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rather than alienate any of his friends in the contest for the position of city attorney Alderman J. W. Brownell of the Second ward has resigned.

The petitions asking for appointment respectively of M. A. Doerr and Martin Olson, as Mr. Brownell's successor are being circulated.

G. W. Haughton, manager of the Two Harbors Creamery association, has returned from St. Paul, where he had been to purchase the machinery for the creamery. The machinery is expected to arrive soon and will be installed immediately. It is a local stock concern.

COLERAINE WILL SOON HAVE MISSABE TRAINS.

Coleraine, Minn., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The great 90-foot steel span over the entrance to the Canisteo pit has been swung into place and will be used by the Missabe road in entering Coleraine. High winds delayed the operation for three days. The new Coleraine passenger station will be completed by May 1. Trains can be run to Coleraine by the middle of next week.

EVELETH'S MAYOR HAS FINE HORSES

Eveleth, Minn., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mayor Smith of Eveleth is an ardent horseman. This picture was taken shortly after the mayor's Bessie S won the match race on the ice against Persis, belonging to Mark Eddy, winning a side bet of $200.

STRUCK BY ROCK, O'NEILL KILLED

"Butted" Into Argument at Holman With Fatal Result.

Bovey, Minn., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Struck on the jaw by a rock hurled by Dan Lynch, a switchman at Holman, three miles from here, during a fight about 6 o'clock last night, Dan O'Neill, a surface workman at the Holman mine, was almost instantly killed. A coroner's jury returned a perfunctory verdict not blaming Lynch, and the Itasca county attorney will probably pursue the case further.

The tragedy is said to have resulted from O'Neill "butting" into a dispute between Lynch and a man named McBoyd in a boarding house where the two were discussing the weight of a hammer. O'Neill, leaving his bunk, asked Lynch if he had ever lifted the hammer. Words followed, and Lynch offered to fight O'Neill. They scuffled and O'Neill, getting behind a door, tried to hold it against his adversary, when the latter, who was a stronger man, armed with a stone, forced the door and struck O'Neill on the jaw. O'Neill fell over and died in a few minutes. Other men in the house, not thinking O'Neill was seriously hurt, bathed his face and then turned their attention to their dinner, which had been interrupted by the fight. As soon as they saw O'Neill was dead they seized Lynch, who tried to escape, and locked him up in the Bovey jail following the inquest.

The coroner's jury simply found to the effect that "John O'Neill came to his death at the hands of Dan Lynch."

MANY ATTEND FUNERAL.

Esteem in Which Miss Pickard Was Held Shown at Hibbing.

Hibbing, Minn., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Vinda Leona, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. J. F. Pickard was held at 10 o'clock from the M. E. church. Rev. E. C. Clemens of Duluth conducted the services.

Miss Pickard, who was but 15 years of age, was very popular among her many friends and classmates, the large number of church services and the many beautiful floral pieces showing the great esteem in which she was held by all.

ASSURES COLLECTION.

New Law Relative to Virginia Special Assessments Is Benefit.

Virginia, Minn., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is considerable satisfaction in Virginia over the passage during the closing days of the state legislature of a law placing Virginia special assessments on the same basis a regular taxes for collection.

An old law applying to Virginia allowed the assessment books to lie in the county auditor's office, so that between $12,000 and $15,000 is unpaid. Under the new law the delinquent assessments and all future special assessments will be placed against the property and put in the hands of the county treasurer for collection. In that way all delinquent assessments will be collected and those levied in the future will be certain of collection within a reasonable time.

TABLES ARE TURNED.

Complainant in Suit for Bill Accused of Blindpigging.

Virginia, Minn., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Peter Gregorich, a boarding-house keeper in one of the locations near Virginia, had Joe Gasporich arrested this week for attempting to defraud him out of a board bill of $10.15. Gasporich claimed the bill was not for board, but for beer. He was discharged and he immediately swore out a complaint against Gregorich, charging him with conducting a "blind pig." The case will be heard before Jude Carey of the municipal court next week.

EVELETH HOUSES IN BIG DEMAND

Dearth of Suitable Residences Quite Noticeable in Range City.

Eveleth, Minn., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The dearth of suitable residences here has been very noticeable of late, as it has been very hard to find good houses that are not rented. The moving of some of the town people to the Adams location, where twenty-five new houses were built, has helped matters a little, as has also the building of a flat on Pierce street, but still people are looking for good houses. On Hayes street this summer, a couple of boarding houses will be built, while several residence houses will also go up. Many men who have work outside of Eveleth find it convenient to make their homes here, as they can leave early in the morning and come back on the trains at 6 o'clock.

The addition to the Oakman building at the corner of the Fayal road and Grant avenue is almost finished and will soon be occupied. It is understood that Pentilla & Nelson, the local grocers, will take the storeroom vacated by the Eveleth Hardware company. Several changes are being planned at the California restaurant. The Gault house on Pierde street has been converted into a grocery store, making the avenue from Grant to the Spencer hotel almost a business street. A new 5 and 10 Cent store has been opened up by James Marra in his building on Adams avenue. Several improvements are being contemplated in the stores on Grant avenue which will materially better the appearance of the town.

All the contracts for the various work on the high school building have been given out and the work is progressing rapidly. All the outside windows are in, and the roof is being completed. The electrical men and the steamfitters are at work inside the building, so that it will not be long before the building will be ready for turnishings.

EVELETH SOCIETY DEBATES.

Eighteenth Century Held to Be More Progressive Than Nineteenth.

Ely, Minn., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The boys' literary society of the high school held their biweekly meeting Wednesday evening and rendered the following program: Recitation, Charles Pelto; essay, Matt Pusari, current events, Earl Fenske; essay, Matt Spritzer; recitation Alfred Skogland; debate, "Resolved that the eighteenth century witnessed greater progress than the nineteenth." The following took part in the debates: Affirmative—John Kotchevar, Charles Pelto, Matt Spreitzer; negative—Andrew Hurri, Teiva Martila, John Rautie. Decision was in favor of the affirmative.

WILL MEET AT VIRGINIA.

Annual Meet of Norwegian Danish M. E. Conference.

Virginia, Minn., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The preachers of the Red River Valley district of the Norwegian-Danish M. E. church will hold a conference here next week, beginning Tuesday evening and continuing until Sunday. The meetings will be held in the Norwegian-Danish M. E. church here, and the program consists of reading of papers and discussions each day and gospel service each evening.

Some of those who will attend are District Supt. J. Sanaker of Minneapolis, G. Abrahamson of Ashland, Wis.; F. L. Trelstad of Superior, and H. K. Madsen and C. W. Shevinius, both of Duluth.

BEFORE JUDGE PRINCE.

Disturbers of Public Peace Are Haled Into Eveleth Court.

Eveleth, Minn., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nick Roderick got into a fight with a local watchmaker yesterday over fixing a watch, and was brought up before Judge Prince. He was fined $5 and costs.

The case against John Lee, for drunkenness, was dismissed, while Albert La Bosa, a frequent offender in the same line, was given a straight thirty-day sentence.

The three blind pig cases, postponed from last week, will be tried Monday. The city officials are making a determined effort to get rid of the blind pigs and are getting evidence against many suspected places.

NO RELATIVES THERE.

Sad Funeral of Old Man at Virginia Saturday Afternoon.

Virginia, Minn., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Eugene Rose, the old man who died suddenly last Monday morning, was held this afternoon. Efforts to locate the relatives of the old man were in vain and friends raised enough money to give the body a decent burial.

Rose came to Minnesota from Muskegon, Mich., about twenty years ago and no relatives could be located in the Michigan city.

GILBERT EAGLES PLAN SOME SPORTING EVENTS.

Gilbert, Minn., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Eagles intend to give an entertainment in a few days, when several wrestling matches will be put on between some good men. The main bout will be between Bud Burt of Biwabik and Young Spaulding of Aurora. Besides this, there will be a couple of boxing exhibitions of a few rounds. The Eagles are a fast growing lodge and are making things hum in the new town.

RAINY LAKE OFFICIAL WITH CANADIAN NORTHERN

Virginia, Minn., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—M. A. Murphy, for several years superintendent ort the Duluth, Rainy Lake & Winnipeg railroad during the construction period, has gone to Winnipeg to assume the superintendency of the Winnipeg-Port Arthur division of the Canadian Northern, which will be operated in connection with the Virginia-Port Frances division. T. Murphy, trainmaster here for the Duluth, Rainy Lake & Winnipeg, has been promoted to assistant superintendent.

EVELETH COMMITTEE IS NOW IN CHICAGO.

Eveleth, Minn., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The paving committee of the city council and citizens, composed of Mayor Smith, Aldermen Millette and Shea, City Clerk McIntyre, Charles Lesmeister and John Glode, which left Wednesday to see paving in many cities, were yesterday in Chicago, after having stayed a day in Minneapolis. They expect to visit several other cities before returning. They expect to be back Sunday or Monday.

VIRGINIA THEATER MAN IS FINED FOR ASSAULT.

Virginia, Minn., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—F. C. Whiting, proprietor of the Orpheum theater building, was found guilty in municipal court of assault and fined $25 and costs. Smith & Dees, lessees of the building, who claim a six-months' extension of their lease, still hold the fort and they say they will vacate only when compelled to do so by process of law. Ouster proceedings, brought by Whiting are now pending in municipal court.

Double Virginia Wedding.

Virginia, Minn., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—There was a double wedding at the rectory of St. Paul's Episcopal church Wednesday morning when Rev. A. Carswell united in marriage Miss Tillie Ness and Louis Swanson and Miss Lena Ness and Henry Knutson. The two men are prosperous farmers near Cook and their brides are the daughters of a farmer in the same vicinity.

To Observe Norway Day.

Virginia, Minn., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The members of the Sons of Norway lodge and the Norden Glee club will observe May 17, the Norwegian national holiday. The feature of the celebration will be an entertainment in the evening.

Gilbert Wrestling Match.

Virginia, Minn., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Budd H. Burt, a local lightweight wrestler, will meet Nat Spalding, claimant of the lightweight championship of the range, on the mat at Gilbert next Monday night in a catch-as-catch-can wrestling match.

PROCTOR DANCE IS BIG SUCCESS

First One Given By Outdoor Athletic Association—Other Notes.

Proctor, Minn., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the last council meeting the bids for scavenger work were read, Agent Stark presenting the lowest bid, it was accepted. A petition for a sidewalk on the south side of Main street, between Second and Boundry avenues, was given consideration and placed in the hands of the sidewalk committee. Upon request from the Outdoor Athletic association the use of the hall was granted to them for the purpose of holding a series of dances, the proceeds of which is to go toward the purchase of a site suitable for baseball, etc.

The first of a series of dances and dancing lessons was given last evening by the Outdoor Athletic association in the village hall. The affair proved a financial and social success. The proceeds of these dances will go toward securing grounds for outdoor sports, such as baseball, etc.

The topics and speakers for next Monday evening's meeting of the Outlook club will be "Africa as a Sporting Center," by Prof. Holbrook and William Briggs, "Anti-Saloon League," by C. B. TURKISH CAPITAL FALLS could be heard together with the scattering fire of heavier artillery.

Corpses Plainly Visible.

From the houses near Yildiz Kiosk the bodies of those who met death during the encounter near Tasch Kischla barracks are plainly visible. The streets near the firing line have been cleared and all non-combatants have been ordered to remain indoors to prevent casualities and the possibility of mob violence, leaving the streets clear for the exclusive movement of the troops. The public has been warned away from the neighborhood of Yildiz Kiosk and the lines are impenetrable. Gen. Schefket, commanding the Constitutional army, began to occupy Constantinople at dawn. Word came from the city at midnight saying that the long expected entry had been made, but people, nevertheless went to bed sceptical only to be awakened in the Pera quarter by the sound of artillery and the ragged crash of rifle fire in the direction of Yildiz Kiosk.

A battalion of the sultan's household guard occupied Tasch Kischla barracks about 800 strong, and were resisting the advance of the investing army. Expecting an attack they were deployed outside the barracks when an officer from Gen. Schefket demanded that they surrender, but they refused. Within a minute after the reports from the Constitutionalists returned the firing began. The investing forces brought into action one battery of field guns and one battery of machine guns, as was judged from the sound of the firing early in the morning.

Only a small part of the constitutional troops were engaged in the attack on the barracks, as Pera is still strongly occupied, with companies of infantry stationed in nearly every street, and detailed to guard every embassy. The American embassy is thus protected, and the Young Turks are protecting all hotels and banks in the Pera quarter, where Americans and Europeans are gathered in security.

Landscape of Gun Rims.

From the head of the Grand Rue de Pera, the main street, one was able to get a partial view of the operations. The brilliant sunlight now and then flashed on the field, showing a landscape of gun rims, or a succession of sparkles, as a machine gun slowly fired away at segments of the thin line of infantry, which could be seen with the aid of a glass. At the Tasch Kishla barracks the sultan's men were returning the fire steadily.

Presently the loyal troops occupied the military school nearby and fired on the advance, while a considerable reinforcement from the Yildiz Kiosk barracks joined the troops at Tasch Kishla, where the Salonikl chausseurs, accused of betraying the constitutional cause, were defending themselves.

Frederick Moore, correspondent of the New York Sun, was seriously wounded in the fighting. Moore was taking snapshots of the fighting soldiers who, evidently mistaking his camera for a weapon, fired upon him.

Moore for several months had the distinction of being one of the correspondents near to the scene of activity in Turkey. He represented several English and American papers and recently published a book on Morocco. He was formerly connected with the London bureau of the Associated Press. His wife is with him at Constantinople.

Shown Little Quarter.

The fire was concentrated on the barracks of the chausseurs and they were shown little quarter. They put up a splendid fight and many of them were killed. By 10:30 the Tasch Kishla barracks were half destroyed by the shell fire, whereupon the fire generally slackened. Yildiz Kiosk also had been subjected to a shell fire.

Schefket Pasha issued orders to shoot down any soldiers of the Constantinople garrison seen carrying arms, whether using them or not. He declared also that all unarmed soldiers would be treated as non-combatants. During the encounter a rain of bullets fell in the crowd observing the great panorama in the Grand Rue de Pera, wounding four men, all of whom, however, were natives. With this warning of danger the correspondents and others hastily withdrew.

During all this scene a half dozen vagrant dogs, which are so numerous in Constantinople, slept peacefully on a slope in the sun, entirely undisturbed. The crowds in the streets, too, were singularly quiet, in view of conditions. While shops were not open, horse cars were running outside the firing zone. A tourist party of sixty Americans were at an early breakfast when the first boom of artillery shook the windows of the Pera Palace hotel. There was a scurry to the windows, but as the tourists were unable to see anything from their portion, they merely abandoned their places and left the city at 7 o'clock, according to their program.

Mr. Moore, who comes from New Orleans, was shot in the neck. How serious his injuries may be is not known. His wife, who is an English woman, is here with him.

Among the Americans in Constantinople are Rear Admiral Colby M. Chester, retired, and Mrs. Chester; Arthur Chester of New York, the admiral's son, and Mrs. Arhtur Chester; Frank Capenter and Miss Carpenter, Miss Mary Lee, daughter of Robert E. Lee, and Junius Morgan of New York.

Hunger and Violence.

Bierut, Asiatic Turkey, April 24.—According to the latest information of the progress of the fanatical anti-Christian rioting in the country around Alexandretta, the Armenian village of Kessab has been burned and many persons have been killed there. The women and children of Kessab are fugitives in the surrounding mountains, exposed to hunger and violence.

Help is urgently needed everywhere on the coast. The situation at Beilan, a short distance south of Alexandretta, is critical.

No news has been received from Hadjin, where five American women missionaries were reported two days ago to be in danger of violence at the hands of infuriated tribesmen.

FORMER GOVERNOR PARDONED

in the mountains, while I told the people, his friends that I would not prejudice these cases, that I would not promise anybody either to pardon or not to pardon these men, but that if the cases ever came before me, I would take them up officially and decide them on their merits, and that I was as anxious for the conviction and punishment of every person guilty of the murder of William Goebel as anyone in Kentucky.

"After that hearing the whole record of all of the trials with the opinion of the court of appeals was faithfully read, and after giving these cases the most impartial consideration which the earnest wish and purpose to decide rightly could give them, I reached the firm and earnest belief that Powers and Howard were not guilty, and I issued the pardons.

"There is no need to repeat here the statements of the Powers and Howard cases since they are well known to the people. The study of these records constrained me to believe, to the exclusion of a doubt, that Howard did not fire the shot which killed Goebel.

"The only evidence in all of the four trials of Powers and three trials of Howard by which the prosecution in any way attempted to connect Governor Taylor with the murder, was the testimony as to his writing to get Howard to come to Frankfort to kill William Goebel, and tending to show that Howard, on the request in that letter, did come to Frankfort, entered into the plot and committed the murder.

"But Howard did not kill Goebel and Governor Taylor could not be found guilty of getting Howard to do what he did not do.

"From fair, impartial study of the reports of all of the trials, and from my knowledge of the conditions of these, I believe William S. Taylor had no guilty knowledge of the murder of William Goebel, and that he would never be indicted but for political excitement and passion.

"Taylor had the greatest reason to believe that he could not have a fair trial; that he would be thrown from his position of governor of this commonwealth into the common jail, and that he would be forced to trial before a partisan jury under conditions which would give him no chance for a just decision.

"He had a large family, all wholly dependent on his labor, and decided that it was his duty not to submit to a trial under those conditions, and he left the state and went to Indiana.

"Requisitions upon governors of Indiana for his extradition were refused, and he has lived in Indiana ever since, and he has been treated with the greatest kindness in our sister state.

"Taylor's experience has been one of the saddest in the history of the commonwealth. In 1899 he was elected governor of Kentucky and reached the greatest honor that could have been his brightest hope. He was fulfilling his duties faithfully when this tragedy and the storm of feeling following it ruined the crowning glory of a useful life, overthrew the elected state government, and put in peril the safety of the people.

"While Governors Mount and Durbin of Indiana refused the requisitions, no application was made to their successor, Governor Hanley, during his four years, and no request has been made to send a requisition to the Democratic governor, Marshall, who succeeded Mr. Hanly, for the return of Taylor and Finley here for trial.

"It seems from this delay of five and a half years in taking any steps to bring this case to trial, that the officers in the prosecution have not wished to do so.

"I am absolutely sure that William S. Taylor had no part in the murder of William Goebel, and I feel a sacred duty, which I must no longer delay, to carry this belief into effect, and I therefore grant to Taylor a full and free pardon."

ITALIAN BOY WILL VISIT HOME

Court Allows Gusta Santilli $400 to Take the Trip.

Gusta Santilli, a young Italian boy, 18 years old, will have a trip to his native land from some of the money secured from the Oliver Mining company in settlement of his personal injury suit.

The boy secured $2,250 from the company and $240 from the Mesaba Range Aid fund, as a result of an accident at the Hull-Rust mine in January, by which he lost both of his legs. His brother, Luige, was appointed his guardian, and this morning the guardian was allowed $400 for the care of the boy, and the youth was also given $400 by the probate court with which to make a trip to his native land.

A CONTINUOUS LAKE.

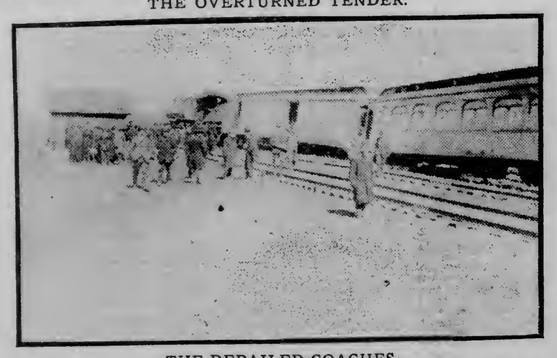

From Moorhead to Glyndon Thirty-Six Years Ago Thursday.

Moorhead, Minn., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thirty-six years ago Thursday B. F. Mackall arrived in Moorhead from St. Paul. The journey consumed two days and a night and was made on a misnamed "accommodation" train, a freight train with a coach attached. The spring of 1873 was one of exceedingly high water, and the country between Moorhead and Glyndon was one continuous lake.

THE LOCAL OUTLOOK.

Indications are that local business conditions, as dependent upon the ore shipping season, will be slightly better than last year.

The depression of the past few weeks has been great. On top of the still lingering effects of the panic of 1907, the presidential election and the uncertainty as to the tariff, the legislature of Minnesota deliberately piled the tonnage tax bill, causing upon the ranges themselves, a panic far greater than that which hit the country in 1907 and reacting severely upon Duluth and all its tributary territory. For weeks there has been no more motion on the ranges than has been absolutely necessary. The iron interests put aside their preparations for the shipping season awaiting some decision as to taxation, the business men of the ranges refused to buy a dollar's worth of goods beyond those needed for the day's business, for they were in absolute uncertainty as to whether the mines would operate in case the tonnage tax bill passed, while the people in general, the customary work of the season being refused them, carefully hoarded what savings they had or took themselves out of the country to look for work elsewhere. The result was a greater stagnation on the ranges than that section of the state has ever experienced since its vigorous development was begun. Such an untoward condition has inevitably affected Duluth and it has been long since this city saw so dull a season as that of the past two months.

With all danger of a new and untried special system of taxation out of the way for the present at least, there are evidences of an immediate revival of business. Practically every open pit mine on the ranges is making some preparations for the opening of the shipping season, while the railroads are now ready to haul ore as soon as the boats arrive. The shipping season bids fair to open in earnest at least three weeks earlier than last year. While shipping will not be heavy at present, the early beginning of shipping, together with the volume of preparatory work, which has been held back until now, will make May a busy month on the ranges, and there is reason to believe that a very fair volume of shipping will be under way by June 1.

We may thus expect local business conditions to improve steadily from now on throughout the season. It is not to be expected that the shipping season will be much better than that of last year. There is a good deal of ore in stockpile on the lower lakes, and while the steel business is steadily improving, and the mills have more orders today than they had a year ago, they are not yet in a position where it is necessary to work to capacity.

The outlook from the local standpoint, therefore, is that we shall start the season with some slight advantage over last year, that the season will see a decided, though not large, return of prosperity, and that we shall close the year in excellent condition for a very prosperous year in 1910.

TEMPTING THE BOY FROM THE FARM.

We are pretty well agreed that the great problem of country life of today is the problem of keeping the boy on the farm. It is more than a mere problem of country life; it is one of the very great problems of society. We cannot have a strong, wholesome country life without the country boys and the country girls, and without a strong, wholesome country life, all the refinements of our cities are simply steps to our undoing, not contributions to real civilization.

While we are thus agreed and are debating ways and means of keeping the boy—and the girl—on the farm, we are overlooking the fact that some of the means we are powerfully urging for the betterment of agricultural conditions are in themselves the most powerful agents to drag the boys and girls from the farm and to utterly unfit them for farm life.

Life runs strong in the veins of young people. There is a lure of the city that tempts them strongly. The quiet and the peace of the farm seem so often hateful to them compared to the rush and bustle and excitement of the city. That great things are to be done on the farm they do not see, because those things are not in the public eye; but the city is a stage upon which brave men and fair ladies accomplish great things so easily while all the world looks on with clapping hands. What wonder that the city tempts the young folks?

To this temptation we deliberately bring the boys and the girls of the farm when we propose to educate them how to run their father's farm and their mother's dairy, in our high schools. It is proposed in Minnesota to appropriate $2,500 per year of the state's funds to each high school that will teach farming. Having established a "farmer's course," in order to secure this appropriation of $2,500 per year, our high schools will advertise for farmers' boys and girls to fill the classes. From the country we will lure them to the city, to teach them a smattering of scientific knowledge about farming in a place where it is impossible for a farm to be. While we give them this "lick and a promise" of farm training, what else will we be giving them? A love for city life, a distaste for farm life. To teach them farming we will remove them from the farm and dangle the glitter of the city before their eyes. We will teach them to plant corn and wheat in big brick buildings closely squeezed together and we will let them see for themselves how much better, and how much more fun, it is to be a doctor or a lawyer or a stenographer and live in the city and go to the theater and ride in automobiles.

The proposition of attempting to teach farming as far away as possible from the farm is preposterous enough in itself, as is the proposition of turning our high schools into technical training schools, but the plan of deliberately luring the boys and the girls from the farm and placing them in an environment that is absolutely hostile to the love of farm life, and all for the purpose of teaching them farming, is about as mad a project as the mind of man has been able to conceive of.

If we want to keep our boys and girls on the farm, the city is the last place in the world to bring them to teach them farming.

THE IDEAL TAX IS FOUND.

The ubiquitous billboard is earnestly commended to the consideration of all experts in taxation, be they economic, political or legislative.

Be there iron mines, they shall fail; or farms, they shall be exhausted; houses and lands may be destroyed or swept away by wind and the flood; the moth corrupts and thieves break through and steal the riches of this world. But the billboard you have always with you, and there is no end to the number of it. Lay your taxes upon it and your coffers of state shall groan with coin and the people shall rise up and call you blessed.

Especially the newspapers. For be it admitted, yea, frankly avowed, right here at the outset, that billboard advertising does not commend itself to the newspapers. Not that they make war upon it as a means of advertising, but that they grieve to see the people waste their substance upon so inferior a means of advertising.

This, however, is beside the issue. The billboard's the thing to tax; that's the issue. Senator Heyburn of Idaho proposes a tax of 2 cents per square foot on all billboards or signs which advertise products entering into interstate commerce. Let congress approve this proposition of the senator from Idaho, and the problem of the tariff will be forever solved. No longer will a tariff for revenue be necessary, and we shall be able to get together and fight out the tariff on the basis of its value as a measure of protection to infant industries and upon that basis alone. All the complexities and perplexities of the tariff arise from the fact that we must have it for revenue while at the same time we are using it for protection. Tax the billboards and the tariff will become as simple as A, B, C.

And what a magnificent source of revenue for the states! Let them lay on another 2 cents per square foot if they like. The press will rally to their support in this movement as one press. These many years have we been contending with the billboard, which is both inartistic and illegitimate. The effort to suppress the advertising sign nuisance will be greatly aided and legitimate advertising will be protected and encouraged. At the same time immense revenues will flow to the state. If the tax finally puts the billboard out of existence, the revenues will cease of course, but it will be a cheap riddance at that.

Why should the people groan and sweat under the burden of taxation while on every vacant lot, on every city sky scraper, on every country barn, on highway and hilltop, the glad-ragged billboard stands untaxed? Why?

EVERYBODY THINKS BUT FATHER.

Mother's clubs and mother's congresses are everywhere, but of father's clubs and father's congresses there are none at all, and everywhere there is evidence that the "old man" has turned the job of thinking out the problems of the race to the women folks. So completely has he neglected his rights in thinking out the problem of the education of his children that a judge has been raised up to declare that he no longer has the right to the title of lord and master in his own household but that "he must get the consent of his wife on all matters pertaining to the education and bringing up of his children."

So father, refusing to think, is shoved off to one side, while mother thinks and runs things. Man, according to the Boston Transcript, is approaching his final overthrow in matters intellectual, as predicted by William Dean Howells. "Woman, having emancipated herself from the harrowing drudgery of the household, devotes her time furiously to her mind's growth. She does most of the serious reading in books, which are written mainly for her, and chiefly by her, and is also the more thorough reader of the newspaper. She knows more about the arts and crafts of the professions and of the sciences than does the average man. She can drive a nail without smashing her thumb, which few men can do. Her club life is intellectual, while that of man is sensual. She is the better parliamentarian, having made a fierce study of manuals and rules of order. She is an orator and a debater as well as an essayist and her club meetings are lively, interesting and instructive."

Father knows all this and doesn't seem to care. Somebody has issued a call for a father's congress to consider the education of the young and to stir up father to a realization of the way he is backsliding in things intellectual. But father refuses to be stirred and the only fathers who will be at that father's congress will be school men who are fathers. It is claimed that women are making boys mollycoddles by being so exclusively their teachers, but it looks like father thinks that he has tried long enough to flog the devil out of his boys and that he is resolved to let the women have a chance to show what they can do toward getting the evil one out.

Father will not be found at the father's congresses; he will be found at the ball game instead, whither his hopeful whelp of an heir has already beaten him to it. "The ordinary man has little leisure, and what he has he would perfer to devote to congenial pursuits," says the Transcript. "He is more at his ease and far happier in fishing or in howling at the umpire from the bleachers than he would be in a solemn conclave over boys. His solitary theory is that the boy is possessed of many devils. After his dismal failure to flog them out of his first born, he settles down to the conviction that the boy's character must run its awful course like a hideous disease. He is content if by a coward bribe he can read his newspaper in peace."

Everybody thinks but father; father is busy with daily bread, and houses and lands, baseball games, automobiles, the copper market, the wheat pit and sundry other things that do not require any thought.

WHICH TREATS OF TRANSPORTATION.

There is an outcry for the extermination of the house fly. He has been caught red-footed in the most pernicious practices. He has diverted the uses for which a wise and beneficient Providence designed him to most injurious and deadly deeds. Instead of the scavanger that he should be, he is become the transporter of filth to breeding grounds of disease. He is altogether too fly.

Last year men of science seized Mr. Fly and painted him in brilliant hues and let him go. Then they followed him. Out to the garbage pile and to the filth heaps they followed him, and there they beheld him gorge himself. When he had done he betook himself once more to the habitations of men and would have walked on their dinners had they not caught him and made him to walk on sheets of gelatin. Out of that gelatin, whereon he had been made to walk, in a few days rose up swarms of bacteria of a dozen deadly diseases.

So they found out Mr. Fly. While he should have been busy about the house, cleaning things up, he was off to the garbage heap instead, transporting back filth, a common carrier of deadly diseases. So now they propose to cut Mr. Fly off from the land of the living.

But before we enter upon this war of extermination, let us pause and ponder a bit. Once we thirsted for the blood of the trusts, but we have thought better of that, and now we seek only to restrict them to their proper uses. Once we waged bitter war on the railroads and other great corporations; now we are learning to regulate them to our advantage. Mayhap it is regulation, not extermination, that the house fly needs.

Let us practice cleanliness next to godliness. If there are no garbage piles in our alleys, perhaps the house fly will lose his adventitious functions as a transportation agent, become properly domesticated, and make himself the blessing that the Creator intended he should be, instead of the curse that man in his uncleanliness is helping him to be.

Let's regulate, not exterminate.

The spirit of democracy carries the day in the Fargo high school where the senior class decides to forego the usual cap and gown for graduation, the wealthier members of the class themselves declaring against the imposition of a useless burden upon the members of the class who could ill afford to pay for regalia to be worn but once. Young people who can thus deny themselves for the welfare of their fellows have the spirit of democracy in their hearts and they are the stuff that makes a nation to endure.

HOTEL GOSSIP.

"The approaching national peace congress, which will open in Chicago, May 3, should be quite an event," said M. S. Atwood of Chicago at the Spalding. "The invitation which was presented to the congress to convene in the Illinois city, was readily accepted, after assurance had been given that the men of Chicago would finance it as generously as New York had financed its great congress. Everybody felt that Chicago was the right place for the second national congress.

"A strong invitation came from Portland Or., and the third congress will likely go to Portland or some other Pacific coast city. Next month's congress will doubtless be as noteworthy and inspiring as the great New York gathering, and advance equally the peace cause in this country. The aim is to make the congress truly national. At the New York congress there were delegates from thirty-nine states and territories, and as good a record will doubtless be made in my home town.

"The opposition of the war system, and the impatience especially with the efforts of the 'big navy' party to saddle upon this country the costly and menacing armaments which are exhausting Europe, have grown rapidly in the two years since the New York congress, and the coming notable gathering at Chicago, which is being organized with rare energy and devotion by the local committee, will give new impulse to the rational and progressive policies upon all these matters."

"I see Duluth is keeping up with the pace set by the rest of the country in the automobile line," said A. C. Chamberlain of Detroit, at the St. Louis hotel, last evening. "You probably know that Detroit is the greatest automobile manufacturing center in the country or the world, for that matter, and I always take a deep interest in watching the growth of the business for that reason. It is the most amazing growth this country has ever seen in any line of business. In many cities in this country more cars have been sold this year than in all the other years in the history of the business put together. For instance, Duluth, I understand, had from 150 to 200 cars last year, and the automobile dealers tell me that the number will be doubled before the summer is over. People who never thought they could afford automobiles are raising the money to buy them, some way.

"The dealers and manufacturers were prepared for a big rush this spring, but nothing like they are experiencing. The factories are all crowded with orders, and are working night and day to keep up with the demand. This naturally doesn't hurt Detroit, with her thirty factories, any.

Old-Fashioned Spring.

Backward, fly backward, O Time, on thy wing,
Give us the touch of an old-fashioned spring;
Let the sweet breath of the soft south wind stir
Over my cheeks where the whiskers once were.
I am so weary of winds that are chill,
Weary of paying the coal dealer's bill,
Weary of slopping about with cold feet—
Turn on the heat, mister, turn on the heat.

Out at the ball games on days such as these,
Sad rooters sit on the bleachers and freeze;
High in the grand stand the ladies (not cats)
Shiver beneath these new butter-bowl hats.
Cold in the morn, at the first peep of light,
Cold in the daytime and colder at night;
One consolation, it's good for the wheat—
Turn on the heat, mister, turn on the heat.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

The state supreme court has filed a decision in five cases in which the city of Duluth was appellant, the respondents being John E. Nichols, Celia E. V. Brown, Shubael F. White, Martha A. Triggs and Charles H. Eldridge. The actions, which originated from lowering the grade of Fourth street, were brought to recover the value of retaining walls built by the respondents to prevent the soil of their lots from falling into the street. The court decided against the city, holding that every person has a right to the lateral support of the adjoining soil and is entitled to damages for its removal.

At 6:30 this evening the marriage of J. P. Morrow and Miss Sellwood will be solemnized at the residence of the bride's parents, 1800 Bench street, Rev. W. M. Barker, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, will perform the marriage seremony.

Another addition to West Duluth will soon be put upon the market. Matthew Bland Harrison and C. E. Lovett & Co. have begun to plat eighty acres adjoining the Fifth division.

It is said fully $50,000 has been wagered on the Cardiff-Jackson prize fight.

A llen of $22,000 has been filed against the Duluth, Red Wing & Southern railroad by W. H. H. Spafford, for work done on the construction of the first twenty miles.

A strong northwest wind and a slushy snow made last night and this morning almost unbearable to people out of doors. All outside work has been suspended. The rainfall at Duluth during the past twenty-four hours has been 1.76 inches.

Mr. Hodge will resign his position as tenor in the Presbyterian church on May 1 and will be succeeded by Mr. Bueneman. Mr. Hodge will sing in the Episcopal church.

Dr. William C. Harwood has arrived at Tower from Ishpeming, to become physician at the mine.

Mrs. Helen A. Browning of Berlin, Wis., is in Tower on a visit to her daughter, Mrs. W. H. McQuade.

The annual meeting of the American Loan & Trust company was held last evening, Clinton Marshall was elected president in place of Dell Nabbitt of Philadelphia. C. F. Gunning and W. B. Wood of Philadelphia were elected directors, and the other officers remain as before.

Miss Josephine Hancock of Cloquet, a school teacher, committed suicide there last evening by shooting herself with a revolver.

N. C. Harvey has gone to Chicago to buy a large stock for a gas and steam fitting and plumbing establishment.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Allen and daughter are in St. Paul and will leave in a few days for California.

THE WEATHER.

Another bright, but chilly spring day, broke this morning. The morning looks for rain or snow tonight or Sunday. A year ago today it was raining. The sun rose this morning at 5:04 will set this evening at 7:08, making fourteen hours and four minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Slight barometric depressions central over Alberta and Mexico, have caused warmer weather throughout the Northwest and most districts lying between the Mississippi river and Rocky mountains, besides some snow over Lake Michigan, Northern Utah and Northwestern Wyoming. The Carolina disturbance has moved off into the Atlantic ocean, its influence causing further and copious rains in Gulf, Atlantic states and Tennessee. An area of high pressure central over the Ohio valley has caused colder weather in Atlantic states. Unsettled weather with some rain or snow may be expected at the Head of the Lakes tonight or Sunday."

The Eight o'Clock Lid.

Doc Bixby, in Nebraska State Journal: With all her faults, we love Omaha and would scorn to do a tap to "check her onward march as a great metropolis." But the greatness of Omaha is not due entirely to herself, or to Jim Dahlman or Tom Denison or Pat Crowe, or any or all of the great men who have lived in Douglas county or are living there as we go to press. The great railroads centering there have made their contribution in no parsimonious degree, and the jolly rakeoff from the state at large has been generous and steady since quite a while before grasshopper times. Omaha is favorably located, and her "wealth, prestige and world-wide renown" are shared by every loyal son of the ancient and honorable empire of Quivera.

And so this laurel wreath I bring
To crown our lovely sister;
In tones of rapture, mister,
Her men are men of ample brain—
Life has no greater treasure—
Her wealth, ah, there I sense a pain
Commingled with my pleasure.

I would not speak of Omaha
In measures of detraction;
My heart toward her seems to draw
With soulful satisfaction.
I love her hills now growing green,
Where soon the leaves will quiver,
I love the always smoky scene
Beside the restless river.

Her stalwart sons are fair-and fine—
I envy their condition—
Her daughters are almost divine
(A rather strong admission.)
Queen of Nebraska, for a fact,
Her buildings tall and stately;
And this new daylight closing act
Will help her morals greatly.

Pretty Women Criminals.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: It is difficult enough to obtain a verdict of guilty against any woman charged with a capital crime, triply difficult if she happens to be young and of attractive personality. Preachers of women's rights have held that women should be tried by female juries. No jury of women could possibly be more lenient to a woman than is the usual male jury in this country. It is, even, not impossible that women hearing a case against a woman would be less swayed by sentimentality than are the masculine juries that almost invariably fall victims to a pretty face and a woman's tears.

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

Limiting Our Output.

What is it that prevents us from being and doing more than we are being and doing at this present moment? Sometimes a man needs to stand outside of himself, as it were, and study himself objectively through some such process of interrogation as this: "Am I hitting the world as hard as I ought to hit it?" "Have I reached the limit of my capacity for achievement?" "Will I ever get any higher wages than I am receiving? If so, what measures ought I to initiate in order to obtain the prize?" "Am I as good as I ever shall be?"

Searching questions these, and if a man will only answer them honestly it may mark the beginning of a new epoch of achievement and power in his life. For it is surprising how many of us have settled down to an ignoble satisfaction with things as they are. We have not formulated our present attitude in language, but if we should have courage to state it exactly it would be something like this: "Well, I'm getting along in life and getting a living, that's well. I doubt if I can rise much higher. The competition is severe. I guess I am about as capable and about as successful as the average man."

"Well, perhaps you are, but does that really satisfy you? Does it tally with youth? Aren't you a little ashamed to talk this way to your intimate friends, to the person whose esteem you value more than anything else on earth? You, a red-blooded, well-endowed individual with twenty, thirty or forty years of life ahead of you; you who have not begun to exhaust your storehouse of power. Oh, ignoble self-satisfaction! Oh, shameful complacency with the present situation!

Oh, yes, I know all about your limitations from without. You are just one little cog in the wheel, just a pulley or a lever in a complicated machine, just a clerk or a bookkeeper in a great big concern, with no likelihood of promotion. Or you are hampered by the situation at home, by an invalid wife or husband, or by fretful and exacting children. The people with whom you work are not congenial and their talk far from elevating; or luck has always seemed to go against you and some perverse and malign fate seems to be tripping you up just as you thought you had obtained a secure standing in the world.

Truly, I do not know how we are all tied up with one another in these modern days and how hard it is to rise above the level of ordinary human achievement. But why should one add to these inevitable outward limitations another of an inward character arising from the mood of mind into which we have allowed ourselves to sink? The apostle Paul had a great deal of hard luck as his strenuous and stormy years came and went. But he was honest enough once to own up that it wasn't the stonings and the imprisonments, the floggings and the shipwrecks that bothered him. "I am straitened in myself," said this honest man. And there is just where most of us are baffled and burdened. The main trouble is with ourselves. We are limiting our own output by tacitly assuming that we can't master this personal weakness or solve that hard problem. We can't be kinder and more decent and more patient than we are.

"But herein we do ourselves and others a great wrong. None of us has reached the limit of his productivity. The forth-putting of our best selves are altogether too meager and inconsistent. From this day on we can give out a larger supply of good cheer, hope and inspiration. THE PARSON.

Housekeeper—And what in the name of common sense is that?

Hobo—I believe in being helped all I can.

Chicago Tribune: The Chinese were building their great wall. "This will prevent unjust discrimination," they said. "It will keep everything out." Thereby, too, they saved the trouble and expense of having to revise the tariff every few years.

New York Herald: "Father, what is an empty title?"

"Well, an empty title is your mother's way of calling me the head of the house.

Comic Cuts: He—I have been told that I was handsome.

She—When was that?

He—Today.

She—No; I mean when you were handsome?

Chicago Daily News: Little Grace—Sister, that new beau of yours makes me tired.

Elder Sister—Why, dear?

Little Grace—He has the manner of a street car conductor. When I went into the parlor last night, he said, "How old are you, little girl?"

THE TONNAGE TAX VETO

Minneapolis Star: Governor Johnson did a good act when he returned the tonnage tax bill Tuesday without his signature. There has been much criticism on this bill, and the chief executive has been besieged with telegrams and entreaties not to sign the bill from all over the state, especially from the range district, where the bill was considered a hardship.

In giving his reason for refusing to affix his name to the bill the governor wrote a long message, pointing out that in his opinion it was not even constitutional, in that it attempted to place a heavy tax upon an industry of one section of the state that could not be equally distributed.

Further than that it was the opinion of the governor that the bill was hastily drawn and that the present method of taxing the iron industry was the better way.

To the layman, and those who are looking only to the best interests of the state at large, it looks much as though the bill that was vetoed was given the only proper fate that could await such a measure.

There is no desire upon the part of the people to place the iron industry under a ban. By taxing the production of the mines, as the tonnage bill suggested the operators would be inclined to curtail the production of the mines. Minnesota produces one-fourth of the ore of the world, and rather than hinder the industry the people want the big mills to run full blast, more mills to come to the state and more mines opened. The present method of taxing the mines is working very well, and the vetoing of the recent measure was a good act, well done.

Glenwood Gopher Press: Governor John A. Johnson on Tuesday vetoed the Bjorge tonnage tax bill in a straight from the shoulder message, and when that message was read to the house at noon the body broke into a storm of applause which made the dome ring, and many of those who had voted for the bill joined in the ovation. Once more has John A. Johnson risen to the full stature of manhood and statesmanship. Once more he has risen superior to partisan and sectional consideration and justified the faith that Northern Minnesota has always imposed in him. As governor of all the state, knowing no north and no south, he has heeded the cry for succor that came from Northern Minnesota and rebuked those who would have used sectional power to perpetrate sectional tyranny.

St. Peter Herald: In his message vetoing the tonnage tax bill Governor Johnson does not equivocate, but makes a plain statement of his reasons for returning the bill to the legislature without his approval. He holds that its enactment would retard the development of Northeastern Minnesota, and argues that, in operation, it would fail of its object, that of forcing the steel trust to pay a fair share of taxes, but would be of advantage to the larger companies and work hardships upon independent owners of low-grade mines. He reviews the work that has been done by the tax commission in increasing mining assessments, and declares that there is no pressing need at present for a tonnage tax, saying that the state has the power and the machinery to make further increases. When the bill was before the legislature it was not considered on its merits and Governor Johnson is right in looking upon it as an experiment. Certain it is that its passage would have involved the state in endless litigation, which has been averted by his veto. Under the new Constitutional amendment great progress should be made in adjusting tax schedules in Minnesota. In time a tonnage tax may be necessary, but when one is framed it should be drawn so as to be fair to the corporations as well as to the people.

Gaylord Hub: Governor Johnson's veto of the tonnage tax bill, after it had passed both branches of the legislature, is not an action to occasion surprise. He promised the range towns that he would do so if elected, and made good. In vetoing the bill, he does not beat around the bush about it, but states that it is legislation which requires study, and is well to go slow before passing judgment.

Brainerd Arena: Minnesota has one statesman—and he isn't a Republican, either.

Hutchinson Leader: Governor Johnson's veto of the tonnage tax bill, which was sent to the house of representatives at noon Tuesday, was accompanied by a vigorous message, which furnishes the most lucid and illuminating contribution to the evidence which has been presented on this subject this session. The message justifies the veto on numerous and sufficient grounds. It is pointed out that the measure is wrong in principle, unjust to a certain section of the state, of doubtful constitutionality, crude and experimental, intensely feared by all Northeastern Minnesota, calculated to create sectional hatred and prejudice, and not at all warranted by any public need. In ten years the state's revenues from taxes on iron ore properties would have been increased from $180,000 to $600,000, and the state tax commission has ample power to increase their valuation if proper. The governor points out that the iron ore taxes now equitably distributed among the fifty-five counties to secure more of the state's fund than they contribute and before these favored counties seek to impose a new form of taxation on the northern section of the state they should permit a reapportionment which will give the latter section a fair representation in the legislature.

The veto marks Governor Johnson as a man of the highest courage as well as of broad and fairminded statesmanship. The tonnage tax proposition, which had its inception in political ambition, would never have passed the legislature had the members who knew it was wrong had the courage of their convictions.

LaPorte News: All honor to Governor John A. Johnson for his manly stand in vetoing the tonnage tax bill. By this act he has raised himself in the estimation of not only the people of Northern Minnesota, but by fair-minded people all over the state.

Roseau Times: Governor Johnson vetoed the so-called tonnage tax bill. The bill aimed to tax iron ore without regard to valuation and would have lightened the burden of taxation in all counties outside of the iron range counties. The governor will be sustained in his veto of the bill, based as it was upon a system of inequality.

Pine River Sentinel: Even Governor Johnson's worst enemies concede that he has done the proper thing in vetoing the tonnage tax bill. If it had become a law it would have worked serious disaster to the richest and most prosperous section of Minnesota.

Zumbrota, Goodhue county, News: Governor Johnson has vetoed the tonnage tax bill and his action meets with general approval all over the state.

Shevlin Herald: Again Governo Johnson has shown his value to the state as an executive officer. His refusal to sign the iron ore tonnage tax bill and his reasons therefore, as given in his message to the house, are clearly those of a broad-minded and fearless statesman, who dares to act in accord with his convictions regardless of friends and enemies.

Biwabik Times: We herewith renounce all former political allegiance and declare ourselves a John A. Johnson man. We are with him for anything he wants from president down.

Middle River, Marshall county, Pioneer: The tonnage tax bill was vetoed by Governor Johnson. The governor, in his veto message took substantially the same position that the Duluth dailies have maintained. The veto is a surprise and a disappointment to probably a majority of the people of the state, who think the great steel trust is escaping its just share of taxation. But yet, the full import of the measure was but little understood even by its friends, and it is a significant fact that there has been no demand for its passage by the press of the state.

Little Falls Herald: The Duluth paper that jumped so hard on the governor last fall probably appreciates what "coals of fire" mean.

Two Harbors Iron Trade Journal: Let us all join in the sentiment that with us of Northeastern Minnesota, in any matter in which Governor Johnson may be hereafter concerned, partizanship shall play no part, but that we shall all stand loyally shoulder to shoulder, in support of the man, who has thrust aside partizanship, who has risen above sectionalism, who has proven himself a statesman of the rarest and broadest type, and who has preserved to us our heritage and made our continued existence in the northeastern portion of the great "North Star state" a possibility, yea, a happy reality.

Royalton Banner: Governor Johnson has laid up treasures for himself in the mining districts of Minnesota.

Brainerd Tribune: Hats off to Governor John A. Johnson.

Mora, Kanabec county, Times: The veto of the tonnage tax by Governor Johnson probably settled this question for the future. The iron ore properties can be made to pay their share of the taxes on the ad valorem basis, and there was no necessity for the legislation proposed.

Norman County Index: Duluth people were so mad when the senate passed the bill providing for a tonnage tax on iron ore that they threatened to secede, or rather start a movement to divide the state. If the state was divided, this northern section would have a much greater political influence in national affairs, and would be one of the richest states in the Union.

Wabasha Herald: Governor Johnson on Tuesday vetoed the tonnage tax bill. After reviewing the bill carefully, he sent it back to the house with a message attached, giving his reasons for vetoing the measure. He claims the bill is merely an experiment, and has strong doubts as to its constitutionality. It aimed a severe blow at the northern part of the state. For these reasons he refused to sign the bill. The people of Northern Minnesota are today rejoicing over the veto, and the governor is the recipient of many telegrams from all over the state commending him for his act.

Wadena Pioneer-Journal: It is plain that the business men and citizens generally in the counties affected, honestly believe that the tonnage tax bill would work a serious injustice to them. It is not so plain that they are right, but taking into consideration all the facts, we think that the bill should not have been passed at the session. Inasmuch as it was passed by the legislature, we indorse heartily the position taken by Governor Johnson, when he submitted to the legislature Tuesday his veto. He clearly set forth the reasons which influenced him to do this, and we feel that he made no mistake in this matter.

Warren Register: When Governor Johnson vetoed the Cass Lake normal school bill Duluth maintained a silence like unto that of the tomb, but the Zenith City found its voice when he turned the Bjorge bill down.

THE HOUSE TARIFF BILL

BY SAVOYARD

It was about 1867 that old Ben Butler of Massachusetts, and John A. Bingham of Ohio engaged in a fierce quarrel in the national house of representatives that became bitterly personal. It seems that Butler charged that a certain publication touching the trial before the military commission of the persons accused of being privy to the assassination of President Lincoln had been spollated, and intimated that Bingham, assistant judge advocate of the prosecution, was the man who had cut out the leaves of the volume.

In retort Bingham intimated that Butler's tongue could utter no scandal, and his pen could trace no libel; that he was "the hero of Fort Fisher not taken," and that he "lived in a bottle and was fed on a spoon."

* * *

In his rejoinder Butler was almost admirable in apologizing to the country for the small service he had rendered in the trying hour, and stated that he had done the best he was capable of at Fort Fisher, where he failed, and that he strove for the best, as he saw it, at Bermuda Hundreds, where Grant said he was bottled up; and then, pointing to Pingham, he exclaimed: "Thank God, I have not the blood of an innocent woman on my hands, and I have not the crime of sending Mrs. Surratt to the gallows on my conscience," or language like that. Bingham was one of the fancy orators of the congress of that period, and he came back with the bloody shirt in his finest, talking about the treason that walked in darkness and wasted at noonday, and bridged the land all over with the graves of patriots and heroes.

Before Bingham had fairly started with voiceful rhetoric, Old Ben, in those hourse tones that penetrated to the uttermost parts of the chamber and the galleries, roared out: "I always did love to hear Bingham make that speech!"

* * *

I have tried to tell that anecdote for the reason that I always did love to hear Dalzell make that speech for which he drops to recrimination because of the special rule under which the senate amendments to the Wilson tariff bill was concerned in.

Since Burton of Ohio left the house of representatives, I do not suppose there is anyone to dispute that Dalzell is the ablest man on the Republican side, and he is too great a parliamentarian to cite a wrong precedent. Recrimination is ever a plea of guilty.

* * *

Both parties are "all broke up" over the tariff. There are tariff reform Republicans and Protection Democrats. Senator Bailey has announced as his stand that as long as protection is the prevailing policy, he wanted consideration shown for the product of the South, which is only politer speech for Ben Tillman's monstrous doctrines that while the stealing is going on he proposed that South Carolina should get her share. There was a South Carolina once that had no share of graft.

I am astonished at Bailey, for his proposition is that it will be of financial advantage to the South to have her products protected. That idea is erroneous. It is true that some individuals at the South would make money by protection for certain things, but they do not number 10 per cent of the population of any congressional district of the entire South, and the same is true of the people of every state of the Union.

* * *

Bailey, Tillman and a great many other Democrats in the two houses of congress cannot maintain that a protective tariff is immoral if they are willing to aid in securing a particle of it for their people, and the Democratic party will never win another national battle till it takes the ground that it is wicked, rally to the politics of Cleveland and Carlisle, Morrison and Mills, William L. Wilson and John Sharpe Williams?

It is either political bankruptcy or a return to the old landmarks.

In the house of representatives the other day men actually voted for a bill that they had a direct pecuniary interest in; but there were some who voted against propositions that would put additional money in their individual pockets.

* * *

So far as I know there was no opportunity to offer amendment to the infamous wool schedule that is so constructed that your Englishman, in whatever station in life, whether peer or peasant, whether lord mayor of London or a chimney-sweep in that city, enjoying free trade in wool and woolens, gets clothing, blankets, carpets, and everything fashioned from wool, for 50 per cent less than our people are forced to pay for the same goods. Is it any wonder that the distance from the rich American to the poor American is greater than it is from the rich Englishman to the poor Englishman?

And then they will get up and prate about the advantages the American workingman has over every other workingman, though he has to buy what he is bound to have in the dearest market in the world. All raiment, all foods, except tea, coffee and spices; all materials for making ordinary shelter; all iron and steel from the cambric needle to the locomotive engine—all these things are taxed to the quick in our land of the free.

And that is how it comes that England is thoroughly satisfied with our tariff, which leaves her free to dominate the neutral markets of the world, and exchange finished manufactures for raw material and foodstuffs. No nation trades with us that can acquire the same commodities elsewhere, and even England gets a big slice of free trade out of us, as when, for instance an Englishman sends a cargo of goods to Brazil, exchanges it for coffee, brings the coffee to one of our ports and exchanges it without tariff duty for cotton, or provisions, or grain, or pig copper. That is why England dominates the South American markets. That is why she fashions cotton into cloths in such greater quantities than we.

What the tariff will be when Aldrich and Hale get through with it nobody can predict. We have seen the Republicans of the house get together and send the Hon. Payne's enacting clause over to Aldrich. That would have been a miracle if the house had had a Democratic majority. But I have seen the Republicans torn all to flinders many a time, and then come solidly to the support of the leaders. They were all at sea over the rate bill, but very one of them except Foraker voted for it. They are cohesive always, and generally coherent. The Democrats are neither, and it looks as though the old Democratic party of Tilden and Thurman is as dead as the old Whig party of Clay and Webster.

And yet it is possible to separate the sheep and the goats, and the one way to accomplish it is to make the tariff paramount and declare it a moral question, proclaiming that no man shall be a Democrat who votes "to protect" any special interest whatsoever. As for Louisiana, a tariff for revenue only on sugar will afford her ample shelter against Cuba and the other sugar-producing countries, and if not, let Louisiana go to raising something she can produce profitably without making other communities support her through unconstitutional and dishonest taxation.

It is common report that the South has been seduced from its loyalty to the Democratic party, that it has sold its political principles for a mess of tariff pottage. If that shall prove true it only means that the Democratic party is no longer the party of the old South, or the old North as well, but is become agrarian, populistic, paternal and socialistic.

* * *

I am anxious to see what the Democratic side of the senate will do to Mr. Aldrich. Will they allow him to make a bill for the advantage of New England, or will they again summon the old spirit to rally to the politics of

Censorship for New York Shows

Clean Entertainment Provided for the 250,000 Who Daily Patronize New York's Moving Picture Theaters—Class of Shows to be Raised Throughout the Country.

By JOHN COLLIER,
Member Board of Censorship.

(Exclusive Service the Survey Press Bureau.)

There are kinds and kinds of dramatic censorship! If Mr. Frohman and Mr. Belasco and Messrs. Klaw and Erlanger could get together and agreed on a minimum standard of dramatic purity and proceeded to enforce their standard on the playwrights who write their plays, this would not be called a censorship, but a mutual protective society. Actually they don't need to do this, because Messrs. Frohman and Belasco and the other theatrical syndicates have their plays written to order in large measure, and so are quite responsible for what is seen in their theaters.

New York has a censorship. It governs the 400 moving picture theaters in the metropolis with a strong hand, yet it has no authority in law. It came about like the fanciful case of Frohman and Belasco, and this is the story:

Moving pictures are running riot through New York, as through the rest of America. In ten years they have grown from nothing to thousands. New York's moving picture theaters are crowded with 250,000 people on week days and half a million on Sundays, and a third of these are children. No form of cheap theatrical amusement has proved able to compete with moving pictures in the crowded districts, and the "nickleodeon" has become a neighborhood institution and is more good than bad already, at that. Social workers who have studied the conditions believe that the mechanical theater has an immense future, and a great potentiality for good.

But the lightning-express growth of moving pictures has brought varied evils in its train. They thronged into tenement houses and into any vacant store, and as they employ a highly inflammable material in the celluloid film through which the picture is projected, there was obvious danger from fire. Sanitary requirements were disregarded, police protection was ignored, and the "programs themselves were pretty much a business of catch-as-catch-can.

Then suddenly public opinion awoke; and this was not only true of New York, but of all the country. Non-regulation became regulation rendered excessive through excessive zeal. The cheap theaters of the old type—the vaudeville and melodrama houses, and the syndicates that supply the one-night stands—became aware that the moving picture, through competition, was threatening their very existence, and they roused themselves to a lively opposition to the moving picture, in press and legislature. And, almost overnight, in New York the moving picture business, for years a "Klondike" of commercial profit, found itself threatened with extinction. This is a matter of six months past; and in that time more than a hundred shows have been closed by the action of local authorities.

So the "nickleodeons" have learned what many bigger businesses have learned in late years, that public opinion is a dangerous thing when aroused. And they hurried to placate public opinion. Out of this came the censorship; but to explain the censorship other facts must be given.

In the mushroom growth of the moving picture, not only in America but throughout the world, the emphasis has been laid rather on quantity than on quality of program. Great factories make the pictures, and they are scattered all the way from Chicago to Copenhagen, but all produce for the humblest "nickelodeon" in the humblest quarters of the Ghetto. Far separated from the public demand, the factories have had merely to infer the demand, and there have fallen victims to a common, if mistaken idea. That idea is, that the public craves low forms of entertainment; vulgarity and sensationalism. All along, the factories have produced a proportion of good pictures, surprising in view of the general condition of the theaters, moral and artistic; but all along there has been a sprinkling of pictures vulgar, bloody, and offensive in various ways, and this sprinkling has given a bad odor to the business.

As for the moving picture shows themselves, they have been unorganized and have had to take what they could get; and to cap the climax, the manufacturers have formed a "combine" which has resulted in forcing the theaters to take virtually all that one or the other faction of manufacturers has seen fit to produce. These factions are the Motion Pictures Patents company and the Independent Manufacturers, and they have split the trade into sections and each theater must choose between one and the other. This circumstance has enslaved the theaters, and has enslaved the public taste. It is the reverse of Frohman's and Belasco's situation. The playwrights dominate the theatrical managers completely.

So the theaters in New York have organized to defend themselves against the playwrights. The result is the moving picture censorship.

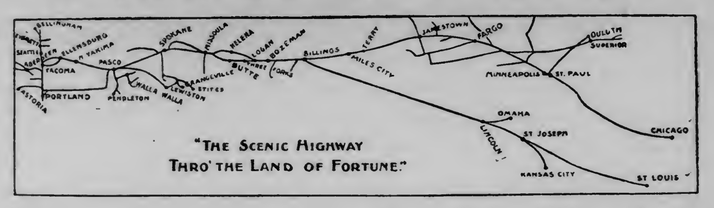

The organized exhibitors of the city petitioned the public bodies of the city to establish the censorship. A dozen prominent civic organizations responded and a board of censorship was formed. The exhibitors' association pledged its members, under penalty of expulsion, to abide by the letter and spirit of the censorship, and the manufacturers themselves professed that the censorship was a welcome arrival. As for the expense of the censorship, amounting to several hundred dollars a month, the theaters themselves pay this. All members of the censorship board serve without pay, but the expenses of office rent and clerical help are considerable.

The board of censorship has the Rev. George William Knox of the Union Theological seminary for its chairman, and among its members are representatives of the public schools, of educational and vigilance societies, and even managers of moving picture theaters. It censors every moving picture put on the New York market. The inspection is done not at the theaters, but at the offices of the manufacturers, and pictures are seen several weeks in advance of the time for making them public. Thus the manufacturers are notified beforehand that this or that picture or part of a picture will be objected to, and are saved the expense of putting it on the market and having it refused by the theaters and possibly prosecuted in the criminal courts. The manufacturers have even gone farther, and the Motion Pictures Patents company has established a national board of censorship, which works in consultation with the New York board of censors and which will result in a gradual improvement of the moving picture programs of the entire country.

But moving pictures are only a part of the program of most "nickelodeons." Five-cent theaters give illustrated songs and vaudeville interludes, and the physical condition of the theater is hardly less important than the moral character of their programs. The board of censorship has undertaken to regulate all these features of the shows, and has the co-operation of the organized "nickelodeons" and of the city authorities.

The board of censorship is only a month old and it has "killed" less than 10 per cent of the pictures which have been submitthed to its inspection. But as the results will be liberal, so it is argued they will be natural, voluntary and to some extent permanent. "Of course," said a member of the board, "we are idealists, but we shall try to be practical idealists. Rome was not built in a day."

SOCIALISM AND PRODUCTION

Man's existence upon the earth has depended largely upon his ability to take from it the things that would conduce to his happiness and wellbeing. Mankind upon a whole has learned to do this so far as practicable is concerned. The ways and means have been devised by him, so that today it is not a question of whether he can produce enough that all may have an abundance of the things that are the requisites to his enjoyment.

What I have said will to many seem an idle talk. Many who may read this will think that there is no truth in the statement, and they will wonder why such things could be said, while their own condition gave the lie to the previous assertion, their condition being one of poverty and suffering.

As we turn our every day thoughts and look back over the hard beaten path of progress, we are able to see the advance made in invention and the other branches of science. When so doing we had hoped for the happy day when the machines, that were being studied out at that time, would lighten the burden of mankind, rather than add another to it, but whatever may have been the dream of man then is no longer a dream now. We are compelled to turn and face the world as it is, not as we would like to have it.

And when we do find it a cold, cruel, heartless and reckless world. In which altogether may be pleasing to those who cannot observe the trend of the economic forces as they continue to grind in the mill of economic might, those who have passed their time in following the shadows, as they flitted before their gaze like the silvery clouds in the ether above, are doomed to a life of servitude and sorrow.

Mankind can, without doing an injury to any one, live in peace and harmony. There is more than enough produced to supply the needs of all. The question for us to solve is not to produce, but to distribute the good things that all need so as to eliminate the awful conditions that abound so largely in the industrial centers where this wealth is produced.

We manufacture in finished products yearly the enormous sum of $15,000,000,000, and have only 86,000,000 people to feed. The question can be asked, What becomes of the difference between what the people get and what they make? This is indeed a very impertinent question to ask; some may question our right to ask it. The wages paid for the labor that produced these products was only $2,266,273,317. The total capital invested in the establishments where this wealth was produced amounted to the difference between the value of the product and the wages paid for the labor. The capital invested, $12,686,255,673. These figures seem to show plainly that some one must be getting for nothing or that there is a very great waste. Our average wealth per year now arises to the enormous amount of $25,000,000,000.

We are at last driven to seek the cause of why there should be such dire poverty while there is so much produced, and the only explanation so far set forth is done by the Socialists, and that is, if the worker is paid in wages less than he produces, there must remain a portion of that product unconsumed. He is compelled to suffer because he is held in restraint from consuming his own products by the system that has for its mainstay or prop the division of this product that in the end brings more suffering upon all mankind.

This is certainly a very weak and frail excuse for a system that claims itself to be more modern than any that has preceded it. It cannot furnish work for its unemployed; it cannot feed the little hungry mouths that appeal to it for crusts of bread; and more, it seems to be offering a prize for the greatest debauchery of intelligence, taking woman's virtue from its lofty and exalted position which it held in the past and placing it upon the bargain counter at so much per, that she may earn a living. Such conditions we, as Socialists, believe to be unjust, and cannot prevail long in a country after the people learn they do exist.

We claim that production has become socialized, that all wealth is collectively produced, but as such in the factory has rendered in labor his share towards that production, and his portion of that product should be his according to the amount of his labor, no more or no less.

We also claim that this can and must be brought about through the collective ownership of the mines, mills, factories and railroads, and when this is done, each and all can find work that will be a pleasure to perform; not as now, a condition of slavery and a set of conditions that all of us dread.

18,000 Cured of Rheumatism

Over 18,000 grateful people have written us unsolicited letters telling how young and well they feel since Hill's Rheumatic Pills have driven away every twinge and ache—loosened up the stiffened joints—given new flexibility to strained and tortured muscles.

What a range of suffering these letters cover—men and women who never expected to walk again—who had been bed-ridden for years, as helpless as babes—whom untold agony had warped and twisted until they were unable to feed or dress themselves—all cured, all free from suffering through the wonderful virtues of the healing roots and herbs combined in this miracle-working remedy.

Hill's Rheumatic Pills

have been in use for 73 years without a single change in the formula. They are the only remedy we know which really cures Rheumatism without leaving trouble just as bad in its place. Hill's Rheumatic Pills are purely vegetable. They contain no harmful minerals, such as iodides and salicylates, to upset the digestion or weaken the heart. They cure by aiding nature to throw off the poisons which cause Rheumatism. It only takes a short time, and you are free from every ache and pain and feel years younger as the deadly uric acid poison is dissolved and passed off as nature intended.

We have letters from over 18,000 grateful people who have been freed from pain and made well by this wonderful discovery.

RE-ENLISTS AS A MARINE, ALTHOUGH WORTH $125,000.

Chicago, April 24.—James L. Dixon, 24 years old, thinks the United States marine corps is a good place for a man to be even though he is worth $125,000. He enlisted here yesterday for four years. Four years ago when Dixon was about to enlist as a private in the marine corps he received word that he had inherited $100,000 from a rich uncle in California. He served out his time, and a month ago purchased his discharge and went to Toronto where he added $25,000 to his fortune by a deal in grain elevators. Then he became tired of civilian life and hurried to a recruiting office.

PLANT DISEASES HIS SUBJECT

Prof. Freeman Ends Course of Lectures on Agriculture.

In the final lecture of the Y. M. C. A. agricultural course, delivered last evening before a large and appreciative audience, Prof. E. M. Freeman urged those interested in farming and plant culture to get in touch with the state agricultural school. He suggested that those who are unable to diagnose plant diseases should send a specimen to the state school, where it will be teated and full advice given as to cause, care and treatment.

Prof. Freeman did not confine his talk to any branch of the subject, but spoke alike to the general farmer, those who handle plants and market truck and owners of small gardens. The subject of the discourse was, "Farm Botany and Plant Diseases." The lecturer gave figures to show the great losses in this state and the Dakotas from plant diseases, and pointed out the ways to avoid them. Prof. Freeman is in charge of the department of botany and plant pathology at the state institution.

In introducing the speaker, Bishop McGolrick, who presided at the meeting, recommended that vacant lots in and about the city be cultivated.

TREE PLANTING

By R. H. PENDERGAST

It will soon be time to set out trees and shrubs. I will say a few words that may be a help to some.

First, do not try to do anything until the frost is out and the ground well warmed up. Then nature is ready to do her part in making your efforts successful.

Second, do not dig deep holes in clay soil, for the surface water will settle in the hole and as the roots reach down to it they rot, and in a few years you see your trees are not doing well, and wonder what is the matter with them.

The depth of the hole should be, for small trees and shrubs, 14 to 16 inches; for larger trees, 18 to 24 inches. The clay is taken out in digging the hole and should not be used in setting the tree or bush. Good, sandy loam with some black earth mixed in makes a good soil.

Small trees and shrubs should be set deep enough so as to have three or four inches of earth over the upper roots; large trees should have from six to eight inches over them. Before setting, all trees and shrubs should be root-pruned. That is, the ends of the roots should be cut back until you come to green bark; a sloping cut from the under side upward is the best; then the fine hair roots have no trouble in starting out all around the end of the root.

Put a little good soil in the bottom of the hole, set your tree in; have it held upright while you spread out the lower layer of roots and fill in as before, being careful to pack it in firmly around the roots with your hands; and so proceed till they are all covered, then fill the hole with good soil. Then hold the trees straight with one hand and tread the earth down firmly, beginning at the outside of the hole; then a little more earth, leaving it loose and dishing from outside, so that water will run to the tree; then a mulching of stable manure, eight to ten inches, reaching as far as outside of hole; and so mulched, once a week is often enough to wet the tree.

When trees are dug, a large share of their roots are left in the ground, and if, when reset, all of their tops are left on, the cut roots are not able to furnish sap enough to make a healthy growth, and the tree is more likely to die when the hot weather comes.

Small trees and shrubs should have all the branches cut back, at least one-half; large trees more than that. I wish also to urge all who have large trees to examine and see if the guards, put on when they were small, are not hurting them now. I have noticed a good many where the wire or slats have cut into the bark so as to injure them a good deal, and if not changed, will ruin them. Do not remove, but make the guards larger.

Object to Strong Medicines.

Many people object to taking the strong medicines usually prescribed by physicians for rheumatism. There is no need of internal treatment in any case of muscular or chronic rheumatism, and more than one out of every ten cases of the disease are of one or the other of these varieties. When there is no fever and little (if any) swelling, you may know that it is only necessary to apply Chamberlain's Liniment freely to get quick relief. Try it. For sale by all druggists.

Mrs. J. B. Kelly and Mrs. B. F. Wilson entertained at cards last Saturday at 4511 Cambridge street. Five hundred was played at three tables.

The wedding service for Miss Mary Victoria Marineau and Edward Joseph Langlois was read Monday morning at the St. Jean Baptiste church at the West end. The bride was attended by Miss Delia Felix, and the groomsman was John J. Langlois. The wedding service was read by Father Gilfetre. The bride wore a gown of cream-colored silk and carried bride's roses.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents at 2531 West Huron street. Mr. Langlois and his bride will be at home in Superior.

One of the most beautiful affairs of several years was the cotillion Monday evening, at which Mr. and Mrs. John Panton were hosts at their home, 1931 East Second street, in honor of Miss Sellwood and Charles E. Mershon. Every appointment was charmingly arranged and the affair was greatly enjoyed by the sixty guests who danced, and by the twenty who were invited to view the pretty scene.

In the dressing rooms little Miss Dorothy Panton and Ethel Grace received the guests, and the ballroom, which was transformed into a veritable fairyland. Effective hangings of white were used as a background for the delicate tracery of pretty vines. The mantel of white marble at the north end of the room was banked in white tulips and wistari.

From the chandeliers were hung wedding bells, the largest one in the center and about the chandelier decorations of lillies of the valley and vines were used. On the other chandeliers wistaria in pale lavender was chosen for decoration.

The figures and favors of the cotillion were charmingly chosen and during the entire evening the room was gay with the fcors that made each figure danced distinctive and pretty. Miss Belle Ingraham, who is well-known in Duluth, came from Chicago to lead the cotillion, which she did in a very happy manner, the interest of the dancers being held every moment, as they were led through the intricate and very effective figures. Fifteen members were danced and some of them were exceptionally beautiful. With the graceful gowns that are the fashion of the moment, the figure, which had for favors directoire stuffs in delicate colors, hung with shining tinsel, made a particularly graceful picture. An arch was formed with the staffs and the men danced under them to the music of the wedding march. Quaint and attractive was the Dutch figure, when the ladies wore Dutch bonnets of stylish and captivating prettiness, and the men donned large Burgomaster collars. The bridal figure had as favors for the girls coiffure ornaments in delicate colors with a short tulle bridal veil. The favor was in white with lillies of the valley for Miss Sellwood.

A military figure with drums for the men, and waving flags for the girls, was stirring. These charmingly pretty figures were alternated with others that were uproariously funny. The men in ballet skirts doing a pas seul were delightful, and the German band in which vegetables and kitchen utensils were suddenly converted into musical instruments, was amusing. An Indian war dance was danced, and the men in Japanese togs were amusing. A lingnette effect with small favors was pretty, too, but the climax of the evening came when the dancers were led in a spiral until Miss Sellwood and Mr. Mershon were directly under the central wedding bell, when the ribbons were pulled and a shower of confetti, was let down upon them and the dancers, provided with balls and bags of confetti, entered into the carnival spirit.

The gifts for the girls were charmingly pretty ostrich feather fans and the men were presented with gold scarf pins.

La Bresse's orchestra played for the dancing and presiding at the favor tables were Mrs. William White, Mrs. A. B. Wolvin, Mrs. Mershon and Mrs. Fitzgerald.

Supper was served at small tables on the upper floor, and covers were laid for eighty.

One of the most beautiful weddings of recent years was that of Miss LaRue Sellwood, daughter of Joseph Sellwood, and Charles Edward Mershon, which took place Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's father, 1802 East Superior street. The wedding was a fitting climax of the series of beautiful affairs planned in compliment to Miss Sellwood.

The service was read at 8 o'clock in a room that was transformed into a bower of sweet peas and smilax. At the appointed hour the wedding music was played by Flaaten's orchestra, and the bridal party entered the rooms. The two little nephews of the bride, Masters Richard and Gerald Sellwood, entered first and marked out an aisle with wide satin ribbons, and were followed by Rev. M. S. Rice of the First Methodist church, who read the marriage service. Little Miss Frances Sellwood entered next, and was followed by the matron of honor, Mrs. L. W. Leithhead, and last came the bride with her father. Mr. Mershon awaited her at the improvised altar, and during the service the orchestra played softly.

The bride wore an exquisite gown of duchess satin in a directoire model, with panels of beautiful rose point lace, and she carried a shower bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Leithhead wore a directoire gown of pale apricot satin, and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The little flower girl wore a pretty frock of white.

At the reception which followed the ceremony a large number of guests called. Assisting about the rooms were Mrs. A. B. Wolvin, Mrs. John Panton, Mrs. Werner Pressentin, Mrs. A. W. Hartman and Mrs. C. D. Thompson of St. Paul.

The supper was served at Mrs. Leithhead's home adjoining the Sellwood residence. In the dining room there, a large centerpiece of lilies of the valley and orchids were used, and through the parlors Killarney roses were the decorations chosen. Later in the evening La Brosse's orchestra played for an informal dancing party.

Mr. Mershon and his bride left for a wedding trip to the East and after June 1, will be t home at 1802 East Superior street until their new home is finished on East Superior street.

The out-of-town guests for the wedding were Miss Elsie Mershon, Miss Jane Mershon, Mrs. Ralph Morley, Miss Morley and Miss Wiekes, who have returned to their homes at Saginaw.

Scots in Concert.

Lovers of the music of Scotland are anticipating with interest the concert to be presented at the Lyceum on Thursday evening, April 29, under the auspices of Clan Stewart by the Imperial Scots Concert company, composed of Orin Hamilton, a great Scottish tenor; Ruth Seath Grant, soprano; and Fred Barclay. Each artist is well and favorably known, and there is much interest in the local concert.

Bishop's Club.

The last meeting of the year of the Bishop's club will be held Wednesday evening of this week, instead of the usual meeting night, Tuesday, at the club rooms on West Fourth street. The annual business meeting will be held and the reports of the officers will be followed by the election of officers for the ensuing year. An informal social will follow the business meeting. There will be a program by Miss Alice Lambert, Miss Florence Flynn of Superior, and Joseph Kreimer. The social committee in charge of the affair will be Mrs. P. S. Kelly, Mrs. Lyons, Mrs. McHugh, Mrs. O'Rourke, Mrs. Mahon and Mrs. Dacey, and the Misses Halley, Ring and Horgan.

Endion Circle.

Endion Circle of the First Presbyterian church will meet Monday afternoon with Mrs. W. C. Winton of 1511 East First street.

D. A. R. Meeting.

The last regular meeting of the year of the Daughters of Liberty chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, was held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. E. Walker of Chester terrace.

The day was the twelfth anniversary of the organization of the chapter, and the history of the society was read by Mrs. E. W. Markell. This local chapter is the only American chapter named for the first patriotic society of American women, which was organized at Providence, R. I., in 1766, with seventeen charter members. Many other such societies were formed throughout the states, and at the meetings, spinning and weaving were the occupations, with the drinking of liberty tea.

A musical program was given by Miss Ruth Markell, Mrs. N. B. Morrison and Miss Julia Hunter. As the chapter was organized on the one hundred and twenty-second anniversary of the Battle of Lexington, as a fitting observation, Longfellow's poem, "The Ride of Paul Revere," was read by Mrs. A. B. Siewert.

There will be no more meetings of the society until the regular picnic in the autumn.

Skovgaard's Violin.

Skovgaard's violin was made by Antonius Stradivarius. The varnish is as bright and polished as if applied by the hands of its skillful maker but yesterday, and yet it is one of the oldest, as well as the most expensive violins in existence.

Stradivarius, who made the violin in 1712 in memory of his deceased son, retained it until his death, but never put strings on it. His sons, Francesco and Omobono, later sold the violin to Luigi Tarisie, a dealer, who sold it to a Spanish museum, where it remained for generations. In 1897 the violin was rescued, unharmed, from the museum, which was destroyed by fire, and placed in the hands of a London dealer from whom, after tedious negotiations, Mr. Skovgaard purchased the instrument for $13,000. He is, therefore, the only person who has played on this wonderful violin. It is the talisman beyond value which has brought his playing to its present standard. This instrument is the best preserved specimen of Stradivarius' art.

Skovgaard will be in Duluth for one concert, at the Flaaten auditorium, Sunday evening, May 23.

MINNESOTA UNIVERSITY

"Mikado" to Be Presented May 14 and 15 at Armory.

The Plaza Selected for Scene of the Senior Prom.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—May 14 and 15 have finally been chosen as the dates for the presentation of the "Mikado." Much trouble has been experienced by the committee in choosing a date, but as Mr. Bryan lectures here on May 11 it was thought best to put it on after that date. Work has been progressing rapidly in the rehearsals of both cast and orchestra. Mr. Rose, assisted by Miss Malcolm, is working overtime to get matters running smoothly, and much is being accomplished each day. The orchestra will go to Litchfield in a few days, where some of the "Mikado" music will be tried on some of the "natives" in that place. The Armory has been definitely decided upon as the scene of the opera, but the stage is to be remodelled and adequate scenery is to be provided.

The Plaza has been decided on as the place for holding the senior prom. It will be the first time that a general university party has been held there, which fact, together with the tone the party will assume, from being held in the highest class suite hotel in the city, is making the demand for tickets large. However, only seventy couples can be accommodated on account of the size of the hall, and tickets will be placed on sale first to senior men and men who are going to take senior girls. After a week, those not sold will be placed on sale to the alumni and under classmen.

Minnesota union held its first annual get together last night in the Armory. The big feature of the evening was the announcement of the newly elected members to the board of governors, followed by the pictures of the proposed building shown in lantern slides. Then came the presentation of Frank Bibb's operetta, "A Cup of Saki," which began the vaudeville performance of the evening. This comedietta tells the story of a maiden of uncertain age and claims to beauty, who strives to win the love of a great prince by giving him a love potion in a cup of saki. Her efforts miscarry, however, and the potion falls into the hands of a humble slave, who partakes thereof. When the potion starts to work the fun begins. After the operetta there was an intermission for "eats" and then came a series of athletic stunts. A wrestling match, a boxing bout, and a water fete, consisting of fancy diving, a water polo match and swimming races were pulled off.

After a very exciting contest Tuesday, Harold Downing was returned the winner of the position of managing editor on the 1911 Gopher. Other elections were close, Hanford Cox winning the place of editor-in-chief, Donald Holmes ran alone for artist. He has won great prominence in this line by his work on the Minne Ha-Ha.

Members of the senior class, who tried out for parts in the class play, were in suspense as to the choice, for a week, but were relieved Tuesday morning when the announcement of parts was made. Robert Jacques and Harold Cant of Duluth won prominent parts.

The "Pink Sheet" was featured in the lecture before the class in journalism Thursday afternoon, when Frank E. Force, sporting editor of the Tribune, talked on the handling of sporting news.

With a fascinating combination of traditional Scotch humor, keen wit and practical experience, Dr. Clark of Congo, Africa, entertained several of Dr. Jenk's sociology classes Wednesday afternoon in Folwell hall. His talk was made doubly interesting by the presentation of stereopticon views illustrating the natives of the region.

Election of officers for the coming year for the Woman's league and the Self-Government association was held Friday noon in Shevlin hall. Nominations had been made the day before by committees appointed for the purpose.

Wednesday afternoon the Second battalion held a competitive drill to select a company to represent it in the final drill contest. Col. Mears, assistant commandant at St. Thomas' college, was the judge. Col. Mears will also judge the competitive drill of the First battalion. The final competitive drill between the best companies of both battalions will be held Saturday, May 1. Some officer from Fort Snelling will probably be selected as judge. The guild medal examination will be held Friday, May 7, at 4 p. m. This examination is open only to non-commissioned officers. The drill down for the Palace medal will come after regular drill on Saturday, May 15. Only privates may take part in this.

It is probable that William Jennings Bryan will lecture at the university on May 11. Four petitions are placed about the campus asking for a lecture in May. These were quickly signed, the required 200 names being obtained readily. The lecture will be one of the regular Y. M. C. A. daily lecture course.

BRAVE LITTLE PETRO, A MAY DAY STORY AND ITS HERO.

BY WILLIAM WALLACE, JR.

PETRO stood in the alley that separated his own poor home from the pretentious mansion of a very rich family, by name Baker. And the Baker family consisted of the influential banker father, the society-leader mother, a beautiful little daughter (who seemed a real fairy to Petro) and a proud, handsome son (who filled Petro's heart with admiration).

It was on a fine, warm spring morning that Petro stopped his work in a bit of a garden in the rear of his home to creep to the alley where he might peep through a hedge into the beautiful grounds that surrounded the Baker mansion, for there were several workmen busily engaged in erecting a graceful white pole in the middle of the lawn, and Mrs. Baker, the cultured society leader, was there giving instructions regarding the work.

"You see, my men," Petro overheard Mrs. Baker say to the workmen, "tomorrow is the first of May, and this is to be a May pole, for I am giving a May party for my young son and daughter. I want the pole to set very solidly in the ground, for when the little participants in the May-pole dance become excited in the game they may pull rather vigorously on the ribbons, and there must be no chance of the pole falling."

"Yes'm, it will be put deep into the ground, and propped very strong, ma'am," explained one of the workmen. "You'll have no reason to fear for the safety of the May pole after we've got done placing it. It'll be a beautiful day tomorrow, ma'am. I'm thinkin', for a May party."

"Yes, the weather is fine, and I am more than pleased that the first of May comes on Saturday. The party shall take place at 2 o'clock, for there'll be no school to interfere, you see."

"Yes'm, and a pretty sight it will be, too, to see the fine little folks in their elegant clothes, dancin' about the May pole," declared the workman. "I wouldn't mind bein' a child meself and enjoyin' a May Day party. Eh, comrade?" And he addressed a brother workman, who nodded his acquiescence. Then, smilingly replying to the workmen, Mrs. Baker returned to the house, having finished her instructions.

And Petro, the little Italian lad, stood in the alley watching the preparations for a May Day party, and wondering what it all meant, anyway. He knew that a grand event of some kind was to take place on the morrow in the grounds of the Bakers' home, but he did not understand what they meant by a May Day party.

"Anyway," he whispered to himself, "I'll be in our garden at work tomorrow when the party is going on in the yard over there, and I'll slip to the hedge and watch 'em at the game. Wish little Nelta could come out and watch 'em, but she's been sick, and she might take cold sitting on the damp ground under the hedge. So I'll watch everything that goes on and tell her about it afterwards."

Then Petro returned to his garden, and pulled the weeds from a bed of garlic. But all the time that he worked his mind was wandering to the coming party which was to be held on the lawn across the hedge, a place so very close at hand, yet inaccessible as though it was beyond the seas. Never had Petro been on the Bakers' side of the hedge. Indeed, the hedge itself belonged on the grounds of the Bakers, and divided their well-kept grounds from the alley, beyond which ranged a row of poor dwellings occupied by Italian families, families very poor in the world's goods. And this nicely-trimmed hedge divided the rich from the poor as effectually as though it had been a mountain-high wall of granite. Never once had the dark-skinned, brown-eyed little Italians dared to creep through the hedge that they might the better behold the beauty of their neighbor's grounds and house. But the alley belonged to them—was their playground—and from there they might look through the green-leafed hedge into the grand place they admired so much. And there they watched the rich boy and girl at play, the little girl who was in Petro's eyes a fairy, and whose name was Pauline, and the proud boy whom Petro watched with so much interest and whose name was Robert.

The first day of May came beautifully clear and warm, and the preparations for the May Day party on the Bakers' lawn progressed. From his garden Petro watched the men—and women, too—at work. They were draping ribbons from the May pole, ribbons of every dainty color; and from the trees and shrubs were festoons of flowers and leaves, tied by ribbons. And little tables were set on the green sward, far enough removed from the May pole so as not to interfere with the May-pole dance. And little folding chairs were placed about the tables, much to Petro's wonder. What could they want with tables, he questioned. And if his garden suffered neglect that day it was not because Petro was lazy, but deeply interested in watching the preparations for festivity on the other side of the hedge—the rich side.

Precisely at 2 o'clock Pauline and Robert Baker entered the grounds, going to the May pole. They were dressed in white, each wearing a sash of gaily-flowered silk. On Pauline's fair head rested a crown of blossoms. Robert led his sister by the hand, and they walked across the carpet of green like a little prince and princess. Behind them filed in couples the many little guests, boys and girls all dressed in white, and wearing sashes of bright silks. Each little Miss wore a crown of flowers on her hair, for the hostess, Pauline, had wished that each girl might be a Queen of the May, and thus avoid any show of preference. So they came, 12 little Gallants leading 12 little Queens of the May to the May pole. And with them came Mrs. Baker and two very pretty young ladies who were to assist Mrs. Baker in entertaining the many young guests.

As Petro watched the procession of beauty and happiness crossing the lawn his heart beat very fast, and he let drop the hoe he had been working with and said to himself: "Oh, I wish Nelta could see all that! I'll just run and fetch her, for she can see everything through that big hole in the hedge. How she will enjoy it!" And Petro hurried into his own dwelling, soon reappearing in the alley with his little sister, Nelta. The child had been ill, and her little face was pinched and wan. But there was a sparkle of pleasure in her big dark eyes as she looked in the direction of Petro's pointing finger and listened to Petro's whispered explanation. "You see, Nelta, it's a party of rich children. Isn't it grand? Watch them dance! Oh, isn't that gay? And just hear the music! It is coming from behind that clump of rose-bushes. Look! There're three men sitting there playing on—on—why, they are playing fiddles! It's much nicer music than our papa's fiddle makes. Isn't it grand, Nelta?"

"Oh, so grand, Petro," whispered Nelta. "I wish we might go there and play, too.

"You see, Nelta, it's a party of rich children. Isn't it grand?"

Don't you, Petro?"

Then the merriment became so loud that Petro and Nelta stopped talking and gave all their attention to the May-pole dance on the other side of the hedge.

Soon the dance was over and the little ones broke up into groups, laughing and chatting in their gayest spirits. Some sat at the tables and were served with refreshments brought from the mansion by liveried servants. Others played at games, not wishing refreshments so soon after the dance. All were happy and oblivious of the two little ones who watched them from the alley, creeping closer and closer to the hedge that they might see the better.

As the fun grew Mrs. Baker returned to the house, calling to the two young ladies to join her, saying: "We will let them be to themselves for a little while. Our presence may serve as a damper on their fuller enjoyment, so we'll withdraw for half an hour."

Left without the presence of the older persons, the young guests entered into more lively games, singing and laughing till the noise of their gaiety resounded throughout that part of the town. Two rough men stopped to watch them at play, and one entered the yard to get a better look at the May pole. He was smoking the stump of an old cigar, and as he drew near to the assembled party he removed the glowing bit from his lips. "Pardon, little folks," he said, "but I'd like to git a peep at that pole. I'd like to see how it's put up, if you don't mind."

Robert stepped forward, saying: "You intrude, my good man, and I hope you will withdraw. These are private grounds, and this is a private party."

The man gave a loud, coarse laugh, shook the ashes and sparks from his cigar and walked out of the grounds.

He joined his companion, and together they were soon round the corner of the street and lost to sight.

But an instant later a cry went up from Pauline. "I am on fire! I am on fire!" And the guests turned to behold a flame rushing up the thin cloth of her frock, catching in the silk sash about her waist. The sparks from the intruder's cigar had caught in the sheer lace on her frock and the wind had fanned them into sudden flame.

All was consternation at once. The children screamed and fled from Pauline as though she were some dangerous beast. Even Robert stood riveted to the ground, crying out hoarsely: "Mamma! Fire! Pauline! Help!"

But on the other side of the hedge there was one who knew what to do in such emergency. Petro, who had seen the blaze the very moment it started, grasped the heavy old woolen shawl that was about little Nelta and plunged through the hedge where the leaves were thinnest, and bounded across the 50 feet of lawn covering his brown face, "I live over on the other side of the high hedge, and I was looking through at the party when I saw the fire start on her dress. So I just run in and smothered it out with Nelta's old shawl. I didn't mean to come in without being asked, Missus, but I thought you wouldn't mind as the little girl was afire, and no one seemed in the notion to do anything for her. Now I must take the shawl back to Nelta. She's been sick and might take cold, being without it so long."

Mrs. Baker would not allow Petro to go in that way, however, and told him she would see that Nelta was well wrapped and brought to the party, too, for Petro had confessed that he and his sister were watching the festivities through the hedge. And Nelta was brought, blushing and happy, to the party, and given a seat at one of the tables, and Petro was prevailed upon to sit beside her, and dainty refreshment was brought them. And after they had eaten and drank, Mrs. Baker declared that they should be the real King and Queen of the May, and Robert and Pauline removed their crowns to place them on Petro's and Nelta's heads. And then Pauline, not much harmed by the fire, went to the house with her mother to change her frock and to have her scorched wrist bound up in some oiled cotton, after which she rejoined her guests and the play went on as before, with the two additional guests, Petro, the hero of the party, and his beautiful little sister, Nelta.

And when half an hour later the mother of Petro came to the alley to call her children into the house she saw them being honored at the party on the rich side of the hedge, and when Mrs. Baker told her of the heroic act of little Petro tears of joy came into her eyes, and she said proudly: "There may be richer children than mine, but none braver or better." And Mrs. Baker took her worn hands and declared she had a son she might well be proud of. And more was said between those two mothers, and there was a big reward given to Petro for his act of heroism, and besides that, he and Nelta became great friends of Pauline and Robert, and the rich family and the poor family learned how to cross through the hedge which was no longer a barrier between them.

If Fish Could Change Places With Boys.

OH, mercy me! Oh, mercy my!"
Hear the little fishes cry,
As they see the baited hooks
Thrown to them in summer brooks.

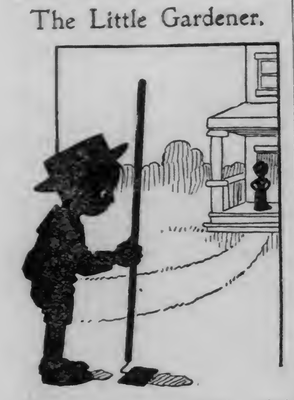

"If the boys could be the fish—
And that's the fish's dearest wish—
We, as boys, would never hook
Them from happy summer brook.

"We'd let them gaily swim along
To the water's rippling song,
And about our business go,
Allowing all that live a show.

"Oh, mercy me! Oh, mercy my!"
Thus the little fishes cry
When they see the baited hook
Thrown to them in summer brook.

ANNIE JAMES.

The Little Gardener.

I'M tired to death!" cried Johnny,
When his ma called him to tea;
"I've hoed and dug and planted
Till I can hardly see.

"I've made a fine big garden
And planted things just so,
And now I'll rest a little
Till the seeds begin to grow.

"And when the crisp white onions
And beets and lettuce, too,
And peas and beans and carrots
Have all come nicely through,

"I'll keep the weeds from growing
Round them, so good to eat,
And when my garden's ready
We'll have a great big treat."

Squinkie, the African Monkey and His Exciting Experience.

BY MAUD WALKER.

A GREAT many, many years ago there lived in one of the river regions of Central Africa a monkey by the name of Squinkie. He was the eldest son of old Mrs. Monk, and helped her to find the finest cocoanuts, the freshest berries, and the youngest of carrots for the family larder. In fact, Squinkie was the mainstay of the family after his father's death, which occurred in a most tragic manner.

But as this story is to be told about Squinkie, and not about his parents, we shall not go into detail about the sad ending of Squinkie's papa. Suffice it to say that Squinkie had been obliged to take his father's place as chief fighter and provider for the family, which consisted of the mother, Squinkie, a sister and a brother.

One day, while in the depths of the forest—a place so dense with interwoven vines and underbrush, and so crowded by great trees whose branches intermingled so thickly that the light of the sun could scarcely penetrate — Squinkie pricked up his ears at a most unusual sound. Now there was not a beast, nor a reptile, nor a bird in all that part of Africa with whom Squinkie was not acquainted. I don't mean that he was on speaking terms with his fellow creatures that belonged to a species differing from his own; but he knew them by sound. He could tell the instant a rhinoceros stepped into the jungle. He knew the soft glide of the snake. He understood the approach of the lion, or the leopard, though he did not see the form of the creature who made the noise of approach. But on this day Squinkie heard a new sound—a strange, rattling of leaves and underbrush, a noise never made by any of the creatures he was accustomed to hearing. So he pricked up his ears and listened intently, a feeling of mingled fear and curiosity taking possession of him.

Then, peering through the jungle, Squinkie saw a sight that made his deep-set eyes open very, very wide. A black creature, walking on two very long, straight legs. And beside him, another creature—a white one—walking on two very long, straight legs. And the limbs that grew out from their shoulders were used for carrying things, the same as he, Squinkie, often used his front legs to carry things. But never had Squinkie stood so upright—just like a tree, with his front legs folded up and carrying strange weapons. Often Squinkie had carried a great stick—picked up from the ground—with which to beat another monkey who might interfere with his affairs in the way of getting what food he desired. But these creatures were the strangest he had ever seen, and did not belong to Squinkie's forest.

Peering through the jungle Squinkie saw a sight that made his eyes open very, very wide.

Squinkie, knowing that self-preservation meant hiding in the tree branches, hurriedly swung himself far above the place where he knew these strange creatures would soon pass, for they were tearing vines and branches away so that they might pass through. Just beyond this dense spot was a more open space, where one could get about without so much trouble. And it seemed that these creatures were making for that spot. But to Squinkie's surprise there popped into sight another and another, and still another black being, and all were walking upright on long, straight legs, and all were carrying in their short front legs (they had arms, but Squinkie thought of them as legs) weapons. And still more and more of the black creatures thrust themselves through the underbrush, following the first black one and the tall white one.

"Here's the place we'll find the monkeys," said the leader of the band of tall beings. But of course, Squinkie did not understand a single word of what was said. And neither would you have understood, for the creature did not speak our language. But in his own tongue—a very peculiar one it was!—he told the tall white creature that they were now in the place to find the monkeys.

"I don't want any of them shot," spoke the white creature in the same peculiar tongue employed by the black leader or guide. "I want them taken without a wound, for as I have told you, they are to be used for show purposes. They will be put in cages and carried all over the world."

Although the black guide did not seem to quite understand what a show or a cage or "all over the world" meant, he did understand that monkeys were the object of the hunt through the forest, and that they—the monkeys—must not be injured in any way.

"We'll get 'em with our traps," explained the guide. So the white man (for of course you have understood that the tall creatures walking on long, straight legs were men) said that was just what he wanted.

Then the group of black men—with one white man in their midst—stood directly underneath the tree in whose branches Squinkie was hiding. And Squinkie, being a warrior bold, looked about for some dead bits of branches that he might break off easily to be thrown on the heads of his enemies should they look up and behold him there.

As he was securing a stick—for one was close at hand—he saw one of the black men look up into the very branches where he was perched. Then such a shout went up from the whole band of black creatures, and they began to climb the trees surrounding Squinkie, going up them with the agility of monkeys themselves. Squinkie understood his danger, but never lost his head. He grasped the loose, dead limb, and tearing it from its place, hurled it into the very center of the group of long-legged beings below. A howl of rage and pain went up from the man who was hit. It was the white one, and the stick—thrown with such vehemence—had struck him across the eyes and had broken the bridge of his nose.

Of course, the blacks had to minister to their injured leader, the mighty White Hunter who had learned their tongue in order to enslave them and to make them work for him. The guide bound up the White Hunter's injured face and they turned about to retrace their steps to the Black Men's village, where the white man would procure herbs and dressing for his wound.

"We'll come here in a few days and get that very fellow that hurled the stick at me," declared the White Hunter, his anger at boiling heat. "And when we get him we'll kill him, that's the way we'll put a stop to his fighting with jagged sticks which break men's noses and almost put out their eyes."

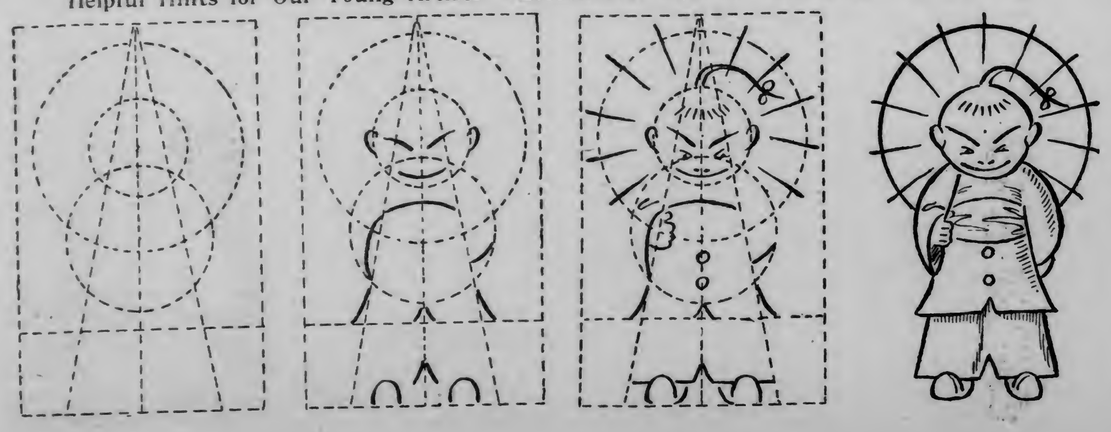

But Squinkie did not hear the White Hunter's threat against him, for he was making all possible speed through the forest, leaping from branch to branch, from tree to tree, with the rapidity of a bird on the wing, and before the White Hunter's face had been wrapped in a bandage torn from his own garments, Squinkie was far, far out of sight of the place where the evil enemies had seen him.

And when, half an hour later, Squinkie entered the confines of his own particular wood—where a great many monkeys dwelt—he went with all possible speed to his mother and told her the story of his experience. Of course, his language was not a very extensive one and he had much difficulty in describing the tall creatures who had walked on the ground, their bodies so straight—just like certain trees, and who had displayed a notion to entrap him. But he made her understand that there was great danger threatening Monkeytown, and she was not long in arousing all the monkeys, telling them that they must flee, and flee at once, to some more secluded place.

And that night, while the White Hunter rolled and tossed on his pallet of pain in the Black Men's village, Squinkie and all his family and friends and neighbors and acquaintances were moving to the southward with all speed, and when the morning dawned they had come into a beautiful place surrounded by a swamp where it would be almost impossible for the foot of man to tread, for the jungle that lay between the swamp and outer world was so dense that even a snake had difficulty in creeping through.

And to this day the natives of the Black Men's village tell of the time, long, long ago when a great White Hunter came among them, and learned their tongue in so short a time, and gave them many trinkets of shining things to adorn themselves; and that all he wanted was their assistance in catching the monkeys that lived in the forest near to the village. But they shake their heads when they come to that part of the story where one monkey hit the great White Hunter across the nose and broke it, and how the injured man died of his wounds within a few days and was buried there at the outskirts of the village, and how no native of that village can ever be tempted to try to take into captivity the monkeys. And that is why in one part of Africa Squinkie and those of his own band, were safe during their lives, and even their descendants are safe from intrusion to this day.

OUR PUZZLE CORNER

LETTER ENIGMA.

My first is in marry, but not in wed;
My second is in blanket, but not in bed;
My third is in girl, but not in lass;
My fourth is in iron, but not in brass;
My fifth is in rich, but not in poor;
My sixth is the same as you have in my four;
My seventh is also my second, you see;
My eighth is in walnut, but not in tree.
My whole suggests mystery—
'Tis the name of a man
Who can play tricks for people;
Solve this, if you can.

ZIGZAG PUZZLE.

The seven words of this zigzag puzzle contain the same number of letters. If the words are rightly guessed and written one below another the zigzag letters, beginning with the upper left-hand letter and ending with the lower left-hand letter, will spell the name of a mighty people. The cross-words are: 1. The upper part of the human face. 2. A food for cows and pigs. 3. That which every human wants on his head. 4. To linger. 5. Something used by fishermen. 6. A small body of land. 7. A song.

These Men Took Lower Salaries In Order To Rise

WILLIAM F. FITCH WHO RESIGNED $6,000 JOB FOR ONE WORTH $2,500 BECAUSE LATTER OPENED A WAY FOR PROMOTION

By E. J. EDWARDS

(Copyright, 1909, by the Associated Literary Press.)

ALL THE time that Charles D. Norton was chosen by Secretary of the Treasury MacVeigh as one of assistant secretaries of that department, the instant comment, made by those who knew what Mr. Norton's recent career has been, was that it was amazing that a young man, earning approximately $50,000 a year, should be willing to forego that income in order to serve in a subordinate capacity in Washington, receiving for that service a salary of $4,500. Mr. Norton's acceptance of this minor post, at a cost to himself of $45,500 a year, so far as salary was concerned, was spoken of as probably without any precedent. And from one point of view it doubtless is unprecedented. For there is no record of any young business man yielding so large a yearly income—in fact, few men of Mr. Norton's age are in receipt of a yearly income of $50,000—in order to accept a government office or any business post paying so small a salary as $4,500.

Mr. Norton's choice, however, is regarded by experienced men as marking him conspicuously as one who is on the high road to a great career, a career of influence and authority. He has not yielded an income which, in the course of a few years, if he were saving, would have given him a considerable fortune, without expecting to gain greatly by that action. The immediate monetary consideration was of less importance to him than the opportunity which the treasury department at Washington affords for immediate and practical acquaintance with the greater fiscal and financial operations of the time.

He realized that in the next ten or fifteen years financing unparalleled in the history of the United States, and probably in that of any civilized nation, is to be undertaken. He had familiarized himself with many of the features of banking, learning the details of every department of a bank so that he might the better grasp the broader operations which the management of the greater financial institutions involves. Therefore, when Mr. Norton is to receive in money only $4,500 a year, as compared with the $50,000 he was earning, he regards the experience and the information he will gain as of more consequence to him and ultimately probably of greater pecuniary value than his earnings as a general agent of an insurance company, large as those were. Remaining an insurance agent, he could never expect to have great influence or personal authority than that comparatively limited influence which is associated with the agency of an insurance company.

Among well-known men of today there are some like experiences which illustrate the wisdom of accepting reduced incomes in order to gain greater experience. And, be it said in this connection, men of large affairs always look with interest upon a young man who is willing to accept a smaller salary than the one he has been receiving if thereby he can gain experience that sooner or later will qualify him for large undertakings.

From Railway Clerk to Railway President.

Some time in the summer of last year there came into the office of one of the foremost of the railway managers of the United States a gentleman who was greeted with cordiality. Instantly, there began conversation that related to experiences both had when they were officers—one of high authority, and the other in a subordinate capacity—of the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad company.

After the visitor departed from the office the railway manager said to the writer, who happened to be at that time in the office: "There is an illustration of the way in which some men succeed in these times of intense personal competition." And then this veteran manager went on to say that some years ago the visitor who had just called upon him was a subordinate officer of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad. He was the claims agent. He had begun life as a clerk in the offices of the Chicago & Northwestern, and had been promoted to a post which was thought by all the clerks to be the most desirable of any within the range of their ambitions. His salary was $6,000, and it was looked upon as a large salary, especially for a young man.

But one day the claims agent called upon the general manager of the railroad and asked him if it would be possible for him to be transferred to some other department. What was the trouble? Was he not satisfied with a position which a score or more of the young men employed by that railroad would have been rejoiced to secure? Did he not know that he was receiving a handsome salary?

These and other questions were put to the young officer, and in reply he said that he had reached the opinion that the more satisfactory to the company he was as a claims agent, the more surely would he be retained in that position as long as he lived. But there seemed to him to be no future in it. He was anxious to be employed in some department where there was opportunity to learn how to operate a great railway system.

The general manager replied that there was a vacancy in one of the divisions, that of assistant superintendent, but the salary for that service was only $2,500. If the claims agent were willing to give up his $6,000 and accept the assistant division superintendency at $2,500 the position was his. The young man did not hesitate. In an instant, he said: "I'll take that position." And when he said that the general manager was convinced that in the young man who stood before him were the possibilities of high achievement in the world of railway management.

This claims agent who gave up $6,000 a year to accept $2,500 was William F. Fitch, and he is now to be reckoned with when the management of the great railway systems of the West are under consideration.

He was assistant division superintendent two years and he learned every detail of that management. Thereupon, he was promoted to the superintendency of the Dakota division and afterwards became general manager of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic, which is one of the chief outlets from Duluth by rail to the East. From general manager Mr. Fitch was promoted to that presidency and was also placed in control of various important but smaller railways, as for instance, the little railroad that connects the Calumet copper mines with the Portage canal, and the other little railroad—the Mineral Range—that plays so important a part, nevertheless, in the movement of iron ore from the mines of Michigan to the great manufactories.

These triumphs came because the young claims agent was willing to yield a salary of $6,000 a year and accept one for $2,500, because he saw opportunity in the position.

Refusing $30,000 a Year For $4,500.

One day in the latter part of October, 1907, some four or five of the foremost men of finance of New York met in the banking office of J. Pierpont Morgan. They were in great anxiety, for they expected to hear any moment that the Knickerbocker Trust company, which carried deposits of nearly $60,000,000, had suspended. The announcement came a little after the noon hour and was followed immediately by the dangerous currency panic.

After the panic was conquered there arose the question, "What shall be done with the Knickerbocker Trust company?" It had assets which, in normal times, would have been good for $60,000,000, approximately. It had a valuable good will as a trustee of large estates, and then there was the question of so nursing the resources, if possible, so as to pay the depositors every penny which stood to their credit upon the books.

But it seemed a desperate undertaking to attempt to quicken this institution. In no other way could it be done than by persuading the depositors to accept certificates of deposit, payable months later, for about 70 per cent of their total deposits. This involved personal contact with every depositor, so that each one might be persuaded to accept a proposition of that kind. Thus to persuade several thousand depositors, some of whom were very suspicious, and nearly all difficult to deal with, was a work involving skillful and tactful management.

It was undertaken by Herbert L. Satterlee, a young lawyer of New York City, not before prominent, although known as a capable lawyer. Mr. Satterlee spent the best part of four months in this undertaking. At times it seemed almost impossible to gain success. But at last he secured the consent of depositors whose aggregate claims were about $35,000,000, the institution was saved, and its doors were opened with such success that it prepaid these claims in less than a year after the reorganization was effected.

That achievement brought Mr. Satterlee to the notice of some of the leading men of finance of New York city. They recommended his election as president of the reorganized Knickerbocker Trust company. The salary, presumably, would have been $25,000 or $30,000 a year. But at the time that this proposition was made it became known to Mr. Satterlee, that, if he were willing to accept the place, he could be named as assistant secretary of the navy.

He did not hesitate. He turned his back upon the opportunity to become the president of a great trust company to accept a relatively subordinate post, carrying a small salary, under the government. Mr. Satterlee saw in opportunity not so much for political advancement as for the mastery of the problems associated with the construction of the American navy which our statesmen hope will some day match in power and magnitude that of Great Britain. To be a master among those who are building our navy seemed to Mr. Satterlee a greater opportunity than to be associated with men of finance.

The Glittering Offer Elihu Root Refused.

Some ten years ago Elihu Root could contemplate such a practice as a lawyer as would bring to him in ten years' time an ample fortune. His income as a lawyer had been large for many years and he had at last reached that professional position which would enable him to command as large retainers and fees as were ever paid to any lawyer.

At that time his friend, the late William C. Whitney, went to him with the offer of what was probably the largest retainer offer offered to a lawyer in New York city. Mr. Whitney was anxious that Mr. Root should serve as general counsel for the great street railway system of Manhattan and the Bronx, in the building up of which Mr. Whitney had been much occupied from the time of his retirement from the navy department as its secretary.

He offered to Mr. Root a yearly retainer of $100,000 for no other service than that which involved his being at hand whenever the street railway interests should call upon him for opinion or professional assistance. But in addition to this retainer, Mr. Root was to receive such fees as he saw fit to charge for any opinion or any service in court which he might give. It was an offer involving a yearly income that was sure to be as much as $150,000, and might be as large as $200,000.

The offer had been under consideration only a few days when President McKinley urged Mr. Root to go to Washington that a communication might then be made to him. That communication was an urgent invitation to Mr. Root to enter McKinley's cabinet as his secretary of war. The salary was only $8,000. To become a cabinet officer would involve not only the declination of Mr. Whitney's offer of a great retainer, but the yielding of a law practice which presumably was as great as $100,000 a year.

Mr. Root saw that opportunity for great public service, and particularly for becoming familiar with the army organization, so that it might be possible to perfect a reorganization that would prove to be of great value to the United States. He did not hesitate. He yielded the large pecuniary returns that would have been his to accept a small salary, a cabinet office and the certainty of exhausting work.

That judgment has been vindicated, for because Mr. Root acted upon it, he has served as secretary of war and secretary of state, being deemed one of the great state secretaries, and is now a senator from New York state in congress, and might have been governor of New York had he been willing to accept a nomination.

Mr. Wickersham's Example.

That the present secretary of state, Philander C. Knox, should have been willing to retire from professional practice to enter the cabinet of President McKinley, was not regarded by his friends in any other light than as indicating that Mr. Knox was ready to retire from active professional life. He had accumulated a sufficient fortune and, as the age is estimated among lawyers, was still a young man so that he could cultivate the reasonable enjoyments of leisure, his books, his horses, his country life. To serve as attorney general was to do no more than round out a brilliant career. Therefore, there was nothing extraordinary in his giving up a professional practice and yielding a large income to accept a cabinet office carrying a salary of only $8,000 a year.

But the case of George W. Wickersham differs somewhat from that of Mr. Knox. Mr. Wickersham, when summoned by President Taft to his cabinet as attorney general, was at the height of a professional practice which, if continued ten years or more, would have made him the possessor of a comfortable and probably large fortune. He yielded this professional income, one of the largest earned by any lawyer in New York city, in order to accept a cabinet post whose yearly salary is less than some of the single fees Mr. Wickersham has received for giving opinions or professional advice.

But when the call came to him from President Taft he looked upon it first as involving an opportunity for high public service, and secondly for mastering, from the point of view of the government, the intricate and important problems which the growth of the great combinations of capital, engaged in interstate commerce has created. That is a study which would appeal to a great lawyer, and undoubtedly would be of service to him after he had retired from a government post.

James M. Beck, who was at one time United States district attorney for the Eastern district of Pennsylvania, yielded that remunerative position, relatively, to accept office as an assistant attorney general, the salary for which is very small. But Mr. Beck realized that the government was about to enter upon certain prosecutions of transcendent importance, and that the experience that he would gain in these prosecutions would be of great value to him when he should return to private practice of the law.

He served for several years as assistant attorney general, receiving a salary insufficient for him to live upon. But he mastered the complicated problems entering into these prosecutions, so that when he returned to private practice in New York city he speedily was in the receipt of an income and had gained a professional influence which rarely come to a man of his age.

So doubtless Mr. Wickersham, in addition to the sense of public duty, realizes that there is opportunity for him which justifies the yielding for a time of one of the great professional incomes, accepting in its place a yearly salary of $12,000.

Daniel S. Lamont's Opportunity and Fortune.

When Daniel S. Lamont, familiarly known as "Dan" Lamont, President Cleveland's private secretary, died some few years ago, he was discovered to have accumulated an estate a little in excess of $5,000,000. Twenty years earlier Lamont was a newspaper writer, receiving a salary of $3,000. His great fortune came to him because he was willing upon one occasion to yield a large salary and to accept service under President Cleveland, for which he received a salary not one-half that which was paid to him as an officer of the street railway corporation of New York city.

At the end of President Cleveland's first term Lamont went to New York city under the patronage of William C. Whitney. At that time Mr. Whitney was planning the consolidation which resulted in the creation of the Metropolitan Traction company, in control of all the surface railroads of Manhattan and the Bronx. Here seemed to be the opportunity for Lamont. He was placed in a position of authority and received a salary, the precise amount of which was never known to any except himself and to the railway company, but it was understood to be in the neighborhood of $20,000 a year.

Four years later Mr. Cleveland was re-elected president, and a day or two after that election he sent for Lamont. At that time Mr. Cleveland was living in New York city, his house being within ten minutes' walk of Mr. Lamont's offices. After the first greetings Mr. Cleveland said to Lamont: "Dan, I want you to go back to Washington with me."

Lamont hesitated. He said that to return to Washington would compel his giving up what was probably to be a life position and an opportunity to gain a comfortable fortune. But Mr. Cleveland insisted, and at last Lamont said to him: "If I go back to Washington with you, in what capacity is it to be?" And the president-elect replied: "Why, as private secretary, of course."

Lamont asked for a day or two to consider the proposition, being especially impressed by the urgency with which Mr. Cleveland made the appeal. When he again met the president-elect he said he would go back to Washington on one condition, and that was that he was to be appointed a member of Mr. Cleveland's cabinet, either postmaster general or secretary of war.

That proposition at first staggered Mr. Cleveland a little, and yet he realized that if he were to have Lamont in the cabinet, he would still have the young man where he could be of great service to him, for he relied much upon the advice of Lamont, especially when given in explanation of various politicians, their ambitions and their abilities.

To serve as secretary of war, which was the cabinet post Mr. Cleveland determined to nominate Lamont for, involved a yielding of more than one-half of the salary which he received as executive officer of the street railway companies of New York city. Moreover, to serve as secretary of war would take four years out of an active business career, and that seemed a serious curtailment of time for a young man who had his career to make and his fortune to gain. But Lamont perceived that there were opportunities for association with men of large affairs, for gaining their confidence, and particularly for bringing order out of the chaos in which some of the great land grants made by the government to the Pacific railroad were involved.

In that judgment Lamont was correct. He served the government admirably as secretary of war, but he also mastered certain great problems respecting the relation of the Pacific railroads to the government and became familiar with the purposes and ambitions of James J. Hill of the Great Northern system and others who were at that time directing the Pacific railroads. His executive ability so greatly impressed Mr. Hill that he was offered the vice presidency of a Pacific railroad, and that, too, at a time when the securities of this railroad were at almost their lowest quotations. Lamont was able to secure large blocks of these securities, realizing enormously through the appreciation of them, so that within six years he had passed from the position of a salaried man to that of a considerable capitalist. He saw opportunity and a career in the yielding of a large income to accept for a time a small one.

What Cecilia Loftus Did.

At one time Cecilia Loftus received as large a salary as was ever paid to so young an actress. She had gained a peculiar and unique reputation, having extraordinary gifts of mimicry. When she came to the United States under contract to appear upon the vaudeville stage, her popularity was so great that those who engaged her at a salary in excess of $1,000 a week, still made great profits through her appearance.

But the young woman had ambitions for greater triumphs and a finer fame than any that were possible for a vaudeville performer. She was convinced that if she had opportunity to appear in the higher dramas, she might gain permanent fame as an actress. At last her opportunity came.

E. H. Sothern was to produce a new play written by Huntley McCarthy, son of the distinguished English historian and member of parliament. It seemed to Mr. Sothern that the part of the leading woman in this drama was especially appropriate for Cecilia Loftus, and he offered her that part, saying frankly that he could not afford to pay $1,000 a week, or anything like it. However, he was willing to pay $300 a week.

Miss Loftus did not hesitate. She yielded the thousand dollars a week and accepted the $300, deeming this her opportunity for gaining high triumph as an actress in the greater dramas. Her judgment was correct, although by reason of ill health, Miss Loftus' ambition has not yet been fully realized. But those who are good judges, Mr. Sothern among them, are convinced that if she regains her health, she is sure to be numbered among the great actresses of her generation.

Ellis H. Roberts' Choice.

Ellis H. Roberts, who for several terms represented the Utica, N. Y., district in congress and was for many years the edditor of a leading paper in New York state, was nominated by President Harrison in 1889 as assistant treasurer of the United States at New York, whose responsibility is chiefly

MINING IN THE BLACK HILLS

Deadwood, S. D., April 24.—J. B. Baker, owner of the Standby mine at Rochford, says the Standby mine made a good run in its twenty-stamp mill last summer, but was unable to continue through the cold weather. Mr. Baker is now working out plans and making test runs in the mill preparatory to a steady operation of the property.

New diamond drills have been installed on the property of the Elliptic Mining company, where a recent strike of rich ore was made at a depth of 1,200 feet. This was made with a diamond drill sunk from the bottom of the 500-foot shaft. The new drills are now at work at a point 1,200 feet south of the shaft and are capable of sinking to 2,000 feet. The Elliptic contains a large porphyry overflow that necessitates greater depth in sinking than would be necessary in any of the adjoining properties.

Unwatering of the shaft at the Golden Crest mine has commenced. The water is now below the 125-foot mark and will be taken entirely out of the shaft, which is 200 feet deep. Some years ago a body of soft ore was encountered in a drift on the 200-foot level, but owing to the presence of so much water was not opened up, but was sealed. When the water is sufficiently lowered the bulkhead will be removed and the ore tested. It is also proposed to sink the shaft deeper into the schists and look for more values.

Work has again commenced on the property of the Anaconda Mining company of Elk Creek south of here, after an idleness of several years. Supt. Nels Nelson returned from the East, having completed financial arrangements, and started quite a force of men to work at unwatering the shaft. The shaft is 200 feet deep, and it is the intention of the company to sink to the 500-foot level and then open up the property from that depth. There is a good hoist and machinery on the ground. The Anaconda is a good prospect from the surface and is well located for good veins.

and sinking in trap rock is now in progress. The shafts have attained a depth of 150 feet and are driving to intersect the Kearsarge lode at a depth of between 1,200 and 1,300 feet, which it is expected will be accomplished within a year's time. The new stamp mill is being rushed to completion, and with the steel frame work of the main structure already in place and being enclosed, the building will soon be in shape to receive the mill fittings and machinery. The new mill will quite likely be ready for service by late fall.

Osceola.

What is probably the richest spot of copper ground yet opened in the Kearsarge lode is being developed in the No. 4 North Kearsarge shaft of the Osceola company. The shaft has now reached the fourteenth level, where a new station is being cut and timbered preparatory to crosscutting to the lode at that depth. The permanent machinery for this shaft has been received and is being installed, but it will be six months or more before this end of the mine will become the important factor in the company's production that it already promises to be.

Old Colony.

Old Colony continues exploratory operations without revealing anything of value, and it is quite likely that work on this property will cease at an early date. The company has opened considerable territory on the 1,000-foot level, and though occasional bunches of copper ground were encountered, operations on the whole have been very disappointing.

both directions on the 1,900 and 2,000-foot levels and some good ore bodies are being opened.

East Butte.

The information in Butte relative to the deal involving the East Butte and the Pittsburg & Montana Mining company, is that the latter will be taken over by the East Butte, the deal having been closed except for a few details. The announcement of the consolidation may not be made for some time yet. The deal ought to be of great value to both companies, as it will be the means of lifting the crushing burden of debt that has been hanging over the Pittsburg & Montana for years, and will give the East Butte a big and developed mine, about 1,100 acres of mineral land, and a modern smelting plant.

Butte Coalition.

About fifty to seventy-five tons of high grade ore has been added to the daily output from the Butte Coalition mines since the Anaconda company has begun to do some mining in the Corra, one of the Butte Coalition properties. The Corra is connected with the Diamond mine, and through arrangements with the Anaconda company the Corra will be mined by that company through the Diamond. The ore that is shipped from the Corra assays 8 per cent copper.

Davis-Daly.

The Davis-Daly developments continue to be a mystery, so far as the Butte public is concerned. If the developments in the Colorado mine are as important as the news from the New York office indicate, that fact cannot be verified in Butte. All the news comes from New York. Another interesting item from New York or Boston, and one that was startling to Butte, was to the effect that some Cole-Ryan experts had examined the Colorado mine, the inference left being that Cole and Ryan were interested in Davis-Daly, or contemplated becoming interested in the company.

It was the intention to work a full crew during the season, but business conditions showing no signs of immediate improvement, it was decided to suspend operations. The ore body at the Calumet is growing larger and the iron content is improving with depth. It is desirable ore many respects, but Pickands, Mather & Co., are interested in several other mines producing the same grade and this year they have no occasion for the Calumet product. While the physical condition of the mine is better now than it ever has been, the career of the property has been a checkered one. The first mining was done in 1882, yet altogether only 125,000 tons of ore have been shipped. A twin property, the Hecla, long ago fell by the wayside and never became a shipper.

Pickands, Mather & Co., are exploring with encouraging results near Flewelling Spur, on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad, four miles north of their Hemlock mine at Amasa, on the Western Menominee. A considerable body of marketable ore has been proved up, but it is not the intention to ship a sample cargo this season, as has been stated. A shafthouse will first have to be erected and the property provided with a plant of machinery adapted to mining ore. A force of twenty-five men is employed. The fact that merchantable ore is being found in this territory to the north of Amasa, which is itself isolated from the Crystal Falls group of mines, some miles to the south, is further evidence of the fact that the limits of the various fields of the Lake Superior region have not yet been defined and that exploration in new and promising localities is oftentimes profitable. It was not so many years ago that the Marquette district was the only one. It was ample for the consumers' needs. As the uses of iron extended the Menominee district was added, then the Gogebic, then the Vermilion, then the Mesaba, then the Cuyuna and other districts now developing and that will be ready when the world needs the ore.

The Marquette Range.

On the Marquette range, iron mining began in the '40s. For half a century since that time production has been under way incessantly and an aggregate of nearly 90,000,000 tons of ore has been shipped, yet the known reserves of merchantable material in the developed portion of the range alone contain a greater tonnage than has yet been produced, not to mention the huge deposits of "30 per cent" ores not wanted now, and new finds are still being made. To the west of Ishpeming George J. Maas, the Cleveland-Cliffs company and M. A. Hanna & Co., are boring deep holes into the rocks. Some of these holes go down to vertical depths of 2,500 feet, and there is rich ore in many of them. The district will not be thoroughly explored for many years yet, but enough is now known to assure the development of many mines when their product will be needed. These big deposits to the west of Ishpeming will be succeeded by other rich bodies; and as it is on the Marquette, so it is on the Menominee, the Gogebic and other ranges. Along with the low grade ores that will not be drawn upon for decades to come, the Lake Superior reserves appear to be well-nigh inexhaustible.

over the sub-treasury. One peculiarity—probably without parallel in the government service or in business life—which distinguishes the sub-treasury at New York, is that, although the assistant treasurer in charge of the sub-treasury is subordinate to the treasurer of the United States, yet he receives a higher salary. When Mr. Roberts was appointed assistant treasurer at New York the office carried a salary of $8,000, although the treasurer of the United States received only $6,000 salary.

This difference is probably explained by the fact that the assistant treasurer of the United States at New York is required to give what, with a single exception, is the largest bond exacted from any officer under the Federal government. The bond is for $400,000. The assistant treasurer is personally responsible for the safety of the many millions of funds of which he is custodian.

After President McKinley was inaugurated in 1897 Mr. Roberts, who, during the second term of President Cleveland, had served as a bank president in New York, having yielded the office of assistant treasurer to one who was of President Cleveland's party, was recommended by the party leaders either for the office of treasurer of the United States at Washington, or for the office formerly held by him, assistant treasurer of the United States at New York.

Mr. Roberts for a time was in a quandary. Were he to be named treasurer of the United States he would have the higher honor, the greater influence and authority, although he would receive $2,000 a year less than the salary paid the assistant treasurer at New York.

The office of assistant treasurer at New York is a purely perfunctory and clerical one. He is, in one sense, a sort of dignified cashier, receiving and paying out large sums of funds received at his office. It is an easy life, whereas to be treasurer at Washington involves the exercise of judgment without much responsibility. But there is opportunity for association with the leading public men, and for gaining accurate knowledge of fiscal and financial operations, and of the relation of the national banks to the treasury department.

For these reasons Mr. Roberts accepted the higher office at the smaller salary, serving as treasurer of the United States for nearly six years. Today, as president of a Chicago bank, he is one of the best known financiers of the great Middle West.

BEMIDJI

Bemidji, Minn. April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—R. A. Perrault of this city was seriously injured recently in one of the local sawmills and was taken to the hospital, where it was found necessary to amputate one leg, Monday afternoon. Perrault was oiling the machinery, when his clothes became caught in one of the wheels and he was whirled around several times before the machinery could be stopped. He is in a serious condition, but it is thought that he will recover.

Floyd Minton, who has been confined to his bed with Bright's disease during the last few weeks, died Saturday afternoon at the home of his parents, at 823 Irvin avenue. Mr. Minton had been suffering with the disease for five weeks and his demise was not unexpected. He was 32 years old at the time of his death and was unmarried. Mr. Minton is survived by a father, mother and one sister, at home. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made, as the relatives are waiting for word from a brother of the deceased, who is in Michigan.

Walter J. Markham, of the Markham-Bailey Real Estate company of this city, has returned from Queensburg, N. C., where he visited with friends for five weeks. He reports that Mrs. Markham is at present in Minneapolis on her return from an extended visit with relatives at Barron, Wis.

Mrs. M. E. Knappen of Tenstrike passed through the city Saturday evening on her way home from an extended trip through Wisconsin and Iowa and the southern part of this state, where she visited with friends and relatives.

Judge H. A. Clark maried George Knapp of Hubbard county and Miss Sadie Ferris, who lives in the town of Jones, Wednesday. Mr. Knapp owns a farm south of Bemidji, near Maltby, where he and his wife will make their home.

Frank Weatherby, a veteran commercial traveler, who represents a Fargo concern, has been out at Punish lake, north of Cass Lake where he has a pretty summer home. Mr. Weatherby states that he has been engaged in raising ginseng, which, if it pans out all right, is a very remunerative industry. Mr. Weatherby has about half an acre planted to ginseng and the crop is coming along nicely. He left for Fargo Monday afternoon, his territory being the Red River valley on both the Minnesota and the Dakota lines.

W. C. Gilbert of the Gilbert Land company, of Grand Rapids, and D. N. Winton of Minneapolis, prominent lumbermen of this state departed Wednesday night for their homes after spending the day in Bemidji on business connected with the Bemidji and the Thief River Falls Lumber companies, while enjoying a short reunion. Mr. Gilbert was accompanied by his son, Wayne, who spent the day here as the guest of Donald Shannon, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Shannon.

MARRIED WOMEN

Every woman covets a shapely figure, and many of them deplore the loss of their girlish forms after marriage. The bearing of children is often destructive to the mother's shapeliness. All of this can be avoided by the use of Mother's Friend before baby comes, as this liniment prepares the body for the strain upon it, and preserves the symmetry of her form. Mother's Friend makes the danger of child-birth less, and carries her safely through this critical period. Thousands gratefully tell of the benefit and relief derived from the use of this remedy. Sold by druggists at $1.00 per bottle. Book mailed free to all expectant mothers.

VERIFY IT.

The Proof Is In Duluth Almost at Your Door.

The public statement of a Duluth citizen is in itself strong proof for Duluth people, but confirmation strengthens the evidence.

Here is a Duluth citizen who testified years ago that Doan's Kidney Pills relieved sick kidneys and now states the cure was permanent. Can any sufferer from kidney ills ask better proof? You can investigate. The case is right at home.

J. H. Tomlin, 112 W. Palmetto St., Duluth, Minn., says: "Backache clung to me persistently for two years and finally became so bad that I had to lay off from work. If I brought the least strain on the muscles of my back, sharp pains would seize me. The kidney secretions were also irregular in passage and I did not rest well. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me in 1898 and at that time I publicly endorsed them. I am only too pleased to again speak in their favor, as I have never suffered from kidney trouble since."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Dr. Ashbell Parmelee, —First Vice President of the N.Y. Medical Legal Society and late Dean of the Medical Dept. "U" of Vermont, says:

"I am convinced that the legitimate and conservative use of lager beer is not only beneficial to the physical well being of most people, but is, from a temperance point of view, worthy of recognition and adoption."

The nourishment contained in choice barley malt and the tonic properties of selected hops combined make both food and medicine. There is, however, a difference in brews, but the best costs no more than the others.

Fitger's Beer

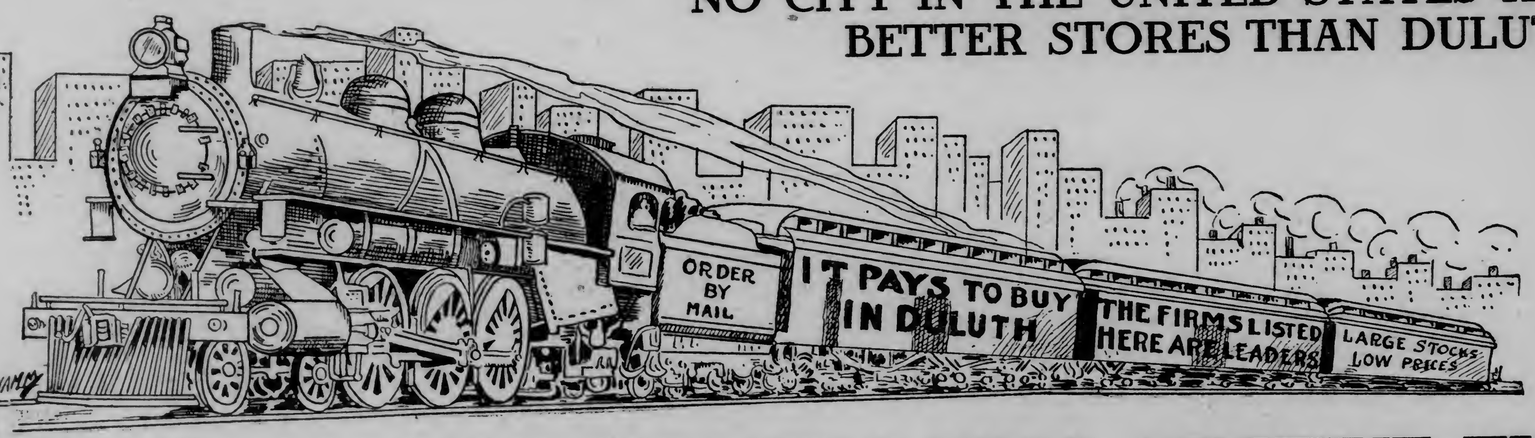

has been brewed in Duluth for 25 years. Every appliance and every method that could in any way improve the healthfulness and insure greater purity has been installed, regardless of cost. Fitger's is the ideal home beer, delicious, refreshing, nourishing--try a small case and you will be convinced.

KIDNAPERS ARE AGAIN INDICTED

Willie Whitla Sorry He Cannot See "Jonesy" Boyle.

Mercer, Pa., April 24.—Indictments were returned here by the grand jury against James H. Boyle and his wife in connection with the abduction of Willie Whitla of Sharon, Pa.

A true bill was found against Boyle charging kidnaping. The maximum sentence is life imprisonment. In the case of the woman, the same bill was also returned with an extra count charging her with aiding, assisting and abetting in the kidnaping. The grand jury also reported that Sheriff Chess had been instructed by it to place Boyle in a burglar-proof cell because of a recent attempt to liberate him by parties on the outside.

The witnesses were J. P. Whitla and his son, Willie, Janitor Schloss of the East school, Sharon; Roy Thompson of South Sharon, who rented the rig to the abductor; the barber, who shaved him at Warren, Ohio, and Detective Woods of Cleveland, Ohio, who effected the arrest of Boyle and the woman.

"'I want to see Jonesy,'" was Willie's first remark upon his arrival here today. When he was told that "Jonesy," as he knew his abductor, was in jail, he wanted to go to the jail and see him, but his request was denied.

BUSINESS IS OF GOOD VOLUME

Dun Says Iron-Steel Conditions Show Broader Demand.

New York, April 24.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says:

The prospect of a comparatively early senate vote on the tariff bill and the improving weather and crop conditions, coupled with the knowledge that abundant money and big gold output are favorable to expansion, inspire courage. The fact that lower prices are stimulating a more extensive demand for iron and steel products also aids in this development.

Iron and steel conditions show a broader demand in some divisions, notably in pig iron. Current business is of good volume, but competition is keen, and further price reductions are reported on certain grades.

BREWERY AGENT UNDER ARREST IN HOUGHTON.

Houghton, Mich., April 24.—William French, former manager for the Schlitz Brewing company at Ashland, was arrested in Hancock yesterday charged with embezzling funds of the Milwaukee concern to the amount of $100. Tulsa, Okla., April 24.—Cole Younger, the bandit and formerly a member of the Jesse James gang of bank and train robbers, made his debut yesterday on the Chautauqua platform. He described his lecture, which was read from manuscript, as setting forth "The Lessons That Might Be Drawn From His Past Life."

Younger says that in delivering lectures he does not violate conditions of his parole, issued by the board of pardons in Minnesota, where he was serving a life sentence for his part in the famous Northfield bank robbery.

PETER F. COLLIER, THE MAGAZINE OWNER, DIES.

New York, April 24.—Peter F. Collier, founder and publisher of Collier's Weekly, died suddenly last night of apoplexy at the Riding club. His illness came suddenly and when he was in the clubhouse with friends.

Peter F. Collier was known principally as the founder, chief owner and editor of Collier's Weekly. In this he was assisted by his only son, Robert J. Collier, who, with the widow, survive him.

Born in Ireland in 1849, he arrived in this country when a young man and settled in Cincinnati, where he was educated. He came to New York more than thirty years ago, where he started the publishing house and amassed a large fortune in the subscription book business and by publishing periodicals.

Mr. Collier was an enthusiast in outdoor sports, being an expert polo player, and almost daily was in the saddle. He had many fine saddle horses and was a member of many hunting and riding clubs.

FLORIDANS TO DECIDE AS TO PROHIBITION.

Tallahassee, Fla., April 24.—Florida took yesterday a long and unexpected step toward state-wide prohibition. The house of representatives by an overwhelming vote adopted the McMullen joint resolution providing that in 1910 a constitutional amendment shall be submitted permitting the voters to decide whether they wish to have prohibited in Florida the manufacture, sale, exchange and barter of all intoxicating liquors.

Thursday the vote in the senate on the McMullen resolution stood 24 for and 7 against and yesterday afternoon the house vote was 53 for and 16 against.

The anti-Prohibitionists fought hard for five hours on the floor of the house today and finally Speaker Ferris of Jacksonville, left the chair to speak against the McMullen measure. He pleaded for local option. He remained at his post to lead the minority despite word from home that his small daughter lay dangerously ill.

WHEAT HAS A WEAK DAY

Closing Prices Are Two Points Lower Than Previous Day.

Flax Very Dull and Ends Session at Easter Level.

Duluth Board of Trade, April 24.—The short session in the American markets today witnessed another bear raid in wheat, closing prices being more than 2 points under yesterday's.

The opening was very soft, and not once during the day were prices as high as yesterday's. It was a selling market all the way through, and the close was near the bottom of the day's scale.

Cables were weak and seeding prospects in the Northwest are better than they were.

Liverpool closed 2⅝d to 3⅛d lower, Berlin ⅜c lower, Budapest ⅛c lower and Antwerp unchanged.

The May option closed 2½c lower in Duluth, 2¼c lower in Chicago, 2⅛c lower in Minneapolis, 2⅝c lower in New York, 3¾c lower in St. Louis, 3c lower in Kansas City and 2⅜c lower in Winnipeg. The July option closed 2¼c lower in Duluth and New York, 2⅝c lower in Chicago, 2⅛@2¼c lower in Minneapolis, 2⅞c lower in St. Louis and 2⅞c lower in Kansas City and Winnipeg.

May corn closed ⅝c lower in Chicago and oats ⅜c lower.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool:

"Wheat—The late strength in American markets was offset by the fact of liberal offerings here, and with poor support and values at the start, were ½d lower. Later, heavy realizing developed which carried prices from 2½ to 2¾d lower than the opening. Pressure was the result of the continued favorable European crop reports, liberal world's shipments this week, demoralized spot, heavier shipments from America than were expected and private reports of heavy shipments from Russia. Another factor of the decline was the fact of heavy Argentine and India first hand offers, at a shilling lower than yesterday. At the close the market was very weak and 2⅝ to 3⅛d lower than yesterday.

"Corn—May was unquoted. July was quiet at the start and ⅛d lower, and later broke 1⅜d under heavy realizing, due to the heavy La Plata offerings."

Car receipts of wheat at Duluth were 21 against 7 last year, and at Minneapolis 145, against 106 last year, making a total for the Northwest of 176 against 113 last year. Chicago received 9, against 9 last year. Winnipeg received 149, against 45 last year.

Primary receipts of wheat were 291,000 bu, last year 278,000 bu. Shipments, 249,000 bu, last year, 395,000 bu. Clearances of wheat and flour were 235,000 bu.

Primary receipts of corn were 210,000 bu, last year 560,000 bu. Shipments, 398,000 bu, last year, 298,000 bu. Clearances of corn were 17,000 bu.

Trading was quite active in the Duluth market. May wheat opened 1⅜c lower at $1.17¾, declined to $1.17⅛, rallied to $1.17½@1.17⅝, went off to $1.16¾, and closed at $1.17, a loss of 2½c from yesterday. July wheat opened 1¾c lower at $1.18, declined to $1.17½, rallied to $1.18, dropped to $1.17¼ and closed at $1.17½, a loss of 2¼c from yesterday.

Durum wheat closed 2c lower and cash spring wheat was selling on a basis of 2½c over May for No. 1 northern.

Flax was dull and the tone weak. May flax opened unchanged at $1.63½ nominal, declined to $1.63 and closed there, a loss of ½c from yesterday. July flax sold at $1.63 and closed there, a loss of ½c. September flax opened at $1.24½ and closed there, a loss of ½c from yesterday. October flax opened ¼c lower at $1.37½, declined to $1.37 and closed there, a loss of ¾c from yesterday.

Oats closed ⅜c lower and other coarse grains unchanged.

Following were the closing prices:

Wheat—No. 1 hard on track, $1.21. To arrive: No. 1 northern, $1.19½; No. 2 northern, $1.17½. On track: No. 1 northern, $1.19½; No. 2 northern, $1.17½; May, $1.17; July, $1.17½; September, $1.03¾. Durum on track: No. 1, $1.11½; No. 2, $1.10; May durum, $1.10; July durum, $1.10; September durum, 95c. Flax to arrive, $1.64; flax on track, $1.64; May, $1.63; July, $1.63; September, $1.42½; October, $1.37. Oats to arrive, 52⅝c; oats on track, 52⅝c; rye, 80@83c; barley, 60½@64½c.

Cash Sales Saturday.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Prices Break to a Still Lower Level.

Chicago, April 24.—Wheat prices broke to a still lower level at the opening of the market today on renewed liquidation. On initial transactions prices showed losses of 1¾@3¼c compared with the closing quotations of the preceding session, July opening at $1.07@1.08½, and May at $1.19½@1.20½. The September delivery droped below the dollar mark, following the example of the December option set on the previous day, and sold at 99⅞c@$1.00½ at the start.

The demoralized condition of trade at the outset was due to sensational declines at Liverpool, where prices were off from 2½@3⅛d as a result of greatly increased shipments of wheat from all exporting countries. Favorable crop reports from this country and Europe also exerted a depressing effect. After the first burst of selling had subsided, trade for a time was dull, no trades being made in the May delivery for about fifteen minutes following the opening. During the early part of the day prices held within the opening range.

Later in the day the May delivery sold off to $1.18. Although slight rallies occured at various times throughout the day the tone in general was heavy. At the close prices were 1⅝@2⅝c below the final quotations of the previous day, May being at $1.19⅞; July, $1.07⅝, and September, $1.00½.

The corn market displayed the same demoralized condition as wheat at the start, opening quotations being down ⅜@⅝c to 1⅛c, compared with yesterday's close. May opened at 68@68¼c and July at 66½@67c. Liquidation was general early in the session. Shorts covered freely on the break and a steadier tone developed. May advancing to 68½c. The market was weak the entire day. At the close May was off ⅜c at 68¼c.

Oats were weak owing to the break in other grain. The May delivery was under considerable selling pressure at the start but rallied a trifle on buying by shorts. The opening on May was off ½@⅞c at 54⅝@55c, and sold at 55¼c.

Provisions were only slightly affected by the slump in grain, but trade was very light early in the day. Prices at the start were unchanged to 5@7½c lower compared with yesterday's closing quotations.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Extremely Nervous Undertone Prevails Throughout the Session.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 24.—The weak foreign markets made the opening 1⅝c lower than yesterday's close. During the first few minutes a further decline of ¾c was caused by general selling. Local stocks of wheat decreased 563,951 for the week, against 560,790 bushels decrease of last week. There was an extremely nervous undertone throughout the session. May closed ½c lower than the opening. Minneapolis today received 145 cars against 105; Duluth 9 against 9; Winnipeg 149 against 45. May opened $1.19@1.18½; high, $1.19; low, $1.17⅞; close, $1.18½. July opened $1.19@1.18¾; high, $1.19; low, $1.18; close, $1.18½. Cash wheat was inclined to be a little easier today. Local millers were the only buyers and they did not seek the light offerings with any eagerness. No. 1 northern sold for ¾@1c over. No. 1 northern $1.21@1.21¼; to arrive, $1.21@1.21¼; No. 2 northern, $1.19@1.19¼; to arrive, $1.19@1.19¼; No. 3 wheat, $1.16@1.17¼; No. 3 yellow corn, 66¾@67¼c; No. 3 white oats, 52@52½c; No. 2 rye, 86½@88½c.

Flax—Receipts, 4 cars today, against 19; shipments, 2. Demand was strong at the Duluth May option. Offerings were light, and as a result the market was inactive. Close, $1.62¾.

Barley—Receipts, 18 cars today against 11; shipments, 28. Today's market was the usual condition for Saturday. Prices were generally ½c off and demand was only fair. Malting grades received the best inquiry. Close, 62@64c.

Millstuffs—Shipments, 1,509 tons. Demand continued strong and in excess of the supply. The market was very active. Shipments showed a light decrease and prices held firm. Bran in bulk, $23.00@23.50.

Flour prices were lower on account of the weakness in the wheat market. Eastern demand was light and foreign inquiry was lacking. Shipments showed an increase. Shipments, 51,150 barrels. First patents, $5.70@5.90; second patents, $5.60@5.80; first clears, $4.75@4.95; second clears, $3.25@3.45.

HEARD ON THE FLOOR

The Week Has Been a Sensational One in Wheat Market.

The Prices Have Dropped Nearly Ten Cents Since Monday.

Declines today concluded a week of sensational bear raids on one of the strongest wheat markets this country has ever seen.

A week ago the now famous "Patten corner" was at its climax, and prices were away up; so high, in fact, that they attracted world-wide attention, caused bakers to shorten their loaves, and brought renewed talk of legislation to prohibit option trading in wheat.

This week Patten went West, said he was out of the market altogether, and since last Monday, both the May and July options in Duluth and Chicago have dropped 10 cents.

There were some days when the market rallied, but, as the figures plainly show, it was pretty much a week for the bears all the way through.

Last Monday May wheat sold in Duluth as high as $1.25⅝, and today it closed at $1.17. Chicago May reached $1.28 Monday and the closing quotation this noon on the same option was $1.19⅞.

Duluth July wheat was $1.25¾ Monday; today, $1.17½, and during the week Chicago July has dropped off from $1.18¼ to $1.07⅝.

* * *

Minneapolis puts were $1.16⅝, and declined to $1.16⅜, and calls were $1.20¼, $1.20⅛ and $1.20⅝.

Chicago July ups were $1.09¾@1.10, $1.10¼, $1.10⅜ and $1.10⅛, and downs $1.05¼@1.04⅞ and $1.04⅞.

Indiana—Partly cloudy tonight or Sunday; rising temperatures.

Missouri—Generally fair tonight and Sunday; warmer tonight, and in east Sunday.

Lower Michigan and Wisconsin—Showers tonight or Sunday; warmer.

Upper Michigan—Showers tonight and Sunday; rising temperatures.

Minnesota—Showers tonight or Sunday; warmer tonight.

Iowa—Partly cloudy, with probably showers tonight or Sunday; warmer tonight; cooler in Northwest, Sunday.

North Dakota—Partly cloudy and warmer tonight, with showers in east; Sunday generally fair.

South Dakota and Nebraska—Partly cloudy tonight and Sunday; warmer tonight, cooler Sunday.

Kansas—Generally fair tonight and Sunday; warmer tonight, cooler Sunday.

Montana—Generally fair tonight and Sunday.

The Cotton Market.

New York, April 24.—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 1@4 points. July declined to 10.20 or within 1 point or 2 net lower. The market later in the morning worked up to a net advance of 5@13 points with May and July relatively firm. Futures closed steady. Closing bids: April, 10.28; May, 10.39; June, 10.31; July, 10.32; August, 10.20; September, 10.10; October, 10.00; November, 10.06; December, 10.07; January, 10.01; March, 10.01. Spot closed quiet at 25 points higher; middling uplands, 10.70, middling gulf, 10.95; no sales.

Midway Horse Market.

Minnesota Transfer St. Paul, Minn., April 24.—Barrett & Zimmerman report: Inquiry for medium grades of horses continues steady, several orders for good brood mares of the draft type are being filled, as farmers are realizing that the raising of good horses is as profitable as any branch of the farming industry. Mules meet with good demand. Prices have failed to make the usual spring advance and horses are selling considerable below values of last spring and two years ago. The large consignments of horses, which have arrived from the logging camps during the week, have been unusually active, as they are being sold far below their real service value, some of them look rough and thin, but they will do the work of high class drafters, most of them are young and only need rest and feed to make them worth $500 a pair.

New York Money.

New York, April 24.—Money on call nominal; time loans firmer; 60 days, 2¼@2½ per cent; 90 days, 2½ per cent; six months, 2¾@3 per cent. Close: Prime mercantile paper, 3½@4 per cent; sterling exchange steady with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.87.35@4.87.40 for 60-day bills and at $4.86.05@4.86.15 for demand; commercial bills, $4.85½@4.86; bar silver, 52⅛c; Mexican dolars, 44c; government bonds steady; railroad bonds strong.

Weekly Bank Statement.

New York, April 24.—The statement of clearing house banks for the week shows that the banks hold $10,107,375 more than the 25 per cent reserve rule. This is a decrease of $1,094,825 in the proportionate cash reserve as compared with last week. The statement follows: Loan, $1,339,585,500; increase, $11,260,200. Deposits, $1,389,383,700; increase, $13,994,900. Circulation, $49,269,500; decrease, $142,100. Legal tenders, $76,907,800; decrease, $1,193,900. Specie, $280,543,500; increase, $3,594,800. Reserve, $357,453,300; increase, $2,414,900. Reserve required, $347,345,925; increase, $3,498,725. Surplus, $10,107,375; decrease, $1,094,825. Ex-United States deposits, $10,700,00; decrease, $1,090,775. The percentage of annual reserve of the clearing house banks today was 25.8 per cent.

The statement of banks and trust companies of Greater New York, not reporting to the clearing house, shows these institutions have aggregate deposits of $1,242,921,900; total cash on hand, $146,418,700, and loans amounting to $1,103,113,700.

FOE TO CIGARETTES DIES IN INDIANA.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 24.—The central figure in the famous but futile crusade against the sale of cigarettes in Indiana, died today in Plymouth. He was John W. Parks, former member of the state senate, and he framed the anti-cigarette bill that became a law in the legislature of 1905, but was repealed by the legislature of this year.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Market Opened Quiet, But Soon Began to Move Upward.

Reacted on Offerings, But Close Was Strong and Active.

New York, April 24.—The opening trade in stocks today was quiet and offered no conspicuous feature, and some small gains and losses were quite equally divided. Reading and American Smelting advanced ¾.

A few stocks wavered slightly before the list began to move aggressively upward. Reading was a dominant factor, rising 1⅝ to 146¼. Wabash preferred and American Smelting also improved 1¼ and Union Pacific, St. Louis & San Francisco second preferred, the Rock Island stocks and United States Rubber 1. Westinghouse Electric and American Beet Sugar were depressed a point.

The market closed strong and active. Prices receded a fraction but offerings promptly fell off and the trading became dull. Hocking Coal rose 2, National Biscuit fell 1⅜ and Reading second preferred 2. Late prices were bid up again, American Smelting advancing 1⅜ and United States Steel, Republic Steel preferred and International Pump 1.

Butte-Alex Scott has struck the bottom from all appearances. We have many orders for this issue partpaid at $7.00 bid and 9.75 bid for the full paid.
This stock was never in a better position for a big advance. They have opened up more copper glance at this mine, and any round of holes may give us something big to brag about. We do not hesitate to advise the purchase of Scott stock for the biggest and safest money of them all. How can you beat it? This mine is located alongside of the great Calusa and above the big Leonard mine on Butte hill, where mines are worth millions and millions of dollars.
Zenith Lead & Zinc is being taken by the people on the inside. It is a cinch that it has got to go. We understand that they are taking a great amount of lead out of this property. It is the first dividend payer on the list.

BRANDENBURG'S TALE THRILLING

San Francisco, April 24.—Broughton Brandenburg, novelist and magazine writer, who was arrested as a fugitive from justice in New York, told a thrilling tale today of his experiences while evading the police during the past three months.

Brandenburg told how at Harrington, Del., posing as Dr. Carl Rheinder, a German automobile agent, and also as a physician, he became popular in society. He also told how in Bridgeville, a little town nearby, he managed a poolroom of which the town was trying to rid itself, and then became involved in a shooting affair. He described narrow escapes in New York and elsewhere, how later, he kidnaped his small stepson, James Cabanne, from the child's grandmother's home in St. Louis and spirited the little one away in a wicker basket.

"I have been arrested so many times during the last three months," said Brandenburg in the city prison today, "that this is a rather familiar situation. I have gotten used to those things,"—pointing to the iron bars of his cell,—"and my experiences have been so harrowing that only the knowledge that I am right has sustained me."

LEAVES DUTIES OF IMMIGRATION

Washington, April 24. — Robert Watchorn, commissioner of immigration at New York, today tendered his resignation, to take effect immediately, and it was accepted. Joseph Murray, assistant commissioner, has been designated as acting commissioner pending the appointment of Mr. Watchorn's successor.

NATIVE CHIEF OUSTS BRITISH MISSIONARY.

Lagos, British West Africa, April 24.—It is reported here from Oyo in Nigeria that Rev. S. G. Pinnock, a missionary of the foreign missions board of the South Baptist convention, has been ordered to leave Oyo by the native chief. The reason for this act is not given.

Oyo is 120 miles northeast of Lagos, and has a native population of 40,000. The latest missionary records say that Dr. Pinnock was stationed at Ibadan, eighty miles northeast of Lagos.

Are You In the Market for a Home?

Instead of purchasing an old house built from 15 to 25 years ago, why not get a brand new and up-to-date one, when it costs no more? Chances are the old house needs reshingling, repainting and perhaps remodeling, and still after you have had these expenses, you only have an old building. Ask some builder what the depreciation on a frame building is and he'll tell you about 3 per cent. Many houses in this city have been very poorly "kept up," and those are just the ones, too, which are on the "for sale" list. We own some fine lots in Lakeside, Normal school district and central and will build to suit you. If interested call at once

VETO OF TONNAGE TAX PUTS NEW LIFE IN MARKET

Real Estate Men Report Renewed Activity, and They Now Look for a Busy Summer—Several Large Deals Are About Closed.

Optimism has been the keynote to the Duluth real estate situation since the news came that the tonnage tax had been vetoed.

All over the city the feeling is the best in some months, and local dealers are enthusiastic over the increased inquiry, both from residents of the city as to residence property, and from outsiders who are looking for property for investment purposes.

"You have no idea," said a local real estate man this morning" how much interest there was in this tonnage tax business in cities miles away from Duluth. Our firm has had many inquiries as to the possible outcome from Eastern men, and I am sure that we were no exception to the rule."

Things picked up with a rush Thursday morning, and they have been moving at a merry clip ever since. The inquiry has been very heavy, and many important sales have been made during the week, although in nearly every instance the local offices have refused to give out their sales as they have not as yet, been entirely closed up. One $20,000 sale is known to have been made, and several others of $15,000 and upwards.

After six months of comparative idleness Duluth real estate seems to be really on the move.

Every Duluth dealer has turned optimist, and they all predict a season of unusual activity.

The trend seems to be toward the suburbs. Many are buying residence property at Woodland, Lakeside, and that charming little village of Fond du Lac is experiencing quite a boom in the summer home line. There will be many cottages erected there this summer, and already the inquiry for lots has become heavy.

There is a demand for business and residence property all over the city. The move is not in any one direction. Most people know where they want to live, and their minds cannot be changed.

Corner lots in the residence districts are in demand by the small merchants who wish to establish a grocery business, and during the week several inquiries have come to local dealers from outside parties, asking what is to be had in this line.

In the West end there is much building going on. Medium sized houses are being erected and in most cases by the man who expects to occupy them with his family. Houses for renting purposes are also going up in this end of town, but they are in the minority.

Firms that sell on the monthly payment plan report a brisk week. This is the means taken by a great number of people to get a home.

Two districts which are in great demand for the higher priced houses, and where there promises to be much activity in the building line, are the East end and Woodland districts. The names of the buyers in these districts during the past few weeks, indicate that the properties have been acquired for this purpose.

The conservative ones who predicted several months ago that there would be nothing doing in Duluth real estate during 1909, other than a fairly healthy development, have now changed their tune and are among the most optimistic. A boom is not expected—indeed, real estate men generally do not wish it—but that business is going to be active during the coming summer is the common opinion.

• • •

The architects are busy. Some of them are out of town figuring. It is said with outside parties on buildings to be erected here. Those that are here are busy. It is generally admitted that the coming summer is going to be one of unusual activity in the building line, and they are busy getting ready. Flat buildings without number are being planned, and there are plans out for several double houses to be erected near the center of the city.

• • •

Olson & Magney are making plans for four residences for the Whitney Wall company. They are to be erected between Seventeenth and Eighteenth avenue east, on the upper side of Fourth street, and are to cost $3,500 each.

Plans for a flat building for N. H. Peterson, to be erected on Twelfth avenue east, between Third and Fourth streets, are being made by the same firm. There will be two flats in the building, and they will cost in the neighborhood of $6,000.

Olson & Magney are making plans for a Duplex house, to be built on the northwest corner of Eighteenth avenue east and Third street. The house will cost $8,500.

Mr. Lofgren is planning for a brick flat building, to be erected in the West end, to cost $6,500.

Judge Windom is having plans made by this same firm for a $5,000 residence to be erected at Twenty-eighth avenue east and Superior street. The first story will be of brick and the second of frame and stucco. H. M. Bradbury is planning on a residence at Eighteenth avenue east and Third street, to cost $4,500.

• • •

A four-story building, 50 by 140, to cost $18,000, is one of the good things being planned for East Superior street. The building is to be erected between Third and Fourth avenues east, and is being planned for outside parties. The bottom floor will be stores, and the three top floors will be used as flats for the present.

The largest known real estate deal of the week was closed Thursday, when a syndicate of Duluth men, composed of A. W. Hartman, A. M. Marshall, P. A. Patrick and C. E. Van Bergen acquired an unplatted 66-acre tract lying on both sides of Tischer's creek, beginning at Superior street and extending to the residence of J. C. Hunter at Woodland.

This land was formerly owned by a Baltimore man, and the deal was made through the offices of E. P. Alexander and R. P. Dowse. The price paid was $66,000, or $1,000 an acre.

The land is now held under the name of the Hartman Building company. The company plans on platting the whole tract and putting it on the market in large lots. There is an increasing demand, it is said, for larger lots in the East end on which to build the more expensive residences, and it is to supply this demand that the land was bought and the company organized.

• • •

During the week the following building permits of $1,000 or over were issued:

Tony Romano, a frame dwelling to be located between Polk and Raleigh streets, West Duluth, to cost $4,000.

To C. J. Gustafson, a frame dwelling on Grand avenue, West Duluth, to cost $4,000.

J. L. Lane, frame dwelling on Pittsburg avenue, to cost $5,000.

To Harriet P. Warner, brick veneer dwelling at Woodland $7,500.

To Mrs. A. H. Plorada, brick dwelling on East Third street, between Twenty-second and Twenty-third avenues, $10,000.

To Whitney Wall & Co., frame dwelling on Fifty-seventh avenue west, between Roosevelt and Nicollet streets, $1,500.

To F. H. Stock, frame dwelling on East Sixth street, between Ninth and Tenth avenues, $1,500.

To Whitney Wall & Co., interior alterations to building on London road, between Eleventh and Twelfth avenues east, $1,000.

To Ole Martinson, frame dwelling on Vernon street, between Pacific and Atlantic avenues, $1,500.

To D. Costonquay, frame dwelling on Restornal street, between Michigan and Pacific avenues, $1,000.

To John Johnson, frame dwelling on East Seventh street, between Lake and First avenues, $3,000.

SEVEN-ROOM HOUSE WHICH WOULD COST $4,200 IN DULUTH.

The above illustration shows a cottage style dwelling of seven rooms. The design is expressive of comfort and cosiness, and the cost of the building is within the reach of the man of moderate means.

The feature of the lower floor is the large living room, and the fireplace with its large tile hearth. The dining room is separated only by beams and posts from the living room. The arrangement of the kitchen and pantry is another good feature, which will appeal to the thoughtful housewife. The stairway is shut off from the living room, and its convenient arrangement takes up but little space. It is accessible from both the hall and the kitchen.

On the upper floor there are four light and airy bedrooms of good size, each being provided with a large closet, which can be lighted by windows, if desired.

The low roof does not permit of the attic being used.

A house as above described, including heating and plumbing, can be built in Duluth and vicinity for $4,200.

MARINE

SOO IS KEY TO SITUATION

Vessels Are Still Tied Up By the Ice Blockade.

Owners Claim There Is No Difficulty Securing Crews.

Word received from the Soo this morning indicates no change in the condition of things at that place. It is now a question of wind and weather, both of which are reported adverse today. The condition at the Soo is the key to the whole shipping situation and Duluth ship owners and agents are waiting patiently for a thaw and southeast wind.

The lake fleet is slowly getting into commission despite the blockade. The Susquehanna of the Anchor line has left Buffalo and will arrive at the Soo tomorrow. This will make four Anchor line vessels tied up at that point. Several of the Pittsburg Steamship company's ore carriers are headed for the Soo, due there at any time after tomorrow.

Owners are finding no difficulty in securing crews, it is claimed, and it is thought that a strike of the Lake Seamen's union, if one is declared, will not cut much figure.

BOATS COLLIDE IN HARBOR

The Sailor Boy Is Badly Damaged at Menominee.

Menominee, Mich., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—While swinging about sharply to land at the Beutal Fish company's docks in Menominee, early last night, the steamer Fannie C. Hart of Green Bay, crashed into the stern of the Sailor Boy, badly battering the latter vessel. The Hart luckily escaped injury. Late last night, after receiving temporary repairs, the Sailor Boy left for Sturgeon Bay to go into drydock.

CHANGES AT ONTONAGON

Col. Fitch Says Depth of Twelve Feet Is Not Enough.

Col. Graham D. Fitch of the corps of engineers has sent out letters asking for opinions on the proposed improvements in Ontonagon harbor, Mich. The letter states that the depth of twelve feet might have been sufficient in earlier years, but at present vessels wishing to do business at that harbor cannot operate with full loads on a twelve-foot draft. There should also be a greater depth across the bar in the lake than is needed between the piers to allow for the pitching of a vessel in a sea. Col. Fitch recommends that, in addition to dredging between the entrance piers and in the lake, a channel be dredged from the inner end of the entrance piers up to the nearest end of the commercial dock, on the east side of the inner harbor, a distance of 600 feet, and another channel from the inner dock, on the west side of the harbor, a distance of 300 feet, these channels to be no wider than necessary for vessels to pass through them easily. The two wharves mentioned are the ones where practically all the business of this harbor is transacted.

LIGHTKEEPER IS DROWNED

Assistant at Grassy Island Light Lost in the Storm.

Menominee, Mich., April 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Absolutely no trace can be found of William Burdick, assistant lighthouse keeper at Grassy island, who attempted to return to the island in a fierce storm, which swept the bay last Wednesday afternoon. Burdick came to the city in a small boat, and after securing a stock of provisions, left for the island late in the afternoon. No trace of the boat has been found.

Marine Notes.

Capt. Louis Week, shore captain of the Gilchrist Transportation company, arrived in the city from Cleveland today and will spend a few days here looking over the work and fitting out the company's fleet preparatory to the opening of navigation.

The Western Transit company has made arrangements whereby all Duluth shipments of freight will be landed at the Northern cold storage docks, instead of at the city dock as heretofore.

Best Treatment for Colds.

"Most ordinary colds will yield to the simplest treatment," says the Chicago Tribune, "modest laxatives, hot foot baths, a free perspiration and an avoidance of exposure to cold and wet after treatment." While this treatment is simple, it requires considerable trouble, and the one adopting it must remain in doors for a day or two, or a fresh cold is almost sure to be contracted, and in many instances pneumonia follows. Is it not better to pin your faith to an old reliable preparation like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, that is famous for its cures of colds and can always be depended upon? For sale by all druggists.

Herd of 150 Where Theodore Roosevelt Begins His Hunt.

Smallpox Prevalent But Not in Former President's Party.

Nairobi, British East Agrica, April 26.—Theodore Roosevelt left Kapiti Plains yesterday and went to the ranch of Sir Alfred Pease, on the Athi river. Maj. Mearns, Edmund Heller and J. Alden Loring, members of the Roosevelt party, went over to Sir Alfred's this morning. George McMillan and F. C. Selous are going to Machakos via the Pease ranch Wednesday.

Lions are reported numerous on Mr. McMillan's Ju Ju ranch, and there is a herd of 150 buffaloes on Heatley's ranch, where Roosevelt will hunt.

The weather here and at the Pease ranch today is cloudy, and heavy rains fell last night. The prospects of sport on the plains are exceptionally good, owing to the rainfall.

There have been no cases of small-

ULTIMATUM DELIVERED

Young Turks in Control of Capital Lay Down the Law.

Hamid Also Deprived of Chance to Bribe the Troops.

Grand Vizier Again Hands in the Cabinet's Resignation.

Constantinople, April 26.—Tewfik Pasha, the grand vizier, this morning transmitted to the sultan the resignation of the entire cabinet, and communicated this fact to parliament.

Constantinople experienced last night the effects of the state of siege declared yesterday. No one was allowed on the streets after 8 o'clock in the evening, and the carrying of arms by civilians as well as the publication of news likely to create disquietude is strictly forbidden.

The committee of union and progress has issued a statement denying the allegations attributing the recent occurrences to controversies between the political parties, and saying that the march of the Constitutionalists on the capital was undertaken under the influence of the committee. The statement sets forth that the tragic events

BRANDENBERG TO FIGHT AGAINST EXTRADITION

Magazine Writer's Wife Sued for Divorce by Another Man.

Prisoner Held in Frisco Faces Maze of Difficulties.

San Francisco, Cal., April 26.—Facing a three-cornered fight with legal battles impending in New York city, St. Louis and this city, including an indictment for grand larceny in connection with a political article purporting to have been written by Grover Cleveland, a double matrimonial entanglement and a contest for the possession of his small stepson, James Cabanne of St. Louis, Broughton Brandenburg, the newspaper man and magazine writer who was arrested here Friday night, is spending his time in jail preparing for the fray.

He declares he will resist extradition to New York on the grand larceny charge; that he will make a fight for the possession of the Cabanne boy, whose father is on the way to get the child, and that the courts must decide the matrimonial mixup which involves a marriage in Honduras and a divorce suit in St. Louis.

In regard to the latter phase of his predicament, the writer explains that Mrs. Cabanne, mother of the boy he claims is his stepson, went with him to Central America, where she secured a divorce and where they were married. Mrs. Cabanne-Brandenburg's former husband has an application for divorce pending in the St. Louis courts. She telegraphed the prisoner from New York to do all in his power to hold her son, and a message also was received from District Attorney Jerome of that city, to hold Brandenburg in not less than $20,000 bail.

Friends of the writer and his attorney held a conference today and outlined plans to resist extradition and to straighten out the other matters.

CENSUS BUREAU IS CRITICISED

Philippine Tariff Bill Is Reported Into the House.

Washington, April 26.—Senate and house were in session today. The senate proceeded with consideration of the tariff and Mr. Bailey of Texas was the principal orator. He discussed the income tax and undertook to show that the tariff bill, as it stands, will prove incapable of producing sufficient revenue for the carrying on of the government.

The senate finance committee reported a number of new amendments to the bill, and some of the passed-over paragraphs received attention.

The house considered the census-taking bill. It is receiving much attention at the hands of the individual members, and today there was considerable criticism of the present bureau.

The Philippine tariff bill was reported to the house from the committee on ways and means.

GIRL'S SLAYER STICKS NOTE TO HER BREAST WITH DEATH KNIFE.

Toluca, Mex., April 26.—Furious because his sweetheart, Modesta Fabelitas, refused to elope with him, Pedro Secundino stabbed her to death. Secundino then wrote a note saying he would do the same to his pursuers, which he pinned to the girl by plunging his knife through it into her breast. He was captured and placed in prison. Secundino stabbed the girl sixty-two times.

WORLD'S SUFFRAGE ALLIANCE MEETS

CARRIE CHAPMAN-CATT.

London, April 26.—The fifth congress of the International Women's Suffrage Alliance was opened today, under the presidency of Mrs. Carrie Chapman-Catt. A welcome was extended the delegates on behalf of the English suffragists, by Mrs. Millicent Garrett Fawcett. The morning session was taken up with a consideration of business matters.

BOYLE NEAR BREAKDOWN

Detectives Again Fail to Get Woman to Talk.

Mercer, Pa., April 26.—One the eve of his trial for the kidnaping of Willie Whitla, James H. Boyle is on the verge of a nervous breakdown. Plans to free him from jail having failed, Boyle has become despondent.

This morning two detectives visited the jail and had a talk with Boyle in an endeavor to secure evidence to bring about the arrest of Boyle's accomplices. He refused to talk and the detectives went to Mrs. Boyle.

When they reached the woman's cell they told her that they had just had a talk with "Jimmy" and that she might as well tell her story.

"Well if 'Jimmy" has told you everything I guess there is not much use of me talking," was the comment of Mrs. Boyle.

Madrid, April 26.—The roof of the cathedral in Torbes, Lugo province, collapsed today while mass was being celebrated there. Nine persons were killed and thirty wounded.

EASTERN POLICE SEEK RICH MAN'S DAUGHTER

FEMALE SLAYERS' BAND CAPTURED

They Robbed Victims and Threw Their Bodies Into Stream.

St. Petersburg, April 26.—A band of female cut-throats who for many months past has been committing with impunity a series of brutal murders, was discovered and arrested yesterday in the village of Kurchino, thirty miles from St. Petersburg.

The principal culprits are a mother and her two daughters, who kept a tavern. Assisted by other women in the village, they murdered travelers who stopped at the inn for the night, disfigured the bodies beyond recognition, and threw them into a rapidly flowing stream that passes the inn.

Many of these corpses were found, but the distaince of the village was so great that suspicion did not at first center there.

Confederate Memorial Day.

Atlanta, Ga., April 26.—Confederate memorial day was observed today. Early in the day the graves of the Confederate dead were decorated with flowers. The schools, public buildings and business houses are closed.

Adele Boas, Silk Manufacturer's Child, Cannot Be Found.

New York, April 26.—Through a telephone conversation which Inspector McCafferty, of the New York detective bureau, held with a woman who gave her name as Mrs. Upton of Charlestown, Mass., today, a clue was discovered that it is hoped will result in the recovery by her parents of Adele Boas, 13-year-old daughter of Arthur E. Boas, the wealthy silk manufacturer, who disappeared Friday.

The woman told the inspector that early today she saw on a train bound from New York to Boston, a girl who answered in every particular the description of the missing child. Mrs. Upton said she talked with the girl, who told her that her father was a silk manufacturer in New York.

Mrs. Upton lost sight of the girl when the train reached Boston. From the conversation he had with the wom-

MINE STRIKE ON; TOWN HARD HIT

Lethbridge Needs Fuel Badly—Plow Outfits Are Halted.

Winnipeg, Man., April 26.—The miners employed at the Canada West Coal company's collieries at Taber, Alta., are on strike. The coal operators met a deputation of the miners Saturday to draw up a new agreement, President Sherman of the district being present.

As the men demanded a closed shop, the operators declined and the men quit work today. Ashewift's mine at Lethbridge also closed today, the owner refusing to sign a closed shop agreement. Dozens of steam plow outfits are held up in Southern Alberta, not being able to procure coal.

The city of Lethbridge is also hard pressed for fuel. The only mines working are at Fernie and districts owned by the Crows' Nest Pass Coal company.

MURDERED MAN'S BODY IS FOUND

Unknown Victim Is Slashed to Death on Rice Lake Road.

Corpse Is Discovered on a Blood-Stained Mound of Snow.

The body of an unidentified man, a Finn, about 33 years of age, who evidently had been murdered, was found on the Rice Lake road, about fourteen miles north of Duluth, yesterday afternoon by William Nesick, a farmer, who reported the matter to the Duluth police.

The remains were brought to Duluth this morning by Durkan & Crawford, and are held in their undertaking place for identification. As the result of amateur detective work by newspaper reporters, it is expected the identification will be made before evening.

The man's throat was cut, and he had six knife wounds in the face, making it seemingly evident he was murdered, and did not commit suicide.

Dead for Some Days.

The murder was evidently committed two or three weeks ago, perhaps longer. When found, the dead man was lying on his face, on a snow bank just the size of his body, and all around there was no snow at all. The body had kept the bank underneath it from melting. The snow was six inches deep, and was stained with blood.

The farmer who made the discovery was walking along the Rice Lake road, when he happened to catch sight of the remains, about thirty feet from the thoroughfare, and about the same distance this side of the Brooks-Scanlon

GAS KILLS CHILDREN

New York, April 26.—Two little children are dead, and a third child and two adults are in a critical condition, due to inhaling coal gas in a tenement house on Avenue A, today. The dead:

ANNIE SESEK, 3 years old.

EMILY SESEK, 1 year old, her sister.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sesek, the children's parents, and another child, Joseph, were taken unconscious to a hospital.

The family occupied rooms on the ground floor. Coal gas, escaping from a stove in the basement, worked its way through the flooring.

ONCE LUMBERJACK, NOW HE BUYS UP A WHOLE VILLAGE

Escanaba, Mich., April 26.—Joseph Perrow, an Escanaba man, has closed a deal whereby he became owner of the village of Northland, in Marquette county. He bought twenty-five dwellings and two stores, all the buildings in the place.

Perrow's rapid rise from poverty to affluence reads like a fairy story. Ten years ago he worked in an Upper Michigan woods as a lumberjack. He saved his money and now his dream to own a town is a reality.

The name of the village will be changed to Perrow.

Oak Hall Cravats

SOMEONE has said that a man is known by the ties he wears, and there is some truth in the saying. So see to it that you wear the right cravat always—right as to color, style and quality. In order to do away with all possibility of a mistake buy your neckwear at the Oak Hall. We've more different kinds, shades and grades than one would see in a half-dozen other stores. Every tie in the fascinating showing was chosen by an expert. They're everyone all that they should be—could be—and from beginning to end the entire collection offers values that are just a little better than you'll find elsewhere.

PICKED WATCH TO PIECES

Superior Boy's Curiosity Lands Him in Police Station.

The curiosity of Benny Karon landed him in jail today.

Benny is a 16-year-old lad from Superior and was picked up last night on the corner of Ramsey street and Central avenue and taken to the station for lodging. This morning he was released.

But instead of going back to Superior as he was directed by Lieut. Wilcox, Benny loitered around town. He wandered into Wade's hardware store shortly before noon today and asked to see some watches. Benny was broke, but he wanted to see how the watches run, anyway.

While the clerk was busy, Benny investigated. He picked one of the timepieces apart, but forgot how to put it together. Then, Ben revealed the fact that he didn't have any money to buy the watch with, whereupon an officer was summoned. He was locked up at the station house for a short time, and then sent back to Superior.

BOAT OWNERS ON THE RIVER

West Duluth Launch Enthusiasts Take First Trip of Season.

Sunday was a gala day for West Duluth boat owners.

It was the first real day of the season for the launch men, although some of the craft have been out a few days previous to yesterday.

The ice has all disappeared and nothing hinders the passage of the boats up the river. Frank Wade, Dick Schell, Jack Schuler and others were among the West Duluthians to haul out their boats and take a speed up the river. Mr. Schell says that his new speed launch, Mattie, will arrive in a few days and then other boat owners will have to "hump some" to catch him.

JURORS FAIL TO REACH VERDICT

Slander Case Against Joseph Jacobs May Be Dismissed.

The West Duluth slander case, in which Miss Ethel Hall of 439 North Sixty-first avenue west, charged Joseph Jacobs, a neighbor, with calling her vile names, came to naught Saturday afternoon, when submitted to the jury.

The jury disagreed after being out for six hours, bringing in no verdict. Seven of the jurors were for acquittal, while the remaining five stood for conviction. The case was tried in Justice Finck's court.

It is not probable that the case will be continued. Those who took the stand Saturday afternoon for the defense were Jacobs, his wife, Miss Blasi, and W. H. Marsh, all of whom denied the story told by the Hall family.

The jurors in the case were: P. H. Martin, L. A. Barnes, W. A. Pond, Alexander Henrickson, W. Harbor, Gus Weslin, A. P. Freeberg, W. Kilton, W. H. Richter, John Morgan, Seth Warren and Henry Hewitt.

ON WATCH FOR MURDERERS

West Duluth Police Are Searching for Four Italians.

The West Duluth police have received a telegram to be on the lookout for four Italians, wanted for murder at White Bear Lake. The crime for which the men are wanted is fiendish, and was committed Saturday night.

White Bear Lake authorities think the men escaped in the direction of Duluth. The police have a good description of the murderers and have been watching the trains coming into Duluth today very closely.

ANNUAL BANQUET.

West Duluth Curlers Complete Program for Big Spread.

The approaching annual feast of the Western Curling club to be given Thursday evening at Wade's hall promises to eclipse all previous affairs of the club, if the expectations of the executive committee of the club are realized. Supper will be served by the women of the West Duluth Baptist church.

H. H. Phelps, toastmaster, will call on the following to respond to toasts: Mayor R. D. Haven, George J. Mallory, Rev. Arthur J. Hoag and L. A. Barnes. It is expected also that a representative of the Superior club will speak at the affair.

Ray Abbott, Ollie Digness and John Tresise are the soloists who have been given a place on the program. Another number will be the "Peerless Trio," comprising Thomas Doyle, John Lauerman and L. Carey, who will render a number of Scotch selections.

ALL FAVOR THE CANAL

Col. Fitch Receives Many Letters Regarding the Project.

The government engineer's office is in receipt of numerous answers to letters sent out the first of the month requesting opinions on the advisibility of building a canal to connect Lake Superior with the Mississippi river by way of the St. Croix river. These answers are generally favorable to the project. A number of the local staff of engineers said this morning: "These letters cannot be held of the highest importance, for most people are always favorable to any project where Uncle Sam spends the money."

This canal project is one of vast importance to the Head of the Lakes. It has been given wide publicity through the press in Minnesota and Wisconsin. Answers to the letters sent out will all be in the hands of Col. Fitch by the end of the week, and he will then report and recommend such course as he deems advisable.

MINNESOTA HIGH COURT SUSTAINED

Supreme Decision Says City Can Make Road Bridge Crossings.

Washington, April 26.—That a city can compel a railroad to bridge its street crossings when the street has been established subsequent to the laying of railroad tracks, just as it can when the tracks follow the laying out of the street, is held by the supreme court of the United States today in deciding favorable to the city the case of the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railroad company and the Great Northern Railway company vs. the City of Minneapolis.

The roads resisted an order from the Minneapolis council requiring them to erect a bridge over University avenue, on the ground that the street was laid out after the company had acquired its right-of-way and laid its tracks, which they contend imposed upon the city the responsibility of making the crossing safe.

The case was heard in the district court of Hennepin county, Minn., where the decision was favorable to the railroads, but that decision was over-ruled by the state supreme court. Today's decision sustained the Minnesota supreme court. It was announced by Chief Justice Fuller.

DIED FROM EXPOSURE

Milwaukee Man's Body Found in Rocky Run Creek.

His Feet Had Become Entangled in the Weeds.

His feet tangled in a thick mass of underbrush in Rocky Elm creek, and with his head just above water, Gus Leggit of 976 Fifteenth street, Milwaukee, Wis., died of exposure Saturday night and was found Sunday forenoon by a couple of small boys. The point at which the man met his death is about a mile south of Brule, Wis.

Leggit had evidentally attempted to cross a narrow plank which served as a bridge for the stream. It is thought that he slipped to the water below him and becoming hopelessly tangled in weeds and underbrush died from exposure to the cold. A time book in the dead man's pockets served to identify him. He is a German. The body is held at a Superior undertaker's establishment pending the location of relatives.

Switchman Insane.

Thomas Holmes, the railroad switchman, who developed a dislike to doctors, was adjudged insane Saturday and was taken today to Mendota. Holmes was seen drinking water out of a stagnant pool at various times. He also drank soap suds in defiance of the doctor.

Charged With Gambling.

Superior police raided a gambling den at the Saratoga hotel Saturday night and arrested Charles Shea with his gambling paraphernalia. When arraigned this morning in municipal court he pleaded not guilty and was released on $500 bail. His trial will come up April 30.

Steel Rails Arrive.

Nineteen carloads of steel ralls arrived yesterday morning over the Wisconsin Central division of the Soo, to be used in the construction of the Soo line at the Head of the Lakes. F. A. Baxter and a crew of men will commence laying the steel about June 1.

Will Rebuild Grand.

J. E. O. Pridemore, a Chicago theater architect, returned home yesterday after a conference with C. A. Marshall in regard to the rebuilding of the Superior Grand Opera house, which was destroyed by fire about three weeks ago. It is understood that definite plans are being formulated for reconstructing the playhouse at once.

Wants $1,000 Damages.

The $1,000 personal injury case against the Duluth Street Railway company brought by A. A. Fosnes was taken up this morning in superior court. The plaintiff claims to have sustained injuries in alighting from a car at Sixteenth street and Tower avenue.

Nafrobi, British East Africa, April 26.—Both Theodore Roosevelt and his son, Kermit, are indisposed today, as a result of their hunting activity of yesterday, and their journey from Kapiti Plains to the ranch of Sir Alfred Pease on the Athi river. They are resting from their fatigue at the ranch.

PORTRAIT OF EX-GOVERNOR MILLER.

The Thorpe portrait of the late John Miller of North Dakota, will be on exhibition at the Engel art store tomorrow and Wednesday. It is a remarkable portrait in many ways. The artist, Col. Freeman P. Thorpe, never met Mr. Miller personally, but constructed the portrait from several photographs and from mental impressions obtained through conversations with many of the governor's friends and relatives. It is an excellent likeness, Col. Thorpe has been very successful in this method of portrait painting and several of his canvasses created in the same manner, adorn the rooms of the State Historical society in St. Paul.

TWO BEARS SHOT NEAR THE CITY

Good Hunting Is Reported Out Pike Lake Way.

Two bears were shot yesterday, one at Pike Lake by Bert Carlson, and one a few miles this side of there, in township 50-17-10, by John Grochowski.

Mr. Carlson heard a report that a bear had been seen near Louis Anderson's saloon, where the man is employed as bartender. He took a rifle and started out in search of the game. A quarter of a mile from the saloon he saw the animal, lumbering along through the woods, and had little trouble in killing it.

The bear was a large one, weighing 315 pounds. Later in the year it would have been much heavier than that. Evidently it had just left its winter quarters, for it was as thin as a rail, and looked as if it hadn't had a square meal since last fall.

Mr. Grochowski also heard of bear signs having been seen, and started out with a gun in search of bruin. He succeeded in downing a bear after a short hunt.

"JUST HAVE PATIENCE"

Fred Merritt Says He Will Take Care of Trades.

"I hope to be able to take care of all my trades," said Fred H. Merritt, the broker, who was reported last week to be in financial difficulty, in an interview with a reporter for The Herald late this afternoon.

"It is impossible for me to make any definite statement at this time, but I feel that my affairs will be straightened out all right and that I will be able to resume business later on. I am very busy now, going over matters in connection with my business and I will know more of my future plans and my condition in two or three days.

"The idea that a lot of people were mixed up with me in any 'deal' in Butte-Alex Scott is erroneous. My brother or any other officers of the Butte-Alex Scott company knew nothing of my affairs. Only one man did, Martin Rosendahl, and he did not know very much. I don't think the officers of Butte-Alex Scott cared whether the stock advanced or not."

On Mr. Merritt's blackboard, there is a notice which reads:

"Just have a little patience and you will be taken care of."

Wright Soaring Again.

Rome, April 26.—Wilbur Wright made a series of successful flights today, making the starts without the aid of a derrick or rail. The aeroplane was propelled over the grass with its own power, the momentum gradually increasing until at the end of 150 yards the machine lifet the ground and sailed into the air.

WHITESIDE ON MODERN DRAMA

Says Jewish Character Is Being Studied by Dramatists.

According to the conviction of Walker Whiteside, the great play of the future will be written around the character of a Jew. Mr. Whiteside says that his present play, "The Melting Pot," is one of the great plays of the present day, and illustrates the tendency of dramatists to turn their attention to the study of the Jewish character.

Mr. Whiteside says that several plays with the character of the Jew as the basic theme have been produced in New York this season. While these plays have not scored emphatic successes, the actor believes that they show the tendency of the modern dramatists to give their attention to a racial character that has been seen but little upon the stage, if the burlesques and the cheaper comedies are excepted.

"Israel Zangwill is a power among the Jewish race, and some day he will make the Jewish character more prominent upon the stage than it is at the present time," says Mr. Whiteside. "It is a new tendency to take the Jew as a serious character study. However, it is a tendency that will grow, and I am sure that the Jewish character will figure as the theme of the great play of the future."

In his present play, Mr. Whiteside plays the part of a Jew. The intermarriage of the Jews and Christians is a problem that will receive attention from the dramatist, according to the actor, as it is a problem that is more receiving the attention of thinking people.

CALUMET MAN DEAD.

H. E. Phillips Called After a Protracted Illness.

Calumet, Mich., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—H. E. Phillips, for many years a well-known resident of the Copper country, for several years manager of the business of the Grand Union Tea company here, died at his home in Red Jacket Saturday evening after a protracted illness of Bright's disease, aged 47.

A wife and two daughters living here, and a son living at Racine, survive him. The deceased was a member of the First Baptist church and of the Order of Elks.

CALLS CASTRO AN EVIL GENIUS

President Gomez Now Aims a Shot at His Successor.

Paris, April 26.—The correspondent of the Journal at Caracas has cabled from Willemstad, Curacao, an interview with President Gomez of Venezuela. The president described Castro as the evil genius of Venezuela, and said Venezuela should be grateful to the powers for not confounding the country with that ill-omened man.

President Gomez then said that the entire policy of the new administration would be to secure peace and security in foreign relations. To this end congress would meet May 23 to consider a liberal revision of the constitution and a series of laws modifying the position of foreigners in the republic. Immigration would be facilitated, free lands offered and foreigners in the matter of ownership of land would be placed on equal footing with natives. The export duties on coffee and cocoa would be suppressed and foreign capital invited to participate in the exploitation of the vast agricultural, mineral and commercial resources of the country. Furthmore the powers would be asked to designate experts to examine and report on the possibilities of Venezuelan developments.

OVERMAN PROPOSES TO TAX IMMIGRANTS.

Washington, April 26.—Mr. Overman of North Carolina offered an amendment to the tariff bill in the senate today by which he proposes to place a head tax of $12 on each immigrant. That the tax he desired to have provided for aliens has been held constitutional by the United States supreme court, was one of the arguments Overman offered in support of his amendment.

SEVENTY BOATS READY TO START ON RACE TO DULUTH

Blockade at the Soo Expected to Be Broken Tuesday.

Fleet Will Then Begin Dash for Head of Lakes.

Seventy or more freighters in a head-on race for Duluth harbor will be one of the interesting features that will result from the breakup at the Soo. A blockade always develops intense rivalry among ship owners and masters to be first in the port. All styles of vessels are in the tieup from the latest model ore carriers to small packet line boats and tugs, and all will strain every effort to be first at the Head of the Lakes. As the first to arrive will be given dockage preference, it is to their interest as well as pleasure, to get in early. As soon as the boats are clear of the ice they will waste no time in getting under full headway for Duluth.

Conditions at the Soo are such today that it is confidently predicted that the breakup will occur within twenty-four hours and that the upbound fleet will commence moving tomorrow, probably late in the afternoon. Such is the tenor of several telegrams received in Duluth this morning.

Manager Fuller of the North American Telegraph company has a brief message from the company's agent at the Soo, stating that a passage will surely to open tomorrow, and R. M. Wolvin received a wire from F. D. Root, representing the Pickands-Mather fleet at the Soo, stating that boats will get through tomorrow.

If the start is made tomorrow afternoon or night the fastest vessels will reach Duluth during Wednesday night, the others arriving Thursday. There are more than seventy boats tied up today and several more are due to arrive at the Soo tonight and tomorrow morning.

The ice-bound vessels in Whitefish bay have not been able to make any progress. The Northern Queen, which has been frozen in for a week, is completely isolated, and there has been no communication with her in that time.

Now that it seems assured that navigation will be opened in a few days, delivery of ore to the docks will commence at once. The shipments from the mines have so far been held up in the yards. The Pittsburg Steamship company will have a fleet of about forty boats here within a week or ten days.

The Perry G. Walker, with a cargo of 241,000 bushels of wheat, will be brought to an anchorage in the harbor this afternoon. She completed loading about two weeks ago. The Robert Schuck, another of the Gilchrist fleet, with 123,000 bushels of wheat and 128,500 bushels of barley, was towed to anchor this morning. The George W. Peavey completed her cargo of 287,000 bushels of corn and barley yesterday noon. She will leave for Buffalo as soon as positive word is received from the Soo that the passage is open.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., April 26.—Captains of the fleet held here by the ice blockade have adopted a unique plan to prevent desertions by members of the crews, in case of attempts by the unionists to cause trouble. Instead of tying up at the piers, many of the boats have anchored in the middle of the river, and no sailors are given shore leave. The boats tied up at the piers permit no visitors aboard.

One captain has a big smallpox placard exposed to prevent intrusions.

SUNKEN TUG IS LOCATED

Efforts Being Made to Recover Bodies of Crew.

Cleveland, Ohio, April 26.—The sunken hulk of the fishing tug George A. Floss, which disappeared with a crew of seven men in a storm on Lake Erie April 7, was located yesterday. It was found in fifty feet of water about seven miles directly north of the Cleveland harbor. None of the bodies of the crew have been found. George McLaughlin, keeper of the crib, claimed to have seen the boat go down.

Alexander Barry, brother of William Barry, captain of the Floss, chartered two tugs yesterday and began a search. Relatives of the crew will employ divers to search for the bodies.

LIGHT KEEPERS ARE LANDED

Marquette, Mich., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The lighthouse tender Marigold arrived last night, opening navigation here. She left Duluth a week ago. Since then she has landed fourteen lighthouse keepers at five different posts: Menagerie Island, Passage Isle, Rock of Ages, Gull Isle, and Manitou.

It took two days to land the crew at Rock of Ages, because of ice, and the Apostle Islands could not be reached at all, the ice off Bayfield being solid for ten miles out. The Marigold will leave tomorrow morning to take lighthouse keepers to Stannard Rock, Granite Rock and Huron Island.

ARTICLES FILED.

New Steamship Company Subsidiary to Western Transit Line.

The articles of incorporation for the newly created Cleveland-Chicago Transit company were filed with the register of deeds this morning. The company will engage in general marine transportation on the Great Lakes, operating a line of freight vessels between Cleveland and Milwaukee and Chicago.

The new company is subsidiary to the Western Transit company, all of the incorporators being connected with the latter concern. They are: Oscar A. Anderson, Peter C. Wright, Nels Bakken, Rudolph Ronning and N. C. Dunleavy. The first meeting will be held in the Board of Trade building next Thursday, at which time officers will be elected.

Marine Notes.

The referendum vote of the Lake Seamen's union, to decide the sentiment here in regard to declaring a strike, was completed today and the results sent from the Superior office to Chicago. The first word as to the outcome will probably be received from the latter city.

WILL WAIT UNTIL FALL

Duluth Teachers Will Not Start Pension Fund Until Then.

No formal action is likely to be taken by the Duluth public school teachers in organizing to secure benefits under the new teachers' pension law, passed during the closing days of the legislature, until next fall, according to Prof. F. N. Burrall, principal of the Franklin school.

Prof. Burrall has been an enthusiastic advocate of the bill, and he and the local teachers in general, are highly pleased at the outcome. He believes, however, that the law becomes effective so late in the school year that it will not be advisable to do anything at this time.

"A large number of the teachers will leave Duluth in a few weeks who will not return until after the summer vacations," he said. "The percentage of new teachers next fall will be large, and it is better to wait until that time and get the sentiment of the new as well as the old instructors. The first step will be to call a meeting of teachers, but what course will be decided upon I, of course, do not know."

The new law applies to cities of the first class and allows a city tax of one-tenth of a mill to be levied. The teachers will also contribute, and the purpose is to provide a fund for the benefit of teachers who have served for a certain number of years in the public schools. Whether the city tax is levied or not, is optional with the council.

THE PENAL CODE IS ALL WRONG

S. M. Slonin So Declares at Progressive Club Meeting.

S. M. Slonin, in addressing a meeting of the Independent Progressive club, held in Kalamazoo hall, last night, declared that the penal code is all wrong, and much harm is being done in consequence to society and to criminals themselves.

There is great room for improvement in the present methods of dealing with criminals, he said. Under the present system, he maintained, instead of being kept from becoming criminals, young men and boys are educated into becoming thieves, robbers and murderers.

Mr. Slonin expressed the belief that the reformatory movement, which provides for the treatment of criminals by trained attendants, offers the best solution for the problem. By it criminals may be reformed, and turned into honest, self-supporting citizens.

A. Flinx also delivered an address, taking "Education in Ancient Times" as a subject, and Max Conoval gave a 15-minute address on "Territorialism, or a Jewish Government." A Yiddish recitation was given by A. Dieman. The organization was formed for educational purposes, and now has a large membership.

DASH IN AUTO CHECKS A MOB

Nebraska Sheriff Saves an Italian From Angry Pursuers.

Lincoln, Neb., April 26.—A wild ride by Sheriff Trude of Gage county, who rescued Fierus Bertudi, an Italian, from a mob, and raced away with his prisoner in an automobile, possibly prevented a lynching late Saturday at Wymore, Neb.

John Weisner, aged 12, the son of a section boss on the Burlington railroad, was found shot and unconscious in a bunk car occupied by a gang of Italian section men.

Bertudi was accused, but asserted the boy had taken a revolver from one of the bunks and had shot himself. An examination disclosed that the boy had been shot in the back.

A mob from Wymore formed and started for the Burlington yards, but Sheriff Trude arrived in an auto in time to foil the party.

The sheriff drove hurriedly to Beatrice, ten miles distant, where Bertudi is now in the county jail and under a strong guard.

The prisoner is 18 years of age and came to Nebraska recently from Chicago, where he has relatives.

Weisner is not expected to survive.

IGNORES COURT'S CALL.

W. J. Strickler Cannot Be Located By the Deputy Sheriffs.

Deputy sheriffs are looking for W. J. Strickler, against whom a temporary restraining order was issued by the court asking him to appear in court and show cause why he should not be permanently restrained from interference with his son, who has been in the custody of his mother since her divorce from Strickler. Strickler failed to appear in court.

The lad is 7 years of age and his mother, Mrs. W. A. Loveland of 408 First avenue west, says she is afraid to allow him to go to school, for fear that her former husband or his agents will spirit him away.

It is supposed that Strickler has returned to Minneapolis.

THE FIRST REAL PRICE REDUCTION OPPORTUNITY of the SEASON

Tomorrow we place on sale fifty Spring Suits, that up to now have sold for $42.50, at the extremely low price of $29.50. Every suit is correct in style, material and workmanship; the only reason for reducing them being that there are only one or two of a style in which sizes are broken, materials we are unable to re-order on or some other equally good reason. Included are beautiful diagonal cutaways in soft pastel shades, soft finisht woolens with the new graduated bottom effects to the coats; self-tone stripes, serges in black and colors. Every one well worth the original price, but selling tomorrow at $29.50.

SILK SPECIAL

For Tuesday only we offer our $1 line of shadow striped Messalines at 69c the yard—such wanted shades as helio, rose, wistaria, reseda, blue, black and ivory.

For tomorrow we will also offer a splendid quality in fine 27-inch black taffeta at 69c the yard. The usual value of this silk is $1.00.

RETURNS FROM BUYING TRIP

C. E. Bassett Says Local Business Conditions Are Better Than in East.

After visiting the leading cities of the East during the past two weeks, I am very glad our business is located right here in Duluth, for retail trade is vastly better here than in any place I have visited. Owing to conditions, I was able to make many favorable contracts for goods which are now on the way. Yes, I bought largely, and have unlimited faith in our city in every way.

I was delighted when a telegram told me of our governor's veto of the tonnage tax, and sincerely hope the lawmakers of our state will see the folly of attempting any such unfair legislation, for such incidents are blots on the pages of our state history. I consider Minnesota the greatest of all the Western states, with her vast and diversified interests, and no citizen can afford to harbor small or backward ideas which may retard her progress. The largest and strongest points in Minnesota's make-up are its lake port and its iron interests. They are vital to the great future of the entire state and to the Northwest.

In my opinion, Duluth has the most brilliant future of any city of its size in America, and she is just coming into her own, but in our prosperity, we should not forget to be fair to others, as we expect them to be fair to us. Wherever it may be, I am always mighty glad to register from Duluth, Minn.

Menominee Woman Stricken.

Menominee, Mich., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—While walking along the principal street of the city on the way to the home of her son early Friday, Mrs. A. Nightingall was stricken with heart failure and lived less than five minutes. The deceased is survived by a large family.

TWO BILLS VETOED BY GOVERNOR JOHNSON.

St. Paul, Minn., April 26.—Governor Johnson on Saturday vetoed the Vall and Kneeland-Stuart bills providing for exemptions in the state inheritance tax law. One exempted bequests to charitable institutions and the other relieved immediate members of a family from the tax. The veto came following a conference with C. L. Hilton of the state legal department and State Auditor Iverson. It was agreed that the exemptions might invalidate the entire inheritance tax law.

FORMER REPRESENTATIVE BABCOCK IS WEAKER.

Washington, April 24.—Former Representative Joseph W. Babcock of Wisconsin, who has been critically ill for some time with a complication of liver troubles, is gradually growing weaker. Considerable improvement was shown in his condition about ten days ago, when it was thought he might recover, but a change for the worse occurred last Thursday. It was stated today that he is very low, and the end is almost momentarily expected.

RECREANT HUSBAND GIVEN A TOUGH DEAL.

Menominee, Mich., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Accosted by a crowd of fellow employes, angered by the manner in which he has treated his wife and family, Casmir Johnson, an employe of the Wisconsin Land & Lumber company at Hermansville, was dragged from the mill to a clump of woods half a mile away, his clothes torn from his body, and, after he was almost beaten into insensibility, was hurled into the icy Menominee river and then fished out, more dead than alive.

The whipping came as the climax to a number of warnings Johnson received from fellow employes, to eother quit drinking and abusing his family or stand the consequences.

ALF ALLEN'S LIFE STORY

Former Pugilist Tells His History at Men's Meeting.

Rise From Drunkard's Cell Related in Graphic Language.

Few lives have been touched with so many dramatic incidents as that of Alf Allen, the ex-pugilist, who spoke yesterday at a stirring mass meeting at the Y. M. C. A.

From the lowest depths of degradation and debauchery to a place of honor and respect among Christian platform workers is a long call. Mr. Allen told the story of his life in language not always in accordance with the established rules of grammar, not always free from the slang and colloquialisms of the prize ring, but with an earnest and convincing eloquence that found response in the hearts of all present.

It was the old story of a rapid fall, the iron clutches of strong drink, and the mental and moral paralysis that accompanies it. It was only when he was utterly forsaken and penniless, serving a six months' sentence in jail, where he had been sent by his aged father, that the resolution to lead a better life came to him. His rise from that time was as rapid as his fall, and Mr. Allen prides himself today as being an example of what Christian resolution can do for the worst of men.

"Side Door Pullman."

He told of coming to Duluth eighteen years ago, in his picturesque language he said: "I walked here from Brainerd. From here I started for Iron River by way of the side-door Pullman route, but across the bay they nipped me and told me I was in the wrong berth. They took me to a boarding house for thirty days, and gave me a good position pulling stumps in front of the city hall. After that, business took me to Marquette, and from thence I made my way to the Soo. I wanted to shine, but the friend I did business with there gave me a couple of lamps that had no relation to the shine I was after, and I decided to go home."

While working in a Canadian foundry some of Allen's friends arranged a secret mill for him. He knocked out his man and entered the ring professionally. A few fights and he was middle weight champion of Canada.

Then money came easy and with it a desire to spend and his downfall from that time was rapid.

"I decided to buy a home for the wife and babies," he said, "but a friend, instead of buying a home, bought me a saloon. In that saloon, or road house, I went through all the stages of drunkenness and ruin. I became a drinking man. I entered the card game, I played the races, I became a whisky fiend and found myself one day destitute and my family wandering the streets, penniless. For two years I walked the streets, an absinthe fiend, my only relief from tremens being morphine."

Then one day he found himself in police court with his father as complaining witness. He was given six months and it was in the solitude of a cell that the first seeds of conversion were sown. After his time expired, he was sent to the Moody institute at Chicago and since that time has been engaged in Christian work. Mr. Allen told dramatically of meeting with his mother and wife after his conversion.

"One night, it was my supreme pleasure to stand before an audience of 6,000 men, with 6,000 more on the outside, unable to gain admission in the old auditorium that had been the scene of my battles, and tell the story of my conversion. In one of the boxes sat my gray-haired mother, bathing her face in tears of joy."

In Montreal after preaching to an immense audience he had invited converts to the rostrum. The last to come forward were his own wife and boy. It was the first time he had seen them since he had left them penniless and homeless.

At the close Mr. Allen invited any who wished to come on the platform and shake hands with him. Five responded and pledged themselves to listen to their mothers' prayers and aim to lead a better life. Excellent vocal and instrumental music was rendered before and after the services.

FRED H. MERRITT BACK FROM EAST

Broker, Whose Reported Failure Caused Talk Last Week, Is Home.

Fred H. Merritt, the copper broker whose financial difficulties as reported on the local copper curb attracted much attention last week, has returned from Pittsburg.

He was at his office this morning but declared himself unprepared as yet to make any statement concerning his affairs, as he had not had time to go into a number of matters which demanded his immediate attention and the knowledge of which he wished before discussing his plans.

As soon as he got here, Mr. Merritt dived into the business tangle which confronted him, and he was there this morning, with sleeves rolled up.

He stated that he intended to make some sort of statement as soon as he had the time and could ascertain better in just what shape his affairs now stand.

MINING STOCK MARKET ASSURED

Duluth Exchange Is Revived and Already Has Full Membership.

The Duluth Mining Stock Exchange has been revived and will begin operations within a month.

A meeting of those interested was held late Saturday afternoon at the Commercial club and all those who applied to the old officers for membership signed the constitution and by-laws and received their certificates.

Another meeting of the members will be held May 3 at the Commercial club, when nine directors will be elected. These directors will immediately elect a board of officers, and make arrangements for the beginning of trading on the exchange as soon as possible thereafter.

Suitable rooms will be secured and the best Duluth curb copper stocks will be listed on the exchange, to be traded in on the floor by the association members. Nearly every brokerage office along the street is represented in the exchange. The membership is limited to fifty, and these have all been taken.

FOUND DEAD IN BED.

Woodsman Dies During the Night From Heart Failure.

Andrew Johnson, a woodsman, was found dead in his bed at the Lake Avenue hotel, 228 Lake avenue south, yesterday morning. Heart disease is believed to have been the cause of his death.

The man had been employed in one of the Alger-Smith camps, north of Knife River, and arrived in the city a week ago. Since then he has been stopping at the Lake Avenue hotel. When the chambermaid went to take care of his room yesterday, she found him lying dead in bed. Johnson was 58 years old, and had no relatives in Duluth.

NATURE HELPS THE DYNAMITE

Assists in Clearing the Channel at Niagara River's Mouth.

Youngstown, N. Y., April 26.—A bustling northwest squall followed by an even more energetic southwest gale, cleared the Canadian channel at the mouth of the Niagara river, broadened the passage torn out by dynamite along the American shore of the stream and so viciously ripped away the lower end of the ice pack that it is now possible to cross the river in a boat by a straight course from the fort to Niagara on the lake.

Southward from the village trails an open channel following the middle of the river as far as the whirlpool. This ever broadening channel has the appearance of being carved out with a great ice plow, so sharply and squarely does the high, white edge plunge down into the stream. Between the precipitious banks masses of dingy ice, long and ponderous as freight steamers, sail down to the lower river.

It is the belief of old residents here that the billions of tons of ice still anchored to the river banks will now slip down stream without further damage.

COMMISSIONERS NAMED.

Governor Appoints Three to Investigate Liability Laws.

St. Paul, Minn., April 26.—Governor John A. Johnson has appointed the three commissioners who are to investigate employers' liability legislation in other states and countries and report to the next legislature. The appointees are George M. Gillette, representing the employers; W. E. McEwen, state labor commissioner, representing the workingmen and H. V. Mercer, representing the bar. The law provides that the employers and workingmen shall each be represented by one man, and that the third commissioner shall be learned in the law.

These commissioners will serve without salary, but they will be allowed $5,000 to cover their expenses. It is Germany and other European countries which have workingmen's compensation acts.

A law passed by the last legislature requires employers and casualty insurance companies to file with state officials a report of all accidents in Minnesota.

The governor has vetoed the bill amending the mortgage registry law, which reduced the fee from 50 cents to 10 cents per $100.

GIRL CAUGHT IN MACHINERY

An Employe of Laundry Has Narrow Escape From Death.

Miss Agnes Busse, an employe of the Home laundry, was caught in the cogs of a machine at the laundry late Saturday afternoon, and had a narrow escape from death. The machinery was stopped in time to save her from being drawn into the machine, but her clothing was almost entirely torn from her body, and she was quite badly injured about the head and face. Fortunately, however, there were no internal injuries.

At the time of the accident, Miss Busse was standing beside a machine, known as the mangle, in conversation with a friend. She was standing so close to the machine that her skirt caught in the flying wheels, and the cogs held it and pulled her violently towards the machine. Friends hastened to her aid, and the machinery was stopped. The girl was almost insensible from her wounds and from fright.

The ambulance was summoned, and Miss Busse was hurried to St. Mary's hospital, where she is today reported as resting easily. Her injuries are not of a nature that will permanently disfigure her face.

PROWLER SHOT BY OFFICER

Special Policeman Hits Would-be Burglar in the Hip.

Special Railroad Detective M. M. Walsh, employed by the Missabe road, last night shot Mike Bodavitch through the hip, at Proctor, while the latter was trying to break into a car of beer. His wounds are not serious.

The shooting occurred shortly after 10 o'clock in the evening. Walsh had reason to believe that the man was armed and took no chances. He shot once, and the bullet entered low on the right hip, glancing from a bone.

The proper authorities were notified of the shooting, and the wounded man was brought to Duluth on a freight train during the night and taken to St. Mary's hospital, where the wound was dressed.

WILD MAN OF THE FOREST

Lee Fields Arrested as Murder Suspect, But Released.

Suspected of being implicated in the Connelly murder at Proctor, a man giving the name of Lee Harry Fields, who looked like a veritable wild man of the woods, was brought to Duluth from a point near Two Harbors yesterday, by a special officer in the employ of the Missabe road.

Chief Troyer soon found that Fields did not, in any particular, tally with the description of the Proctor murderers, and the man was released. He entered a logging camp in the vicinity of Two Harbors Friday night, and asked for a meal. While eating he exhibited a revolver of large caliber, and told many tales of his wanderings in the forest.

From his general appearance and from his conversation, the men present concluded he must be a fugitive from justice, and held him until the sheriff could be summoned from Two Harbors. Later, he was turned over to the railroad detective and brought to Duluth. He admits having been in the state penitentiary on a charge of forgery. He claims to have spent most of the past winter wandering around in the woods, living like a savage, feasting one day and starving the next. Yesterday he was dirty, ragged, and unshaven.

GREAT CONTRALTO CANCELS; NEEDS REST

Berlin, April 26.—Mrs. Schumann-Heink, the opera singer, left Hamburg yesterday on board the steamer Bluecher for New York, having canceled her remaining spring engagements in Germany, France and Belgium on the advice of her physicians. The doctors counseled rest before she shall begin her autumn engagements in the United States.

Small or 35 Cent Size

FREE CONCERT.

French Music Featured at Entertainment at Masonic Temple.

The sprightly character of the music by the modern French composers which characterized the program of music given yesterday afternoon on the occasion of the twenty-fifth free concert at the Masonic temple seemed to please the large audience.

The vocal portion of the program was sustained by Leon Cooley, whose pleasing tenor voice proved acceptable to those present.

Mr. Cooley's stage presence and sweet tones made him a favorite and after the first piece, "Matthata," by Tosti, a song on the sentimental order, he had to respond to an encore and rendered another sentimental number by Spickler, "Evening and Morning." The second vocal selection, "Grasses and Roses," by Hawley, was a very pleasant song, well sung, and the encore, "Dublin's Fair City," an old Irish ballad, gave Mr. Cooley the best opportunity to demonstrate the sweetness and range of his voice.

"Orpheus aux Enfer," the "Toreador's" song from Carmen; "Giroflo-Girofla," "Faust," the overture from "Mignon," and a selection from Massenet "Le Cid," with its beautiful slow movement towards the end, gave a wide range of typical French music which was thoroughly enjoyed.

The next Sunday's program will consist of the works of German composers, beginning with the overture to "Egmont," by Beethoven and ending with the overture to "Tannhauser," by Wagner. Between those will be other characteristic compositions for the organ.

You've Certainly Got to Eat

But common sense in eating may head off Indigestion. Kodol corrects Indigestion by Digesting the food, while the stomach gets well. Also wards off Dyspepsia.

There are a lot of things that will bring on serious stomach disorder—if you persist in doing them. You are probably doing some of them. Nervous Dyspepsia is an awful complaint. Kodol will prevent your having it.

A regular diet of rich, greasy foods and soggy hot bread—rapid eating without chewing sufficiently—overloading the stomach—all result in indigestion, and more dangerous ailments. Kodol is for Dyspepsia and indigestion.

But Kodol will take care of these matters very easily—if you will give Kodol a chance.

Kodol does what it does, not because there is anything miraculous about it. It merely duplicates the natural process of digesting food as ordinarily carried on by Nature. Every tablespoonful of Kodol will digest 2¼ pounds of food.

Our Guarantee. Get a dollar bottle of Kodol. If you are not benefited—the druggist will at once return your money. Don't hesitate; any druggist will sell you Kodol on these terms. The dollar bottle contains 2½ times as much as the 50c bottle. Kodol is prepared in the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago.

Give your stomach "a square deal" by eating

SOAP OUT OF DATE.

Soap out of date?

That certainly sounds startling in these days of cleanliness and hygiene; but the introduction of such a soap powder as Gold Dust has made the slow-dissolving cake of soap a "back number."

The reason is simple.

Until soap is dissolved it can not soften water or remove dirt. The cake must be cut up and dissolved to make a "soft soap" before it is really effective for washing clothes while the fine grains of Gold Dust being so small, dissolve at once. Besides, Gold Dust has a double reaction in water; it dissolves the hard lime, etc., to make the water soft, and in so doing is instantly dissolved itself. Therefore, Gold Dust is the most convenient, as well as the best cleanser—for clothes and everything.

railroad tracks, where they cross the Rice Lake road.

As soon as he was satisfied the man was dead, he hitched up a team and drove to Duluth, notifying the police.

Coroner McCuen was told of the discovery, and Durkan & Crawford instructed to bring the body to the city. Their team started out before daylight and returned about 11. The man's clothing was searched and there was found a small memorandum book, issued by the Tahlen clothing & Shoe house of Duluth, in which the address of Talva Khuri, 21 West Fifth street, was found, among others. There was also a prescription for medicine.

Name Not of Boarder.

Reporters called at the address given and found the name is that of a man boarding there, who had come in from the woods a week ago. He was not at home at the time, but other occupants of the house agreed to look him up and take him to the morgue to see if he could establish an identification. Up to an early hour this afternoon the man had not shown up, but as he has been at his room every night the last week it is believed he will be heard from soon.

The body was evidently that of a woodsman. He was about 5 feet 8 inches high and strongly built, with light hair and mustache. The driver of the undertaker's wagon made a careful search within a radius of several rods of the body, as it rested on the snow mound, in an effort to find a knife or some other kind of weapon, but the search was in vain. This fact alone, aside from the position of the cuts on the face, would indicate that it was not a case of suicide.

The six cuts on the face were scattered, two of them being high on the cheek bones, making it appear that it was only after a struggle that the murderer was able to reach a vital spot. The cut in the throat extended from the right ear downward and was about three inches in length. The man had bled freely, and the bosom of his shirt and front of his coat were thoroughly soaked with blood. Owing to the fact that there was no snow except directly under the body, the driver was unable to tell by general conditions aside from the body anything about the struggle that had occurred. There was scarcely any underbrush at the spot, so there was no chance of broken branches indicating anything in that direction.

Coroner McCuen will hold an inquest tomorrow.

FUGITIVE SHINN IS KIDNAPED

Beltrami's Former Treasurer Is Outwitted by Portland Detectives.

Portland, Or., April 26.—Boldly kidnaped by two Portland detectives and delivered in Vancouver, Wash., when twelve miles from Portland, to Sheriff A. B. Hazen, O. J. Shinn, former treasurer of Beltrami county, Minn., is speeding back to Minnesota in Hazen's charge. He is accused of absconding with $335 on July 15, 1905.

While Sheriff Hazen was coming from Minnesota and when no papers were on file Shinn's attorney instituted habeas corpus proceedings, and succeeded in getting him off. As he reached the sidewalk in front of the courthouse, Shinn laughed at Detective Coleman over his failure to hold him.

Nearby stood another detective in an automobile and Shinn was forcibly hustled in and whizzed to a neighboring state outside the jurisdiction of the Oregon habeas corpus.

WARSHIPS HURRY FOR PROTECTION

Go to Aid the Americans at Scene of Massacres.

Washington, April 26.—Rushing to Alexandretta from Guantanamo, Cuba, to protect Americans in the troubled towns of Asia Minor, the armored cruisers Montana and North Carolina at 8 o'clock last night were about 520 miles south of the Bermuda islands.

Wireless messages to this effect were received by the navy department today.

To Erect Pumphouse.

Aitkin, Minn., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—A double crew will arrive here tomorrow, the one to erect the concrete pumphouse for the Northern Pacific on the bank of Mud river, the other to build the tank north of the track. A pipe line is now being laid to connect the stand pipe at the end of the depot platform with the site of the new tank.

CONCERNING WOMAN.

One of the most welcome band of visitors at the Children's Home for several months was the group of twenty-five of the members of the West Duluth Women's Christian Temperance union who spent the entire afternoon Friday at the home doing the mending and patching necessary. And with a household of seventy-nine, any mother will realize that the task was no light one. The mending of the children's garments is one of the most trying features of the work. The matron and workers in the building have not the time, and besides the regular wear and tear on garments, many mothers in the city are able to send clothes to the home children that are in need of just a few stitches to make them fit for several weeks' wear. The giver may not have the time to spare to do the mending, and there is no one at the home who can rightfully take the time for it, so that the contribution of their time and interest by the W. C. T. U. members for this work is greatly appreciated.

In the reception room a mound of mending awaited them and the last thimble was not put away until every article was whole again. Another, or many such afternoons of help from any society or group of individuals in the city, will be greatly appreciated by the home board and the matron.

Receiving at the home Friday afternoon were Mrs. T. J. Davis, Mrs. J. H. Crowley, Mrs. T. J. Davis, Mrs. J. H. Beatson. A cup of tea was served late in the afternoon by the members of the board who were hostesses for the afternoon.

ELECT OFFICERS.

Saturday Club Members Hold Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Saturday club was held Saturday afternoon at the club room of the library and the reports of the officers were heard. The election for the ensuing year took place and the following officers will serve: President Mrs. A. H. Brocklehurst; first vice president, Mrs. C. C. Ames, second vice president, Mrs. L. E. Paddock, recording secretary, Mrs. C. E. Spring; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. M. Barnes; state federation secretary, Miss Frances Muithauer; treasurer, Mrs. M. H. Maynard; directors, Mrs. Robert Smith and Mrs. Hugh Steele.

Following the business meeting an informal social hour was enjoyed by the members. The tea table was in the club colors, gold and white. Mrs. Julia Barnes presided. Bowls of jonquils were the decorations about the room.

This was the last meeting of the club until the midsummer picnic.

ARRIVE FROM CHINA.

Mr. and Mrs. Burton St. John at San Francisco.

Word has been received in Duluth by Mrs. Julia M. Barnes of the safe arrival at San Francisco of Mr. and Mrs. Burton St. John and their two little sons. Mr. and Mrs. St. John have been in the mission field in China since their marriage in this city six years ago. They sailed from Shanghai on March 30 for a year's leave of absence in this country. Their plans are indefinite, but they will probably not visit Duluth until the middle of the summer. Mrs. St John was formerly Miss Io Barnes, a daughter of Mrs. Julia Barnes.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES.

Last Dinner at Old Rooms to Be Served Thursday.

The last dinner at the old Y. W. C. A. rooms, which have been occupied by the local association for six years, will be served Thursday of this week. The secretaries and assistants are so busily engaged with the details of moving that no special observation will be made at the time, but there will nevertheless be just a little sentiment lavished on this last meal, for the phenomenal growth of the association and its wide-spreading influence has been brought about in the rooms which are now so entirely inadequate for the work. The association wishes to be in the new building by May 1, but it is probable that meals will not be served there for a few days.

• • •

A fine devotional service was held at the rooms yesterday afternoon with Rev. M. S. Rice as the speaker. Miss Alice Sjoselius sang and there were nearly seventy-five members present.

• • •

AGAIN WITH SAVAGE.

Rena Vivienne May Sing in His Company.

There is a possibility that Rena Vivienne, who is this year studying at Berlin, may be engaged again next year with the Savage forces. Henri Gressitt, manager of the Savage "Merry Widow" company, who was in the city and who was also manager of the "Mme. Butterfly" company, with which Miss Vivienne appeared, spoke of her today. "Mr. Savage left for Europe very recently and will see Miss Vivienne at Berlin. Nothing, of course, is settled, but if Mr. Savage decides to present grand opera in English, it is possible that Miss Vivienne will be engaged, for her success in the Butterfly role was country wide. My visit to Duluth reminds me of the awful disappointment of Miss Vivienne and all of the Savage people, and I suppose Duluthians, at the illness which made it impossible for her to appear here after things had been switched around a dozen ways to make it possible. It was a disappointment that an artist isn't called upon to endure in a dozen lifetimes."

WOMEN WORKERS

Fared Well in Treatment By Legislature.

At least one person is content with the accomplishments of the state legislature, the session of which has but recently closed, and that person is Mrs. Perry Starkweather of the state bureau of labor. Mrs. Starkweather is known to Duluth, for she appeared here twice during the winter to interest the citizens in bringing about better conditions for the women wage earners of Minnesota. Mrs. Starkweather spoke at the Civic banquet at the Spalding, and later at a meeting of the women's clubs.

In a recent interview on the laws relating to women, which were enacted at the recent session, Mrs. Starkweather said:

"I wonder if women realize what great good has been done by the passage of several laws by the body which has just finished its work. This has been the greatest winter for women we have ever had in Minnesota, and I should like to voice my gratitude to the members of the legislature. Let me sum up for you what has been done: They have created a woman's department, under the supervision of the commissioner of labor, which will employ five women to do the work I have been trying to do alone; a law has been passed limiting a woman's working hours to ten, with adequate time for meals; laws for better ventilation have been passed, and whenever the commissioner finds an employer who refuses to ventilate properly the rooms where women are employed, he can fine him $10 a day, all toilet rooms must be kept clean and scrubbed once a week; the age of protection was raised to 18 years.

"While they denied women the ballot, the legislators have shown so much consideration for women workers, and have evinced real chivalry and delicacy in the protection given them by these laws, that we can afford to wait for suffrage. Indeed what women want to vote for—at all events one of the reasons—is to bring about the very laws which have been put on the statute books by this legislature. Therefore, in view of these things, let us take the good the gods send and wait and hope for more.

"I also want to say that all these regulations are to be put into effect by the labor commissioner, and that they could not be in better hands than in those of W. E. McEwen, the present incumbent. He feels deeply on the subject, and the women workers of this state are assured of a square deal with Mr. McEwen in charge.

"The anti-tuberculosis campaign has been given the most vital assistance by the passage of these laws. When you recall that the highest death rate from that dread disease is among girls from 10 to 20, you can readily see what a great step in advance has been taken by making laws which insist upon cleanliness and ventilation. This legislation is entitled to the respect and gratitude of every woman worker in Minnesota, and I am glad of this opportunity to praise them for their work."

Wolf - La Voie.

Invitations have been received in the city for the wedding of Miss Elizabeth S. Wolf of Quincy, Ill., and L. A. La Voie of this city. PLANT SWEET PEAS.

Not Too Early to Put Them In.

The sweet pea, which is a flower that everybody likes and is unexcelled for prolific blooming and for producing cut flowers, should be planted early in the season, in April if possible.

Sow it in trenches six inches deep, covering with an inch of soil at first and drawing in more and more from time to time as the plants shoot up until the trench is entirely filled with soil.

The nasturtium is old fashioned, but it has held favor against newcomers. It is one of the easiest flowers to grow, flourishing in almost any soil where there is good sunlight. Dwarf or tall plants in a score of color combinations may be obtained. The dwarf variety makes an excellent border for a shrubbery plantation.

The petunia is of remarkably easy culture and makes a brilliant and constant show. For beds where a brilliant color display is desired few annuals surpass the Shirley poppy. Its petals have the sheen of silk. Some flowers are double, and some single. The colors range from purest white to scarlet.

Zinnias are large plants suitable for back rows and hedges. They may be obtained in nearly all colors, they flower profusely all season, and flourish where more delicate flowers would die.

SIMPLE LIFE

Is Led By Children of Millionaires.

The old haphazard methods of nursling a child whenever the child cried, of tossing a baby up and down, or rocking it to and fro with the motion of a pendulum, of passing a baby from hand to hand as if it were a curio, of waking it when it slept, that a visitor might see it smile—all these antique procedures have passed away and forever gone out of existence in the millionaire nursery. Science is here the mandmaid of wealth. Bathing, ventillation, food, rest, exercise, playtime, sleeping and waking, indeed everything that has the least relation to the development of a growing child, are matters carried forward according to schedule. The results justify the means. Few children compare in beauty, symmetry and the charm of exuberant health with the children whose happy lot has been cast in the pleasant environment of an American home of wealth, writes Margaret E. Sangster in the May Woman's Home Companion on "The Millionaire Mother."

The note of simplicity is in the ascendant in such a home. The children are not overdressed or early made blase by an excess of toys, nor is the foundation for future dyspepsia laid by a superabundance of sweets. The unlimited candy, the surfeit of pastry, the hot biscuits and pickles that are too often the diet of children in modest households, where money is scarce, are entirely unknown to the children of the millionaire mother. She would be quite as likely to permit her children a taste of poison as to allow them to eat all the candy they chose at all hours of the day.

The raiment worn by these little favorites of the gods is fine and dainty, comfortable and convenient, but is seldom overloaded with lace and elaborate ruffles. Boys and girls are given plenty of liberty to romp and tumble about in the fresh air, and are so dressed that freedom of movement is easy and unshackled. They are taught to ride their ponies, to drive, to swim, to row, to dance, to play basketball and are early introduced to the whole range of athletic sports. Later, when the kindergarten age is passed, each successive stage of their education, from the schoolroom to the university, comes under the mother's scrupulous watch and ward.

Naturally, and in America, inevitably, the chief burden of rearing children rests upon the mother. Our multi-millionaires are the busiest and the most engrossed of men, working more hours than their employes, and seldom getting much repose, except when at intervals they are sent away for an imperative holiday. The women of America find their occupation in the training of the next generation, and never do they bring more energy and intelligence to the task than when their children are to inherit vast fortunes and wide-reaching responsibilities.

ONE-PIECE FROCKS.

The Insistent Feature of the Season Styles.

The 1909 one-piece effect will be achieved with long lengths of fabric fitted to the figure, not in the facile manner of last season, when a blouse and skirt were combined under a belt, a panel being added in front to suggest a one-piece effect. The 1909 dress is a much more serious proposition for the inexperienced dressmaker to undertake, for it must fit apparently without fitting, and only the master hand can accomplish this effect without bunching.

This fancy for one-piece frocks amounts to a veritable craze in Paris. Every courtier is vying with all the others to turn out a model so individual in style that it shall make a fashionmate of the name behind it.

In linen there are particularly pretty one-piece dresses; one charming rose-colored model by the unsurpassed Cherult looking for all the world like a simple little pinafore, covering the wearer from neck to ankles and being strapped at the back under a big fancy button.

But the deceitful little simple pinafore will prove a puzzling problem to the woman who tries to copy the wonderful sloping cut of this graceful frock, the front gore being a triangle, the back a straight panel and the sides fitting around and under the other portions like a section of a jigsaw puzzle.

Perhaps the smartest of all the one-piece dresses are the new polonaises, which button from neck to hem and hang in long, simple lines which outline without accentuating the curves of the figure.

Prominent Women.

Princess Fatima el Melmed, wife of a Turkish prince, is busy in forming a league of Turkish women, the members of which are to pledge themselves not to marry men who take more than one wife, says a writer.

She was smuggled out of the harem several years ago, went to Berlin and studied the woman question. She was cast off by her husband and father, but when she was nearly starved to death the revolution broke out and she was allowed to return to her own country.

the EVENING STORY

BILL SIMPSON'S HIRED MAN

By Maurice Smiley.

(Copyrighted. All rights reserved.)

If three different people had only known the same thing, those three different people would have pursued three separate—or similar—courses of action.

If Bill Simpson, for instance, had known that Dick Wright was the son and heir of the big banker in the city who held Bill's financial life in the hollow of his hands, he would not have made quite so much fun of the "tenderfoot" who had got a job on the ranch. Bill was not a psychologist, and he could not have appreciated the motives which would lead a young man reared in the lap of luxury (to coin an expression) to give up the wine suppers and the whirl of society and the automobile and come away out here into Colorado and work as a ranch hand for $40 a month and board.

I know why he did it, but I am not at liberty to explain, further than to say that the young fellow had the right sort of stuff in him. That's why he had come originally. He stayed for this reason and one other, which for his reason was an honorable one.

Miss Harding herself would not have treated him quite so cavalierly, for all she was good nature and consideration herself. Perhaps she would not have experienced so many disquieting qualms as she pondered the mystery of the man's attractiveness. She knew enough of the West to know that every fellow who wears chaps and a sombero is not an uncouth lout or a desperado. But she thought of becoming interested—or rather of continuing interested—in a common cowpuncher was a little too simple for even so ardent a theoretical devotee of the simple life as Mabel Harding. Simplicity was all right; but that was a bit too Arcadian.

And finally, Wilbur Jenkins would of all three have pursued a radically different course. If he had known that Dick Wright was the Richard Wright, the present vice president of the Calumet club, from which Wilbur had been expelled for certain good and sufficient reasons, he would have either "vamoosed the ranch," in Western parlance, or he would have treated Dick Wright with vastly more consideration. Of course, Dick was too far beneath him to be jealous of him; but it isn't quite the part of discretion, when you are a common blackguard to treat any man after quite so caddish a fashion as Wilbur treated the "fellow from the Simpson ranch," who had done the honors of the establishment on several occasions when parties from the park had stopped on their tours of the neighborhood.

Dick was smiling to himself, as he cantered toward the park this particular morning, to think how surprised everybody concerned would be to know the truth of his identity. One word from him would squeeze Bill Simpson in bankruptcy. One word from him would show Wilbur Jenkins to Miss Harding in his true colors, and one word from him would cause Miss Harding herself either the greatest happiness or the greatest distress of her life. The thought of speaking that word so far as Bill was concerned was out of the question. The time had not yet come to speak it as to Wilbur, and whether it was ever spoken to Miss Harding depended upon whether she really loved him. Of one thing he was determined, and that was that she should never marry Wilbur Jenkins, a common card sharp.

The sharp ring of horses' hoofs in front caused him to pause, and as he saw Jenkins and an unknown companion of rather sinister appearance he quietly drew aside to avoid meeting them.

As Jenkins and the stranger passed the spot where Wright was hidden by the scrub oaks Jenkins was saying:

"If you do the job well there's a hundred in it for you. This Harding girl is a romantic dunce, but I need her in my business. I've got to have her to keep off my uppers. Now she'll be riding by the falls about 9 o'clock tonight and you are to play the lone highwayman act. I shall try to persuade her to wear her diamonds. If she does you can make your get-away with them in spite of my best efforts to prevent you. If she doesn't wear them we will simply have a terrific battle in her defense and you can vanish, leaving me the hero of a romantic rescue from a fierce bandit. She wants the simple life and I intend to try to give her a touch of it. Why, I believe she's half in love with—"

Dick heard no more as the men spurred up their horses and disappeared over the hills.

Now there is not the slightest connection between an overdue freight train and the bungalow of an heiress in which a common cowpuncher happens to be interested. But Dick brazenly made his way to Miss Harding's cottage.

"You are going riding with Mr. Jenkins tonight?" he asked abruptly.

Miss Harding drew herself up haughtily.

"No offense," he hastily said. "Only let me suggest that diamonds are quite the proper thing to wear out here in the mountains. I want you to be convinced, Miss Harding, with the evidence of your own senses. I want you to promise me to wear your diamonds when you start; then when you get into the lonely country I want you to get afraid, take them off and carefully secrete them, giving to Mr. Jenkins a packet purporting to contain your jewels. Will you do this and rely upon my assurance that I have the best of reasons for asking it?"

Long before Dick had ceased speaking Miss Harding had ceased to be haughty. She never fully trusted Jenkins, and had gone out with him largely for the reason that there were no men of her own station at the park to act as her escort. She saw that Dick had some ulterior reason for his strange request and she had faith enough in him to believe that his reason was an honorable one.

Two horses were leisurely walking past the beautiful little falls that night when a masked figure suddenly sprang out into the road.

"Halt!" he exclaimed, in a threatening voice, and the horses were reined up on the instant. Then, with the seeming fury of a madman the highwayman sprang at Miss Harding and apparently struck her a stunning blow with his revolver.

"Pretend to fall to the ground insensible," whispered Dick, hurriedly, and Miss Harding sank to the ground as Jenkins, with a tremendous show of bravery, sprang to the "rescue."

"What did you do that for, you fool?" he cried angrily, when he saw the girl on the ground. "Don't you know she might be badly hurt?" Here are the diamonds she gave me to keep for her. Now you make yourself scarce while I scratch myself up a bit and pretend to have engaged in a terrible battle with you. I'll see you in Denver on Saturday. You know where."

Wilbur Jenkins met with the surprise of his life at that moment.

"You miserable cad!" exclaimed Dick, as he gave him the full force of his good, right arm. "That will convince anybody that you have been fighting a bobcat at the very least. I thought if I gave you enough rope you would hang yourself, but I didn't think you were quite such a cur. Now you make yourself scarce and if you ever show yourself in this part of the country again I'll break you in two!"

"Who the devil are you, anyway?" snarled the fellow.

"Oh, only Bill Simpson's hired man," replied Dick, coolly.

"But the girl?"

"The girl is quite able to take care of herself, Mr. Jenkins," said Mabel, quietly, rising to her feet.

"Where is Tony?" asked Jenkins, sullenly.

"Oh, he's lariated out there in the scrub oaks," answered Dick carelessly. "You see, I got here a little while before he did."

"The devil take the lot of you!" exclaimed Jenkins, as he mounted his horse and spurred away.

That left only two—only two people who love deach other; two people out among the everlasting hills, under the white stars; two people who heard the music of the waters only as an echo of the melody that rang through their own hearts; two people whose story of happiness began when Mabel Harding became the wife of Bill Simpson's hired man.

RECORDS ALL SAVED.

No Valuables Lost in Red Lake County Courthouse.

Red Lake Falls, Minn., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—County Auditor O'Brien and other Red Lake county officials have opened the safes in the different offices in the ruins of the courthouse that was destroyed by fire Friday night and find the records and other valuable documents in good shape, having stood the fire better than expected.

The county commissioners are making arrangements for temporary quarters. It is expected the destruction of the building will mean the resumption again of the county seat fight. The total loss from the fire was about $4,000, fully covered by insurance.

MRS. ROOSEVELT CHANGES PLANS

She Will Spend Next Winter at Sagamore Hill.

Oyster Bay, R. I., April 26.—Instead of remaining in Europe through next winter and traveling up the Nile in the spring to meet the former president, Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt will return to this country about Nov. 1 and spend the winter months at the family home at Sagamore Hill. This announcement was made here today.

Mrs. Roosevelt, with three of the Roosevelt children, Miss Ethel, Archie and Quentin, will sail for Europe about July 1 and will spend a month with Miss Carew, Mrs. Roosevelt's sister, at her villa near Rome. Thence they will go to France, on a trip planned especially for Miss Ethel's benefit.

Thence, instead of going to Italy for the winter and proceeding on the African journey in the spring as previously planned, Mrs. Roosevelt and her children will sail for America about Nov. 1. If any plans have been made by the family for further journeying following the winter's sojourn at Oyster Bay, no announcement has yet been made of them.

BANKER SMITH, APPLETON, DIES

Was One of Middle West's Best Known Financiers.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 26.—A Journal special from Appleton, Wis., says:

Henry D. Smith, ex-president of the Wisconsin Bankers' association, secretary and treasurer of the Wisconsin Traction, Heat, Light & Power company, president of the First National bank and president of the Riverside Fibre & Paper company, died at his home in this city today at the age of 67 years, after a lingering illness. He was one of the most prominent bankers in the Middle West.

TIE GAME AT IRON RIVER

Spaldings of Duluth in Snappy Contest in Wisconsin Town.

Iron River, Wis., April 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Spalding team from Duluth played a fast game with the local nine here yesterday, the score at the end of nine innings being a tie. It was necessary to call the game then to enable the Duluth players to catch their train.

Both teams seemed in midseason form and the playing was fast and snappy. The Spaldings made two errors and the local team four. The Spaldings secured seven hits off Addington, while Duffy allowed the home players but three. The lineup was as follows:

Spaldings		Iron River
Duffy	p	Addington
Danielson	c	Diestad
Wagner	1b	Flandrey
Pease	2b	Boneau
Ebner	3b	Machon
Ruther	ss	Johnson
Hanson	lf	Bade
Jonson	cf	Batheau

FIGHT WAS AGAIN POSTPONED

Whitehead Could Not Meet Gunther With a Broken Hand.

Walter Whitehead, the Duluth colored pug, did not meet George Gunther Saturday night, as had been arranged.

The bout was postponed because Whitehead broke his hand while sparring with his trainer. Gunther agreed to call the fight off, as he saw that Whitehead could not fight in that condition. Both men agreed to meet next week, although the day or the place has not as yet been decided.

This makes at least the fourth time the scrap has been postponed, and Duluth followers of the fight game are wondering if the men really intend to get together at all or not. It must be said on the part of the fighters, however, that they have done their best. Three times the fight was declared off because the club that was to have pulled it off got cold feet and refused, at the last moment to take a chance. The broken hand on Whitehead's part is no stall. He has a bad-looking fist.

Whitehead is now being managed by one of his colored brothers, who will in the future arrange his fights for him. C. O'Neil is the new manager.

Brainerd Has Team.

Brainerd, Minn., April 26.—The Brainerd baseball team met here Saturday evening and elected officers for the coming season. Ole Peterson was elected manager. There are two up-to-date baseball parks being built, and Brainerd has good prospects of producing one of the fastest amateur teams of Northern Minnesota.

ENGINEERS ARE STANDING PAT

Claim They Will Not Work Under Open Shop Conditions.

The Marine Engineers' Beneficial association, the members of which stand solidly opposed to the open shop policy, inaugurated last fall by a large number of vessel owners, is taking no part in the dissensions of the other lake unions.

Secretary Adams of the local union, has been on the sick list for the past week but was at his desk today. He is doing all in his power to secure employment for union members, who are on the waiting list, and a large number have been provided for.

The engineers feel that it is the life of their organization that is at stake, and propose to hold firm to their decision of not working on boats that stand for the open shop. Ship owners are trying to ignore this attitude but are reported to be having considerable difficulty in securing competent engineers at down lake ports.

RETURN FROM EASTERN TRIP

W. J. Olcott, president of the Oliver Iron Mining company, returned this morning from a business trip to New York. While in New York Mr. Olcott attended a meeting of the heads of the subsidiary companies of the United States Steel corporation. As to what was accomplished at this meeting in reference to the work upon the steel plant at Duluth, Mr. Olcott stated that he had no information to give out.

W. A. McGonagle, president of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern, and E. A. House, president of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad, were with Mr. Olcott on his Eastern trip. They have also returned to Duluth.

A Santa Fe man guides you to California

When going to California, wouldn't you like the personal attention of an experienced tourist agent? One who knows the country traversed; who helps make the journey a pleasant one; who takes special care of elderly persons, women and children.

The Santa Fe carries newest style tourist sleepers every day on three of its four trains between Chicago, Kansas City and California. The fastest tourist sleeper service to California.

Three times a week these excursions are personally conducted. Our de luxe folder, "To California in a Tourist Sleeper," tells how cozy the cars are, and how economical—Free on request.

California homeseekers should ask for our San Joaquin Valley land folder, telling all about the greatest irrigated valley in the world, where intensive farming pays large profits.

Until April 30 one-way colonist tickets to California are on sale at $34.75 from Duluth.

RAILROADS

SUCCEEDS BLANCHARD

George T. Ross Appointed Division Superintendent of N. P.

Will Assume His Duties in Duluth at Once.

George T. Ross, formerly division superintendent of the Great Northern, has been appointed division superintendent of the Northern Pacific railway, succeeding E. C. Blanchard, who tomorrow will assume his duties as general superintendent of the Northern Pacific system.

The appointment of Mr. Ross was announced at the division superintendent's office this morning. While the appointment of Mr. Ross comes as somewhat of a surprise to local railroad men, it was not considered improbable that some outside railroad man would be brought to Duluth to fill the place so long held by Mr. Blanchard.

Mr. Ross is not unknown in railroad circles at the Head of the Lakes. A number of years ago he was located at Superior, in the employ of the Great Northern railroad, under the direction of George Slade, now general manager of the Northern Pacific railroad. It is probable that Mr. Slade's knowledge of the ability of Mr. Ross resulted in his being appointed to the place made vacant by the promotion of Mr. Blanchard.

The new division superintendent is in the city today, being at the division superintendent's office this morning, in company with E. C. Blanchard. He will assume the duties of the office tomorrow.

Mr. Ross comes to Duluth with an excellent reputation.

BUSY BUILDING ROADS IN CANADA.

J. M. Ferris, traveling passenger agent of the Rutland railroad, one of the New York Central lines, is in Duluth today. Mr. Ferris says that this year there is due to be a great deal of railroad construction in the dominion, especially in the western part of Canada, where all the railroads are planning extensions and improvements to existing mileage.

Mr. Ferris says the Canadian Northern, a line to which a local interest is attached through its connection with Duluth, will expend an immense amount this year upon added mileage and equipment. The Canadian Pacific will also do a lot of construction work, as will the Grand Trunk.

Mr. Ferris has headquarters in Montreal, and states that there is an increase in the amount of business of the Canadian roads, and that there is a general belief among Canadian railroad men that the interchange of traffic between the United States and Canada will be heavier this year than ever in the history of the traffic affairs of the two countries.

Railway Club Meets.

The meeting of the Northern Railway club was held Saturday evening. The inclement weather kept the attendance down. A talk upon train dispatching was delivered by W. H. Seip, chief train dispatcher of the Great Northern at Superior.

Gets New Position.

M. A. Murphy, superintendent of the Duluth, Rainy Lake & Winnipeg railroad, has been appointed superintendent of the Port Arthur Winnipeg division of the Canadian Northern railway. His brother, T. Murphy, has been made assistant superintendent. The Virginia-Ranier division and the Winnipeg-Port Arthur division will be operated as one.

Fish Car Here.

The fish car of the commerce and labor department is on the Northwestern tracks, at the foot of Fifth avenue west, with a supply of fry for some of the lakes and streams of the northern part of the state. Territory in the northern part of the state has been visited, and other sections of the state will be visited before the car is taken to St. Paul.

Larger or $1.25 Size

Bottle of Armour's Malted Clams are even more economical than the smaller sizes. The contents of a large bottle is sufficient for about eighty-five cups of clam broth or bouillon. Malted clams will not spoil and is becoming very popular as a first course. Every grocer and druggist has it in stock.

CENSUS QUARREL REACHES TAFT

Nagel and North at Odds ---North Stays Home.

Washington, April 26.—The controversy between Secretary of Commerce and Labor Nagel and Director of the Census North, over the administration of the census bureau is squarely before the president, and today Nagel said he did not know what the outcome will be.

"It is before the president," said the secretary, "upon a question of administration of the affairs of the census office, as a bureau of this department, and not on charges. I do not know of any charges. I regret more than I can say that I have been put in a position of making charges against persons I do not know and have never seen. The census is not a 'joke.' It is a big thing, of vital importance to the department, the administration and the country. If I am to share the responsibilities, I want the authority that goes with them."

Director North did not go to his office today, but remained at home. It was explained he is not feeling very well.

FOLLOWING WESTON

Lincoln, Ill., April 26.—Edward Payson Weston, the pedestrian, was compelled to stop over Sunday in this city, owing to an indisposition that attacked him suddenly after his arrival here late Saturday. He is now two days behind his plans, although not that much behind his original schedule. He will leave this afternoon for Springfield.

ASSESSORS TO BEGIN WORK

Will Value the Personal Property of the County.

All of the assessors of St. Louis county, about ninety in number, have been notified by County Auditor Halden to call at his office Thursday of this week for their assessment books. There will be no real estate assessments this year except in cases of new improvements. The work of securing the personal property lists will commence in all parts of the county Saturday morning.

OFF TO CHICAGO TO GET MONEY

County Officers Will Deliver Bonds and Collect $400,000.

County Auditor Halden, Neil McInnis, chairman of the board of county commissioners, and County Attorney Stevenson will go to Chicago this week to deliver the courthouse bonds and receive the $400,000 with which the work on the new courthouse building is to be completed.

The transaction will be closed Friday in the office of T. J. Bolger & Co., who represent the bond purchasers. This bond issue is pursuant to a law passed by the last legislature. The bonds are to be redeemed in three years, by which arrangement considerable money is saved the county in interest. Bonds to the amount of $125,000 will be taken up in the fall of 1910, the same amount a year later, and the final $150,000 in the fall of 1912.

NIGHT GOWN PARADE.

Students of North Dakota College Made Show of Themselves.

Fargo, N. D., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—An unusual display of college spirit was shown by the freshman boys at the North Dakota Agricultural college, when they made their annual nightgown parade into the downtown and theatrical districts. During the parade they distributed circulars about the class and college, and later attended a vaudeville performance, where their costumes were very much in evidence.

NORTH DAKOTA LAND FRAUDS TO BE PROBED.

Fargo, N. D., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The United States court begins a term here tomorrow. Both grand and petit juries have been summoned. In addition to the routine cases it is expected there will be some investigations by the former into alleged land frauds. A force of men were recently sent to this state by the department at Washington, but has not been on the job long enough to dig very deeply into the situation. Several civil actions are to be heard.

DEAN BURLESON HAS RESIGNED POSITION.

Fargo, N. D., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Having accepted a position as one of the general secretaries of the Episcopal church, with headquarters in New York, Dean H. L. Burleson of the Episcopal see of this state, has tendered his resignation.

Mr. Burleson came here nine years ago, with Bishop Edsall, now of Minnesota, was the North Dakota bishop. He has been the right hand man of the church under both Bishops Edsall and Mann. Mr. Burleson is one of the famous Burleson family, in which the father and four sons were Episcopal rectors. Three of them were engaged in North Dakota at one time.

MASTER BUTCHERS TO HOLD MEETING.

Ex-National Secretary John H. Schofield of the Master Butchers of America, is in Duluth in the interests of the twenty-third annual session of that organization, which will be held in St. Paul four days, beginning Aug. 10. The Duluth Master Butchers' association, of which George S. Mumsey is president, is affiliated with the national body and Duluth will be strongly represented in the national convention. John H. Schofield, a St. Louis Mo., meat dealer, will address the butchers of Duluth in hall B, Kalamazoo block, tonight on "Mistakes of Master Butchers and the Remedy." All meat dealers and those interested are invited to attend. Admission is free.

THOMAS F. COLE LOOKS OVER MINES OF BUTTE.

Butte, Mont., April 26.—Thomas F. Cole, well-known mining operator, who is interested in the Cole-Ryan enterprises, has been here a few days looking over the mines of the North Butte and the Coalition companies. He spent Thursday underground in the North Butte and Friday visited the Red Metal or Coalition companies.

Saturday evening, John D. Ryan, managing director of the Amalgamated properties, who is also heavily interested with the Duluth magnate in various mining enterprises, gave a dinner at the Silver Bow club, at which Mr. Cole was the guest of honor, several well known local mining and business men being invited. Mr. Cole departed yesterday for Duluth.

Division Bill Defeated.

Marinette, Wis., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Through the efforts of prominent residents of Marinette county, including Senator Bird of Waunakukee, the bill before the state legislature, to divide the township of Amberg into three townships has been indefinitely postponed.

FAMILY COUGH SYRUP

Cures Any Cough in Five Hours.

NEW PRESCRIPTION HERE.

Here is given the most effective cough prescription known to the medical world. It is a mild laxative, too, and this is what a body needs when suffering with cough and cold on the lungs. A cough or cold indicates poisons in the system, causing inflammation and congestion. Nearly all cough syrups relieve, but make the trouble worse by their constipating effects. This prescription not only relieves quickly, but it cures any cough that is curable. Get one-half ounce fluid wild cherry bark, one ounce compound essence cardoll and three ounces syrup white pine compound. Mix in a bottle. Take for acute cough or bronchitis twenty drops every half hour for four hours. Then one-half to one teaspoonful three or four times daily. Give children less according to age. A few hours' treatment will cure and heal the throat and lungs of all but consumptives. Cut this out and give it to some friend who may need it to be saved from an early death by consumption.

WEST END

SERMON COMES FROM SHOULDER

Rev. Mooney Gives Advice to Parents and Children.

"Why Boys and Girls Leave Home" was the topic of a forceful, straight from the shoulder sermon delivered in St. Luke's Episcopal church last evening, by the rector, Rev. Roderick J. Mooney. The sermon was one of a series on "Live Topics."

Mr. Mooney's appeal was to the parents as well as the young people. He urged the grown-ups to live the lives themselves they would have their children live and to counsel and advise with them at all times.

He pointed out the dangers of allowing children to drift from their mothers and fathers through carelessness in the home life. He told the young people to make confidants of their parents, and the parents to be counsellors to their offspring. Religion in the home was strongly urged.

Parents were also urged to prepare their children for life's work by fitting them with some sort of business or professional education, whenever possible, and not allow them to thrust themselves indiscriminately into any old business just to satisfy a money-getting whim.

The service was largely attended.

LECTURE ON NAPOLEON.

John H. Norton Talks Before the Naturalization Club.

A lecture on "Napoleon Bonaparte" by John H. Norton featured the meeting of the French Naturalization club last evening at St. Jean Baptiste church hall, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street.

About 200 members of the club were in attendance and listened attentively to the story of the great Corsican's life. The president of the club, Peter Grignon, introduced the speaker.

The purpose of the organization is to urge French immigrants to take out citizenship papers as soon as they arrive in this country. Several speeches were made by prominent members of the club along this line. A social session followed the meeting.

BOYS HAVE GYM.

Adams Alumni Members Branch Out as Athletic Club.

Gymnasium quarters have been secured by members of the Adams Athletic association at 1910 West Superior street. The place, which is in the rear of a barber shop, will be fitted up with boxing and wrestling apparatus. Free baths have been provided for.

One of the rooms will be equipped as a reading room and library for the use of the association members. A membership campaign is now on to boost the present membership from 75 to 200 during the summer months. Any West ender of reputable character can become a member, it not being required that candidates be members or graduates of the Adams school.

The baseball suits have arrived for the members of the baseball aggregation. They are blue and white. Besides a baseball team, the association also supports a hockey and football team.

Annual Concert.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church will give its annual spring concert tomorrow evening at the church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Fourth street.

Among the numbers that have been announced are four musical selections by the Norumna Singing society, one of the best choruses in the city, a piano solo by Dr. T. J. Mork, superior, one of the most notable Scandinavian musicians at the Head of the Lakes, and an instrumental selection given by O. Sleverson, violin, A. Flaaten, cello, and Mrs. H. K. Madsen at the piano.

Rev. H. K. Madsen, pastor of the church, will deliver an address for the occasion. A number of out-of-town clergymen, who are passing through on their way to Virginia to attend the conference of the Norwegian-Danish M. E. churches, are in the city today and have signified their intention of remaining over until after the concert tomorrow evening. Rev. H. K. Madsen will also attend the conference.

Quarterly Conference.

The quarterly conference of the officers and trustees of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church will be held this evening at the church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Fourth street.

Rev. James Sanaker, superintendent of the Red River Valley district, will be present, and has been asked to preside over the meeting. Several matters of business are expected to come up.

New Storage Tanks.

Work on the construction of the new storage tanks which are to be used in connection with the new elevator "D" of the Consolidated Elevator company, has begun. The foundation has been started on the site of the old elevator, which burned last year.

The storage tanks will have a capacity of 600,000 bushels, and will be connected with the main house by a number of conveying tunnels. The main elevator is now nearing completion, and it is expected that in two months' time the plant will be in operation.

Sunday School Rally.

There was an excellent attendance at the Sunday school rally of West end churches, held yesterday afternoon at the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Fourth street.

A feature of the affair was the address delivered by Dr. M. S. Rice, pastor of the First M. E. church. He spoke on "Our Responsibility in Bringing Others to Salvation," dealing especially with Sunday school activities and work in the home. Another interesting talk was given by Rev. J. L. McBride, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church.

There were several good musical numbers. Especially pleasing was a vocal solo by Axel Henry.

Lodge Anniversary.

The Independent Order of Odd Fellows, West end lodge, celebrated with a special program at the Grace M. E. church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street.

The sermon was delivered by Rev. M. O. Stockland, pastor of the church. The musical selections were in charge of Mrs. David Adams, and a splendid program was carried out. The attendance was very large. The Odd Fellows met at 10 o'clock at their hall, and marched to the church in a body.

West End Shortrails.

The funeral of Carl Herbert, the 1-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Justosson of 4306 Oneota street, who died Saturday, was held this afternoon from the family residence.

The congregation of the Norwegian-Danish M. E. church will meet Thursday evening for prayer services at the church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Fourth street.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Grace M. E. church will meet Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. R. R. Forward, 2701 West Fourth street.

There will be prayer meeting services at the Swedish M. E. church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, tomorrow evening.

Mrs. A. H. Hopkins and her Sunday school class of Grace M. E. church will give a musical recital next Friday evening.

The Parthenac Society of the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street, is planning on an elaborate May festival to be given on Decoration day. Arrangements have not yet been completed.

R. R. Forward & Co., furniture men, are moving today from their store at Nineteenth avenue west to East Superior street.

The church choir of the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street, is making arrangements for a big concert to be given at the church the latter part of May.

At a meeting of the Varde club, a West end organization of Norwegian young people, last Saturday night at Columbia hall, plans were laid for a big social to be given in celebration of Norwegian independence day, May 17. A Norwegian play may be presented.

Miss Janet Miller of Cloquet is the guest of West end friends and relatives.

Mrs. L. A. Daniels of West First street will entertain her friends at cards this evening at her home.

The members of the Lincoln School Alumni association are planning on a big social time May 7. A musical program will be given, followed by dancing.

Miss Ruth Holmes of Staples, Minn., is the guest of her sister, Mrs. George H. Robinson of West First street.

Miss Clara Ramsey of St. Paul is stopping with West end friends on a few days' visit.

J. H. Canning of Brainerd, Minn., is a West end business visitor today.

John and Harry Bloch left this morning for a cruising trip on the range.

Mrs. Harry Lenhardt of West First street is back from a visit at Washburn, Wis.

William Blackmar has returned from a trip to Minneapolis. He has been there for the past month.

TOAD FOUND IN THE DENN MINE

Buried In Limestone 1265 Feet Deep and Still Alive.

Bisbee, Ariz., April 26.—Miners working in the shaft of the Denn mine discovered a toad buried in the limestone and still alive. The animal was found at a depth of 1,265 feet, and the men on the shift at the time felt all sorts of chilly shivers chasing each other over their backs when the antediluvian creature hopped from the little cavity where he had rested for thousands of years. This is not the first instance of such a discovery, but it probably is the first time in the history of the Warren district.

Supt. Byron Pattison verified the story, but stated that the miner who found the animal had taken him home when he came off shift. The discovery has created considerable discussion among the geologically wise. Lem Shattuck, who made a hurried trip to the mine when he heard of the discovery, stated that he had a hunch that a strike would be made in the shaft, but he didn't think it would be a toad strike. Mr. Shattuck said he would get possession of the animal and send it to the Smithsonian institute.

IDENTITY OF MURDERED MAN IS DISCLOSED

Name of Victim Is Learned By The Herald Reporter.

Friend Says It Could Not Have Been Suicide.

An Evening Herald man this afternoon was able to establish the identity of the Finlander who was murdered on the Rice Lake road, fourteen miles north of Duluth. He was David Filman, married, with a wife and one sister living in Finland. He had no relatives in this country.

Evidently robbery was the motive of the murder. Filman came to Duluth March 15, from one of the Scott-Graff camps, fifty miles from Duluth, on the Duluth & Iron Range railroad. Three friends accompanied him. He was known to have had $85 on his person at the time he arrived in Duluth, and friends say that he could not have spent more than $5 or $10 of it before his disappearance from the city. His friends returned to the Scott-Graff camp without him, and reported that they had left him in Duluth. These facts were established by The Herald today, before the police department or county sheriff's force had started working on the case.

An inquiry among a number of Finns in regard to a name found in a note book in Filman's pocket, that of Taiva Kuuri, brought out the fact that he was at present in the city, stopping at 21 West Fifth street. He was not at home when the newspaper man called, but another occupant of the house volunteered his services, and a couple of hours later Kuuri was located and taken to the morgue, where he immediately identified the body as that of Filman.

Kuuri's Story.

Kuuri cannot talk English, but through an interpreter told the following story:

"David Filman was a good friend of mine. We worked together in the Scott-Graff camp, on the Iron Range railroad, fifty miles from Duluth. March 15 Filman and three other men, whose names I do not know, came to Duluth for a few days. Filman had nearly $90 with him. Six days later the three men returned to camp without my friend. I asked them where he was, and they said he remained in Duluth. I only came down from camp myself a week ago.

"It is a plain case of murder. I asked about Filman when I came to Duluth, and as near as I could find out, he had disappeared a few days after arriving here, and no one had heard of his spending any money to speak of. I am sure he did not commit suicide, for he was in good spirits when last I saw him, and was never despondent. He loved his mother and sister very dearly, and intended to bring them to America as soon as he had saved up enough money. That was his one ambition in life. Feeling the way he did about his immediate relatives, I am sure he would not have wanted to die. Ther was nothing for him to be despondent over. He was in good health, so far as I know.

"I do not know how he came to be out on the Rice Lake road. Possibly he thought he could get a job in one of the camps out that way. I think probably he picked up with some one in Duluth, some stranger, who prevailed upon him to accompany him out on the road, under promise of a good job in some camp. This stranger probably found out that he had a large sum of money with him, and murdered him to get it at the first opportunity."

Filman had only 15 cents on his person when searched, and that was in the breast pocket of his coat. Kuuri said Filman generally hired out through the Olund-Engberg Employment agency, 505½ West Michigan street. Inquiry there and at other agencies along Michigan street failed to show that the man had hired out after March 15, making the theory that he was looking for a job through some new-found friend, independent of the employment agencies, seem plausible.

Unless friends come forward, the remains probably will be buried at the expense of the county.

CITY WINS CASE AGAINST THE TERMINAL COMPANY

On the ground that there is no public necessity for it, Judge Dibell this afternoon denied the request of the Duluth Terminal railway to condemn lands for an approach to the interstate bridge.

The city thus wins its fight against the terminal company and incidentally the Great Northern road, and the Soo road will go ahead with its approaches.

The Soo and Great Northern roads both sought to build approaches to the bridge, and the Soo was granted a franchise. The terminal company, which is believed to be controlled by Great Northern interests, then sought to go ahead and condemn lands without a franchise. The city opposed the motion on the ground that the company's franchise was invalid, and also on the ground that there was no necessity for it. Judge Dibell upheld the city. The case will be appealed.

DROPS UNDER BEAR RAID

North Butte Declines Nine Points Under Heavy Selling.

Slump Is Feature of a Weak Copper Stock Market.

North Butte broke 9¼ points under heavy pressure in the Boston copper stock market today.

A sensational movement in North Butte attracts local attention, as does activity in no other stock, as Duluth is the home of the head offices of the company and because a great deal of the stock is held by Duluthians.

The slump today was sensational and exciting and was the center of interest in the market. The ticker gossip over the brokers' wires told graphically in terse market terms, the wiping out of 10 points in the price of one of the leading issues on the board.

"The whole crowd selling North Butte" came the flash over the wire. Then again, "Bears adding North Butte and there's nobody buying."

All the way from the opening price of $63 to the closing price of $55.50 bid, came the bearish statements from the scene of the sensational slump on the trading floor in Boston.

When the price fell under $60, stop loss orders flooded the market and swelled the strength of the bear side of the market, which was sliding the price off at the rate of a point a minute or better. Occasionally, there would be a rally of half a point, or three-quarters and then the selling pressure would be renewed with increased vigor.

According to the gossip from Boston, unfavorable reports from the mine caused the bear movement.

T. F. Cole, president of the company, is now out of the city, and Fred Kennedy, the secretary, is also away, and the only late information concerning conditions at the mine, which could be secured at the head offices, was that Mr. Cole had wired last week from Butte that the mine was looking good.

North Butte opened at $63, slumped to $60 during the first hour, rallied to $61.25 a short time later, and after that dropped to $60.75 with scarcely a pause. The close $55.50 bid and $54 asked, was at the low level.

Other stocks were rather quiet, with weaker tendencies. Amalgamated opened at $77.25, advanced to $77.50, declined to $76.50 and closed at $76.25 bid and $76.50 asked. Anaconda opened at $45.62½, declined to $45.25 and closed at $45.50 bid.

Greene-Cananea opened at $10, advanced to $10.25 and closed at $10 bid and $10.12½ asked. Calumet & Arizona opened at $100, declined to $97.50 and closed at $97.50 bid and $99 asked. Giroux opened at $8 and closed at $7.87½ bid and $8 asked. Butte Coalition opened at $24.25, declined to $24, and closed at $23.75 bid and $24 asked. Superior & Pittsburg sold at $13.25 and $13 and closed at $13 bid and $13.25 asked.

The local curb was slightly easier. Chief Consolidated sold at $1.37½ and closed at $1.37½ bid and $1.50 asked. Cactus sold at $3.12½, declined to $3 and closed at $3 bid and $3.12½ asked. National sold at 62 and 60 cents and closed at 58 cents bid and 62 cents asked. Butte & Superior sold at 92 cents and closed at 92 cents bid and 94 cents asked and Globe at $4 and closed at $4 bid and $4.25 asked.

Penn-Arizona was inactive and closed at $2.75 bid and $3.25 asked, Calumet & Sonora $13 asked, Red Warrior $2 bid and $2.12½ asked, Mowitza $1 bid and $1.12½ asked, Carman $1.37½ bid and $1.50 asked, Savanna $1.75 bid and $2 asked, Butte-Ballakiava $14.65 bid and $15.25 asked, Cliff $2.37½ bid and $2.62½ asked, Copper Queen of Idaho $1.50 bid and $1.62½ asked and Butte-Alex Scott ($2 paid) $7.25 bid and $7.50 asked, and full paid $10 bid.

Black Mountain sold at 99c.

The eighth annual edition of the Copper Handbook, just issued by the author, Horace J. Stevens of Houghton, Mich., is out. It is an octavo volume of 1,500 pages, in brevier type, but by slight increases in the width and heighth of the printed matter on each page, together with a reduction in the leading, but without using a smaller face of type, each page carries one-third more matter than formerly, and the new edition, with only 1,500 pages, contains one-half more matter than the preceding edition, which had 1,228 pages.

The principal chapter of the book, devoted to detailed descriptions of the copper mines of the globe, has 1,185 pages describing no less than 6,767 copper mines and copper companies, in all parts of the world, comparing with 4,627 listed in the preceding edition. This long chapter, which was unrevised in volume 7, owing to fire, accident and illness, has been completely rewritten, even the obituaries of the defunct companies having been improved by the addition of neat verbal tombstones.

Copper is considered under a great variety of heads, in the preliminary chapters of the book, these giving, in non-technical but correct language, a vast amount of information relating to the geology and mineralogy of copper and copper ores, with chapters devoted to mining, milling, smelting, leaching and refining, and yet other chapters treating of the history of the metal, brands, grades, substitutes and uses. The very complete glossary of mining terms is reprinted from volume 7. The final chapter is devoted to statistics.

MINERS' CHIEFS WORK FOR PEACE

Executive Boards of the Anthracite Districts Are Again in Conference.

Scranton, Pa., April 26.—Hopeful of coming to a final agreement this week, the executive boards of the three anthracite districts of the United Mine Workers went into secret session today.

They will consider the latest propositions for settling the differences between the mine workers and the operators. The boards will act upon the propositions, and they will be placed before the convention of miners which will meet here tomorrow afternoon.

While there is still difference of opinion among some of the leaders in the anthracite regions as to what is best to do, the opinion is practically unanimous that this week will see the end of the controversy.

COMBINED FLEETS OF TWO NATIONS REVIEWED.

Ville Franche, France, April 26.—President Falliéres and the duke of Genoa today reviewed off Ville Franche the combined fleets now here of France and Italy. Seventeen French and four Italian warships took part in the maneuvers. This Italian squadron was sent to greet M. Falliéres in memory of France's assistance in the Italian struggle for independence. Today is the fiftieth anniversary of the French advance into Piedmont.

GOMEZ GIVES UP THE REINS FOR SHORT TIME.

Port of Spain, Trinidad, April 26.—President Gomez has turned over the presidency of Venezuela temporarily to Vice President Velutini, and with Gen. Rolando and Hernandez has gone to Maracaibo for a brief sojourn.

GERMAN WHEAT-RYE REPORT NOT BRIGHT.

Berlin, April 26.—The imperial crop report for April 15 shows the condition of wheat and rye to be considerably worse this year than for the corresponding period of 1908. The dry autumn and the severe winter are assigned as the causes, but the recent warmer weather with satisfactory rainfalls, are expected to improve prospects.

Contract for Auditorium.

Grand Forks, N. D., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Grand Forks Oratorio society has awarded the contract to K. C. Hunter to construct an auditorium on North Fifth street. The cost of the building will be $16,000 and it is planned to have it ready for the festival May 26 and 27. The society secured for a site the corner of North Fifth street and Cheyenne avenue.

Victim of Alcoholism.

Ontonagon, Mich., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—James Sheridan died in the county jail from alcoholism. He had worked all winter at the Porcupine mountains for Bush & Humphrey. Sheridan was 59 years old and was born and raised in Ontario, Can., near Forest Postoffice, at the little town of Flynton. He is survived by a sister, Mrs. Ellen Ryan, living somewhere in Ontario; a brother, Patrick Sheridan, living in Montana, and a son and daughter about 21 years of age, living in Grand Rapids.

Duluthian Opens Garage.

Houghton, Mich., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Houghton is to have an automobile garage. W. Buchanan has arrived from Duluth and completed arrangements whereby he has leased Capt. W. A. Dunn's big barn on Portage street. This will be the first automobile garage opened in Copperdom.

A LEMON BATH.

From Health: Among West Indian ladies a lemon bath is almost a daily luxury. Several limes or lemons are sliced into the water and allowed to lie for half an hour in order that the juice may be extracted. A remarkable sense of freshness and cleanliness is given to the skin.

POWER OF SHAH GONE

Russia Will Not Recall Expedition Into Persia.

Government Will Look After Safety of Americans.

St. Petersburg, April 26.—The Russian column under Gen. Snarskey is continuing its march toward Tabriz regardless of the reported understanding between the shah of Persia and the nationalists.

The foreign office believes it would be injudicious to recall these troops, no matter how many of the "air promises" the shah may make, since the danger to Europeans in Tabriz would again become acute immediately if this pressure were removed. The expedition will be kept in Persia until the shah's pledges to institute a proper government actually are put into effect.

The Russian advance has been slower than was expected, owing to the absence of horses from the transport. The first detachment will not reach Tabriz until late tonight. No opposition is expected unless at the gates of Tabriz from the Caucasian mercenaries. The expedition is taking with it food supplies to relieve the immediate necessities of the population.

The expedition is assuming larger proportions than originally was contemplated. In addition to a battalion of 1,000 riflemen and detachments of artillery, engineers and field telegraphers, two other battalions of 1,000 men each have left Tiflis for the frontier. Ultimately an entire army division will be moved into Persia and detachments stationed at various towns now in the control of robber tribesmen who, since the entire collapse of the authority of the shah, have made life and property absolutely unsafe throughout Northern Persia.

Ambassador Riddle is in close touch with Foreign Minister Iswolsky, and is keeping the state department, which is interested in the danger to American missionaries, fully informed. Gen. Snarsky has been instructed to look out for the safety of the Americans.

Carrs in Hawaii.

Walter Carr and William Carr, who were formerly engaged in the brokerage business in Duluth, are in Honolulu. Writing to friends here, they say they will leave for San Francisco about May 4 and that they expect to visit Duluth shortly thereafter.

Wanted Drink Badly.

August Evenson, a laborer, was arrested Saturday as a vagrant, after he had asked a friend to pawn his clothing, so as to get money with which to buy drink. The friend refused, and had Evenson arrested. The latter pleaded guilty to a vagrancy charge, and was sentenced to sixty days in jail, but sentence was suspended upon condition that he leave the city.

Charles Carlson's Funeral.

The funeral of Charles Carlson, who died yesterday at St. Mary's hospital, at the age of 28 years, was held at 2 o'clock this afternoon from Durkan & Crawford's undertaking rooms, under the auspices of the Royal Arcanum, of which order the deceased was a member. The remains were shipped to Clear Lake, Wis., for burial.

Floater Unclaimed.

The floater picked up in the harbor last Friday has not been claimed by relatives or friends. The name of Chris Fossom was found in pockets of the drowned man. The remains were buried at the expense of the county today.

Label League Banquet.

President Howley of the Minnesota State Federation of Labor, one of the best known labor leaders in the Northwest, will speak at a banquet to be given by the Women's Label league at Kalamazoo hall this evening. Dr. Mary McCoy will speak on the subject of "Child Labor," and an address will be made by Charles F. Ceilley of Minneapolis. The banquet will be followed by a dance.

Decision Sustained.

The local land office has been sustained by the commissioner of the general land office at Washington in the case of Anda Sandla against the state of Minnesota, in which the title to a considerable tract of homestead land near Bear river, in Koochiching county, was involved. The state claimed it was swamp land, according to survey, and not open to entry.

Sent To Asylum.

Peter Sopieski, a farmer, was adjudged insane by the probate court this afternoon and ordered committed to the Fergus Falls asylum. He was brought up on complaint of his mother who testified that he had a strange way of wandering alone at all hours of the night.

A LEGISLATURE OF LITTLE THINGS.

The legislature of 1909 was a legislature of little things. It fussed and fumed and fretted. It tried to play politics and failed miserably. It attempted no constructive legislation of any considerable importance. It busied itself with little things, in a hit-or-miss sort of way.

Not having attempted anything worth while, it accomplished nothing worth while. The little things that it did accomplish were not accomplished by taking thought thereto; they just happened.

Such legislation is the direct result of the chaotic conditions which gave the legislature birth. As The Herald has already pointed out, when a people is heedless and purposeless, the legislature that represents it will inevitably be aimless, uncertain.

Not a single measure of real constructive statesmanship was considered by the legislature of 1909. Not a single law of first class importance was enacted. No policy of state, worthy of the name, redounds to the credit of the legislature of 1909. Various measures of minor but general importance to the state were made into law and the legislature was distinctly a legislature of little things.

The only approach to constructive statesmanship of the first importance was the agricultural legislation of the session, and upon the agricultural school policy of the state the legislature was hopelessly divided, so that what it finally agreed upon was simply what a few real live savers snatched from the sea of uncertainty. Correspondence instruction in agriculture and state aid for high schools teaching agriculture form the basis of what the next legislature may round out into a definite state policy of great importance. Legislation other than agricultural legislation accomplished this year is all of third rate importance.

Here are the most important of the laws passed by the session of 1909: Anti-cigarette law (which it is believed will not prove effective); anti-trading stamp law (whose effectiveness is also doubted); saloon licenses hereafter limited to one for each 500 population, which is about as near to nothing as anything can be without being nothing; teachers' pension bill; new state's prison; state department of banking; uniform bill of lading act; act providing that wages of prisoners shall be used for support of prisoner's family; new act for protection from forest fires; game preserve in Northern Minnesota, and a number of others of about the same degree of importance.

Many of these measures are measures of importance to the state and will make for its well being. None of them, however, is of any very large consequence.

Of these minor measures enacted into law by the legislature of 1909, the act setting apart a million acres of land in the northern part of St. Louis, Lake and Cook counties as a game preserve, in conjunction with a similar preserve established across the boundary line by the province of Ontario is one of real benefit to the state, and if persisted in, and followed up along the lines of other legislation for the preservation of fish and game in Minnesota and for their increase, as strongly suggested by Governor Johnson in his message upon the convening of the legislature, will prove of great value to the state in making Minnesota an attractive resort for pleasure seekers and for sportsmen. This measure is really one of the most meritorious of the entire session.

The aimlessness of the legislature of 1909 should be a lesson to the people of Minnesota. It is time for the state to rouse itself to the fact that it must think to some purpose if it expects its legislature to act to any purpose. Out of the chaotic conditions of 1909, the state ought to be able to secure material for a helpful legislature in 1911. The burden of responsibility is upon the people of the state.

REBUKE FOR JUD LA MOURE.

The Northwestern Educational association of North Dakota recently adopted resolutions strongly censuring Jud La Moure, grand old man political of North Dakota, for his alleged action of killing a bill to grant state aid to rural schools. Jud La Moure was chairman of the appropriations committee to which the bill was referred. The bill died in committee, in some way of which the general public and the teachers of the flicktail state are not advised; hence the resolutions of censure.

If the Honorable Jud's action, together with its consequent censure by the teachers of the state, arouses the people of North Dakota to a study of the rural school problem, a great deal of good will have been accomplished. The problem of education in the higher institutions of learning and in the graded schools of the towns and cities in any state is difficult enough, but it is concrete and compact, and is far more easily got at than the rural school problem. So the colleges and the town and city schools get first attention from the legislature and grow rapidly in efficiency, while the rural schools grow but slowly. Yet we may well doubt if the rural schools are one whit the less important to the state than the graded schools of the towns or the state university.

Minnesota has had the same experience as North Dakota. This state has been appropriating money these many years for the building up of a great university. There has not been a session of the legislature for the past dozen years and more that has not increased the state aid granted to high schools and graded schools. A few years ago, after this had long been going on, the rural schools were recognized by the appropriation of a small amount to each school under certain circumstances. Even then the rural schools were left to shift for themselves as to management while state boards and close supervision with rigid rules of procedure and high requirements were provided for the town schools. In consequence, the state's high schools have made marvelous progress and there are few high school systems in the country that rank with Minnesota's. Similar progress has been made with the graded schools since the principle of state supervision and state aid has been applied to them. The rural schools to this day, however, in Minnesota are practically without state supervision, and receive but little state aid. What excellence there is in them is largely due to the general advance in educational knowledge and to the individual ability and zeal of the county superintendents of schools in the different counties.

Minnesota and North Dakota stand practically upon common ground in this respect. Both states need state supervision and state aid for rural schools. With state supervision systematically provided for, the best work now being done in any county, and even better, would be done in every county. Both states have superintendents of public instruction for the state, with county superintendents of each county, but neither state has a strong central system of supervision such as exists in Minnesota for the graded and the high schools. The state high school board in Minnesota supervises these schools and employs a separate inspector for each. The county superintendents are inspectors of rural schools, but the state needs an additional inspector of rural schools, who in connection with the county superintendent, may visit such schools as comply with the regulations laid down by state authority and upon such compliance receive substantial state aid.

BATTLE OF THE BOYCOTT.

History is still in making in the war for and against the boycott. The trend of public sentiment and the unanimous decisions of the courts in times past have condemned the boycott; nevertheless a great organization of laboring men is now making a most desperate fight to legalize it.

This week before the federal court of appeals in the District of Columbia was begun a hearing which will do much toward the settlement of this question. The hearing is on an appeal by Messrs. Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison, as president, vice president and secretary of the American Federation of Labor from a decision sentencing them to jail for one year for violating an injunction restraining them from conducting a boycott. It is the semi-final step in the litigation begun over a year and a half ago for the decisive overthrow of the boycott.

Samuel Gompers, as head of the American Federation, several years ago definitely decided to use every means at his command to establish the boycott as a legitimate weapon in the hands of labor. To that end he has conducted several boycotts, some of which have been successful, one of which was a total failure, and one of which is now being fought through the courts for a final judicial determination of the status of the boycott. If Mr. Gompers fails in these suits to uphold his contention of the right of labor to use the boycott as a weapon of offense and defense, the boycott is dead and can only be brought to life by means of legislation. This legislation Mr. Gompers has already attempted; had attempted it, in fact, before the present boycott was brought into the courts. Under the Sherman anti-trust law, as thus far interpreted by the courts, the boycott is illegal. Mr. Gompers has deliberately attempted, before two congresses to obtain such an amendment of the anti-trust law, as will specifically except labor unions from its provisions, thus practically legalizing the boycott. This remarkable attempt has thus far failed, as have all other attempts from other sources to secure any amendment whatever of the Sherman anti-trust law. The American Federation of Labor, under Mr. Gompers' leadership, will undoubtedly again attempt to secure the amendments to the law that it desires. The result of the present suit at law ,touching the legality of the boycott, cannot fail to have a powerful influence for or against the amendment of the anti-trust law as desired by Mr. Gompers.

Suit was begun in November, 1907, by the Bucks Stove & Range company to restrain the American Federation of Labor from boycotting its products. On Dec. 23, 1907, a permanent injunction was granted forbidding the federation and its officers from continuing the boycott, specifically, from publishing the Bucks Stove & Range company on the federation's "unfair list." In pursuance of their determination to test the principle of the boycott to the farthest limit in the courts Mr. Gompers and his associates deliberately resolved to violate the injunction and they deliberately and repeatedly did violate it, with the result that they were cited to appear before the federal court, were heard and were adjudged guilty of contempt of court and were sentenced to jail for various periods of time. From the decision they appealed to the district court of appeals, where the case is now being heard. In case the lower court is sustained, appeal will undoubtedly be taken to the supreme court of the United States.

A FRIENDLESS DESPOT.

The tyrant has many sycophants, but few friends. No doubt he fancies, in his day of power, that his sycophants are his friends, but in the crucible of adversity humanity proves itself, and the false falls away and the true appears. The trouble with seeming friends is that you can't tell how much their friendship is good for until it is tried, and happy is the man who never has to put his friends to the test.

One Abdul Hamid, late sultan of Turkey, may very possibly be thinking thoughts much like these—provided his uneasy head is still affixed to his shoulders. Says the Associated Press report: "His adherents deserting him, no one to comfort him in his adversity, the sultan today sat alone in his palace."

When Abdul held the whiphand, there were hundreds to swarm at his beck and call, anxiously solicitous about his health and well-being, wishing him gifts from fortune in inverse proportion to his deserts. Now these have all vanished, and the sultan sits alone in his misery, while his subjects clamoring at his gates are wondering what the mischief is to be done with him. Shall his head adorn the palace gates, or shall he have a chance to make something of himself by being put to work? Shall he be consigned to prison, or shall he be placed at the head of the street cleaning department of Constantinople, where in the accomplishment of an Augean task he would have a chance to show what stuff he is really made of?

At any rate, miserable indeed is the child of poverty who cannot scrape up more real friends than a tyrant out of a job.

HOTEL GOSSIP.

Robert Payne, one of the best known commercial men at the Head of the Lakes, who has traveled in this territory for the past few years, has recently had his territory changed to the Western country. In speaking of the country west of the Missouri river, and the changes that are transforming it so rapidly, Mr. Payne stated that it was in the western part of this country that things were being accomplished at the present time.

At the Lenox last evening, Mr. Payne stated that to one who has not been through the West for the past three years ,the changes that were taking place there were almost unbelievable. This applies both to the development of the country and the growth of the cities. Mr. Payne gavo it as his opinion that many people traveling West this summer will decide to make that country their home, so strong are the allurements offered.

"This is the country where they are doing things right at the present time," said Mr. Payne. "The price of land is advancing rapidly, even in the so-called arid districts of Montana, where a few years ago there was nothing but a desert, bleak and barren of foliage. The methods of dry farming and irrigation employed by the farmers of Montana, Idaho, Arizona and the other Western states have resulted in a wonderful change.

"The great immigration of people to the West has resulted in thousands of acres of land being taken up. The growth of the cities in the West is equally remarkable. Of all the cities that I saw in the West, I believe that Spokane struck me as the most remarkable. This city has seventy blocks of the finest business buildings that I have ever seen in any city of its size. They are building large and fine buildings and everything about the city strikes you as progressive. I really was much more taken with Spokane than I was with Seattle.

"Spokane is right in the heart of the rapidly developing wheat country; is also the great market for the fruit; is a manufacturing center, and has unlimited power through the falls of the Spokane river. You don't hear so much regarding the progress of Spokane out in this part of the country, but, in my opinion, it is developing more rapidly than any city in the West."

Charles Jesmore, one of the range men who remained in St. Paul until the governor placed his veto upon the tonnage tax bill, stated at the St. Louis yesterday that the people of Eveleth would present the town to the governor, should that official pay a visit to the range. Mr. Jesmore furthermore states that since the clearing away of the menace of the tonnage tax issue, there has been a greater indication of prosperity upon the iron ranges. Mr. Jesmore says that at Eveleth the conditions now look bright for a very good ore shipping season.

Sherman Coy and John C. Greenway were at the Spalding yesterday. These two men, both working in the same section of this state, were oddly enough, two of the greatest ends that Yale ever produced. And both were, too, in addition to their football abilities, baseball players. Both men were present at the Yale banquet Saturday evening, and the reminiscences that were brought up by some of the remarks made Saturday evening, were continued by the two men yesterday.

Both men were telling of incidents of the Yale game of a year ago last fall, which both men witnessed. That was the game with Princeton, the score standing 10 to 0 in favor of Princeton at the end of the first half. Then the Yale bulldog came back in the second half and won the game 12 to 10.

"I had a feeling in my heart that Yale would win that game some way, though the odds were tremendously against the pulling the game out of the fire," said Coy.

"I have never seen a game in which Yale played, no matter what the score was in favor of the other side, that I did not have the greatest belief that Yale would win some way," said Mr. Greenway.

Then both men began to talk of the games of the good old days.

R. C. Breseleuer of New York, a guest at the Spalding, says there is a deep agitation going on at the present time in New York city over the plays that have been branded as indecent.

"Two or three farces that have been adopted from the French, have so offended, at least, part of the public taste, that there is talk of a censor for the New York stage," said Mr. Breseleuer. "I might say that it is more than an agitation; it is a moral wave that has been aroused by the broadness and suggestiveness of some of the plays that have been produced in New York theaters during the present season.

"What will be the outcome of the present movement, is a question that many people who have the theater at heart, are watching with the greatest of interest. Some of the managers have even suggested the creating of the office of stage censor.

"The worst part of the present tendency in the producing of plays in New York, is that all of the plays in question, the so-called indecent ones, are drawing packed houses. As long as the public will patronize this sort of thing, just so long will the managers produce these plays. It is a fight of decency against the greed of managers, and the morality of the American stage is involved more or less in the outcome of the present movement."

THE WEATHER.

Yesterday broke fine and clear after Saturday's freak snow storm, and before night the inch or more of the beautiful which fell had entirely disappeared. The weather man, however, looks for cloudy weather, with possibly more snow tonight.

A year ago today a wet snow was falling.

The sun rose this morning at 5 o'clock and will set this evening at 7:11, making fourteen hours and eleven minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Barometric depressions central this morning off the North Atlantic coast and over Manitoba caused light to copious rains over the Ohio valley, Atlantic and Gulf states, and light rain or snow throughout the Northwest during the past twenty-four hours. Higher temperatures prevail in the Upper Mississippi and Missouri valleys, but rising pressures in Western Montana, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia are attended by colder and freezing weather in those districts. The easterly movement of the Manitoba disturbance will be followed by much colder weather and strong northwest winds at the Head of the Lakes tonight and Tuesday."

Following were last night's lowest temperatures:

"What Shall We Do With Our Ex-Presidents?"

Search me!
I never heard
That anyone
Could do a thing
With Theodore
When he was in
The big High Chair;
You might just ask
Joe Foraker.
And he might tell
You what he did,
Or Tillman could
If you should ask,
Enlighten you
How he came out;
Joe Bailey had Experience,
And might be glad
To furnish you
With some advice;
And Burton had
A chance to know
How very bad
A boy he was;
He'd volunteer
Some data, too;
You might hunt up
One Haskell, too,
Who brought some suit—
Or nearly did;
Also Toni Platt—
The sly old cat—
Did something I Remember now;
I think he put
Our Teddy where
He thought he'd keep,
And so he did
Keep going so
He broke the rope
Platt caught him with.

I'd hate to say
Just what to do,
And wouldn't try
Since I leave seen
So many men
Who knew the game,
Or thought they did;
Make such a mess;
Who tried to take
A fall from him,
And thought they could
Just flatten him
Right to the ground;

I'd rather wait
And see how he Will get along
With elephants
And Tiger-cats,
And if he comes Back home again
With lions' hides
And Hippo teeth
And Rhino tusks
And Boa skins
With snakes jerked out
I reckon I
Nor no one else
Could eas'ly say
Just what to do
With this last live
Ex-President—
Unless it be
To let him do
Just as he likes—
For that is what
He always did
Do anyhow;

And yet somehow
Our Theodore
Most always lit
Square on his feet;
Most ev'ry one
Who tried to do
Just anything
With him I've found
Were like the man
Who fought a bear—
Who did a heap
To just get loose
And let the bear
Do anything
He wanted to
'Cept bother him.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Frazee Free Press: Such men as John Mitchell are the very best kind of leaders for the workingmen, and that this is realized by them is seen in the affectionate regard the miners have for the man who so wisely led them during the great strike seven years ago, and who so constantly gives them good counsel. As an instance in point which he truly said that "if the shorter day has given the miners more time for drink and depravity, it is a curse; but if it has given them more time for their families and for books, it is a Godsend." Such words coming from him have great weight with the men, and it is cheering to know that to the great mass of them the shorter day is a benefit.

Princeton Union: The Washington, Pa., M. E. church has advertised for the person who dropped a $10,000 bill into the contribution plate. The deacons think it was placed there by mistake, and will return it if this proves to be the case. It is our opinion that the man who contributed the $10,000 bill knew what he was doing, and will not be heard from, but there will in all probability be requests for its return from persons who donated buttons.

Ely Miner: The Northfield News published by Joel Heatwole, is a bitter opponent of the development of Northern Minnesota. This sour feeling dates back to a certain state convention held in Duluth when Cole was nominated for governor. Heatwole was also on the receptive list at this time. From the Northfield News many of the penny-ante country newspapers of the southern part of the state take their cues and join in the anvil chorus, "Steel Trust, O Steel Trust." The 50,000 people of the iron ranges cut no figure.

Wheelock's Weekly: The 2-cent a mile law in Illinois does not appear to injure the railroads so much as Governor Hughes of New York thought it would in New York. The annual report of the Illinois warehouse and railroad commission shows that the railroads increased their receipts from the passenger department over $2,000,000 in 1908 under the 2-cent a mile law.

Warren Register: Japan has put an official ban on the writings of Count Tolstoi. While Tolstoi personally is not only a great man, but a good man, there is nothing in his writings that can elevate or benefit the human race. There is a morbidity about his books that tends to depress the reader and to destroy his belief in the existence of anything good in the world, of the possession of any virtue by the beings of his own kind. The Japanese will be better off deprived of Tolstoi literature, and so would every other people.

Willmar Journal: Senator Thorpe's bill "to make A. D. Stephens governor" was only a joke, and the biggest kind of a joke on the fellows who took it serious and solemn.

THE TONNAGE TAX VETO

The following is from the Detroit Record, published in the home county of Representative Bjorge, the author of the tonnage tax bill, and one of the strongest Republican newspapers in Northwestern Minnesota:

The Bjorge tonnage tax bill was passed by the house with one vote to spare. The measure finally came to a vote in the senate last Friday and after many hours of heated debate, and a resort by those upon both sides of the question to all the tactics known to parliamentary experts, as well as the engendering of much ill feeling, it was passed by that body also, the vote standing 25 to 38; and thus the bill was put up to Governor Johnson for his approval or disapproval. Never in the history of the state has a pending measure excited more general interest. Thousands of telegrams were poured in upon the state executives, pleading, demanding and praying of him for the exercise of his veto power. The people of the range country importuned as one man for such intervention. The church bishops asked of their subordinates the special prayers of their churches at last Sunday's services, invoking that the governor might be endowed with wisdom and courage which would prompt him to put the stamp of his disapproval upon the measure, the final enactment of which over 200,000 people felt would result in distress and financial ruin. In view of all that has been said and done for or against the tonnage tax measure; of the bitterness that has been engendered; of the closely drawn lines of opinion as to the justice of its approval or disapproval, well might the hand of Governor Johnson have halted before he could affix to the bill his signature, making it the law. And that the governor had the moral courage to meet the issue and to send the bill back to the legislature without his approval and with a clear and cogent statement of the grounds upon which he based his action is a matter of which the people of the state at large have reason to take pride and to be thankful. Elsewhere in this paper the veto message will be found in full. The Record believes that fair minded men will read and approve of the governor's action. The state of Minnesota cannot afford to jeopardize the prosperity of a large section of the territory within its borders by the passage of a measure which, as the governor says of the tonnage tax, is "a more or less uncertain and ill-digested experiment, not fully understood by its friends," or one that "fails to meet the constitutional requirements of uniformity in taxing the same class of subjects." Throughout his message there is not to be found an indication that the governor had his own personal gain in mind, but, on the contrary, that he has again proved himself worthy of the confidence the people have reposed in his integrity and fairmindedness and that he is big enough and broad enough to be the governor of all of the great state of Minnesota.

The defeat of the tonnage tax measure as no discredit to Mr. Bjorge, the representative of Becker county, who introduced the bill and who fought it successfully through the legislature. He made a valiant fight for the right as he saw it, and won out in both houses against opposition which would have disheartened many a man. He has made a record in his work for the passage of this bill that does him honor. His greatest mistake has been in attributing dishonest motives to those who have not agreed with him. In this he has been wrong, for no matter how surely a man may feel that he is right in the advocacy of any great measure, he should accord the same honest motives to those who take a different view unless he knows absolutely to the contrary. Throughout the discussion of this question the argument has savored too much of appeal to ignorant prejudice. It has become altogether too popular to charge that men have been bought up or influenced by a trust or corporation. The sooner the stamp of disapproval is put upon this form of argument the better it will be for the country at large. The corporation, be it the steel trust, the railroad company or any other aggregation of capital and brains for the promotion of business, is entitled to the same fair treatment that is due to the humblest individual. The iron interests may not be contributing their full share of taxes. In that case there should be enacted the necessary legislation that will compel them to do so, but it should be brought about in a clearly constitutional manner and after the most thorough understanding as to what is right, without jeopardizing the prosperity of a large section of the state.

The following is from the Frazee Free Press, another strong Republican newspaper in Mr. Bjorge's home county of Becker:

The Free Press supported Mr. Bjorge during the last campaign, and we did so in good faith, believing that the issue for which he was fighting was meritorious. We honestly state that we then did not fully understand the purpose of such a law, believing, like many others, that any kind of a tax placed on a corporation would be just and proper; but we see now that the principle of the tonnage tax idea is wrong, and that the measure would impose an unjust tax on the iron properties. Mr. Bjorge's strongest contention in favor of the law was that because the mines belonged to the steel trust they therefore should pay a tax on each ton of ore taken out of the earth and the money used for running the state government. We need but apply this principle to local conditions and it would be the same as if a law was passed to compel the lumber companies to pay a tax for each 1,000 feet of lumber cut from the forests. One can readily see how unjust such a tax would be, and we congratulate Governor Johnson for the stand he has taken and for his sound judgment.

Though Mr. Bjorge has made a failure as representative of this district, it must be admitted that he has proven himself an untiring worker for what he thought was right, but he sadly erred in his judgment.

Fertile Journal: Governor Johnson did a good thing for the northern half of the state when he vetoed the tonnage tax bill.

Morrison County Democrat: Governor Johnson was not caught napping. When the tonnage tax bill got around to him he promptly placed his veto on it. He was satisfied long before it ever got into the hopper of the legislature that it would not make the right sort of dope to dish out to the iron range people.

Aitkin Republican: One of the chief arguments of the tonnage tax advocates was that the steel trust is a foreign corporation, and the tax would mostly be paid by non-residents. It has been mostly the money of non-residents that has so far developed the state's resources, and if this money should be demanded at the present time, there would be mortgage sales galore all over the state, and bankruptcy would stare thousands of people in the face. The legislature, however, apparently does not want foreign money invested in Minnesota enterprises, and has been doing its best to drive it out of the state.

Sandstone Courier: The people of Northeastern Minnesota, especially those residing in Duluth and the iron range, are rejoicing over the defeat of the tonnage tax bill, and the good judgment used by Governor Johnson in vetoing the bill has made him many warm admirers among the iron miners, who feared the passage of this important measure would rob many of them of their employment.

Princeton Union: All honor to Governor Johnson for his brave action in vetoing the tonnage tax bill. True, in exercising the veto power conferred upon him by the Constitution he simply performed his plain duty. Had he done less he would have been recreant to his oath of office. Nevertheless he is entitled to great praise for his courage in refusing to give his assent to a measure that had been demanded by his party in its platform, a measure that he himself had formerly indirectly advocated, when he became convinced that the measure in question was wrong in principle and would injuriously affect the material interests of thousands of his fellow-citizens in Northeastern Minnesota. Governor Johnson has demonstrated that he is big enough to rise above party, that his mental vision is not obscured by sectional lines and that he can consider legislation from a state-wide viewpoint. There may be some who will condemn the governor's action, small-souled individuals who will accuse him of being actuated by sinister motives, but time will justify his course and in the meantime he will not lack for defenders.

The Union has criticised many of Governor Johnson's utterances and official acts in the past and doubtless will in the future, but we meant what we said when we wired him this message on Tuesday noon: "As a citizen of Minnesota, with all my heart I congratulate you on your brave action."

While demagogues may denounce the governor he has made for himself thousands of new friends in Northeastern Minnesota who are not of the forgetting kind.

Cambridge Independent Press: As to Governor Johnson's action his message is a clean cut and able statement of his views upon this question, and holding such views he could not follow any other course than he did and remain an honest man. We admire the man who has the sand to stand upon his conviction of right even though we may not agree with him in all matters.

Sauk Center Herald: Governor Johnson has vetoed the tonnage tax bill. He was deluged with protests in the form of letters and telegrams from Northeastern Minnesota and it would have been hard to have done anything else. Duluth and the range towns were wild over the matter, stirred up by the steel trust with the threat that it would not build its intended big plant at Duluth and that it would close down all the mines if the tax bill became a law. These threats were the veriest bluff, as the iron deposits in Northern Minnesota are the greatest and best in the country and supplies elsewhere are giving out. The trust would have continued to mine this ore even had the bill become a law. The governor's motives will be impugned, but the Herald believes he did his duty as he saw it.

Elk River Star-News: Governor Johnson added another feather to his bunch of plumes when he vetoed the iron ore tonnage tax bill, passed by both houses of the legislature. The bill was vicious in principle, and unfair and unjust. The governor seems to always come out of a legislative session with more good things added to his record than one would expect, considering the fact that the legislature is overwhelmingly Republican in politics.

Minneapolis Commercial West: Minnesota is to be congratulated that it has a governor big enough, and broad-minded enough to veto a measure of such significance as the tonnage tax bill. A bill that had so desperately fought its way through both houses, but which was finally passed by a clear majority, was not one to lightly be returned without the governor's signature. Yet the measure was so manifestly unjust, illogical and even iniquitous, the surprise is that it could pass both houses of the legislature, rather than that the governor should veto. The shame of having such a legislature is somewhat palliated by having such a governor.

Grand Rapids Herald-Review: The last hope of the people of all Northern Minnesota has been realized—the iniquitous Bjorge bill, to place a double tax on iron ore, passed by both houses of the state legislature, has been vetoed by Governor Johnson, in a message sent to the lower house yesterday morning. By this act John A. Johnson has shown himself to be great in statesmanship, a man who has the courage of his convictions; one who dares to do right no matter what the opposition or how great its power. The governor of Minnesota is made of presidential timber.

Ortonville Herald-Star: No one would have suspected that Duluth had such a holler in her old hillsides.

Ishpeming, Mich., Iron Ore: Governor Johnson vetoed the bill, recognizing its unfairness. It's to his credit and elevates him still further in the minds of honest people.

POLICE LOOKING FOR BUHL MAN

Joseph Herbert Has Been Missing for Seven Weeks.

The Duluth police have been asked to assist in a search for Joseph Herbert of Buhl, Minn., who has been missing for the last seven weeks. According to word received by Chief Troyer from the man's brother, Charles Herbert, Joe left Buhl seven weeks ago to purchase horses in Superior, and nothing has been seen or heard of him since then.

It is feared by relatives that he has met with foul play. They say he had about $200 in his possession when he left, and when last heard from he had reached Superior and had purchased the horses, and was ready to start back to Buhl with them. He is described as being 5 feet 5 inches tall and weighing 135 pounds. He wore a light overcoat and dark suit. His hair dark, sprinkled with gray. He is smooth shaven, with blue eyes and a large nose. He wore a dark blue flannel shirt and leather topped rubbers.

VIRGINIA VOTES FOR HIGH SCHOOL

School Meeting Saturday Night Disposed of Much Discussed Problem.

Virginia, Minn., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Virginia will have a new $125,000 high school building and a new six-room grade building in the northern part of the city. That was the result of a chaotic meeting of the district at the Roosevelt school Saturday night.

The reconsideration of the action taken at a former meeting, authorizing the board to build a new high school on block 51, which is the baseball park, was the business of the meeting. The former action was declared null and void. A motion to authorize the board to erect a new high school was carried almost unanimously, but another motion that the school be located on block 51 met with strong opposition. At a division of the house, the chairman declared the motion carried, and there were protests. A vote by ballot was asked, and then the question of the site and the means of raising money was left to the school board.

The board will doubtless erect the school on block 51. The baseball association has already been notified to take down the fence before May 1, and that will probably be done this week. There is a possibility that some ground to the south of the pdesent park will be secured and the park extended to the south, leaving the site for the new school on the north, adjoining the Roosevelt school. This high school quarters in the Roosevelt school are badly crowded and the new school is regarded as a necessity. New quarters are especially needed for the manual training and domestic science departments.

The new grade school will be for the children in the North side and Great Northern additions. The two additions are being built up rapidly, and the time is not far distant when the pupils there will need all the room the new school building will provide.

HIBBING MAN IS SUDDENLY TAKEN

Arthur White Expires Suddenly in Hotel on Sunday Evening.

Hibbing, Minn., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Arthur White, who has been employed by Contractor George M. Williams for some time past, dropped dead here last night at 8 o'clock.

White was passing the Arlington hotel when he was taken suddenly ill. He went into the hotel and sat down. For fifteen minutes he seemed to be sleeping peacefully. At the expiration of that time he awoke and with a sigh and a stretching of his limbs fell over to the floor dead.

Assistant Coroner Morseman was called and pronounced that death resulted from heart failure. The body was taken to Ryder's morgue.

The entire village was shocked Sunday morning upon learning of the death Saturday night of Mrs. P. J. Ryan, wife of the county commissioner, at their home on Third avenue. Until a week ago when she was taken ill Mrs. Ryan had been enjoying perfect health. Mrs Ryan, who was only 24, was one of the most popular of the younger society women in Hibbing and her death is deplored, not only by Mr. Ryan and family, but by every person who had the pleasure of her acquaintance. Mrs. Ryan's mother will arrive in Hibbing today from Kansas City and the funeral will be held Tuesday. Mrs. Ryan's maiden name was Jennie Partridge and during the past two years, until her marriage a few months ago, she was a teacher in the local public schools.

NASHWAUK MILL RUNNING.

Crosby Mine Has Begun Season's Shipment of Ore.

Nashwauk, Minn., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The sawmill owned by Charles Latvalla and John Erickson was put in operation Saturday. The mill has about 900,000 feet of lumber to be sawed within the next two months. Charles Erickson has the superintending of the work.

Dr. J. R. Adams of Hibbing transacted business here between trains Wednesday.

Prof. Henry R. Gilruth visited the Keewatin school Wednesday.

The Crosby mine received its first train of ore cars Wednesday. The work of removing the stockpiles began at once.

Paul H. Tvedt has disposed of his cottage on Third street to Fred Hunter of Hibbing.

FIRST VIRGINIA COURT.

Judge Martin Hughes Will Open Court Tuesday Morning.

Virginia, Minn., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first term of the new district court on the range will open here tomorrow morning with Judge Martin Hughes of Hibbing on the bench. U. G. Holloway, deputy clerk, and W. H. Oppell, deputy sheriff, have arrived and taken charge of their offices. They will make their residence in Virginia.

The grand jury will go into session tomorrow morning, but there are only a few cases for its consideration and the session will be short. The civil calendar consists of twenty-six cases, of which eight are divorce. Several other cases are for trial by court and the petit jury will also have little work.

The court will meet in the city hall, with the council chamber as a court room. Plans for remodeling the city hall have been accepted by the city council and by the July term of court the quarters will be more commodious. For the present the new court will be somewhat cramped. The term will be short, however, and by the next term many of the inconveniences will have disappeared.

TONNAGE TAX HIS THEME.

Eveleth Minister Discourses Upon Tax and Gov. Johnson's Veto.

Eveleth, Minn., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. R. C. Johnson of the Methodist Episcopal church delivered an interesting address last night at the church on "Minnesota, Governor Johnson and the Tonnage Tax." A large audience was present and greatly enjoyed the talk.

Many strong points were brought out by the pastor showing a thorough study of the question that has been bothering the iron range of late.

HIBBING TO ENTERTAIN.

Arranging for Annual State Meeting of Minnesota Eagles.

Hibbing, Minn., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Secretary L. L. Baskins has established headquarters in the Rood building and is planning for the annual state meeting of the Eagles of Minnesota, which will be held here June 28, 29 and 30. It is expected that representatives from every aerie in the state will be present and Hibbing will give the visitors a royal time.

The junior and senior classes of the Lincoln high school will join again this year in giving an annual dancing party, and the date has been set for May 7.

Roy W. Reid has been appointed steward of the Oliver club, succeeding Miles Gandsey.

NO ONE WANTS JOB.

Resignation of Biwabik Village Official May Leave Vacancy.

Biwabik, Minn., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Wanted, some one to fill the office of village trustee. Address Biwabik, Minn.

Such an "ad" might with propriety be inserted in the Duluth Herald in the hope that it will bear fruit, as the village is confronted with a vacancy on its village board that will probably not be filled.

No one has jumped into the breach and offered to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Capt. Frank Thomas as village trustee and from present indications the office will go begging.

FINNISH CHURCH FAIR.

A Very Successful Undertaking Is Held at Eveleth.

Eveleth, Minn., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Ladies Aid Society of the Finnish Lutheran church held its annual fair last night at Wahlonlahde hall. The hall was packed, while on the stage all the donations to the society were placed and bid on. The women have been preparing for some time for the fair, asking business people for articles which were sold, besides making many beautiful articles themselves.

Before the auction several musical numbers were given, while Rev. Mr. Wargelin of the Finnish Lutheran church and Charles Seckman spoke a few words about the use of the money derived from the auction. Refreshments were served during the evening. A committee composed of Rev. Mr. Wargelin, J. Ridanpaa, M. Gomsi, G. Tamminan, Mrs. Wargelin, Mrs. J. Luoto and Mrs. A. Saari has been appointed to arrange for a Finnish parochial school during the summer months. The plan at present is to have the school for one month, with two teachers.

TWO HARBORS COUNCIL WILL ELECT ALDERMAN.

Two Harbors, Minn., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city council will this evening appoint an alderman for the Second ward, to succeed J. W. Brownell, who resigned rather than discriminate in his friendship between the candidates for city attorney. John Boyer, W. A. Doerr and Martin Olson have been mentioned for Mr. Brownell's place, but the former has declined the honor. The appointment of city attorney will be decided at this evening's meeting. The candidates are John Dwan and D. H. Lawrence.

DULUTHIAN HAS BOUGHT STOCK AT TWO HARBORS.

Two Harbors, Minn., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. Orekovsky of Duluth has purchased the stock and building of the Nordby Mercantile company here, which recently failed, paying $8,500 for the stock and $7,000 for the building. It is expected he will reopen the store for business.

The sale of school and other state lands in Lake county, amounting to about 7,500 acres, will be held at the courthouse here July 1, at 9 a. m.

SPITE PROMPTS ARREST; SMALL FINE IMPOSED.

Eveleth, Minn., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Ramisch, who was arrested for having a blind pig, was fined $15 and costs. The moderate fine was given because the judge was convinced that the charge was brought as spite work, and as Ramisch's housekeeper did the illegal selling, without the former's knowledge.

The cases against Nick Paukovich, Joseph Sapin and Matt Philopovich, charged with running blind pigs, are being heard in municipal court today.

EVELETH SYNAGOGUE WILL BE ENLARGED.

Eveleth, Minn., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a meeting of the Jewish congregation last night it was decided that the present synagogue should be moved back twenty feet and that a new addition should be erected in front. Steam heat will be secured from the Eveleth Steam laundry. A new floor will be laid in the synagogue and a new balcony for the women built. A committee has been securing the necessary money to go ahead with the improvements and a sufficient sum has been raised.

ASSAILANT IS RUN TO COVER

Austrian Who Stabbed Aurora Miner Caught by Police Chief.

Aurora, Minn., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Chief of Police C. F. Witte and Marshal Lang did a piece of detective work here Saturday night that would have done credit to a professional. Saturday John Nicholson, an employe of the Syracuse mine, was stabbed in the back by an Austrian named Kunkel in fight. The Austrian fled and by the time the police arrived was out of sight. Witte could not learn the assailant's name, nor could he get a description of him. He worked all night on the case and at 4 o'clock Sunday morning located him at the Mohawk mine. The prisoner has confessed. Nicholson has had cut in his left kidney and is in bad shape. It is stated that he had been looking for trouble for some time.

SHIPPING ORE IN FULL SWING

Seven Train Crews Hauling to Two Harbors and Docks Busy.

Two Harbors, Minn., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The starting of ore shipments from the Steel corporation mines has been the signal for increased activity in all lines. Saturday seven train crews were put on here for the ore-hauling service, and more will be added as the shipments increase.

A short-run crew has been put on at Biwabik to handle the ore and empties between that place and the mines. A small force has been put to work dumping ore at the ore docks, and today switching crews were put to work in the ore yards.

The Adriatic mine at Mesaba commenced loading ore for shipment Saturday, and the Pioneer mine at Ely commenced loading today. The latter mine will load about 6,000 tons per week for the present.

In addition to the above, the mines now shipping are: The Labelle, Franklin, Bessemer, Miller, Adams, Fayal, Gilbert, Savoy and Jura. As soon as the boats begin to arrive others will start and the shipments increase rapidly.

About fifteen men were put to work on the ore docks Saturday cleaning out the pockets and getting things in shape for dumping ore, which commenced today, and the force will be increased to 90 or 100 men.

Boston Police Act.

Boston, Mass., April 26.—The police are trying to locate a girl answering the description of Adele Boas, the missing daughter of Arthur E. Boas of New York, who secured work in a Charlestown restaurant yesterday, but failed to appear today.

The girl was engaged by Mrs. Elizabeth M. Upton, who met her on an afternoon train from New York for Boston on Saturday. She said she was from Providence, and intended to look for work in Boston. Mrs. Upton secured a lodging place for her new employe, who began work in the restaurant in Charleston about 8 o'clock. She worked all day yesterday and then went to the room in Sayer street which Mrs. Upton had engaged for her.

The girl was awakened at 5:30 a. m. today by the landlady of the lodging house, but half an hour later, when Mrs. Upton went to the house to bring her to the lunchroom, she had disappeared. Later Mrs. Upton saw a picture of the Boas girl in a local paper and was convinced that this was her missing waitress. She notified the captain in charge of the Charleston station, and the search for the young woman was begun.

Later the Boston police learned that a girl answering the description given by Mrs. Upton had been seen entering a train bound for New York.

of the past fortnight were provoked by "wretches and vile personages," who were injured by the proclamation of the constitution. Soldiers were corrupted with money and incited to commit acts of savagery, says the statement, which adds: "The holy mission of the army is above personalities. The committee wishes to work for the general interest and serve the fatherland."

Arrests of reactionaries and religious students continue, and it is estimated that up to last night 4,000 such persons had been apprehended.

The last burials of the men who fell in the fighting of Saturday took place last night. The dead number about 300, and the men in hospitals do not reach the total of 500. Five thousand troops were taken prisoners.

One body of prisoners marched part Scherket Pasha's headquarters this morning on their way to camp in the country. They were in no sense downcast, but were smoking cigarettes and chatting cheerily.

A few prisoners have been shot in attempting to escape. An artillerylist, who was awaiting at Schefket Pasha's headquarters, was knocked down today by a soldier in one of the constitutionalist regiments. The soldier was dragged away by his comrades, but he called out in explanation of his act:

"That rascal killed four officers."

The men suspected of instigating the mutiny of April 13 have been separated from the main bodies of prisoners and will be tried by court-martial.

It is rumored that prisoners are being shot in the country beyond Sweet Waters, but definite assurances were obtained at Schefket Pasha's headquarters that no executions had yet occurred, although a considerable number was probable.

Two hundred of the sultan's Albanian soldiers stationed at the imperial palace at Yildiz, persistently refused today to surrender their quarters, which are adjacent to the main gates of the palace enclosure. Although these men have not fired on any one, their steadfast refusal to submit and be disarmed is very annoying to Schefket Pasha, who is arranging to attack them and force their surrender, unless they will do as he desires.

The correspondent repaired to the scene of this threatened trouble. "Some of his majesty's children are disobedient," remarked the officer commanding the approach to the gates of the palace, in reply to a question. "We have placed a battalion of Macedonian volunteers within close range and we are awaiting only the arrival of artillery before making a final demand for surrender. If this is refused we must attack."

The Macedonians referred to were behind a series of long terraced walls between 300 and 400 yards from the Albanian barracks. Their cartridge belts were full. As the officer was speaking a number of Macedonian volunteers, mostly men of independent position, were arriving on the scene in cabs and carriages to have a share in the final engagement.

The Seutari artillery barracks, which yesterday threatened to bombard Constantinople were fully evacuated during the night. The men who were in the barracks were prisoners and camped last night in an adjacent graveyard.

Sultan Must Yield Riches.

Berlin, April 26.—The Constantinople correspondent of the Lokal Anzieger telegraphs that he learns the sultan will be allowed to remain on the throne, but on condition that he gives guarantees against a relapse to absolutism. These conditions are as follows:

The walls of the Yildiz palace are to be razed; the barracks at Yildiz, quartering about 20,000 men under the immediate orders of the sultan, are also to be razed; there will be stationed in the palace's guard of 100 men only, to be changed daily and supplied from the different regiments of the garrison alternately, in order to make it impossible for the sultan to bribe them; the sultan must pay the expenses of the expedition from Saloniki from his private fortune, and furthermore, the sultan, whose property is largely invested abroad, must make a gift to the nation of $250,000,000 as the basis of the financial regeneration of the empire.

The correspondent sends also an interview with Enver Bey, one of the military leaders of the Constitutionalists, who said:

"Our satisfaction with our victory is overclouded by the loss we have sustained. About 100 men have fallen, including eight officers.

"After fighting for hours we reached the long desired goal. The Yildiz garrison gave up its arms voluntarily. We have decided to leave these troops at their posts, as they are now harmless. There will be no further disturbance, as we are masters of the situation."

Asked what would be done with the sultan, Enver Bey replied:

"That does not concern us soldiers, but now that our work is done the government must conduct negotiations with him. We are wholly at the disposal of the government and will follow its directions."

STOCK FARM ASSURED.

New Industry is to be Started Near Deer River.

Deer River, Minn., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The stock farm, which is to be started at Cass Lake, will soon be a reality.

W. H. Towner arrived Friday with a car load of cows, three calves and a team of horses which he took out to the farm, and he will commence at once erecting a house and barns on the place. Mr. Towner will bring his family up from Minneapolis as soon as he has the home ready for them. His partner in the undertaking, George Dredge, arrived Saturday night with parties who will look the land over in the vicinity of the farm with a view to buying.

Mr. Towner says in a short time a carload of stock will be added to the herd. The gentlemen have several thousand acres of well watered grazing land extending from Chase to Deer lake, and they will probably have the largest cattle herds in this part of the state.

Ida Butler, who conducted a resort in the west end of town, died suddenly Monday night from fatty generation of the heart. The woman retired in apparently good state of health. She weighed about 300 pounds and a special coffin had to be ordered for her remains. Relatives took the remains to the unfortunate's home.

The first market products shipped out of Deer River was a car of rutabagas shipped to Duluth Saturday by C. F. Wellin, which he purchased of William Hulteet at 35 cents per bushel.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the M. E. church will meet with Mrs. Ingersoll on Wednesday afternoon.

Three new members were initiated into the Eagle lodge Wednesday night and lunch was spread after the ceremonies.

BECKER TO PANAMA.

Ex-Mayor of Milwaukee Has Credentials From President Taft.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Former Mayor S. M. Becker sailed Saturday from New Orleans for Panama to visit and see the work at the great canal. He will be gone about two weeks, when he expects to return to New Orleans and will then visit the Pacific coast before returning home.

In a telegram received by Washington Beggan, father of Milwaukee's former mayor, the latter states that he goes to the canal zone with a message from President Taft directed to Col. Goethals, chairman and chief engineer of the Isthmian canal commission, requesting the latter to extend to the Milwaukeean all official courtesies.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

GREAT MILL IS PLANNED

Backus-Brooks Company to Build Large Plant at Falls.

One of Largest Sawmills in Northern Minnesota Is Proposed.

International Falls, Minn., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Backus-Brooks company, it is stated on reliable authority, has finally concluded to erect a large, modern sawmill here. It is announced that the contract has been let and the order placed for the machinery.

The mill will have a capacity of 250,000 feet per day, with two bands and a re-saw. It has been known for some time that the Backus-Brooks company intended to concentrate its interests here, to deliver slabs and refuse to the paper mill at a given date and the building of the sawmill this summer simply means the fulfillment of that agreement.

The company has millions of feet of standing timber tributary to this point and at the present time has hundreds of logs banked along the right of way of the M. & St. L. railroad, to the south of International Falls, only waiting for the spur track to be built to the site of the proposed mill, east of town, on the Rainy river, when they will be loaded and hauled here.

The mill will be about the size of the Laylin-Mathieu plant at Spooner, and will employ about 450 men during the season, which will add materially to the growth and business interests of the city.

CUT-OFF CANAL PROJECT DEAD

The War Department Has Disapproved of Aitkin County Undertaking.

Aitkin, Minn., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The war department has disapproved of the proposed cut-off canal that meant so much to this county, and the undertaking that was in a fair way to be completed in a year or so will have to be abandoned.

The following is a copy of some letters received here from Assistant Secretary of War Oliver, in reply to protests sent against the construction of the canal:

"Referring to your letter of Jan. 7 last, protesting for reasons stated against the cut-off ditch proposed to be constructed in the Mississippi river near Aitkin, Minn., by the drainage commission of the state of Minnesota, I beg to inform you that the application of the commission for approval of plans for the proposed work has this day been denied."

At the hearing of the matter before Judge McClenahan on Dec. 31 last, in proceedings had under the judicial ditch law, the judge stated that upon the filing of additional bonds to cover the expense of completing the survey and the report upon the same, he would appoint Mr. Ralph engineer, and upon the approval of his plan for controlling works, etc., by the war department, the court would appoint the viewer, whose duty it would be to report upon the feasibility of the project and the probable amount of benefit to accrue to the adjacent lands.

Now, in view of the fact that the war department has declined to approve of State Drainage Engineer Ralph's plans, it would seem to be a foregone conclusion that the court will likewise refuse to sanction further proceedings in the matter, and that the long pending and much discussed cut-off canal project may now be finally regarded as a closed incident.

REVOLVER WENT OFF.

It Was in Grip and Bullet Struck Its Owner.

Grand Forks, N. D., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dan Bull arrived in Grand Forks Saturday evening with a bullet in his leg below the knee. The wound was received in a peculiar manner. Mr. Bull was on his return from Grand Forks to Concrete, where he was looking after the interests of the cement company. He had a revolver in a grip and when in Edinburgh was reached he threw the grip down on the platform. The revolver was discharged and a bullet entered his leg about four inches below the knee.

No serious results are anticipated, as the wound was promptly attended to. Mr. Bull is able to walk around and he believes he will soon be all right.

RUN TO CARS FATAL.

Iowan Drops Dead After Making a Freight Train.

Fargo, N. D., April 26.—Running on the top of a train to reach the caboose before it got under motion proved fatal to Henry H. Opfer of Waukon, Iowa. He had been West to Fargo to look after some investments and was coming back when he fell dead in the caboose. He was 55 years of age and prominent in Iowa.

RESORT TO BE LIVELY.

This Summer Will See Many Improvements at Maple Lake.

Crookston, Minn., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The coming season will be the liveliest ever experienced at Maple lake, the popular summer resort, twenty-five miles southeast of Crookston. The delightful weather of Sunday drew scores of the cottage owners there to make preparations for opening their places for the summer season. Contracts have already been let for the erection of a large number of new cottages, including fine places for Messrs. Charles Bourdon and Hunt of Red Lake Falls, Harry Randall and Ladd of Grand Forks, N. D.; C. Bray, Ed Babcock and Kelly of Crookston, while many others will build a little later on.

All of these cottages will be erected on what is known as Washington Heights. There will also be a number of new sail and motor boats, some private and others to be put in service for the benefit of those who do not own boats of their own. To add to the attractions at Maple lake, the fishing promises to be better this year than ever before, as the state game and fish commission for several years past has been stocking the lake, and the first consignments are large enough for good sport this season.

CAN INCREASE OUTPUT.

Marquette Range Mines Placed in Condition for Busy Season.

Negaunee, Mich., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Among the mines on the Marquette range where heavy increase can be made, are the Section 21 property at the Winthrop, and the Champion mine. At both of these properties the production has been heavily curtailed for some years. Meanwhile, both have been provided with new machinery, adequate buildings and other equipment necessary for more extensive work than has ever before been done at either mine.

The Regent and Hartford mines in Negaunee have also been well equipped. The output from these properties has been fairly large, with indications that there will be no particular let-up in the production this season. There are, at present, large stockpiles at the Regent and the Hartford mines, and the movement of ore started Friday from the Regent mine, and this will be the first property at which the management will put steam shovel into commission.

TO LIVE AT CLOQUET.

Couple Recently Married at Ontonagon Come to Minnesota.

Ontonagon, Mich., April 26.—Miss Minerva Conrad, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Conrad, and Henry Antcliff of Saginaw were married here last week, at the home of the bride's parents by Rev. L. Keast, pastor of the M. E. church. They were attended by Mrs. Jennie McNee, sister of the bride, and Malcolm McNee. At the close of the ceremony a few relatives and friends of the contracting parties repaired to the dining room, where an elaborate dinner was served.

The bride, who has been employed at the Herald office for some time, is well known in Ontonagon. She was the recipient of many beautiful presents. The bride and groom left for Cloquet, Minn., where they expect to make their future home.

SEASON VERY BACKWARD.

Walker Sawmill Forced to Close Because of Ice Interference.

Walker, Minn., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local sawmill shut down Saturday evening and will resume operations with a day and night force as soon as the lake is clear of ice. Logs were shipped in by rail, sufficient to last under ordinary conditions, until the lake broke up, but the prolonged weather this spring compels the company to wait. Leech lake was the first of the ice lakes to leave last season, but present indications are that it will be May 10, before the ice goes out this year. This is the latest date there is any record of since the birth of the town.

WEALTHY FARMER HANGS HIMSELF WITH SUSPENDERS

Menominee, Mich., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Temporarily insane, it is believed, James Kadlec, a wealthy farmer at Little River hanged himself from a rafter in his barn. The body dangling from a suspender was found in the morning by his daughter. For some time Kadlec has been acting queerly and last night, several hours after the family retired, he was heard leaving his room and later going out doors. He was 60 years of age and is survived by a big family.

SPRAY CALENDAR HAS JUST BEEN ISSUED.

St. Anthony Park, Minn., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state entomologist has published a spray calendar (Press Bulletin No. 31) for the use of farmers, fruit growers and gardeners, stating just what to use for successful combat various insect pests and fungous diseases, and when to apply. Recipes for making the various compounds accompany the calendar. The apple, plum, raspberry, currant, strawberry, tomato, potato, squash, cabbage, etc., are dealt with. Copies of the bulletin can be had free of charge by addressing the entomological division, care of experiment station, St. Anthony Park, Minn.

SNOW HELPS FARMERS.

Fargo, N. D., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—A three-inch snow fell Saturday afternoon and has proven a big boon to farmers in this section of the state. Fully three-fourths of the wheat seeding has been completed and as the soil was dry the moisture will be doubly advantageous.

FLOATER UNIDENTIFIED.

Crookston, Minn., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The identity of the body found in the Red Lake river near here last Wednesday evening is still a mystery. The police and coroner are bending every energy to get some evidence which will reveal who the man was, but thus far all their efforts have been fruitless. At the present time they are entirely at a loss as to who the man was.

Scalped in Runaway.

Pierre, S. D., April 26.—Deputy Sheriff Joe Wallace of this city was scalped in a runaway accident, the team starting when one side of the pole broke loose from the buggy, and ran into an auto standing on the street. Wallace was thrown over the machine, striking on the top of his head, cutting a number of bad gashes to the bone.

MUCH HAY BURNED.

Grand Forks, N. D., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—One hundred tons of hay were burned in a prairie fire which swept over section 36, Rye township, Friday afternoon. The entire neighborhood turned out to fight the fire which threatened to destroy much valuable property. The fire started from sparks thrown by a Northern Pacific engine. Jake Dobmeir and others were the fire fighters.

CROOKSTON AUTO FEVER CATCHING THIS SPRING.

Crookston, Minn., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sunday was the first real warm spring day that has been experienced during the month of April, and while the automobile owners have been doing stunts in fur coats occasionally, yesterday was the first day that they were out in force with the fair sex arrayed in their Easter finery. There are double the number of automobiles in Crookston this spring over last year. The auto germ has got in its work and nearly every business man has either purchased a machine, or has a malignant attack of the fever, which cannot be reduced by anything but the ownership of a car of some description.

PIKE LAKE BRIEFS.

Pike Lake, Minn., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Good Time club met at McCrimon's Tuesday evening.

Kathryn Olmen has gone back to Duluth.

Mabel Clarke and Charlie Marsh were married last week.

Charles Olson has the contract for putting a new flagpole on the school grounds.

George Otie was taken to St. Mary's hospital Tuesday.

Harry Butler and daughter, Florence Butler, visited in Proctor last Sunday.

Some speakers from the Commercial club of Duluth spoke on "Clover and Potatoes" at the Pike Lake town hall, Saturday afternoon, at 1 o'clock.

YOUTHFUL MARINETTE BURGLAR ARRESTED.

Menominee, Mich., April 26.—Arthur Gilmore of Marinette, Wis., 16 years old, haes been arrested on a charge of entering and robbing the home of Peterson Wilson on April 14. Gilmore's hearing takes places April 29, and, being unable to furnish bail, he is in jail. A valuable diamond ring and other articles of jewelry were stolen.

BIG RANCH BOUGHT.

Mitchell, S. D., April 26.—I. W. Seaman and son and other Mitchell men have purchased 10,700 acres comprising a ranch in the vicinity of Mandan, N. D., for $75,000. The ranch has 600 acres under cultivation, 300 head of registered cattle, many fine horses and a five-foot vein of lignite coal. Charles Seaman will have the management of the ranch.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Grand Forks, N. D.—The program for the annual meeting of the North Dakota Dental association and Red Seed in the Commercial club in Grand Forks, May 11 and 12, is announced. The dentists will have a large meeting here.

Edinburgh, N. D.—Dr. Halidorson of Edinburgh was caught under an auto and would have drowned had not his son, Dorl, came to the rescue. The pair were speeding between Akra and Mountain when the steering gear became out of order. The machine went in the ditch and the doctor was caught underneath it.

Fargo, N. D.—John Valleliy has been appointed trustee in bankruptcy of the estate of J. H. Arnovitch, who filed a petition in Fargo some time ago. Mr. Valleliy will take charge of the estate at once.

Grand Forks, N. D.—The North Dakota Fair association will offer something new in the way of prizes for landscape gardening. The competition will be carried out through photographs properly certified. Porch trees, evergreens, general ground improvements and other features.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Walter B. Madison, colored, was bound over by Judge Murray Friday afternoon on a charge of assaulting Amos White with a dangerous weapon.

Devils Lake, N. D.—Announcement is made that the Chauttauqua train will start running Monday and already a number of local families have completed arrangements for taking their summer residence at the lake. The number of people who will spend the entire summer at Chautauqua this year will be larger than at any previous time.

Mandan, N. D.—Supervising Engineer McKinnon of the Northern Pacific, the man who has charge of the construction work on the high line at Valley City, has moved his headquarters to Mandan and it is authoritatively stated that he will have charge of the construction work of the south line of Northern Pacific, which will be built out of Mandan.

Jamestown, N. D.—Edward Russell of Jamestown, who has made an extensive trip through California and the West, is of the opinion that, notwithstanding the special advantages claimed for California and other parts of the country visited, there is no natural soil the equivalent of that to be found in North Dakota for stock and farm purposes, which can be had at any price.

Bismarck, N. D.—The work of replastering the ceilings of the capitol building which has been under way for the past few weeks will be finished in about two weeks. The interior of the building will be greatly improved by the alterations, most of which have been done with convict labor.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Plans and specifications have been filed at the Builders & Traders' exchange for the erection of the new Congress Candy company building on the site of the building recently destroyed by fire. Bids for the construction of the new building will be called April 27.

Minot, N. D.—Amos White, colored, was cut across the face by Walter Madison, as the result of a drunken row. The two men became engaged in an altercation at the Globe restaurant. No cause can be discovered for the quarrel.

Rolla, N. D.—W. J. Taylor, who some time ago suffered dangerous injuries as a result of a fall is now recovering and will soon be as well as ever.

Minot, N. D.—Maj. Persons has purchased the Wheeler block from Mrs. E. Wheeler. The consideration is $16,600.

Bismarck, N. D.—Mrs. E. Le Barron, one of the first residents of Bismarck has just died at Valley Ford, Cal.

Bismarck, N. D.—The next term of the district court here will be convened on May 25, having been continued two weeks by Judge Winchester.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Staples—The Cloverdale Rural Telephone company is the name of a new line that has been instituted from here. It will tap the country to the west and north and will be a great convenience to a number of families not already reached by existing lines.

St. Cloud—Mrs. Mary Weber has settled with the Soo Railway company for the death of her husband, John Weber, who was killed at Eden Valley last August. The estate recently brought suit against the company for $5,000 damages, but it was finally decided to settle.

Warroad—Fire originated in the attic of the schoolhouse Thursday morning from a defective chimney, and for a few minutes it was feared that Warroad was to have another disastrous fire, but the efficient fire company was on the scene and had a stream of water going within a few minutes after alarm was turned in, so only nominal damage resulted.

Red Lake Falls—The personal property taxes of only ninety-three people in Red Lake county are delinquent. This is the best showing in the history of the county. Last year 140 people were delinquent and the average is about 150.

Royalton—While unloading a car of lime recently, Jay Lawrence's clothing was caught on a nail of a rolling barrel and he was thrown from the car to the ground and broke his shoulder.

Hendrum—As State Inspector Chailman, while here, expressed himself as displeased with the crowded condition in the school, the school board is considering the advisability of excluding from school next year, all students not living in this district.

Roseau—On Monday, April 18, Martin Nelson lost his residence in Stafford by fire. The house was occupied by a tenant, who was burning some grass in the yard when the fire caught in the banking around the house. The occupants were unable to extinguish the fire and the house soon burned to the ground. The loss was about $1,200.

Long Prairie—The southbound freight was wrecked Thursday night at Little Sauk. Eight cars were ditched and two men riding in an emigrant car were hurt, although not seriously.

Crookston—The regular quarterly meeting of the Red River Valley Medical society will be held here Tuesday evening and it is anticipated that one of the largest and most interesting sessions of the organization will take place. Many members of the profession from other cities will be in attendance.

Warroad—Mr. Ferry received a telegram announcing that on account of the ice the Saskatchewan river was impassable, hence Mrs. Ferry and family were unable to leave for that country Tuesday. Mrs. Ferry has now decided to remain until he will accompany her about the 24th of May.

Barnesville—At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Barnesville Building & Loan association, the following directors were elected: J. H. Eldridge, John McGrath, S. O. Solum, Charles S. Marden, John Nelson, D. F. McGrath, P. H. Klefer, A. D. Forsythe, C. R. Oliver, T. E. Collins and Dr. R. Patterson.

Moorhead—Dr. D. C. Darrow has closed a lease for the Moorhead hospital with Miss Tena Peterson, a trained nurse, who is at present in the West. Miss Peterson was a member of the Darrow hospital staff up to two years ago, and is known as a young woman of excellent executive ability. She will take charge May 1.

Foston—The residence on East Second street occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Judge Whaley and family, was consumed by fire last Monday evening, together with its contents, only a few pieces of furniture being saved, the shell of the building alone remaining standing upon ground.

Gary—H. O. Gullingsrud of Strand has traded a quarter section of land in section 19, Waukon to Ole Hamre of Twin Valley, taking as part payment the latter's dwelling property, located at Twin Valley. The consideration was $25 per acre.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Calumet—The funeral of Thomas Jackson of Allouez was held Saturday morning, with services at Sacred Heart church at Hecla at 8 o'clock.

Hancock—The funeral of Matt Kystinen, who died as the result of injuries received in No. 8 shaft of the Quincy mine, Wednesday evening, took place on Sunday afternoon, with services conducted by Rev. John Back, and interment was made in Lakeside cemetery.

Houghton—The annual banquet of the 1909 senior or graduating class of the Michigan College of Mines was held Thursday evening at the Douglass house, covers being laid for about eighty. Those present included the members of the class, alumni and members of the faculty.

Laurium—James McCullem has left for Butte, where he will attend a meeting of the Ida-Mountain Mining company. Some interesting developments, it is said, may be expected in this property shortly.

Hancock—Charles W. Wright of Washington and Miss Helen B. Dunstan, a daughter of Mrs. Thomas B. Dunstan of this city, were united in marriage at St. Agnes' chapel, New York city, Thursday. The groom is an alumnus of the Michigan College of Mines, now employed by the United States geological survey, with headquarters at Washington.

Houghton—A contract is soon to be awarded in Houghton for the cutting of timber, the result of logging near the Portage Lake ship canal, an area of which was burned over last fall. The entire lot, consisting of about 200,000 feet, will be made into material for repairs at piers.

Calumet—Maj. Watt of Duluth arrived in Calumet Saturday morning and conducted special services Saturday evening and Sunday all day in the local Salvation Army hall.

Ontonagon—Leon Labyak, the 15-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Labyak, who has been at the public hospital at Calumet for the past two weeks, having a tumor removed from his neck, is improving very rapidly and expects to be able to come home next week.

Ishpeming—Thomas Roberts, who was a pioneer resident of Ishpeming, having left here for the Menominee range some twenty-odd years ago, died recently at Norway, on the Menominee range, at the age of 59 years. A son of the deceased, Thomas Roberts, resides in Negaunee.

Marquette—Mrs. Robert Devine, formerly Miss Eleanor Nolan and her mother, Mrs. Ida Nolan, left Thursday evening for Chicago, where they will make their home in the future, joining Mr. Devine, who is employed as an operator in Chicago, and who preceded them there a few weeks.

Houghton—Superintendent John A. Doelle of the Portage township schools has consented to remain in Houghton another year and has affixed his signature to the board's contract. Mr. Doelle had been offered an appointment at Owosso and two members of that board were in Houghton recently, but he declined the offer.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Green Bay—William Burdick of Chicago, assistant keeper at Crassey Island light station, is missing and it is feared he was drowned in Green Bay during the gale Thursday night. A cap bearing the trademark of a Chicago firm was found on the east shore.

Ashland—The funeral of Walter Smith, who was killed by a fall from a telephone pole Wednesday morning, was held at St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church, on Vaughn avenue and Seventh street, at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Madison—City superintendents of schools will be allowed their expenses in attending conventions called by the state superintendent each year if the bill which was introduced by the committee on education in the assembly Friday morning is enacted into law.

Oshkosh—On Mayor Voss' orders, Chief Dowling has notified saloon keepers, cigar store men and grocers to remove all slot machines, including musical instruments.

Madison—There will be no naval reserve in Wisconsin for the next two years. The assembly put an end to the agitation by killing the Stack bill.

Green Bay—About $350 worth of jewelry was taken from John Rose and Alois Barth Thursday night by burglars.

Waupun—To save him from going insane, it is alleged, over religion, Knolan Whiteside, who has served one year out of a three years' sentence for burglary, probably will be pardoned by Governor Davidson.

La Crosse—Brooding over the fact that he shot and killed George Allendorf on the streets of this city fifteen years ago, George Stone, aged 50, has been declared insane. Stone was acquitted at his trial on the plea of self-defense.

Black River Falls—In the league oratoricals here, in which representatives from several places participated, Stanley Hollen of the Eau Claire high school, was accorded the honor of first place by the judges. Eau Claire was the recipient of another leading place, by Daniel McDonald taking third place.

Eau Claire—William Hawkins, a North side bicycle man, now rests at the county bastile, being placed there on complaint of Miss Mabel Hermanson, a 16-year-old Menomonie girl, who prefers a serious charge against the prisoner, alleging he assaulted her.

MAKING GOOD

There is no way of making lasting friends like "Making Good"; and Dr. Pierce's medicines well exemplify this, and their friends, after more than two decades of popularity are numbered by the hundreds of thousands. They have "made good" and they have not made drunkards. A good, honest square-deal medicine of known composition is

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

It still enjoys an immense sale, while most of the preparations that have come into prominence in the earlier period of its popularity have "gone by the board" and are never more heard of. There must be some reason for this long-time popularity and that is to be found in its superior merits. When once given a fair trial for weak stomach, or for liver and blood affections, its superior curative qualities are soon manifest; hence it has survived and grown in popular favor, while scores of less meritorious articles have suddenly flashed into favor for a brief period and then been as soon forgotten.

For a torpid liver with its attendant indigestion, dyspepsia, headache, perhaps dizziness, foul breath, nasty coated tongue, with bitter taste, loss of appetite, with distress after eating, nervousness and debility, nothing is as good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

It's an honest, square-deal medicine with all its ingredients printed on bottle-wrapper—no secret, no hocus-pocus humbug, therefore don't accept a substitute that the dealer may make a little bigger profit. Insist on your right to have what you call for. Don't buy

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Expecting it to prove a "cure-all." It is only advised for woman's special ailments.

It makes weak women strong, sick women will. Less advertised than some preparations sold for like purposes, its sterling curative virtues still maintain its position in the front ranks, where it stood over two decades ago.

As an invigorating tonic and strengthening nervine it is unequaled. It won't satisfy those who want "booze," for there is not a drop of alcohol in it.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, the original Little Liver Pills, although the first pill of their kind in the market, still lead, and when once tried are ever afterwards in favor. Easy to take as candy.

Sale of School and Other State Lands

STATE OF MINNESOTA, State Auditor's Office.

St. Paul, April 19, 1909.

Notice is hereby given that on the day and date and at the time and place herein stated below in this notice, in the office of the county auditor of the respective county named in the State of Minnesota, I will offer for sale the following described unsold state lands, and the following described state lands, which have reverted to the state by reason of the non-payment of interest will also be then and there offered for resale. Fifteen per cent of the purchase price and interest on the unpaid balance from the date of sale to June 1st, 1910, must be paid at the time of the sale. The balance of the purchase money can be paid at any time, in whole or in part, within forty years of the time of the sale; the rate of interest on the unpaid balance of the purchase money will be four per cent per annum, payable in advance on June 1st of each year, provided the principal remains unpaid for ten years; but if the principal is paid before the expiration of ten years from the date of the sale the rate of interest on the unpaid balance of the purchase money will be five per cent per annum; interest is payable in advance on June 1st of each year.

Holders of certificates on which the interest payments are in default can have their certificates reinstated on payment, before the sale, of the interest in full to date and the penalties thereon, when the lands covered thereby will be withdrawn from sale.

All mineral rights are reserved by the state. All sales made will be subject to the provisions of Chapter No. 299 of the General Laws of 1905.

SAMUEL G. IVERSON, State Auditor.

ST. LOUIS COUNTY.

KUEHNOW IS PLEASED

Says Duluth Will Have a Fast Team This Season.

Sox Have Been Playing Class B Teams to Date.

Enthusiastic over the Duluth team, in spite of its defeats, Al Kuehnow returned this morning from Rockford, and stated that Duluth had probably the best nine that has represented this city in the last five years.

"We have been playing against Class B teams" said Mr. Kuehnow. "These teams have been working out for a month or two, while we went into the game without any preliminary practice.

"The boys made a good showing at that, and when they got up against a team like Rockford, which is somewhere near their own class, they showed what they could do.

"We are carrying five pitchers. Joe Miller, who was with our big team in 1905, is with us again this year. We got him from Fort Wayne. Then we have Don Marion, Henry Klingebeil, Dauss from South Bend, and a man named Taylor. For catchers we have Breen and Cooper.

"McCrone is playing first; Darby O'Brien, second; Gus Wisser, shortstop, and 'Tobasco' Kohl, as the boys call him, third base. In the outfield we have two Smiths and McNealy.

"I believe the fans will agree with me that the team is a good one, when they see it play. The infield is fast, and ought to have a great pitching staff. I never felt more enthusiastic over a team than I do over this one, and I am confident that it will make good."

Chicago, April 26.—The Chicago Americans defeated St. Louis 1 to 0, yesterday, largely through the excellent work of James Scott, a recruit from Wichita, Kan. It was Scott's first game in a major league, but he held St. Louis to three scattered hits besides striking out six men.

The winning run came with none out in the ninth. Parent led off with a single and stole second. Sullivan bunted and Parent scored when Graham threw wide to first base. The winners stole seven bases off Stephens. Dougherty having three to his credit. Score: R. H. E.

SKULLS FRACTURED IN MOTOR CYCLE RACE.

Los Angeles, Cal, April 26.—Thousands of persons at the coliseum motor cycle track yesterday saw a rider going at the rate of a mile a minute thrown over the fence and across the grandstand without being very seriously injured. Two spectators were perhaps fatally injured.

In the five-mile event, Freddy Huyck of Chicago was leading and collided with Farhart of this city, who was thrown high in the air. His feet struck the head of Howard Piper of this city and Piper's head bumped that of Charles H. Henry of Hiawatha, Kan.

The skulls of both men were fractured.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 26.—Sunday baseball as legalized by recent law of the state was ushered in at Minneapolis in the town park yesterday, before a crowd which flooded the field. St. Paul defeated the home team by a score of 6 to 5, in a contest which abounded in hard hitting and sensational fielding. Flood saved the game for St. Paul in the seventh, when he knocked down O'Neill's apparently sure hit and headed off two scores. Scores: R. H. E.

(By Bruce.)

When G. Washington crossed the Delaware with his band of faithful followers, the ice was thick and stubborn, and it is presumed—scientific artists have it that way at least—that the snow was falling thick and fast, mantling the somewhat frayed and worn coats of the Army of the Republic with a coating of purest white.

When the courageous members of Dr. Lynam's squad pushed their shell into the waters of the Duluth harbor Saturday, a great and historic feat might have been called to mind by the analogy of the conditions. Although no ice blocked the bay Saturday, a fine young storm was brewing, and the falling pure stuff covered the huddling forms of the brave oarsmen with a coating of the same stuff that mantled the heroic forms of the followers of George, upon that historic occasion so long ago.

Through the driving snow the members of the junior squad took their first spin of the season. It was like playing baseball in the North Dakota league in the early part of the season. The frail trunklets of the oarsmen failed to keep the driving winds from their sinewy limbs. Their little hands became numb while grasping the oars. They had to work to keep up the circulation of the blood. It was a strenuous initiation for some of the newest members of the squad, but rowing in Duluth in April is not exactly like summering in Cuba.

Jeffries at Carlsbad! Shades of Gentleman Jackson, Jem Blecher, Deaf Burke, Hon Hyer and Paddy Ryan! A pug taking his baths at the same place where the imperious Wilhelm and the scrumptious King Edward are wont to gather! Surely the prize ring as an institution is advancing.

In his time Gentleman Jackson was the most cultured of the early crop of pugs. History fails to enlighten us as to whether Gentleman Jackson had a cauliflower ear or not. However, he was the Jim Corbett of his time. Royalty patronized him to some extent, and several dukes used to recognize him upon the streets of dear old town.

But it is doubtful if Gentleman Jackson would have ever entertained the notion of visiting Carlsbad. Holy horror, there would have been in the ranks of those in the higher ranks of continental society. But Big Jeffries will visit the watering place of royalty, and it is an even wager that the big grizzly will only grunt when he sees some person with imperial orders bedecking his clothes. This Jeffries person was never cut our for society.

At the games held by the University of Pennsylvania, at Franklin field Saturday, the University of Chicago upheld the honor of the West by capturing the one-mile college relay. Michigan second in this race, and Illinois fourth, so the West was very well represented in the race.

Pennsylvania captured the four-mile college relay race, which for the last seven years has been won by the maize and blue of Michigan. Taken all in all, the result of the meet was a boost for Western college athletics, and only goes to prove that we have the men in this section of the country, and only our methods are keeping us in the rear of our Eastern rivals.

The first of the American league batting and club fielding averages of the present season are at hand. Hoffman, St. Louis leads the hitters of the Ban Johnson league, with such sluggers as La Joie, Crawford, Cobb, McIntyre and Stone trailing. La Joie is batting at 341; Crawford at the same figure; Stone at 357, and McIntyre at 310. Hoffman has the great average of 429. It is early in the season as yet, and it is a good wager that Tryus Cobb, the "Georgia Peach," will be well up in the race before the season has gone far.

In the club fielding St. Louis is leading, the White Sox in second place, and the Boston Americans in last place. St. Louis also leads in club batting, with Detroit second and the hitless wonders, Comiskey's Sox in last place.

A good providence save us, but what vitriolized language must be finding means of escape from the ball park at Columbus, Ohio. The Clymerites have lost ten straight games. Our old friend Bill Clymer, he of the protruding jaw and the versatile vocabulary, has never been known to mince words, and it is a safe bet that words that our Puritan fathers would never think of employing, no matter how strenuous the occasion, have escaped Bill's lips in moments of hectic heat.

Notice the different way different countries have of treating athletes. Over in South Africa they are busy raising a subscription fund for R. L. Walker, the man who lowered the colors of Rector, our dash champion in the recent Olympic games. They are going to provide for him in the days when father time has compelled the sprinter to go to work with the early morning whistle.

What did we do with Melvin W. Shephard, the man who won more points than any member of the American team in the recent Olympic games? Why they told him down in New York if he missed showing up at office regularly every Saturday afternoon, he would be r udely jostled from the pay roll. As a consequence the country may lose the greatest middle distance runner since the days of Charlie Kilpatrick. When Shering came home from Canada after winning the Marathon in Greece, he was received as a national hero. He was given a pension and feted like a naval hero. America has the best athletes in the world, but we treat them like poor relations.

The May issue of the American Magazine has a very good article upon the fine points of baseball by Hugh S. Fullerton. It shows the brains and money invested in baseball, some inside stuff that the general public knows little of, and some interesting dope upon big games.

WHAT'S WHAT IN SPORTS IN THE NEAR FUTURE

With the more professional sports under way for the spring and summer the season of amateur sports and athletics in the open, comes in apace this week, with golf tournaments and college track meets at Philadelphia and Boston.

The golfing season, which is now opening, gives promise of breaking all records. From now until the last week in May, all tournaments in the New York district are in a large measure preparatory to the metropolitan championship at Apawmis. Atlantic City will have its usual spring tournament the last three days of this week, with the Garden City annual May tournament to follow next week.

The Garden City tournament is always a restricted event in the matter of invitations, though but few notable players are found on the links. The results at Garden City are expected to give a trustworthy line on the Metropolitan field for the champion time struggle three weeks later. Travis will play at Atlantic City and Garden City—his home course—and two weeks later will play at the Chevy Chase tourney at Washington.

The declaration of James J. Jeffries that he will fight again has cleared the pugilistic atmosphere so far as the heavyweight championship is concerned, and nve heavyweights will soon switch to English boxing arenas, where they will soon be engaged. This week Sam Langford will clash with Sandy Ferguson in Boston, after which Ferguson will department for England to arrange matches there. Langford sails a week or so later and is now matched to box Ian Hague, heavyweight champion of England, on May 24.

Should Langford knock out Hague, a mill will undoubtedly be arranged for him with Joe Jeanette, a negro heavyweight, who recently defeated Sam McVey in Paris. Jack Johnson sails for England on May 23, and his appearance there is awaited with interest. Johnson has sail that he is readi to take on Jeanette in England.

A fine amateur Marathon run is anticipated next Saturday, when some of the best distance men in the country will meet in the Bronx, New York. Henri Renaud, winner of the recent Boston Marathon, and Tom Morrissey, who captured the Boston event last year, besides several of New York's best long distance runners, will strive for the honors.

There will be an all-Canada professional Marathon at Toronto next Saturday.

NO DECLINE IN YACHTING

Sailors Are Planning for a Busy Season This Summer.

People who imagined that the consolidation of the yacht club with the boat club would see a decline in the sport of sailing, are much mistaken.

Those interested in the sailboats say they have a great season ahead of them, as all the old yacht club members will sail this year as before, and the fleet will be augmented by several new boats by old yacht club hands and by boat club men, who are going in for the sport.

Although the sailing will not commence until about the middle of May, owners are getting their crafts ready to put in the water. E. A. Pierce's boat, the Frolic, was put in the water yesterday, being the first one to go out this season. The Viking, the Scud, the North Wind, the Peter Pan, the Merry Widow, the Freckles and a number of other boats are ready to be put in the water and the Minatour is being overhauled, preparatory to launching.

C. D. Brewer has ordered a new boat to be delivered to him about May 20. He says it will be a speedy one. The first races will be held June 26.

TWELVE-INNING GAME.

Hot Contest Between Fosston and Thief River Falls.

Thief River Falls, Minn., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first inter-high school baseball game of this season in the Red River valley was played in this city Saturday between the high school teams of Thief River Falls and Fosston. The contest was a close one through a series of twelve innings and finally resulted in a victory for Thief River Falls by a score of 7 to 6. The game was replete with errors, as all early season games are, but many brilliant plays were pulled off and the fight presages fast baseball this season among the several high schools which comprise the Red River Valley Athletic league of high schools.

DULUTH TAKES TWO AT ROCKFORD

Darby O'Brien and His Party Are Playing Good Ball.

Rockford, Ill., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two games straight from Rockford is the Saturday and Sunday record of the Duluth White Sox. Darby O'Brien and his entourage walked all over the local team in two excellent games.

Pitcher Marion was the candy kid with the sticky front in yesterday's contest. The final score was 4 to 1 in favor of Duluth.

A home run by Taylor and three singles by other members of the visiting delegation were the cause of Duluth's runs. Wisser made the only error for Duluth, while Rockford tallied three.

Duluth garnered Saturday's game by a score of 9 to 4. Dauss, a pitcher recently secured by Col. D. O'Brien, was dishing the shoots for the Duluth people, and he had a nice assortment, which the locals were unable to perceive at critical periods in the pastime. At that, it was a good game all the way through. Sunday's score, R. H. E.

SHRUBB IS VICTORIOUS.

English Runner Wins in a Contest With St. Yves.

New York, April 26.—Alfred Shrubb of Horsham, Eng., once more proved himself the greatest middle distance runner in the business defeating Henri St. Yves of France in a fifteen-mile race at the American league grounds Saturday night. At no time was the result of the race in doubt. When eight miles had been covered Shrubb had a lead of two laps and this seemed to content him for he ran the remainder of the race at St. Yves' side. During the last two miles of the race St. Yves made frantic efforts to overtake his rival, but to no avail.

Shrubbs time for the race, 1 hour, 26 minutes and 12 seconds, was over four minutes behind the professional record and nearly six minutes behind the amateur mark.

BILLIARDISTS TO JOIN IN A MONSTER BENEFIT.

Chicago, April 26.—The prominent billiard players of this country will unite tonight in tendering a monster benefit to Jake Schaefer, the grand old man of billiards. Schaefer is ill in Colorado and it is thought he will never recover.

Instead of having a single benefit in New York or Chicago, billiardists of the United States have arranged simultaneous entertainments to be given in every city in the country. Men prominent in all lines of sports will unite in showing their appreciation of the veteran champion. In some cities where it has been found unprofitable or impossible to stage exhibitions, keepers have volunteered to turn over tonight's receipts to the Schaefer fund.

Eleven rooms in this city will have exhibitions tonight. Rube Waddell of the St. Louis Americans, will meet Nick Altrock of the Chicago Americans, in a pool game, while Bobby Wallace of the St. Louis Americans, clashes with Donahue of the local Americans for billiard honors. George Sutton, Tom Foley, M. P. Hussey, Tommy Hueston and many other prominent cue stars, will take part in the local exhibitions. It is expected several thousand dollars will be added to the fund from Chicago, as many souvenir tickets at $2 a piece, have been sold.

BEMIDJI BOAT CLUB.

Dr. G. M. Palmer Elected Commodore and Plans Busy Season.

Bemidji, Minn., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—About twenty-five local launch enthusiasts have formed an organization to be known as the Bemidji Boat club.

E. H. Jerrard, D. D. Miller and Dr. Palmer, a committee appointed a week ago to draw up a constitution, submitted a constitution and by-laws, which were adopted.

Under the new constitution the following officers were elected: Dr. G. M. Palmer, commodore; Floyd Brown, vice commodore; H. E. Reynolds, secretary; D. D. Miller, treasurer; Charles Warfield, measurer, and E. A. Barker, F. S. Lycan, E. H. Jerrard, L. G. Crothers and L. F. Frost were elected a board of directors for the coming season.

C. C. Collins, E. H. Jerrard and Floyd Brown were appointed a committee to select a pennant to be carried on their boats by the members of the club.

The Bemidji Boat club will construct about ten landings at different points on the shores of Lake Bemidji so that boats of all sizes can land at the many picnic grounds. The Beltrami Electric Light & Power company, which operates the big power dam on the Mississippi river five miles east of this city, will furnish the material, and the boat club the men, to dynamite the rapids and clear the channel in the Mississippi river, just below the outlet from Lake Bemidji, thus forming a clear way from the lake to the dam, nine miles down river.

AUTO HILL CLIMB ON

Ten Events at Fort George Are Carnival Features.

American 'Mobile Association Sanctions the Competitions.

New York, April 26.—The annual New ork automobile carnival opened in earnest today with a hill climb at Fort George in which ten events are scheduled. While most of the competitions are for gasoline vehicles, electrics, steamers and all types have been provided for. Contestants will be drawn from several nearby states. The other principal road events of the week have been set for Tuesday afternoon at Hillside avenue, Jamaica—the straightaway line trials. Nine events have been put at two miles and ten at one mile, the gasoline cars being graded both by price and cylinder capacity. Free-for-all and stock classes events will be features at each distance. The American Automobile association sanction has been given both competitions.

Wednesday will be souvenir day Thursday is to bring a touch of mimic warfare in the military evolutions that are to be performed by automobiles. A lot of cars will be drafted to show how rapidly militiamen can be gathered and transported by automobiles in case of riot, war or disaster. As an auto feature it will prove a distinct novelty. On Friday a "one-gallon test," as it is called, will be held over one of the New York suburban roads. Some of the minor conditions will be kept a secret until just before the contest starts. The Saturday parade, for which $2,000 is offered in prizes will be the most popular event of the six days and is calculated to end the week with a snap.

While grotesque cars will be conspicuous special attention is to be paid to the commercial division of the parade. In the historic section early auto models will be an interesting feature. A smoker and a dinner will be among the evening diversions.

THE MARATHON CRAZE.

Danger of Running Long Distances By the School Boys.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Nothing evidences more plainly the truth of what is a painfully frequent assertion, namely, that we are a nation of faddists, than this latest craze of Marathon racing. It certainly is ridiculous to go out on these cold spring days and meet a crowd of boys with bare arms and legs, and usually, by the way, with mouths wide open, chasing about the streets of our city. But were it only ridiculous it would not suggest serious comment. But it is something which is fraught with absolute and positive harm and as such should not be sanctioned, not to say encouraged, by parents and instructors in our schools.

The heart of the ordinary civilized human being cannot stand the strain of a mile run—to say nothing of such an overwhelming distance as twenty-six miles. True, actual fatalities are rare. The heart is a muscular organ and as such can meet these emergencies. If it could not we would all drop dead when we run for a street car. There is always present a certain amount of reserve power and it is wise and good to develop this by suitable athletics. But now several very important physiological principles obtrude themselves. Some of these boys that are running about the streets have actual valvular diseases. Development of reserve force, except to a minor degree, is for them impossible. They are already using up their reserve power to overcome an inherent heart weakness, and they run the risk of killing themselves or of shortening their lives, every time they take part in these runs.

Secondly, even a normal heart in a boy not trained to these excessive exertions, can respond in only one way to the terrific strain of these contests—namely, by dilatation. This is what actually happened to Dorando Pietri in the London Marathon. It is all right to speak of his finish as a great exhibition of "gameness." To the sensible man it was an evidence of criminal foolishness on his part, and of downright brutality on the part of the officials who permitted it. And lastly, we come to the crux of the whole question. Even in one who is carefully, gradually and systematically trained for these exhibitions, the heart can prove equal to the task in only one way—that is by hypertrophy, or by a gross increase and development of muscular fibres. This constitutes the "athletes' heart" and far from being a desirable addition to the body forces, it is in effect the very next neighbor of an actual diseased condition.

I am no disbeliever in athletics. I admit that running is the best and most natural exercise in the world. But we have to be at least reasonably sensible in our sports. When we start our boys out in these endurance contests let us see that the distance is not too great and that the strain of competition is removed so that the boy can quit without disgrace when nature has cried "enough." This is a fad which can lead to no good results and which threatens to bankrupt physically many a growing boy, who, with reasonable care and prudence, has a strong virile manhood before him.

A PHYSICIAN.

Duluth, April 24.

DR. POWERS IS NO MORE

Star Catcher of Philadelphia Americans Dies of Poisoning.

Was Taken Ill During a Ball Game on Easter Monday.

Philadelphia, April 26.—Dr. Maurice Powers, star catcher for the Philadelphia American league baseball club and one of the best known and most popular ball players in the country, died in a hospital here today of gangrene poisoning.

Powers became ill during the seventh inning of the opening game of the season with Boston, Easter Monday, when the new grounds were dedicated. He was seized with violent pains, but as his team was winning he persisted in continuing play until the end when he fell unconscious and was hurried to a hospital. The physicians discovered he was suffering from strangulation of the intestines and he was operated upon, two other operations being subsequently performed.

Powers was 33 years old and was born in Pittsfield, Mass. He was graduated from Holy Cross, and later took a course in medicine at Notre Dame. He made his professional baseball debut in 1898 at Louisville. From there he went to Washington and then to Indianapolis. He joined the athletics in 1901, being the oldest man on the team in point of service.

CHICAGO AMERICANS' GRAND STAND BURNED.

Chicago, April 26.—One end of the grandstand, and the first base pavilion of the local American league baseball park were destroyed by fire yesterday. President Comiskey estimates the loss at $8,000.

Climbers Win.

The Climbers defeated the Duluth Heights yesterday on the boulevard grounds by a score of 15 to 13. The batteries were: Hanson, Peterson and Archambeau for the Climbers, and Reddy and Fosett for the Heights. Home runs were made by Hanson and Peterson. The Climbers will play a return game Sunday after next at the Duluth Heights grounds.

Albany Beats Brooklyn.

Albany, N. Y., April 26.—The Albany state team defeated the Brooklyn National league team in an exhibition game yesterday, 4 to 0.

New World's Records.

Durban, Natal, April 26.—R. E. Walker, who won the 100-yard dash at the Olympic games in London last summer, yesterday ran 150 yards in 14 1-5 seconds and 180 yards in 17 4-5 seconds. Both marks are new world's records.

Kramer Wins Bike Race.

New York, April 26.—A bicycle Marathon race, so-called, for professional riders, over the full distance, 26 miles 385 yards, at the velodrome board track near Newark, N. J., yesterday afternoon, was won by Frank L. Kramer of East Orange, N. J. About 7,000 persons saw the contest. Most of the race was rather tame, E. F. Root of Boston leading nearly every lap, but the finish was stirring. Kramer went over the line first in a fierce sprint half a wheel's length ahead of J. A. Fogler of Brooklyn, who was two lengths ahead of John Bedell, the Long Island rider. The winner's time was 1:02:44⅘. A three-mile amateur handicap was won by Peter Lawrence of San Francisco (scratch) in 6:46 3-5.

YALE MEN FORM AN ASSOCIATION

Sons of Old Eli at Head of Lakes Get Together.

John C. Greenway was elected president of the Lake Superior Yale Alumni association, at the meeting of Yale graduates, held in the Spalding hotel Saturday evening. Sherman Coy, a famous old Yale end, was chosen vice president; Ned Congdon, secretary; Seth Marshall, treasurer. John Savage of Hibbing, was toastmaster of the banquet.

The association has resolved to pay the expenses of a student to Yale each year, the student to be chosen from this part of the state. It was also resolved to keep in touch with men in need of employment. It is probable that the association will meet semi-annually.

S.S.S. THE CURE FOR SCROFULA

The usual symptoms of Scrofula are enlarged glands of the neck, sores and ulcers on the body, skin affections, catarrhal troubles, weak eyes, and general poor health. The inherited poison, transmitted through the blood, pollutes and weakens this fluid, and in place of its nutritive qualities fills the circulation with scrofulous matter, which saps the vitality of the entire system. Thousands of children, born with a scrofulous taint, have spent their childhood in constant physical suffering, and grown to manhood or womanhood handicapped by ill health and stunted growth, and perhaps later some disease of the bones or joints developed. S. S. S., given in their early life, would have prevented this. It would have cleansed and purified the blood of the taint, nourished and stengthened their systems, and assisted each to grow into strong, healthful manhood or womanhood. S. S. S. is the very best remedy for Scrofula. It goes down to the bottom of the trouble, and cleanses the circulation of all scrofulous matter. It supplies the weak, diseased blood with strength and health-building qualities, and under the purifying effects of this great remedy all symptoms of Scrofula pass away. S. S. S. contains no minerals in any form, and is an absolutely safe treatment for children, even infants, or persons of any age. Literature about Scrofula and any medical advice free. MAN WHO IS LAST OF HIS FAMLIY IS ELECTROCUTED.

Auburn, N. Y., April 26.—Pacy Hill was electrocuted in Auburn prison this morning at 6.13.20. But two shocks were necessary to kill and the total time of the two was only a minute.

Hill's crime was the murder of his cousin, Chloe Hancock, 18 years old, near Cuba, Allegheny county, March 18, 1908. Hill killed the girl with a revolver while he was drunk.

He was the last of his family. He had borne a good reputation prior to the murder and the family of the victim forgave him for his crime. He wrote a long letter to Mrs. Hancock last night.

FATHER OF FOURTEEN ENDS HIS OWN LIFE.

Des Moines, Iowa, April 26.—Peter M. Miller, father of fourteen children, committed suicide today.

He was ill and told his wife today that he could no longer take care of so large a family.

LYCEUM—"The Melting Pot."

"The Melting Pot."

Israel Zangwill has suffered heretofore from too much art. He has been a beacon rather than a lens. His "Children of the Ghetto" will be a good play in five years, or two years, or two weeks. It was a failure when he saw its premier production in this country eight years ago. Of late he has been alloying art with policy. There is nothing discreditable in the process. Van Dyke did it, Murillo did it, Shakespeare did it, Addison did it, and Kipling, Sargent, even Rodin, are doing it now. The result is a two-fold benefit, a living for the artist and lasting pleasure for the present generation. Mr. Zangwill's latest play, "The Melting Pot," comes to the Lyceum on April 26, 27 and 28, and Walker Whiteside will be seen in the leading role of a young Russian Jew student and violinist. The play is said to be one of emotion, is quick and vivid, yet it is a work that first of all appeals to the intelligence. The proposition submitted by the play is that America is the great melting pot in which racial hatred must be fused and transformed. An example of the bitterest persecution known to history, the persecution of the Jewish people by the Russians, forms the basis of the plot. The love of a young man for the daughter of a Russian officer who killed his family at Kishenef, is said to lead to one of the finest dramatic situations that the stage has to offer. The principal figure of the drama is a young musician, a composer of highly sensitive nature, and a type that lends itself to the emotionalities necessary to display the powers of an actor. It is said to fit Mr. Whiteside like a glove, and has given him the opportunity for which he has been waiting for years. The part of David gives him a chance to demonstrate his ability. Messrs. Liebler and company, under whose direction this play is produced, have surrounded Mr. Whiteside with a most capable company of players, which includes John Blair, Grant Stewart, Henry Bergman, Henry Vogel, Chrystal Herne, Leonora Von Ottinger, Mollie Revel, Louise Muldener, and others.

Florence Roberts.

The archaic laws of England, the legal rock upon which all modern law is founded, furnish an inexhaustible number of strange instances of unaccountable twists, and unjust complications that prove, in novels and upon the stage, insurmountable obstacles to the happiness and progress of the British Isles, though their inhabitants, in real life, seem to be fairly happy and progressive in spite of them. Charles Dickens played luridly upon them with the lights of his satire, pathos and humor; innumerable authors and playwrights have employed them as a central theme in their writings, and now Seymour Obermer, a new figure in the ranks of dramatists, uses their curious and unjust divorce laws as the pivoted motive of a drama called "The House of Bondage," the title applying to the condition of the English married woman, tied to an unfaithful husband, from whom she cannot obtain full release until she proves physical cruelty in addition to infidelity.

The central conditions of "The House of Bondage," which Miss Florence Roberts and her company will present at the Lyceum on Friday and Saturday and Saturday matinee, have been ingeniously contrived to bring about the dramatist's illustration of his point.

"The Merry Widow."

In Germany alone there have been sold over 3,000,000 copies of the "Merry Widow" waltz, the musical number that brings the second act of the wonderfully successful Viennese operetta to an effective climax. Henry W. Savage's production of "The Merry Widow," at present the musical sensation of the world, will be seen at the Lyceum next week on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. The sale of seats opened this morning at 10 a. m.

GOVERNOR FINLEY OF ZAMBOANGA IS SHOT.

San Francisco, Cal., April 26.—The Call says this morning that according to unconfirmed private advices, Maj. John P. COMPETITION IS KEEN IN STEEL Mills Vieing for Business—Large Volume Is Placed.

New York, April 26.—Keen competition among the steel mills for orders of finished products has resulted in placing a large volume of business in the week at low prices. At some instances, notably for steel pipe the lowest prices in eleven years have been made. Wire products, prices for which have been better maintained than for other material, with the single exception of rails, have yielded from $1 to $2 per ton, nails now selling from $1.85 to $1.95 per keg. Contracts have been closed for finished steel products aggregating about 400,000 tons, including 110,000 tons of rails, 70,000 tons of billets, 50,000 tons of structural and fabricated steel, 40,000 tons of wire products, 40,000 tons of plates and 25,000 tons of bars.

The largest rail contract was 65,000 tons for the St. Paul. The largest structural contract was 15,000 tons for the Curtis Publishing company building at Philadelphia, awarded to the American Bridge company. The Erie railroad has divided its contract for 6,000 tons among three different interests. Export business for rails and bridge material has been placed calling for 30,000 tons.

In Eastern territory the buying movement of pig iron has developed additional sales of about 30,000 tons of basic, malleable and gray foundry iron and business is still pending for about 50,000 tons out of a total of 150,000 tons in all sections. Prices have been relatively low, but better sustained than in the Central West. Nearly all melters of foundry iron have been interested in the order displayed and now pending. The largest prospective buyers are agricultural and electrical equipment manufacturers, malleable founders, pipe works and manufacturers of special machinery.

BILLION DOLLAR CORPORATION NOW

Harriman Reported Planning to Solidify His Railroad League.

Chicago, April 26.—Edward H. Harriman is planning a $1,000,000,000 corporation, according to a special from New York, with a view to consolidating and solidifying the vast railroad league represented by the New York Central lines. A dozen or more of the most eminent corporation lawyers in the country are now working on the problem of this great corporation which Harriman hopes to make the crowning effort of his railroad and financial career.

Lawyers in Harriman's employ have been told to discover a way in which 12,000 miles of railroad under the control of the New York Central, and representing a capitalization of nearly $1,000,000,000, may be made over into a homogenous quantity with a central management, with one treasury and with one purpose—to enable it to assume the most commanding position in the transportation world.

"I'd Rather Die, Doctor,
Than have my feet cut off," said M. L. Bingham of Princeville, Ill. "But you'll die from gangrene (which had eaten away eight toes) if you don't," said all doctors. Instead he used Bucklen's Arnica Salve till wholly cured. Its cures of Eczema, Fever Sores, Boils, Burns and Piles astound the world. 25c at all druggists.

THE NEW GRANDSTAND AT MINNESOTA STATE FAIR

THE NEW STAND AS IT WILL LOOK FROM THE TRACK.

As a first step toward making the fiftieth annual Minnesota state fair an exposition which will atract the attention and patronage of tourists as well as the seekers after recreation and instruction in the Northwest, the board of managers have ordered the destruction of the present grandstand and are about to enter into contracts calling for the construction of a new one on its site.

Plans for the new grandstand, drawn by Reed & Stem, the St. Paul architects, call for a steel and concrete structure 225 feet deep and 378 feet long, with but one floor. Owing to the necessity for a proper site line and because of the slope of the ground, the rear wall of the structure will be four stories in height and there will be a great amount of space underneath the seating floor, which will be devoted largely to the housing the rapidly increasing number of county agricultural exhibits. There will also be an automobile garage with floor space, 150 by 200 feet, and, eventually, the superintendents' offices will be located on the fourth floor and reached by elevator.

While the $200,000 appropriation will not complete the grandstand, according to the plans now drawn, it will be possible to build it in sections fifty-four feet wide, and the appropriation is sufficient to build a grandstand with a seating capacity equal to the one now disappearing under the wreckers' hammers.

Contracts for the new grandstand will be let May 3, in time to complete it for the opening of the fair, Sept. 6.

FOR LUND'S CREDITORS.

Twenty Cents on Dollar All That Is in Sight.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 26.—Creditors of the estate of John G. Lund, the land man, who committed suicide in his office last summer when business affairs pressed heavily upon him, will receive 20 per cent on the dollar in settlement of their claims.

Judge George R. Smith of the probate court has signed an order authorizing the executor, J. Van Valkenberg, to pay that per cent on all claims that have so far been allowed by the court.

In his petition for the order the executor states that a total of $716,000 in claims were filed against the estate. Of these the court has already allowed $291,778.10 and disallowed $261,183.45.

The claims still to be determined and against which objections have been entered by the executor amount to $115,335.54. There are also suits pending in the district court against the estate amounting to $30,000.

At the present time the estate has a total of $102,091.45 on deposit in the banks. There are also outstanding claims due to the amount of $8,000.

RELIEVED OF OFFICE.

Mayor Taylor of Grand Forks Fires Street Commissioner.

Grand Forks, N. D., April 26.—Mayor J. D. Taylor has notified Commissioner M. E. Durick that his services at the head of the Grand Forks street department will no longer be necessaray. Jack Dunlop was immediately appointed to fill the vacancy.

In discussing the matter, Dr. Taylor said to the Times representative: "I did not give Mr. Durick any particular reason for dismissing him from the city's service. I believe that in the administration of city affairs the question of loyalty should enter to a great extent in the selection of department officers, and in Mr. Dunlop I feel that we have a man who is thoroughly capable and fully qualified for the position."

One peculiar feature of the street commissionership proposition is the fact that Mr. Durick has refused to give up the office, and it would now appear that the city has, to all intents and purposes, two street commissioners.

The street commissionership has been hanging fire for a long time. When Dr. Taylor took office a year ago he named Rafter as street commissioner, but the city council failed to confirm the appointment and Mr. Durick has remained in the office.

CHILDREN'S CLOSE CALL.

Get Hold of Poisoned Morsel Intended for Dogs.

Little Falls, Minn., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The dog poisoning practice has again sprung up on the West side and its carelessness nearly resulted in the death of human beings as well as dogs. Of late several dogs on the West side have died from poisoning but the climax was reached when a couple of small children, who were playing about their home, picked up a baited morsel which had been thrown out by someone to cause the death of canines.

Fortunately the children decided to hide their find for the time being and later banquet. After hiding the poisoned stuff, to their chagrin, their pet dog found it and had feasted on their find. In a short time the dog died from the poison which had been scattered over the meat.

In the vicinity, a number of dogs have been killed in the past few days and the close call of the two little tots makes it imperative that a stop be put to the practice.

ST. CLOUD TO FOLEY.

Probably First Road to Be Built From Reformatory Material.

St. Cloud, Minn., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The probabilities are that the first road to be built out of the granite crushed at the state plant at the state reformatory will be from this city to Foley. Representative O. F. Doyle, who has returned from St. Paul states that at a recent meeting held with the highway commission he was instructed to pick out a road near St. Cloud on which the crushed granite is to be used. He has practically decided on the Foley road.

Mr. Doyle will have another meeting with the highway commission when the proposition of building a road from St. Cloud to Minneapolis will be discussed. In case this is decided on work will not be started until the spring of next year.

Mourning for Ex-Governor.

Madison, Wis., April 26.—Governor Davidson issued a proclamation on the death of Former Governor Edward Salomon at Frankfort-on-Main, Germany, last Wednesday. The proclamation directs that the national flag be displayed at half staff on the capitol building until sundown of the day of burial, and that the building be draped in emblems of mourning.

Acknowledges His Guilt.

Ashland, Wis., April 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—William A. French was brought from Houghton, Mich., by Sheriff Kleinsteiber, and was arraigned in municipal court on the charge of embezzlement. He pleaded guilty, and the case was adjourned for thirty days. His bonds were fixed at $400, which were given, and he was released until his examination takes place.

WHEAT HAS A DECLINE

Selling Pressure Causes a Slump After the First Hour.

Flax Was Dull and Closing Prices Are Lower Here.

Duluth Board of Trade, April 26.—Wheat was strong at the opening today, but after the first hour, prices could not stand up against the selling movement which was inaugurated and the closing quotations showed drops from Saturday of more than a point in most of the American market.

The visible supply of wheat decreased 1,489,000 bus, and is now 31,129,000 bu, against 32,628,000 bu last week and 24,726,000 bu a year ago.

Liverpool closed ⅝d to 1½d higher, Budapest 1⅝c higher, and Antwerp 1¼c lower.

The May option closed 1¼c lower in Duluth, 1c lower in Chicago, 1¾c lower in Minneapolis, ¾c lower in New York and Winnipeg, ⅝c lower in St. Louis and unchanged in Kansas City. The July option closed 1¼c lower in Duluth, Chicago and Minneapolis, ⅞c lower in New York, ⅞@1c lower in St. Louis ⅝@¾c lower in Kansas City and 1c lower in Winnipeg.

May corn closed ⅞c higher in Chicago, and oats ⅛c higher.

World's shipments of wheat and corn last week, the week previous and the corresponding week last year, are shown as follows:

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool:

"Wheat—Firmness characterized the early dealing in wheat and at the opening values were 1⅛d higher with offerings light and shorts nervous. There was good speculative buying and heavy repurchases by Saturday's sellers. The strength was due to the light American shipments and an improved demand for both cargoes and parcels and an improved demand for spot. During the early morning, there was free realizing in July which caused a decline of 1⅛d from the opening this was purely speculative. Toward midday, firmness again developed and prices showed an additional advance from the opening of ⅞d to 1⅛d, due to the decrease in the amount on passage and the continued urgent demand for spot. Rains are reported in India which will delay harvesting. At midday, the market was very firm and from 1¼ to 2⅜ higher than Saturday, with the principal strength in May.

"Corn was easy and ⅜d lower at the opening and further declined ⅛d during the morning. The heavy shipments from Argentina and the continued liberal La Plata offerings caused realizing. At midday, July was ½d lower than Saturday."

Car receipts of wheat at Duluth were 13, against 5 last year, and at Minneapolis 220, against 207 last year, making a total for the Northwest of 233, against 212 last year. Chicago received 1 against 10 last year. Winnipeg received 191, against 88 last year.

Primary receipts of wheat were 395,000 bu., last year 407,000 bu. Shipments 159,000 bu., last year 638,000 bu. Clearances of wheat and flour were 167,000 bu.

Primary receipts of corn were 323,000 bu., last year 577,000 bu. Shipments 387,000 bu., last year 742,000 bu. Clearances of corn were 368,000 bu.

Wheat was quite actively traded in here. May wheat opened 1c higher at $1.18, declined to $1.15¼, rallied to $1.15¾ and closed there, a loss of 1¼c from yesterday. July wheat opened ⅜c higher at $1.18¼, declined to $1.17⅞, rallied to $1.18, declined to $1.16 and closed at $1.16¼, a loss of 1¼c from yesterday.

Durum wheat closed ¾c lower.

Flax was dull. May flax opened 1c lower at $1.62, advanced to $1.62¼ and closed there, a loss of ¾c from Saturday. July flax opened 1c lower at $1.62 and closed at $1.62¼, a loss of ¾c from Saturday. September flax closed unchanged at $1.42½ and October flax unchanged at $1.37.

Oats closed ⅛c higher.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

No Buoyancy Displayed in Spite of Rally Following Break.

Chicago, April 26.—The rally which was generally expected to follow the severe break in wheat prices last Saturday materialized on open transactions in the pit today, quotations showing gains of ½@1⅛c compared with closing figures o fthe previous session. Despite this advance, however, the market displayed no great buoyancy, weather conditions in this country being of a kind to suggest a rapid forcing of the new crop.

During the last half of the day the market became very weak and the July option, broke 3c from the high point of the day, declining to $1.05¾. At the same time May sold off to $1.18¼. The volume of trade, however, was not large. The close was weak, with July off 1⅛c at $1.06⅜ and May down 1c at $1.18¾.

The strength at the opening was due to an advance of 1¼@2⅛d at Liverpool, and to reports of rain in India, which, it is said, would delay harvesting. Opening quotations on May were at $1.20¼@1.21 and on July $1.08⅛@1.08¾. Early in the day May sold off to $1.20, but July held within the opening range.

The market slumped with wheat, May declining to 68⅝c. The market rallied again, owing to the strength of the cash grain and closed firm, with May up ⅞c at 69⅜c. July was up ⅝c at 67¾c.

The bulge in wheat had a strengthening influence on the corn market at the start, opening quotations showing gains of ¼@¾c compared with Saturday's close. May opened at 68⅞@69¼c and July at 67½@67⅞c. Shorts were active bidders for May the first few minutes, but the demand was soon satisfied and a little easier feeling was manifested. May holding around 69c while July sold off to 67c.

Oats opened firm with other grain, but became easy early in the session on realizing sales, particularly in the May delivery. That option opened ⅛ to ½d higher at 55½ to 55⅝c and sold off to 55c.

Provisions were weak because of a 15c decline in live hogs. Selling pressure, however, was not large and demand also was slack. Prices at the start were unchanged to 10c lower.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Break of Three Cents Follows a Steady Opening.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 26.—Strong cables made the market open ½c higher than Saturday's close. Local stocks decreased 275,000 bu for two days. The market was steady for the first hour, but a break of 3c followed. This was caused by liquidation and general selling in Chicago. The market took a little brace at the end and closed May $1.16¾, ⅝c higher than the low price. Minneapolis today received 220 cars, against 209; Duluth, 13, against 5; Winnipeg 191, against 99. May opened $1.19¼; high, $1.19⅝, low, $1.16⅛; close, $1.16¾. July opened $1.19¾; high, $1.19¾, low, $1.16⅝; close, $1.17¼. Cash wheat was eagerly sought by both country and local millers early in the session. Later the country millers withdrew from the market and demand was not as strong. No. 1 northern sold for 2⅜@3c over the May option, and No. 2 northern for ¾@1c over. No. 1 northern spot, $1.19¾@½; to arrive, $1.19½; No. 2 northern spot, $1.17¼@½; to arrive, $1.17@½. No. 3 wheat, $1.14½@1.15½. No. 3 yellow corn, 66¾@67¼c. No. 3 white oats, 51¾@52¼c. No. 2 rye, 87¾@88¾c.

Flax—Receipts, 2 cars today, against 55; shipments, 1. Light offerings made the trade inactive. Demand was strong and prices were quoted the same as the Duluth May option. Close, $1.62.

Barley—Receipts 51 cars, against 24; shipments, 82. Large offerings tended to make the market easier today. Demand was good, especially for the malting grades. Prices were lower. Closing prices range 61½@63c.

Millstuffs—Shipments, 1,420 tons. The market continued to be steady. Demand was strong and fair and far in excess of the supply. Shipments for over Sunday were light and prices held firm. Bran in bulk, $23.00@23.50.

Flour was in only fair demand and there was no change of importance in conditions. Eastern and foreign inquiry was light. Shipments for over Sunday were not as heavy as expected and prices remained unchanged. Shipments, 52,961 barrels. First patents, $5.70@5.90; second patents, $5.60@5.80; first clears, $4.75@4.95; second clears, $3.25@4.45.

UNDERTONE WAS HEAVY

Stocks Opened Slightly Higher, But Strength Not Long Held.

Decline Rapid in the Late Dealings and Close Weak.

New York, April 26.—The opening dealings in stocks today showed a good deal of animation and prices were higher with but few exceptions. The gains were small, however, and showed no notable feature. Southern Pacific, St. Paul, Rock Island preferred and North American advanced large fractions.

The market did not maintain its stability long, prices receding until the important stocks were selling below Saturday's close. Some fractional recoveries were scored later, but the buying was limited to a handful of the leaders.

Reading was thrown on the market because of a rumor that the supreme court's decision in the commodities clause case was to be handed down today. Prices reacted in sympathy. Reading and Wisconsin Central fell 2, Delaware & Hudson 1⅜ and Chesapeake & Ohio 1. Federal Mining sold at a decline of 5 and Chicago & Alton preferred 3, Union Bag preferred rose 4½ and Third Avenue 1. A later rally of a point in Reading steadied the market. Bonds were heavy.

Further selling of Reading and American Smelting offset efforts to rally the market and fluctuations became restricted. There was not much of interest to the market outside of the stocks mentioned and business decreased steadily. Rock Island preferred and Great Northern ore certificates improved a point and Minneapolis & St. Louis and United States Pipe lost as much.

The undertone of the market remained heavy, but there was no effective selling as a rule, comparatively few stocks showing any significant losses. Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie yielded 1¼, and Northern Pacific and Allis-Chalmers preferred 1.

The market closed weak, at lower prices. The bidding up of the Southern Railway stocks, the preferred to the extent of 1⅜, did not prevent the general list from receding again. Union Pacific fell 2, and Northern Pacific and Southern Pacific, Great Northern preferred, Rock Island, St. Paul Wabash preferred, Atlantic Coast Line, United States Steel, Amalgamated Copper, Brooklyn Transit, American Telephone and International Pump a point under Saturday's prices. Hocking Coal and American Woollen rose 2 points. The decline was accelerated in, the late dealings.

Midway Horse Market.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul, Minn., April 26.—Barrett & Zimmerman report: With an unusually large supply of horses on hand and with a broad inquiry for them from both local and distant buyers, the market the coming week should be active. The extra choice shipments of big draft horses and mules, which came in the last of the week, together with several loads of logging horses right out of the woods will enable buyers to fill their orders easily. Shipments were made to Souris, N. D.; Weyburn, Can., and Bruse, Wis. Shippers report horses hard to find in the country, as farmers need them for their spring work.

The demand for cigarets in China today is exceeded only by that for kerosene. The introduction of this habit dates back only a few years, and now not only the men but the women smoke. Four cigarets can be bought for a cent.

Two constables of Wareham will have to face the selectmen presently and say whether they did or didn't swallow some of the liquor seized by them in an August "raid." The charge

MONDAY, APRIL 26, 1909.

Conditions are certainly getting better on Butte-Alex Scott stock. The market around $7.00 on the part paid and $9.75 on the full paid could not be stronger. I can use some big blocks of Scott at these prices. At the mine conditions could not be better, great bodies are being opened up and a great amount of copper glance is being found on the 1,245. Another thing in our favor: this mine does not need to hoist much waste matter, for the reason that our friends need it to fill in their old workings.

The Butte-Alex Scott mine should become a great money maker. No water, not much waste to be hoisted and plenty of good ore, also the best kind of air.

You have read in some of the papers about me selling out my Butte-Alex Scott, but let me tell you one thing, that at no time have I owned as much as I do now and will gladly buy more. If some of you want to turn in a few thousand shares at this market price for good real estate and when I say good real estate I mean it. Now, then, if you do, I will trade you almost $50,000 worth of real estate and will also prove to you that you are getting the real estate cheap. We do not seem to be able to get as much Scott stock as we want. I will buy a few thousand shares of this issue at this level. Now, then, do you think I mean business or not? At the present time we are the largest stockholders in the Butte-Alex Scott Copper company, and if you question this ask my bankers. Any time some one wants to sell me something for several times less than its value you will find me buying it. It is simply my judgment against yours. When I tell you the facts you cannot blame me. The mines are worth over $4,000,000. Did any man ever come from Butte who could say this was not one of the best properties on Butte Hill and where mines are worth millions?

Another one I say buy is Zenith Lead & Zinc. They are getting a great amount of lead out at this property. The stock should sell above $4.50 inside of two weeks. The insiders are gathering it in and this looks good to me. It is the first dividend payer on the list: on May 5th they pay 10 cents on every share and we understand this will happen every three months.

Calumet & Sonora should also be taken on. It can respond very quickly on any good news. Buy it.

We will give you the right information and no matter what the newspapers have published, I am here to say that if they imply that I have sold Butte-Alex Scott they are misleading the people and their statements are absolutely false. We stand by our people every hour of the day, rain or sunshine, and we have had a lot of rain lately.

We are now going to give more attention to our brokerage business. You all know that for nearly two months I have been away more or less. As for as our responsibility is concerned, we do not believe there is a stronger office in Duluth. You have all found out that we are absolutely safe. Do you remember the panic about two years ago? When this happened I had gold to pay my customers, instead of cashiers' checks. When I saw what was coming I protected my customers. My real estate is all in my own name and my credit means a whole lot to me. My word is as good as my bond and many of you know this. I simply write this little statement so that the people outside of the city will at least know where I stand. The people in Duluth should know me by this time. This seems to be the only thing for me to do after such a paper as the Daily Star has had so much nice stuff to say about the Butte-Alex Scott mine and myself. I have no agent and have not sold any of this stock indirectly to anyone, brokers or customers. The above statement I will swear to.

EVERY READER OF THE HERALD SHOULD LOOK OVER THE WANT ADS

THE HERALD'S want columns are really the human interest department of the paper. These columns are filled with tragedies and comedies. You will see where the bankrupt home is offering all their goods for sale; you will see where some rich farmer is looking for a wife. You will find city property for sale, chances to rent stores and rooms, opportunities to invest in business, or to invest your surplus funds. If you have not looked over the classified columns for some time, do so tonight.

LYNCHINGS THREATENED

The Oklahomans Are Not Curbed by Grand Jury's Assembling.

More Violence Imminent as Probe of Killings Begins.

Ada, Okla., April 27.—A special grand jury convened today, ordered by Governor Haskell to investigate the lynching April 19 of James Miller, Jesse West, Joseph Allen and W. T. Burrell, cattlemen, for the murder of A. A. Bobbitt, a United States deputy marshal. Attorney General West will conduct the examination of witnesses. More than 200 witnesses have been summoned and every effort will be made to obtain indictments against the leaders of the mob.

During the last twenty-four hours there has been talk of another lynching. This talk centers around the fact that Oscar Peller and Edward and David Johnson, who were taken to Tecumseh jail for safe keeping several days ago, have been returned to Ada. Peller, who is a mere boy, is being held as an alleged accessory to the murder of Bobbitt and it was his confession that is believed to have been the primary cause of the lynching of the four cattlemen. The Johnson brothers are charged with the murder of I. H. Putnam, at Allen, last January, and up to this time there has been no trial of their case.

Burn to Death While Hundreds Pass Near By.

Vancouver, B. C., April 27.—Charlie and Alfred Miller, aged 5 and 4, were burned to death while hundreds of persons walked within fifty feet of them unaware of the tragedy. The children were alone in a house when the fire started. They were found huddled under a corner of a bed upstairs.

MAN TRYING TO ELOPE IS SHOT

Possibly Fatally Wounded By Father of Girl.

Selverville, Tenn., April 27.—John Thompson, 20 years of age, was shot and perhaps fatally wounded early today by George Patterson, a farmer, whose home is near here.

It is claimed Thompson was attempting to elope with Patterson's daughter.

FAIL TO PROVE SHE IS SINGLE

Lawyers Against Mrs. Boyle Disappointed at Detectives' Work.

Mercer, Pa., April 27.—Attorneys for the prosecution of Mr. and Mrs. Boyle in the Whitla kidnaping case are disappointed over the result of a trip by their detectives to Chicago and Indiana points in search of evidence to prove that the woman is not the legal wife of Boyle.

Marriage records in several cities have been searched in an effort to establish the woman's matrimonial status, and to determine whether her indictment as a spinster will stand.

Both Boyle and his wife talked with an Associated Press representative today. Boyle seems indignant because of the attention given to his wife's case and declared he is being neglected. He seems to think an effort is being made to rush him to the penitentiary.

ANOTHER MAN'S WIFE WITH HIM

Garaghan, Charged With Embezzlement, Is Under Arrest.

Huntington, Ind., April 27.—Lee Garaghan, former secretary of the business men's exchange of Meadsville, Pa., charged with embezzlement of $1,000 and the theft of diamonds and other property, was arrested today with a young married woman of Meadsville, who had accompanied him in his flight.

WAREHOUSE DESTROYED BY BOILER EXPLOSION.

Fond du Lac, Wis., April 27.—The warehouse and finishing plant of the Winnebago Furniture company was destroyed today by a boiler explosion. Loss $75,000. As a result of the explosion, every window in the courthouse was broken. A portion of the boiler was carried two blocks and in the flight cut off an electric light pole.

EX-CONGRESSMAN DIES AT CAPITAL

JOSEPH W. BABCOCK.

Washington, April 27.—Former Representative Joseph Babcock of Wisconsin, for fourteen years a member of the lower house of congress, and for many years chairman of the national Republican congressional committee, died at his home here at 9:45 today. He was 59.

INCOME TAX ADVOCATED

Bailey Urges Submission of Another Measure to Court.

Texan Continues His Attack on the Tariff Bill.

Washington, April 27. — The announcement that Senator Bailey would resume the discussion of his amendment to the tariff bill providing for an income tax was sufficient to crowd the galleries of the senate today and to call to his place on the floor nearly every senator on both sides of the chamber.

Bailey devoted his attention today especially to the purely legal aspects of his proposition for an income tax and in a great detail, reviewed court decisions in substantiating his contention that the division of opinion in the supreme court of the United States on that subject is sufficient to warrant congress in again submitting an income tax law for its opinion. Referring to Bailey's statement that duties of the pending bill might be lowered 33½ perper cent, Mr. Aldrich asked whether he supposed profits of American industries equaled that amount.

Bailey replied that in the case of the United States Steel corporation he believed they had, and he cited the increased capitalization of that organization as an evidence of enormous profit.

DYING, WRITES NAME ON A CARD

Telegraph Operator Is Killed by Train at St. Paul.

St. Paul, Minn., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Tossed from the Northern Pacific tracks by a train at 2 o'clock this morning near Dale street and Raymond avenue, S. Strouve, a telegraph operator, tore strips of cloth from his shirt and sought to bind up his wounds, but in vain. He was found dead about daylight, by E. G. Leonard, a track walker.

By his side was a card on which was written: "S. Strouve, telegraph operator, Itasca, Minn."

Foreseeing his approaching death, the man had provided means for his own identification. His body was cut in many places and many bones broken.

MEYER'S SUPPORT FOR A WINNER

Juneau Banker Tells Why He Was for Stephenson.

Madison, Wis., April 27.—Richard Meyer, a Juneau banker, supported Senator Isaac Stephenson because he thought Stephenson could win.

This, he today informed the senatorial investigating committee was the substance of a conversation he had with a supporter of Samuel A. Cook. He received several hundred dollars to be used in Stephenson's behalf in his part of the state.

William M. Kohl, chairman of the Republican county committee of Dodge county, was called by the committee yesterday and testified to having received $200 from the Stephenson headquarters to be used in behalf of Stephenson's candidacy. He denied having received any money through "Dick" White or any Stephenson source for the spring election in his county.

"UNLOADED" RIFLE GOES OFF INJURING WOMAN.

Eau Claire, Wis., April 27.—While handling a rifle which she thought was unloaded, Miss Lola Curtis of Springbrook, twelve miles west of here, placed the muzzle on her foot and accidentally pulled the trigger. The bullet penetrated her foot and amputation may be necessary.

Man Is Injured in Attempt to Rescue Girl Cashier.

Firemen Have Narrow Escapes Fighting Des Moines Blaze.

Des Moines, Iowa, April 27.—Early today fire destroyed a five-story brick building occupied by George A. Boody & Co., wholesale dealers in wall paper and paint, at 608 and 610 Sixth avenue. Adjoining the building the Trossel block, Cleland's grocery and Butler's cafe were damaged. The loss will reach $150,000, half of which is covered by insurance.

Milan Depew was caught in the fall of a wall while trying to rescue Miss Marie Garnett, cashier of the Butler Cafe. Both were saved by the firemen.

The explosion is believed to have been caused by the turning of cold water into the hot boiler. A fireman was hurled through the side of the building onto a heap of ashes and was badly cut and bruised. Many business buildings in the vicinity were damaged several thousand dollars worth by flying bricks and small fires.

Two firemen had a narrow escape from death from a falling wall.

SON OF HAINS MAY TAKE STAND

Has Not Seen His Father Since Captain's Arrest.

Flushing, N. Y., April 27—When court convened today with ten jurors in the box, for the trial of Capt. Peter C. Hains, Jr., charged with the killing of William E. Annis, it was expected that the two jurors remaining to be chosen would be secured during the day. It was announced that should the jury box be filled a reasonable time before the usual hour for adjournment, the state would immediately present its case. This was expected to take but a short time.

Peter C. Hains, III, son of the captain, who has not seen his father since the captain's arrest, seven months ago, is on his way to New York, where he will join his grandmother and come with her to Flushing. It is reported that the boy may be called as a witness for his father. Mrs. Claudia L. Hains, wife of Capt. Hains, was said to be in New York, waiting to be called.

Mohammed Effendi Is in Power by Will of the Young Turks.

Old Ruler Is Conveyed Across the Bosphorus Into Asiatic Turkey.

Excited Crowds Gather in Constantinople as the News Spreads.

Constantinople, April 27.—Mohammed Raschad Effendi was proclaimed sultan of Turkey at 2:30 this afternoon, in succession to his brother, Abdul Hamid, who was deposed this morning.

The deposition was through the regular form prescribed by the tenets of the Mahommedan faith.

The news of the deposition and the selection of his brother to succeed him caused great excitement throughout Constantinople. Crowds at once began to gather in the public squares and thoroughtares and around the imperial palace of Yildiz in anticipation of the proclamation of a new sultan.

It is reported the sultan has been removed from the imperial palace of Yildiz and conveyed across the Bosphorus to a point in Asiatic Turkey.

Fifty Turkish officers have been arrested at Erzeroum by troops and dispatched under escort to Trebizond. The exact significance of this action is not yet clear, but it is feared that it means the beginning of a revolt of the provincial troops against the Young Turk officers.

CONDUCTORS' STRIKE IN MEXICO LIKELY.

El Paso, Tex., April 27.—A general walkout of conductors on the trains of the National Lines of Mexico is imminent. The management of the lines has refused to remove the inspectors, whose presence on the trains has been strongly objected to by the conductors and as a result they have decided to walk out Saturday morning.

ORIGINAL MANUSCRIPT OF "THE STAR SPANGLED BANNER" IS FOUND.

Washington, April 27. — The original manuscript of "The Star Spangled Banner" has been located by the Francis Scott Key Memorial association, which is trying to get it. While it is improbable that the owner of this precious relic, a Baltimore woman, will consent to permanently part with it, the association hopes to be able to borrow the manuscript to place on exhibition at the old Key mansion in Georgetown, D. C.

ROOSEVELT RECOVERS

Former President and Son Get Over Their Fatigue.

They Go Hunting Again, Getting a "Grant's Gazelle."

Nairobi, British East Africa, April 27.—Theodore Roosevelt and his son, Kermit were sufficiently recovered today from the fatigue resultant from their first shooting trips and their journey from Kapiti Plains station to the ranch of Sir Alfred Pease, on the Athi river, to go out shooting this morning for small game.

They were successful in securing a Grant's gazelle and a hartebeest.

All the members of the party are busy today sorting out their baggage and making it up into loads and otherwise preparing to start on more extended hunting expeditions. J. Alden Loring and Maj. Mearns came into Kapiti station this morning from the Pease ranch and set to work making up loads from the baggage there.

They looked tired owing to the fatigue of the last few days and the depressing effect of the climate. Part of the Roosevelt camp already has been established at the Pease ranch. The remainder of the caravan will move over to this point tomorrow morning.

Roosevelt decided today to remain a week at the Pease ranch, and with this stay in view a number of cases of stores were sent into the American camp.

Smallpox among the porters of the Roosevelt caravan has been checked.

REPLIES NO TO COOPERS

Judge Hart Overrules the Motion for a New Trial.

Apppeal at Once Taken to Tennessee Supreme Court.

Nashville, Tenn., April 27.—Judge William M. Hart today overruled the motion for a new trial in the case of Col. Duncan B. and his son Robin Cooper, recently convicted of the murder of Former United States Senator E. W. Carmack. The defense at once gave notice of an appeal to the supreme court, and waived the formal sentence of twenty years in the penitentiary.

The defendants were in court early, Mrs. Lucius Burch coming in with her father and brother. The colonel was attired in a new black suit and appeared in excellent spirits. Robin was pale and ill at ease.

Judge Hart's opinion was brief. He said:

"The motion in the case of the state against D. B. and Robin Cooper is now before the court. After giving due and careful consideration to all the reasons assigned in the motion, the court is of the opinion that there is not ground for setting aside the verdict of the jury, and therefore the motion is overruled."

"We will pray for an appeal to the supreme court," said Judge Anderson, "and waive formal sentence."

"It is granted," said Judge Hart.

The same bondsmen qualified. After court adjourned, Judge Hart commented to some friends upon the fact that the killing of Isaac Morse today by a young woman who claims he had abandoned her, was the tenth murder in this county since the Cooper trial began, Jan. 20, and makes twenty-nine murder cases now on the county docket.

MASSACRE RENEWED

Fresh Outbreak of Fanaticism Is Sweeping Through Adana.

Direct Telegram From a Missionary Tells of the Fearful Condition.

Constantinople, April 27.—There was a fresh outbreak of fanaticism and murder last night at Adana, accompanied by looting and incendiarism. The situation is critical.

The following account of the disorders there had been received today by telegraph from Rev. Herbert Adams Gibbons, a missionary:

"The entire vilayet of Adana has been the scene during the past five days of a terrible massacre of Armenians, the worst ever known in the history of the district. The terror has been general, and the government is powerless to check the disorders. Adana, the capital of the province, has been the storm center.

"Conditions have been unsettled for some time and there has been animosity between Turks and Armenians, owing to the political activity of the latter and their open purchasing of arms.

Gather With Axes.

"Early last Wednesday morning, while I was in the market, I noticed the Armenians were closing their shops and hurrying to their homes. An Armenian and a Turk had been killed during the night, and the corpses were paraded through their respective quarters. The sight of the dead inflamed the inhabitants, and crowds at once began to gather in the streets armed with sticks, axes and knives. A few Young Armenians assembled in the center of the covered market and began firing revolvers into the air. By 11 o'clock in the morning the crowd had begun the looting of shops.

"The military commander of Adana was by my side in the market when the firing commenced. He had not the courage to endeavor to disperse the mob; he returned to his residence and did not venture out for two days.

"William Chambers, field secretary of the Young Men's Christian association, and myself proceeded to the Konak and found a howling mob de-

GASOLINE CAR TO RUN TO SUBURBS

Northern Pacific to Install New Service on Fond Du Lac Line.

Construction of Jean Du Luth Line May Begin This Summer.

Steps are under way at the present time that promise to give the city of Duluth, in the near future, two of the finest suburban lines in the West. The Jean duLhut line, which has been in contemplation for the past two years, is made a potent possibility by the passage by the state legislature of the bill giving suburban electric lines the right to run their cars over the lines of city street railways. With this bill a law, those interested in the project of the Jean duLhut line will begin active operations at once.

Added to this, comes the announcement today that the Northern Pacific railroad has purchased a seventy-five-passenger, all steel car, that will be placed upon trial on the Fond du Lac branch line of that railroad.

If the car that has been purchased by the Northern Pacific proves a success, suburban line service will be inaugurated upon the Fond du Lac branch.

The car that has been purchased by the Northern Pacific is known as a McKeen car, it being manufactured by a company at the head of which is Mr. McKeen, formerly connected with the traffic department of the Union Pacific railroad. This car has proved a success upon the suburban lines of the Union Pacific railroad, where it has been in use since 1905, and there is little doubt but that it will prove entirely successful upon the Fond du Lac line of the Northern Pacific.

The car is a gasoline motor car, capable of carrying seventy-five passengers, and also baggage and suburban freight. It is of 200-horse power, and will average over sixty miles an hour.

The Jean Du Luth Line.

John G. Williams, who is representing the legal interests of the men interested in the Jean Du Luth line, stated today that the men interested in this line were ready and anxious to proceed with the active construction of the line in the near future. It is probable that the matter will be placed before the Commercial club within a few days.

The Jean Du Luth line has been contemplated for two years. All that prevented the plans of the Duluth men being carried into execution, was the failure of the state legislature to pass a bill that would allow an interchange of traffic between city street railways and those of a suburban type. The last legislature passed such a bill, and the obstacle that has held up the plans of the Duluth line for many months, has been removed.

"Don't understand that because it is proposed to run this line out by the Jean Du Luth farm, that the line will be in any sense a private line," said Mr. Williams today. "The idea is not that at all. The line will be built for the benefit of Duluth and suburban

DEAD MAN TOLD FRIEND HE WOULD KILL HIMSELF

Later Developments Point to a Case of Suicide.

But No Reason Can be Given for Slashes on Face.

Deputy Coroner E. L. Tuohy last night conducted a post mortem examination over the remains of David Fielman, the man found dead on the Rice Lake road fourteen miles north of Duluth, Sunday, and today expressed the belief that he had committed suicide.

The man was cut in six places on his face, and there was a long knife cut in his throat, but none of the wounds was of a nature that would cause instantaneous death. Dr. Tuohy says he must have died from loss of blood and exposure. The fact that there were several knife wounds on the face, some of them high on the cheek bones, leads some to believe that Fielman might have been murdered.

The Herald learned today from Edward Holm, an employe of Morrison, the tailor, that during the latter part of March, Fielman told him that he was without money, and that if he could not raise enough with which to pay his fare back to the Scott-Graff camp, fifty miles from Duluth, on the Iron Range road, he would kill himself. He paid the tailor $25 for a suit of clothes, and the remainder of his money went for drink, or what little he did not pay out for living expenses.

The case is out of the jurisdiction of the Duluth police, as the man's body was found so far from the city limits, and they are not supposed to work on it, but they learned this morning that Fielman had cashed a check for $87.44, drawn on the Scott-Graff people, at the saloon conducted by Miki & Rinnl, 332 Lake avenue south, March 17, the day after he arrived in the city with three companions from the camp. At the same time a check signed by Otto Wamhalla, also on Scott-Graff, was cashed at the saloon. The amount of this check was $81.42. It is presumed that the two men were together. Both checks were indorsed with an indelible pencil.

In continuing the investigation started yesterday, The Herald this afternoon found that Fielman had been in the habit of buying his clothes of the Lake avenue shop[and a visit there developed the fact, that he was well known to Mr. Holm.

Bought New Clothes.

"Fielman came in here March 17," said Holm to a Herald reporter, "and paid $25 for a suit of clothes he had ordered the last time he was in the city. He seemed to have plenty of money. He took the suit and left the place. A week later he returned, and asked to see me. We are both Finnish, and naturally were friendly. He told me he was flat broke, and seemed to feel very despondent over the fact. He asked me if I had any money.

"I happened to have only 25 cents on my person, but told him that if he would come back the following morning I would make it a point to have enough money to pay his fare to any Northern Minnesota camp he wanted to go to. He was relieved at that, and remarked that if he could not raise enough money to get out of town, and back to his work in the woods, he would kill himself. I asked him why he was still wearing his old clothes, and he said he was saving the new ones until he came back to town at the end of the season. I suppose he left them in some Finnish boarding house.

Never Returned.

"I got the money for him, but he failed to show up the next morning, and I have never seen him since. I heard nothing more about him until I saw the story in The Herald last night. I cannot imagine how he happened to be away out there on that road. When he was at the shop the last time it was plainly evident that he had been drinking heavily, and he admitted that all his money had been foolishly spent, except that paid for his suit, and what went for living expenses. I am not prepared to say that he really committed suicide. It looks queer all around. If he really intended to kill himself, I do not see why he wanted to walk fourteen miles from town before doing it."

If Fielman did kill himself, it is believed that he was insane from drink. That would be the only explanation of the several knife wounds on the face, for no sane man would expect to inflict serious injuries by sticking the point of a knife in his face a few times, and would hardly add that much pain to his sufferings if he were anything but crazy. There were no wounds in the body. The fact that the front of his clothes was blood-soaked would indicate that he had walked around, or at least stood for a time, after his throat was cut. The wound in the throat did not reach the jugular vein or the windpipe.

CITY DIGS UP ITS SHARE

City Comptroller McCormick today mailed to the state capitol a check for $6,440, which represents 2 per cent of all the saloon license money collected in Duluth between April 22, 1907, and Jan. 1, 1909. This is a tax by the state for the support of a state hospital for inebriates, and represents the first payment Duluth has made towards the fund.

THE FIRST STEP WAS TOO HIGH

Mrs. Annie Grebenc wants $6,500 from the Duluth & Iron Range Railroad company for injuries alleged to have been sustained in July of 1908, while she was boarding one of the company's trains at Aurora.

She claims in her complaint that the step to the train was too high and that as she was about to step aboard with one foot on the step, the other on the ground, the train suddenly moved away, throwing her to the ground with great force. Her left leg was severely injured and she sustained as a result of the accident, a severe nervous shock from which she did not recover for some time.

She claims that she was in a delicate state of health at the time of the accident, and that this being the case, the injuries received were all the more serious.

STRIPPING OLD PLANT

Night Watchman at Ironton Finds Two Prowlers at Work.

Caught in the act of stealing brasses from the old Steel plant at Ironton last evening, about 10 o'clock by the night watchman and his two brothers, Joseph and Frank Miller, were marched at the point of a rifle in the direction of the West Duluth police station, and met about half way by Officer Walsh and the patrol wagon.

At the station house, the culprits were searched. Between them they had 8 cents, a dollar watch and a pocket knife. The men claim to be brothers. Joseph is 24 and Frank is two years older. The men confided to Lieut. Wilcox the "hard luck" story of the man who is down and out.

The brothers struck Duluth a few weeks ago from the South on their way to International Falls. They were unable to get any work and they were practically "on the rocks." This is given as the reason for the theft. The brass was to be sold to secure enough money to take them to their destination.

The Millers were first noticed by Night Watchman William Dunne. He told the police that he noticed two strange men lurking in the dark shadows of the old steel plant, and after he had gone after his brothers, Robert and Andrew, and they had armed themselves with rifles, he followed the culprits to the river bank near Eighty-second avenue west. The men had carried away about two sacks of old copper feed wire and other brass fixtures around the old abandoned works—about 150 pounds in all. A small fire had been built and the men were heating the copper wire, so that it would bend in the desired shape and could be placed in a bag. They offered but little resistance to the watchman and his posse.

The two brothers were taken this morning from their cell at West Duluth and placed in the city jail. A charge of petit larceny will be preferred against them when they are arraigned tomorrow morning in municipal court.

PRANKS OF LIGHTNING

Lightning played chavic at the residence of Joseph Anderson, 220 North Sixty-first avenue west, last evening shortly after 5 o'clock. The house was struck on the roof one bolt going through the walls and tearing off most of the plaster.

The fire department was given a hurry-up call by telephone and came to the scene in time to put out the blaze, before much damage was done by the fire. Mr. Foster and his family also lived in the house, the Anderson family occupying the upper story. No one was hurt.

One of the most curious pranks ever played by lightning happened in connection with the event. One of the doors on the lower floor between two rooms, was not used and had been nailed and locked. When the lightning struck the house this door was forcibly opened, but showed few marks of lightning.

The house is the property of Joseph Beck. The necessary repairs will be made at once.

PIKE SPAWN AT FOND DU LAC

Game Warden Greene and a crew of men started today to gather pike spawn at Fond du Lac. The spawn, as fast as it is collected, will be shipped to the various state fish hatcheries. Most of it, however, will go to the Brainerd institution.

The work of collecting spawn is active at this season of the year. In a number of the lakes north of Tower, Minn., Samuel Fullerton, state superintendent of fish hatcheries, is in charge of the work.

To Be Buried Here.

LEARNING THINGS.

We Are All in the Apprentice Class.

When a simple change of diet brings back health and happiness the story is briefly told. A lady of Springfield, Ill., says:

"After being afflicted for years with nervousness and heart trouble, I received a shock four years ago that left me in such a condition that my life was despaired of.

"I could get no relief from doctors nor from the numberless heart and nerve remedies I tried, because I didn't know that coffee was daily putting me back more than the doctors could put me ahead.

"Finally at the request of a friend I left off coffee and began the use of Postum and against my convictions I gradually improved in health until for the past 6 or 8 months I have been entirely free from nervousness and those terrible sinking, weakening spells of heart trouble.

"My troubles all came from the use of coffee which I had drunk from childhood and yet they disappeared when I quit coffee and took up the use of Postum.

Many people marvel at the effects of leaving off coffee and drinking Postum, but there is nothing marvelous about it—only common sense.

Coffee is a destroyer—Postum is a rebuilder. That's the reason.

AFTER FISH DYNAMITERS

Deputy Game Warden John Mattson returned to his home in West Duluth yesterday afternoon after a week's trip up on the range, in an effort to catch lawbreakers, who it was reported were using the dynamite method of catching fish. He did not succeed in landing any one, but noticed the signs of blasting in some of the creeks.

In one creek, which Mr. Mattson ran across, three miles south of Eveleth, considerable dynamiting had been done and hundreds of dead fish covered the rocky bed of the stream. The creek flows into Three-Mile lake, which is yet covered with ice. The wardens, however, are on the track of certain parties and expect to make a few arrests this spring. Mr. Mattson says that he thinks that the game laws in this respect should be more severe to the offender.

Bridge Is Unsafe.

It is understood that some action may be taken by the members of the West Duluth Commercial club in urging the city authorities to make repairs on the bridge over the railroad tracks at Central avenue and Main street. The structure is considered unsafe, and efforts will probably be made to have the city look into the matter.

KNIGHTS WILL MEET IN CALUMET

The annual convention of the Knights of Pythias will this year take place in June at Calumet.

The North Star Degree team of Duluth, which is the champion of the world, will have charge of the initiation services, at which time a class of over 100 will go in.

Many of the members of Al Sirat Temple of Duluth are planning on attending the annual convention, and it is expected that a special train will be run to the Copper country so as to accommodate the members from Duluth.

The convention will this year be larger than ever before. It will take place the last week in June, and there will be representatives from all over the country.

NEGAUNEE SCHOOLS CLOSED BY SMALLPOX.

Negaunee, Mich., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—On account of the prevalence of smallpox among children here, it has been decided to close the public and parochial schools for the next two weeks.

Meanwhile every room in all the buildings will be fumigated. Nine cases of smallpox have developed, and it is feared there will be a considerable number of others, four children ill with the disease having been found to still be attending school and to have exposed hundreds of others.

DULUTH HAS IT ON WORCESTER

Building Inspector Kielley has been comparing the building situation in Duluth with that of other cities of the country. This morning he received some statistics from Worcester, Mass., showing the total amount expended there in building during the year 1908.

Worcester has more than twice the population of Duluth, yet its total for last year was $2,581,267, while Duluth's total was $2,739,536. In the Eastern city 1,102 building permits were issued while in Duluth 1,236 permits were issued.

Worcester has sixty-two school buildings, with an estimated value of $2,983,000, and Duluth has thirty-three schools, with an estimated valuation of $1,642,000.

LOSS OF POWER

It Is a Self-Evident Fact That the Continual and Protracted Loss of Vital Principle of Life Will Cause a Corresponding Loss of Power to "Do Things."

The man who is continually drawing on his reserve stock of vitality will certainly, sooner or later, suffer from a total collapse—this is inevitable.

When that collapse comes what chance do you think he will have of recovery, when his force of resistance is reduced to the minimum and his system is overworked to the limit? Very little!

The time to start thinking about a cure is not just before overtaxed Nature gives up the struggle altogether, but as soon as the dread symptoms are recognized.

Now let us consider the question of cost—if you were offered in return for an investment of, say, $40, a continual addition to your salary of from $10 to $20 a week, would you not be foolish to refuse? And yet, what enables you to earn any salary at all?—your power to "DO THINGS."

When, whoever can add to a great extent to your power to DO THINGS IS adding to your salary to the same extent.

By enabling you to throw off the effect of weakening and debilitating excesses, the PROGRESSIVE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION OF NO. 1 WEST SUPERIOR STREET, DULUTH, IS ACTUALLY ADDING TO YOUR SALARY TWO OR THREE HUNDRED PER CENT WHAT THEY CHARGE YOU FOR THE CURE!

Remember, all cases handled by the PROGRESSIVE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION receive a WRITTEN GUARANTEE that a cure will be effected.

The PROGRESSIVE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION'S treatment for MEN is unsurpassed in the United States of America.

GASOLINE CAR TO RUN TO SUBURBS

community at large, and the men interested in the construction of the line are of the firm opinion that the line will result in great good to the city.

One of the benefits pointed out by Mr. Williams was also shown by Charles P. Craig, through the columns of The Herald some time ago. The idea is that the line will be utilized not only in the carrying of suburban passengers, but also in the development of the truck farms and the market gardens in the territory contiguous to Duluth.

The plans for the construction of the line have been under consideration for some time. The execution of the plans will be taken up at once, and it is not improbable that work will be started upon the line some time during the present year.

And then there is the Spirit Lake branch that the officials of the Duluth street railway are considering at the present time.

Inquiry at the general office of the company today brought out the fact that the officials of the company were waiting to see what work was going to be done upon the steel plant this year.

The inauguration of the gasoline motor car service of the Northern Pacific will be the first railway suburban service seen in this part of the state. The Northwestern railroad has introduced motor service upon some of its branch lines in Wisconsin and other states, and the plan has proved a success. The car, if put in regular service, will prove a great convenience to the Duluth people who make their summer home at Fond du Lac.

The materialization of the three branch lines would prove a great help to the development of the suburbs of Duluth.

MINE AGREEMENT WILL BE SIGNED

Anthracite Pact Makes Concessions to the Coal Diggers.

Scranton, Pa., April 27.—An agreement between the anthracite mine owners and the mine workers will be signed in Philadelphia, at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon unless plans fail. The tri-district convention of the union mine workers will meet in the courthouse here today to act on the proposition already agreed on by the representatives of the men.

The agreement to be signed in Philadelphia provides for the renewal for another three years of the old agreement, with some concessions of importance to the miners.

ROYAL ARCANUM MEET.

Annual Gathering of State Grand Council On in St. Paul.

St. Paul, Minn., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual meeting of the state grand council of the Royal Arcanum began in the U. C. T. hall this morning, with representatives from the forty-five Minnesota councils in attendance. Among the important matters coming up today is the election of officers. It is expected that William H. Williams of the St. Paul grand council will be elected grand regent.

Last evening the visiting delegates were entertained by the six St. Paul councils at a musicale and an initiation in the convention hall.

This afternoon and evening the visitors will be give dinner and supper by the local councils in the U. C. T. hall.

HUGHES OF WASHINGTON IS OFFERED JUDGESHIP.

Washington, April 27.—Ellwood C. Hughes, for the last twenty years a lawyer of Seattle, has been tendered by President Taft an appointment to the newly created federal judgship in Washington state. Hughes has been associated with some of the most of the prominent legal firms on the north coast and has been president of the State Bar association, of the Seattle Post Intelligencer and of the Seattle school board. He formerly practiced law in Spencer, Iowa. He has taken considerable part in state politics, but has never before held a federal office. He declined a nomination for congress almost twenty years ago. He was once elected president of Carthage, Ill., college, his alma mater, but declined it.

Thursday is the Day
Get Ready!

CONCERNING WOMAN.

Mrs. W. S. Woodbridge, regent of the Daughters of Liberty chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution has returned from Washington, where she attended the national convention of the organization, which, during the last week attracted attention throughout America. The election of the regent was closely contested and watched with interest throughout the country.

"The meeting was a most interesting one," said Mrs. Woodbridge today. "The Minnesota delegation and there were fifteen of us, was solid for Mrs. Storey. Mrs. Rising of Winona acted as regent for our state in the absence of Mrs. Loyhed, who was unable to be present and when Mrs. Rising seconded the nomination of Mrs. Storey we all arose as presenting an unanimous choice from Minnesota. The election was very exciting. The tellers, representing as they did the interests of both candidates, were exceedingly careful, and they were out all night and until 10 o'clock Friday morning. The announcement that Mrs. Scott had received just eight more votes than Mrs. Storey was a safety valve in a way. Mrs. Donald McLean, the retiring regent announced the decision and called for Mrs. Scott, who was at her hotel. She came later to the hall and her entrance was like a bridal procession. Pages marked out an aisle for her with wide ribbons and she was escorted by three state regents and carried a large armful of American beauty roses. The enthusiasm was tremendous and Mrs. Scott made her speech of acceptance with dignity and grace.

"The sessions, of course, attracted a great amount of attention, and the reporters did their best to make the matter an affair of quarrels and dissension. I didn't see anything of the kind. We were simply of two opinions, and with much respect for each other. Those of who who favored the candidacy of the defeated candidate did so because we felt that a change in the administration of the society might be well. Mrs. Storey is a younger woman and has been regent of the New York state chapters. The chapters of the District of Columbia were unanimous in their choice of her. Mrs. Scott, who was elected, is however, a woman of experience, is prominent and public-spirited, and we at no time felt that the affairs of the society would not be carried on as capably and conscientiously, as they have been under the administration of Mrs. McLean.

"The members of the D. A. R. and their friends were received by President and Mrs. Taft Thursday afternoon at the White House, and 2,100 women were in the line to be received. Each received a warm, kindly pressure from the fat, firm, cushion of the president's hand, and enjoyed it greatly. Friday Mr. Woodbridge and I were presented to the president by Congressman Davis of this state and were most charmingly received. He spoke of Duluth as the 'Zenith City' of the Unsalted Seas, so you see he remembers Proctor Knott. He gives you his attention entirely when you are presented and one feels that he has really met you."

The Daughters of Liberty chapter of this city was represented at Washington by Mrs. Woodbridge, Mrs. A. W. Dutton and Mrs. H. F. Davis. The Greysolon duluthut chapter was represented by Mrs. N. F. Hugo, who is now in New York, and Mrs. W. H. Burris, who is in Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodbridge traveled in the South and East for several weeks. They visited at Havana and through Florida and the East, returning to Duluth directly from Washington.

WEDDING A SURPRISE.

Miss Dorrance Becomes Bride of F. Morgan, U. S. Army.

A quiet wedding took place yesterday afternoon at the home of Zenas W. Dorrance, of the Bridgeman & Russell flats, when his daughter, Miss Elizabeth Dorrance, became the bride of Frank Morgan, recently of the United States army. The service was read by the Rev. H. B. Black of the First Christian church, and in the afternoon Mr. Morgan and his bride left for a wedding trip to the Twin Cities. They will later return to Duluth, where they will be at home.

Mr. Morgan has completed a two-years' term of service in the engineering corps of the army at Cuba, and before that served in the Philippines. The wedding was not planned for some time to come, but his honorable distinction came, and he hurried to Duluth, where the wedding service took place at once. The wedding is a surprise to the bride's many friends in this city. For several years Miss Dorrance has been at the head of the glove department at Panton & White's, and is widely known in Duluth.

HEROINE FUSSED.

Mouse Plays Havoc With Love Scene.

"In Wyoming," in which Duluthians have a special interest, as it is owned by Harold Pierce and James L. Morrissey of this city, is playing through the East. At a recent appearance the love scene, the tenderest and to many the most intense moment of the play, was almost wrecked. The heroine got fussed. The Youngstown Daily Vindicator relates the episode as follows:

"The hero was pouring his tale of love into the ears of the heroine and the latter was listening with her soul in her eyes. Suddenly she began to grow nervous and made several moves which were new to the part. Her soul look fled from her eyes, and there was terror in the pretty optics. Instead of looking soulfully at her stage affinity she drew her skirts about her ankles and glanced furtively about the stage. Only pure bravery prevented her from bolting from the scene. The leading man wondered what was wrong, but he did not wonder long for he, too, saw the object which had caused the fright of the heroine, and which would frighten any heroine on or off the stage. Another actor (or perhaps, actress) was sharing the stage with them and the attention of the audience as well.

"What could it be that would so frighten a young lady, used to the glare of the footlights, the plaudits of the multitude and the gun play of a Western drama? There was only one thing on earth which could cause that calm, daring young heroine to show signs of fear. She would have been calm had somebody cried out that the building was on fire. She would coolly have invented lines in the face of any emergency; but there was one thing she nor any other living woman could see without becoming locoed with fear, and that was just what she saw, there on the stage with her: A mouse."

Wed at Denver.

Miss Stella M. Andrews and Arthur Lahey were married Wednesday of last week at Denver, Colo., at St. Elizabeth's church at a nupital high mass. A wedding breakfast followed the ceremony at the Savoy hotel. Mr. Lahey formerly lived in Duluth and is known to many here. During his residence here he was a member of the Arion quartette. Mr. Lahey and his bride will be at home in Denver.

CHASED HER WITH RAZOR

Duluth Woman Recites Long Tale of Cruelty and Abuse.

Papers in three divorce actions were this morning filed with the clerk of the district court.

Charging habitual drunkenness, non-support, cruelty and inhuman treatment, Mrs. Teresa Underferth, aged 42, asks that she be given an absolute divorce from her husband, August Underferth, aged 40.

They were married in Duluth in December, 1907, and there are no children.

She says in her complaint that he was drunk most of the time, and while under the influence of liquor mistreated her in a most horrible manner. In March of 1908 he called her vile, vulgar and unrepeatable names, and threatened her with violence.

On another occasion, she claims, he tore her clothing from her person and attempted to strike her when she refused to comply with his request, and support them both by immoral conduct on her part.

On Christmas day of 1908 he came home drunk, says the complaint. He seized the plaintiff and threw her against the sink. He also on the same occasion attempted to strike her with a heavy cut glass bowl, she claims.

On Labor day in the same year, according to the complaint, he chased her about the house with a razor. He has threatened to kill her several times. She asks that she be granted an absolute divorce and be allowed to resume her maiden name.

Mrs. Edna Jones, 23, asks a divorce from Delbert Jones, 28.

This couple was married in Duluth in 1907 and he deserted her in September of the same year.

They have one child, and she asks its custody and an absolute divorce.

Mrs. Florence Ellen Remington wants a divorce from her husband, John Remington. She is 26 years old and he is 29.

They were married in Duluth in 1901 and he deserted her in 1905.

She went back to live with him in September of 1908.

She recites a tale of much suffering in her complaint. The chief offense, she alleges, took place soon after she went back to him, when he threw her to the floor and choked her.

She has worked as a dressmaker in order to support herself and child. She asks a divorce and the custody of the child.

LOOKING FOR MISSING SON

The parents of Leon S. De Mars, well known in Duluth, are trying to locate their son. They have heard nothing from him for three years, and are afraid that something may have happened him. The last heard of him was a letter to his father, three years ago, in which he said he had accepted employment with a firm as traveling man.

De Mars was formerly a member of Company A of the National Guard, and served with that company during the Spanish-American war. He lived here for many years, and has a large acquaintance in Duluth. About seven years ago his wife died while he was a resident of St. Paul.

Shortly afterward he returned to Duluth, bringing with him his 5-year-old son, whom he left with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Felix De Mars, of 1021 Minnesota avenue. After remaining here a few days he went back to St. Paul to live.

We often wonder how any person can be persuaded into taking anything but Foley's Honey and Tar for coughs, colds and lung trouble. Do not be fooled into accepting "own make" or other substitutes. The genuine contains no harmful drugs and is in a yellow package. Sold by all druggists.

WEST END

STUNNED BY FALLING COAL

Oscar Erickson, laborer, who resides at 2710 West Fourth street, is confined to his home suffering from a large gash in his head caused by a large piece of coal falling on his skull while employed at one of the coal docks Saturday afternoon.

The piece of coal which struck Erickson was a rather large one and fell a distance of several feet from a trestle above him. He partly dodged the object so that he did not receive the full effect.

The blow stunned the man for a while, but medical aid was summoned and he was taken to his home. Today he was improving.

CHILDREN HAVE NARROW ESCAPE

A group of small children in the vicinity of Twenty-fourth avenue west and First street, are fortunate today that they are alive.

An avalanche of wood, that the little tots might have been buried under, is today being cleared from the street and sidewalk on First street between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth avenues west. During the winter, all along the street on a high embankment directly over the sidewalk, wood was piled until the slabs were nearly sixteen feet above the pedestrians who passed daily by the pile.

When the frost came out of the ground the earth sank just enough to dump the wood on the sidewalk and street. Just before the wood fell, a group of small children were playing in the shade of the piles and had just moved down the street to the candy store on the corner, when the avalanche came.

IT WAS SOME GAME

When West End Firemen Trimmed the Garfield Sluggers.

The Garfield Sluggers met defeat Sunday afternoon at the hands of the fast West End Firemen's aggregation. The score was 13 to 8, the game being featured by a home run hit by Bergquist, who drove the ball out into a swamp, causing the outfielder for the

EMIL PALMQUIST,
Manager of the West End Firemen's Ball Team.

Sluggers to swim about thirty yards for it.

The "coal shovelers" bested the Garfield men in many respects, but the Sluggers had a good many strong points of their own. G. Peterson, right field for the Garfielders, had a perfect hitting record, and was handy with his mit when in the field. G. Buntz, short-stop for the railroads, also put in some good work.

Here is the line-up:

Quarterly Conference.

The quarterly conference of the officers and trustees of the First Norwegian-Danleh M. E. church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street, was held last evening at the church. Several important business matters were taken up.

Spring Concert.

Considerable interest is being manifested in the annual spring concert which is to be presented this evening at the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church by the Ladies' Aid society.

Rev. H. K. Madsen will deliver an address for the occasion. This concert is given every spring and bids fair to be the crowning event of the season in the musical line at the West end.

Dies in Norway.

Rev. H. K. Madsen, pastor of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, received word yesterday afternoon that his brother had died in Norway. The telegram from his sister stated that death came about as a result of heart trouble. He leaves a wife and two children. He was 31 years old.

West End Shortrails.

M. Tracey of St. Paul was a West end business visitor yesterday.

V. E. Swanstrom was down from Brainerd yesterday on a short business trip.

Arthir Swanson of St. Paul was in the West end today, the guest of friends.

William Snuckle, broom manufacturer, left yesterday for Rockford, Ill., where he is attending an annual convention of broom-makers.

Miss Jessie Smith of Twentieth avenue west and Second street has received the news of the death of her brother, Arthur, at Hibbing.

Rev. G. L. McBride has returned from Little Falls, Minn., where he has been for the past week.

Beta Countcil, No. 2, Modern Samaritans, held a meeting last evening at Columbia hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street, and completed arrangements for a dance to be given at the hall on May 10. Blewitt's orchestra has been secured.

The Svea Glee club on Sunday next will give a concert at Lincoln park. Rev. Edward Stromberg, Andrew Nelson and K. O. Osterholm are the speakers. Good music will be arranged for.

The young people of the Second Presbyterian church may present a playlet some time next month. The production that will be put on was written by one of the young people, and is said to be good for the amateur playwright. The cast will be selected tomorrow evening at the home of Miss Myrtle Cox of 1713 West First street.

BOAS CHILD, WHO RAN AWAY, TELLS OF MOVES.

New York, April 27.—Adele Boas, 13-year-old daughter of Arthur E. Boas, a wealthy thread manufacturer, who was found on a train entering this city yesterday, after having been mysteriously missing for several days, had a cut finger and disheveled clothes and was apparently suffering from fatigue. With the first shock of the meeting with her parents over, the child told more of her movements in Boston. The position she held in a restaurant there was to have brought her $2.50 a week, with board and lodging.

Saturday night and Sunday she spent in the room she had rented. Her money by this time was exhausted, all but enough to get back to New York, and yesterday morning she decided to return. She went to the South station and was approached by an elderly man.

"The police are looking all over for you, Adele Boas," he said.

"My name is not Boas," she replied defiantly, and boarded the train for New York, only to be identified at Stamford, Conn., after she had tried in vain to dodge persistent questioners, even resorting to the ruse of speaking broken English.

UNCLE SAM TIGHTENS UP

Registrar Engel of the United States land office today received the first appraisal made in this state under the new ruling of the secretary of the interior last December, which requires that before title is given to any stone or timber land the value of the land and the standing timber shall be ascertained by a government inspector.

The matter is one of great importance to both the government and to prospective purchasers of land. During the latter part of January Cornelius Keppel of Hibbing applied for the purchase of forty acres of land in Section 15-56-22, in this county. He stated that the land was worth $20 and the timber $80, making a total of $100, or $2.50 per acre, the flat rate price at which the government has always sold the land.

The appraisement which was delivered to Mr. Engel today shows that the land is worth $120 and the timber, which was underestimated, is worth $320, which brings the price of the land to $11 an acre.

This means that the days of picking up choice lands, heavily timbered for $2.50 an acre are past, and that the government will know through its own agents just what it is selling before title is passed.

There are about 125 applications for land in Mr. Engel's hands, which will all be taken up by government land men and the desired property appraised.

After the appraisement the applicant has the right to call for a re-appraisement by depositing a certain sum with the land office to cover expenses, and thirty days in which to accept the land at the first figures.

Sale of Shoes

A disappointed customer is very, very bad for a store. Exaggerated advertising makes lots and lots of disappointed customers. WE RELIGIOUSLY AVOID IT. And when we tell you that on every pair of shoes in this sale we make you a present of 75c, $1.00, $1.25, $1.50 and $1.75 in lessened prices, WE ARE NOT EXAGGERATING! Qualities are the best! Spring and Summer shoes and oxfords for men, women, boys, misses and children for less money than you ever knew similar qualities to sell for before. Now get ready.

Sale Starts on Thursday

Wants $15,000 Damages.

Papers in a personal injury suit for the sum of $15,000 were filed with the clerk of the district court this morning by Paul Gracesa against the Adriatic Mining company.

The accident happened at the Adriatic mine at Missabe. Gracesa was at work opening a drift when the roof, which was composed of sand and gravel, and according to the complaint was not properly supported, caved in. His left leg was broken and the ankle on his right foot was fractured. He charges negligence on the part of the company for not having the roof supported in a proper manner.

Sues for $5,000.
Vivian Prince, as administrator of the estate of Tony Papaneck, has commenced a personal injury action in the United States district court for $5,000 damages against the Drake & Stratton company. Papaneck was employed as a cranesman on a steam shovel at the Leonard mine. It is alleged that he was compelled to work close to a defective chain hoom. The chain parted and a loose end hit Papaneck on the head. The defendants claim that the man was killed through his own negligence.

MARINE

BLOCKADE IS BROKEN

Big Fleet of Vessels Now Headed for Duluth.

George W. Peavey Will Be First Grain Boat to Clear.

The ice blockade at the Soo was broken late yesterday afternoon, and navigation is now open the entire length of the St. Mary's river. The down-bound vessels Carleton and Northern Queen, which have been fast in the ice for several days, have succeeded in getting through, and the up-lake fleet has commenced moving. Weather indications are good and navigation is now open for the season.

Among the early departures for the Head of the Lakes were the Townsend, Aurania, City of Montreal, and Troy. The last named boat will arrive in Duluth tonight and go to the Northern Pacific dock to discharge.

The Pittsburg Steamship company figures that ore shipments will be in full swing the last of this week. The company has between thirty and forty freighters now on the lakes headed for Duluth. None was reported as having left the Soo at a late hour today, but it is expected a number of vessels will get under way this evening. The first ore cargoes of the season will probably leave Duluth Saturday night or Sunday.

The first of the year's grain fleet to depart is the George W. Peavey, which will leave for Buffalo today with a cargo of 287,000 bushels of corn and barley.

TUGMEN TO HOLD LAST MEETING

Union Does Not Have Sessions During Season of Navigation.

One evidence that the season of navigation is at hand, is the fact that the local union of licensed tugmen will hold its last meeting for several months, in the Manhattan building, this evening.

It is only during the winter months, when the harbors are frozen over and boats are out of commission, that the tugmen's union meets to discuss its affairs.

As long as navigation is on, the tugmen are busily engaged with their work. They are scattered here, there and everywhere, on the different tugs and dredges, and it would be impossible to get all the members together at a session, even if it were necessary.

But it is not necessary, for the tugmen make all their agreements with the employers before the season opens. By next week, many members of the local union will have begun work for the season.

TUG RAISED AND BROUGHT HOME

Diver Thompson Brings the Hall Into Port—No Damage.

Capt. H. H. Thompson, the diver, returned yesterday from Susie Islands, on the north shore, bringing in the tug Hall. The Hull sank last week in about seventy-five feet of water. She was heavily loaded at the time and the accident occurred while the crew was absent. Ice jamming caused her to list and ship considerable water.

The Hall was lifted by a derrick, Capt. Thompson doing the diving and chain placing. She was afloat and under her own steam within four hours after the chains were laid. The Hall was none the worse for the peculiar accident when brought in yesterday.

VOTE HAS BEEN TAKEN

Decision on the Seamen's Strike Will Be Announced in Chicago.

All Returns Now in the Hands of the Officers.

The result of the referendum vote of the Lake Seamen's union will be officially announced from the head offices in Chicago tomorrow. The voting has closed at all the lake ports, and the returns are now in the hands of the officials.

It is said that the unions of Detroit and Cleveland are almost unanimously in favor of a strike. A Herald representative talked with several members of the Head of the Lakes union today. They made no attempt to keep their attitude secret, and said freely that they had voted in favor of declaring a strike, and intimated that whenever the matter had been informally talked over, they all felt the same way.

"We may not be in a position to dictate," said a union man this morning, "but there is no reason for stepping aside and letting the Lake Carriers' association have everything its own way. The open shop policy is a direct aim at a cut in wages, and unless we have some collective force to oppose them, such as a union, we are completely at their mercy. It is an unfortunate situation that has developed, but union men feel that they have rights in common, and as a body must stand up for them."

A curious situation developed at the Soo, while the fleet was ice-bound. All of the boats there carry non-union crews. The unions sent representatives to approach the men and urge them to come over to the union side. It was to prevent these agents from reaching the crews that the upbound boats were anchored in the river. The men were refused shore leave, and no strangers were permitted aboard. In spite of the vigilance, several union agents managed to get in communication with the men. They were hustled away in no gentle manner when detected by the officers, but numerous desertions are reported to have occurred through their help.

SOOTHING WASH CURES ECZEMA

Oil of Wintergreen Compound Solves a Vexing Medical Problem.

One of the most vexing problems in all medicine appears at last to have been solved by the most simple of all remedies. Ordinary oil of wintergreen properly compounded with thymol, glycerine and other mild liquids, tones up the healthy skin, while killing and ultimately removing the eczema germs.

This compound, known as D. D. D. Prescription, has now so thoroughly proven its efficacy that druggists recommend it unhesitatingly.

The Sheriff of Franklin Co., Frankfort, Ky., Mr. W. H. Graham, writes: "My 12-year-old daughter had been suffering with an aggravated form of Eczema for more than two years. We had her under the care of the best physicians here. Upon getting no relief, we were induced to try D. D. D. Prescription.

"She was entirely relieved. It has now been more than one year since she ceased the use of the Remedy, and no sign of the trouble has appeared."

We recommend D. D. D. Prescription to all sufferers from eczema. Lyceum Pharmacy, Duluth, Minn.

SEVEN CLEAR FROM THE SOO, DOWN BOUND.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Seven vessels left here this morning downbound at 10 o'clock. Among them are the Sonora, Yosemite, Rochester, Munich and Kensington. Boats are now passing without difficulty, and the river will soon be cleared.

Map of Stations.

The Duluth branch of the hydrographic office has received a number of fine maps of the world, made with special reference to the location of wireless telegraph stations. Accompanying the map is a complete list of stations with the names of the governments having control of them. This list shows the United States to control more wireless stations, covering a wider area than any other government. There are no wireless stations in the Great Lakes district north and west of the south shore of Lake Erie.

Marine Notes.

The government steamer Vidette left this morning for Ontonogan, Mich., carrying a party of engineers, who will make a survey of the harbor at that place and get things in readiness for the dredge, which will commence work next week.

The Cleveland-Chicago Transit company is an independent concern and not connected with the Western Transit company, as stated yesterday. Officers for the year will be elected Thursday.

The Great Lakes Dredge & Dock company turned over their big dredge to the government this mornign. It is now in use at the lower end of the harbor.

The Frank Hefflefinger was taken to Elevator K this afternoon to load barley.

The steamer Moore of the Booth line arrived this morning on her regular trip from Port Arthur and way ports.

F. B. DAUGHERTY LAUDS GOVERNOR

Former Duluth State Senator Writes of Veto to Friend.

The tonnage tax question and Governor Johnson's action in vetoing it attracted the attention not only of residents of this state, but of former residents and people everywhere. What one former resident of Duluth thinks about it, is shown in a letter written to a friend in Duluth by F. B. Daugherty, manager of the Dredge Owners' Protective association in Chicago, but for many years a Duluthian and a member of the state senate.

The letter is in part as follows:

"I was out of the city when Governor Johnson vetoed the tonnage tax bill, but all through the agitation I knew—or at least I was satisfied in my own mind—what he would do, knowing him so well as I have for a great many years. My close friendship for him during our term in the state senate and since then has increased and today, I am very proud.

"You know perhaps as well as any man in Duluth what my position has been in a political way, and that I have always stood up for Governor Johnson, so now I think I have a right to be very proud of him. For thirty years I have been mixed in politics in St. Louis county, attending most of the state conventions, and for a number of years in the state senate, and I can truly say that I cannot recall a governor who has been so friendly and done so much for Duluth as Governor Johnson. The one who came nearest to him was Governor Nelson.

"We have always had to fight not only for everything we got, but have had to fight to prevent the rest of the state doing damage to that great northeastern part, where nature has done so much for manufacturing. Minnesotans have got to make up their minds that that cannot always continue to be simply consumers and producers, but have got to manufacture, and the day is soon at hand when the manufacturer has got to get nearer to his consumer, so that Northeastern Minnesota with its splendid water power and other advantages will be the place where they will locate.

"When I first went to the senate, eighteen years ago, they tried to put an unreasonable tonnage tax on iron ore and they have been at it ever since, and the northern part of the state, especially where low grade ores are being found, can thank its stars that a man like Governor Johnson had the power to protect them, and I know he did it because of his conscience, which has always been to do right."

Small or 35 Cent Size

Bottles of Armour's Malted Clams will make from fifteen to eighteen cups of bouillon or broth. One spoonful of the powder is all that is necessary to make a nutritious and appetizing drink. For sale by all grocers and druggists.

Sues for Son's Death.

Marquette, Mich., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Loeffler, having accidentally shot and killed John Baener while hunting in Delta county several years ago, Mrs. Anna Mullen, mother of the deceased, brought suit against him for damages for $5,000. The case has now been tried before Judge J. W. Stone in circuit court, with the result that the litigation will doubtless be dropped, the jury reporting a disagreement.

NORTH DAKOTA DOCTORS MEET AT FARGO MAY 11.

Fargo, N. D., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fargo will entertain the doctors of the state at their annual meeting to be held May 11 and 12. The president elected last year, D. H. Beaudeax, has since removed to St. Paul. Dr. H. J. Rowe of Casselton is secretary and in charge of the program. The organization has a large membership and anticipates a great attendance.

Do Not Show Your Age in Your Complexion

By DOROTHY VENN

(From San Francisco Examiner.)

What woman would not look young if she had a clear, soft complexion?

Perhaps the most wonderful skin treatment is one of the most simple. Dr. Takka Quoido, Japan's famous skin specialist, gives San Francisco women the following advice:

"Yes, we never grow old in Japan—I mean the women's faces never show age. All Japanese women use mayatone dissolved in witchhazel, and massage the solution thoroughly into the face, neck and arms once or twice a day. This treatment is absolutely harmless even to a baby's skin and gives wonderful results, removing all manner of facial blemishes. It also prevents the growth of hair. You never saw a Japanese woman with hair on her face.

"Take a small original package of mayatone and dissolve it all in eight ounces of witchhazel, and you are supplied with this aid to youth."

ON THE IRON RANGES

MANGLED BY CARS

E. C. Rudd of Virginia, Formerly of West Duluth, Killed.

Jumped From Moving Train After Bidding Friends Goodby.

Virginia, Minn., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The mangled body of E. C. Rudd, a Virginia saloon keeper was found by a switch engine crew about 10:30 last night on the tracks over which the Winnipeg train of the Rainy Lake road had passed about an hour before.

Rudd had gone to the depot to see some friends off for Ranier. It is presumed he remained on the train until it started and then attempted to step off slipping and going under the wheels. The body was found a short distance from the depot. The wheels evidently passed over the chest, cutting the trunk in two. The body was otherwise mutilated.

Rudd came here a little over two years ago from Hibbing. He formerly lived in West Duluth and the West end. He was about 35 years old and is survived by a wife and one small child.

LUNGES AT CHIEF WITH A BOTTLE

Aurora Austrian on a Rampage Is Jailed After a Hard Tussle.

Aurora, Minn., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Tillmans was busy yesterday with criminal cases.

John Bradish, an Austrian started trouble in Arko's saloon yesterday afternoon and the police were called. Marshals Witte and Lang made the arrest, but not before Bradish had struck at Witte with a beer bottle and was knocked to the floor in consequence. After a hard tussle he was landed in jail.

Frank Schultz, who stabbed Mikelson last Saturday, had his hearing yesterday and was bound over to the grand jury. Sheriff Bates took the prisoner to Virginia and his case will go before the grand jury.

Oscar Hoberg was fined $8 and costs for shooting holes through the door of a camp occupied by Italians. No one was hurt.

JUSTICE WHEELS BEGIN GRINDING

First Session of New Range Court Is On at Virginia.

Virginia, Minn., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first term of the new range district court opened today, with Judge Martin Hughes of Hibbing presiding.

The grand and petit jurors reported at 11 o'clock, and the grand jury was immediately charged and sent out to begin its sessions. County Attorney John A. Norton and Assistant County Attorney James P. Boyle are in charge of the grand jury.

The calendar for the first term consists of about thirty-two cases, a number of which are for trial by the court. The jury cases will be first taken up and disposed of. The grand jury has only a few cases for consideration, and the indictments for the term will probably be reported tomorrow. As soon as the civil actions are disposed of, the criminal matters will be tried and the court cases, including divorces, will be taken up last.

Deputy Clerk C. G. Holloway and Deputy Sheriff W. H. Oppell, who will be the resident officers of the new court, have offices in the city hall, and the court sessions are being held in the council chamber. Plans are being prepared for remodelling the city hall, so as to provide commodious quarters for the new court, but it will be somewhat cramped for room during the first term. By the time the July term meets it will be well housed.

Eveleth Lodge to Celebrate.

Eveleth, Minn., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—In celebration of the nineteenth anniversary of the beginning of Odd Fellowship, the local lodge will have a special celebration tonight at the Monitor hall. A fine program has been arranged.

WATER FLOODS MINE PIT.

Bray Mine Near Nashwauk Has to Close Temporarily.

Nashwauk, Minn., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Bray mine, located three miles east of here, has closed down, owing to water which has flooded the pit. Work will be resumed as soon as the pumps arrive and the water can be taken out.

The Nashwauk band attended a ball at Keewatin, Saturday night. Many from here also enjoyed themselves, dancing.

Rev. Henry Hulme arrived Saturday, after a weeks' visit at Hibbing.

James Linndy has been called to his home in Michigan, where his father is seriously ill.

Ole Reine spent Sunday with friends at Bovey.

Louis Shurman was a passenger to Duluth Sunday morning.

EVELETH GREETS COUPLE.

Alderman E. H. and Mrs. Hatch, Newlyweds, Escorted Through City.

Eveleth, Minn., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Alderman E. H. Hatch and his bride, who were married last Tuesday at the home of the bride's parents in Duluth returned last night and were met at the depot by a large number of friends who had a carriage waiting for them.

As soon as they were seated in the carriage a banner was hung on the sides reading:

"Mr. and Mrs. Hatch. The Newlyweds. Loversville."

The carriage was driven through all the streets while kind friends on the carriage made known the presence of the couple by ringing cowbells continuously. After driving around for about an hour the couple were driven to the home of Supt Hearding, where Mr. and Mrs. Hatch will probably remain until their home next door is completely furnished.

An informal dance was given last night at Fayal hall in honor of the couple.

LOSE BASEBALL PARK.

Virginia Will Not Be Able to Have Team This Year.

Virginia, Minn., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Virginia will have no baseball team this season. The action of the school meeting Saturday night in authorizing the school board to choose a site for the new high school building means that the building will be located on block 51, which is now the baseball park. The Baseball association was given orders last week to remove the fence and stand and the order will probably be complied with this week.

The new school will probably be located on the northern part of what is now the baseball park. The board plans to secure about 100 feet to the south of the present tract to make up for the land taken for the school and the big open field will be used as a playground.

A site for a baseball park is said to be available in the north end of town, but it is not likely that any action will be taken this year, as it is now too late to consider the preparation of a new field for use this season.

MRS. RYAN'S FUNERAL.

Following Services at Hibbing Body Is Taken to Moorhead.

Hibbing, Minn., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Episcopal church was crowded this morning when the funeral services for Mrs. P. J. Ryan, wife of the county commissioner, were held at 10:30, the large number present testifying to the esteem in which the woman was held and the general regret over her sad death.

Following the services the body was taken to Moorhead, Minn., for interment. Mrs. Samuel Frazer of Kansas City, mother of the deceased, arrived yesterday for the funeral.

ORGANIZE CHORAL SOCIETY.

Chisholm Finns Are Rehearsing for an Entertainment.

Chisholm, Minn., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—A choral society has been organized by about 200 Finns and they are rehearsing regularly under Iver Ahomen of Hibbing, preparatory to giving an entertainment.

A supper and sale was given at Porin's hall last night to raise money to pay for a chorister, and $75 was netted for the purpose.

W. G. Shane, who started in business here when the village began eight years ago, will leave shortly with his family for Grand Lodge, Mich., where he will establish himself in business. Mr. Shane sold his business here to Tripp & Klaas, Hibbing jewelers, and his building to Supt. R. Mitchell of the Monroe-Tener and Chisholm mines.

WARNER, ALDERMAN; LAWRENCE, ATTORNEY.

Two Harbors, Minn., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—C. F. Warner, alderman from the Second ward to succeed J. W. Brownell, resigned; D. H. Lawrence, city attorney; Dr. J. D. Budd, health officer; George L. Raper, and Charles Yernberg, members of the board of health, were all elected by the city council last night.

The contest between John Dwan and Mr. Lawrence for city attorney was a close one, and it became so warm that Alderman Brownell, as told in The Herald, resigned rather than make an enemy of either candidate.

A resolution was passed naming the Iron Trade Journal official paper for two years. A resolution was passed providing for another patrolman, and Martin Landmark was appointed to the position.

MAY ELECT SUCCESSOR TO PRESIDENT WEIRICK.

Hibbing, Minn., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the council meeting tonight it is possible a successor may be chosen to President Weirick, who resigned, it is stated, because his appointments were turned down.

The resignation was laid on the table when received, but may be called up, as it is recognized the village cannot run without an acknowledged head.

Councilman Frank Ansley and Max Rogalsky, councilman last year, have been mentioned freely as possible successors to Dr. Weirick.

GIVEN BAD BEATING FOR DEMANDING MONEY.

Virginia, Minn., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—When Mike Currie appeared in municipal court to complain against Frank McMillan, who was charged with assault, his face was a sight. His features were almost indistinguishable beneath a mass of cuts and bruises. McMillan, who is a foreman in a lumber camp, pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and costs. Currie, who is a lumberman, said he loaned McMillan $50 some time ago. When he sought a repayment, he was rewarded with a severe beating.

The hungry schoolboy who played ball so hard that he fell asleep waiting for supper, and then dreamed he was at a feast, suddenly awoke to the realization of his dream.

SOAP OUT OF DATE.

Soap out of date?

That certainly sounds startling in these days of cleanliness and hygiene; but the introduction of such a soap powder as Gold Dust has made the slow-dissolving cake of soap a "back number."

The reason is simple.

Until soap is dissolved it can not soften water or remove dirt. The cake must be cut up and dissolved to make a "soft soap" before it is really effective for washing clothes while the fine grains of Gold Dust being so small, dissolve at once. Besides, Gold Dust has a double reaction in water; it dissolves the hard lime, etc., to make the water soft, and in so doing is instantly dissolved itself. Therefore, Gold Dust is the most convenient, as well as the best cleanser—for clothes and everything.

STUDENTS PLAN HOWARD COMEDY

Virginia Seniors to Tackle Piece Rendered By Famous Actors.

Virginia, Minn., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The seniors of the Virginia high school will present as the annual class play this year "Saratoga, or Pistols for Seven." The play is a pretentious effort for the students but they are rehearsing daily and expect to give it an adequate production in about a month. It is a well-known comedy, such stars as Fanny Davenport, James Lewis and Clara Morris having appeared in it during the years of its professional presentation.

The cast of characters is as follows, seventeen of the players being members of the senior class and the minor roles being taken by students of the lower classes:

Robert Sackett, who loved not wisely but "four" well, Lambert S. Gill.

Jack Benedict, a chip of the regular sort, Charles Butler.

Sir Mortimer Muttonleg, the pride of the piazzas, Gerald C. Roskilly.

Muffins, an exile of the period, Lulu M. Martin.

Lilly Livingstone and Ag. Ogden, the glory of "Marvins," Viola M. Slavick and Mary M. Savoland, respectively.

Mrs. Gaylover, Saratoga knows her well, Agnes J. Hovland.

Lucy Carter, the bride of the period, Ray Simons.

Ruth Ronkins, cousin of Virginia, Anna Staff.

Mrs. Vanderpool, a mother of the period, Emiline A. Wilkes.

Olivia Alston, the widow of the period, Gertrude Steinberg.

The Hon. William Carter, a relic of the "Old School," Stephen B. Quayle.

The artist at the academy, Ida Schmelling.

Cornelius Wetherthree, the old bachelor, John P. Bonner.

Papa Vanderpool, the parent of the period, Everett R. Lindsay.

Remington, traveling for pleasure and never finding it, George J. Meehan.

Frederick Augustus Carter, the youth of the period, Warwick Martin.

Frank Littlefield, the lover of this or any other period, Arthur J. Morrell.

Virginia Vanderpool, the pet of the "Union," Bertha G. Smith.

Effie Remington, the belle of the "Union," the pride of the Saratoga season, up to larks and in for everything awful, Gertrude M. De Noble.

Tilly, Pussy, Larks, Mister, children of the period, Helen McDonald, Lillie Klemetsmo, Cora Nelson, Byron J. Vail.

Colored waiters of the future, present and past, Gyp, Poet, Clover, Man, George Washington, Morris M. Friedman, Charles W. Lundmark, Alfred T. Logue, Vernon C. Johnson, Samuel L. Cohen.

Guests, promenaders, etc.

EVELETH COMMITTEE IS FOR CREOSOTE PAVING.

Eveleth, Minn., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The paving committees of the city council and business men, composed of Alderman Shea, Millette, Mayor Smith, Charles Jesmore and John Glade, returned yesterday from Minneapolis, St. Paul and Chicago, after inspecting the various kinds of paving. City Clerk McIntyre also in the party, returned today. They examined much paving while away, but the committee think that the best paving for Eveleth would be creosote, and this is what will no doubt be decided on at a meeting soon to be held by the property owners on Grant avenue.

AGONY OF ECZEMA BEYOND WORDS

Whole Body a Mass of Raw, Torturing Humor—Hair All Fell Out and Ears Seemed Ready to Drop Off — Clothing Would Stick to Bleeding Flesh—Hoped Death Would End Fearful Suffering.

CASE SEEMED HOPELESS BUT CUTICURA CURED HER

"Words cannot describe the terrible eczema I suffered with. It broke out on my head and kept spreading until it covered my whole body. I was almost a solid mass of sores from head to foot. I looked more like a piece of raw beef than a human being. The pain and agony I endured seemed more than I could bear. Blood and pus oozed from the great sore on my scalp, from under my finger nails, and nearly all over my body. My ears were so crusted and swollen I was afraid they would break off. Every hair in my head fell out. I could not sit down, for my clothes would stick to the raw and bleeding flesh, making me cry out from the pain. My family doctor did all he could, but I got worse and worse. My condition was awful. I did not think I could live, and wanted death to come and end my frightful sufferings.

"In this condition my mother-in-law begged me to try the Cuticura Remedies. I said I would, but had no hope of recovery. But oh, what blessed relief I experienced after applying Cuticura Ointment. It cooled the bleeding and itching flesh and brought me the first real sleep I had had in weeks. It was as grateful as ice to a burning tongue. I would bathe with warm water and Cuticura Soap, then apply the Ointment freely. I also took Cuticura Resolvent for the blood. In a short time the sores stopped running, the flesh began to heal, and I knew I was to get well again. Then the hair on my head began to grow, and in a short time I was completely cured. I cannot praise Cuticura enough. I wish I could tell everybody who has eczema to use Cuticura. My condition was so terrible that what cured me cannot fail to cure annybody of this awful disease. If any one doubts the truth of this letter, tell them to write to me. Mrs. William Hunt, 135 Thomas street, Newark, N. J., Sept. 28, 1908."

Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent (liquid or pill) are sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston, Mass.

WHITING GETS THEATER.

Eveleth, Minn., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—F. C. Whiting, the owner of the Virginia Orpheum theater, who recently figured in an assault case in the Virginia court, growing out of his attempts to oust Smith & Dees, who claim a verbal lease on the property, won a victory in Judge W. E. Moylan's court here yesterday, when a jury after hearing the evidence, found for Whiting.

WOMAN CUTS HER THROAT.

Delirious on Account of Sickness, Mrs. Dropacosco Ends Troubles.

Chisholm, Minn., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Delirious on account of illness, Mrs. J. Dropacosco, living on the Buhl road, about a mile east of here, cut her throat with a razor some time Sunday night, her dead body being found yesterday morning.

A coroner's inquest held here last night found that the woman came to her death by her own act. She is survived by her husband and four children, the eldest being 12.

To Benefit Ball Club.

Eveleth, Minn., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—A benefit performance will be given Saturday afternoon at the Lyceum theater for the White Sox baseball team, which will be known in the future as the Lyceums, and F. E. Carpenter, manager of the Lyceum theater, will back the team. At a meeting of the Civic league last night Edward L. Briggs of Minneapolis spoke. He is a state prohibition committeeman.

Young Life Is Ended.

Virginia, Minn., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—George Fortin, aged 2½ years, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Fortin of 115 Oak street, died yesterday morning. The funeral was held this morning from the Polish Catholic church, with interment in Calvary cemetery.

Gilbert Couple Wedded.

Eveleth, Minn., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Florien Hafner and Mary Travven of Gilbert, were married yesterday morning at the Holy Family church, by Father Bilban, in the presence of many friends.

Blind Piggers Off Easy.

Eveleth, Minn., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nick Paukovich, Matt Phillpovich and Joe Sapin, arraigned in municipal court for running blind pigs, pleaded guilty. Sentence was suspended on their promise to pay the costs of the prosecution.

MAJ. H. V. EVA IS HONORED

Guardsmen Present Gold Medal at Banquet Given for Officer.

At a banquet given in his honor at the Commercial club last evening, Maj. H. V. Eva of the Third Regiment of the Minnesota National Guard, was presented with a gold medal as a token of appreciation for his twenty years of service with the organization. The banquet was attended by all the officers of Companies A, C and E, of Duluth, and the regimental officers who reside in this city.

Maj. Eva joined the national guard a little over twenty years ago, entering the ranks as a private. As a further testimony of the esteem in which the major is held, he was presented with a fine electric reading lamp by the enlisted men of the three Duluth companies.

The keynote of the banquet was good fellowship. Every officer present was called upon for a speech and all testified to the great work Maj. Eva has accomplished for the national guard during his long period of service.

INDIAN SCHOOL MAY BE TURNED OVER TO STATE.

Lansing, Mich., April 27.—A movement is on foot for converting the federal school for Indians in Mount Pleasant, Mich., into a state home for crippled and dependent children. There have been frequent rumors that the institution was in danger of being dropped from the list of government Indian schools, and State Senator Moriarity has taken up with United States Senator Burrows the question of having the Federal government deed the property over to the state of Michigan.

FIRST CARGO BEING LOADED

Tower Lumber Company Loading Sixty Carloads at Two Harbors.

Two Harbors, Minn., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Tower Lumber company has commenced loading sixty carloads of lumber for boat shipment from this port.

This will be the first lumber cargo of the season.

The Colvin & Robb company have about 12,000 cords of pulpwood here to ship by boat to Erie, Pa.

REGRET TO LOSE HIM.

Eveleth Hates to See Supt. Hearding Leave the City.

Eveleth, Minn., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—While rejoicing over the promotion that has come to Supt. J. H. Hearding of the Adams-Spruce mines, who has been made assistant general manager of the Oliver Iron Mining company with headquarters at Duluth, the people here will be rather sorry to see him leave May 1, as he has always taken an active party in local matters, being president of the Commercial club for several years, member of the poor board, county board, and school capacities, doing much for the in other town.

He has been a resident of Eveleth for many years, being one of the first about thirteen settlers in the town, steadily worked years ago. He has evidenced his way up and has always he has deep insight in all matters that have taken hold of. All the men who been in the employ of the Oliver Mining company here and have come in contact with Hearding are loud in their praises of him, and are sorry to see him leave, though they are glad he has been advanced to such a high position.

What changes the advancement of Supt. Hearding will make in the local officials is not known, though it is thought that Capt. Thomas Davey may become superintendent.

HEARDING WILL SUCCEED McLEAN

Eveleth Man Becomes Assistant Manager of Oliver Company.

J. H. Hearding of Eveleth, for a number of years superintendent of the Adams and Spruce mines of the Oliver Iron Mining company, was yesterday made assistant general manager of the company, to succeed John H. McLean, promoted from assistant general manager to the position of general manager.

J. H. HEARDING.

The action was taken at a meeting of officials of the Oliver Iron Mining held in the Wolvin building company yesterday afternoon.

The promotion of Mr. Hearding will result in his being located in Duluth. Mr. Hearding is well known to mining men, and the news of his promotion will come as a matter of gratification to his many friends upon the ranges and in Duluth.

The change will take effect May 1.

SAM WOOD IS REPUDIATED

He Has No Authority to Represent Governor Johnson.

St. Paul, Minn., April 27.—Sam H. Wood, formerly of Evanston, Ill., and just now of Minneapolis, who landed a column in the Chicago Sunday papers and also slight mention by the Associated Press, as the advance guard of the Johnson presidential boom for 1912, is without credentials.

"Just say that we repudiate the whole thing," said Frank A. Day yesterday.

"And you might add that this Wood is crazy," said Fred B. Lynch, Democratic national committeeman from Minnesota, who was an interested listener. "I think I have in my possession some correspondence that will dispose of that fellow."

"We were bothered by him last summer," he added, "but he did not get far. His connection with any boom for Governor Johnson is all rot, and I am surprised that the Chicago papers fell for him."

TWENTY FIVE ARE INDICTED

Put to Death in Mexico for Religious Rioting.

Durango, Mex., April 27.—Official reports of the recent rioting in Velardena following the stopping by the municipal authorities of a religious parade show that no less than twenty-five men were executed after summary trial by court martial for participation in the rioting.

Besides these, seven men were killed during the rioting and forty more are still in prison awaiting trial.

O'CONNOR APPOINTED

To Succeed Halverson on the State Highway Commission.

St. Paul, Minn., April 27.—Timothy O'Connor was yesterday appointed a member of the state highway commission to succeed Charles Halverson. Mr. Halverson was recently named to the state board of control. Mr. O'Connor is one of the Democratic wheelhorses of Minnesota and was prominent in the late campaign.

FIRE IS FOUND UNDER NEW BATTLESHIP'S BOWS.

New York, April 17.—Excitement was created in the New York navy yard in Brooklyn today when fire was discovered under the bows of the battleship Florida, under construction. Investigation showed the ways had caught fire, probably from a hot rivet dropped by one of the workmen. An orderly, who discovered the fire, and a sentry, used a chemical extinguisher to such good effect that the fire engines, on arrival, had nothing to do, and work was resumed on the battleship.

manding arms with which to kill the Glauors. We then went to the telegraph office to summon the British consul. On the steps of the building we saw three Armenians who had been massacred. Their bodies had been mutilated. While we were in the telegraph office a mob burst into the room where we were and killed two Armenians before our eyes. The unfortunates were supplicating the protection of the Vali when they were struck down.

Situation Grows Worse.

"We managed to make our way into the next room, where we made representations to the vali. This official said he could do nothing. He was afraid of his own life and made no attempt to protect us. Somehow we managed to get to the interior of the Konak, where we remained at the side of the government officials for the next forty-eight hours.

"That afternoon the situation grew distinctly worse. The Armenians withdrew to their quarter of Adana, which is situated on a hill, and converted their houses that held advantageous positions into fortresses. Here the fighting went on for two days, in which the Armenians succeeded in beating off their Turkish assailants.

"Wednesday evening Maj. Daughty-Wylie, the British vice consul at Mersina, arrived at Adana and established headquarters in the house of a dragoman of a wealthy Greek resident, where many refugees had been received. The wife of the British vice consul, who was brought into Adana under fire Thursday, tended personally many wounded women and children.

"Adana was a hell. The beggars looted and set on fire. There was continued and increasing shooting and killing in every part of the town, and fires raged in many quarters.

"Moslems from the neighborhood began pouring into the city, and, notwithstanding our vehement protests, the Vali distributed arms to these men, alleging that they were Turkish reserves.

Shot and Disabled.

"Maj. Daughty-Wylie, at the head of troops which he compelled the Vali to supply, went to the other end of town and was successful in preventing the villagers from coming into Adana. Later, while the major was attempting to pacify the town, he was shot and disabled.

"Missionaries of the Central Turkey mission had assembled for a district conference in the center of Adana, on the day of the outbreak. They received and protected hundreds of refugees in the American seminary for girls, and courageously endeavored to pacify the warring elements.

"Thursday Daniel Miner Rogers and Henry Maurer, American missionaries, were killed under treacherous circumstances.

"Friday the Armenians yielded, since when there has been little murdering.

"Adana is in a pitiable condition. The town has been pillaged and destroyed, and there are thousands of homeless people here without means of livelihood. It is impossible to estimate the number of killed. The corpses lie scattered through the streets. Friday, when I went out, I had to pick my way between the dead. Saturday morning I counted a dozen cartloads of Armenian bodies in one-half hour being carried to the river and thrown into the water. In the Turkish cemeteries graves are being dug by the wholesale.

"The condition of the refugees is most pitiable. Not only are there orphans and widows beyond number, but a great many, even the babies, are suffering from severe wounds.

"The situation in Adana itself is unspeakable. Friday afternoon 250 so-called Turkish reserves, without officers, seized a train at Adana and compelled the engineer to convey them to Tarsus, where they took part in the destruction of the Armenian quarter, which is the best part of Tersus. Their work of looting was thorough and rapid. It is said that they fired the great historic Armenian church at Tarsus, the most important building in the city. They demolished marble statues and shattered important historic tablets. Everything portable was carried away, but the church itself resisted their attempts to burn it. Fortunately, few persons were killed there. This was owing to the proximity of the American college, where 4,000 destitute and homeless persons had sought and found shelter."

Who Rev. Gibbons Is.

New York, April 27.—Rev. Herbert Adams Gibbons, who gives the first story of an eye witness of the pillage and slaughter going on in the interior of Turkey, is a teacher in St. Paul's institute at Tarsus, a college of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, of which Rev. Thomas B. Christie is president. The college was founded by Christie, who was appointed missionary by the American board immediately after his graduation from Andover, Mass., theological seminary, in 1877. Gibbons is not over 24 or 25 years old and recently graduated from the University of Pennsylvania and Princeton theological seminary. He studied for a year in Paris and then went to Tarsus to teach in the American college, as St. Paul's college is generally known. His wife was formerly Miss Helen D. Brown of Hartford, Conn.

Mersina, Tarsus and Adana are closely linked in the mission work. It is under the direction of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, who have sent a large force of missionaries, many of them accompanied by their wives, into this district. Rev. William N. Chambers, with his wife and three other American women, conduct the work at Adana, while Christie, Mrs. Christie, and Dr. Gibbons and his wife, have their headquarters at Tarsus. There are other nearby stations and fifty-two outstations. The extent of the work is shown by the fact that the average attendance at the station meetings is 14,630, and the number of Sunday school pupils 15,099.

CURES ECZEMA QUICKLY

New Discovery Has Revolutionized the Treatment of Skin Diseases.

Nothing in the history of medicine has ever approached the success of the marvelous skin remedy known as poslam, which, it is safe to say, has cured more cases of eczema and skin diseases than any remedy ever offered for these ills.

The success of poslam is not at all surprising when it is considered that even a very small quantity applied to the skin stops itching immediately and cures chronic cases in two weeks. The very worst cases of eczema, as well as acne, herpes, tetter, piles, salt rheum, rash, crusted humors, scaly scalp and every form of itch, yield to it readily. Blemishes such as pimples, red noses, muddy and inflamed skin disappear almost immediately when poslam is applied, the complexion being cleared over night.

Every druggist keeps both the 50-cent size (for minor troubles) and the $2 jar, and either of these may be obtained at the Lyceum pharmacy and W. A. Abbett's in Duluth and Holmberg's in Superior, as well as other reliable drug stores.

But no one is even asked to purchase poslam without first obtaining an experimental package which will be sent by mail, free of charge, upon request, by the Emergency Laboratories, 32 West Twenty-fifth street, New York City.

UNION LABEL BANQUET

Members of Women's League Give an Enjoyable Spread.

Dr. Mary McCoy Talks on "Child Labor"—Howley Speaks.

With an array of good speakers, a sumptuous spread and an enjoyable dance program, the first annual banquet of the Women's Union Label league at Kalamazoo hall, last evening, was a decided success.

George B. Howley, president of the state federation of labor, was present and delivered an address. Other speakers were Dr. Mary McCoy, whose address on "Child Labor" was one of the features of the evening; Charles F. Keeley, Mrs. K. Dempsey and James F. Walsh.

In the course of his remarks, Mr. Howley spoke of the good work that has been done by the Women's Union Label leagues of the state since they have been formed, and of the importance of the union label.

He urged all his hearers to insist upon the union label when purchasing goods, declaring that if this were universally observed there would be no need of boycotts, and Samuel Gompers and other officials of the American Federation of Labor would never have been thrown into the difficulties which attracted such wide attention.

In her address, Dr. McCoy dealt exclusively with the problem of child labor. She said, in part:

"One quarter of the textile operators in the South are under 16 years of age. Two thousand girls under 13 are doing night work in Pennsylvania. Ninety-two thousand children of 13 and under are employed in New York state. On the pay rolls they are not even called children—they are 'hands.' Their bodies and what can be done with them are all that attract the manufacturer. For him the rest of their little persons—the youth which is suppressed within them, and the soul which not even greed can attain—are of minor consequence. Mrs. Van Vorst in 'The Cry of the Children' says that there are children working in the mills who are not yet 14 years old—and doing night work at that.

Few Evils Here.

"We here in Duluth, where we have so few factories, are not so directly concerned, but I dare say that even in our own factories, if we searched for them, there are many evils that could be abolished. I felt when I first began to read of child labor that it was too horrible to be true, but when such authors as Florence Kelly, Mrs. Van Vorst, Senator Beveridge and others began to lift their voices to declare that they could not picture the evils strongly enough, I thought that every man and woman in America must do away with such a disgrace. The combined losses of both the Russians and Japanese in their war are not as great as the number of American children who are worked to death or made degenerates every year in the mills, mines and sweatshops of our country.

"Aside from the barbarity of American child labor, the effect upon the nation is as terrible as it is certain. England found this out when she enlisted her soldiers for the Boer war. Her people had been so debilitated by 129 years of child labor in the mines and factories that not only England, but the whole civilized world was shocked.

"More than 1,000,000 American children are dying of overwork, or are being forever stunted and dwarfed in body, mind and soul. We are pouring every year into the body of our citizenship 250,000 degenerates who have clouded minds and a burning hatred of the society that has wronged them. When you men, who do the voting and are responsible for the laws, realize that child labor brings man's wages down to the level of child's wages, perhaps you will stir yourselves to right conditions and make an end of this national disgrace.

"If we pass a national law making it a crime punishable by fine and imprisonment for any manufacturer that employs child labor to ship his products over the railroads there would be an end to child labor in America. These laws would not have to depend upon the vigilance and conscience of every good man and woman in the nation."

There were several short addresses. At the conclusion of the banquet, there was dancing.

HIRES EXPERTS FOR NEW WORK

State Labor Commissioner Gets Two on Employers' Liability.

St. Paul, Minn., April 27.—Members of the new employers' liability commission, named Saturday by Governor John A. Johnson, were in communication yesterday, and will have their first meeting soon. Plans for the commission's work, however, have already been discussed by the three members of the commission, who have been working together on the proposition for the past six months.

Because the appropriations were cut to $5,000, the work first planned cannot all be carried out, and Labor Commissioner W. E. McEwen will furnish considerable of the material for the commission by the work of experts employed in his department. He has engaged Don D. Lescohier of Madison, Wis., an expert in economic statistics, who will enter the employ of the labor bureau May 1. He is a University of Wisconsin product and has done some reliable work in that state.

McKitrick Engaged.

Mr. McEwen has also obtained the temporary services of R. McKitrick, assistant to Dr. C. C. McCarthy of the Wisconsin legislative reference bureau. He has done much research work on the subject of industrial insurance, collecting the information about systems in foreign countries, and will work for two months here, helping to give the Minnesota commission a start.

Until data as to accidents and benefits have been collected to work from, the commission's time will be devoted largely to studying workingmen's compensation acts of foreign countries, and the constitutional features of the question, which will determine how far it is possible to go in the proposed Minnesota law. The amount of the appropriation will hardly justify a trip abroad for the commission, or the employment of a paid secretary, though this is authorized by the law. It is probable that most of the $5,000 allowed for the work will be spent on the salary of an actuary, who will take the accident data secured and begin some time next year to work out the schedule of benefits and assessments.

Are Official Representatives.

The commissioners represent three interests, the employers, the employes and the bar. Each one has an official connection with his "constituents." George M. Gillette of Minneapolis is president of the Minnesota Employers' association. W. E. McEwen is state labor commissioner and secretary of the Minnesota Federation of Labor. H. V. Mercer of Minneapolis is chairman of the Minnesota Bar association's committee on law reform and adjudication, which was directed at the last annual meeting to frame an act on the subject. This committee worked hard on the subject, but found its data too limited to draft a proper bill for the 1909 legislature, and while engaged in this work came into conference with the employers and employes. These conferences resulted in the petition to Governor Johnson and his special message urging the legislature to create such a commission.

Mr. McEwen said yesterday that he intended to name an advisory committee of leading men in organized labor, which will be consulted from time to time in the progress of the work. A similar committee may be made up from the employers of labor.

LET US COUNSEL TOGETHER.

The Herald notes with the keenest interest that a considerable number of newspapers in Southern and Western Minnesota are denying with some heat that the people of those sections are "hostile" to the people of Northeastern Minnesota, or that they have any desire to "oppress" any section or anybody.

We hope they will do more talking along those lines. In all probability, these denials are somewhere near the truth. It is inconceivable that any considerable element of the population in any part of the state feels bitterly toward the people of any other part of the state. Yet beyond any question, the impression in this region that such sentiments exist is deep-set, and there are reasons for that belief.

What is needed is that all parts of the state, north as well as south, should set themselves at work to remove these reasons and eradicate those impressions. There is no economical or other reasonable excuse for their existence. The state is the worse for them in every way. The state's interests are one and indivisible. Any attempt at division of these interests is a grievous mistake that harms all sections. A house divided against itself cannot stand.

While there are vigorous denials of sectional dissension from other parts of the state, the fact remains that if it had not been for Governor Johnson's keen perception and sturdy stand for justice, there would have been perpetrated upon the people of this section a system of taxation that would have amounted to levying tribute upon one part of the state for the benefit of another part. Though a great majority of the members of the legislature admitted the wrong in this measure, their excuse for voting for it was that "their people demanded it," and that they dared not vote their own convictions when they ran counter to the convictions of their constituents. We prefer to believe, for the present, that these legislators were mistaken and that they misrepresented the demands of their people. What the people of all parts of the state really wish is that all interests, great and small, shall pay their fair share of the taxes; and the legislator who distorted that wish into an insatiate demand for sectional plunder was libelling his constituents.

In the matter of reapportionment the burden of blame rests upon the lawmakers who stood in the way of fair play, and should not be placed upon the shoulders of their constituents. It is unthinkable that the people of Southern Minnesota wish the north to remain under its present burden of unfair representation. The trouble was that the men that Southern Minnesota had sent to the legislature refused to consent to a reapportionment that would give justice to the north, because that involved interference with their own districts, and possibly the loss of their own places. So far as this is concerned, The Herald is unable to see where the state would be the loser if men who placed their own interests higher than those of the state itself were retired to the private life from which they had been most mistakenly removed by their election to the legislature.

There is a very obvious need that the state should get together; that those of the north who believe that Southern Minnesota sits up nights thinking up ways to oppress this section should be disabused of that idea; and that those of the south—and elsewhere—who believe that some gigantic trust controls every impulse of every citizen of the northeastern part of the state should be taught differently. The state's progress must be slow so long as its efforts to go ahead are impeded by sectional misunderstanding and strife. It will get ahead much faster when a common understanding is brought about, when all parts work for the common good, and when the state as a whole works for the upbuilding of all its parts.

TAXATION NOT FOR PUNISHMENT.

Taxation is not for punishment. The sovereign power of taxation is not conferred by the people upon their representatives for the purpose of punishing any industry, class or section. The foundation theory of taxation is absolute equality and justice to the humblest and mightiest alike.—Governor Johnson.

Here are weighty words of reason. Honor and integrity rest with the people of Minnesota. Get down to bed rock, and you will strike these qualities in the people of this state, just as one finds them at the bottom with most peoples of the earth. But shortsightedness and prejudice often sway men's minds, and such qualities are especially strong when men have been made to suffer grievously. So we have found prejudice and the spirit of revenge influencing men in Minnesota to demand a peculiar sort of taxation.

Nobody will deny that it is the spirit of distrust of the trusts and the feeling that an opportunity was open to "get even" with the trusts, that has given the tonnage tax bill its strength in Minnesota. There are thousands of people in Minnesota even today who never dream of the tonnage tax as affecting anybody but the United States Steel corporation, the author of the tonnage tax bill actually excused the injustice of his bill on the ground that it was directed against "the rich foreign owner" of ore, while the only argument that was used in scores upon scores of Minnesota newspapers in favor of the bill was that it was aimed at "the steel trust." It is perfectly patent to every one that if all the iron ore in Minnesota were owned by the people of Minnesota, the tonnage tax bill would never have been so much as conceived of.

These are facts, facts which the state at large did not perhaps think of. It is called to a realization of the true meaning of its attitude by Governor Johnson's plain statement of the sound doctrine of taxation. Taxation is not for punishment, but "the theory of taxation is absolute equality and justice to the humblest and the mightiest alike."

WHAT JIM PATTEN FOUND OUT.

Patten says that he is not a speculator, but a business man, that he did not gamble in grain, but that he studied the situation and found out that the country is not producing enough wheat. So he bought wheat.

While we may be inclined to question his claim that he is not a gambler in wheat, we ought to take to heart one thing that Jim Patten found out. He found out that the country is averaging a yield of only ten bushels per acre.

Ten bushels of wheat per acre from the rich prairie lands of the Northwest! Few lands in all the world so rich in productive elements as these; yet only ten bushels per acre. When man first put the plow to these fertile prairies, he scratched the surface with it and sat down and let nature work until the summer time when he took off a crop of 35 to 45 bushels per acre. Now he plows deeper and gets but ten.

What Jim Patten found out should be morning and evening thought for every farmer. It is the thing we have been hearing so much about from agricultural teachers of late, it is the text of nearly every interview which our farmer-railroad president, James J. Hill, has been giving out these past two years and more, it is the subject of considerable thought and some attempts at legislation, it is practically the only matter of real importance with which the legislature of 1909 in Minnesota concerned itself.

Says the Sioux City Tribune: "From the Genesse valley to Manitoba the earth rewarded the farmer with a yield of wheat ranging from 30 to 45 bushels per acre. For thousands of years nature had been storing up in the soil the fertility that made this yield possible. How did the farmers treat their inheritance? By maintaining this fertility? By returning to the land what the crop took from it? Did they not all claim that the fertility was inexhaustible? Did they not grasp more and more acres to raise wheat on? Did not congress feed land hunger—land greed is the truer term—by giving quarter section homesteads? How could the farmer keep up the fertility of such an area? He didn't. And he saw his fields giving yearly less and less return. Then he sold out and went to fresh land and repeated the process."

A faithful picture from Iowa of what also happened in Minnesota and the Dakotas and of what is now happening in the great Canadian Northwest. The day of this thing is not yet done in Minnesota, and unless we mend our way, if Jim Patten studies the situation two years hence he may find that we are raising less than ten bushels of wheat per acre.

Ten years ago there were great bonanza farms in the Red River valley. Millionaires owned them and ran them for what there was in it ten years ago. Every settler had 160 acres of land, but it did not content him and he mortgaged it and bought the adjoining 160 acres. Did he have a good crop, he took the proceeds and applied it as partial payment on the remainder of the section. Soon he was land poor. He had neither the equipment, the money or the men with which to more than scratch so big a farm. Putting anything back was out of the question. So he scraped the surface until a bad year or two or three in succession made his huge farm too great a burden and the mortgage companies got it. They, too, farmed it for what they could get out of it ten years ago. They rented it out, and the renter farmed it for what he could get out of it ten years ago. Nobody had any permanent interest in the soil. Everybody took out greedily. Nobody put back.

The soil of the Northwest is still wonderfully fertile, but we have learned that we must put back as well as take out. Hence the cry for intensive farming. If we do not heed it we shall have ten, eight, six bushels per acre, and more Jim Pattens.

What Jim Patten found out is the significant thing in the farm life of the Northwest today.

REVALUING THE CITY.

The work of revaluing the real estate of the city, which has been begun by the city assessor, will to a large extent have to wait the levying of a tax for that purpose and the collection of the needed revenue, under a ruling given to the city council last night by the city attorney.

It is unfortunate that the work must be delayed, because it would have been an excellent thing if it could have been completed in time for next year's real estate assessment. When it is done, it should be done thoroughly, because it is an expensive operation, and it is performed none too often at the best. Last year some attempt at a revaluation was made, taking in the sections in which more conspicuous increases in values had come about, but it is impossible to make a thorough overhauling in the regular assessment year, and a complete revaluation of all the land and buildings in the city has not been made for many years. The result is, in spite of ill-equipped attempts to correct conditions, that some parts are valued too highly, the trend of growth not having come up to the expectations that fixed values in former years, while others are still too low because of the irregular manner in which property values have advanced.

The time has come when every piece of property and every building in the city should be carefully revalued, and it is to be hoped that the money necessary to do it will become available as soon as may be.

HOTEL GOSSIP.

A. J. Shea has returned to Duluth from a trip through the dreary and unpromising territory of the state of Arkansas. Unlike the Western and Coast country, there is apparently a different story to tell of the progress of that part of the country where Arkansas was surveyed.

It is a poor farming country at the best, according to the view Mr. Shea took of the country through which he traveled. Arkansas is one of the few parts of the country that is not progressing under the flood if immigration that is coming to the United States. In this rush Mr. Shea says that the people who are flocking here from Europe have kept away from Arkansas.

The man from Eveleth says some of the people down in that part of the country are not aware that the war is over. A rebel has the same sacred meaning to them as in the days when even Arkansas families were split by the great problem of the North and the South.

Some of those ancient grudges are kept alive by hate, and a "Yank" is the same hated person to many of these old men down on Arkansas soil, as a Jew is to the bigoted hatred of the Russian nation.

Mr. Shea says the farms are poor, and that there is little development. There is the Southern pine lumber industry, but the prosperity of the people is very low compared to other parts of the country. And after traveling through that part of the country, Mr. Shea says it is really good to get back to a part of the country where they do things, and where the industry of the people is normal and healthy.

August Granberg of Cook stated at the McKay yesterday, that if the advice given to the farmers of St. Louis county, regarding the growing of potatoes and clover weer as much appreciated in all parts of the country as it was by the farmers in the vicinity of Cook, the work of the men sent out by the Duluth Commercial club would accomplish even more than was anticipated.

Mr. Granberg stated that farmers for miles around were at the station when the two instructors reached Cook. As Cook is a new settlement, one in which the farmers are for the most part homesteaders, and the roads are difficult or travel at this time of the year, the enthusiasm with which the instructors were received at the new town of Cook bodes well for future movements of a like nature that may be planned by the officials of the club.

Charles De Vett of Green Bay, Wis., where they have fish and other things, is responsible for a story that should revolutionize the art of catching fish—an art, by the way, that has come down the ages without material change.

Mr. De Vett stated at the St. Louis last evening that over at Ashland there is an Indian who knows where a berry grows, the same berry having a most peculiar effect upon nsh. Once in possession of this berry, a fisherman, or perhaps that would not be exactly the right term, could sit by the banks of the stream and woo the finny inmates of the brook to slumber with the power of the berry.

The Green Bay man says the berry makes the fish drunk, when it comes anywhere near them, and that all that is left to the man is to dip into the brook with his hands and catch the giddy creatures as they flop foolishly upon the surface of the water.

The Green Bay nimrod, separated from his friends, so he says, and while they were having indifferent luck with their lines, he was hauling in the locoed fish by the dozens. When he returned to the camp the rest of the party were naturally jealous of the success he had enjoyed. They did not know that his rod had not been unjointed, and that it was through the power of the naughty little berry that the fish were woed into the basket of the tricky De Vett person—at least—that is what De Vett says.

It seems that after all, efforts are being made to have a baseball club in Virginia. J. E. Corrigan from that city, who was at the Lenox yesterday, stated that every pressure was being brought to bear upon the business men of Virginia to support a team, and that if the subscription list was large enough to enable the men back of the proposition to go ahead with their plans in regard to securing players, Virginia would be represented upon the diamond.

According to Mr. Corrigan, the expense attached to the running of a team at Virginia is so heavy that many of the people, who have heretofore supported the team, are of the opinion that baseball upon the range is getting to that stage where some halt should be called. Some of the people up there, according to Mr. Corrigan, are in favor of amateur baseball, and for this reason do not feel like putting a good deal of money into a proposition that each year is requiring the expenditure of an increasing amount.

THE WEATHER.

There was a sharp nip to the air last night that was a reminder that summer is not yet here. This morning broke clear and bright, with slightly milder temperatures.

A year ago today it was cloudy and cold.

The sun rose this morning at 4:59 and will set this afternoon at 7:12, making 14 hours and 13 minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The storm central Monday morning over Manitoba has advanced to Lake Huron. During the past twenty-four hours this storm caused high northwest winds in the upper Mississippi valley and portions of the western lake region, and rain or snow in the lake region and Mississippi valley. It is much colder throughout the Northwest and southward to Northern Texas, due to a high pressure area that has advanced to Saskatchewan and Manitoba. Freezing temperatures prevail in Wisconsin, Minnesota, the Dakotas, Montana and Western Canada, with zero weather at Prince Albert. Pressures are falling and temperatures are rising again in the Far West attending disturbances central over Texas and British Columbia."

Following were last night's lowest temperatures:

North Dakota—Partly cloudy tonight and Wednesday; rising temperature.

"Ow Is the Queen?"

Louisville Courier-Journal: For fifteen years Albert Courtney, mining prospector and British subject, remained in the California desert, a recluse, solitary and self-sufficing. Then he emerged somewhere in the neighborhood of San Bernardino, and, with characteristic British nerve, hazarded a few inconsequential queries, such as would compromise neither his native dignity nor his love of privacy; the health of the queen and the state of the weather, doncherknow, and 'oo won the bloomin' boat race? Suffragettes had to be explained; he could make nothing of George Bernard Shaw—and even in San Bernardino found sympathizers; and he had neither heard nor read of the Big Noise.

When the whole Rooseveltian cult had been fully explained to him—it took a long time—and he had toasted King Edward, he retired to his retirement.

Highway Slaughter.

New York Tribune: If more than 100 deaths were to be caused in this city in fifteen months by smallpox, or yellow fever, or bubonic plague, we should have a panic. If such destruction of life were produced by any needless and avoidable cause of general and increasing prevalence, we should probably have public meetings and committees and what not, demanding that the health board, the police or other municipal authorities should exercise prompt and effective measures for stopping the dreadful sacrifice. Yet in the last fifteen months more than 100 lives have been lost on the public streets of this city chiefly in a wholly needless and indeed criminally wanton manner. And now at last the police and the courts have begun to do something about it which promises to be measurably effective. It is high time that they did. For nine-tenths of these lives were sacrificed to an insolent, reckless, law-defying craze for speed.

Profanity in Boys.

Savannah News. It is a regrettable fact that profanity has become common among boys. It is not in the least out of the ordinary, where a group of boys of 10 to 15 years is together upon the streets or in any open space to play a game of ball, to hear them using oaths that might suit the tongues of the proverbial fishwife or costermonger, but which are shocking falling from the tongues of children of tender years. Of all stupid and silly vices, profanity is one of the worst and most abominable. A simple statement of fact is much stronger than any statement embellished with swear words, and no lie is made any the more believeable by being framed in profanity. In fact, both truth and falsehood are weakened by swearing and taking the Lord's name in vain. Foul epithets and comparisons are not convincing, but are almost invariably disgusting, except to those making use of them. Profanity among men seems to be growing less and less, at least in public places and among those who may lay claim to decency and some education. But the habit seems to have firmly fixed itself upon a great many of the boys, who may imagine it manmish to use profanity and smoke cigarettes.

A Careless Editor.

Chicago Post: A correspondent of the New York Independent has caught the editor of that respectable journal in a bad fix—in fact, has forced a substantial retraction. Since others may some day be caught, perhaps the letter should be circulated:

"East Springfield, Pa., March 29.—Editor Independent: You say on page 650 of the 25th March issue that 'Even the devil is not so bad as he is painted.' If you were not blinded by him and possessed by him, you would know that he is unspeakably worse than he is or ever can be painted."

The editor says in extenuation that the statement was not original with the Independent, but admits that "we" were guilty, for once, of a statement which "may be altogether incorrect and which, at any rate, we made no attempt to verify." If Mr. Hamilton Holt were Mr. Hearst, he would straightway appoint a commission on diabology. As it is, the devil's to pay, and no pitch hot.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1889.

•••The recent storm on Lake Superior raged with great fury at Grand Marais and Port Arthur. The wind reached a 45-mile rate at Port Arthur and the driving sleet and snow cut like a knife. At Grand Marais it was impossible to see across the dock and the lake was a sheet of foam. At Isle Royale the island was drenched in spray from one end to the other and vesselmen describe the weather as awful.

DULUTH AND THE HERALD.

Stillwater Gazette: The receipts of telegraph companies of Duluth and on the range were largely increased this last week, by the dispatches sent to the governor requesting that he veto the tonnage tax bill. Some of the fans up there would rather have Duluth's ball club at the bottom of the list than to have that tonnage tax bill become a law, and that is a sacrifice that would bring forth beads of blood.

Hibbing Mesaba Ore: Bishop McGolrick of Duluth is a great stickler for public playgrounds for the kids, and the fact that he is barred from having children of his own shows the great sacrifice he has made to fill his mission.

Mankato Free Press: Those Duluth newspapers are trying to make out that the violets are in blossom in their neck o' the woods.

Austin Transcript: The Duluth Herald is superior to any St. Paul or Minneapolis daily with a single exception. The Herald is full of good things aside from its politics.

Grand Rapids Independent: The future subscription campaigns of the Duluth Herald should make a special leader feature of its state legislature news reports. The Herald is certainly there with the goods.

La Porte News: We rise to congratulate The Duluth Herald upon the gallant fight it put up against the imposition of the tonnage tax. The Herald never does things by halves.

Blessings?

"We have twice as much life insurance as the rest of the world and one-half as much money on deposit in our savings banks as all the rest of the world. Our expenditure for education is two-thirds as much as is spent by all the rest of the world. One-third of all the revenue collected by governments is ours, while our debt is but one-thirtieth of the debt of the world."—James S. Sherman, vice president of the United States.

Detroit News: This is a great and glorious nation, but the things mentioned by Mr. Sherman, except in the matter of education, which needs explanation, are not conditions of which to be especially proud. The American people take to life insurance as a method of saving, yet it has never been proved that this is the best possible method. The French are a more economical people than those living in America, but they do not put their money in savings banks, and therefore bank statements mean nothing as between the two countries. The United States spends a larger per capita for education than do the Germans, but a dollar in Germany goes three times as far as in America. There is as large a percentage of illiterates in the United States as in Germany—in some localities here the percentage is larger. This country is blessed with a small debt, but foreign debts often represent assets, such as railroads and the ownership of other monopolies. It is because conditions between America and Europe are so different that these comparisons are so misleading.

The Truth About the Boycott.

Rochester, N. Y., Chronicle and Democrat: President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, said recently that "the men of labor are not in love with the strike and the boycott, and they are trying to bring them to the lowest minimum." But on the same occasion he made a plea for the boycott on the ground that "every man's patronage is his own." Just so. Therefore no organization has the right to require its members to refuse to trade with concerns or individuals who have incurred its displeasure. President Gompers left himself no ground to stand on when he said that "every man's patronage is his own." President Taft touched the heart of the question when he said: "I am convinced by long thought over it that compulson of third persons against their will is the nub of offense of boycotting, which is an instrument of tyranny that must be met with an instrument adequate to its suppression."

Warned Off.

Woes of the Man With Money.

Omaha Bee: It is distressing to be broke. If you don't believe it, ask Andrew Carnegie since he gave away his fortune to avoid the possibility of dying rich. But the man who is broke has no monopoly of the woes of this life.

If you have the millions of a Rockefeller, W. J. Bryan will not let the colleges take your money because it is tainted. If you are a rich widow, like Hetty Green and accumulate a fortune by saving habits, you can only contemplate some one waiting for you to die that they may spend it. If you are a J. Pierpont Morgan, you are a plutocrat and an enemy to society. If you invest your money in gold bricks you are a spendthrift. If after accumulating a fortune you continue to work, you are depriving the poor man who needs it of the chance of getting your good job, and if you take life easy you are living off unearned increment and are a useless appendage on the earth. If you put your savings in a tin can some thief will come along and steal it, and if you place it in the kitchen range your wife may light the fire while you are taking your morning siesta and it will go up in smoke.

THE TONNAGE TAX VETO

His Bold and Fearless Stand.

Brainerd, Crow Wing county, Tribune: Governor Johnson vetoed the tonnage tax bill, as his friends in Northern Minnesota confidently believed he would do. Fairminded people everywhere in the state, without regard to politics, will commend him for his bold and fearless stand for right and justice.

Everybody Would Have Suffered.

Two Harbors Iron News. Whatever the motives that impelled him, Governor Johnson deserves and will receive the thanks of the people of Northern Minnesota for his veto of the obnoxious tonnage tax measure. His action lifts a great load from the minds of practically all the people of this entire section, who had reason to fear the disastrous effects of such a measure; for it was not the Steel corporation alone that would suffer, but every man that depended even in part upon the mining industry for his livelihood.

Will Educate the People.

Little Falls, Morrison county, Herald: Believing that their lives and fortunes were bound up in the tonnage tax bill, thousands of citizens of Northern and North Central Minnesota will rejoice that the bill is dead. If the principle of the bill is correct, and the majority of the people want it, they will ultimately have their way, whether justice or injustice is done. Major justice or injustice is done. Majorities do not always stand for justice. But the suggestion of the governor that the present system will enable increase of assessment to be made where deemed just, without interfering with the development of the new ranges is wise. If the assessment on the big mines is too low, as undoubtedly a majority believe, and with reason, let the assessment be raised. The agitation will have the effect of educating the people of the state on this matter, and the next legislature will be better prepared to handle the matter fairly if any change is wanted at that time.

Not Blinded By Sectionalism.

Biwabik Times: John A. Johnson has proven that he was the man for the position. Some of us thought otherwise during the last session, but we have changed our minds.

By his veto of the tonnage tax bill the governor of Minnesota proved that he deserves to be classed among the statesmen. Such an act is not that of an ordinary, self-seeking, ambitious politician, but of a man determined to do his duty by the entire state.

Looking at the proposed law with eyes not blinded by sectionalism, the governor saw that it represented the act of a legislature where the majority voted against their own convictions. Bowing to a supposed sentiment among their constituents the legislators passed what they admitted was an unjust and unreasonable bill. The governor saw through the motive of the peanut politicians and declined to become a member of such a clique. Thus is marked the distinction between a politician and statesman.

Minnesota is to be congratulated upon having such a man for governor. He has proven himself worthy of the highest confidence and deserving of any honor within the gift of the American people.

The Bjorge Boomlet.

La Porte, Hubbard county, News: Governor Johnson has sealed the fate of the Bjorge boomlet. That helps some.

Did Exactly Right.

Northome, Koochiching county, Record: The measure was a direct blow to the prosperity of Northern Minnesota and Governor Johnson did just exactly right in vetoing it.

The Act of a Statesman.

Brainerd, Crow Wing county, Arena: John A. Johnson, governor of Minnesota is worthy of much commendation for his action on the tonnage tax bill. His character proved that of a true statesman when he attached the little word "no."

Reapportionment the Solution.

Thief River Falls, Red Lake county, Press: Once more the governor of our state has felt himself called upon to override the will of the majority of the legislature. Now if our legislators would take a tumble to themselves and try to ascertain the real reason for such actions and do something to bring about an equitable redistricting of the whole state, there is no doubt that the governor would be asked to cease overriding the will of the people. As matters now stand, it appears that the governor is more solicitous of the welfare of the state than are the members of the legislature, whose greatest effort seems to be bent on some scheme of keeping themselves in office rather than to give all parts of the state their just dues.

A Heatwole Echo.

Cannon Falls, Goodhue county, Beacon: Not the least unfortunate feature of this contest has been the almost lawless assault made upon the chief executive of the state by those supposedly interested but indirectly in the measure; many, many thousands of telegrams, letters and personal appeals have flooded and besieged the governor's office. It is no exaggeration to characterize the situation since the passage of the bill as a siege. It is insisted by those conducting the opposition to the bill that the steel trust is taking no action in the matter, but it is obvious to the most obtuse that it is bludgeoning the business men of that section into frenzied activity with the threat of abandoning their contemplated mills at Duluth and curtailing the output of the mines. The situation in Northeastern Minnesota strongly resembles the frenzied state of the public mind in St. Paul during the anti-Armour agitation; a state of frenzy artificially created by the few acting under the impulse given by the South St. Paul packing interests. The present contest should make plain to the people of this commonwealth that in the steel trust there has entered the state a dominating force that will be an ever-present menace to harmony in the state and to its normal development along other lines than that in which the trust is itself interested.

Acknowledges the Corn.

Floodwood Broadaxe: The Broadaxe said that Governor Johnson would not veto the tonnage tax bill. The governor has made us out a liar—thank you, Mr. Johnsing.

Congratulates the Governor.

Ogilvie, Kanabec county, Sentinel: Governor Johnson has vetoed the tonnage tax bill, and the northern part of the state rejoices. He has certainly gained the favor of the people in this neck of the woods, for a law of that kind would most assuredly be a great detriment to the counties contiguous to Duluth, which will in time become one of our chief markets, both for stock and farm produce. We congratulate the governor upon his foresight.

Almost? Quite?

Walker, Cass county, Pilot (Rep.): Northeastern Minnesota almost hopes that Governor Johnson's tonnage tax pen will some day write a presidential message.

A Righteous Veto.

Princeton, Mille Lacs county, Union (R. C. Dunn.): His righteous veto of the tonnage tax bill has made Governor Johnson invincible in Northeastern Minnesota.

The People Don't Count.

Windom, Cottonwood county, Reporter: Governor Johnson has raised a storm of righteous indignation in this part of the state by vetoing on Tuesday the Bjorge tonnage tax bill which passed the senate last Friday. The only interests which the bill touched was the steel trust, and the people of the north had been seared and cajoled into opposing it by the steel trust issuing them stock and threatening them with dire disaster, until many of them actually believed that its passage and enforcement meant death to their interests. It is claimed that this is the only chance the governor has had during the present session to show his nerve and stand by promises made during the campaign, and in thus being bluffed by the dupes and hirelings of the steel trust he shows that he is not made of the stuff his friends and admirers had supposed. Former Attorney General Ed T. Young, who was one of the framers of the bill, has passed upon its constitutionality, it is said, and the governor's claim that his action in vetoing it was because of a question as to its constitutionality, looks like mere subterfuge.

Action Was Wise.

Hinckley, Pine county, Enterprise: Although the range and Duluth were very likely more frightened than hurt, probably the action taken by Governor Johnson in vetoing the tonnage tax bill was, in view of the alarm felt, the carelessness of the bill, and the sectional feeling it engendered, wise.

Not to Be Judged Hastily.

Marshall, Lyon county, News-Messenger: We thoroughly believe in taxation of the iron mining property as proposed by the bill passed, but under all the circumstances we are not prepared to rush an opinion that the governor has acted unwisely in vetoing the measure. And we are all the more reticent from the fact that, while the entire north part of the state, individually and collectively, regardless of political, business or religious affiliations, universally condemned the measure, there was no notable sentiment from the south part of the state urging the governor to approve the act, and the more significant fact that immediately upon the announcement of the veto, large numbers of legislators who voted for the bill rushed to the governor's office and earnestly congratulated him for the performance of the veto power. Again we urge a careful reading of the veto message.

Was the Proper Thing.

Verndale, Wadena county, Sun: The tonnage tax bill passed the senate last Friday with a whoop, and the iron ore district moaned. But Governor Johnson came to the rescue with a veto. It was the proper thing to do.

"Johnson Luck."

Brainerd, Crow Wing county, Dispatch (Rep.): The legislature has adjourned and Governor Johnson ought to be one of the most satisfied men in the state—outside of the iron belt. "Johnson luck" is what some people call it.

Why Not, Pray?

Mankato, Blue Earth county, Free Press: Duluth is all aglow over the defeat of the tonnage tax bill. Naturally, the people of that city feel kindly toward Governor Johnson for vetoing the measure. Let them praise the governor all they wish to, but to jeer the name of Bjorge will not help their cause. Duluth should not get chesty.

Tonnage Tax "Not Exactly Square."

Ortonville, Big Stone county, Herald-Star: The Herald Star has never felt that a tonnage tax was exactly the square thing, but it has been equally certain that it was not a square thing for the steel trust to come into this state and carry away our vast riches returning to the state only the meagre taxes our laws permitted us to levy.

"Wise, Patriotic Action."

Rush City, Chisago county, Post: Good for Governor John A. Johnson. In his veto of the tonnage tax bill there was not a trace of partisanship. He has gained hundreds of friends in Minnesota by his wise, patriotic action. The governor has a keen faculty of putting a Republican legislature in a hole and filling up the hole.

A Man of Honor and Integrity.

Virginia Enterprise: This action more clearly than aught else in the political history of the governor has stamped him as a man of honor and integrity of purpose, as a man above partisanship and sectionalism, as a man whose official acts are tempered with right and justice without regard to political effect or personal ends—as a man who is all his multitude of friends have claimed for him—and has gained for him the highest encomiums of all the people of the this prosperous northern section.

A Man and a Statesman.

Deer River, Itasca county, News: In vetoing the iron ore tonnage tax bill Governor Johnson, whatever his motive, must be given the credit due him as a man and statesman, and it spells more success to him.

Southern Minnesota Not Unfair.

Madison, Lac Qui Parle county, Independent Press: The expected has happened. Governor Johnson has vetoed the tonnage tax bill. Was his action right; was it wrong? These are questions which some of the best business men of this state are slow to answer, because they have not given the question of taxation the study necessary to warrant an expression of opinion. There are others who have given the matter careful study who are free in the expression of the opinion that the governor has made a great mistake in this matter, while others equally well learned in the matter of taxation are equally free in their expressions of the opinion that he has done right, so that there must be room for honest differences of opinion. That the measure was a popular one in this part of the state is true, but that its popularity was based upon any feeling of unfriendliness for the northeastern part of the state is untrue. This part of the state owes the iron country no ill will and our differences of opinion are honest differences. Southern Minnesota does not wish to impose upon Northern Minnesota any unjust burden of taxation and the never-ceasing efforts of certain interests to create sectional strife over this question are the next thing to criminal. If, as Governor Johnson says in his veto message, the passage of the Bjorge measure would strike a blow at the prosperity of the iron country, that it would be an attack upon the fundamental principle of taxation, that of equity; that the state's future peace and greatness would be threatened by a condition of sectional hatred, then Southern Minnesota will rejoice with Northern Minnesota in that the bill was not allowed to become a law, but in the name of fairness let us hear no more of this talk about one part of this great state being arrayed against or jealous of the other.

Best Interests of All Minnesota.

St. Cloud, Stearns county, Times: Governor Johnson has vetoed the tonnage tax bill, and has thereby carried joy into the hearts of every man and woman in Northeastern Minnesota, and, indeed, has pleased the residents of the entire north half of the state. The feeling in Southern Minnesota was favorable to the measure, but, even there it was the politicians more than the people who were strenuous in its behalf. The mass of citizens understand very little as to its real provisions or effect. They had learned that it placed a tax on iron ore, and that this must be paid by the Steel company! On the other hand, the people in the entire iron range were unanimous and even wild in their opposition. They declared it was a deadly blow to their great and almost only industry, and that it meant a setback to their growth and prosperity which would be ruinous. Never were any people more united, more insistent, more honest and sincere in their opposition to a proposed enactment than were those of Northeastern Minnesota. Governor Johnson, we believe, has exercised the veto power wisely, fearlessly, and for the best interests of all Minnesota—not for a part of it.

It Comes Easily, Though.

Virginia Enterprise: And to think of it—that the Minnesota iron ranges, the staunchest Republican stronghold in the state of Minnesota and where the name of John A. Johnson was reviled and maligned by the Republican press, must thank this same man for the deliverance of this section from the grasping intentions of a Republican legislature!

Has Proven His Greatness.

Aitkin Independent: By this act John A. Johnson has proven his greatness; has given evidence of profound statesmanship; has demonstrated that he can be absolutely just; for it must be admitted that he must have done so against tremendous pressure. But his inherent love of justice, and a steadfast determination to do right, prompted him to do the thing that has everlastingly endeared him to the hearts of our people, and he will get his reward.

He Is Not That Kind.

Bovey, Itasca county, News: Today in Northern Minnesota there is no word too good for John A. Johnson. A friend in need is a friend indeed, and that is what the governor has proven to be. The vetoing of the Bjorge bill was a sacrifice on his part in our behalf, and every miner in Northeastern Minnesota appreciates the fact, and honors the man whose integrity is above mere ambition. It is pertinent that Governor Johnson was under no obligation to veto the tonnage tax. It was a bill put through by Republican influence, and it would have been an easy matter for him to wash his hands of the matter, and leave the responsibility on the legislature: "This is your bill. You want this tax. Take it, and if the industries of Northern Minnesota are paralyzed, and agricultural sections of the state lose by it, their best markets, the responsibility rests on you and you alone. It is not my bill, and I do not stand sponsor for it." In the late political campaign he was bitterly fought by the mining interests. There is no reason why he should have a warm spot in his heart for this section. Here was his opportunity for retaliation, and while doing so his acts would bt applauded by the major portion of the state, that portion which holds in its power the governor's political future. But Governor Johnson has proven himself not that kind.

A few months ago Governor Johnson, in the greatest message ever written by an executive officer of this state, treated Northern Minnesota as a special subject. It was a glowing pen picture, and the man who wrote it could not sign his name to anything that would rise up and blight the golden possibilities of a land so favored by nature, so God-blessed and rich in possibilities, and which he, with the gift of a seer, prophesied so triumphant a future.

"The Biggest Man in Minnesota."

Hibbing, Mesaba Ore: Governor John A. Johnson stood right up to his manhood and vetoed the vicious tonnage tax bill.

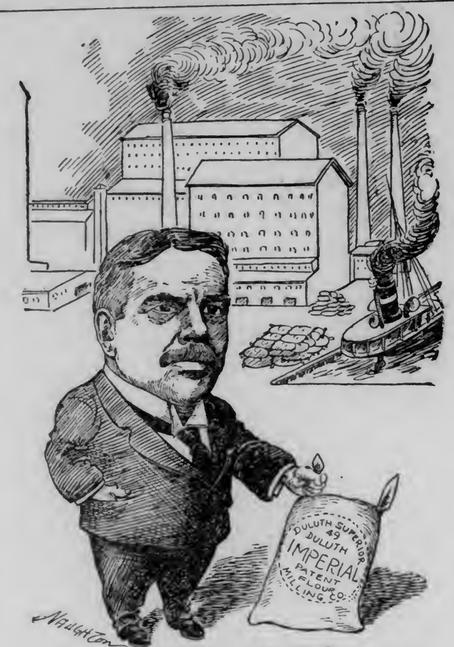

He redeemed the pledge made to the people in the political campaign of last fall, and did it in the face of all kinds of pressure brought to bear by our enemies from the southern part of the state.

The principle of the Bjorge measure was wrong, in that it was unjust legislation aimed at one particular section of the state, and the governor, recognizing the menacing attitude of the bill, did not hesitate a moment to turn it down, and to give a set of good, concise, clear reasons for the act.

Those who know Governor Johnson best, and who have the power to see beyond the political bearing of the case, knew full well that the governor is a man big enough to rise to every occasion, and that he would follow the right course at all hazards.

The situation was a most trying one—a situation calculated to bring every atom of Governor Johnson's manhood to the surface—and when the test came the governor was not found wanting in any one particular.

MUSCULAR RHEUMATISM

A Cure at Minneapolis Which Should Set Every Rheumatic Sufferer to Thinking.

The prospect of the return of the same old rheumatism every year is not attractive to anybody who has gone through one siege. Most treatments aim simply to "keep down" the rheumatic poisons in the blood. The tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills has proved by hundreds of cures that it builds up the blood to a point that enables it to cast out these poisons through the regular channels of excretion, the bowels, kidneys and the skin. When this is done the rheumatism is permanently cured and as long as the blood is kept pure and rich the patient will be immune from attacks of rheumatism.

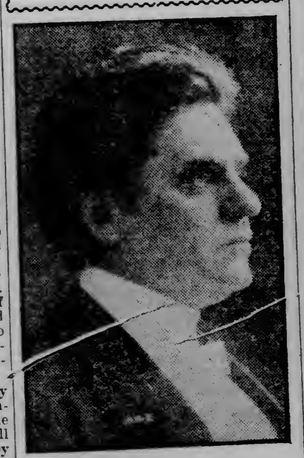

After suffering for a year Mrs. Ella Beatty, of No. 314 West Twenty-eighth street, Minneapolis, Minn., cured herself of muscular rheumatism by using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The permanent cure the pills made in her case was due to their purifying and building up of the blood. She says:

"The rheumatism came on me suddenly and, until the attack, I was feeling as well as usual. The attack seemed to settle in the cords of my neck. I had what the doctors called spasms of the muscles of the neck, which drew my head to one side. These spells caused me intense misery. The fingers of my left hand were affected until I was unable to use that hand. I was in bed for six weeks and during that time I had to lie in one position. If I moved my neck I would scream with pain.

"I could see no benefit from the doctor's medicine and gave it up to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills upon the advice of a friend. The pills soon had my blood in good condition and I have had no more of the pains. I am now the picture of health and can, therefore, recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Sufferers from rheumatism in any form, who have found their condition unrelieved or actually growing worse while using ordinary remedies, would do well to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They are sold by all druggists or direct by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50c. per box; six boxes, $2.50. A helpful booklet will be sent free, on application to Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

MANY STILL WANT SERVANTS

Demand for Housemaids Still Greater Than the Supply.

James F. Walsh, in charge of the state free employment bureau, and his fair assistant, who looks after the women's department of the agency, are not inclined to believe the stories they hear about the great number of housemaids who are offering their services in the market.

The morning newspaper printed an article stating that the working girls were flocking in large numbers to the bureau, seeking jobs in Duluth families, and that there were not enough jobs to go around.

It is true that quite a number of girls are calling daily at the bureau, seeking housework, but the demand is still ahead of the supply. The demand is very firm, something like twenty requests for girls having been received by the bureau yesterday from housewives. The wants of all could not be supplied, but the bureau is sending out girls to work as fast as they apply at the office.

Proctor and the range towns are anxious to get girls. A large number of inquiries from out of town have been received by the bureau. The other day several girls went to Cloquet to take positions secured through the bureau.

RECEIVERS APPOINTED FOR H. O. CEREAL CO.

Buffalo, N. Y., April 27.—Judge Hazel, in the United States court yesterday, appointed A. L. Culver, Lyman A. Bass and Frank A. Abbott receivers for the H. A RACE FOR LIFE

BIT BY A DEADLY INSECT

TRAIN DELAYED SEVERAL HOURS ON ACCOUNT OF A WRECK

In the spring of 1894, while in Austin, Tex., where I had been sent for my health, I was sitting in front of the Driscoll hotel when from a carriage hastily driven from the depot, two gentlemen emerged. One was an elderly, well-dressed gentleman of about 60; his face was swollen almost twice its natural size, his eyes and mouth almost closed. The other gentleman, who was his attendant, stopped to ask me if I could refer him to a first-class physician. I recommended him to the one who was then attending me, and at the same time asked him about the disease of his friend. In reply he stated that about two years ago a growth had appeared in the glands in the side of the neck. This was removed by an operation but soon reappeared. A late conference of the home doctors have reported that he could not live and we are now en route to Louisville, Ky., to consult Dr. Rea, of that city. Our train being delayed we are now compelled to remain in Austin until evening.

You will not see Dr. Rea in Louisville, I replied, as I remember seeing in the Houston Post where Dr. Rea will visit Houston, Tex. in a few days, therefore you had better stop there and save yourself the journey. "What," muttered the sufferer between his half-closed teeth, "Dr. Rea of Louisville in Texas! how fortunate."

They left Austin that night and upon arriving at Houston the next morning found that Dr. Rea was due in Houston one day later.

Dr. Rea arriving in due time was informed of the suffering and importance of the patient waiting and hastened to make an early examination of his case.

Without asking him a question, Dr. Rea said to him: "My dear sir, it is my opinion that you have been bitten by some poisonous insect; it is also my opinion that one of your parents or very near relatives has died of cancer and that your system, being specially liable to develop cancer, has only been aggravated by this bite, which has produced a cancerous growth. With the proper treatment you can be cured. Do you want me to doctor you?"

No sooner had his permission been granted than Dr. Rea injected something into the growth, gave him something to make him rest and then sent him to his room to lie down. Being treated in the same manner the next day, he started to his home, stopping in Austin a few hours between trains. I saw him again at the hotel.

He assured me that he was feeling much better and that the Doctor had promised him a cure in from three to five months. Being interested in his case I gave him my address. Six months afterwards I received a letter from him saying that he was cured and that he was in better health than he had been for years. I met a number of patients while in Texas, as I have been in all sections of the country I have been in, they all tell me of the miraculous cures in Dr. Rea's practice, his unerring ability to tell a patient his disease without asking a question and the speed and ease with which he cures the most malignant disease. In cancer, consumption, tumor paralysis, fatty degeneration of the heart, kidney and nervous diseases, that he does not lose one case in ninety, that his patients are those having the worst cases of chronic diseases and have been given up by other physicians as incurable, and yet these incurable, malignant diseases seem to be handled by him with the utmost ease and uniform success. The names of some of the patients whom he has cured have come to my notice.

Mrs. W. A. Cochran, Woonsocket, S. D., cured of a terrible case of piles, which she had for years.

George Maxon, Lodi, S. D., cured of kidney disease in three months after the doctors had said it was diabetes and that no one could cure him; Andrew Hadley, Cantha, S. D., cured of chronic sore eyes in three months.

Mrs. M. J. Ellis, Sioux Falls, S. D., cured of chronic rheumatism of long standing; had been to Hot Springs, Ark., taken hot water baths, and had tried many doctors; M. J. Staigie's 2-year-old girl, Fairview, S. D., cured of paralysis, had complete loss of the body; Joe Lynch, St. Croix Falls, Wis., cured of chronic stomach troubles; Frank Wright, Alvan, S. D., cured of bad tumor of the head; Miss Susie Blunt, Alexandria, S. D., cured of bad blood and liver troubles; Henry Meggers, Madison, S. D., cured of chronic rheumatism, had tried doctors far and near; Alvin Shields, Alexandria, S. D., cured of cancer of lip in one treatment; Mrs. Maud St. Charles, Alexander, Wis., cured of consumption of long standing; P. B. Furguson, Golden, Ill., cured of nervous debility and lost vitality; Miss Josie Peterson, Hanava, Ill., cured of consumption in three months.

L. S. Dreasler, Ellison, N. D., cured of piles, nervous prostration, stomach and bowel troubles. Had suffered for years, lost flesh and strength and was not able to do any kind of work.

Lucy Brouders, Kent, Minn., cured of rheumatism that had afflicted her for years. Her feet were drawn up and at times she could scarcely walk.

W. W. Pease, Wahpeton, N. D. Doctors said he had consumption and must change climate to get well. Dr. Rea's treatment gained for him 17 pounds the first month and Dr. Rea said he didn't have consumption at all.

Henry Schwaka Nerstrand, Minn., cured of chronic rheumatism. Had suffered for years and had tried all kinds of doctors.

Miss Farney, Marshalltown, Iowa, the daughter of a prominent and a wealthy capitalist, cured of consumption.

Mrs. Mark Anton, Plankinton, S. D., cured of general debility and catarrh of the stomach.

Daniel Smith, Woonsocket, S. D., a prominent German of that place, cured of long standing deafness in twenty minutes.

Mrs. Lydia Head, Ensor, Ky., cured of nervous prostration and general weakness. Could not walk up steps when she came to consult him.

Miss Flo Roland, Muscatine, Iowa, cured of chronic constipation and nervousness; had tried all kinds of doctors and medicines.

John Brreman, La Fayette, Ind., cured of stricture of bowels and heart trouble.

Mrs. Elliott, Vincennes, Ind., cured of catarrh of liver.

Elmer Wosley, Fort Wayne, Ind., cured of cancer of arm and hand. Had consulted doctors in Cincinnati and many other large cities, and all pronounced that he would have to lose his hand.

Mrs. Charles Roth's girl, Mitchell, S. D., cured of cross eyes.

Frank Peters, Redfield, S. D., cured of nervousness.

Louis Bicking, Watertown, S. D., cured of slow consumption and stomach trouble.

Clara Eriksson, Thief River Falls, Minn., cured nervousness and of mental debility that had almost wrecked her mind.

Mrs. Joseph Fraser, Mora, Minn., cured of cancerous growth of the breast. No operations are used in these treatments. The treatment is injected into the growth and it is killed in a few treatments.

J. C. Lundquist, Christine, N. D., cured of catarrh, catarrhal deafness, bladder and kidney troubles, a very serious case. He had been doctored by a number of other doctors, Dr. Rea quickly cured him and he is glad to tell of it.

Minneapolis office, 202 Nicollet avenue.

Child of C. Boll, Baldwin, Wis., cured of a bad case of eczema. Had been treated by doctors but had given up all hopes of ever being cured. Cured in three months.

Julius Ponto, Menomonie, Wis., cured of chronic catarrhal bronchitis.

E. R. Morgan, Elmwood, Wis., cured of a bad cancer of the face with the hypodermic injection treatment.

John Consbruck, Hastings, Minn., cured of cancer of the face in two treatments.

F. J. Swoboda, Hopkins, Minn., cured of chronic bladder and kidney troubles.

Mrs. Margaret Gangloff, Denison, Minn., cured of a bad skin cancer on the face in one treatment.

Louis Doer, Hannaby, Minn., cured of almost total blindness by cataract. Cured by the absorption method.

C. J. Wendt, Duluth, Minn., cured of chronic eczema all over the body. Of two years' standing.

William Reid, Little Falls, Minn., cured of cancer of the lip in one treatment.

H. P. Jackson, Morris, Minn., cured of long standing piles. Cured without operation.

L. S. Dreasler, Elison, N. D., cured of fistula of the rectum. Quickly cured of this most terrible disease.

Mrs. Martin Downs, Willmar, Minn., cured completely of partial blindness.

Gregor Johnson, Harwick, Minn., cured of ulcerated sore leg. Thought he was crippled for life.

Ole Larson, Wild Rice, N. D., cured of a disease of stomach.

Mike Ritman, Litchville, N. D., cured of external piles.

That Dr. Rea cures them are sufficient reasons to prove that he is one of the greatest specialists of modern times.

Burleigh Mitton, former publisher Journal-Observer, Redfield, S. D.

Minneapolis, Minn.—Special to The Herald.)—Dr. Rea announces a professional visit to Duluth, Minn., and will be at the St. Louis hotel from 9 a. m. until 8 p. m., Saturday, May 1st. These continued visits of Dr. Rea to Duluth for the last ten years assures the many readers of this paper that Dr. Rea does as he represents. Dr. Rea has made many remarkable cures and has published the names of many of these in the Duluth paper during the time he has visited Duluth. Consultation and examination to those interested, $1.00.

FIRST SHIPMENT COMING HERE

Gary Sends Rails Made From Ore Shipped From Duluth.

The first cargo to be shipped from the steel plant at Gary, Ind., will consist of 2,300 tons of steel rails, which will be brought by the steamer Lambert to Duluth, from which port the iron ore of which they were made, was shipped.

When the new steel plant is built here it will not be necessary to ship ore 800 miles to have it made into rails and then ship the finished product back 800 miles. The ore will be brought down here and made into rails while you wait.

The rails which the Lambert will bring are now being loaded, and the Lambert will sail at once for this port. The raw material was shipped from here last season.

Do Children Need Alcohol?

Ask your doctor how often he prescribes an alcoholic stimulant for children. He will probably say, "Very, very rarely." Ask him how often he prescribes a tonic for them. He will probably answer, "Very, very frequently." Then ask him about Ayer's non-alcoholic Sarsaparilla as a tonic for the young.

TURN DOWN ASSESSOR

City Has No Funds Available for Revaluation Work.

Saloon License for the Clifton Hotel Is Refused.

WHAT THE COUNCIL DID.

Sustained mayor's veto of the Meier license.

Decided to make no attempt to pass George Holmes' license in Clifton hotel.

Granted city printing to Evening Herald.

City attorney reported that no money was available for general revaluation of city real estate, as requested by city assessor.

Condemnation of Sundby road reconsidered.

Considered matter of paving ten blocks along Superior street.

Ordered condemnation proceedings started on Hermantown road cut-off.

Authorized bids for construction of detention hospital.

City Attorney Wilson reported to the council last night that unless enough money was available in the salary fund, the appropriation of $4,000 asked by City Assessor Rakowsky, for a revaluation of the city real estate, could not lawfully be made by the council until the next annual appropriations for city departments are made.

Early in the year the city assessor asked for $5,000 with which to carry on the work of revaluation. While not allowed that amount, the council voted him $1,000, and he was directed to do what he could with that in the way of revaluation. When less than half of it had been spent, he reported results to the council, and they were of such a nature that it was deemed advisable to allow the rest of the money asked for. This will not be possible, however, under the communication of the city attorney who says the first $1,000, which was taken from the general fund, was unlawfully made.

The application of George Holmes for a saloon license in the Clifton hotel on West First street, which was referred to the committee on police and license last week, was killed for the time being in the committee, and no report was made last night. The aldermen got together and agreed that, in the face of opposition that has developed, it would be best not to consider the application at this time. The only chance Holmes will have now to get a license will be to put in his application later on.

* * *

People interested in the Sundby road were on hand, and asked for a hearing. After listening to the arguments for those opposed to the road following out the route selected, the council reconsidered its action of last week condemning the road, and returned the question to the committee on harbors, parks and roads. The subject was given over to the committee for the purpose of calling a meeting of property owners and territory affected, to allow a free discussion of the different routes suggested.

* * *

The council voted the city printing for the ensuing year to The Evening Herald, as being the lowest bidder.

* * *

Several recommendations in the way of city legislation and improvements, made by Mayor Haven in his annual message, were reported upon favorably by the committee to which the message was referred. Among the recommendations regarded favorably by the committee were: ordinance making it necessary for hotels and boarding houses to be licensed, so as to be under the control of city authorities in case they are not properly conducted; that a smoke ordinance be adopted; that team and automobile traffic be regulated on the main business streets; that a dog pound convenient to the main section of the city be established; and that an ordinance better suited to the enforcement of dog licensing be adopted.

The mayor's recommendation that back filling of excavations in the city limits be made under the direct supervision of the board of public works was acted upon favorably by the council, and an ordinance will be framed covering the question. The mayor's plan for monthly sidewalk assessments, starting July 1, will also probably be worked out.

* * *

The city engineer was directed to make a survey and locate a roadway from the west end of Stormaway street to the west line of section 2, township 50, range 14; also to locate the connecting roadway between this road and St. Mary's street at some point at or near Oakland park.

* * *

No action was taken on the recommendation that Superior street be paved from Twenty-third avenue east to Thirty-third avenue east, but the matter is now before the city authorities, and it is considered likely that favorable action will be taken.

* * *

A petition asking for the regrading of Piedmont avenue, so that a street car line may be built there, was referred to the committee on streets, alleys and sidewalks.

* * *

At the request of interested property owners, the council voted to postpone the paving of Eleventh avenue east for one year.

* * *

D. H. Clough and Harry Raymond were granted cement and plank sidewalk contracts in different parts of the city.

* * *

It was voted to extend the fire limits on Grand avenue west from Central to Fifty-seventh and Fifty-ninth avenues west.

* * *

Several employment office, pool hall, pawnbrokers' and second-hand dealers' licenses were granted. The committee refused to report on the application of J. R. Sheehy, who asked for an employment office license at 521½ West Michigan street.

* * *

The council authorized the proper committees to advertise for bids for a city hospital.

* * *

The request of the Duluth Boat club that it be allowed to use a portion of the street near their buildings on Park Point for building purposes was granted. The purchase of two new sprinklers by the board of public works was authorized.

BILL PROVIDES GOVERNMENT TRAIN FOR PRESIDENT.

Washington, April 27.—If a bill introduced today by Representative Dwight of New York becomes a law, the United States will own a complete railway train, consisting of a baggage car, sleeping car and a private car for the exclusive use of the president of the United States. The sum of $60,000 is provided in the bill and for expenses in connection with the travels of the president, his guests and attendants, $25,000 is appropriated to be immediately available.

TO RESUME OPERATIONS.

Atikokan Iron Furnaces at Port Arthur to Start Soon.

Port Arthur, Ont., April 27.—William Mackenzie made the statement in a letter to City Solicitor Keefer yesterday that the big blast furnaces of the Atikokan Iron company will recommence operations within three weeks.

NO SALOON FOR ONEOTA

Council Fails to Pass License Over Mayor's Veto.

Long Fight Against Grog Shop Ends in Victory.

The resolution granting William Meier a saloon license for the corner of Thirty-eighth avenue west and Oneota street was returned to the council by Mayor Haven last night, without his signature. An attempt was made to pass the license over the veto, but the attempt failed, only eight votes in favor of such action being secured.

Mayor Haven, in a communication accompanying the resolution, explained that there were three good reasons why the license should not be granted. In the first place, he said, there were less than 25 per cent of the voters in the precinct in which it was proposed to locate the saloon who signed the petition favoring such location.

In the second place, both aldermen from that ward, elected by a majority of the people, were evidently strongly opposed to the granting of the license, and that fact alone he considered a good reason for not granting the Meier request, for the position of the aldermen is supposed to represent the position of the people in the ward, particularly when that position is in opposition to the establishment of a saloon. In the third place, he declared, this particular saloon had always been the occasion for much strife in the past, creating bad feeling between different factions. The mayor said that public opinion, represented by the large number of letters received by him, and by the number of visitors to the council meetings, as well as telephone calls, all in opposition to the saloon, demanded action against allowing the saloon to open up in Oneota.

This particular saloon has caused more argument and discussion, both in and out of the council meetings, than any other license for many years. The people of Oneota have been fighting against its remaining there for a number of years past, claiming that it was not right that it should be located in a residence district, especially when so many residents of the ward were opposed to it. The license was granted to Carpenter Bros. in this location year after year, in spite of the opposition.

Then complaint was made that the Carpenters had allowed the sale of liquor to minors. Patrick Carpenter was arrested. Several minors were hauled into court, and Mr. Carpenter was convicted of the offense. Then an attempt was made in the council to revoke the Carpenter license, because of law violation. A hot fight followed, and for a time it looked as if the liberals would win out. When the matter came to a final vote, however, the Carpenters were put out of business. Shortly afterwards Mr. Meier put in his application for a license, and now that has been refused.

The knocking out of this license is considered quite a victory for the law-abiding citizens of Oneota, and Mayor Haven today is coming in for many congratulations for his stand upon the matter. The people who called him up and wrote him urging him to veto the license are now calling him up and writing him expressing their approval of his actions.

So bitter was the fight on the question that it extended beyond the boundaries of the ward, and the mayor has on his desk a number of letters from down-town business men.

Best Treatment for Colds.

"Most ordinary colds will yield to the simplest treatment," says the Chicago Tribune, "modest laxatives, hot foot baths, a free perspiration and an avoidance of exposure to cold and wet after treatment." While this treatment is simple, it requires considerable trouble, and the one adopting it must remain in doors for a day or two, or a fresh cold is almost sure to be contracted, and in many instances pneumonia follows. Is it not better to pin your faith to an old reliable preparation like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, that is famous for its cures of colds and can always be depended upon? For sale by all druggists.

There will be a Chi-Namel Demonstration at our store during the week beginning May 3rd. Do not miss the opportunity to learn how to secure a new hardwood floor for $2.50, and how to have a Mission finish dining room, den or sitting room without the expense of removing old paint or varnish.

Any old floor, oil cloth or linoleum made to look like new hardwood, any style of grain. Lessons free by special instructor.

"THE MELTING POT" AT LYCEUM

Zangwill Drama Presented By Walker Whiteside and Company.

"America is God's crucible—the great melting pot. These are the fires of God you have come into, my brother—the fires of God. Germans and Frenchmen, Irishmen and Englishmen, Jews and Russians—into the crucible with you all. God is making the American. America shall make good."

That is the central theme of Israel Zangwill's play, "The Melting Pot," which was presented by Walker Whiteside, Crystal Herne and a capable company at the Lyceum last evening.

Mr. Zangwill has made a notable addition to the America drama in "The Melting Pot." It is a strong theme, splendidly worked out—and yet there seems to be something lacking—something in which it falls short of being the great American drama, which it has been hailed as being. Perhaps it is because the play does not carry conviction with it; does not "get over the footlights" as it should. It is a beautiful message which the young Jewish immigrant carries in his heart and gives to the world through his great symphony, but in present-day America, with its selfishness and its greed, such a refining process as he pictures seems Utopian. On the one side there are too many Zionists. On the other hand there are too many Americans of the Quincy Davenport type, to whom the "immigrant" answers: "You—you immigrant. I am a Jew who knows that your Pilgrim Fathers came straight out of the Old Testament, and that our Jew immigrants are prouder of the glory of this grand commonwealth than some of your sons of the soil. It is your freak fashionables who are undoing the work of Washington and Lincoln, vulgarizing your high heritage, and turning the last and noblest hope of humanity into a caricature."

"I am nothing but a simple artist, but if come from Europe—one of her victims—and I know that she is a failure. Here, in the land of tomorrow, you are trying to bring back all of her follies and fetishes. But you shall not kill my dream! There shall come a fire around the crucible that shall melt your bread like wax in a blow pipe."

The play must of necessity interest the Jewish race, and there were many of the most prominent Jewish people of Duluth in the audience last evening. If the ideal presented in the play were carried out, it would sound the death-note of Judaism in America, and the dissolution of the Jewish race. This aspect of the case naturally aroused bitter censure from many prominent Jewish writers and speakers.

The play was splendidly presented last evening. Walker Whiteside's art is known and appreciated in Duluth. For years he has been looking for a vehicle which would give him full scope for his talents, and he has been struggling along on the outer edges of fame, refusing to sacrifice his art for temporary popularity. He is the rare type that would rather starve while playing Shakespeare, than live in private cars from popular plays of the moment. In Zangwill's play he has apparently found at last a role to his liking, and he throws himself into the work with enthusiasm. He has made one of the big hits of the year, winning no small measure of fame, to say nothing of the dollars.

Crystal Herne has the role of Vera Revendal, the leading feminine part, and handles it well. She is a slender, graceful young woman, who gives the impression of artificiality at first sight, but this slowly wears off, and she rises to the demands of the last two acts of the play in a surprising and pleasing manner.

The best character bit that has been seen on a Duluth stage in many a day is contributed by Louise Muldener as Frau Quixano, the old orthodox Jewish grandmother. It is perfect.

John Blair as Baron Revendal has a small part, but he makes every line tell, and Henry Vogel also makes the most of the role of Herr Pappelmeister. The other members of the cast are passably good.

"The Melting Pot" will be repeated tonight and to morrow, with a matinee Wednesday.

"QUEEN OF MYSTERY."

Marie Rolofson Has Mystifying Act at Bijou This Week.

"Norway's Queen of Mystery," is the way Miss Marie Rolofson, the headliner at the Bijou this week is billed. She can have her billing read any old way she chooses, for she has a mystery act that makes the blase patrons of vaudeville sit up and take considerable notice.

Ten men try to lift the queen, but as long as her hands touch the flesh of those who try to do the trick, they find it impossible. If Miss Rolofson's hands do not touch the flesh of those who try the lifting, presto, it is easily done.

The trick is a good one, if it is a trick, and Miss Rolofson does not explain how it is done.

Miss Rolofson is ably assisted in her act by Capt. Leopold McLaglen, who lays claim to the title of Jiujitsu champion of the world.

"An Easy Liar" is a pleasing little sketch presented by Frank Bacon and company. Mr. Bacon displays considerable talent and he has supplied himself with excellent foils in the persons of Miss Bessie Stuart Bacon and Janes Jeffrey.

This is Isadore Silver's last week as the Bijou's vocalist and his friends were legion in last night's audience. They gave him a royal reception when he appeared and his voice has never been heard to better advantage than in "Mandy Lane." He has sung it here before and it is at the request of his many friends that he is giving it upon his last week. After leaving here, Mr. Silver will play an engagement in Superior.

A song called "All Aboard for Slumberville" is the best thing in Billy Windom's monologue, although he has a number of good gags. He appears as "the colored nurse girl."

Ward Brothers, in highland costume, do a number of clever steps and Virginia Grant makes good with a vocal number. Kelly and Reno, with a knockout acrobatic turn, get a good many laughs, and with the moving pictures, complete an excellent bill.

"The House of Bondage."

After complimenting in detail "The House of Bondage" as a dramatic work, the Minneapolis Journal has the following to say of Florence Roberts and her company, who will appear in the above named play at the Lyceum on Friday and Saturday evenings and Saturday matinee.

"'The House of Bondage' affords opportunity for a quartet of fine players to achieve as many strong characterizations. These are so nearly equal in value that Florence Roberts, the titular star, sheds a light scarcely brighter than that emanating from her accomplished colleagues. Miss Roberts brings a finished artistry to her portrayal of the woman who suffers and, through renunciation, chastens her soul. Thurlaw Bergen gives a clear and appellant impersonation of a man who 'is stronger than he who taketh a city.' Arthur Forrest contributes the most individual characterization as the keen lawyer and member of parliament, while Ann Warrington is most satisfying as the fourth character. Mary Bertrand is very charming and Hallet Bosworth contributes a fine sketch as a Swiss country doctor."

"The Merry Widow."

A Hungarian band appears in the Maxim's scene in "The Merry Widow," led by Veress, a celebrated cafe leader from the Ritz hotel, Paris. The players come from Budapesth. It was Veress' custom, when playing for his guests, to wander from table to table where the pretty women were present, and with his persuasive violin tell them his adoration and his eternal worship of beauty. This is a famous feature of all the great Parisian restaurants which does not appeal to jealous American husbands with handsome wives, and Richard Harding Davis has written a powerful story around an adventure between Veress and a young American bridegroom who resented the frank musical expression of admiration by the handsome Hungarian violinist.

BONDED TO DULUTH MEN.

Copper-Gold Claims in British Columbia Under Option.

Revelstoke, B. C., April 27.—A rich group of copper-gold claims on the west coast, owned by a syndicate, headed by Thomas Taylor and F. C. Elliott of Revelstoke, has just been bonded to Duluth men who are said to be closely connected with the United States Steel corporation. The selling price is $40,000. The group is located at Tassee Harbor.

MADE NERVOUS WRECK BY STOMACH TROUBLE

Iowa Man's Case Has a Parallel In Every Community.

With a theory that human health is dependent on the stomach and with a medicine which he says proves this theory, L. T. Cooper, a comparatively young man, has built up an immense following during the past two years.

Cooper has visited most of the leading cities of the country, and in each city has aroused a storm of discussion about his beliefs and his medicines. Wherever he has gone, people have called upon him by thousands, and his preparation has sold in immense quantities.

The sale of this medicine has now spread over the entire country, and is growing enormously each day. In view of this, the following statement from one of his many followers is of general interest.

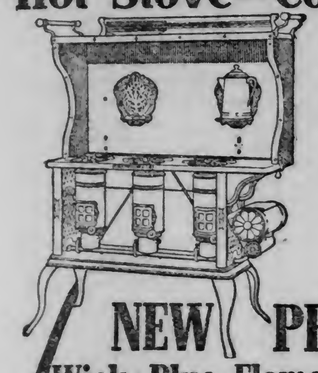

Mr. George Hyde, for the past twenty years a respected resident of Maquoketa, Iowa, says: "After years of suffering from chronic stomach trouble, and trying nearly every known remedy as well as treating with some of the best physicians in the country, I found myself a nervous wreck. My appetite was gone, and the little I could eat distressed me. I could not get a sound night's sleep, and arose in the morning feeling tired and worn out. I was greatly weakened and badly run down. My failure to secure relief after diligent search discouraged me, and I began to feel that there was little hope of ever again enjoying good health.

"Some time ago, however, I became interested in some newspaper articles dealing with the ideas and beliefs of L. T. Cooper. His theory that the stomach is responsible for the state of one's health, either good or bad, impressed me as being logical. He claimed that no one could enjoy good health with a bad stomach, likewise, no one could be ill with a stomach in good condition. His further claim that his New Discovery preparation would restore the stomach to normal, induced me to give it a trial.

"I went to my druggist and bought a bottle. It proved helpful from the first dose. I continued the treatment, and improved rapidly. Four bottles made me well. I am sixty years of age, and today feel younger and enjoy better health than in the past ten years. I owe it all to Cooper's New Discovery. Anyone suffering from stomach trouble or nervousness should try this remarkable preparation."

Cooper's New Discovery is sold by all druggists everywhere. A sample bottle sent free upon request by addressing The Cooper Medicine Company, Dayton, Ohio.

Hot Stove—Cool Kitchen

SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

FRANKIE NEIL IS OUTCLASSED

San Francisco Lad Is No Match for Owen Moran.

New York, April 27.—Frankie Neil of San Francisco fought twelve hard rounds with Owen Moran of England here last night. No decision was given, but Neil was outclassed from the start, when he went through the ropes from a left drive by Moran. Time and again Neil looked as if he would be knocked out, but he was game and came back with a rush.

Moran finished without a scratch. His opponent was badly cut up about the face. The men were to have fought at 124 pounds, but Moran refused to weigh in and lost his forfeit. Neil weighed 121 and Moran looked to be many pounds heavier.

It was a whirlwind fight from beginning to end, both lads continually rushing. Moran, however, was able to use his left with success through Neil's guard, and he several times put the latter against the ropes. Neil played for Moran's ribs and stomach and in the clinches was handy with both hands. In the fourth round Neil was almost out, but came back fresh in the fifth. In the last three rounds Moran hammered Neil savagely, but could not give the deciding blow.

A CHAMPIONSHIP MARATHON RACE

Promoters Planning Big Long Distance Event for New York.

New York, April 27.—A $10,000 grand International Marathon race is announced for May, at the Polo grounds in this city. The promoters say it is for the championship of the world. St. Yves, the Frenchman, who won the derby; Simpson, the Indian; Dorando, Maloney and Orphee and Cibot, the winners of the recent six-day go-as-you-please race in Madison Square garden have already entered.

The management expects that Pat White of Ireland, Carvajal of Cuba, Fred Appleby, the Englishman, who twice defeated Shrubb; Svanborg, the Swede; Johnny Hayes, Tom Longboat and Shrubb will also enter. It is announced that the $10,000 will be divided—$5,000 to the winner, then in order of the finish, $2,000, $1,200, $800, $500, $300 and $200.

Boston Wins Slow Game.

New York, April 27.—The Boston club, making its first appearance of the year here yesterday, defeated the New York Nationals in a slow game, by a score of 5 to 2. The locals got many men on bases, but could not get them off, hitting in the pinches being weak. Seymour and Murray collided in going after Becker's fly in the first inning and both were hurt. Murray stayed in the game, but Seymour left after the next play. He was severely shaken up and will be unable to play for a week.

Pittsburg, 4; St. Louis, 3.

St. Louis, Mo., April 27.—Pittsburg won in the twelfth inning from St. Louis by a score of 4 to 3. St. Louis tied the score in the ninth when Phillippi became unsteady and Leifield finished the game for Pittsburg. St. Louis had men thrown out at the plate in the tenth and eleventh innings. Sallee, Lush and More pitched good ball.

Philadelphia, 6; Brooklyn, 4.

Philadelphia, April 27.—Errors by Brooklyn were responsible for a defeat by Philadelphia yesterday by 6 to 4. Hummel's misplays were particularly damaging to Brooklyn's chances, although the home team batted McIntyre's curves hard. Brooklyn developed a batting streak in the last inning, when with one run in and two on bases, Coveleskie was sent in and retired the side without further scoring.

Chicago, 1; St. Louis, 0.

Chicago, April 27.—The Chicago Americans won the second game of the series from St. Louis yesterday. Frank Smith pitched and won his third game in five days. It was a close battle between Smith and Powell, each allowing only two hits. Neither pitcher gave a base on balls. The winning run was scored in the first inning. Hahn singled and took second on Powell's wild throw of Dougherty's bunt. Isbell sacrificed and Hahn scored on Cravath's infield out. Score:

Did you notice the picture of Al Kuehnow in The Herald of last evening? Better take a good look at it. If ever a portrait pictured contented features and an optimistic frame of mind, this picture did. After looking at the joy-spreading smile of Al's, kindly read what he has to say regarding the prospects of the White Sox.

And by the way, what Brother Al has to say regarding the early training of the Duluth team is about right. They have had none of the advantages of early training that the Class B teams that have been playing, have enjoyed, yet Saturday Hurler Marlon was able to make the Rockford hickory handlers jump out of the batter's box in their efforts to slam his benders.

Thus far in the spring training, the Sox have made an excellent showing, taking everything into consideration. Kuehnow appears to have mabbed some promising players. Darby O'Brien has the confidence of the fans who witnessed his work last year, and should the members of the squad keep up the early season promise, there should be no reason why Duluth shouldn't be in the race from the time the mayor inaugurates the Minnesota-Wisconsin official season, by making a Bridget Mulcahy heave in a general direction toward the waiting batter.

During the spring training season Duluth has been playing teams in a class above the Minnesota-Wisconsin league. That they have, taking the many disadvantages they have been laboring under, into consideration, made a very good showing, and it is up to the Duluth fans to give them the right kind of a send off upon their local appearance.

It is the first reception that makes the strongest impression upon a player. It makes a hit with him and makes him go out and work to win. The local backers seem to have a likely bunch of players and part of the burden of having a winning team rests upon the shoulders of the fans. With the fans of Duluth doing their share of the work, Duluth bids fair to be in the pennant hunt all of the season.

Philadelphia, in the death yesterday of Dr. Powers, the catcher of the Connie Mack brigade for years, lost one of the unique characters of the great national game. The game lost a college man and a gentleman, and Connie Mack will keenly feel the loss of a great receiver; a loss that the Athletics can ill afford to endure.

It was Dr. Powers who used to curb the spirit of that eccentric fisherman, "Rube" Waddell. When the relentless spirit of the giant southpaw longed with fervent longing for the trout streams, when the hunt for the flag was at its height, it was the calm talk of Dr. Powers that massaged the bubbling enthusiasm of the amateur fisherman.

"Doc." Powers could by the mere exerting of superior brain power subdue the unruly "Rube." Once the eccentric "Rube" went upon a fishing trip when the Athletics were battling with the New York Giants for the world's championship. The loss of the twirler naturally crippled the Philadelphias. It was after this sad experience with the fickleness of the rattle-brained heaver, that Powers took him in hand and sought to soothe his curdled thoughts and desires.

Powers succeeded fairly well in his mission, and in accomplishing the task of acting as mentor to J. Edward Waddell, Dr. Powers performed a great feat for his team. He was a great catcher, one of the first of the college men to make good in the then young American league, and his loss will be one that will be lamented by baseball men throughout the country.

New York lovers of the sport of running have organized the Association of Owners and Breeders. The object of this association is to keep alive the racing game, that bids fairly well to die under the prohibition placed upon bookmaking. It is one of the evils of racing that gambling has been invariably associated with the running game. The breeders and owners intend to place the sport upon an independent footing, if such an accomplishment is possible, by subscribing funds to guarantee stakes at the various meetings, and thus keep alive the interest in the breeding of thoroughbreds in this country. The object of the association is laudable. With the dying out of thoroughbred racing in this country, the high type of thoroughbred that the breeders of this country have stood for in the past would pass.

Old Pop Anson is still frisking around the green diamond. He has a bunch of kittish colts, mere guileless youths compared to Pop, and he is playing professional and independent teams throughout the country. Old Man Anson has only been upon the diamond since the days of Harper's Ferry, he being dissuaded from joining that venture through the fear that he would lose his batting eye. He seems to be seeking the record so long held by Adelina Patti.

Faculty members of the University of Wisconsin are again putting the mitten upon college athletics. It is a safe bet that the majority of the members of the Badger state institution eat shredded wheat biscuit for dinner and read Henry James at the breakfast table. Once Wisconsin led the West in almost every branch of athletics. But pink tea functions and the exciting game of ping pong have won a place in the hearts of the faculty members, and the rude football player is a type to be discouraged. The proud athletic name of Wisconsin has ceased to be. When a premium upon red blood be. When a premium upon red blood wanes, look out for the deterioration of the school.

MAKE BID FOR THE BIG MATCH

Gotch - Hackenschmidt Contest May Take Place in Seattle.

Seattle, Wash., April 27.—Sixty per cent of the gate, with a guarantee that it will be not less than $15,000 is the gist of an offer that has gone forward to Frank Gotch and George Hackenschmidt, the "Russian Lion," for a wrestling bout for the championship, to be pulled off in Seattle during the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition.

The offer is made by the management of the Arena, one of the big attractions on the exposition. "Pay Streak," behind which is John Cort, the theatrical magnate. Cort has erected on the Pay Streak a huge arena, with a seating capacity of 5,000. In it throughout the fair John L. Sullivan, Jake Kilrain and other old-time mittmen, including Charley Mitchell, will perform, and a series of bouts between the top notchers of the present day will be brought off. It is planned to include wrestling matches and the Cort management is now trying to sign with such men as Gotch, Hackenschmidt, Dr. Roller and the other good ones. In making an offer for the Gotch-Hackenschmidt bout, the Cort people are entering into active competition with the Australian outfit which has offered a guarantee gate of $25,000 for the same match.

Fifty per cent of the picture privilege goes with the Seattle offer and also a fairly generous expense and training account.

If the arena offer is accepted the principals will be required to put up a forfeit.

REPLY TO "A PHYSICIAN"

On Distance Running By the High School Boys.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I wish to correct some erroneous impressions that may have been formed from an article published yesterday headed "The Marathon Craze," and signed "A Physician." As the only boys in the city doing distance running belong to the high school it must be assumed that the criticism is directed toward their management.

In the first place, the man who has the direction and restriction of these boys has had some years' experience as a coach, trainer and participant in athletics. Every boy is carefully watched and the work assigned to him is in accordance with his special needs. The cross-country runs have been held three times a week, for a short distance only, with one exception. The trainer has been a participant and one of those seen "running with his mouth open" (sic.) No one has been allowed to go his limit as yet, and no one has been excessively fatigued.

Second, it is foolish to say, that a mile run under the conditions above is injurious to a healthy boy of 16 to 19 years. Sometimes it does not even produce a good perspiration. It certainly is not as hard on the heart as two blocks up Duluth's hills.

Third, both the boys and the work are under medical supervision. If "A Physician" is aware of this, he is going contrary to the ethics of his profession in criticising the work of another doctor. If he is not aware of the fact, he is committing an indiscretion in rushing into print on matters of which he is not sufficiently informed.

I am aware that there are evils and dangers in athletics, but I do contend that proper direction reduces these to a minimum and that athletics are a God send to many boys at a critical period of their lives. Respectfully yours,

DWIGHT W. HIESTAND,
Duluth Central High School.

The Schaefer Benefit.

New York, April 27.—Collections were taken up last night in the larger billiard rooms of Greater New York for the benefit of "Jake" Schaefer, the "wizard of billiards," who is seriously ill in Colorado. In nearly all the rooms there were special benefit programs, including matches between prominent local professionals and amateurs.

In Duluth about $50 was secured.

Gotch and Dr. Roller.

Kansas City, Mo., April 27.—Frank Gotch, world's champion wrestler, is considering an offer to meet George Hackenschmidt at the Seattle exposition for the championship.

Gotch and Dr. Benjamin F. Roller of Seattle wrestle here tonight in convention hall.

Police Stop Bout.

Columbus, Ohio, April 27.—Abe Attell of California and champion featherweight boxer, last night outclassed Biz MacKey of Findlay, Ohio, in eight rounds of a scheduled 10-round bout. He knocked MacKey down twice in the eighth round, whereupon the police stopped the bout.

Rheumatism.

More than nine out of every ten cases of rheumatism are simply rheumatism of the muscles, due to cold or damp, or chronic rheumatism. In such cases no internal treatment is required. The free application of Chamberlain's Liniment is all that is needed, and it is certain to give quick relief. Give it a trial and see for yourself how quickly it relieves the pain and soreness. The medicines usually given internally for rheumatism are poisonous or very strong medicines. They are worse than useless in cases of chronic and muscular rheumatism. For sale by all druggists.

Franklin Automobiles

A light-weight automobile built on practical lines stands up the best, controls the easiest, lasts the longest and is the most satisfactory and economical in every way.

How the Franklin Gets Light Weight

Franklin construction is well balanced. There is a scientific distribution of suitable materials. Full-elliptic springs and laminated-wood chassis frame absorb and neutralize shocks so that there is no need of excessive weight to resist straining and racking. The Franklin engine is air-cooled—all the weight of water and water-cooling apparatus is dispensed with. Franklin bodies are sheet aluminum—the lightest and strongest of all automobile bodies. The wheels and tires on Franklins are large, giving the smoothness and freedom from jar.

The six-cylinder, 42 horse-power, seven-passenger, $3750 Franklin touring car weighs 2650 pounds. It is the only light-weight large automobile. The average six-cylinder automobile is ponderous and heavy. The weight is increased out of proportion to the increase in power, so that the whole advantage of the six-cylinder construction is missed. To gain power without increasing weight means increased speed and ability, and that is what you want, and that is what you get in Franklin Model H. There is none of the burden and none of the anxiety that goes with a heavy automobile. And it rides like the finest carriage.

RAILROADS

RATE WAR LOOMS UP

Eastern Trunk Lines Are Ready to Start Hostilities.

The Interstate Commerce Commission Expects a Big Conflict.

Washington, April 27.—A rate war among Eastern trunk lines is almost inevitable, in the opinion of the interstate commerce commission. Thus far, the trouble extends only to rates on import traffic, westbound, but the likelihood is that it will extend soon to domestic traffic.

The trouble was precipitated some time ago by the Boston & Maine in wiping out a differential of 1 cent a 100 pounds on import traffic, westbound, which had existed for years between Boston and New York, Baltimore and Philadelphia. It was not expected that trunk lines generally would meet the recent reduction made by the Boston & Maine, but a day or two ago the Chesapeake & Ohio reduced its rate from Norfolk to meet the Boston & Maine's rate. The Chesapeake & Ohio rate goes into effect on May 24.

Following the Chesapeake & Ohio's action, the Baltimore & Ohio made a like rate, effective from Baltimore on May 25, and from Philadelphia effective on June 1. The Pennsylvania also filed a like rate from Baltimore effective on June 25.

To what extent the difficulty may go it is impossible to predict, but members of the commisson are inclined to the belief that the war may become serious.

NEED NOT FURNISH BONDS TO INDEMNIFY RAILROADS.

St. Louis, Mo., April 27.—Circuit Judge Williams yesterday held that Circuit Attorney Jones need not furnish bonds to indemnify the railroads against loss by reason of the injunction still filed by Circuit Attorney Jones at the instance of Governor Hadley. Judge Williams told the railroad attorneys he would tell them within a few days whether he has jurisdiction in the cases. The dismissal of the restraining order will be decided May 15.

Injunction suits against the Burlington, Chicago & Alton and the Kansas City Southern railroads were dismissed by the circuit attorney. The fifteen other roads are enjoined from enforcing an alleged illegal agreement to restore the 2-cent passenger rate, but no motions were filed by the state because of Federal Judge Phillips' injunctions against Governor Hadley and Circuit Attorney Jones.

MAKES ROAD STICK TO ROAD BUSINESS.

Washington, April 27.—"That decision means for Ohio what we are seeking in the commodities clause case, that is, that the railroads shall confine themselves to the railroad business," was the comment of Wade H. Ellis, assistant to the attorney general, in charge of trust matters, after a carecharge of trust matters, after a careful reading of the decision of Circuit Judge Alread, in Columbus, Ohio, in the Hocking Valley railroad case. The decision, it is stated, ousts the Hocking Valley from ownership of stock in several coal companies.

RATES MAKE REDUCTION ON COMMODITY TARIFFS.

Washington, April 27.—An important series of rates was yesterday filed with the Interstate commerce commission, affecting westbound traffic to Pacific coast terminals. The rates, which are to become effective June 5, make an average reduction of 10 cents per 100 pounds on all commodity tariffs from the Atlantic seaboard to the Pacific coast. No reduction has been made in the eastbound traffic from the Pacific coast, but it is expected tariffs soon to be filed will make a corresponding reduction.

NEW OFFICIALS FOR GRAND TRUNK SYSTEM.

Notices of appointments made by the Grand Trunk railway system were received at the offices of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic this morning. George W. Vaux is appointed general passenger agent, with headquarters at Montreal; G. T. Bell is appointed assistant general passenger agent, with headquarters at Montreal; W. P. Hinton is appointed general passenger agent, with headquarters at Winnipeg; H. G. Elliott is appointed first assistant general passenger agent, with headquarters at Montreal; W. S. Cookson is appointed assistant general passenger agent, with headquarters at Chicago; H. R. Charlton is appointed general advertising agent, with headquarters at Montreal.

Special for Knights.

A Great Northern special will take 100 Duluth Knights Templar to St. Paul at 11:30 tonight. The special will leave twenty minutes after the Great Northern regular. The train will return tomorrow evening. A. E. Hathaway, city passenger and ticket agent, will be in charge of the special.

Object to Strong Medicines.

Many people object to taking the strong medicines usually prescribed by physicians for rheumatism. There is no need of internal treatment in any case of muscular or chronic rheumatism, and more than one out of every ten cases of the disease are of one or the other of these varieties. When there is no fever and little (if any) swelling, you may know that it is only necessary to apply Chamberlain's Liniment freely to get quick relief. Try it. For sale by all druggists.

TAWNEY FAVORS THE TAFT TRIP

Will Introduce Bill Providing $25,000 for Alaskan Journey.

Washington, April 27.—Representative Tawney, chairman of the house committee on appropriations, talked with the president today about the latter's plan for an extensive tour through the West late this summer, and at the conclusion of the interview said he would place a bill before the house appropriating $25,000 for the president's traveling expenses during the coming fiscal year.

Tawney said a false impression had gotten abroad that he was opposed to such a measure. He said he did not know until today definitely that President Taft desired to go West in the summer and to "take a run up to" Alaska—one portion of the United States territory on which Taft has not yet set foot.

No president of the United States has ever visited Alaska, and Taft is anxious to learn at first hand just what are the conditions there.

BURY HIM AT CAPITAL

Babcock Funeral Details Are Not Yet Made, However.

Widow Convalescing From Strain Due to Husband's Illness.

FROM THE HERALD WASHINGTON BUREAU

Washington, April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Former Congressman Joseph Babcock of Wisconsin, who died here today, was known principally for the yeoman work he performed for the election of Republican congressmen, as chairman of the Republican congressional committee.e He was regarded among his colleagues when he was in the house as one of the shrewdest politicians in congress. As chairman of the Republican congressional committee, Babcock managed six congressional campaigns for the election of a Republican house, not one of which did he lese.

He was an ardent champion of the national capital, and as chairman for many years of the house committee on the District of Columbia he worked with great zeal for any movement looking to the improvement of this city. Babcock's final defeat in the house was brought about by a combination between the La Follette faction of the Republican party and the Democrats in Wisconsin, and resulted in the election to the Sixtieth congress of Representative Murphy, a Democrat.

At his bedside when Mr. Babcock passed away were Mrs. Babcock, Charles E. Babcock, his son, with his wife and an adopted son, George W. Babcock. Interment will be in this city, but the funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Mrs. Babcock, who was brought down under the strain of her husband's long illness, is slowly convalescing.

CASH TO SWELL THE POPULATION

St. Louis Million Club Proposes $100,000 for Advertising.

St. Louis, Mo., April 27.—The Million Population club has decided that the city's population can be increased by the expenditure of $100,000 and the municipal assembly will be asked to appropriate that sum.

This action was decided on last night.

The idea is that one-half the amount shall be spent with local newspapers in monthly supplements, dealing with the advantages of St. Louis.

The other half is to be spent for magazine advertising and circulars.

BOOTH PROPERTY OFF AT AUCTION

Boston Holdings Will Go Under Hammer May 24.

Boston, Mass., April 27.—The Boston property of A. Booth & Co. the fish trust, will be sold at auction May 24, by order of the United States circuit court. It is understood that similar sales of the company's property in other states and Canadian provinces will be held in May.

CONDITIONS SATISFACTORY

"Conditions in the trades unions of the state may be said to be in a most satisfactory condition," said George B. Howley of St. Paul, president of the Minnesota State Federation of Labor, who is in the city today.

Mr. Howley came to the Head of the Lakes to speak at the Women's Label league banquet last night and will spend several days conferring with labor leaders here and on the ranges. Mr. Howley said that there was nothing of serious import which called him here at this time and that his visits with the local unionists are merely casual official calls.

This afternoon Mr. Howley will probably go to Hibbing or Virginia. He expects to spend several days visiting the unions on the range and will stop off here for a day or so upon his return. He will go back to St. Paul the last of the week.

GRAFT IS ALLEGED IN LEASE OF CITY HALL.

Chicago, April 27.—State's Attorney Wayman's graft investigation, which has caused consternation among many local politicians, has, it was reported today, unearthed a scandal having to do with the leasing of the temporary city hall. This building is on Randolph street, and is being used under a two-and-a-half-year lease while a new edifice is being constructed.

It is alleged that the city is paying a rental of $99,000 a year, despite that the same building was offered to private firms and individuals, previous to the signing of the lease with the city, for one-third that amount.

Real estate dealers who have been questioned recently by the state's attorney are said to have informed the prosecutor that offers to private parties ranged from $30,000 to $40,000 a year for the building. It is said that the estate which owns the building is not involved in the lease to the city, negotiations, it is alleged, having been carried on by specially appointed agents.

NOW DECLARED THAT "LORD" IS NO SLAYER

"LORD" BARRINGTON.

Des Moines, Iowa, April 27.—Intense interest is aroused here by the assertion that the man held in the Des Moines jail on charge of promoting fake foot races and who has answered to many names, is none other than McGann, for whose alleged murder "Lord" Barrington is serving a life sentence in St. Louis. The evidence against Barrington was purely circumstantial, the most important being the finding of gold-filled teeth in a lonely spot near where Barrington and McGann were last known to have been together.

United States and Dominion Experts Will Work on Job.

The boundary line between the United States and Canada is to be remarked during the coming summer, O. H. Titman of the United States coast survey and Dr. W. F. King, dominion astronomer, having been appointed to do the work.

Surveying parties will commence work between the Lake of the Woods and Port Arthur and place permanent marks along the land boundary. Where the line passes through water, reference monuments will be placed. In timbered country some of the old marks will be used.

The international boundary runs from the Bay of Fundy on the north line of Maine through the straits separating Vancouver Island from the mainland. It follows the forty-fifth parallel for a considerable distance and west of the Lake of the Woods follows the forty-ninth parallel to salt water. For a considerable distance the line runs through northern lakes and a wild, wooded country.

KILLED BY HOGS.

Elkton, N. D., April 27.—The mutilated remains of Miss Elizabeth Woods of this place are reported as thought to have been found in a hog pasture. It is thought she was attacked and killed by the swine.

FARGO PAWNBROKERS SAY BUSINESS IS DULL.

Fargo, N. D., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Too much prosperity in Fargo is alleged by the pawnbrokers. They have put up a story of little business and inability to indulge in such luxuries as licenses, because the people of Fargo are too thrifty to patronize their institutions.

Fargo iwll be represented at the meeting of the International conference on criminal law at Chicago, June 7, by Judge Pollock.

Being "Railroaded" to Asylum.

Fargo, N. D., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Alleging that he is being railroaded to the state asylum Chistopher Schure of Sargent county seeks freedom through habeas corpus proceedings. His attorneys appeared before Judge Pollock of this city, and they assert it is a domestic row rather than mental troubles.

ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION —OF— H. L. BARTLETT COMPANY.

We, the undersigned, do hereby associate ourselves together and adopt the following articles for the purpose of forming a corporation under and pursuant to the laws of the State of Minnesota.

FIRST.

The name of this corporation shall be "H. L. BARTLETT COMPANY."

SECOND.

The general nature of the business to be carried on by this corporation shall be a general contracting business and the erection, construction and improvement of buildings, structures and other public and private improvements of all kinds, either for its own use or for others, also the manufacturing, purchasing, selling and dealing in any and all kinds of materials used for or in connection with such buildings, structures and improvements and the buying, owning, selling, mortgaging, leasing and dealing in lands, tenements or any interest therein, together with such other operations or business as may be incident to any and all of the foregoing or convenient for the proper carrying on of the same. Also to do generally all kinds of contracting work both for individuals and corporations such as railroad, bridge, concrete, pile-driving, rock crushing, timber work, tunnelling and mining.

THIRD.

The principal place of transacting the business of said corporation shall be in the City of Virginia in the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, but the business of said corporation may be transacted by its board of directors at the City of Duluth in said County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, or at any other place in said state of Minnesota, that shall be designated by its by-laws or by order of its board of directors. The time of the commencement of this corporation shall be the 30th day of April, 1909, and the period of its duration shall be thirty years from said date of commencement.

FOURTH.

The names and places of residence of the persons so associating to form said corporation are the following, to-wit:

H. L. Bartlett, Virginia, Minnesota.
N. F. Hugo, Duluth, Minnesota.
F. P. Tims, Duluth, Minnesota.

FIFTH.

The management of the affairs of this corporation shall be vested in a board of directors of three persons who shall be stockholders in the corporation, any two of whom shall constitute a quorum to do business. Until the first annual election the following persons shall compose the board of directors, to-wit:

H. L. Bartlett, Virginia, Minnesota.
N. F. Hugo, Duluth, Minnesota.
F. P. Tims, Duluth, Minnesota.

The annual meetings for the election of directors of said corporation shall be held in said county of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, at ten o'clock A. M., on the third Tuesday of December of each year at such place as shall be designated therefor by the board of directors of said corporation.

SIXTH.

The officers of this corporation shall be a president, vice president, secretary and treasurer, and the offices of president and treasurer may be held by one and the same person and the offices of vice president and secretary may be held by one and the same person. The following persons shall constitute the first officers of the corporation and shall hold office until the first annual election and until their successors are elected and qualified, viz:

H. L. Bartlett, President and Treasurer.
F. P. Tims, Vice President.
N. F. Hugo, Secretary.

SEVENTH.

The amount of the capital stock of said corporation shall be Fifty Thousand Dollars ($50,000) divided into Five Thousand (5,000) shares of the par value of One Hundred Dollars ($100) each, which shall be paid in in cash or property acceptable to the board of directors and in such amounts and at such times as the board of directors shall determine and designate. The highest amount of indebtedness or liability of which said corporation shall be at any time subject shall be the sum of One Hundred Thousand Dollars ($100,000).

EIGHTH.

In case of the death, resignation or disqualification to serve of any officer or director of this corporation the vacancy so caused may be filled by the remaining members of the board of directors.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, We have hereunto set our hands and seals in duplicate, this 21st day of April, A. D. 1909.

HARRY MITCHELL'S EDITORIAL

No man can make good in business or in society who isn't particular about his clothes. A man is usually judged by the clothes he wears.

It's just as cheap nowadays to have good clothes made-to-order as to buy hand-me-downs. If your clothes don't fit you, don't blame the storekeeper selling them to you. Some smart drummer loaded the clothier with a lot of suits and he naturally wants to pass 'em off on you. It's like passing off bad money. I certainly would not respect your judgment if you get up against it.

I make suits to order and guarantee perfect fit, style up-to-the-minute for $15, $20 and $25. You couldn't even hope to see their equal in a ready-made store at any price. In reality, suits that I make at $15, $20 or $25, are exactly the same as other tailors charge $30, $40 and $50 for.

It surely will pay you in dollars and cents and in real satisfaction to come in and look at my goods.

Yours truly,

Harry Mitchell,

Heads of Stillwater Box Factories Punished for Violating Laws.

Gave Employment to Some Boys Who Were Under 16 Years.

Stillwater, Minn., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Reinhard Kaiser, owner of the big box factory at South Stillwater; C. J. Levine, owning a similar plant at Oak Park, and Paul Poirier were before the municipal court yesterday on charges of violating the law relative to the employment of boys under 16 years of age, contrary to the compulsory educational law. The complaints were made by P. J. Karpen of the state bureau, who is also state truant officer.

Mr. Kaiser was charged with employing George Bloomquist contrary to law. He stated that he had been careful about observing the law and no such boy was on the pay roll of his factory, but was employed by Mr. Kitts, who had a contract to take edgings from his re-sawmill. Rather than take the time to appear again for a trial he was willing to plead guilty in a technical sense.

Mr. Levine said that he had instructed his foreman not to employ boys contrary to law, and that Oscar Poirier had been at the mill only a few days. His foreman had given the lad work because his father was sick and had a large family to support. The lad had begged for the work. He admitted that he was responsible for the acts of his foreman.

A fine of $5 and costs was imposed upon Messrs. Kaiser and Levine, which was paid.

Had Notified Factory.

Mr. Karpen stated that he had for a year notified the factory men that the law must be enforced, and said he would insist upon such construction, even if he had to proceed under the provision which imposes a penalty of $1,000 fine or a year in prison.

Paul Poirier, father of the lad employed at the Levine factory, was accused by the same officer of allowing his boy to violate the compulsory educational law. He said that sickness was his excuse and that he was not familiar with the law. The lad might have secured permission from the school officers to go to work, but in view of the fact that school is nearly over for the year and the desire to get a job for the summer, he had secured work for the boy. In view of the peculiar circumstances Mr. Poirier was excused and the court suspended sentence.

NORTH DAKOTA IN BIG DUST STORM

Grand Forks, N. D., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dust storms of such proportions as to completely obscure the sun from view raged over the valley portions of North Dakota yesterday, subsiding in the evening with the setting of the sun. Great damage has been done by the high winds, as the dust was raised from the fields in great clouds, uncovering the seeded grain and taking it away with the dust.

Just to what extent this damage may extend is as yet uncertain. The storm raged for eight or ten hours and was one of the fiercest of its kind that has ever been experienced in the state. So strong was the wind, and so heavily loaded with dust was the air, that the farmers were obliged to abandon their work in the fields during almost the entire day.

SENIOR CLASS WORKING HARD

Bemidji, Minn., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—"The largest and one of the most efficient classes in the history of this city will graduate next June from the Bemidji high school," said Supt. A. P. Ritchie.

The commencement exercises will be held in the city hall on Friday evening, June 4, at which time an outside speaker will deliver an address and the valedictorian and the salutatorian of the class will render their respective essays. Olaf Hondrum has the honor of being the valedictorian of the class with a grand average of 91.6 for his entire work in high school, and Ethel L. Knox follows closely with a grand average of 91.4. Olaf completed his high school course in three years and only lacked one credit of the necessary sixteen to graduate a year ago.

The senior class this year has departed from the usual custom of choosing a Latin motto and has selected an English one, with which to leave school, "No Success Without Labor." The class colors are red and white and it's flower is the red rose. The officers of the class are: Helmer Kruse, president; Amanda Klein, vice president; Clara Fisk, secretary, and Arabelle Neal, treasurer.

MINNEAPOLIS SUICIDE.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Napoleon Pleasant, 59 years old, a carpenter, father of seven children, was found hanging from the limb of a tree at the edge of a lumber yard yesterday near his home, 3227 Sixth street north, by Policeman George Gillion of the North side police station. A note addressed "To my brother," asking that his body be cremated, without funeral services, was found between the leaves of a notebook in the man's pocket.

Coroner Gilbert Seashore said death was due to hanging and that the man was self-slain. No motive has been ascribed by friends or relatives for the man's act.

ADOPT BERKELEY CHARTER.

Mankato Charter Commission to Follow California City's Plan.

Mankato, Minn., April 27.—The Mankato charter commission has unanimously decided to adopt the new charter of Berkeley, Cal., as a basis in preparing the new Mankato charter. The plan was adopted in the California city last December and is the most concise and ably prepared charter that has been called to the attention of the commission and contains some improvements on the Des Moines plan.

LUTSEN MAN ENDS LIFE BY SHOOTING.

Grand Marais, Minn., April 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Tired of life, Iver Mattson, aged 34, unmarried, employed as chore man at C. A. Nelson's mill at Lutsen, committed suicide by firing a bullet from a .32-40 rifle into his head, ust below the right eye, death resulting instantly.

Coroner Johnson conducted an inquest, assisted by County Attorney McAlpine, the jury returning a verdict of suicide while despondent.

The following note in Swedish was found on the suicide's body:

> "I'm sick and tired of living. Can't live any longer. Farewell, my friends, and forgive me the trouble I leave behind me; and farewell, my sisters and brothers. Forget me."

Mattson came from Sweden direct to Lutsen four years ago and has lived in that vicinity since. His father and seven sisters and brothers are living, but he has no relatives in this county. The funeral was held Tuesday morning, Rev. Mr. Horner officiating.

RACCOON IS CAUGHT IN MOORHEAD LIMITS.

Moorhead, Minn., April 27.—C. H. Knapp captured a 50-pound raccoon near the Great Northern freight depot in this city yesterday afternoon. George Sheffield saw a dog barking and chasing some animal in that vicinity and told Mr. Knapp, who took up the pursuit which resulted in the capture. The animal was within the city limits and did not appear to be either vicious or frightened when captured.

CREAM RATE PETITION DUE TO BE REJECTED.

St. Paul, Minn., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state railway and warehouse commission has taken under consideration the petition of what are known as the centralized creameries, located in the large cities for the adoption in Minnesota of the long distance rates on cream and milk now in force in Illinois, but the chances are excellent for its rejection. As pointed out by those close to the commission, the adoption of the schedule would badly hamper the cooperative creameries of the state, and the commission has so intimated.

TAMARACK MINE IS DAMAGED BY WATER.

Calumet, Mich., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The high water resulting from the heavy snowstorm of Saturday did heavy damage to the Tamarack mine. The high water caused the Beaver dam to break, its banks flooding the mine railway tracks and closing several of the shafts of the mine.

The water subsided considerably yesterday and has about resumed its normal level today. The total damage is said to be very heavy. There was no loss of life.

BULL ATTACKS WOMAN.

Wolford, N. D., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Attacked by a stray bull, Mrs. Z. R. Davidson, the wife of a farmer near here, had a battle for her life.

By hanging onto the ears of the infuriated animal, she managed to save herself from fatal injury until she could dodge into an open doorway of the barn where she lay badly injured until her husband returned and called a physician.

MANY ATTEND FUNERAL OF ALBERT G. HARRIS.

Crookston, Minn., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral, yesterday, of Albert G. Harris, who was killed instantly in the Great Northern yards at Devils Lake last Friday, his body being dismembered, was one of the most largely attended ever held in Crookston, there being railroad men here from Minneapolis, St. Paul, Duluth and all the important points on the northern and Dakota divisions, they attending in a body, as did the city officials, the W. R. C. and the Crookston fire department.

Changes Hands.

Crookston, Minn., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Crookston auditorium has changed hands, Manager Wilson returning to Chicago. The auditorium will be run in the future by Manager Luger of the Empire theater of Grand Forks, who will divide the vaudeville, twice a week, with that place.

WORSE EVERY YEAR

Plenty of Duluth Readers Have the Same Experience.

Don't neglect an aching back.
It will get worse every year.
Backache is really kidney ache.

To cure the back you must cure the kidneys.

If you don't, other kidney ills follow—

Urinary troubles, diabetes, Bright's disease.

A Duluth citizen tells you how—the cure is easy.

J. M. Zywicki, 1910 W. Michigan St., Duluth, Minn., says: "For eight years I suffered from pains in the small of my back. I also had dizzy spells and on arising in the morning felt very lame. The least cold I contracted, settled in my kidneys and at such times I noticed a sediment in the secretions. Doan's Kidney Pills gave me relief from the first and one box effected a cure, that has remained permanent. I will recommend this excellent remedy at every opportunity."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

What You Need! Why Not Have the Best?

Insurance That Insures AT ALL Times!

UNLUCKY MONTHS

The following may be of interest to the superstitious:

Those born during the period between March 20th and April 20th or between October 20th and November 20th are called Mars people. Those born between May 20th and June 20th or August 20th and September 20th are styled Mercury people. Both of these classes are more liable to accidents than if their births occurred at other times.

I will, however, continue to insure both the Mars and Mercury folks if living on Mother Earth—and all other acceptable risks.

FIFTH AVEVUE, NEW YORK

In its Central Portion, Which Passes the Hotel St. Regis

IS AN AUTOMOBILE BOULEVARD

Ten years ago Fifth Avenue rivalled Hyde Park in the splendid character of its equipages; today it more than vies with the Bois de Boulogne in the number, elegance and variety of its motor cars. On pleasant days more than sixty autos a minute pass the St. Regis Hotel. This means a continuous, daily automobile parade unequalled anywhere else in the world.

The St. Regis Hotel, with its entrance just off the avenue on Fifty-fifth Street, thus affords to autoists touring through New York, and to those contemplating a longer stay as well—the most convenient stopping point. To this convenience must be added its other paramount features, for the St. Regis has won merited distinction among travelers as America's most comfortable and restful hotel. Great good taste, artistic feeling and appreciation, and, above all else, wide experience in catering to people of refinement, have made this hotel what it is, and have gained for it a reputation without flaw or blemish. The touring autoist who makes his New York stop at the St. Regis finds there real comfort and rest under ideal conditions. Nor is he required to pay dearly for the privilege, for the hotel is really low-priced when quality of service is considered. Its cuisine is unsurpassed anywhere; yet restaurant charges are no higher than at other first class hotels. Splendid single rooms may be had for $3 and $4 a day, or the same with private bath for $5 a day (or $6 for two people); while for a parlor, bedroom and private bath the rates are from $12 a day upwards.

JAMES MADISON, one of the fathers of our country, its fourth president, and one of its cleanest, brainiest and most dignified citizens said:—

"I trust the brewing industry will strike deep root in every state in the union."

He, with Thomas Jefferson, did much to further the cause of malt beverages. Had they lived until today and learned that 3½ per cent of alcohol was contained in it is safe to say they would have said "This is the ideal beverage for the American people"—Pure, Delicious, Sparkling. Its use in the home makes stronger men and women and decreases doctor's bills.

Fitger's Beer

Old People Made Young

Hill's Rheumatic Pills are a Godsend to any person over 50 years old. By their gentle, natural stimulation of kidneys, liver and bowels they throw off the poisons which clog the system, causing the twinges, aches and pains which make old age hard to bear. When these poisons are removed there is no more pain—the muscles and joints become supple—you eat and sleep better and feel thirty years younger.

When old age comes the sewers of the body become clogged—kidneys are inactive—the liver is torpid—the bowels do not act freely. The waste matter is kept in the system. It's POISON. The result is the same as though the house pipes had clogged and the sewerage was backing into the cellar.

Hill's Rheumatic Pills

remove these poisons by restoring these vital organs to health. They are purely vegetable—they contain no salicylates, no iodides, no mineral poisons of any kind. These things injure the stomach and cause indigestion. Hill's Rheumatic Pills stimulate the appetite and strengthen digestion. These wonder-working pills are made the same today as they were 73 years ago. We have letters in our files from over 18,000 grateful people who have been relieved from pain and made to feel young again by this marvelous preparation of healing herbs and roots. Yet during all this 73 years Hill's Rheumatic Pills have never been advertised until now. They have been recommended from one to another until today, by their own merit alone, they are used in thousands of homes, to be taken occasionally as means of prevention by those who were in agony from Rheumatism and have been cured.

TEST THEM FREE

We realize that there are hundreds of worthless nostrums on the market—that you may have been deceived into trying them and derived no benefit. If so, you still have a right to be suspicious. To all such we will give a liberal sized package of Hill's Rheumatic Pills for a letter or postal describing their case. Address the letter to Holden & Copp, the makers, Dept. 108, Minneapolis, Minn. The package will come prepaid. Pay nothing then or at any time. When you find the aches and pains going, and see yourself becoming better and stronger each day—then you will KNOW and BELIEVE, and will be as anxious to continue the remedy and be cured as we are to relieve your suffering.

You can then secure these Pills from your home druggist.

CANADIAN RELATIONS

Vice President Mann of Canadian Northern Discusses Reciprocity.

Favors Free Interchange of Coal and of Iron Ore.

"Canada and Reciprocity" is the title of an article in the current number of the Saturday Evening Post by D. D. Mann, vice president of the Canadian Northern railroad. Referring to the movement in the United States for reciprocity with Canada Mr. Mann says:

"All this is in marked contrast with what used to happen a short generation ago. Canada asked the United States for reciprocity similar to that which obtained from 1854 to 1866. Eight times the negative answer came. Today, Canada is being courted. She is a willing friend, but no suitor. There is a nation of difference between the situation of forty years ago, and the position in 1909. It is possible that the last chance of there being only one political power on this continent vanished when the former treaty was abrogated. * * *Canada has arrived, not in guise of a poor relation of republic or empire, but in the right of her own unlimited dower. You can no more revert to the old Canadian idea of reciprocity, than you can replace the locomotive by the stage coach. To discuss the possibility of the absorption of Canada by the United States is utterly to forsake practical politics. You must realize that Canada is a nation so much bigger than any tariff wall, that she can afford to be, as she is, undisturbed by it.

"But that is not to say that the tariff is a closed book between Canada and the United States. Conditions are continually changing, and although the United States tariff against Canada produced the Canadian tariff against the United States, and, incidentally, made Canadian nationhood a sure and certain influence in the world, both tariffs may be handled so as to produce greater business and greater friendliness between the two peoples."

Free Trade in Coal.

Mr. Mann strongly advises a free interchange of coal between the United States and Canada. "Nova Scotia coal deposits," he says, "are the natural fuel supply of New England. The American tariff keeps them out. But the Canadian tariff gives to Nova Scotian coal the Montreal market, by reason of the tax upon Pennsylvania coal.

"I cannot at the moment, think of any considerable manufacturing advantage that would be sacrificed by a readjustment of the coal tariff. There are some conditions surrounding the mechanical production of coal in Nova Scotia, which would, I think, adjust themselves by the opening of the New England market. I have reason to know that the Pennsylvania coal interests would not object to the change. What they would lose in Boston they would gain in Montreal and Ontario. For, let this be observed—the present tax on United States coal hits the consumer back of Lakes Ontario and Erie even though he cannot possibly buy other than Pennsylvania coal. Undoubtedly the duty restricts consumption. Remove it and consumption would increase.

"On the other side of the continent similar conditions prevail. There is unlimited coal in British Columbia and Alberta, and very little—and that of poor quality—in the Pacific states. A duty on Canadian coal is a tax upon industry in the nearby states, without any compensating advantage to either side of the line.

"A glance at the map of North America will show, I think, that the providential distribution of coal is such that it might wisely be left to work out its own solution of supply and demand. In any case, the ultimate disposal of it will be determined not by the accidents of any tariff, but by how long the supply endures."

Pulp and Paper.

Mr. Mann would like to see the lumber duties remain as they are, but sees no injury to Canada in the opening of the United States market by a complete removal of duties on pulp and paper. He says: "Let the United States admit pulpwood and pulp free—I do not think Canadian industry would suffer. Free entry to pulp and pulpwood, plus the possibility of a Canadian export duty, would encourage—that is a better word than 'compel'—the conversion of pulp logs into pulp on Canadian rivers, by the aid of waterpower, in which Canada is the richest country in the world.

"Here is a national resource which will transform the present wilds of Quebec into homing-places of industry, and will always be a tremendous factor in the location of paper making industries."

Mr. Mann would like to see the United States admit iron ore free; and he predicts that within seven years Minneapolis millers will be getting Canadian wheat by the removal of the present duty. "I can conceive," he says, "of no formidable opposition to such a change."

VERDICT FOR CITY OF DULUTH

Court Directs Interstate Traction Company to File New Answer.

In the case of the city of Duluth against the Interstate Traction company, Judge Purdy of the federal court, in the first hearing of the case in Minneapolis, has held that the company had not, as is alleged, complied substantially with the law in regard to filing annual reports. The traction company was given twenty days in which to file an amended answer.

The suit was brought by the city last February under a provision of the city charter which requires the street railway company to file annually a detailed report of its financial condition, in default of which it is liable to a fine of $100 per day between the time of default and the actual filing.

The street railway company contends that the charter is unconstitutional, and also that it had substantially complied with the law.

"MUSTY" MILLER ONCE ON HERALD

Walker Whiteside's Manager Was a Duluthian Twenty Years Ago.

Ambrose M. Miller, known to almost every theatrical manager and actor in the country as "Musty" Miller, is in Duluth, as manager for Walker Whiteside in "The Melting Pot."

About twenty years ago "Musty" Miller was city editor of The Herald, and there are many here now who will recall him. Those were quite strenuous days in Northern Minnesota newspaper work, and Mr. Miller was right in the thick of it, with his coat off. Politics was conducted at a lively pace and Ambrose Miller—he secured the sobriquet of "Musty" later on in the theatrical world—was considered one of the best political writers in the state at the time.

For many years Mr. Miller has been out of the newspaper business and has been connected with the managerial part of the drama, meeting with marked success. At present he is one of Leibler & Co.'s chief lieutenants, and has Mr. Whiteside's tour in charge.

KEELEY IS PARDONED.

Former North Dakotan to Soon Leave Montana Penitentiary.

Devils Lake, N. D., April 27.—Advices from Montana are that Acting Governor W. R. Allen of that state has pardoned H. J. Keeley, formerly a train dispatcher, well known in this section, who was convicted in Sanders county, Mont., March 7, last, on the charge of involuntary manslaughter and sentenced to eight months in the pen. The pardon, of course, is subject to approval by the state board of pardons. Keeley was held responsible for the recent wreck at Parma, in which several lives were lost, and upon conviction sentenced to the pen for eight months. The board will act at the expiration of two weeks.

In granting the pardon, Governor Allen says:

"The petition for pardon has been signed by all of the jurors who tried the case, and is approved by the district judge, in addition to being signed by nearly all the county officials of Sanders and Missoula counties and a large number of the citizens of the west end of the state, where the accident occurred.

"The evidence was exhaustive and somewhat complicated and contradictory. While Mr. Keeley may not have been entirely blameless in the matter, it appears from the evidence that his orders could have been carried out and the accident prevented, had the operator at Parma responded as he should.

"Mr. Keeley was the only one convicted, and served three months in the Sanders county jail while awaiting trial. He voluntarily dismissed the motion for a new trial and he will have served about seven months in jail and prison.

"It is my opinion that, under the circumstances, the punishment meted out to Keeley has been sufficient to serve the ends of justice and I therefore pardon the said H. J. Keeley, subject to the approval of your board."

WHEAT HAS REACTION

Grain Is Well Bought and Closes at Better Level.

Flax Trading Is Light But the Market Is Stronger.

Duluth Board of Trade, April 27.—Wheat was in better demand during all of the session in the American markets today. Opening prices were fractionally over yesterday's close and the close today was more than 2 points higher in Duluth, Chicago and Minneapolis, with the other markets about as strong. The close was at about the high level of the day.

There was good bidding for the options in the Northwestern markets and Chicago. The weather still remains cold and unfavorable for seeding in the Northwest, a fact which figured in the strength of grain today. There was also a feeling that the market had been oversold.

Cables were inclined to be weak. Liverpool closed ⅝d to ¾d lower, Paris ½d to ¾d lower, Berlin 3c lower and Budapest 1¼c higher.

The May option closed 2¼c higher in Duluth, 2⅛c higher in Chicago, 2⅝c higher in Minneapolis, 2½c higher in New York, 3c higher in St. Louis and Kansas City and 1⅛c higher in Winnipeg. The July option closed 2½c higher in Duluth, 2¼c higher in Chicago, 2⅝c higher in Minneapolis, 1½c higher in New York, 2⅛@2¼c higher in St. Louis, 1⅞c higher in Kansas City and 2⅝c higher in Winnipeg.

May corn closed 2¼c higher in Chicago and oats ¾@⅞c higher.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool:

"Wheat—The market was heavy at the start under liberal offerings and poor support, and values were ⅝d to ¾d lower. During the early morning, further selling carried prices off ⅞d to 1⅛d with general realizing and speculative selling. Pressure was the result of the weakness in American cables yesterday, continued favorable European crop advices, advance in spot markets and very small inquiry for forward positions. Country markets were weak, and expectations were for a very light decrease in the European visible supply against a heavy decrease last week. There was some reaction for the extreme low supply due to light covering. At mid-day the market was ⅛d up from the low and 1⅛d to 1½d lower than yesterday.

"Corn was ⅛d lower and later lost an additional ½d. Selling was the result of the continued liberal La Plata offerings, decline in La Plata spot here and a poor consumptive demand. At mid-day, the market was ⅜d lower than yesterday."

Car receipts of wheat at Duluth were 38 against 47 last year, and at Minneapolis 61 against 135 last year, making a total for the Northwest of 99 against 182 last year. Chicago received 15 against 23 last year. Winnipeg received 48 against 81 last year.

Primary receipts of wheat were 173,000 bu, last year 303,000 bu. Shipments 362,000 bu, last year 401,000 bu. Clearances of wheat and flour aggregated 54,000 bu.

Primary receipts of corn were 275,000 bu, last year 612,000 bu. Shipments 463,000 bu, last year 477,000 bu. Clearances of corn were 284,000 bu.

Wheat was quite active in the Duluth market. May wheat opened ¾c higher at $1.16½, declined to $1.16¼, rallied to $1.16⅝, declined to $1.16¼@1.16⅜, and rallied by the close to $1.18, a gain of 2¼c over yesterday. July wheat opened ½c higher at $1.16¾, advanced to $1.17⅛, declined to $1.16¾, rallied to $1.18¼, declined to $1.18 and closed at $1.18¾, a gain of 2½c over yesterday. September wheat advanced from $1.03½ to $1.05¾ and closed there, a gain of 2½c over yesterday.

Durum wheat closed 1⅝c higher and cash spring wheat was selling on a basis of 2½c over May for No. 1 northern.

Flax was quiet, but stronger. May flax opened ½c lower at $1.62 bid, advanced to $1.63 and closed at $1.63¼, a gain of 1c over yesterday. July flax opened ½c lower at $1.62 bid and closed at $1.62¾, a gain of 1c. September flax closed ¼c higher at $1.42¾. October flax closed ½c higher at $1.37½.

Oats closed 1c higher.

Following were the closing prices:

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Rallies on Covering By Shorts; Trade Volume Is Small.

Chicago, April 27.—Wheat prices rallied about 1c from yesterday's close during the early part of the session today on covering by shorts, but the volume of trade was small. Bullish sentiment was augmented by a sharp advance in the corn market. A decline of 1⅜d to 1½d at Liverpool seemed to be ignored by traders here.

At the opening prices were ⅜c lower to ⅝c higher, with May at $1.18½@$1.18¾, and July at $1.06¼@1.07. Later May sold up to $1.19¾ and July to $1.07½@1.07⅝.

The market steadily gained in strength, the leading bull being an aggressive buyer nearly all day. The high point for May was reached at $1.21. July advanced to $1.08¾@1.08⅞. The close was strong at almost the top, with July up 2½c at $1.08⅝ and May up 2⅛c at $1.21.

Light acceptances from the country and rapidly decreasing stocks prompted active covering of corn by shorts, resulting in a strong market. Initial trades showed gains of ⅛@⅜c compared with yesterday's close, May being at 69½@69⅝c. Early in the day May advanced to 70¼c.

A strong tone prevailed throughout the entire session, due to some extent to an active demand for the cash grain. Late in the day May sold up to 71⅝c. The market closed strong, with May 2⅛@2¼c higher at 71½@71⅝c.

Increased receipts had a tendency to weaken the oats market at the start, but the bulge in corn offset this influence and held prices firm at a slight advance. May opened ¼c higher at 55⅝c, sold off to 55c and then advanced to 55⅞@55¾c.

American Wheat Market.

Provisions were steady, owing to a 5c advance in live hogs, and trade was of small volume. Prices at the start were 2½c lower to 5c higher.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 27.—Unfavorable weather reports from the Northwest, lights receipts, and a big decrease in stocks, tended to make the trade strong. Local stocks of wheat decreased 450,000 bu for three days. The market made a steady advance as the session progressed. Reports of buying by big Chicago holders added to the strength. Minnesota today received 61 cars against 135; Duluth 38 against 47; Winnipeg 48 against 81. May opened $1.17¾; high, $1.19⅝@$1.19½; low, $1.17⅛@1.17¾; close, $1.19⅝. July opened $1.18@1.18¼; high, $1.19¾; low, $1.17⅝@1.17¾; close, $1.19⅝. Cash wheat was in strong demand and the market was very active. This strength was stimulated by the light offerings. No. 1 northern sold for 3c over the May option, and No. 2 northern for 1c over.

Millers, both country and local, were the only buyers. No. 1 northern spot, $1.21@1.22½; to arrive, $1.21⅝@1.22⅛; No. 2 northern spot, $1.20@1.20½; to arrive, $1.20⅛; No. 3 wheat, $1.17@1.17⅞; No. 3 yellow corn, 68½@68¾c, No. 3 white, 52⅜@53¼c; No. 2 rye, 87⅞@89⅜c.

Millstuffs—Shipments, 1,928 tons. Demand continued strong and in excess of the supply. No change was reported. Shipments were light and prices held firm. Bran in bulk, $23.00@23.50.

Flour was reported to be a little stronger in demand. The first order of any importance from foreign markets was shipped today. Eastern inquiry is still light. Shipments were about normal and prices held firm. Shipments, 43,012 barrels. First patents, $5.70@5.90; second patents, $5.60@5.80; first clears, $4.75@4.95; second clears, $3.25@3.45.

Flax—Receipts, 1 car, against 21; shipments, 3. Continued lack of offerings made the market inactive. Prices were the same as the Duluth May option. Close, $1.63.

Barley—Receipts, 13 cars today, against 6; shipments, 31. The market was stimulated by light receipts. Demand was strong and prices advanced ½c on all grades. Inquiry was strongest for malting barley. Close, 62@64c.

Midway Horse Market.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul, Minn., April 27.—Barrett & Zimmerman report: Trade in second-hand logging horses continues of large volume and offers real bargains to buyers from the Dakotas and Canada. Prices in fresh and finished offerings are kept down by the unusual large supply of good big work horses out of the logging camps. Drivers and saddlers move fairly well. Forty head of extra choice mules arrived on the market. Wagon horses are in demand by expressing and retail interests up town. Railroad contractors are making inquiries for horses and mules and as soon as contracts now pending are let will be in the market for horses in large numbers.

DECLINES IN STOCKS

Market Opened With Slight Changes and Dropped Under Selling.

Some Rallies Near Close, Which Was Heavy and Dull.

New York, April 27.—Prices of stocks moved with some hesitation in the opening dealings today which were only on a moderate scale. Gains and losses were a good deal mixed. Denver & Rio Grande and Illinois Central declined ⅝ and a block of 4,500 shares of Reading were sold at a concession of ⅛. Rock Island and Corn Products advanced ⅝.

Prices drifted downwards, but none of the representative stocks gave way much below yesterday's closing. Wisconsin Central dropped 2¼ and Chesapeake & Ohio, Denver & Rio Grande and Illinois Central 1. American Express sold at an advance of 10 points. Full recoveries were made by the active stocks later when Rock Island was pushed up a point.

An attempt to initiate an advance by bidding up Wabash preferred 1¼ brought fresh selling. Reading, New York Central, Great Northern ore certificates, Interborough-Metropolitan and Mackay companies were depressed a point. Amalgamated Copper 1¼ and Reading first preferred lost 2. Bonds were heavy. The local traction stocks and United States Steel were bid up smartly, the latter rallying a point from its low figure. After Brooklyn Transit had crossed 78 it met extensive realizing sales which wiped out the major portion of its rise of 1⅝. Railroad stocks were neglected, but were steadier, American Telephone & Telegraph rose 1½ and Union Bag 1. Anaconda gave way 1.

The market closed heavy and dull. A rise of 1¼ in Rock Island preferred sustained prices for a time, but they gave way before increased offerings late in the day. Northwestern, Toledo, St. Louis & Western preferred, and St. Louis & Southwestern preferred and American Woolen felll; Iowa Central preferred, 1⅜; Minneapolis & St. Louis, 2¼, and United States Rubber second preferred, 2¾. Covering by shorts caused some rallies.

ROAD AND BRIDGE FUND BILL SIGNED.

St. Paul, Minn., April 27.—Though it was expected that Governor John A. Johnson would refuse to approve some of the items in the distribution of the $300,000 road and bridge fund, better known as the "pork barrel," it received his signature in full.

In explanation he said he could not well tamper with one or two items without tearing the entire bill to pieces, and as he had learned that the bill was to be attacked in the courts he had decided not to interfere.

MAN WHOSE CHILDREN PERISHED, KILLS SELF.

Latrobe, Pa., April 27.—A. M. Kendall, 38 years old, whose five children were burned to death when their home, at Dunbar, Pa., was destroyed three months ago, shot himself through the head near here today, dying instantly. Brooding over the loss of the little ones had affected his mind.

SUPERIOR NEWS

NON-UNION MEN ASK PROTECTION

Police protection has been invoked for the non-union iron workers at Superior employed on a construction crew in building some bridge work at Northwestern coal dock No. 2.

It is said that union iron workers, who were idle in Superior, have threatened the open-shop men, and today a special squad of policemen was detailed to the scene. There were no arrests, and the matter has quiet down.

Arrested Again.

The case against Andrew Nelson, charged with adultery, has been dismissed on a technicality. He was arrested again this morning on another warrant, charging him with adultery.

Annual Reunion.

The tenth annual reunion of "Old Company I" will be held tomorrow evening at the Country club. E. Rossier will act as toastmaster. Thomas B. Mills, port collector, will be the host for the occasion.

Ball Players Report.

The men under contract for the Superior baseball team are now reporting at Chippewa Falls for tryout games. Manager Drill, Superior, expects to have them all rounded up by Wednesday night.

Mrs. Burns Dies.

Mrs. Katharine Burns, for many years a resident of Superior, died yesterday afternoon at her home, 2619 Twenty-second street. The funeral will be held tomorrow morning from the Billings Park Catholic church. She was well known in Superior.

Lid Goes on Tighter.

Mayor Crumpton has issued an edict to the police department to keep the lid on tight, quash gambling, keep questionable women out of hotels as a place of abode, and to wipe out the palm gardens in saloons.

FEAR FELT FOR WOMEN

Constantinople, April 27. — Great sympathy is felt here for the American women missionaries, who are alone at Hadjin, in the northeastern part of the vilayet of Adana. The women are Miss Virginia A. Billings of Kirtland, Ohio; Miss Emily Erichter of Chicago; Miss Rose Lambert, daughter of Bishop Lambert, and a Miss Baldwin. The two last meentioned women were sent out by the Mennonite brethern in Christ of Ohio. Messrs. Rogers and Maurer, were stationed at Hadjin.

Christian refugees by the thousand have massed at Hadjin and for ten days the town has been threatened by Mohammedans, whose camps completely encircle it.

Rev. W. W. Peet, representative here of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions, sent a telegram last Sunday to Rev. H. M. Irwin at Tales-Cesarea, instructing him to ask for a strong guard of troops to go immediately to Hadjin to the assistance of the beleagured women. Hadjin is two days' journey on horseback from Cesarea. Telegraphic communication is very much interrupted and there has been no answer from Irwin. Today, however, Mr. Peet, received a message much delayed in transmission, dated Hadjin, April 23. It says:

"Our sad condition is unchanged. We fear fire. The people are taking refuge in the churches. The outlook is terrible."

William Chambers, an American missionary in Adana, telegraphed Peet from there yesterday, as follows:

"There are terrible fires near the mission, which is in danger."

The lack of food, medical help and shelter is great among Armenians and Mohammedans in the disturbed district.

Plot of Hamid's Adherents.

St. Petersburg, April 27.—The Russian government is far more anxious over the occurrences in Asiatic Turkey than over the political events in Constantinople, as it is feared the rioting and massacres east of the Bosphorus may bring about the necessity for foreign intervention.

According to the latest advices from Constantinople, it would appear that the adherents of the old regime in Turkey are determined to continue the struggle. Seeing no chance of success in Constantinople, they are kindling racial and fanatical passions in Asia Minor and thus creating serious danger to Europeans in the belief that foreign ships will be forced to land detachments on Turkish soil, particularly if the massacres at Adana and elsewhere can be continued.

French Cruisers on Hand.

Paris, April 27.—La Liberte publishes a dispatch from Constantinople today saying that although Schefket Pasha, commander if the Young Turk forces, has announced his ability to restore order to Asia Minor, the latest reports from beyond the Bosphorous sea are alarming. The whole of Anatolis has been given over to the passions of the mobs.

The French battleship Verte is at Alexandretta and the cruisers Jules Ferry and Michelet are patrolling the coast.

CUT CHAINS, BAR SUFFRAGETTES

London, April 27.—Four women suffragists succeeded in getting into the outer lobby of the house of commons this afternoon, and fastened themselves by chains to statues in the lobby.

The police, profiting by previous experiences, are now provided with metal cutting implements, and they quickly severed the chains and expelled the women.

Large or $1.25 Size

Bottles of Armour's Malted Clams are even more economical than the smaller sizes. The contents of a large bottle is sufficient for about eighty-five cups of clam broth or bouillon. Malted Clams will not spoil and is becoming very popular as a first course. Every grocer and druggist has it in stock.

Asks $895.

Bernard J. Madden, who owns Lot 2, Section 26, Township 50, Range 17 west, is suing the Great Northern Railway company for the value of the timber and his house and barn located on the land, which, he claims, were burned as a result of sparks dropping from one of the company's engines.

He says that the company was negligent in that it allowed combustible matter to be spread about on its tracks.

His house and barn he valued at $410 and he claims to have had a clump of birch timber, which was burned.

He is suing for $895.

FARMING OPERATIONS IN NORTHWEST DELAYED.

St. Paul, Minn., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Farming operations throughout the Northwest are considerably behind what they were last year, but the delay is not dangerous, according to W. W. Broughton, traffic manager of the Great Northern, who has been receiving daily reports regarding the crop conditions. He said: "Seeding in Minnesota does not seem to be as far advanced as in the southern half of North Dakota, where it is well along. It will be ten days before we need worry, however."

Slain By Girl.

Nashville, Tenn., April 27.—Isaac S. Morse, a young business man, was shot and almost instantly killed today by Gertrude Douglas in the office of the American Dry Cleaning company. In the excitement that followed, the young woman escaped, but was arrested later in the office of a physician. In police headquarters she said:

"Ike Morse deserted me after he had been going with me for the last nine years. He could not throw me over and live. We met in this city nine years ago."

ORDER TO EXAMINE FINAL ACCOUNT—
State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis.
In Probate Court.
In the matter of the Estate of John J. Murphy, decedent.
The Petition of Elizabeth A. Murphy as representative of the above named decedent, together with her final account of the administration of said estate, having been filed in this Court, representing, among other things, that she has fully administered said estate, and praying that said final account of said administration be examined, adjusted and allowed by the Court, and that the Court make and enter its final decree of distribution of the residue of the estate of said decedent to the persons entitled thereto, and for the discharge of the representative and the sureties on her bond.
It Is Ordered, That said petition be heard, and said final account examined, adjusted and allowed by the Court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Courthouse, in the City of Duluth in said County, on Monday, the 10th day of May, 1909, at ten o'clock a. m., and all persons interested in said hearing and in said matter are hereby cited and required at said time and place to show cause, if any there be, why said petition should not be granted.
Ordered Further, That this order be served by publication in The Duluth Evening Herald according to law.
Dated at Duluth, Minn., April 12th, 1909.
By the Court,
J. B. MIDDLECOFF,
Judge of Probate.
(Seal, Probate Court, St. Louis County, Minnesota.)

ELEVEN WIVES ALLOWED TO ACCOMPANY DEPOSED SULTAN, ABDUL HAMID

State of Siege Suspended to Allow Public Celebration.

Russia Will Recognize the New Turkish Government.

Constantinople, April 28. — Abdul Hamid, the deposed sultan of Turkey, left the capital last night for Salonikl, accompanied by eleven women of his harem. He was conveyed quietly under cover of darkness from the imperial palace at Yildiz to the railroad station in Stamboul. Shortly after he was installed on board, the train pulled out for the West.

The Fetwa, or official decision of the Sheik-ul-Islam authorizing the deposition of Abdul Hamid, has been made public. It embraces the questions put

GETS ON KNEES TO HANG SELF

North Dakotan Makes Very Deliberate Plans to Shuffle Off.

Grand Forks, N. D., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Carl Dahl, aged 49, committed suicide yesterday afternoon by hanging himself in a barn at his home at Crary, N. D.

His wife discovered his body a few minutes later, when she went out to feed the chickens. Ill health was the cause for the act.

Dahl made most deliberate plans, being obliged to get down on his knees to bring the rope tight enough to cut off his air supply.

FRENCH PRESIDENT SAVED FROM ANARCHIST WHO WAS ON EVE OF KILLING HIM

Monte Carlo Police Capture Man Who Admits Murder Intention.

Revolver and Jacketed Bullets Are Taken From Prisoner.

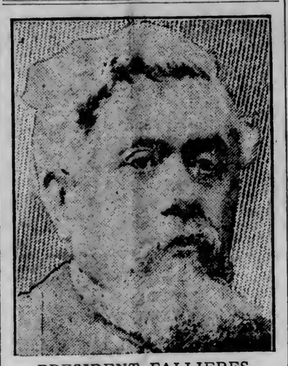

Monte Carlo, April 28.—A man named Verdier, who was arrested today, declares he is an anarchist and he came to Monte Carlo to kill President Fallieres of France, who is visiting here.

A revolver loaded with jacketed bullets was found on Verdier, as well as a letter addressed to the prefect of the department of Alpes Martimis, in which the man explained the motive for his contemplated act. Verdier comes from Haute Garcie.

President Fallieres arrived yesteday in au auto from Nice, and he and the members of his party were given a hearty welcome and entertained at lunch by the prince of Monaco.

When informed that Verdier had intended to assassinate him, the French president only smiled, seeming in no way disturbed.

This morning he caused a dispatch to be sent to Constantinople, in which he congratulated the new sultan, Raschad, on his accession to the throne, and extended his best wishes for the new administration of affairs in Turkey.

1897—Turks victorious in war with Greece following massacres in Armenia and Macedonia the preceding year.

1908—Young Turks victorious in forcing the porte to grant a constitutional form of government for Turkey.

1909—Abdul Hamid is deposed and Raschad Effendi is made sultan.

WHITLA IS BLACKMAILED AGAIN; MEN ARE ARRESTED

Boston, Mass., April 28.—Charged with attempting to extort $10,000 from James Whitla of Sharon, Pa., under the threat that they would again kidnap his son, Willie Whitla, two men were brought to police headquarters today for an examination. The men were arrested at the South end postoffice and gave their names as John W. Wright and Ernest H. Martin.

The police claim that April 23, Wright and Martin wrote to Whitla demanding he send them $10,000 under penalty of having Willie kidnaped. The letter stated that the writers had no regard for the life of the child and that he would only be a means to accomplish their end of getting from Whitla the sum named.

The police believed that a close watch at the South end postoffice might be profitable. Yesterday afternoon two officers saw Wright and Martin enter, and arrested them. The police said today that a search of Martin's pockets resulted in finding a red ink pad, similar to the ink used in the letter to Mr. Whitla.

The letter was printed in red ink, apparently with rubber type, on white paper, and was mailed from the Dorchester central postoffice. It was as follows; shorn of its misspelling of nearly every word:

"Dear Sir—Our society not having received the money for return of boy voted to send the four men that had charge of all arrangements of getting boy and take him again in the night.

"This may mean death to the boy, so it was voted to give you a chance to pay the money. The Black Hand on receiving same will not trouble you. Not interested in the Boyles, just tools of our men. Send $1,000 in $50 bills and $9,000 in $1,000 bills. Send it in three lots. Have it here Monday morning. No trickery or it will go hard with the boy when taken. Will send man of steel for letters. Send Arthur Howard Brown, post station A, Boston, Mass."

After the arrest of the two men Martin told the police he had met a man who told him he would give him 50 cents if he would call at the South end postoffice (station A) and ask for a letter for Arthur Howard Brown.

Boyle's Defense Outlined.

Mercer, Pa., April 28.—James H. Boyle, awaiting trial on charges of kidnaping Willie Whitla, has outlined his defense. He expects to prove by witnesses from Youngstown, Ohio, that he was in Youngstown and not in Sharon, as the prosecution will try to prove, on the evening before the abduction, and that he left Youngstown the morning of the abduction, going by rail to Warren, Ohio.

He will offer testimony to show that at Warren he accidentally met two friends who had the Whitla boy in charge. He says he was informed by them that smallpox had broken out at Sharon, and that they were taking the boy away from the disease. To accommodate them, he says, he agreed to take Willie Whitla to his apartments in Cleveland, but he insists he knew nothing of any correspondence regarding the ransom. If any correspondence was had in regard to it, he says it must have been conducted by Mrs. Boyle, and he calls attention to the fact that it was she who had the money when they were arrested.

Mrs. Boyle has no defense prepared. She merely defies the state to prove anything against her. And while Boyle is worrying over the case and trying to shift the responsibility upon his wife, she refuses to say a word about the case that could injure herself or her husband. She seems satisfied that there is no evidence against her, and is expecting an acquittal.

THE KILLING OF ANNIS AND WHAT LED UP TO IT

Capt. Peter Hains, Jr., son of Gen. Peter Hains, U. S. A., retired, was sent to the Philippines in the summer of 1908. His wife, formerly Miss Claudia Libby, of Winthrop, Mass., remained at Fort Hamilton, just below New York City, with her three children. The defense alleges that while away, Capt. Haines received word from his brother, Thornton Hains, of his wife's conduct toward William E. Annis, a friend of the Hains family. Since Hains has been in prison, a packet of letters, alleged to have been written by Mrs. Hains to her absent husband, was found, and these were read into the evidence at the trial of Thornton Hains, who was acquitted of complicity in the killing.

The army captain returned and, according to Mrs. Hains, upbraided her for acts which she denied. As the result of an alleged confession, which Mrs. Hains states was wrung from her under duress by Gen. Hains and the husband and brother-in-law, there was a separation and Mrs. Hains returned to her home in Massachusetts. A suit for divorce was instituted by Capt. Hains in Boston last June.

From statements made after the killing, it is declared that Capt. Hains became morose and moody because of the unfortunate end of his marital affairs. On Aug. 15, last, Capt. Hains and his brother, Thornton, appeared at the Bayside Yacht club. Inquiry was made for Annis, and when his catboat drew alongside the club float, Capt. Hains walked up to Annis as he was stepping off and, taking him by the arm, fired five shots. Annis fell into the water and died shortly afterward.

The charge of complicity in the killing which was preferred against Thornton Hains, and for which he was tried, was based on the allegation that he, revolver in hand, stood off members of the yacht club, holding them at bay while his brother killed Annis.

Long Branch and other cities have started a fund for the purchase of "Shadow Lawn," the $1,000,000 mansion built by the late John A. McCall, when he was president of the New York Life Insurance company at Westend, for the purpose of deeding the property to the government to be used as a summer White House for the president.

MISS WHITE IS WEDDED IN BLUE

Daughter of American Ambassador Becomes a Countess.

Paris, April 28.—Dressed in a simple gown of blue and wearing a large black hat, Miss Muriel White, daughter of the American ambassador to France, was married in the mairie of the Eighth arrondissement of Paris at noon today to Count Hermann Seherr-Thoss, an officer of the Royal Prussian culrassiers.

This simple civil ceremony was performed in person by Roger Allon, the mayor. Only a few of the immediate members of the families of the bride and groom were present. Countess Seherr-Thoss, the groom's mother, was not present on account of ill health. The ceremony consisted of a recitation of the laws of the French republic defining the obligations of husband and wife, and the subscription thereto. The mayor then delivered a brief address, in which he expressed his good wishes for the pair, and referred to the distinguished career of the bride's father and the ties uniting France and the United States.

The wedding presents, which came from America, Germany, France and Italy, were displayed at the embassy this afternoon.

MOVING DAY IN TURKEY.

WOMEN SNAPSHOT AS BALLOTS FALL

THIEF CURSES PRIEST AND DIES

Expires From Wound Inflicted By Policeman He Killed.

Logansport, Ind., April 28.—A patrolman, Joseph Kroeger, and a pickpocket, whose name is unknown, were killed in a revolver duel late last night, following a performance of a circus. A second man, Charles Pierce of Scranton, Pa., was captured this morning, after policemen had pursued him on a handcar six miles north of this city. He is charged with having fired the shot that killed the policeman.

After the circus, the thugs raided the crowd with revolvers. Two established a station on the Third street bridge, and not only held up and robbed the passers, but forced them to line up against the rail to see their successors despoiled.

Patrolman Kroeger ran to the scene and one of the thugs shot. The policeman fell, but was able to draw his revolver and fire, and one of the men fell. The other fled. The policeman, carried into a restaurant, moaned, "I'm dying; call my wife and baby." He lived only a few minutes.

The pickpocket died this morning in St. Joseph's hospital. Priests and nurses tried in vain to get a statement of his identity from him. As he was dying a priest bent over him with a last appeal. Summoning all his strength, the man shouted:

"You go to hell."

He then fell back and was dead.

DROVE HER FROM HER OWN DOOR

Mrs. Emma Johnson Charges Many Cruelties in Divorce Complaint.

Divorce proceedings were begun this morning by Mrs. Emma Johnson against her husband, John Johnson. She is 30 years old and he is 38.

They were married in Duluth in May of 1903 and no children have been born to them.

She alleges that while the defendant has been in good health and is naturally of a healthy and strong constitution, he has refused to work. She claims that he is a very heavy drinker and that he has been drunk almost continually for the last year.

She alleges in her complaint, that during the past five years he has on occasions too numerous to mention, cursed, abused and called her vile and indecent names, unfit to set forth in the complaint.

Mrs. Johnson says that he has nagged her and on several occasions driven her from the house, once at night.

She says that as a result of all this her health has been impaired. She asks for an absolute divorce.

PRESIDENT MACKENZIE PAYS VISIT TO DULUTH

Head of Canadian Northern Road Is in the City.

Says They Are Pushing Plans for Virginia Extension.

WILLIAM MACKENZIE, President of the Canadian Northern.

William McKenzie, president of the Canadian Northern railway, reached Duluth this afternoon in his private car. Mr. McKenzie made a brief business visit with officials of the Duluth & Rainy Lake railway, the subsidiary line of the Canadian Northern, leaving this afternoon for Chicago over the Northwestern railway.

President McKenzie stated that work was being done upon the plans of the road for the extension from Virginia to Duluth, but even the officials of that road could not state definitely when the actual work of construction would begin. Mr. McKenzie stated that there would be a great deal of work to accomplish before the construction of the road could be begun, but that details were taking definite shape, and that the entry of the Canadian Northern to Duluth over its own rails is an event that the officials of that railroad are arranging as rapidly as possible.

The statement of the Canadian Northern president that there was a vast amount of detail work connected with the coming of the Canadian Northern to Duluth, is in keeping with the belief that the officials of that railroad have ambitious plans in regard to the terminal locations in this city.

Mr. McKenzie has the highest opinion of Duluth as a traffic gateway between the Dominion and the United States.

Will Import Wheat.

"Take the country between Virginia and Manitoba, the timber country of Northern Ontario, and you will find that there are a great many products that must find their way into the United States," said President McKenzie. "There is a vast quantity of lumber that we believe will find a market in Duluth. And then also, the trade between the two countries is increasing, along general lines, and there is every reason to believe that this country will in the future not only need more of the lumber of Canada, but also that you will some day become an importer of wheat.

"The wheat acreage of Canada will be increased about 800,000 acres the present year. The amount of wheat raised in Canada will increase for many years. The wheat production in this country is not increasing, rather decreasing I believe, and there is reason to believe that the United States will be importing wheat from us some time in the future.

"The importation of wheat from Canada, would naturally increase the traffic between the two countries, and would benefit Duluth, as much of the wheat from Western Canada would find an outlet through the terminals of this city."

When asked what he thought of the future of Duluth as a railroad center, Mr. Mackenzie replied that he and the other officials of the Canadian Northern railway had a very high opinion of the future development of Duluth, believing that it was the natural gateway for commerce between Canada, especially the growing Western provinces of the dominion, and the United States. Mr. Mackenzie further stated that it was this belief, added to the fact that Canada must find an outlet in the United States for many of its products, that had led the officials of the Canadian Northern to seek terminal property in this city.

The Canadian Northern will have a very busy construction season before it. President Mackenzie stated that 500 miles of railroad will be laid the present year. Most of this added mileage will extend into the Western wheat country, giving the Canadian Northern lines to the richest wheat country of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba. The completion of the mileage contemplated will give the Canadian Northern branch line connections with a strip of country extending from Port William upon the east to the borders of British Columbia upon the west. It will be this vast stretch of wheat country, that is yearly growing in wheat acreage, that Duluth as gateway of traffic will be directly connected with.

Some work will be done upon the Hudson Bay extension, according to President MacKenzie, construction being pushed northward from Prince Albert. The opening of the Hudson Bay route will mean another ocean route for Canada, by which it is expected that wheat will reach Europe.

President MacKenzie says the railroads of Canada are enjoying greater prosperity than was the case six months ago, and that an increase in traffic is looked forward to. Mr. MacKenzie compares the railroad situations in the two countries, and believes that the business of the railroads in the United States will show an increase over the receipts of the past eighteen months.

Mr. MacKenzie will go from Chicago direct to the Toronto headquarters of the Canadian Northern.

MAN KILLED AT HIS WORK

William Paull Falls From Water Tower to the Ground.

Drop of 175 Feet Makes Death Almost Instantaneous.

Falling from the top of the new water tower at Proctor to the ground below, a distance of 175 feet, William Paull, an iron worker, met instant death shortly after 8 o'clock this morning. The body was bruised almost beyond recognition. The remains were brought to the undertaking parlors of M. J. Fillatrault, West Duluth, this afternoon.

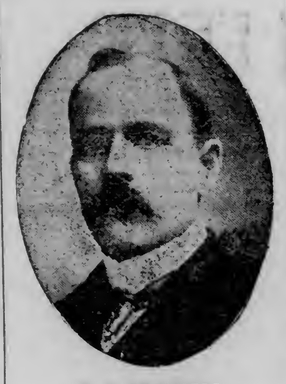

Paull was a young man, only 22 years of age, and was employed as a riveter on the upper part of the new tower, which is being erected by the Proctor Waterworks company. He had been at work but a few minutes this morning, when he stepped out of his "bird's nest" in which he was working to a narrow ledge surrounding the tower. A stiff northeast wind was blowing, and to that is attributed the cause of the young man losing his balance and plunging to his death below.

The home of the dead man is at Hancock, Mich., where he has a stepfather, whose name the authorities are making an effort to find out. He came from Michigan about two months ago to take employment with the J. B. Davdern contracting firm, which is erecting the tower. Funeral arrangements will not be made until word comes from relatives at home. While in Proctor he stopped at the Central house. The coroner will not hold an inquest over the remains, as his death is considered to be purely accidental.

ANNUAL BANQUET OF THE CURLERS

West Duluth Club Will Give Dinner and Dance.

The annual banquet of the Western Curling club will be held tomorrow evening at Wade's hall. There will be an after dinner program, followed by dancing.

W. B. GETCHELL, President of the Western Curling Club.

The supper promises to be a rather elaborate one and is in charge of the ladies of the West Duluth Baptist church. The banquet will be in the small hall. The members will later use the large hall for dancing.

On the program of speakers is Mayor R. D. Haven, L. A. Barnes and George Mallory. Rev. A. J Hoag, pastor West Duluth Baptist church, who is chaplain of the club, will also be called upon for a few remarks

In the musical line, it is expected that all previous festivities will be outdone. A number of good soloists are scheduled and a trio of West Duluth voices will render a number of good old Scotch songs.

The trophies that have been won during the season past will be awarded after the speaking is over. The club is in a very healthy condition just at the present time. It has cleared off its deficit and is entirely out of debt.

Foresters Meet.

St. James' court No. 614, C. O. F. met last evening in regular session at Gilley's hall. P. H. Martin, state chief ranger was present and addressed the members. The state convention of the order will be held in June at Little Falls, and a local delegation will attend it. The court will also be represented at the international meeting which is to be held in August.

Talks on Temperance.

Thomas Vollom of Eau Claire, assistant editor of Reform, a Scandinavian prohibition weekly, spoke last evening at the Norweglan Lutheran church at West Duluth. He gave a discussion of the temperance issue from the standpoint of a practical man. He stated that although he was in sympathy

NEW RULES FOR AUTOS

Revised State Law Will Go Into Effect May 15.

Owners Must Secure License From Secretary of State.

Under a new state law, passed during the recent legislative sesion, and effective May 15, every automobile owner and chauffeur in Duluth, as well as in all other parts of Min esota, will have to learn and observe new rules in regard to the operation and equipment of their machines, and will have to change their methods of registration, as well as pay a larger license fee.

Heretofore local auto owners have, upon receipt of their buzz buggies from the factory, paid a license fee of $2 to the city clerk, and have received a license, good for all time, and a number in exchange. Under the new order of things a license fee will have to be paid to the secretary of state. It will amount to $1.50, and the same fee must be paid every year. The money will go into the treasury and the state will get all the benefits, where, heretofore, the city has received such license fees.

Must Have Number.

Every machine must carry a number, furnished by the secretary of state, and no other number than this must be in evidence. The number plate will read: "Minn. No.——" There must be two lamps in front of the machine, and one white light at the rear, so arranged that the light will shine upon the number, making it easily read. There must also be a red light in the rear, and all automobiles must be equipped with a muffler, which cannot be "cut out" inside the limits of any city. Chauffeurs must register with the secretary of state. The law provides punishment for any one caught tampering with the machine without permission of the owner or man in charge.

In addition to this, no one is allowed under the law, to attempt to drive or use an automobile without the permission of the owner, and no person shall, without such permission, climb upon or in any automobile, either while the machine is in motion or at rest, or shall any person, while a machine is unattended, sound the horn or other signaling device, or attempt to manipulate any of the levers.

Such persons as are unable to call at the secretary of state's office in person may file their application for a license, and for registration, by mail. In these mail applications there must be enclosed a brief description of the motor vehicle to be registered, including the name of the manufacturer, the factory number and model, the name, residence and business address of the owner, and the name of the town and county in which he resides.

The secretary of state must also be notified of the sale or other transfer of an automobile, within ten days after such sale or transfer is made, with necessary particulars as to ownership, address, etc. The filing of such statement will cost $1. In case of the loss or mutilation of a certificate of automobile registration, the owner will have to pay $1 for an additional certificate. The color of the number plate must be changed annually.

The provisions of the law in regard to registration shall not apply to a motor vehicle owned by a non-resident of the state, who is temporarily in the state, while passing into or through Minnesota, provided that such non-resident shall have displayed in a conspicuous place on the motor vehicle he is operating a number and tag which shall make it and the place from which it comes easily identified. Outside autos, of course, will still be regulated by local speed laws.

The Road Rules.

Following are extracts from the law, giving stopping and road rules:

"Sec. 13. Stopping on Signal.—A person operating a motor vehicle, at request or on signal by putting up the hand from a person riding, leading or driving a restive horse or horses or other draft animals, or on any evidence of fright of any animal so ridden, led or driven sufficient to attract the attention of the operator of a motor vehicle, shall bring such motor vehicle immediately to a stop, and, if traveling in the opposite direction, remain stationary so long as may be necessary to allow such horse or animal to pass, and if traveling in the same direction, use reasonable caution in thereafter passing such horse or animal; provided, that in case such horse or animal appears badly frightened or the person operating such motor vehicle is requested to do so, such person shall cause the motor of such vehicle to stop running so long as shall be reasonably necessary to prevent accident and insure the safety of others, provided, however, that no person shall unreasonably obstruct or impede the right of travel upon the public highways of a driver of a motor vehicle or of a horse, and any one so doing shall be held amenable under this act.

"Sec. 14. Road rules—Whenever a person walking in the traveled portion of a public highway, or person riding, driving or leading a horse or other animal therein, or driving or operating a vehicle therein, shall meet another person thus walking or thus riding, driving or leading a horse or other animal, or thus driving or operating a vehicle, if such persons are moving in opposite directions, each shall slacken his pace, if necessary, and seasonable turn to the right so as to give half of the traveled road, if practicable, and a fair and equal opportunity to pass, to the other; or, if they are moving in the same direction, the person overtaking shall pass on the left side of the person overtaken, and the person overtaken, shall, as soon as practicable, turn to the right so as to give half of the traveled road to the other.

"Any such persons shall, at the intersection of public highways, keep to the right of the intersection of the centers of such highways when turning to the right and pass to the right of such intersection when turning to the left.

"In cities or villages or any place where traffic is large, or on streets usually congested with traffic of horse drawn vehicles or street cars, slow moving vehicles must keep near the right curb, allowing those moving more rapidly to keep nearer the center of the street.

"All vehicles, however, must keep to the right of the center of the street."

AUTO IS DUE NEXT SATURDAY

Duluth's New Patrol Wagon All Ready for Shipment.

Duluth's much-advertised, long-delayed, and long-expected police automobile patrol wagon, will arrive in the city Saturday, or within two or three days thereafter, according to the latest promises of the manufacturers, who are located at Mankato, Minn.

Early in the year the council authorized the purchase of such a patrol wagon, and it was ordered of the Mankato people, as they were the lowest bidders for the type of machine desired. It was expected the auto would be ready for delivery over a month ago, but certain necessary changes in the plans brought about unlooked for delays.

It appears now, however, that the auto will be here within a week, at the outside, for the latest report has it reposing in the paint shop, with only one more coat of varnish to go on. Immediately upon the drying of the varnish, the car will be shipped to Duluth, and will be put into service at once. A man will be sent along to operate the car for thirty days, and to teach members of the department how to run it.

Look after your own interests and watch the dealer who is constantly trying to sell you something just as good as the article you ask for. Never take a substitute.

THE PERSONAL INJURY LOTTERY

WAS CRUSHED UNDER ENGINE

Oiler Was Mangled When Two Locomotives Collided.

Grezzie Fillipo, administrator of the estate of Coppone Giuseppe, who lost his life as the result of an accident in the Monroe mine, near Chisholm last year is suing the Winston-Dear company for $5,000 on behalf of Giuseppe's aged mother and father, who were dependent solely on their son for support.

According to the complaint, Giuseppe was ordered to oil a certain engine belonging to the company, standing on the tracks near the location of the mine. This duty, it is claimed, took him underneath the engine. While under the engine another locomotive crashed into the one on which Giuseppe was working. He was so badly injured that he died within a few days.

They allege that the company was negligent in that it did not have proper rules for the government of the trains and that it did not furnish him a safe place to work.

Giuseppe was an able-bodied man, 25 years old, and earned $2.25 a day, according to the complaint.

WAS KILLED IN MINE BLAST

Miner Met His Death in Accident at Meadow Mine.

John Jarvi, administrator of the estate of Matt Maki, who died from injuries alleged to have been sustained in the Meadow mine, near Aurora last October, is suing the Interstate Iron company on behalf of relatives of the deceased for the sum of $5,000.

At the time of the accident Maki was working on a sub-level, from which there was both a passage-way and a shoot down to the main level.

He claims that the shoot was not properly guarded, and also that the gas from the blasting left the men in an almost unconscious condition. It is also alleged that the attention of the officials had often been called to this fact and that they had from time to time promised to start an air pump going, but up to the time of the accident neglected to do so.

In some unknown manner Maki fell in the shoot and was hurled to his death many feet below. He had a son 7 years old and a mother aged 58. They claim to have been dependent on Maki for support.

INJURED BY BLAST.

Miner Wants $10,000 From the Oliver Mining Company.

Erlek Johnson began suit against the Oliver Iron Mining company this morning for $10,000 for injuries alleged to have been sustained while working in the Hull-Rust mine, near Hibbing, in January, 1909.

He claims to have been working at the mine as a stripper, and was standing some 200 feet away from the scene of some blasting operations that were going on at the time.

He was injured about the legs, back and internally, he claims. He sets forth that the company was negligent in that the blasting was not carried on in a careful and safe manner.

ROOF CAVED IN

And Miner Wants $10,000 From Mohawk Mine Owners.

Frank Miklick had a leg broken in two places and was, he claims, injured in other places about the head and body, while working in the Mohawk mine, near Aurora, in October of 1908. For these injuries he asks $10,000.

The papers in the action were filed with the clerk of the district court this morning.

He claims that while putting in supports for the roof, an adjoining portion of the roof caved in.

BANKERS MEET AT CROOKSTON

Ninth District Group Welcomed By Mayor; Talk Banking Matters.

Crookston, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The ninth district group of the Minnesota Bankers' association opened its sixth annual convention in the Commercial club rooms this morning with over 100 bankers of the Northwest present.

The visitors were welcomed by Mayor McPhee. President Berg responded and read his annual address, in which substantial progress was shown in unity of purpose and co-operation since the last meeting. Secretary Charles Frost of the Minnesota Bankers' association discussed the association work. Supt Robertson of the Crookston School of Agriculture talked on "Agricultural Education." "Immigration" was discussed by George Welsh, commissioner of immigration. "District Clearing Houses" was the subject championed by W. D. Willard of Mankato. "Legislature Matters and Their Results" was the subject of an address by Senator A. D. Stephens, and Banking Taxation" was discussed by Hugh W. Allen of Minneapolis. In the afternoon a round table discussion was held, presided over by J. W. Wheeler of Crookston. The state experiment farm and the school of agriculture were visited in automobiles this afternoon, and an elaborate banquet will be tendered the visitors at 6 o'clock this evening.

AN ANTI-ANT BUILDING.

Cement Age: Reinforced concrete is the material which will be used almost exclusively in the construction of the new government buildings to be erected by the United States at San Juan, Porto Rico, for use as a postoffice courthouse and custom house. Wood is to be practically excluded from the structure; the only place about the building where wood will be employed will be in the window sashes on one side of the edifice. The interior doors will be of rattan. The reason why wood is being avoided by the government in this case is because there is a small ant indigenous to the island of Porto Rico which eats its way up through wooden chairs, doors and desks and makes them spongy on the inside.

MR. JAP, A LASSO AND MR. BRUIN.

Valdez Prospector: Joe Kanaka, a Jap, was in pursuit of large game a few days ago in the vicinity of Knik. Instead of being armed with a .30.30 or any firearm he carried only a coil of rope. Seeing a black bear feeding near a prospector's trail he sprang upon the bear's back and quickly had a noose of the rope around Bruin's neck.

The Jap held to one end of the rope and succeeded in tangling the bear in its coils, but the bear tore Kanaka's clothing to shreds. When the bear was thoroughly tangled the Jap beat him into submission and led him into Knik.

POLICE FIND CONTRASTS

Municipal Court Proves All Women Are Not Alike.

One Prays Leniency for Husband --- Other Demands Punishment.

Some one said once that women, aside from their outward appearances, were all alike. There are at least two in Duluth who are not alike. The difference was brought out in municipal court today.

Yesterday a teamster, Louis Peterson, was arrested for drunkenness. As nearly as the police could learn, the arrest was richly deserved. It is claimed the man has been drinking heavily for years, and that he has abused his wife shamefully during that period, contributing less money than he should, to help her conduct the household, and otherwise mistreating her.

Peterson was arraigned in municipal court yesterday afternoon, and despite the years of alleged abuse, his devoted wife, with the marks of trouble and care upon her face, appeared before the judge and, with tears in her eyes, and a catch in her voice, pleaded with all the eloquence at her command for leniency. She prayed that her husband be released, that he might accompany her home, and take up the thread of domestic life where it had been rudely interrupted by the man's arrest.

Handing out some good advice to Peterson, the judge allowed him to go under suspended sentence, after he had promised to do better in the future than he had done in the past.

This morning there was another arraignment of a man arrested for drunkenness. This time he was taken in tow by the police at the request of his wife. His name was given as Andrew Dahl, and his occupation that of clothing salesman. Unlike Peterson, it is claimed that his life has been an exemplary one until within the last few weeks, when drink got the upper hand, and he began abusing his better half. She had him arrested.

As in the Peterson case, the wife also appeared in court, but, unlike Mrs. Peterson, Mrs. Dahl recommended to the court that her husband be punished. He had not treated her right, she said, and something ought to be done about it. The judge admitted that Dahl had done wrong, but as this was his first offense, and as he seemed thoroughly repentant and anxious to change his ways, he was also released under suspended sentence, under promise that he would be a model husband in future.

The police court is a great place for bringing out life's little contrasts.

FATHER KNEW WHAT TO DO.

An Italian with his wife and two little children got into the subway train bound uptown, says the New York Sun. There were seats enough, so the wife and one child in arms sat down. The man, carrying the other infant, prepared to take a seat.

The moment he sat down the little girl in his arms set up a cry. She wouldn't stop until the man got up. For a time, as long as he remained standing, she was quiet. The moment he started again to be seated she wailed again.

So he had to remain standing. The child then reached for the cord by which the signals are given from car to car. It was too high above her head. So she cried again.

The father tried to divert her attention to the straps as being more worthy of her notice. But she wouldn't be appeased.

Soon answered. He turned the baby over his knee as he sat down firmly and gave her something to cry for. A shocked look came over that little girl's afee and then, after a few last howls, she was very silent.

Her father sat there with a look as of one who has solved a problem.

CONCERNING WOMAN.

The annual meeting of the Ladies' Literature class was held yesterday afternoon at the home of the retiring president, Mrs. W. W. Sanford of 2432 East First street. This class is the first established woman's club of Duluth and has just completed its twenty-fifth year of study.

The officers chosen for next year are: President, Mrs. E. W. Bohannan; first vice president, Mrs. W. H. Spencer; second vice president, Mrs. W. S. Woodbridge; secretary, Mrs. Braden; treasurer, Mrs. G. W. C. Ross. Mrs. Woodbridge is the only charter member of the society who retains an active membership.

The following resolutions were adopted by the class in sorrow over the death of Mrs. A. H. Crassweller, who was for ten years a valued member of the class:

"The members of the Ladies' Literature class desire to place on record their sense of the deep loss sustained by the class in the death of Mrs. Arthur Crassweller. They desire further to bear testimony to the many fine qualities of mind and heart which not only made her an invaluable worker in the class, but so endeared her to those with whom she was associated that to a large circle her death has come as a personal bereavement.

"During her nine years' connection with the class, Mrs. Crassweller won the esteem of all by the breadth of her culture; the thoroughness of her scholarship; the fairness and justness of her views, and of her outlook on life; and by her faithfulness to duty, no matter at what self-sacrifice.

"Her impress on the class has been that of a deeply spiritual nature, with the highest ideals; a searcher after the truth with loyalty to it as she saw it. The rare candor and utter sincerity of her life attracted all who knew her.

"The members of the class extend to her husband their most sincere sympathy in his bereavement."

Report of President.

The report of the president of the class for the year was presented by Mrs. Sunword. It was, in part, as follows:

"When we resumed our study of English history last October, the Tudor sovereignty had ended, and with it had also come to an end that era of progress which had been coincident with the reign of Elizabeth.

"Our first lesson introduced to us the first Stuart dynasty, whose sovereigns, while anxious to maintain the Tudor absolutism had not, fortunately for England, the capacity to effect their purpose, or the skill to disguise it. An eighteenth century poet, in depicting the character and reign of James I. has said that he 'left behind a curse to all his line, the bloody legacy of Right Divine.'

"And it is the struggle between this idea of the divine right of kings and the rights of the people which we have followed throughout the year.

"The reign of Queen Anne was made of particular interest because of the industrial and social picture of the times and by the very adequate reviews of the literature of the period.

"The closing lesson of the year was of especial interest in the possibilities which it revealed to use of an English empire—a sovereignty embracing perhaps within a century, several hundred millions of the human race.

"It remains for our next year's work to trace the development of those possibilities.

"The three lectures of the year were a success in every way. Rev. Davies gave us a thoughtful appreciation of Cromwell and his place in history. Bishop McGolrick sketched for us in his inimitable way the formative processes which have produced the Irish character, and his picture has prepared the way for the work we shall take up next year in connection with England's relations with Ireland. The Development of Literature in the Seventeenth Century was the subject of a lecture by Mrs. F. D. Adams. The charming personality of the speaker, the scholarly presentation of the subject, the ease and grace of delivery, combined to make this lecture a memorable one in our annals and we are proud of the fact that we do not have to go outside of our own membership to find lectures of high and scholarly attainments.

"No leader has failed to prepare her outline or to have it ready for distribution at the proper time. Although in two cases, illness prevented the leaders from taking charge of their meetings, the vice presidents in both instances proved fully equal to the occasion.

"One leader had finished the reading for her lesson three months before its date.

"Another whose lesson immediately followed the holiday recess, distributed her outlines five weeks in advance of the usual time.

"The committees have been equally diligent. The year books were ready for distribution at the first study meeting. The program committee was ready with its report in November—and this I believe to be an unprecedented occurrence.

"The vice presidents have been diligent in holding the executives, and the membership committee has been faithful to its tasks.

"You will remember that the leader of the lesson on Oliver Cromwell pointed out to us that one of the secrets of the great protector's success lay in his choice of men to perform the various tasks of the commonwealth. He recognized genius and ability always, and, unlike the Stuarts, chose his ministers with reference to their fitness for each task.

"If any of the credit for the splendid results of our year's work lies with the president, it is in this only, that she has followed in that respect the Cromwellian policy.

"The Ladies' Literature class is dear to the heart of every one of us. It has been our satisfaction in times of discouragement and our inspiration in times of need. It has broadened our views of life and increased our charity as we have watched the development of the race and seen its parallel in the development of the individual. It has helped us to look upon the problems of our own time and of our own country with greater wisdom and understanding. We love and cherish all the traditions of its past and we rejoice in the possibilities of its future.

"May the thirty-two members enrolled at the end of this its twenty-fifth year remain a united and a loyal band for many years to come."

Following the business meeting an informal social hour was enjoyed.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

Secured By Fifty Deep Breaths a Day.

Most of us know that from twenty-five to fifty deep inspirations a day taken in the open air, will develop self-possession and improve personal appearance, yet how many of us take them systematically? asks an exchange.

Deep breathing and walking, than which there is no exercise more quietly invigorating or more beneficial for overstrained nerves, are closely related, and it follows, therefore, that to breathe correctly one should walk correctly. The poise of the body and the manner of holding the head are matters of importance, and until it becomes perfectly natural to do so, the mind must direct one to keep the chest well up, the shoulders back and the abdomen in. A dawdling, dragging walk misuses lungs, stomach and liver, but if the body is held in correct position and the lungs are properly inflated, not only is the harmony of motion increased, but one feels a buoyancy which greatly enhances the pleasure and lessens the exertion of the exercise.

While breathing is naturally a passive process, it can be made voluntary, and the more one accustoms oneself to conscious breathing the better. Indeed, when people thoroughly understand how much perfect freedom and grace of movement depend upon it, every one will cultivate greater lung power by taking in great drafts of oxygen to eliminate refuse and burn up slag. But as the expansion of the lungs depends upon the size of the thorax, it is necessary to strive by appropriate exercises to develop the chest capacity. Abroad the soldier is taught proper breathing during his term of service, with the result that the unstudied stoop is rarely seen, and that every man, from the lowest officer to the king, holds himself erect. In this country, on the other hand, so little is known of the act of correct breathing, or at least so little is it practiced, that only 5 per cent are using the proper method to give full play to the lungs.

One of the best examples of proper training here is the West Point cadet, whose correct poise, admired and envied by all, may be had by any one who will adopt the same method, and in this connection it may be said that this training should be given in all our schools. Indeed, if mankind would only seriously devote itself to this simple thing in its own physical regeneration, the human race would not only improve in looks, but in health. And especially would there be fewer cases of constipation and nervous prostration. Poverty does not keep anyone from indulging in deep breathing.

GIRLS WILL DANCE.

The Public Should Provide Happy Places For It.

A recently made comparison of data, collected at different times and under differing circumstances by settlement workers, special amusement investigating committees, social welfare leaders in commercial houses and other groups of philanthropists, has shown, beyond peradventure, that the girl of the people insists upon dancing, writes Vogue editorially. In vain are reading rooms and other wholesome but inactive diversions provided for her; she craves the athletic exercise and excitement offered by the dancing class and the dancing hall, and she finds in them the only opportunities for social life, in the sense that other classes understand it, that a girl of the tenement and cheap boarding house can attain. To the shame of the great public, which spends millions annually in trying to reform the natives in foreign countries, this very human desire for social enjoyment has been utterly ignored, even by the settlements planted in slum neighborhoods for the express purpose of bringing light into the dark lives of the tenement population, and now that it has been brought to public notice through the intelligent work of one woman, it is fervently to be hoped that reform will be forthcoming. With an irresistible longing for the music, the lights and association with her fellows, after the dull day of toil in the shop or factory, and without supervision of any kind, is it unnatural that the girl over 16 should go to any dancing hall or class that comes within her means? And if the places happen to be bad for her—which the majority, both of the summer and winter variety, are—is it not the community, rather than she herself, which is to blame?

The children of Mammon have been quick to perceive how this wholly natural desire on the part of young women could be turned to financial account—the profits of scores of halls amounting to something like 33 1-3 per cent—and yet, while the girls have danced, and the professors, so-called, have raked in the shekels, the foreign and domestic missionary societies, the and domestic missionary societies, the and Epworth leagues and the King's Daughters have gone by on the other side, without so much as taking the trouble to inquire what the underworld girl does with her leisure time.

The problem of the dance hall and what it stands for as a social factor, is one that is present in every community where there is a slum population and an influx of girl labor, but especially is it a matter of supreme moment in cities such as New York, where it is roughly estimated that about 40 per cent of the girl residents are not natives, and, therefore, have not even the often inadequate protection of the poor home.

One means of bettering the situation projected here is to establish a number of decent dance halls, and to arouse public opinion to correct by legislation such evils as liquor selling and objectionable dancing, but the first great need is a widespread realization that the working girl requires a social life of the same kind that girls of other classes enjoy, and not one that is dominated by religious associations and settlement's notions of what her recreation should be. The girl of the wealthy classes, who has over-abundant opportunities for what is craved by all normal girls, like her poorer sister, would decline the reading rooms and the stupid games, if any attempt were made to confine her to such forms of entertainment, and the poor girl's attitude is none the less reasonable.

Since parents who find it difficult to make both ends meet cannot give their daughters the social life they should have, the community, either by public officers or through the services of philanthropic groups, should realize that girls must have amusement and help them to obtain it in innocent forms. Certainly this is a matter of more supreme moment than trying to make Methodists out of Chinamen.

About Women.

Georgiana, countess of Dudley, who is about to join the ranks of aristocratic authoresses with a book on the culinary art, intends to give a number of recipes most favored by the royalties of Europe. Lady Dudley, one of the seven beautiful Moncrieffe sisters, has been for many years a leading figure in society and has, of course, had exceptional opportunities of acquiring the information which she purposes making a feature of her work. Of her sisters only one survives—Helen, Lady Forbes of Newe, the mother of Lady St. Oswald, and Mrs. Willie James.

HONOR DESIGNER OF WASHINGTON

Exercises Held at Reinterment of Maj. Pierre L'enfant.

Washington, April 28.—One of the principal speakers yesterday at the exercises in the rotunda of the capitol in connection with the reinterment of the body of Maj. Pierre L'enfant, who planned the city of Washington, was Ambassador Jusserand of France.

Jusserand called attention to the primitive condition of the land upon which the future capital of the nation was to be erected, and to the great transformation which had taken place in a little more than a century, and said that "the will of congress, the choice made by the great man whose name the city was to bear, the talents of a French officer, the one whose memory was being commemorated today, caused the change."

Washington, he said, quickly made up his mind as to the location of the future city, but the question arose as to what sort of a city would it be—a residential one for statesmen, legislators and judges; a commercial one, with the splendid possibilities afforded by the Potomac river, or a mixture of both.

Maj. L'enfant, said the ambassador, had been selected by Washington because in thirteen years of association he had many occasions to appreciate his qualities of character and his abilities. The French officer, however, he said, although gifted, plucky and energetic, was difficult to handle. L'enfant had been one of the earliest enthusiasts of the American cause, served throughout the War of the Independence, and had been left on the battlefield severely wounded at Savannah, where he had led the vanguard of one of the columns of attack and lost two-thirds of his men. Later he was taken prisoner and afterwards exchanged for Capt. Von Heyden, a Hessian.

Sues Mining Company.

Erick Ohlin wants $1,999.90 from the Rogers Brown Ore company, in whose mine he was injured in September of 1908.

The accident happened at the Gibson mine, located near Amasa, Mich., and at the time of the accident he was employed as a trammer.

He claims that there was much blasting going on in the mine and that on the occasion he was hurt an unexploded charge had been left in the ground, although the foreman had been notified to withdraw it.

Supposing that the charge had been withdrawn Ohlin and another workman began, as was their duty, to work with picks near the place. The charge was struck and Ohlin's right ear was blown off. He claims that he suffered also from other injuries as a result of the accident and that he is disfigured for life.

Took Bad Beating.

Per Peterson has brought suit against Marshall Johnson for $1,000 for taking a beating at the hands of the latter in Eveleth in November, 1908. He filed the complaint through his attorneys with the clerk of the district court this morning.

Peterson was in bed in his room in the Eveleth hotel when he alleges that Johnson came in and attacked him. He claims that Johnson struck him repeatedly about the head and shoulders and that he has suffered greatly as a result.

THE EVENING STORY

"THE BROTHER OF HIS WIFE"

By Albert J. Porter.

(Copyrighted. All rights reserved.)

When Comerford returned from his Eastern trip and hurried up the gravel walk leading to his quaint little bungalow nestled among the trees he remarked how cold, and still, and uninviting it gleamed through the drizzling rain.

Upon entering the house he was further struck with wonderment by the non-appearance of his young wife, who was wont to rush into his arms with upturned face for his kisses. And where, too, were the servants? Comerford had thought it strange that his return had not been heralded at the suburban station. He had never been given to premonitions, but now a vague, indefinable fear assailed him.

Uttering his wife's name in tumultuous gasps, he sprang up the stairs to her boudoir. His hand shook violently as he turned the knob of her door. He hesitated before entering and called softly:

"Helen dear, are you there?"

Only the echo of his voice through the empty corridor answered him and his fear multiplying apace, he stepped into the room. His eyes shot to the disordered bed, the single glass, the picture—all told the story plainer than a parting note.

So his wife, the woman of his bosom, upon whom he had showered his great, masterful love, had been false to him—had been holding clandestine relations with some old lover during his absence, and perhaps — Probably they were in some distant clime, making merry over his unsuspecting faith.

Such were the thoughts which raked his benumbed brain, as he paced like a caged lion up and down the room.

Comerford's roving commission had prevented communication with his wife and his sudden return was scheduled as a pleasant surprise for her. Try as he would he could not deem her capable of this action. But when his eyes again swept the room and took in the damning evidence he could not but accept the truth.

Clear and sadly sweet was the chatter of the birds without in their warm nests under the eaves, secluded from the weather. Dismal was the scene on the spacious lawn. The rain shivered slowly down over the spectral statue in the fountain, leaving dirty gashes of mud. All the outside world was barren and desolate.

Comerford pondered how wonderfully his life contrasted, in its present state, to the melancholy scene without.

Suddenly the howling wind brought to his ear the distant chug-chug of a motor car. Comerford listened intently. He fancied he caught the far away sound of hilarious laughter, but it was, perhaps, only the buzz of a fly as the little insect played merrily up and down the window pane.

The grind of the machine gradually became more distinct, and presently, up the gravel roadway, between the rows of solemn elms, dashed a big red tonneau. It contained two occupants—a man and a woman, attired in heavy auto cloaks.

The man leaped from the car and airily assisted the woman to alight. Comerford peered out breathlessly, his face tense, his steady hand gripping his trusty revolver. Something told him it was the guilty pair, returning to their bower.

Just then the motorists threw aside their wraps and there stood Comerford's wife and the original of the man in the picture. Comerford strove to control himself.

"I will wait until they enter," he muttered grimly. "Then their lives shall pay the forfeit. And I—I will use a bullet on myself."

He seemed to take particular delight in this soliloquy.

"Arthur, dear, you have the key. Hurry and open the door. I cannot wait," came his wife's voice from below.

They were in the parlor now. Comerford could hear their muffled and quickened breathing. He crept to the head of the stairs and, pistol in hand, strained his ear to catch every word. His wife was speaking.

"Oh, Harry, won't it be a delightful surprise for my dear Charley when he returns?"

What was that? Was she mocking him? A delightful surprise? Yes, it would be a surprise when he confronted them, but not a delightful one. It would be a surprise when he sent bullets crashing through their brains. It would be a surprise when, cold and still, three blood-stained corpses were found huddled and festering in a congealed pool in the imperial hall!

"You and Charley will have just one delightful time together, I am sure. You must recount to him those South African experiences of yours. But remember this, dear brother"—in a teasing way—"Charley does not carouse at least in the house. So you must be careful and not make any of your bad breaks until you have known him well. Oh, those servants. When I think of them I feel mad enough to do something awful. Just think of the mean things leaving us the day you arrived. But we have had a nice time at the seashore, haven't we?

"Now, Art, you go back to town and engage a cook. I will try to straighten up my room and put things in order. And say, you left that room in rather an uncivilized condition. I looked in there just before we left, and one would think some college boy had been there cigarettes and wine, and everything all topsy turvy. And my bed all tumbled up as if some clumsy elephant had lain on it. Remember, you can't do that when my Charley returns. He is as staid as a minister.

"Run on, and do as I told you. When you get back you will have some of my handiwork at cookery."

"Arthur" went, and as the door slammed the woman went blithely about her work, humming a love tune.

Now Comerford, above, did a thing unusual to him. He rushed back into his wife's room and grabbed up that decanter of liquor. In one gulp he had emptied it. And then, laying aside his pistol, he stole softly down the stairs to meet his wife with a kiss.

Whenever Comerford has occasion to look into a certain corner of his drawer he is wont to shudder inwardly, for there is where his pistol is kept.

FIVE LIVES SNUFFED OUT

Four Seriously Wounded By Boiler Explosion in Pine County.

Sawmill Men Warming Themselves When Explosion Occurred.

Sandstone, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The explosion of a boiler at McGrath & Hagan's sawmill at Kerrick, in the northern part of Pine county yesterday cost five lives and seriously wounded four persons.

Dr. Cowan and Dr. Smith of this place who were summoned to the scene of the fatality soon after it took place yesterday forenoon found that the exploding had torn and mangled the ones killed and badly lacerated the wounded. The dead are:

ARVID BERGLUND aged 20, single.
ERNEST WIDGER, aged 23, single.
HARLEY ABBOTT, aged 38, married.
HENRY HENTZ, aged 40, married.
OSCAR ROSTLUM aged 21, single.

The seriously wounded are: Gust Bergquist aged 35, single. Patrick Williamson, aged 18. Homer Martin, aged 24, single. Joseph McGrath, aged 28. They are expected to recover, if no complications ensue. A number of others sustained minor injuries.

Were Warming Themselves.

The mill had shut down for a few minutes and the men had stopped into the boiler room to warm themselves when the explosion came. The boiler was hurled 200 or 300 feet and the mill torn to pieces, some of the debris being thrown a quarter of a mile.

Even the victims were hurled quite a distance, some bodies being found over thirty feet from the explosion.

The people hurried to the scene of the explosion as soon as the became aware of what had happened, and joined in the search for the dead and injured. Before the arrival of the doctors from near the people had carried the wounded to homes while efforts were being made to gather up the pieces of the dead. The cause of the explosion will never be known, as the boiler is said to have been locally operated. The loss in property does not exceed $1,000.

GOVERNOR GOES ON VACATION

Will Spend About Ten Days at Old Point Comfort.

St. Paul, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor Johnson leaves for a two weeks' vacation Friday evening. He will go with Mrs. Johnson to Old Point Comfort, where they expect to rest for about ten days, returning directly home. The governor has not been in the best of health and wants the help of the warm sun and sea breeze to get him back to his usual condition.

SELLWOOD ONE OF DELEGATES

Named By Governor Johnson to National Peace Congress.

St. Paul, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor John A. Johnson has commissioned the following delegates to the second national peace congress in Chicago, May 3 to 5: A. T. Ankeny, Rev. G. L. Morrill and Dr. J. H. Gray, Minneapolis; F. B. Lindong, St. Paul; P. H. Nelson, Hibbing; Joseph Sellwood, Duluth; Dr. J. A. Du Bois, Sauk Center; W. P. Parsons, Fergus Falls, and J. F. Mcligan, Albert Lea.

The first congress was in New York in 1907. J. M. Dickinson, now secretary of war, is president, and representatives are expected to attend from Japan, Germany, England, France, Sweden, China and Turkey. Among the speakers will be Governor Deneen of Illinois, Dr. David Starr Jordan, William J. Bryan, Samuel Gompers, Governor Gillett of California, Archbishop John Ireland, James A. Tawney and Elihu Root. It is likely that the situation in Turkey will be given special attention.

WAS AT ONE TIME WEDDED TO MME. YALE.

Cleveland, Ohio, April 28.—It is said that Rev. William M. Andrews, aged 59, who was found dead by starvation in his room at Akron, was the divorced husband of Mme. Yale, beauty expert. Andrews was divorced nine years ago and left the ministry at that time. He never would discuss his family affairs, and refused to live with either of his sons. Although surrounded with food, he was unable to eat on account of stomach trouble.

FOOD FACTS.

What an M. D. Learned.

A prominent Georgia physician went through a food experience which he makes public:

"It was my own experience that first led me to advocate Grape-Nuts food and I also know, from having prescribed it to convalescents and other weak patients, that the food is a wonderful rebuilder and restorer of nerve and brain tissue, as well as muscle. It improves the digestion and sick patients always gain just as I did in strength and weight very rapidly.

"I was in such a low state that I had to give up my work entirely, and went to the mountains of this state, but two months there did not improve me; in fact, I was not quite as well as when I left home.

"My food did not sustain me and it became plain that I must change. Then I began to use Grape-Nuts food and in two weeks I could walk a mile without fatigue, and in five weeks returned to my home and practice, taking up hard work again. Since that time I have felt as well and strong as I ever did in my life.

"As a physician who seeks to help all sufferers, I consider it a duty to make these facts public."

Trial 10 days on Grape-Nuts, when the regular food does not seem to sustain the body, will work miracles.

HENEY TO HAVE FIST FIGHT NEXT

Prosecutor and a Rival Lawyer Agree to "Mix It."

San Francisco, Cal., April 28.—Francis J. Heney and Earl Rogers, opposing counsel in the trial of Patrick Calhoun, have agreed that their private differences growing out of the clash over the admission of testimony, shall be settled at the first opportunity after the trial. Rogers took offense at Heney's remarks.

"Don't you talk to me in that manner, Mr. Heney," he said.

"I'll meet you any time you say so," answered the prosecutor.

"All right, Mr. Heney," replied Mr. Rogers. "That is agreed, and we will settle this matter after we have ended our duties to our respective clients."

Mr. Heney left the courtroom under escort of his customary bodyguards, and the adjournment marked the end of a stormy session, in which Heney addressed Lewis F. Byington of the defense as a "barking cur," and Byington retorted by addressing Heney as a "trailing dog."

THE PERSONAL INJURY GRIST

Five Suits Aggregating Nearly $100,000 Against Mining Companies.

Three personal injury suits were entered with the clerk of the district court yesterday, against the Oliver Iron Mining company. The damages asked aggregate $45,000.

Mike Djiet lost a finger while at work in the Fayal mine at Eveleth and claims that the company was negligent in that it did not take proper precautions against the falling of huge chunks of ore. He asks $10,000.

Andrew Tuerin wants $20,000 as recompense for being buried under a quantity of ore which fell on him while he was working in the Hull-Rust mine at Hibbing, last January.

Emil Teppo claims that during an explosion of dynamite in the Monroe mine at Chisholm, last January, he was badly hurt. He demands $15,000.

For the loss of an eye and the partial loss of the other, as the result of an explosion of dynamite in the Gibson mine at Amasa, Mich., in September, George Gorman has brought suit in the district court against the Rodgers-Brown Ore company for $1,999.90. He claims that the accident was the result of a stick of dynamite being struck by the pick of a fellow workman. The workman was killed and Gorman was injured.

John Lalti wants $20,000 for injuries received while at work in the Mohawk mine last September. A portion of the roof caved in, and he also received other injuries about the head, shoulders and body, according to the complaint. He says he will never be able to do manual labor again.

"I'd Rather Die, Doctor.

Than have my feet cut off," said M. L. Bingham of Princeville, Ill. "But you'll die from gangrene (which had eaten away eight toes) if you don't," said all doctors. Instead he used Bucklen's Arnica Salve till wholly cured. Its cures of Eczema, Fever Sores, Boils, Burns and Piles astound the world. 25c at all druggists.

CHANGES MADE BY W. E. McEWEN

Levy and Brosius Out of Free Employment Bureau.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Labor Commissioner W. E. McEwen has shaken up the state free employment bureau system, making two changes which will be effective May 1. Louis Levy, who has been in charge of the three bureaus, with headquarters in Minneapolis, will be retired and his place will be taken by A. E. Kellington, also of Minneapolis and head of the flour mill employes. Mr. Kellington will have supervision of the three offices, but will make his headquarters in St. Paul.

H. P. Brosius, who has managed the Minneapolis bureau, also goes out, and his place is taken by Louis Volger, who is transferred from work as a state factory inspector. In Volger's place Mr. McEwen has appointed a new factory inspector, A. B. Gray of Minneapolis who is a machinist, and will give particular attention to the safeguarding of employes from accidents by contact with machinery.

CARNEGIE STEEL PUTS UP PRICE UPON BARS.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 28.—Giving as an excuse the fact that it has a big business and that there is sufficient tonnage for the present, the Carnegie Steel company has advanced its prices on steel bars from $1.10 to $1.15, and on steel plates and shapes from $1.20 to $1.25.

BICYCLE WITH QUEER HISTORY

Olaf Wicklund Claims Machine After Many Owned It.

Chief of Police Troyer is up against a puzzler in trying to decide the ownership of a bicycle, claimed by Olaf E. Wicklund, who says it was stolen from him in 1905. Since then it has passed through the hands of several people and has undergone numerous changes, but Wicklund claims he is positive that it is his machine.

Wicklund, feeling sure the wheel was his, took it from Oscar Dahl yesterday. Dahl says he bought it from John Trano, to whom it was sold by Axel Berg, who in turn got it from O. H. Olson, general repairman of West Duluth. Olson claims to have bought the frame without the forks, from a junk dealer. He says he matched a new fork to fit the frame, built new wheels after getting some second-hand hubs from Berg, fitted it with a new crank-hanger, and bought a new chain, new handle bar, new seat, etc. After buying the wheel, Berg bought a bell from a school janitor.

Wicklund says he can positively identify the wheel by the style of the chain, the handlebars and bell, and by its general appearance. He admits that the rims are not his property, but thinks they should be returned to him with the wheel, in view of the fact that there were rims on his wheel when it was stolen.

DEER KILLING BY TIMBER WOLVES

One Wolf That Killed Three Deer in Two Nights.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Being a keen sportsman, I saw enough to make my blood boil with eternal vengeance for the death of every marauding wolf in this part of the country, a few days ago. When we had a fresh fall of snow, I went wolf hunting, with the result of finding a den of seven cubs and vixen. After walking about nine miles I struck the trail of a large timber wolf and thought he might be the father of a family and followed him for about three miles on a straight line. From a trot he slowed down to a walk and then stopped behind some bushes. All unconscious of danger a very large buck was browsing and coming toward the point of danger, when within two jumps there was a flash, a mixup, a deer with his throat torn out and laid low. Then a gorge as he ate one entire ham, part of a front quarter, besides some tid-bits. And having fed good a sound sleep and another feed.

With daylight the wolf moved on and went about four miles, where he spent the day on a sunshiny bank, and when night came on, he took up his journey and went straight to where a bunch of deer were feeding in an abandoned claim. He singled out a large buck and ran him down within sixty rods, tore his throat open, drank his life gore, took a bite out of his ham and then went nearly a mile, where two yearlings were feeding. Evidently he wanted them both, as sometimes he followed one, then the other. He made their fur fly in six-inch strips, but when they struck black ground seemingly, they had the best of it, as he gave them up and immediately struck out on a new track, with former results. Three deer in two nights. How many will he kill in a year?

CLUB BUFFETS SAME AS SALOON

Private Bars Will Have to Conform to Lid Laws.

St. Paul, Minn., April 28.—When the Minnesota and the Commercial clubs are given retail liquor licenses by the common council, their buffets will be saloons in the eyes of the law. That is the opinion of Corporation Attorney J. C. Michael, but he says it does not necessarily follow that ordinary saloon methods need prevail.

For instance, the buffets of the clubs need not open to the general public, for, in the opinion of Mr. Michael, a saloon is not in the same class with a hotel or public eating house, and, therefore, all people do not have a constitutional right to patronize them. The corporation attorney said the point is a new one to him, but he is strongly of the opinion that rules limiting patronage to members of the clubs will hold.

But the club buffets will come under the general laws and regulations affecting saloons. They will be required under the law to close at 11 o'clock at night and to remain closed on Sunday, and all the other regulations affecting saloons will be in force. That closing law will not require the club itself to lock up and go to bed at 11 o'clock, but the buffet must be locked, and if it is not it will be up to the police to bring prosecution the same as in the case of a saloon.

UNCLE SAM IS READY TO RECOGNIZE NEW SULTAN.

Washington, April 28.—Prompt recognition will be given to the new government of Turkey by the United States when official news of the order of things in the Ottoman Empire reaches Washington. The personal qualities of the new sultan, which are well known to officials in Washington, are considered an important element to be reckoned with in the administration of the affairs of state. His incarceration for so many years has removed him from the suspicion of taint with despotism, corruption and cruelty that attached to his predecessor, leading officials to believe his better qualities will be a predominating feature in his career as sultan.

Receipt That Cures Weak Men—Free

Send Name and Address Today—You Can Have It Free and Be Strong and Vigorous.

I have in my possession a prescription for nervous debility, lack of vigor, weakened manhood, failing memory and lame back, brought on by excesses, unnatural drains or the follies of youth, that has cured so many worn and nervous men right in their own homes—without any additional help or medicine—that I think every man, who wishes to regain his manly power and virility, quickly and quietly, should have a copy. So, I have determined to send a copy of the prescription, free of charge, in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope, to any man who will write me for it.

This prescription comes from a physician who has made a special study of men, and I am convinced it is the surest-acting combination for the cure of deficient manhood and vigor-failure ever put together.

I think I owe it to my fellow man to send them a copy in confidence, so that any man, anywhere who is weak and discouraged with repeated failures may stop drugging himself with harmful patent medicines, secure what, I believe, is the quickest-acting, restorative, upbuilding, SPOT-TOUCHING remedy ever devised, and so, cure himself at home quietly and quickly. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E. Robinson, 4671 Luck Bldg., Detroit, Mich., and I will send you a copy of this splendid receipt, in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope, free of charge.

His Only Medicine

Mr. L. B. Immell, of Reading, Pa., who is seventy-four years old, strong and vigorous, is loud in his praises of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, which in his declining years is his one medicine. He recommends it to the aged.

"I write, thinking that you might be interested in knowing that my only medicine is Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. I am seventy-four years old. I was born February 10, 1835. Am a veteran of the Civil War. I have used Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and have been greatly benefitted by it. It is the very thing old people need to build them up in their declining years.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is a very popular medicine in this city." L. B. IMMELL, Reading, Pa.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey kills the disease germs and keeps the system in a normal, healthy condition. It keeps the old young, the young strong; it is invaluable as a tonic for overworked men, delicate women and sickly children. It is an absolutely free distillation of malted grain, great care being used to have every kernel thoroughly malted, thus destroying the germ and producing a predigested liquid food in the form of a malt whiskey, which is the most effective tonic stimulant and invigorator known to science; softened by warmth and moisture, its palatability and freedom from injurious substances render it so that it can be retained by the most sensitive stomach.

If weak and run down, take a teaspoonful four times a day in half a glass of milk or water.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is sold throughout the world by druggists, grocers and dealers, or shipped direct for $1.00 per bottle.

If in need of advice, write Consulting Physician, Duffy's Malt Whiskey Company, Rochester, New York, stating your case fully. Our doctors will send you advice free, together with an illustrated medical booklet, containing some of the many thousands of gratifying letters received from men and women in all walks of life, both old and young, who have been cured and benefited by the use of the world's greatest medicine.

MEMORIAL DAY PLANS

Parade Will Be Held on the Monday Following.

Women Will Strew Water With Flowers—Church Services.

A program for the observance of Memorial day in Duluth will be outlined at a meeting to be held this week, in which representatives of the G. A. R., citizens' staff, the Women's Relief corps and the ladies of the Grand Army will participate. As Memorial day falls on Sunday this year, the parade and other civic features will be held over until the following day, and Monday will be generally recognized as a holiday in the city.

The committee of the G. A. R., consisting of S. W. Higgins, John H. La Vaque, Asa Daily, S. W. Clark and L. W. Palmer has been in readiness for some time to take up the matter of arranging the details, and is only waiting for the citizens' staff to call a meeting. The call rests with Maj. Eva, president of the staff.

The main feature will be much the same as in previous years. There will be a parade, in which will march the members of the Gorham and Culver posts of the G. A. R., the Sons of Veterans, the Duluth contingent of the Minnesota National Guard, the veterans of the Spanish-American war, the children of the public schools, and the several lodges and citizen bodies.

The cemeteries will be visited and the graves of the soldier dead decorated with flowers and flags. A feature of Memorial day which has become established, is the strewing of the waters of the harbor with flowers by the Women's Relief corps, in memory of the sailors who lost their lives in their country's service. The custom will be followed this year as usual, if the weather permits. The boats for the occasion will be furnished by the naval reserves.

The invitation of Rev. J. S. Kirtley to attend the evening service at the First Baptist church, has been accepted by the old soldiers. In the morning they will attend the Glen Avon Presbyterian church in a body.

Exercises for Monday evening will include music and speeches at the Lyceum theater. The speakers have not yet been decided upon, but will be named at the meeting this week.

The various committees of the Grand Army are as follows: Decorations, S. W. Clark, S. W. Higgins and Asa Daily; on arrangements for soldiers to visit the public schools, S. F. White and S. W. Clark; on locating and marking the graves of old soldiers, Asa Daily; on parade of school children and flags, M. W. Bates.

NO PENSIONS IN DULUTH

Local Teachers Will Not Benefit From New Law.

Minneapolis Only City to Which It Will Apply.

St Paul, April 28. — Unless some clever lawyer can find a way out of it, there will be no pensions for the teachers of either St. Paul or Duluth until the next legislature meets. Minneapolis school ma'ams alone will enjoy the benefit of the act, which the teachers of the three cities fought so hard to get through the legislature, and upon the passage of which they have been congratulating themselves.

The bill was drawn so as to apply to all cities of more than 50,000. It passed both branches of the legislature and was approved by the governor, April 22.

But there was another bill approved April 13, which says that "no act regulating any of the affairs of cities of the first class shall be deemed applicable to any city existing under a home rule charter framed under section 36 of article 4, of the Constitution unless the intention to make the same so applicable shall by such act be expressly declared."

C. A. Congdon of Duluth was the author of the bill and several St. Paul and Duluth measures, which passed later, were amended so as to apply to home rule cities, but no one ever thought of amending the teachers pension bill and it says nothing about being applicable to cities with home rule charters.

Duluth teachers had been planning to organize their pension society next fall, but the legal complications noted above will probably cohce them to drop their plans.

SITUATION IN AITKIN COUNTY

To the Editor of The Herald:

In order to show the situation here, I quote from the Aitkin Republican, March 31:

"St. Paul, March 31.—If the general weather conditions of the past several weeks continue until the middle of April, serious floods of the Mississippi and Minnesota rivers in this state will be averted, says the weather and state drainage officials. George Ralph, state drainage engineer, said yesterday that in general the situation at the heads of both rivers and along streams there is nothing that would indicate sudden or dangerous floods."

From a Duluth paper of April 21:

"Samuel Simpson of Minneapolis, a logger, who is operating in the vicinity of Bena, Minn., says there has been much rain in the territory of the Upper Mississippi, and that the water is unusually high. He says the water in the government reservoirs is three feet higher than usual at this time of the year, though the dams are open and the flow of water through the dams unobstructed. The Mississippi river, Mr. Simpson says, will surely experience a higher flood than usual."

Now, let me add to these reports and state the situation below the reservoirs and in the government flood zone, at this date, April 26. The snow is all gone except where very large drifts were. The river was very low all winter, and since the thaw it has only risen a couple of feet and is now at a low summer stage, which leads one to believe that Mr. Simpson never got below the Pokegama dam, for if the water is, as he says, at Bena, and the reservoir gates open at Pokegama, surely it would have more effect on the river here. Lay your ear to the ground and listen and see if it does not, when the gates are open for log driving.

Another thing I wish to call attention to is that the employes of the Boom company have been along fixing up boom logs to keep logs in the river, and they are putting them fifteen feet above the water at present stage. Now, what does one conclude from the above conditions? Can it be that the Boom company does not know what it is doing? Perhaps not. There has been no boom institute held in this country to teach them how to boom the river, and perhaps they are ignorant.

There never being any flood, to my knowledge, here on the Mississippi in April leads one to think that Mr. Ralph does not understand the situation here as one should who has investigated as much as he has. There has never been a flood here from the melting snows in the spring. The conditions are such that they are well nigh impossible. The snow goes off in the open first, then in the scattered timber, and last in the thick dense timber, so that it always has the effect of a long, slow thaw. Then, again, floods at this time would not do much damage, and would not injure growing crops at least. But the floods are caused later by storing all this snow water and letting it go with the summer rains.

There is to be a farmers' institute here this week to teach the farmer how to raise potatoes and blow out stumps with dynamite. I suggest that they leave the potato education go until later and use this time to teach the farmer how to raise catfish on his grounds. Then, when they come in June, to inspect the crop, they can get around dry footed, provided they do not upset their canoe.

Perhaps they should go slow on the education in the dynamite line as the farmer might take a notion to use it on the dams! I told you so.

YEAR'S SENTENCE FOR SIGNING WIFE'S NAME TO LOVE LETTERS

Kansas City, Mo., April 28.—Chester H. Hamsher pleaded guilty to signing his wife's name to love letters which he wrote to Neil Johnson, a wealthy man of Atchison, Kan. He was sentenced to a year in jail.

The postoffice department could have made no objection to the love letters if Hamsher had not been mercenary in his motives. "Please send $10 by return mail—here are a million kisses for you," was the objectionable part of the letters in the eyes of the federal officials.

The correspondence lasted six months, and Johnson gave nearly $500 before he became aware of the deception. Hamsher's wife knew nothing of the affair until her husband was exposed.

LOCKED IN BOXCAR 4 DAYS AND NIGHTS; AWAKES TRAVELING

Elmira, N. Y., April 28.—Locked in a boxcar for four days and nights without food or water, Charles Connors of Chester Springs, Can., was taken from a Lackawanna train yesterday. Connors climbed into a boxcar in Chicago Saturday, intending to go as far as Kingston, Ont. He fell asleep and when he awoke found the car had been locked and sealed and had started for the East.

TO ENTERTAIN JAPANESE.

Howard Elliott, J. J. Hill and Others Planning a Welcome.

St. Paul, Minn., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—President Howard Elliott, of the Northern Pacific railway, who has returned to St. Paul from the East, is much interested in the plan to bring a delegation of representative Japanese business men to this country the coming summer. While in the East Mr. Elliott spent considerable time in Washington with Chairman J. J. Hill, of the Great Northern, and J. H. Carroll, attorney for the Burlington.

Later with Mr. Hill, Mr. Carroll, Elbert F. Blaine, president of the Seattle chamber of commerce; James D. Lowman, of the same organization; F. E. Goodell, president of the Spokane chamber of commerce, and Louis Gerlinger, president of the Portland chamber of commerce, he visited Philadelphia, where the party lunched with President James McCrea, of the Pennsylvania, and discussed the coming visit of the Japanese.

The Japanese are coming to this country on an invitation extended by the officials of the Alaska-Yukon Pacific exposition, and seconded by the commercial organizations of the coast cities. The party, consisting of fifteen Japanese exporters and fifteen prominent Japanese business men and their wives, will visit the exposition, and later will make a tour of the country. J. J. Hill has manifested great interest in the plan, and has been endeavoring to interest the government.

EAST GRAND FORKS TEACHERS ENGAGED.

East Grand Forks, Minn., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The faculty of the local schools for next year has been completed with the exception of a science and manual training teacher. Prof. H. A. Johnson of Elbow Lake, Minn., has been elected superintendent to succeed Prof. Burnett, who has resigned and accepted the superintendency of the Bismarck schools for next year. Prof. Johnson is a graduate of the University of Minnesota and an educator of recognized ability. He was in the cit recently looking over the situation and made a very favorable impression among the citizens whom he met.

Most of the present teachers will return it is expected for next year.

MINERS TO GET RELIEF.

Supplies to Be Sent to Starving Prospectors on North Shore.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The opening of navigation to Lake Superior means relief for miners at Michipicoten on the north shore of the lake, where it is reported supplies have given out and the town is on short rations. They have no railroad but a boat load of provisions will be sent at once. The gold boom last fall drew a large number of prospectors to that region.

Madison, Wis., April 28.—The fact that E. A. Edmonds, chairman of the Republican state central committee and manager of the Stephenson campaign has failed to answer to a subpoena of the senatorial investigating committee, was certified to the senate yesterday. The committee will ask that the senate begin contempt proceedings against Edmonds. The records show he was served with a subpoena on April 17.

Dieting Does Not Cure Indigestion

Self Denial by Prescribed Rules of Health Used to be Considered a Cure.

Starvation is a strange remedy for any disease. Yet, starvation by rigorous diet was once generally resorted to in cases of indigestion and dyspepsia. Even yet, it is sometimes tried. Such a remedy is worse than useless. Every day of life consumes a portion of the tissues of the human body. The food we eat serves to repair the waste, and you can't build up the system by withholding the material necessary for these purposes. When you have Dyspepsia or Indigestion, or any form of stomach trouble, take a little Kodol to help the stomach do its work.

We say, take Kodol, because it is the only preparation that will digest all the food you eat. Every tablespoonful of Kodol digests 2¼ pounds of food. It supplies the same digestive juices that are found in a healthy, vigorous stomach. There are other preparations that are partial digesters, but what your stomach needs is complete rest. Kodol is the only preparation that will give it. A man is so constituted that he needs a variety of foods; to reduce the variety always produces bad results. In 99 cases out of 100, Indigestion is due to lack of some of the elements which constitute the natural digestive juices. Kodol supplies just what is needed. Our Guarantee: Get a dollar bottle of Kodol. If you are not benefited—the druggist will at once return your money. Don't hesitate; any druggist will sell you Kodol on these terms. The dollar bottle contains 2½ times as much as the 50c bottle. Kodol is prepared in the laboratories of E. C. De Witt & Co., Chicago.

PITCH AND POLITICS.

Pitch and politics, a bad combination we have found it.

Amzi Lorenzo Barber, former head of the asphalt trust, is dead and only just before his death was the great asphalt war settled and our political troubles with Venezuela, arising out of the defilement from the Venezuela pitch that we have touched, brought to an end.

Barber was an early entry in the asphalt business. He immediately sought and obtained the control of Pitch Lake in Venezuela, practically the only source of supply of asphaltum. Quickly on the heels of his control of this valuable product followed the formation of the asphalt trust with $30,000,000 capital. The trust soon absorbed all rivals, including the New York & Bermudez company, a strong competitor. Barber retired after a time.

In 1904 this country's political troubles with Venezuela arising out of the trust's holdings in Venezuela began. Castro, then president of Venezuela, charged that the New York & Bermudez company had contributed $145,000 to the Matos revolution in which 12,000 Venezuelans lost their lives. Venezuela began active proceedings against the New York & Bermudez company, its property was sequestered and a receiver was appointed. The receiver made Mr. Barber his agent, which put him again in the saddle in asphalt. A fine of $5,000,000 was assessed by Venezuela against the New York & Bermudez company. Charges and counter charges followed fast. The trust charged that Barber and Castro were in cahoots to deprive the Bermudez company of its all-necessary lake of pitch. The receiver turned the lake over to Barber, so that the charge gained some color. The United States appointed a commission to investigate, scandals were uncovered, Minister Brown charged Assistant Secretary of State Loomis with undue interference. Rumors of bribe money were thick. Minister Bowen was dismissed from the diplomatic service and Assistant Secretary Loomis retired to private life. Meantime Barber industriously dug pitch and Castro, for some reason, looked complacently on. Serious charges were made against Barber, who retaliated with suits for libel.

Several times during the course of the trouble the relations of this country with Castro were unpleasantly strained. Castro and Barber remained firmly fixed in the saddle, however, until Castro went to Europe last fall, and Gomez took over the government. Gomez put the whole matter up to The Hague for arbitrament. The New York & Bermudez company was fined $60,000 and given back its property.

Now Castro seeks to secure a landing in Venezuela, oust Gomez and regain the presidency, whereupon the scrap muddle might be expected in Pitch Lake, which does not seem to mix well with politics or to be an easy subject for diplomacy to deal with.

RAILROADS MUST PROTECT CROSSINGS.

The United States supreme court, in a decision reported in The Herald Monday evening, has finally settled rightly a question that has long been in controversy between the railroads and the cities—the question of which was to pay for viaducts and other means of making grade crossings safe.

The supreme court of this state settled the question long ago so far as its authority went, and Duluth was one of the first cities to benefit by its decision that the railroads must stand the burden. In the case of the Lake avenue viaduct the Northern Pacific was forced to pay the cost, after the case had gone up to the supreme court. The railroads were not contented with the ruling of the state courts, however, and the Great Northern railroad carried a contest with Minneapolis on this question up to the supreme court of the United States, where the principle has been laid down that the demand of the city upon any railroad company to make a crossing safe is a proper exercise of the police power. The principle settled, it is only necessary hereafter that a city shall show that protection to a grade crossing is necessary, and the obligation to protect it immediately devolves upon the railroad.

THE PAINS OF REVOLUTION.

The Railway Age Gazette declares that the return of prosperity is delayed not so much by tariff agitation, as it is by the refusal of capital to invest in railway construction and railway equipment. The people may make laws, it they will, intimates the Age Gazette, restricting the earnings of capital invested in the railways to 6 per cent, but they cannot compel capital to invest its money in such railroads.

This is partly true, and partly not true. It is undoubtedly a fact that capital is being withheld from railway investment, and it is possible that in some measure it is withheld because of the interference of the people in the past few years in the management of the railways. There are other, and more fundamental causes which have operated to hold capital back, but in some measure capital has preferred to keep out of the sphere of public control, and in that measure it is retaliating upon the public for its interference in railway mnaagement. This is one of the pains of revolution that the public will have to bear as best it may. Time was when the public had nothing whatever to say in the management or control of public service corporations. We are in the midst of a revolution against such a condition of things. Private individuals may no longer invest their money in public service undertakings, and manage and control these undertakings as they please without let or interference from the public. These matters are more the public's business than they are the business of private individuals, even if the private individuals have their private funds invested therein. This is the revolution that we live in the midst of and we must endure its pains as best we may, as the world has always been compelled to bear the pains of all its revolutions as best it might.

That capital is being somewhat held back because of our insistence upon government control of the railroads cannot be doubted and that its withholding is doing us some injury is certain. But the injury is temporary and it is slight compared to the benefit the whole country must eventually reap from the revolution against the private exploiting of public affairs. The extension of railways will go forward just as surely under public control as under private control; the halting is merely a matter of taking time to make the adjustment to new conditions. Capital has got to invest itself, and if it does not come to the railroads from one source, it is bound to come from another.

The Railroad Age Gazette also doubts the ability of the people properly to run the railroads. Granted. But the people are learning how government may efficiently supervise and control public service corporations while leaving their actual operation to experts in the business. That in the meantime there is some loss to the railroads, much ill considered legislation, overreachings on the part of the public returning upon them to plague them with loss, and a general disturbance which is not good just now either for capital or for the general public, is perfectly true. All these are more of the pains of revolution. They are inevitable. Revolutions cannot be accomplished without them.

Every revolution has its pains, pains proportioned to the depths that it stirs or the heighths it aspires.

THE TONNAGE TAX IN MICHIGAN.

The sympathies of the people of Northeastern Minnesota, who have lately emerged, out of breath and still trembling but happy as they never were before, from a similar alarm, will flow out to the people of Upper Michigan, who are threatened with a tonnage tax more greedy and more preposterous, even, than the kind proposed by the amiable Mr. Bjorge of Becker county.

The Michigan bill, which is said to have the support of the state grange, a farmers' organization composed of residents of Southern Michigan, provides for a state tax of 25 cents a ton on all iron ore, and one-half cent a pound on all copper produced in the state. It is estimated that the additional revenue this bill would bring to the state—if it were enacted into law and stood the test of the courts—amounts to $3,000,000 a year, which is more than the entire state tax collected last year from all parts of the state. One mine in Marquette county would have to pay, at last year's rate of production, a larger state tax than all Marquette county paid last year.

As in Minnesota, the argument is used that this tax would not interfere with local taxes, as they are still to be raised upon the ad valorem system. As in Minnesota, the argument is used that the tax would be paid by great and rich corporations, and not by the people of the state. As in Minnesota, these arguments are specious and hollow, and as in Minnesota, the imposition of this tax would work a great hardship upon the mining regions for the immediate benefit and ultimate harm of the agricultural sections.

There is little probability, however, that such a bill will become a law in Michigan. There is far less probability that if it does become a law it will hold water in the courts. There are few states in the Union whose Constitutions will permit a tax which bears no relation whatever to the value of the property taxed. No better measure of taxation has been found than that of the ability to pay of the property taxed. No better measure of ability to pay has been devised than that of value. Even the "wide-open" tax amendment which the supreme court of this state read into the Constitution after the voters had twice rejected it does not permit a tax not based on valuation.

Aside altogether from the problem of taxation, a vexed one and one that will be yet unsettled many years hence, there is an economic side to the principle of specific taxation that should never be overlooked. A specific tax upon the output of a mine or a farm or a shop, without regard to the value of that output, is a penalty upon industry. The more the mine or shop or farm produces, the more taxes it must pay. The less they produce, the less their tax burden. When one state, having farms and shops and mines, penalizes those industries, and other states do not, the legislature that accomplishes that action places a destructive handicap upon its own industries in favor of similar industries in other states.

If a specific tax of 5 cents a ton on the output of a mine or 5 cents a bushel upon the output of a farm can be upheld, a tax of 25 cents or 50 cents or $1 per ton or bushel can also be upheld. If a small output tax works well in helping out the state treasury, a larger one will pay all state expenses, and the temptation to impose it will be irresistible.

Our sympathies go out to the people of the Upper Peninsula of Michigan. If their legislature proves as feeble as Minnesota's did, may their governor prove as sturdy and as fearless as Minnesota's did.

LIGHT DAWNS IN TURKEY.

The step forward which Turkey has taken toward the light of liberty is not a long one, but it is probably as much as the Turks are capable of managing so soon after years—even centuries—of tyranny.

About all it amounts to is that Abdul Hamid, most remorseless of tyrants, has been deposed and his place given to his brother, Mehemed Raschad. The latter is described as a kindly, placid individual, who has lived most of his life in retirement—in practical imprisonment, in fact—and who may be expected to give the new Constitution—which wouldn't seem like much of a Constitution to those who are enjoying the blood-bought foundation of American liberties—as liberal construction and administration as could be hoped for in the present state of Turkish civilization.

The chief danger would seem to be that Mehemed may turn out to be a weak character, in which event he would be a mere plaything of a steadily progressing revolution. Mehemed is 65 years of age, and his life has not been such as would naturally bring out strength of character, if he ever possessed the rudiments of it. He has become inured to captivity, and has lived surrounded by spies of his brother, the sultan, for many years. This is poor training for the position that has come to him so suddenly.

However, the contagion of liberty is taking mighty effect in Turkey, and it will not stop with the revolt which put Mehemed in Abdul Hamid's place.

HOTEL GOSSIP.

H. P. Warner, a lumberman of International Falls who has taken a good deal of interest in the development of St. Louis county, stated at the St. Louis last evening that one of the gravest problems that confronts the settlers in that part of the county, is the problem of clearing the land sufficiently to be able to get a start.

Mr. Warner explained that the majority of settlers in the northern half of the county, go there without any funds. They have practically nothing to support themselves and their families after they have secured their farms. The result of this lack of money is that these settlers are obliged to hire out to the lumber companies, engage as tie cutters or in some occupation that will enable them to support their families.

The result of having to spend most of their time in the employ of some other man, is that very little of the land of the settler is cleared, according to Mr. Warner. He is able to clear his land only at such times as he is unable to secure labor from some of the companies in that part of the county where he is located. As a result of this fact, many of the homesteads in the northern part of the county are not cleared and the owners are not making sufficient money from their holdings to support their families.

As one of the remedies for this difficulty upon the part of the settlers, Mr. Warner proposed that the company selling the land, or the state for that matter, when the land is a homestead, should clear five acres for the settler. With five acres of his land cleared, Mr. Warner points out that the settler could raise sufficient to give his family a fairly good living while he was compelled to work at some other occupation than farming.

Upon some of the farms in the northern part of the county there has scarcely been any clearing done upon farms where the holder of the land has been upon the property for four or five years. The result of this, is that the land is not paying and the owner is in no better position today than he was when he took up the land.

Mr. Warner points to some parts of the county where men who have been employed in the lumber companies, took out homesteads. They were unable to give any time to the clearing of the land, and as a result the timber industry, with its means of occupation for them, disappeared from that part of the state before the land of the men who were employed by it had cleared their lands. The result of this, is that many homesteads in that part of the state have been abandoned and many others have only been partially placed under cultivation.

What the settlers in the northern part of the country need is some assistance from either the county or the state, according to the view of Mr. Warner. They are in a part of the state where natural conditions are very hard to overcome. They are a class of men who have come to this part of the state with little money in their possession. If agriculture is ever going to be made a success in this part of the state, Mr. Warner suggests that the state shall have to take more interest in the matter.

He suggests that the settlers be given some assistance in getting a start in this new farming country, and that the attention of the state, which is just beginning to turn toward the needs of the northern part of Minnesota, be called to some of the hardships that are facing the men who are attempting to gain a livelihood from the soil.

With the settlers but given a start, so that they would be enabled to support their families until they could accomplish some progress in clearing their land, Mr. Warner points out that more of the farms of this and other counties in Northern Minnesota would me placed in a position where they would afford a means of support to their owners.

Arthur "Duke" O'Dea, at the Lenox hotel yesterday, unfolded the plans of the Beaver Bay Baseball league. According to Artie, they will clear spaces in the thick and tall timber, and any hit that penetrates through the line of trees that mark the boundary of the lot, will, according to ground rules agreed upon by captains of the opposing teams, count as two, three or four-base hits. This will, of course, depend upon the agreement reached by the captains of the opposing teams.

While Mr. O'Dea is not so certain that his team could storm Duluth and beat the White Sox, or even the Fitzwells, he is quite certain that if any of the Duluth team should journey to Beaver Bay they would meet defeat on the grounds of the Beaver Bayites.

Artie is really serious about his young league, and states, without an accompanying twinkle of the optic, that he will sure have at least four teams in that part of the wilderness. He furthermore says that while the members of his team may not be the most finished fielders in the world, there will be some of the best clouters in the business on the teams that will perform in the stump pastures.

THE WEATHER.

And still the croaker in the hilltop station chants his dirge of "rain or snow." The wind whistled around the exposed ankles of Oxford advocates yesterday and this morning, and those who have been rash enough to "take 'em off" and had nothing but a "rotten cotton shirt" between them and nature, shivered like a Panama engineer with the ague. These early spring zephyrs are "searchers."

A year ago today it was cold.

The sun rose this morning at 4:57 and will set this afternoon at 7:14, making fourteen hours and seventeen minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"A storm of considerable intensity is developing over Utah and Colorado. This disturbance, in connection with another that has moved from the lake region to the North Atlantic coast, caused rain or snow in Atlantic and Gulf states, eastern lake region, central valleys and Northwestern districts during the past twenty-four hours. Much warmer weather prevails over the Eastern slopes and the Northwest. Somewhat lower temperatures are the rule in the Ohio valley and the eastern lake region as a result of a high pressure area central over Michigan. Rain or snow and strong easterly winds are indicated for the Head of the Lakes this afternoon, tonight and Thursday, attending the easterly movement of the Utah-Colorado depression."

Department of Agriculture, Weather Bureau, Duluth, April 28.—Forecast for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Thursday: Duluth, Superior and vicinity, including the Mesaba and Vermillion iron ranges—Rain or snow this afternoon, tonight and Thursday; slightly warmer tonight; brisk to high northeast winds.

H. W. RICHARDSON,
Local Forecaster.

Chicago, April 28.—Forecast for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Wednesday:

Upper Michigan—Rain or snow tonight and Thursday; warmer tonight.

Wisconsin—Rain tonight and Thursday; rising temperature.

Minnesota—Rain tonight and Thursday; warmer in east portion tonight; colder in northwest portion tonight, and in south and west portions Thursday.

North Dakota—Rain or snow tonight and Thursday; colder tonight.

The Crops.

Indianapolis News: The mild winter which was welcomed by many dwellers in the city because it was easy on the coal pile, proves to have been bad for wheat, at least in Indiana. The long continued drought of last fall and the shortage of snow during the winter were both unfavorable conditions, conducing to a crop now estimated at not more than two-thirds or three-fourths of an average. The relative importance of the wheat crop of Indiana has steadily decreased in recent years. In 1860 Indiana stood second as a wheat-producing state, and in 1900 it stood seventh.

Other states, however, have shown a similar relative decline. In 1850 New York ranked third as a wheat-producing state, and in 1900 it ranked twenty-tleth. In fifty years the wheat production of New York decreased over 3,000,000 bushels, and its proportion of the total crop of the country decreased from 13 per cent to 1 per cent. With the opening up of new sections of country the center of wheat production has shifted. In 1850 this center was fifty-seven miles northeast of Columbus, Ohio; in 1860 it was eighteen miles northeast of Indianapolis, and in 1909 it was seventy miles west of Des Moines, Iowa. In 1850, when Pennsylvania ranked first as a wheat-producing state, Minnesota ranked thirty-third and North Dakota and South Dakota were unknown. In 1900 Minnesota ranked first, North Dakota second, South Dakota fourth and Pennsylvania twelfth. It is not at all likely that Indiana will ever regain its relative rank as a wheat-producing state, and it can only retain a respectable rank by improved methods of farming. Corn is the great crop of the state, and dispatches to the News indicate an increased acreage for this important cereal.

New York and Chicago.

Hartford Courant: The late Charles A. Dana did not love Chicago; he called it a big, sprawling, ugly, ungodly town —or words to that effect. Is Chicago a godlier town than New York? Col. John Temple Graves hasn't a doubt of it. The frivolous, irreligious atmosphere of New York—so different from that of his dear Georgia—chills the colonel. But in Chicago, as he has been telling the readers of the New York American, the biggest hall in the city is packed every Sunday—floor and galleries—while Rev. Frank Gunsaulus preaches the old-time gospel, and the second biggest hall is similarly packed with eager listeners at the meetings of the Sunday Evening club. New York's great public halls—Madison Square garden and the rest—are closed, empty and silent on Sundays; there are not ten churches in the city. (Protestant churches the colonel means, we suppose) where the preachers preach to full or half-full pews. "What is the matter with New York?" asks the colonel. "Has it forgotten the faith of its fathers?"

One Exception.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Little Falls Transcript: A Norfolk, Va., postmaster who has a humorous turn of mind, and is incidentally an enthusiastic baseball fan, has caused the following notice to be posted in the office: "All requests for leave of absence on account of toothache, severe colds and minor physical ailments, and on account of funerals, picnics, church socials and the like must be handed to the superintendent of your division before 10 a.m. on the morning of the game.

Virginia Enterprise: The trout fishing season opened yesterday. And by the way, a fishing rod that registers the weight of the catch can now be had, but unlike the man behind it tells the truth. Bound to be unpopular.

Hibbing Mesaba Ore: The Anoka Union, Granny Pease's paper, is praising Governor Johnson, which goes to show that even if Granny is an old grouch he is on the square with his fellow man.

Albert Lea Times Enterprise: The county option law was adopted in Indiana less than a year ago, and under it fifty of the ninety-two counties of the state have voted dry already. Minnesota would do as well if only given an opportunity.

New Ulm Review: A man's citizenship should be measured by his alley as well as by his front yard.

Le Sueur News: Governor Johnson is a level-headed servant of the people. While he has not been asleep during the session and at no time has there been a movement afoot in the legislature unknown to him, yet he has not been playing politics. It must be admitted that the third-term governor made good for the people.

Albert Lea Standard: Judge Anderson's ruling in the Standard Oil rebating case is another exemplification of the extreme difficulty, so extreme as to amount to impossibility of government regulation of railways. It goes to prove definitely what reflection upon general conditions would suggest in advance of particular proof, that the little finger of highway monopoly is stronger than the loins of popular government. Highway monopoly and popular government cannot exist together. The moral of this decision is the familiar one that the government must own the railroads or the railroads will rule the government.

Aitkin Age: Don't advertise some untimely thing you want to get rid of and then complain because advertising doesn't pay, but put your best foot forward—offer the people something they want and your advertising will pay all right.

Princeton Union: Old Tom Platt has written his life's history, and so carefully has it been edited that a rosebud of society might read it without a blush. A sort of expurgated autobiography.

Col. Higginson at 86.

Boston Post: Col. Thomas Wentworth Higginson at the age of four-score and six, is one of the finest examples the world has ever had to show of the exceptions which go perhaps to prove the psalmists' rule of human life. In his wonderfully interesting chapter of memories in the New York World, there is not a somber page. Life has been good to him; life has been joyous.

Such at least is the temper of his reminiscences, and he sees nothing but light in the future. He confesses to one disappointment—that he "couldn't have gone up in a balloon." And this joy he sees now close at hand for the rest of the people. "I'd own a balloon or an airship if I could afford it," he says.

He is not one who believes alone in the good old times. "They were fine, of course, but today's times are finer. The American people are going forward every year." People can do more than they could; things move more quickly. The increase of great fortunes does not disturb him. "It's a sign of American progress," he says.

And there is so much more to be done and so much greater ability and resources with which to do it! The uplift of this wonderful age has no more earnest and confident prophet than our beloved enthusiast, Col. Higginson.

MEANT TO BE FUNNY.

Chicago Tribune: Merchant—Swannagum, your face looks as if it had gone through a corn-sheller. What's the matter?

Swannagum—Mr. Phipps, did you sell this razor to my wife the day before Christmas?

Merchant—I presume I did.

Swannagum (with a dangerous gleam in his eye)—I have come, sir, to request you to take it back and give me the worth of it in court plaster.

Punch: Servant—Please, mum, I wanted t' arst you might we have a little jam in the kitchen now and then to ease the butter?

Chicago Tribune: Lecturer on Art—Before I sit down I shall be happy to answer any questions that any of you may wish to ask.

Gentleman in Audience (from St. Louis)—I have enjoyed the lecture much, sir, and have understood it all except a few technical terms. Will you please tell me what you mean by the words perspective, fresco and mickle-anjelo?

Lecturer sits down discouraged.

Chicago Daily News: "Paw," queried little Tommy Toddles, "what's a parasite?"

"How long have you been to school, young man?" asked Toddles, Sr.

"Four years," answered Tommy.

"Well," continued the old man, "there is something wrong with our educational system if four years of schooling hasn't taught you that a parasite is a person who lives in Paris."

Chicago Record-Herald: He—Bah! What is a woman? A rag, a bone and a hank of hair!

She—And man? A jag, a drone or a tank of air!

Judge: "Fine weather," remarked the passenger.

"So I've learned to my sorrow," replied the chauffeur, as he gave the steering wheel a quick turn to avoid running over a policeman. "I've paid three in the last week."

Kansas City Journel: "What makes that fellow so popular?"

"He'll listen to a funny story without insisting on telling another."

Louisville Courier-Journal: "You say, girl, that you wish to become engaged?"

"I do."

"Then let your waist line stay put."

TOURIST GETS TWELVE MONTHS

Patrick Smith, World Wanderer, Given a State Prison Sentence.

For stealing three shoes, Patrick Smith, of almost anywhere, was yesterday sentenced to one year at Stillwater by Judge Cant of the district court.

Patrick was born in Ireland, but soon after learning to walk he went to Australia. That country soon got tiresome and he made for America. He wandered to Quebec and has since that time, which was some eleven years ago, according to his none too fresh memory, made about every city in Canada and the United States.

He informed the court that he has at different times of his life been a guest of different counties throughout the country, and that he was thoroughly familiar with the present day jail system.

In Minneapolis just lately he has been in jail twice for vagrancy and in St. Paul three times.

The police picked him up some days ago, and found him to be an old offender well known to the older members of the force. Information was filed against him by the county attorney charging him with grand larceny in the second degree.

ELEVEN WIVES ALLOWED TO ACCOMPANY DEPOSED SULTAN, ABDUL HAMID

by parliament to the Sheik-ul-Islam and his answer thereto. The text follows:

"What becomes of an Imam (the title of the sultan of Turkey as head of the orthodox faith), who has destroyed certain holy writings; who has seized property in contravention to the Sheri laws; who has committed cruelties in ordering the assassination and imprisonment of exiles without any justification under the Sheri laws; who has squandered the public money; who, having sworn to govern according to the Sheri, has violated his oath; who, by gifts of money has provoked internecine bloodshed and civil war, and who no longer is recognized in the provinces?"

To this the Sheik-ul-Islam replied: "He must abdicate or he deposed."

Not one of the Constantinople newspapers has a good word for Abdul Hamid, whose life and reign are being held up to universal execration. On the other hand the accession of Mehmed V is regarded as the dawn of a new era.

In order to enable the public to indulge in rejoicings there has been ordered a temporary suspension of the state of siege until 10 o'clock tonight. The city will be illuminated but fireworks have been prohibited. The cabinet has been requested to remain in office for some days longer.

Russia Will Recognize.

St. Petersburg, April 28.—An official dispatch from Constantinople announcing the deposition of Abdul Hamid II, and the accession to the throne of Hehemed V was received at the Turkish embassy at midnight and was at once communicated to Foreign Minister Iswolsky, who forwarded the message to Emperor Nicholas. It is expected Russia's recognition of the new regime in Turkey will be made without delay, although no official steps in this direction have yet been taken. The Turkish embassy has been decorated with flags since early this morning.

The Turkish embassy denies a report of reactionary disorders at Erzeroum. According to its advice the situation in Asia Minor is improving.

In view of the circumstances at Constantinople the retirement of M. Zinovieff, the Russian ambassador, has been deferred.

HAINS' FATHER ALLOWED TO STAY IN THE COURT

Hains, recently acquitted of complicity in the killing, were in attendance today.

Insanity will be the defense, and it is also understood that, while the unwritten law will not be invoked, the alleged indiscretions of Mrs. Annis will be emphasized.

The opening address of the prosecution was made by George A. Gregg, formerly district attorney of Queens county. Gregg is now associate counsel with District Attorney De Witt.

Before Gregg began, Justice Garretson ruled that witnesses of state and defense should be excluded from the room except when testifying. District Attorney De Witt requested that Gen. Hains be also excluded, but the defense objected and the court permitted the general to remain. He greeted his son with affection this morning, but the captain made no response.

Mr. Gregg began by referring to the shooting of Annis as a deliberate and brutal murder in the first degree, committed with cold design.

in front of each polling place and a force of detectives worked for the "drys" to prevent fraud. The "drys" charge the board of elections with being unfair in refusing to appoint "dry" challengers and inspectors. Every police officer in the city was in citizens' clothes and working for the "wets."

At 5 a. m., carriages and automobiles carried the "dry" detectives to various voting precincts in the country. Every auto and rig available was hired for action.

Rev. C. W. Eldridge, superintendent of the Cincinnati division of the Anti-Saloon league, who was active in the campaign and who recently was rotten-egged by "wets" while speaking at Adelphi, was arrested this morning, charged with violating the 100-feet limit at a polling place. He is now in jail and the police have arrested several other "dry" workers, all men, on the same charge.

When J. D. Wellscott, secretary of the local option committee, called in the jail to see Rev. Mr. Eldredge, it is claimed by the drys that he was refused admittance and was assaulted by Chief of Police Pendergast. Municipal officers refused the drys admission to the jail to see dry workers who had been arrested. Rev. Mr. Eldredge was finally released on bond.

Sheriff Swope and Judge Goldsberry have sworn in 100 deputy sheriffs to control the situation, and the county officers declared the drys will get a square deal.

Women patroled the front and rear doors of all saloons, using cameras, and Miss Myra Powell was arrested by a policeman and her camera taken from her.

Members of Company, H, Fourth regiment, Ohio National Guard, have been sworn in as special deputy sheriffs. The dry organization has sworn out a warrant for the arrest of Chief of Police Pendergast. Sheriff Swope is pursuing the chief, who is evading arrest.

Police Captain Scaffer, when he heard that habeas corpus proceedings had been begun for the release of dry prisoners, turned all the dry prisoners loose.

McCULLOUGH PRESIDES; LEWIS' BROTHER DIES.

Scranton, Pa., April 28.—National President T. L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers, who was here presiding over the tri-district convention of the anthracite miners, received word today that his brother, William T. Lewis, state labor commissioner of Ohio, had died in Columbus. He left at once for Columbus.

In the absence of Lewis, F. F. McCullough, the national vice president, presided at today's session of the convention. McCullough also will represent President Lewis at tomorrow's conference between the operators and miners in Philadelphia.

The committee of seven presented the agreement which is expected to be signed tomorrow. It provides a renewal of the strike commission award for another period of three years.

It is expected the agreement will be signed as it was three years ago, by the committee of operators "on behalf of the anthracite operators," and by the committee of seven of the miners, "on behalf of the representatives of the anthracite miners."

REAR ADMIRAL MILLER BURIED IN ARLINGTON.

Washington, April 28.—The body of Rear Admiral Joseph N. Miller, was interred in Arlington national cemetery today. Upon the arrival of the train bearing the body from Newark, a funeral procession formed at the union station for the march to the cemetery. The escort was four companies of marines, one company of bluejackets and the band of the U. S. S. Dolphin. Rear Admiral J. N. Hemphill commanded the escort and the pallbearers were Rear Admirals W. H. Emory, Frederick Rogers, W. H. Brownson, R. B. Bradford and George C. Remey and Brig. Gen. G. C. Reid, United States marine corps.

Missionaries' Addresses.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 28.—Several interesting addresses were made today in connection with the Women's Presbyterian board of missions meeting in Immanuel Presbyterian church, the principal speakers being Miss Mary L. Freeman of South America; Miss Grettle Y. Holliday of Persia, Miss Velma Snook of Korea and W. Y. Jones of Japan.

Lightning Fires Barn.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., April 28.—Lightning struck on the farm of Henry Melers, two miles north of Bloomer, during an electrical storm. The bolt struck one of the barns and started a blaze which quickly enveloped the upper story. All the barns were consumed and also the granary containing a quantity of spring seed.

EVERYONE NEEDS S.S.S. IN THE SPRING

This is just a short talk which we hope will be of interest and help to you in selecting the tonic and blood purifier that will be of the greatest value to you this Spring.

That this is the most trying of all seasons on the health is a fact well known to us all. It is the time of year when our constitutions are required to stand the greatest strain, and unless properly cared for the foundation is often laid for physical disorders or disease later on. The great majority of persons are fast coming to realize the importance of preventing disease. Health is our most valued possession, and its preservation is a matter which vitally concerns every one.

Most persons, even those who are ordinarily strong and robust, feel the necessity of a tonic and blood purifier at this season. Some have no particular ailment, but are weak, debilitated and run-down. The Winter life, with its decreased amount of out-door exercise, and the fact that the cold weather has kept the pores of the skin closed, prevented the usual necessary amount of refuse and waste matter from being carried out of the system. These impurities entering the circulation have weakened and thinned the blood, and this vital fluid is therefore lacking in the nourishing properties necessary to sustain and preserve systemic health, when warm, active Spring life begins.

The general bodily weakness, tired, worn-out feeling, fickle appetite, poor digestion, etc., show how weak and anaemic the blood has become. Frequently skin diseases, pimples, eruptions, boils, etc., break out on the skin, and this is evidence of the impurity of the circulation.

S. S. S. is the medicine needed to correct this condition, and is the only one on which you can rely to supply the system with the best tonic effects, and at the same time thoroughly purify the blood. The use of S. S. S. at this time may save you from a long spell of sickness, and it will certainly prepare you for the strain of the long, hot Summer. Many people have put off using a tonic until the system became so weakened it could not resist disease, and have paid for the neglect with a spell of fever, malaria, or some other trouble. S. S. S. is Nature's ideal tonic and blood purifier, made entirely of the pure extracts of healing, strengthening, health-giving roots and herbs. It tones up the stomach and digestion, rids one of that tired, worn-out feeling, improves the appetite and digestion, and in every way contributes to the strengthening and building up of the entire system. S. S. S. is recognized everywhere as the greatest of all blood purifiers, and this combined with its unequalled tonic properties, make it a medicine needed by every one in the Spring.

S. S. S. is for sale at all drug stores.

WEST END

STREET CAR STRIKES WAGON

West End Man Has Narrow Escape From Serious Injury.

A work car of the street railway company collided with a lumber wagon today at noon at the corner of Twentieth avenue west and Superior street. No one was hurt, but the wagon was demolished.

The team and wagon belonged to L. Jentoft, fuel man at the West end. The driver was coming down the hill on Twentieth avenue west, and claims he did not see the approaching car eastbound on Superior street.

The car was loaded with steel rails, the ends of which protruded through the rear portion of the wagon. Traffic was only delayed for a few minutes.

MANY ATTEND SPRING CONCERT

Entertainment at First Norwegian-Danish M. E. Church a Success.

The annual spring concert of the Ladies' Aid Society of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church was given last evening at the church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street. It proved to be one of the best musical entertainments put on this season in the West end.

One of the features of the evening's program was the appearance of the Normanna singing chorus in four numbers. The chorus elicited much applause and the big audience in the church demanded several encores.

Dr. T. J. Morck of Superior, one of the most notable of the Scandinavian musicians at the Head of the Lakes, was heard in two pleasing numbers at the piano. An instrumental trio, comprising Mrs. H. K. Madsen, piano; A. Flaaten, 'celio, and O. Sleverson, violin, gave an excellent account of itself.

Rev. H. K. Madsen, pastor, delivered a few well chosen remarks in which he reviewed the progress of the society in the past few years, remarking that over $4,000 had been turned into the church fund by the ladies during that time. The closing number on the program was "America," sung by the Normanna chorus.

At the conclusion of the program refreshments were served by the ladies in the basement.

MARCH 22 WAS HIS BUSY DAY

West End Man Charged With Two Assaults on That Date.

According to two complaints filed yesterday afternoon with the clerk of the district court, Gust Gudeen of North Eighteenth avenue west, had a busy day on March 22.

On that day, according to one of the complaints, he entered the home of Mrs. Emelia Hulstrom, on West Third street, forced an entrance, assaulted her with his fists and bruised her about the body, and then insulted her in the presence of her two children. She demands $3,500 damages.

On the same day, according to the other complaint, Gudeen assaulted Gunder Bakke of the West end. He says that he got a beating and wants $3,000 for taking it.

ATHLETES DON GLOVES.

Members of Adams Association Have an Interesting Meeting.

Several good sparring exhibitions were features of the first gathering of the Adams Athletic association in its new club headquarters, 1910 West Superior street, last evening. About fifty members attended the meeting.

Kid Jensen and Instructor Olsen had a bout and both were very handy with the mitts. Wagner and Peterson put on a good stunt, greatly amusing the bunch. Hendricks and Whittle got together with the gloves for several fast rounds.

A business session was held, at which it was decided to put a baseball team in the city amateur league this season. The regular bi-monthly dancing party will come off tomorrow evening at Lincoln park. For the purpose of getting new members into the association a committee was appointed to show prospective members the new clubrooms.

SUBPOENAS ARE TO BE IGNORED

Great Northern Officials Will Not Go to Washington.

St. Paul, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Commenting on the statement of Prosecuting Attorney Fred C. Pugh of Spokane, Wash., that unless the officials of the Great Northern railway recognize their moral obligation to obey subpoenas from the Washington courts, they could not visit the state of Washington, except secretly and as fugitives, W. R. Begg, general solicitor of the Great Northern road, said:

"I have no special business in Washington just now, but if I had I would go there."

Mr. Begg said he did not think that President L. W. Hill will recognize the moral obligation to go to Spokane at this time because of the subpoenass issued in the case of M. J. Gordon, former attorney of the Great Northern in Spokane, Mr. Gordon is accused of forging a check for $28,507 and of embezzling $40,000 of the road's funds.

Prosecutor Pugh alleges that L. W. Hill and W. R. Beggs, general solicitor, do not want Mr. Gordon prosecuted and that undue influence was employed to get an opinion from Supreme Justice Root favoring Gordon.

Chicago, November, 1907

What does this mean?

It means that Calumet has set a new Standard in Baking Powder—the standard of the World.

Because this award was given to Calumet after thorough tests and experiments, over all other baking powders.

It means that Calumet is the best baking powder in every particular in the world.

And this means that Calumet produces the best, most delicious, lightest, and purest baking of all baking powders.

Doesn't that mean everything to you?

WILL TAKE AN APPEAL

Case Against Terminal Road Will Go to Higher Court.

One Important Phase of the Case Not Passed Upon.

The Duluth Terminal Railway company will appeal to the state supreme court from the decision favorable to the city, rendered by Judge Dibell, in the case brought by the city to prevent the defendant company from condemning a right-of-way for the construction of an approach to the interstate bridge.

Contrary to the expectation of attorneys on both sides, Judge Dibell, in his decision Monday, failed to express himself in regard to a point upon which it was rather believed the decision might rest, a point which has never been decided in the state of Minnesota, and upon which the supreme court of the state, if the case comes before it, may have something to say.

The point in question is whether, without the permission of the city, a railroad can condemn a right-of-way longitudinally along a street. This has never been passed upon by a Minnesota court, and if Judge Dibell had seen fit to give he city the decision in this case upon the ground that a railroad did not have the right, as was contended by the city's legal department, he would have been the first Minnesota judge to express an opinion from the bench in regard to the matter.

Point Not Passed On.

He found sufficient ground for a decision favorable to the city in the fact that because of a prior right secured by the Duluth & Thunder Bay Railway company, to build an approach along a certain street on Rice's Point, answering the same purpose as the approach proposed by the Terminal road, there was no public necessity for the latter to lay tracks and build an approach along the street in question, and therefore it had no right to start condemnation proceedings to secure such right-of-way. Another factor entering into the decision was the fact that the Terminal company's object is only to lay trackage for the use of other companies, as it has no rolling stock of its own.

If this one fact of the prior right of the Soo, the company behind the Duluth & Thunder Bay, is considered sufficient by the supreme court for a decision adverse to that road, Minnesota attorneys, all of whom are hoping for a decision in regard to the longitudinal right of railroads on streets, will again be disappointed. The supreme court has decided that a railroad has a right to condemn a right-of-way across streets and avenues, if public necessity demands it, but statutes covering the other point have never been tested.

A statute amendment adopted in 1893 provides that a railroad shall have a right to condemn a right-of-way along streets after having been given permission by means of a city franchise. Railroad attorneys claim that the statute, properly interpreted, does not prevent a railroad from condemning such right-of-way before a franchise is granted. In view of the differences of opinion on the subject, not only in Duluth, but all over the state, the whole of Minnesota's legal fraternity is awaiting with interest the final outcome of the Duluth case.

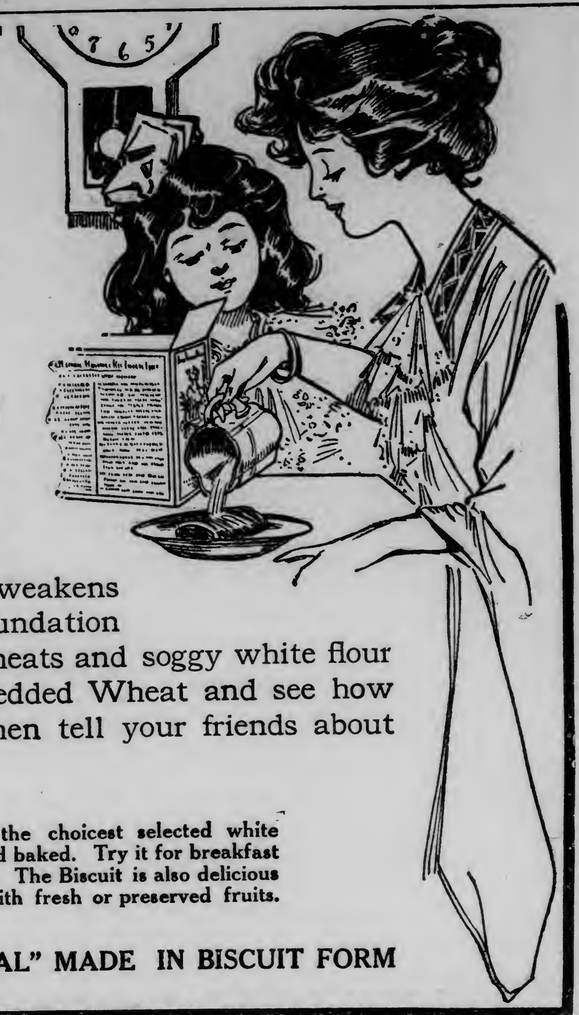

This bridge approach, according to present plans, will run lengthwise of a street. The city granted the Soo, through the Duluth & Thunder Bay company, a franchise permitting the construction of tracks and approach. After this franchise was granted, the Great Northern, through its subsidary company, the Terminal, started condemnation proceedings to secure a right-of-way lengthwise of the same street. Judge Dibell's decision heads off these proceedings. In the city's fight the Soo refused to render any assistance, because of an agreement reached with the Great Northern after the Soo franchise was granted. City Attorney Wilson, however, forced some of the Soo men to testify, proving the prior right of the Soo.

Should the supreme court hold that the Soo's prior right is not sufficient grounds for preventing the Terminal people carrying on condemnation proceedings, there will still remain the question of whether or not a railroad has the right to condemn a right-of-way longitudinally along a street without first securing a franchise from the city, and, under the statutes, Duluth expects to win the case upon this point, if not upon the other.

WIRELESS WILL PROMOTE PEACE

France Acts to Curb Labor Demonstrators on May 1.

Paris, April 27.—Although the leaders of the general federation of labor, who are organizing a twenty-four-hour strike for May 1, disclaim any violent intentions, the government is taking precautions to preserve order on that day.

Warships rigged with wireless telegraphy have been stationed along the coast to preserve communication with the Eiffel tower in Paris, and heavy bodies of troops have been brought into the capital from Versailles and St. Germain.

Citizens here were at once notified and several went out to assist in the work of uncovering the body. Herman leaves several small children.

VETO PLEASED SENATOR WORKS

Mankato Statesman Says People Generally Like Such Action.

Crookston, Minn., April 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Senator S. D. Works of Mankato, one of the conspicuous figures in the late legislative session, is here looking after his various interests in this section, and incidentally he is being praised for the bold stand he took against the unjust tonnage tax bill.

"I am glad that the governor vetoed the measure," said the senator, "for I do not believe the people really want the bill, and I am positive that it was not just. While I was the only man in my section to oppose the measure, upon my return home I did not find that I was condemned for it. In fact, I received some warm commendations for my position. The bill would have hit the northern portion of the state hard, and as a matter of fact, I believe every member of the legislature from Northern Minnesota, including the Red River valley, should have opposed the measure."

Senator Works believes that the session resulted in considerable legislation of a beneficial nature.

FARMS FOR CITY BOYS

"Make Chicken Farms on Suburban Lots," Says Hostetter.

Would Get Idle Boys and the Idle Land Together.

"I know of no better way to utilize idle property and idle boys than to get the two together and make them into chicken farms and chicken farmers," said A. B. Hostetter, of the agricultural department of the Commercial club today. "We spend an immense amount annually for poultry and eggs outside of the state, while there is plenty of space in and around Duluth to raise all the poultry we need, and more.

"It is a plan that has been tried with much success in several places. I have in mind Portland, Or., where the Y. M. C. A., the city school board, the state agricultural college, and the produce dealers joined to interest school boys in poultry raising and egg culture. As a test the Y. M. C. A. sent out letters to all parts of the state, suggesting that boys between 12 and 18 years of age register for a poultry raising contest. Over a thousand answers were received.

"At the present time hundreds of boys have taken up poultry and egg raising in the suburbs of Portland, and those who know say that the product will soon be enough to supply the city of Portland. To stimulate efforts, prizes are awarded. Each boy experiments with from five to fifty hens. They follow instructions issued by the state agricultural school, and a monthly visit to all poultry yards is made by one of the professors.

"It is a huge success, and I see no reason why the boys of Duluth should not do the same thig. There are hundreds of boys in the city schools who would take up poultry raising with enthusiasm and make a neat little sum for themselves during their spare time. The Y. M. C. A. and the Commercial club ought to take it up with the school board.

"There is no doubt there is money in poultry. Look at the price of eggs during the winter—as high as $1 a dozen in some parts of the country. Duluth has not the mild winter of the Willamette valley, but poultry raising need not stop with the snow. It would be a great thing for both the boys and the consumers."

SOCIALISTS TO CELEBRATE

First of May Will Be Marked By Big Meeting.

Saturday night will be a big one in Duluth for the Public Ownership party, which is the name of the Socialists' organization.

The first of May is known as the "international labor day," and the Socialists are going to observe it with a celebration at the Lincoln Park auditorium, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street, in the evening.

At the auditorium there will be speeches by well-known local Socialists, and the meeting will be preceded by a parade in which all the Socialists at the Head of the Lakes will participate.

The paraders will meet at 6:30 at the Socialist headquarters, 104 West Second street, and the calvacade will start for Lincoln park promptly at 7. The line of march will take it down First avenue west to First street, then east to First avenue east, then to Superior street and west on Superior to Twenty-fifth avenue, and then to the pavilion.

At the pavilion there will be speaking in several different languages, beside musical numbers. The English speakers will be John A. Keyes, Ed Blackwood of the plumbers' union, P. G. Phillips of the blacksmiths' union, D. M. Robertson of the painters' union, and Morris Kaplan.

Admission will be free.

YOUNGER FACES STATE'S PRISON

If Former Bandit Ever Comes to Minnesota, Says Governor.

St. Paul, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—"If Cole Younger ever sets foot inside the state he will be taken into custody and returned to Stillwater. He has grossly violated the conditions of his parole."

Such was Governor Johnson's reply when shown a dispatch saying the former lieutenant of the Jesse James gang, arch-conspirator in the famous Northfield bank robbery which cost three lives, was going on the lecture platform in Kansas.

"One of the conditions under which Younger was given his freedom," continued the governor, was that he should never exhibit himself publicly, either on the stage, lecture platform or with any side show or circus. He violated one of those conditions almost as soon as liberated.

"We can't go outside the state to take him, but if he dares return he can expect to be immediately called to account."

CALIFORNIA'S RAISIN DAY

Leading Grocery Stores Are to Make Attractive Displays.

Fresno, Cal., April 28.—"There will hardly be a city in California where the grocery stores will not have splendid window displays of California raisins on Raisin day, April 30," said a member of the Raisin day committee today. "From hundreds of letters that are daily being received at the committee headquarters," he continued, "it is now certain that this 'Raisin day' campaign is the biggest thing of the kind yet undertaken in California. The merchants and business men, not only in this state, but throughout the United States, are taking hold and helping us in a manner that is far beyond our expectations.

"In every large city of the country the leading grocery stores will make attractive window displays of California raisins. This campaign will do more to educate the people of the country to the value of raisins as an every day food than could be accomplished in any other way. We expect to increase the consumption of raisins at least 300 per cent."

KILLED AT THE BLACK MOUNTAIN

Chief Engineer Powers Falls Into a Concrete Oil Pit.

Bisbee, Ariz., April 28.—S. E. Powers, chief engineer of the Black Mountain Mining company, was instantly killed at the camp of the company near Magdalena, Sonora, last Wednesday by falling into a concrete oil pit. Powers was an Englishman, and was in Bisbee several days last fall upon returning from a visit with relatives in England.

The Black Mountain compnay is now doing all mining by machinery, the installation of the machines last month causing the discharge of about eighty miners, which led to the report that the company is now installing oil fuel instead of coal, which will result in an additional saving. About 250 men are now employed by the company, and production is larger than it has ever been in the history of the company.

DYNAMITE FOR EX-MAYOR OF MANDAN DISCOVERED.

Mandan, N. D., April 27.—Four large sticks of dynamite and a long fuse were found in rubbish on the ground formerly occupied by the barn of ex-Mayor Louis Connolly on First avenue northwest. The barn was recently moved to a new location, but had been used for several years by Mr. Connolly. It is generally believed the dynamite was placed there with evil intent during Mr. Connolly's administration as mayor.

The Modesty of Women

Naturally makes them shrink from the indelicate questions, the obnoxious examinations, and unpleasant local treatments, which some physicians consider essential in the treatment of diseases of women. Yet, if help can be had, it is better to submit to this ordeal than let the disease grow and spread. The trouble is that so often the woman undergoes all the annoyance and shame for nothing. Thousands of women who have been cured by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription write in appreciation of the cure which dispenses with the examinations and local treatments. There is no other medicine so sure and safe for delicate women as "Favorite Prescription." It cures debilitating drains, irregularity and female weakness. It always helps. It almost always cures.

"Favorite Prescription" is strictly non-alcoholic, non-secret, all its ingredients being printed on its bottle-wrapper; contains no deleterious or habit-forming drugs, and every native medicinal root entering into its composition has the full endorsement of those most eminent in the several schools of medical practice.

Some of the numerous and strongest of professional endorsements of its ingredients will be found in a pamphlet wrapped around the bottle, also in a booklet mailed free on request, by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. These professional endorsements should have far more weight than any amount of the ordinary lay, or non-professional testimonials.

The most intelligent women now-a-days insist on knowing what they take as medicine instead of opening their mouths like a lot of young birds and gulping down whatever is offered them. "Favorite Prescription" is of KNOWN COMPOSITION. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 31 one-cent stamps for cloth-bound copy.

If sick consult the Doctor, free of charge, by letter. All such communications are held sacredly confidential.

NORTH BUTTE IS UP AGAIN

Rest of the Market Has Better Tone at the Close.

North Butte had a rise in the Boston copper stock market today which was quite as sensational, in its way, as was the recent slump in the issue.

During the day it advanced 5½ points over the opening and closed at the top level. The opening price was $58.50. Shortly after the opening the price went to $59, then declined to $59 and then reacted almost steadily to $64, at which price it was traded in during the last half hour. The closing quotation was $63.75 bid and $64 asked.

Amalgamated advanced from $75.75 to $76.75 and closed at $75.75 bid and $76.87½ asked. Anaconda opened at $45.37½, advanced to $45.50 and closed at $45.50 bid.

Greene-Cananea opened at $10, advanced to $10.12½ and closed at $10.12½ bid and $10.25 asked. Butte Coalition opened at $23, declined to $22.75, rallied to $23.75 and closed at $23.75 bid and $24 asked. Calumet & Arizona opened at $99 and closed at $99 bid and $100 asked. Giroux opened at $7.75 bid and $7.87½ asked and closed at $7.87½ bid.

Superior & Pittsburg went off from $13.12½ to $13 and closed at $13 bid and $13.25 asked.

CITY BRIEFS

Monotype Composition.
Quick work by Thwing-Stewart Co.

Civil Service Examinations.

Twenty-eight applicants for positions on the police and fire departments are taking the necessary civil service examinations at the city hall today. This is the largest class the civil service board has had for some time. The eligible lists of both departments are practically exhausted, but it is expected there will be a lot of good material among today's twenty-eight applicants to select from.

A. O. U. W. Notice.

All members of Fidelity Lodge No. 105, A. O. U. W., are requested to attend the meeting Thursday evening, April 29, as business of importance is to come before this meeting.

Talk About Indians.

W. E. A. Le Quesne will give an illustrated talk this evening at the First Presbyterian church, Third avenue east and Second street, on the Sioux Indian as he was thirty years ago. The talk will be given under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor society. Mr. Le Quesne was a scout attached to Gen. Miles' forces during the Indian wars thirty years ago, and was known among the Indians as "Matopteela."

Wants Divorce.

Mrs. Carrie Holland has had her husband, Alfred J. Holland, arrested twice for non-support, but it did but little good. They were married in Superior in 1895. She now wants a divorce and the custody of the two children. She filed the papers with the clerk of the district court yesterday afternoon.

Few Contagious Diseases.

Quarantines in twelve scarlet fever and diphtheria cases were lifted today by the city health department. This brings the total number of diphtheria cases far below the normal, and scarlet fever is also well under control.

Mining Engineers Here.

Edmund Louis De Lestry, E. M. E. C., general manager and chief engineer for the Arizona & Eastern Consolidated Mining company, with headquarters at Globe, Ariz., is in the city today, in connection with business of the company. He says the Arizona mining regions are prospering, and that there is much mining and railroad development going on there. Several new properties are showing great promise.

Maggie Erickson Dies.

Mrs. Maggie Erickson, 41 years old, of 328 St. Croix avenue, died this morning. Funeral services will be held at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from the Finnish church on St. Croix avenue. Interment will be at Park Hill.

No New Developments.

There are no new developments in the case of David Fielman, found dead on the Rice Lake road Sunday. The body will be buried at the expense of the county.

Wants Back Wages.

George Filiau has brought suit in the district court against Robert J. Andrews. He is asking for $1,948 for back wages.

Married by Judge.

Thomas Mulligan and Elizabeth Wheeler were married this afternoon by Judge Middlecoff of the probate court.

Aerial Bridge Running.

The aerial bridge, as good as new, and a little bit better, is in operation again. The work of installing new trucks and of making certain other improvements, was completed yesterday, and the car started running at 5 o'clock, after being out of commission for about two weeks, with the exception of Tuesdays and Fridays, when it was run during certain hours for the accommodation of people having heavy stuff to transport across the canal.

Bids are being received for the installation of an emergency gasoline engine on the car.

Contractor Bankrupt.

John W. Hilliard, a Duluth contractor and builder, has filed a petition in voluntary bankruptcy in the United States district court. The liabilities are stated at $33,738.72 and the assets at $20,999.65.

Sues for Possession.

Mary Gillon started suit in district court this morning against Lillian L. Gillon for the possession of lots 7 and 8, block 7, London addition. The defendant claims that she owns the lots, but that they are unlawfully held by the other party. She asks that she be given possession.

Holmes Withdraws Application.

George Holmes, who made application for a saloon license at 321 West First street, has withdrawn the application, because of the wishes of business men along the street. After learning the sentiment of the business men, as expressed in a petition presented to the council, he decided to make no further effort to secure a license at the location in question.

Music At the Spalding.

Sunday, Wednesday and Saturday evenings. Cafes of highest standard.

Believed to Be Insane.

Mrs. Ida M. Magnusson, 43 years old, will be examined as to her sanity by Judge J. B. Middlecoff of the probate court this afternoon. Her husband, Andrew Magnusson, makes the complaint. He says that she is unruly and that she will not speak a civil word to any one. There are three children in the family and they live at 322 North Forty-sixth avenue west.

PERSONAL

Joseph Wolf, former cantor of the Adash Israel synagogue here, is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Kaner, after an absence of three years in New York.

Mrs. Alexander McDonald and daughter Sadie of 525 Thirteenth avenue east left for Seattle yesterday.

Harry Wyand, traveling passenger agent of the Chicago Great Western railway, was in the city yesterday.

F. R. Struve has succeeded H. J. Cowling as general agent of the Northwestern railway at Eau Claire.

George T. Ross, the new division superintendent of the Northern Pacific left today for a trip over the Lake Superior division to familiarize himself with conditions. Supt. Ross is no stranger at the Head of the Lakes having been superintendent of terminals of the Eastern Railway of Minnesota, the Great Northern, about ten years ago, with headquarters at Superior.

PEACE IS RESTORED

Anthracite Coal Operators and Miners Settle All Differences.

Renewal of the Old Agreement Is Voted Unanimously.

Scranton, Pa., April 28.—After long discussion this afternoon between the operators and the representatives of the anthracite coal miners, the renewal of the old agreement regarding wages and hours was agreed on unanimously.

This probably ends the labor difficulties in the Eastern coal fields.

BOTH RIVER AND LAKE ARE LOW

The St. Louis Is Lower Than for Many Years Past.

According to old residents of the city, who have been traveling the St. Louis river for the past twenty years, the river is this year lower by far than at any time in their memory.

At some places on the river the water line is now at least ten feet lower on the shore than last year.

J. H. Darling of the United States engineer's office says that the level of the water in the river remains practically the same as the water in the lake as far as Fond du Lac and that it is dependent on the lake as to its height. If the lake water is high, then the river will be high also.

Mr. Darling says that for the past fifteen years the water in the lake has been unusually high and that it kept the river on the same level. The lake is now down about four and one-half inches below the level of last year and the river of course goes down at the same time. The low water is showing up many new shoals in the river.

TWO LOSE LIVES, TRAINS COLLIDE

Fatal Rear-End Accident a Mile From Kimball.

Kimball, Minn., April 28.—The Soo line freight met in a rear-end collision a mile from here today, and Brakeman Carry and Hugh Berry of Minneapolis, were killed.

Two other trainmen were slightly injured.

BEACH HARGIS IS SENTENCED

Gets Life Penalty for Murder of His Father.

Irving, Ky., April 28.—The jury in the case of Beach Hargis, who was tried on charge of killing his father, Judge James Hargis, returned a verdict of guilty and Hargis was sentenced to life imprisonment today.

The jury was given the case late yesterday afternoon.

KIDNAPED BOY IS RESTORED TO FATHER.

San Francisco, April 28.—James S. Cabanne, who was smuggled out of St. Louis by his stepfather, Broughton Brandenberg, was today taken from the Denten home and given to his father, James Sheppard Cabanne, of St. Louis. Mr. Cabanne expects to start home with his son tonight.

WEATHER PREVENTS THE KNIGHTS TEMPLAR PARADE

Minneapolis, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual parade of the conclave of the Minnesota Knights Templar, which was to have been a feature of the conclave now being held here, was abandoned on account of the snow and rain which fell nearly all day. All the rest of the business of the Knights is being done under cover.

TAMARACK CARPENTER IS INSTANTLY KILLED.

Calumet, Mich., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles Wessala, a carpenter, was almost instantly killed in the North Tamarack mine yesterday afternoon by falling about seventy-five feet from a pulley stand near the No. 3 shaft house. He was about 35, and is survived by a wife and seven children residing at Centennial Heights.

Elgin, Neb., Is Fireswept.

Norfolk, Neb., April 28.—Fire destroyed half the business portion of Elgin, Neb., forty miles west of here today. The loss will reach $120,000. The town has no waterworks.

SPOILED BY THE SUBWAY.

New York Sun: "The subway is making me lose my reputation for promptness," said the Brooklyn man. "Years ago I had our cumbersome methods of transportation all figured out and by starting early enough I always arrived on time.

"The Grand Central station, remember, was just an hour from my house—five minutes walk to the elevated station, twenty minutes to the bridge ten minutes across the bridge in the old cable cars, twenty minutes on the Third Avenue elevated to Forty-second street and five minutes across to the Grand Central on a shuttle train.

"Quite a journey, that; but by allowing ten minutes for emergencies I never missed a train. Now I am within five minutes walk of a Brooklyn subway station and I miss about half the trains I start to get.

"You see I figure a subway express will do the job in a few minutes and I allow no time for emergencies. I cut it too fine habitually; such is my hope in the new rapid transit.

"It's the same way with the theater and dinner and other engagements. "We can take the subway," says my wife, 'and that takes no time at all.'

"So she starts to dress leisurely at about the time we should be starting. Then the subway does take some time, and we are late again.

"Yes, sir, the subway is spoiling us Brooklynites. We wasted more time traveling in the days of bridges and ferries, but we got there."

FRENCH HORSE BREEDERS.

How the Present Huge Percheron Has Been Evolved.

The draught horse is getting bigger and bigger. In the late '80s if one weighing over 1,600 pounds came from France it was an event, and the horse papers talked about him—with pictures. Today the draught importer will touch noching under 1,800 pounds, and 3-year-old colts often run up to a ton.

The favorite draught breed in America—6 or 8 to 1—is the Percheron of France. He comes from Le Perche, southwest of Paris, and nowhere else. The horse breeders of that district have banded themselves into a guild, or union, says Collier's, and decreed that no horse from outside the borders of their district can ever be recorded as a Percheron in the stud book of the breed. A colt foaled just across the line out of a mare and by a sire correctly registered cannot himself be registered.

The foundation blood of the Percheron is, or is said to be, Arab. The Frenchman will tell you that a Percheron is an Arab "made heavy" by the climate. But whether Arabian extract or not, it is sure that the breed has been made heavy by the climate or human selection during the past half century.

When George Sand wrote, the Percheron was famous as a road horse, a traveller, a ground-coverer. Her heroes used to drive hither and thither "behind four splendid distance-eating Percherons." No modern Frenchman would dream of driving up to his Ninette's door behind four Percherons.

The Percheron peasants are artists, sculptors, who within the limitations of their material most wonderfully fashion into being their equine imaginings. It is much easier and simpler to carve a horse of the shape you want on the Parthenon frieze than out in a Lucerne pasture in the Eure-et-Loir district. Dazed by their artistry, the French minister of agriculture gravely reports: "These men of Le Perche are incredible! Command from them a horse, they will build you one to your specifications."

From the current report of the French horse breeding bureau it is learned that during the fiscal year 161,414 mares were bred to stallions belonging to the state; 81,207 to approved stallions. That is bureaucratic, isn't it?—that a country should be able to report a thing like that. And in the archives of the French government is the name and description of each mare in France, together with data about the horse to which she was bred.

The French never dream of breeding to stallions of mixed or unknown blood. But the American farmer who bred his mare to a Percheron for a heavy colt, usually changes his mind a couple of years later, puts what he got from the first cross to a coach for speed, and the grand result to a jack or a mule. As a horse breeder, he doesn't shine, as M. Vallee de Loncez remarked. He looks only at the outside of a sire (and apparently not so very carefully at that) and cares little what kind of blood is running inside.

HENPECKED CLUB.

For the Reform of Husbands Under Petticoat Domination.

Tits-Bits: Of all the queer clubs that exist in the world you will find some of the queerest in Lancashire. One of these is called the "henpecked" club. As the title indicates, the members are all males, and you can come across a club in almost every Lancashire town of any size.

The meetings are held as a rule in some bar parlor, and the discussions are about members, and very often non-members, who have the reputation of being henpecked. When evidence has been brought to show that a particular man has allowed himself to come under his wife's thumb, they tax him with it in the place of meeting. The president delivers a lecture on the danger of a husband permitting his wife to usurp his position as master, and when the others have indorsed his remarks the person to whom the speeches are addressed is warned that if he continues to stand the henpecking he will be made the subject of a demonstration.

The announcement that a "henpecked" club demonstration is to take place is received in the district with mixed feelings. The men applaud it and the women condemn it, and the local police, recalling similar displays that led to trouble, become a little anxious. On the evening appointed the members of the club meet at a public house, where they arm themselves with all kinds of household utensils; then, led by concertina players or a tin whistle band, they start out and march along the crowded streets of the district.

One man carries a broom, another a swab, a third a shovel, or a coal scuttle, or a fender, or poker. Fire tongs, blacklead brushes, wash tubs, buckets—everything used in the home, in fact, is carried shoulder high. As they march along to the music in front and the discordant clanging of their baggage they sing snatches of songs, in which the name of the victim occurs often.

The mission of the verses, which have been specially composed for the occasion by a local poet, is to hold up the henpecked one to ridicule, the reason for the demonstrators bearing the household goods being, of course, to remind him that having fallen under petticoat government quickly he will become the slave.

When they reach the cottage where their victim resides they form a circle in front of the door and sing and clang their fenders and coal scuttles more loudly than ever.

The man inside is invoked by the president during a halt in the program to "be a man" and join his brethern. Sometimes if he looks upon the affair as more of a joke than anything else he does their bidding, and they reform and march to headquarters with him at the head. Usually, however, his wife appears instead with a bucket of soapy water, which she promptly throws over the demonstrators, or she quickly causes a clearance with a hose pipe.

To the onlooker it is just an exhibition for laughter and nothing more, but behind the scenes there is generally a lot of trouble and heartaching. A good number of these "henpecked" demonstrations have sequels in police courts. Sometimes it is an enraged victim being charged with assaulting a demonstrator, but more often than not the sequel shows a wife appealing to the magistrates for a separation order.

The experiments made on the Chicago elevated road to deaden sound by the use of a gravel roadbed have been given up. It was found that this method didn't deaden the sound, but the solid roadbed held water and caused much trouble.

The New York psychical society, which offered $5,000 to any person who could shut his eyes and by the help of spirits, or any other aid, count the number of oranges placed on a table behind him, has still got its money and bids fair to keep it.

There are many reasons why you ask for advertised articles, but absolutely none why you should let a substituting dealer palm off something which he claims to be "just as good" or "better" or "the same thing" as the article you requested.

Some One is Swindling Women on Linens That Are Not Linen! Look Out!

Perhaps you saw the item reprinted alongside, which appeared in the Evening Herald last Saturday! We have heard many complaints about the man who is going around from house to house trying to sell imitation linens as pure linens! In two instances we heard of imitation linens which any good store in Duluth would sell for 15c a yard, being sold by this man at 75c a yard! And one woman thought she was getting a bargain because she paid only 35c a yard, while her neighbors had paid 50c a yard. And one washing shows the goods as pure cotton!

$5 REWARD! SWINDLER!
Will pay $5 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the man going around selling fine cotton goods as pure linen. Address "Revenge," care of Herald.

The moral is plain—buy of your home stores—we don't claim that it is necessary to buy at Gray-Tallant Company's—buy from any of the good stores—you'll save money—and you know things will be as represented.

And incidentally, we call attention to the fact that our reputation for having the greatest stock of linens at the fairest of prices is more than sustained by the assortment of pure linens offered at the prices mentioned below!

STATE OF MINNESOTA, ST. LOUIS County—
District Court Eleventh Judicial District.
Earl D. Coates, Plaintiff.
vs.
Maud H. Coates, Defendant.

Plaintiff complains of the defendant and for his cause of action alleges:

That plaintiff has been for more than one year next and immediately preceding the commencement of this action, and still is, a resident of the State of Minnesota and County of St. Louis.

That on the 24th day of November, A. D. 1896, at the City of Greenfield in the State of Massachusetts plaintiff and defendant were lawfully married and from said day until on or about the 1st day of December, A. D. 1907, lived together as husband and wife.

That on or about the 1st day of December, 1907, the defendant above named wilfully and without any cause whatever, deserted and abandoned the plaintiff herein.

The plaintiff is Thirty years of age and the defendant is Twenty-seven years of age, and that there are no children as the issue of said marriage.

Wherefore plaintiff demands Judgment against the defendant:

1st. That he be given a decree of divorce from the bonds of matrimony now and at all times heretofore existing between plaintiff and defendant, and that the same be wholly and forever dissolved, in conformity to the Statute in such case made and provided.

ORDER OF HEARING ON PETITION FOR PROBATE OF WILL.
State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis —ss.
In Probate Court.

In the matter of the estate of Jacob D. Zien, Decedent.

A CERTAIN INSTRUMENT, Purporting to be the Last Will and Testament of Jacob D. Zien having been presented to this Court, and the petition of Isaac Zien, being duly filed herein, representing among other things, that said decedent, then being a resident of the County of St. Louis, State of Minnesota, died testate in the County of St. Louis, State of Minnesota, on the 9th day of April, 1909, and that said petitioner is one of the executors named in said will and that said Jacob D. Zien left property in said county belonging to his estate and praying that said instrument be allowed and admitted to probate as the Last Will and Testament of said decedent, and that letters testamentary be issued to Isaac Zien, Albert Zundelowitz, Harry M. Levy, and C. O. Baldwin thereon.

IT IS ORDERED, That said petition be heard before this Court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House in Duluth, in said County, on Monday, the 10th day of May, 1909, at ten o'clock A. M., and all persons interested in said hearing, and in said matter, are hereby cited and required at said time and place to show cause, if any there be, why said petition should not be granted.

ORDERED FURTHER, That this order be served by publication in The Duluth Evening Herald, according to law, and that a copy of this order be served on the County Treasurer of St. Louis County not less than ten days prior to said day of hearing.

Dated at Duluth, Minn., April 14th, 1909.

SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

TO ORGANIZE FOR RACING

State Yacht Clubs May Form a New Association.

Duluth Boat Club Issues Yachting Rules for the Season.

A movement is now on foot to form a state yacht racing association, to include the Minnetonka Yacht club, the Calhoun Yacht club, the White Bear Yacht club, and the Duluth Boat club. A meeting at which the question will be considered, will be held in the Twin Cities May 10, and Duluth has been requested to have a delegate on hand.

The sailing committee of the local club looks with approval upon the proposition, and after talking the matter over, recommended to the board of directors that a delegate be sent to the meeting. It is expected the directors will so decide. If the state association is formed, a series of races will be arranged between the different clubs. The organization, it is believed, would have a tendency to promote closer relations among the different clubs of the state.

Local yachting enthusiasts are getting ready for the opening of the sailing season. Yesterday the boat club issued the general rules governing yacht racing in the harbor, together with a racing schedule for the season. The rules will be distributed among those members of the club likely to be interested in them. They provide that all boats not in the race must keep clear of the course, and sailboats must, under no conditions, land at the float in front of the main boathouse, which is for canoes and rowboats only. A boat fouling another must immediately drop out of the race. No boat will be allowed to fly the club burgee unless it has been won by that boat in a regular club race. Boats must be in the water two days ahead of every race in which it is intended that they participate. Following is the schedule of races for the coming season:

Duluth Boat club pennant—28-foot class. Four races. Saturday, June 26, July 3, July 10, and July 17.

Commercial Club cup—28-foot class. Four races. Saturday, July 24, July 31, Aug. 14 and Aug. 21. Starting time 3:15 p. m.

D. B. C. cup—28-foot class. Three races. (First and second boats in pennant and Commercial club cup series eligible.) One race Aug. 28, two races Sept. 6 at 11 a. m. and 3:15 p. m. The crew of winning boat in this series will receive D. B. C. sweaters without letters.

D. B. C. pennant—32-foot class. Four races. Saturday, June 26, July 3, July 10 and July 17. Starting time 3 p. m.

Joseph B. Cotton cup—32-foot class. Five races. Saturday, July 24, July 31, Aug. 28, Sept. 4 and Sept. 11. Starting time, 3 p. m.

Cup or Trophy—18-foot class. Ten races. Wednesday, June 23, June 30, July 7, July 14, July 21, July 28, Aug. 4, Aug. 11, Aug. 18, Aug. 25. Starting time, 6 p. m. A second prize consisting of D. B. C. pennant will also be given in this event.

Consolation race—28-foot class. Three races. Boats not winning first or second place in the D. B. C. pennant or Commercial club cup series of 28-foot races are eligible. Saturday, Aug. 28, Sept. 4 and Sept. 11. Start 3:15 p. m.

Ladies' day—Aug. 7, 1909.
Oshkosh races—Aug. 16 to 21, 1909.

WHITE SOX DROP ONE TO ROCKFORD

Duluth Team Tries Out New Men in Illinois Town.

Rockford, Ill., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—D. O'Brien's Duluth White Sox were unable to locate the benders supplied by the Rockford pitchers in yesterday's game, and the contest was secured by the local aggregation. Score, 4 to 1.

The White Sox introduced a number of new players with the idea of trying them out. Klingbiel and Kohland were in the pitching department for the Duluthians. They did well but Palmer and Rogers, of the locals, had it over them, a bit.

It was no bean bag game at any stage, both teams playing excellent ball. O'Brien announced himself as well pleased with the showing made by his men. Score: R. H. E.
Rockford .....2 1 0 1 0 0 0 0 x—4 3 1

BEMIDJI HIGH SCHOOL ORGANIZES BASEBALL.

Bemidji, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The boys of the high school have organized a baseball team and are practicing steadily, under the coaching of Prof. J. E. Thornton, a former second baseman and left fielder on the Albion, Mich., college team.

Emil Engels, the manager of the team, assisted by Mayne Stanton, Warren Gill and Harry Ryan, circulated a petition among the local business men to raise funds for the purchase of uniforms for the nine and secured $52.50, with a good prospect of more to come, the business men havin~ responded liberally.

Harken, little brother, the air resoundeth with the murmurings of a match for the world's championship between Lil' Arthur Johnson and that other ebony battler, Joe Jeannette.

Lil' Artha and his colored brother in arms are fairly familiar with each other. Pugilistic records show that the dark pair have clashed seven times all told. In one of these numerous bouts, brother Joe won by the foul route. It was probably a mistake. Johnson won one of the blarneys, and one of the others was a draw. All of the other bouts were no decision affairs. Yet there is talk of matching the two for the heavyweight championship.

It is probable, and to be sincerely hoped, that if the dusky duo appear for the smoke wreath championship, that the house that greets them will be small and of a chilly nature. For getting easy money this pair has a Jersey City shell man in the honest labor class.

Of all the champions that have appeared upon the horizon of American pugilism, this Johnson person is the worst. Look over his record and you will find that he has whipped about three men who have been known to pugilistic fame. One of these men was known through the family route. He whipped Jack Jeffries when the only excuse that individual had in the ring, was that he was the little brother of big James J.

Poor Bob Fitzsimmons, with broken knuckles and bulging bunions upon his feet, with the strength and agility of youth departed from him, fought the big black in "Philly" for the sake of keeping the ravenous wolf from the Bensonhurst cottage. The third man he whipped was Tommy Burns, the pretender.

The rest of the Johnson record contains a list of fights with people, who had they followed the advice of doting parents, would have become second story men and thus obtained money in a more honest and straightforward manner. As alleged fighters, they should be prosecuted for obtaining money under means other than represented to the public.

And now they talk of matching Johnson and Jeannette. The sooner the negro is beaten, the better it will be for the game.

He is more conceited than that foolish bird with the gay tail feathers, and his chest is subject to as many spasmodic contractions as that swelling creature, a pouter pigeon. He revels in the limelight of public curiosity and lolls in indiscriminate public approval. It seems to be up to James J.

Some time ago a wealthy man invented a disease. It is presumed that a wealthy doctor diagnosed the ailment. In the course of time it came to be called appendicitis. For many moons the ravages of the disease were confined to those lucky mortals who were rated above the $100-mark. Now the march of the disease is spreading; ball players are contracting it, and wealth can no longer lay claim to class distinction by medium of this ailment. Three of the Southern league players have been operated upon for appendicitis within the past three days. Another progression for the humble ball player.

So say the press dispatches. Wonder if Mabel Hite, the clever little wife of the ex-captain of the McGrawites, had any influence in this decision. Player Donlin has been greeted with slim and but coldly approving houses upon the vaudeville circuit, since his announcement that his days as a ball player were over, and his days as a thespian aspiring to steady progress had begun.

We have had the pugilistic actor (?); we have been afflicted with champion wrestlers in monotonous monologues; the present era presents the star ball player in an act of anguish.

Some years ago the late lamented Charles Hoyt, he of "A Texas Steer," "A Rag Baby," "A Midk White Flag" and other "A" farces, wrote a supposedly funny farce around Capt. Adrian Anson of the Chicago White Stockings. The farce was screamingly funny, but not in the way the clever playwright intended it. It was a scream, with Pop Anson's acting as the receiving end of the long and hoarse guffaw. The play disbanded, and when any coacher wanted to get the veteran first baseman away from concentrated thought, he would refer to the old man's acting.

The fever is on again. But when ball players learn that what drawing ability they have before the footlights depend entirely upon the fact that they are ball players and not thespians, divinely inspired, just that much sooner will they quit the holdout from the spring and early season playing.

It is rumored that a talented member of the Douglas colored club is at work upon the words of "Waiting at the Church," revising them to fit the delayed clash of Messrs. Gunther and Whitehead. It is stated that the words of the popular song will be somewhat revised and the song substituted for the merry music of the gloves.

Dick Schell started out in his motor boat last evening. Quickly he felt the penetrating keenness of wintry blasts. He turned the nose of his pet to the boathouse and drained the tanks, lest they freeze. Verily, boating in Duluth in April is apt to broaden the manner of expression.

CHELSEA MAN BESTS LANGFORD

Fight Draw But Sandy Ferguson Puts Up Superior Battle.

Boston, April 28.—By superior physical condition, Sandy Ferguson of Chelsea was able to finish strong in the last two rounds of a twelve-round match with Sam Langford of Boston at the Armory Athletic association last night, thereby winning a draw.

Little championship form was shown by either of the heavyweights. Ferguson started off with straight-arm left and right jabs to Langford's head and face and kept it up for three rounds. Langford directed his blows more to the body, with an occasional right to the head.

From the third to the tenth, Langford was the aggressor, Ferguson failing to follow up his leads in several of the rounds, hardly landing an effective blow. In the fourth Langford used his head to butt Ferguson under the chin and was cautioned by the referee. Langford continued his advantage in the ninth, but after that appeared to weaken.

Langford put over a left and a right at the opening of the tenth, when Ferguson started in to rush things, and punished the colored fighter freely with rights and lefts to the face. Langford was evidently tired and was holding on, but Ferguson failed to follow his advantage closely.

Ferguson started the eleventh with a stream of blows upon Langford's face and head, but was unable to place a knockout. Langford could only respond with an occasional short-arm body punch.

With Langford decidedly tired, Ferguson came up with a rush in the last round and had things all his own way to the end.

GOTCH IS STILL THE CHAMPION

Successfully Defends His Wrestling Title Against Dr. Roller of Seattle.

Kansas City, Mo., April 28.—In a fast match, Frank Gotch successfully defended his title as wrestling champion of the world against Dr. Benjamin F. Roller of Seattle at Convention hall here last night. The champion won in straight falls. The first was taken in 7 minutes, 55 seconds, with a common crotch and half-Nelson hold, and the second in 18 minutes, 29 seconds, with a reverse Nelson.

In the first bout Roller was generally the aggressor, and Gotch several times appeared to be in trouble, but always was able to turn the tables on his opponent. Roller repeatedly demonstrated his ability to wriggle out of dangerous positions and successfully eluded Gotch's efforts to secure the toe hold.

"Roller is every bit as good as any foreigner I ever met, if not a shade better," was Gotch's comment.

"Gotch is a gentleman and the greatest wrestler in the world," said Roller.

WILL BURN UP NEW LEAGUE

Four Duluth Pitchers Are Claimed to be "Comers."

That Duluth has a quartet of pitchers who will burn up the new league, is the prediction of A. W. Kuehnow.

The four pitchers in whom "Al" places such confidence are Don Marion, Paul Dauss, Arthur Murray and Dick Thorsen. They are all young pitchers, and the Duluth secretary says they have the goods to deliver in large packages.

J. McGreevy, Jr., will act as business manager of the team this year. He left yesterday for Rockford to join the Sox, and will handle the finances of the club this season.

The Sox will finish their series with Rockford Friday, and will go from there to Freeport, playing at Freeport on Saturday, Sunday, and Monday. For Tuesday and Wednesday they jump to Madison, and will come to Duluth for a game with the Fitwells on May 6. On May 7, 8 and 9, they will play the Regina club here, and following that will meet the Spaldings for one game, leaving the next day for Wausau, where they will open the season on May 12.

OPENS SEASON ON MAY 12

Western Canada League Has Eight Teams in Circuit.

Winnipeg, Man., April 28.—The Western Canada Baseball league, successor to the Northern, opens on May 12. It is an eight-team league, made up by clubs in Winnipeg, Brandon, Medicine Hat, Calgary, Regina, Moose Jaw, Lethbridge and Edmonton. A very large percentage of the players are Americans, gleaned from the clubs of the Northern states. Despite the fact that Winnipeg and Edmonton are some 800 miles apart, the new organization is expected to be a success. James Flemming of Medicine Hat is president of the league, with J. M. Lamb of Winnipeg secretary-treasurer.

EXPERT BOWLERS ARE ORGANIZED

Upper Peninsula Bowling Association Formed at Marquette.

Marquette, Mich., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—With eight cities represented at a meeting in this city, the bowlers of the region have organized an Upper Peninsula association and have voted to affiliate with the American Bowling congress.

The officers are: President, T. Hennes, Lake Linden; first vice president, A. E. Miller, Marquette; second vice president, Frank E. Tompkins, Negaunee; secretary and treasurer, D. Fisher, Hancock. These officers, together with the following representative bowlers, constitute the board of directors: E. W. Allen, Marquette; C. J. Shaddick, Ishpeming; E. J. DeGaynor, Iron Mountain; E. C. Hanson, Houghton, and J. E. Fisher, Calumet.

The organization of the association came as a climax to the upper peninsula tournament held at the Marquette alleys the past week under auspices of the Marquette Bowling club. The tournament was the first event of its kind to be conducted in the region, and it was a gratifying success, the entries numbering 211, aside from which there were a number of special matches. A large number of handsome and costly prizes were awarded. Some good scores were made, although they were not up to the average expected, and each town captured a fair share of the trophies, except Calumet and Iron Mountain. The high scores in the various events were as follows:

Individual grand average in singles, doubles and five-men: F. G. Jenks, Marquette, 1,625.

Singles—Maier, Hancock, 568; Gray, Ishpeming, 555; Schilling, Ishpeming, 550; Tompkins, Negaunee, 547; Miller, Marquette, 547; C. De Frain, Negaunee, 544; F. Anderson, Houghton, 542.

Trioe—Buschell, Brackway and Barbeau, Lake Linden, 1,570; Fisher, Montgomery and Maier, Hancock, 1,514; Allen, Conklin and Miller, Marquette, 1,604.

Five-men—Millerites, Marquette, 2,512; Negaunees, Negaunee, 2,404.

The second annual tournament will be held at Houghton in April, 1910.

BOYS ANNOUNCE THEIR SCHEDULE

Grade School Ball Teams Will Again Have a League.

Under the direction of the boys' department, Y. M. C. A., the schools of the city have formed a baseball league. Nearly all the schools are represented, and the play promises to be even more interesting than last year, when the idea was such a great success.

J. D. Batcheler, physical director, Norman D. McLeod, secretary of the department, have the management of the league. Two games will be played each week. There will be in all fifteen games played, and the windup will come on June 12, when the two first teams in the league will play for the championship.

The schedule follows:

April 27—Bryant vs. Jackson; Washington vs. Jefferson.
May 1—Endion vs. Longfellow; Jackson vs. Washington.
May 8—Endion vs. Jefferson; Bryant vs. Longfellow.
May 15—Bryant vs. Jefferson; Washington vs. Endion.
May 22—Jackson vs. Longfellow; Bryant vs. Endion.
May 29—Jackson vs. Jefferson; Washington vs. Longfellow.
June 5—Bryant vs. Washington; Jackson vs. Endion.
June 5—Jefferson vs. Longfellow.

Bresnahan Injured.

St. Louis Mo., April 28. — Roger Bresnahan, manager and catcher of the St. Louis National league team, will be unable to play ball for several days because of an injury suffered in the tenth inning of yesterday's game with Pittsburg. Bresnahan was hurt internally when he slid into the plate, colliding with Gibson of Pittsburg. Bresnahan's physician told him today that he must remain on the bench the rest of the week.

"Rabbit" Goes to Minors.

St. Louis Mo., April 28.—Fred Clarke manager of the Pittsburg baseball team, announced today that he had waived claim to James Slagle, former center fielder of the champion Chicago National league team. Slagle's contract had been sold by Chicago to Boston and that claim in turn had tried to send him to Baltimore of the Eastern league, when Pittsburg interposed a portest. Its withdrawal will result in the retirement of the player, known as the "rabbit" to the minor league teams.

The Heath Handicap.

Newmarket, Eng., April 28.—The Heath high weight handicap, ten sovereigns each, with 200 sovereigns added, for 3-year-olds and upwards, distance five furlongs, was run here today and won by W. P. Whitney's Sixty II. Sea Queen was second, and Jovial, third. Among the ten starters was Louis Winans' American bred Edward.

Wright Best Billiardist.

New York, April 28.—H. A. Wright of San Francisco last night won the national amateur billiard championship at the Liederkranz club, defeating C. F. Conklin of Chicago by a score of 400 to 317.

St. Paul Gets "Nig" Perrine.

St. Paul, Minn., April 28.—Manager Kelley of the St. Paul baseball team has announced that he has purchased Infielder "Nig" Perrine from the Louisville club, and the latter will report here Friday. Manager Kelley also announced that he is negotiating with the Columbus club for Second Baseman Wrigley. It is understood that Shortstop Nee will figure in the deal.

College Baseball.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

TRI-STATE LOSES OUT

Crookston Council Balks on Giving Telephone Company Franchise.

Feared Outside Company Wanted a Foothold for Local Exchange.

Crookston, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city council last evening in addition to transacting much routing business, put a quietus for the present at least upon the ordinance recently introduced granting a long distance franchise to the Tri-State Telephone company.

The franchise was lost by default, it might be said, as two aldermen voted yea, two nay and four refused to vote at all. The council is willing to grant a franchise which would give the Tri-State the right to install five or six long distance booths, but the company will not accept a franchise which limits the number of booths, it having been their intention to cover the mail portion of the city with underground wires and to use any street in the city for stringing wires and installing long distance telephones in any residence where it was desired. The council feared this would give the company a foothold in establishing a local service, and the business men and all residents, in fact, are opposed to two systems for local service.

CLEAN SCHOOL YARDS.

Good Suggestion From North Dakota Official About Arbor Day.

Bismarck, N. D., April 28.—That Arbor day, April 30, should be a day for cleaning school yards is the urgent wish of Supt. Stockwell, who has issued an Arbor day proclamation.

Supt. Stockwell says that it is a good thing to plant trees, but where this cannot be done, the teachers' pupils should devote their time to cleaning the yards, removing the ashes and garbage piles and making the yard as beautiful as possible. He recommends the erection of lattices to screen outbuildings and other methods of beautifying the school yards.

ATTACKS HIS PARENTS.

Crookston, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Knute Aunested, single, of Dygland township was arrested yesterday, charged with having threatened to kill his aged parents, Mr. and Mrs. Torge Aunested, with whom he lived. He will be examined as to his sanity and probably taken to Fergus Falls before the end of the week.

CHINAMAN'S CLOSE CALL.

Alleged to Have Attacked Hancock Girl, Barely Escapes Mob.

Hancock, Mich., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—D. B. Sam, proprietor of a Chinese laundry here, barely escaped getting rough treatment at the hands of an infuriated crowd yesterday, when it became noised about he had attacked a 12-year-old girl. Luckily the officers stepped in and arrested him before the crowd that quickly formed got hold of him or something desperate might have resulted. Sam was hustled off to the county jail and will be held pending a hearing.

COGGIN SUCCEEDED BY W. E. CARPENTER.

Calumet, Mich., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—F. W. Coggin, who a short time ago resigned his position as superintendent of the Baltic and Champion stamp mills, has also resigned as superintendent of the Atlantic mill.

He is succeeded as superintendent of the Atlantic mill by W. E. Carpenter, master mechanic of the Atlantic and Baltic mills. Mr. Carpenter has been with the Atlantic and Baltic about seven years and is well fitted for his new position.

FUGITIVE FROM JUSTICE.

Wanted in Roseau County, Captured at Thief River Falls.

Thief River Falls, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The police department has captured a fugitive from justice in the person of Dr. Scott, a veterinary surgeon, who has been practicing his profession in Roseau for the past two years, but who lately is said to have made himself amenable to prosecution by sundry violations of the statutes. He was apprehended by Chief Lang in this city as he was endeavoring to effect his escape by train and was turned over to the authorities of Roseau county.

MANY LOGS HUNG UP.

Water Filters From Dam and Operations Are Suspended.

Quinnesec, Mich., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Because it has been discovered that the sand and gravel filling in the new dam on Pine creek has filtered out, the logs banked on that stream the past winter will doubtless be hung up until next year.

The timber approximates 4,000,000 feet. Log driving has been started, but because the dam was found useless the contractor has suspended operations and will not return to the stream. It will be necessary to refill the cribwork. This will require some weeks and it is feared that by that time the water will be of insufficient depth to float the logs. With the timber hung up, a number of sawmills will be inconvenienced.

CONDUCTOR BITTEN.

Irate Passenger Chews Knight of Punch Causing Blood Poisoning.

Channing, Mich., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Due to injuries received recently from an obstructive passenger, Conductor George Jones of the Lake Superior division of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad, is taking an enforced vacation. During the fracas the passenger turned cannibal and chewed one of Jones' fingers. An attack of blood poisoning followed and it may be necessary to perform an operation.

After being in a hospital at Green Bay for a number of months, the result of a bad case of bloodpoisoning, Otto Brendler, assistant division superintendent of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad, has resumed his duties. His affliction was peculiar, in that it resulted from the dye from a stocking infecting a wound. A surgical operation was necessary.

MINERS HAVE MEETING.

Much Discussion as to Just What Men Are After.

Hancock, Mich., April 28.—About forty men answered the call for a mass meeting of miners at Germania hall on Sunday afternoon, and informally discussed plans for the organization of a local union or miners' club. Nothing definite could be learned by the press as to the aims of the meeting, and there are many conflicting reports as to what was done.

Some state that the object is merely the organization of a social club along the lines of that recently formed by the Twin City clerks and teamsters. Others declare the miners are seeking to organize a local of the Western Federation of Miners. A second meeting is to be held next Sunday, when something definite probably will be done.

SCOUT KIDNAPING STORY.

Police Believe Girl "Framed Up" Yarn to Escape School.

New Ulm, Minn., April 28.—The police are disposed to scout the story told by Esther, the 14-year-old daughter of Martin Mueller of the town of Courtland, about being kidnaped by a "strange" man while she was going to school Monday. They believe the girl "framed up" the story in order to keep away from school and visit an aunt in the country.

The girl claimed that the man drove up as she was approaching the bridge across the Minnesota river, on her way to school, and said he had been sent by Dan Williams of Cambria, Blue Earth county, to take her to his home where Mrs. Williams, her sister, was sick. The girl says she refused to go with him and that he left the buggy and taking hold of her bound her with a rope and forced her into the wagon. After driving about in a desultory direction, the girl says while the man's attention was distracted she pulled her hands and legs free from the rope and jumping from the rig, escaped. Then she proceeded on foot to a Mr. Williams place and gave the alarm. Officers at once tried to find the alleged kidnaper, but without success.

A half dozen persons have been found who saw the girl several times after 8 a. m. Monday. Once she was seen walking on the railway track. The girl sticks to her original story, but it is generally believed, notwithstanding, that no attempt at kidnaping was made. No suspect has been found, although a diligent search has been made. Contrary to telegrams sent from here to the Twin City press, her body bears no marks of violence.

MINNEAPOLIS MAN FALLS INTO TRENCH TO DEATH.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Peter Krogstad, 50 years old, one of twenty laborers employed in excavation work for the sewer department of the city engineer's office, was instantly killed yesterday at Fourth and Logan avenues north, when he fell from a scaffold erected in a ditch.

To save himself from a fall, Krogstad dropped a shovel and fell upon it, receiving injuries to his skull which resulted in death.

FALLS DOWN SHAFT, JOHN KUNTZ LIVES.

Ashland, Wis., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Kuntz of Hurley, who is at a local hospital, claims the unique honor of having fallen down a 400-foot shaft in an iron mine, and is living to tell the tale. Kuntz claims to have fallen down the mine, but the fact of his being alive, being slanting, together with the fact that he struck several projections, saved his life. His head, arms and legs, and his entire body, are massed of bruises, but no bones were broken. He says he lay unconscious for twenty-four hours, before being taken out.

N. P. EXPRESS COMPANY REFUSES FREE DELIVERY.

Cloquet, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Northern Pacific Express company has refused to comply with the request of the Commercial club for a free delivery of express packages. C. B. Cooper, general superintendent of the company, wrote the committee appointed by the club for this purpose that as the streets of Cloquet were in poor repair, the business houses scattered, a marked decrease in the amount of business during the past year, and in view of the fact that much of the business which the express company has enjoyed heretofore was lost to them now on account of the new laundry, which will soon be completed, the express company does not consider the business sufficient to warrant the establishment of a free delivery.

BISHOP STARIHA RESIGNS.

Lead, S. D., April 28.—Bishop John Stariha, who for the past seven years has been bishop of the diocese of South Dakota of the Roman Catholic church, has resigned because of failing health. Bishop Stariha's resignation has been accepted by the pope. Bishop Stariha will return to his home in Austria for a rest next month.

RED RIVER DOCTORS IN SESSION AT CROOKSTON.

Crookston, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The quarterly meeting of the Red River Valley Medical association was held in the new Commercial club rooms last evening, this being the first gathering held there.

Leading physicians from the northeastern portion of Minnesota were present. Papers were read by Dr. Bratrud of Warren, Dr. Morley of this city and Dr. H. C. Stuhr of Argyle, and all were followed by very animated discussions. President H. Holte presided and following the session a banquet was tendered the visitors at the Grill. The meeting was one of the best thus far held by the association.

COLD WEATHER HALTS ALL LOGGING OPERATIONS.

Cloquet, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The spring drive is being held up on account of the little water in the rivers. The weather has not been warm enough to melt the ice and snow rapidly, and as a result the amount of water in the rivers has not been materially affected either way. Rain, and lots of it, is the only remedy. Unless conditions change, the drive will be compelled to leave many logs behind. Last year the river was cleaned up exceptionally well, but the prospects for a cleanup this year are far from good.

AGED WOMAN HURT.

East Grand Forks, Minn., April 28.—Mrs. Morris Sullivan, Sr., aged 70, met with a serious accident Monday night, and as a result remained unconscious for several hours. She was coming down the stairs at her home on North Third street and evidently was not entirely awake. The aged woman slipped and fell a distance of about ten feet, her head striking the bottom stairs in such a manner as to cut a deep gash.

CALUMET MAN FOUND DEAD IN BED SUNDAY.

Calumet, Mich., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Markusich, an employe of the village of Red Jacket, was found dead in bed Sunday morning by his wife. He had attended service at St. John's Croatian church the evening before and was apparently in good health. The funeral was held Monday afternoon from St. John's Croatian church.

AGED COUPLE MARRIED.

Marquette, Mich., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Sophia Gauthier, aged 75, and Cezaire Desotel, aged 72, were united in marriage at St. Jean de Baptiste church Sunday night by Rev. Father Jodocy. William Provost and Marie Louise Durand, who stood up with the aged couple, were united in matrimony by Rev. Father Jodocy Monday morning.

To Inventory City Property.

Grand Forks, N. D., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—M. J. Moran, W. C. Sprigge and R. C. Smith have been appointed by Mayor J. D. Taylor to make a complete inventory of the holdings of the city. This inventory is to be taken in order that the check-up of the city finances, which is now being made, will be as complete as it is possible to make it.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Crookston—Bishop J. D. Morrison of Duluth stopped over in this city Monday morning for a brief visit, and later went to his home in the East. He is much pleased with the condition of the Episcopal churches in this section of the state.

Little Falls—The new baseball park being built by the Little Falls Athletic Park association is progressing, as is the one on the west side of the river. Already most of the posts are set, and the fence and grandstand will soon be erected.

Owatonna—Dr. W. Amos of this city has been notified of his election by the board of managers of the state fair to the position of veterinarian for the fair association. This is an important position with a good salary, and comes as the greater compliment to Dr. Amos because entirely unsolicited and unexpected by him.

Stillwater—Lawrence Reiner died Sunday at his home in the town of Forest Lake of cancer of the stomach, aged 65 years. He came from Iowa four years ago. He is survived by two sons and three daughters. The remains were taken to Bancroft, Iowa, for burial.

St. Cloud—Thomas E. Lynch, a guard at the state reformatory, will receive $5,000 from the state as damages for the injuries received last summer when struck by an inmate who was trying to escape. This appropriation was made by the legislature last week, and the bill has been signed by the governor.

International Falls—Kinshella & Setterlund, the contractors, have commenced work on the frame of the dwelling which they will construct for C. B. Kinney at the corner of Third street and Eighth avenue.

Brainerd—W. H. Bellangee of Fremont, Neb., was badly bruised in a runaway Saturday. He was out with one of Purdy's teams and a driver, and one of the horses became frightened, and he was either thrown or jumped out and was severely bruised, but there were no bones broken.

Moorhead—George W. Cochrane, a contractor from Bemidji, has been here in an endeavor to settle the damage suit brought against him by Halvor Hanson of Glyndon. Hanson was injured in the woods near Bena a year ago. Mr. Cochrane believes that he has the matter satisfactorily arranged.

St. Cloud—The Union Power company is now again in a position to furnish the city crusher plant with power for the crushing of stone for the city's paving this summer, and the machine will be started at once. The dam has been raised 1.7 feet by putting in flash boards at the top, which gives the company a head of 15 feet as against 13.3 feet before.

Minneapolis—Dr. Halvdan Koht, professor of history at the University of Christiania, who is at present on a mission to America from the Norwegian government to study industrial and social conditions in this country, delivered a lecture Monday night at the Swedish Tabernacle on "The Development of Norway During the Last Twenty-five Years."

Moorhead—The death occurred Sunday of John Cosgrove at his farm home near Sabin, Minn., where he resided about twenty-eight years. Obsequies were held at St. Joseph's church, Moorhead, Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock, and interment was made in the cemetery at Moorhead. Mr. Cosgrove was a native of Missouri and was 73 years of age.

East Grand Forks—Sunday morning, while at church, John Rempher received the sad intelligence by telegram that his son, Harry Rempher, was killed in a railroad accident at Cle Ellen, Wash. The details of the accident were not received, but inasmuch as Harry was employed in the railroad business, it is probable that he met death while attending to his work.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Grand Forks, N. D.—Eddie Whalen, the 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Whalen of 1112 Dakota avenue, suffered a fractured ankle as a result of being run down by two boys who were riding a bicycle. The youngster was playing with his little brother at the time and ran out into the street to get a ball when the accident occurred.

Fargo, N. D.—Heart failure caused the death of another prominent citizen of Fargo and the Northwest Saturday when Zacharia Davidson, 106 Sixth avenue north, a wealthy real estate dealer and financier, was stricken while talking to a friend in Minneapolis.

Hope, N. D.—James A. Day, died of heart disease while reading a newspaper, sitting in a chair at his home in this city. He had been a sufferer of this disease for a long while. Dr. Hedding was called but when he arrived Mr. Day was past all help.

Minot, N. D.—An attempt was made by an unknown to steal a dozen pairs of pants from the J. M. Wilson store which was frustrated by the proprietor, who used his fist to good advantage on the would-be thief.

Aneta, N. D.—The Aneta Commercial club elected T. N. Quamme as president, Gilbert Teien as vice president, O. S. Teien as secretary and Hugh Wright as treasurer.

Minot, N. D.—Deputy Otto Meisch returned from Carpio, where he arrested Richard Kerr, who is charged with attempting to burn down the barn of his competitor, Fred Kling. According to the complaint, Kerr offered a man $50 if he would burn down King's barn.

Grand Forks, N. D.—First ground was broken Monday at the corner of North Fifth street and Cheyenne avenue for the new auditorium to be constructed by the Grand Forks Oratorio society. K. C. Hunter, who will supervise the work of construction, started a crew of men at work today on excavating for the foundations.

Fargo, N. D.—Robert McIntyre, who for a term of years has officiated behind the desk at the Waldorf, enters the hotel business on his own account the first of the month, when he takes over the Occidental hotel at Casselton.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Sheboygan — Demanding that the county furnish them with extra working clothing when sentenced to a stone pile, a score of prisoners, who declared a strike, are now in cells on bread and water.

Madison—Governor Davidson sent in his first veto for the session to the senate Monday night.

The bill which met the governor's disapproval was 424S which prohibited minors under the age of 18 years being sold tobacco in any form or of having it in their possession.

Chippewa Falls—Charged with having a red deer hide in his possession, B. Phillips was arrested at Stanley and will be tried on Wednesday on a charge of violating the state game laws. Phillips claims he purchased the hide from another resident of Stanley.

New London—Another rural mail route will be in operation from New London postoffice beginning on June 1. It will run through Mukwa and Lebanon townships. This means discontinuance of the Northport postoffice.

Eau Claire—Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock occurred the death of Charles Olson, the 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ingebert Olson, 106 Third street. The funeral will take place Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence.

Ashland—Miss Ida Carlson and William Gustafson were united in marriage Saturday evening by Rev. Willandt. The marriage took place at the residence of the bride's parents, at 215 Seventh avenue west. Both bride and groom have many friends in the city.

Palmyra—Mrs. Frank Jordan bought carbolic acid at a drug store here and as the clerk turned to wait on another customer she drank enough to cause her death in two hours.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Calumet—At the annual meeting of the Calumet Boys' club the following officers were elected: President, Weldon Soddy; vice president, John Spench; secretary, Oscar Pollard; treasurer, John Kilino; guard, Mart Gemmell.

Houghton—Articles of incorporation of the Iron Land company of Houghton have been filed with County Clerk Louis H. Richardson. The company is capitalized at $34,000, there being 3,400 shares of $10 each. The entire amount of the capital has been subscribed, and $17,000 has been paid in.

Hancock—The Hancock lodge of Elks will present a vaudeville entertainment at the Kerredge theater, on the evening of May 21, and preparations will be started at once under the direction of George F. Carroll, formerly of Laconia, N. H., now a resident of Houghton and a member of the B. P. O. E.

Laurium—M. E. O'Brien of the Calumet Real Estate agency, and the proprietors of the Laurium Brokerage company, are promoting a stock company with a capitalization of $30,000 for the purpose of providing Laurium with a first-class hotel.

Calumet—Miss Carrie Blight, aged 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Uriah Blight of Cherry street, Tamarack No. 5 location, died Saturday, after an illness of more than six months. The cause of her death was lung trouble. The funeral was held Tuesday.

Houghton—Mrs. Margaret Johnston, after suffering for six months from a stroke of paralysis, died Monday at her home in Chassell. She was 52 years of age, having been born April 21, 1857. She came to Chassell from St. Phillip, Ont., twenty-eight years ago.

Lake Linden—A meeting of the committee representing the Masonic orders of Calumet, Laurium, Hancock and Lake Linden was held at the Masonic hall here Sunday afternoon for the purpose of making final arrangements for the ball to be given at the Amphidrome hall May 7.

Negaunee—George Matthews, who left Negaunee fifteen years ago for Butte, Mont., has returned from there and will again locate here. Mr. Matthews worked at the Jackson for some time before his departure from the city.

Ishpeming—Oscar Ranquist, a miner employed at the Ohio property, west of Michigamme, sustained a fracture of his right leg near the ankle Saturday. He and his partner were endeavoring to remove some loose ore from the breast of the stope when a chunk came down and struck him.

Marquette—The Epworth league of the Methodist church has elected officers for the ensuing six months as follows: President, Oscar Olsen; first vice president, Miss Edna Willard; second vice president, Perry B. Hatch; third vice president, Miss Jessie Ball; fourth vice president, Mr. Patten, secretary, Francis A. Hatch; treasurer, Miss Mazie Anderson.

Calumet—The Polish people of Calumet, in accordance with their usual custom, will this year celebrate the anniversary of the independence of their country on May 8, Saturday. There will be a parade of the several societies of this nationality in Calumet and vicinity and special services will be held at St. Anthony's church.

ON THE IRON RANGES

IS KILLED AT PERKINS MINE

Frank Bock Run Over By Dump Car and Life Crushed Out.

Aurora, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Bock, aged 30, single, employed at the Perkins mine belonging to Joseph Sellwood, was almost instantly killed this morning.

Bock was run over by a dump car, which cut off an arm and crushed his breast so seriously that he died in a few minutes.

Bock came here recently from Dayton, Ohio, where his relatives live, and had been employed on the Perkins stripping since the work started a few weeks ago. The coroner will probably hold an inquest some time today.

Meanwhile an effort is being made to locate Bock's relatives and learn what disposition is desired to be made of the body.

GRAND JURY HAS INDICTED THREE

First Grand Jury on the Ranges Makes Its Final Report.

Virginia, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first range grand jury made its final report this morning. Three indictments were returned: Francisco Montalto, for keeping a house of ill fame near Hibbing; Frank Schultz, for assault in the second degree, April 24, at Aurora, when he is alleged to have stabbed John Mickelson. The other indictment was not made public, the accused not being in custody. The grand jury was discharged.

ATTACK OFFICER; GET STIFF FINES

Four Men Who Set Upon Virginia Chief Fined $100 Each.

Virginia, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—William Mattson, George Mattson, Ike Haakanen and Charles Hill attacked Chief of Police Ellis Walsh on Chestnut street last night when he told them to move on. Serious results were averted by the arrival of citizens, who assisted the officer in arresting all four.

They were found guilty in municipal court this morning and were each sentenced to pay a fine of $100 each or spend ninety days in the county jail.

Chisholm Couple Wed.

Chisholm, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Edward Lee, a steam shovel runner, and Mrs. Winnifred McLeod were married recently. The marriage came as something of a surprise to many. Mr. Lee has made Chisholm his headquarters for the past four or five years. Mrs. McLeod has been a resident here for the last four years and has a host of friends.

WELL DRIVING IS ABANDONED

Chisholm Is Confronted With Serious Problem of Securing Water.

Chisholm, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The village council has abandoned work on the village well and will try something new.

The well was sunk to a depth of 160 feet, with no more water than when down fifty feet. As the formation of the ground was not very promising, the council decided to discontinue further exploration. This is a very hard proposition to overcome, and there will have to be something done the coming summer regarding water for the village, without continuing the present plan which has been in use the past year, of pumping the water from the Monroe mine, when, after the filtering process, it is again pumped to the water tank, making it very expensive and inconvenient.

The citizens north of Lake street are very much in need of a water supply immediately, and are anxiously awaiting some definite action by the council. There is no water to be secured in that part of the town whatever, and as there is a large number of people residing there, considerable hardship is experienced in securing water.

Gust Anderson has taken the contract to build a two-story brick building for John Kusma. The building will be sixty feet long and have all modern conveniences. Work was begun today on the basement.

Several Chisholm people attended "The Red Mill" at the Power theater, Hibbing, Sunday night.

Krause Bros. have opened a grocery store on First avenue. They were formerly employed in Taylor Bros.' store here.

The new postoffice building is nearing completion, and Postmaster McDavid expects to be in the new place May 1.

Many attended the Assembly dance Monday night. Several out-of-town people were present. Music was furnished by Heinle's orchestra.

M. Joseph of St. Louis was the guest of S. Sapera las tThursday.

The fire department was called out early Tuesday morning to the Miners' State building. A small blaze was started by the explosion of a kerosene lamp, but was put out before any serious damage was made.

Traffic over Longyear lake has suspended until next winter. The ice is breaking up and it will not be long before the people of this town will be out in boats on the lake.

The alleys of the National Bowling club are being installed in the basement of the New Chisholm hotel. They are being laid in cement and will be ready for use May 1.

C. V. Fuis, who has been acting in the capacity of agent for the Great Northern railroad, has resigned, and left for his home in Seattle, Wash. His place was taken by W. Brown.

Work has commenced on several residence building in different parts of the town.

NASHWAUK IN BRIEF.

Nashwauk, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles Latvalla has disposed of a lot of ties to the Great Northern Railway company.

The Catholic ladies realized the sum of $350 at their fair last week.

Mrs. George Lindsey left Sunday for a short visit with friends at Hibbing.

T. R. Dodson left Sunday morning for Cambridge, Minn., to visit friends.

Rev. Harry Hulme returned Saturday from Two Harbors, where he spent a few days.

Mrs. Enright spent Saturday at Hibbing.

J. C. Ohles is erecting a six-roomed cottage on Third street.

Adam Kollemainen bought out the confectionery store in the bank building, which was run by Markus & Jaffe.

GILBERT FAVORS INCORPORATION

Little Doubt Thursday's Election Will Be in That Direction.

Gilbert, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The question of reincorporation will be decided here tomorrow.

There is little question that the town will be incorporated again.

Harry Silver, N. Kapeiler and N. J. Colvin will act as election judges. At present considerable interest is being taken in the candidates who have announced themselves for village offices, the election of whom will take place inside of two weeks.

Several candidates have been spoken of, but a meeting will be held some time next week to decide on some definite ticket.

BAD BOYS ARRESTED.

Taken By Eveleth Police and Confess to Robbing Harness Shop.

Eveleth, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Zygoski, aged 12, living at Wolf, and John Judnic, about 17 years old, were arrested yesterday by Officer Zidar for breaking into Charles McNamara's harness shop, late Monday night. The boys, with Frank Falkenburg, entered the shop by removing the windows in the back and took a number of whips and harness fixings. When notified of the burglary, Zidar immediately thought it was done by the boys, as he had noticed them around town late at night. He went to their home and got the boys, whereupon they confessed to the theft. Falkenberg, who is out on parole from the reform school, made a quick getaway as soon as he heard the police were after him, and has not been arrested. The boys in jail told where they hid the booty, but when Chief Kent went to get it with them, it was gone, presumably hidden in another place by Falkenberg. All of the boys have been in scrapes before, and Judnic, who is 17, and Zygoski will have a hearing before Judge Prince today. Truant Officer Resche of Duluth is also expected up today, and will take Falkenberg back to the reform school if he is caught by that time.

CHISHOLM GUN CLUB ELECTS.

Sportsmen of Range Village Preparing for Very Lively Season.

Chisholm, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Chisholm Gun club at their annual meeting elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Leander Rell; vice president, A. H. McDougall; secretary and treasury, W. A. Masters; field captain, Fred Goodell; first assistant field captain, A. J. Hubbard; second assistant field captain, Flip Harrington. A committee of two was appointed to look up suitable grounds for the trap to be set, and the secretary was instructed to send away for a Leggett trap at once, so as to have it here as soon as possible, so that shooting will be in progress by May 15. There will be a hard and strenuous campaign made for more members and it is hoped that at least forty to fifty members will be added to the membership before another month. Competition tournaments will be held with teams from other towns during the summer.

RANGES AGAINST CUTTING TARIFF

Remonstrances Against Lowering Duty to Be Sent to Washington.

Virginia, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—With the tonnage tax menace out of the way, the people of the iron ranges of Minnesota are preparing to register their protest against the proposed placing of iron ore on the free list, or the reduction of the tariff below 25 cents a ton. Petitions remonstrating against free ore are now being circulated in this section, and when the thousands of signatures expected are secured, they will be forwarded to Washington. Many business men and small operators of iron mines are writing personal letters to the members of the Minnesota delegation in congress and an emphatic protest will be presented against the proposed abolition of the duty.

The tariff on iron ore heretofore has been 40 cents a ton. When the new tariff legislation was proposed, agitation developed for the abolition of the duty. The house committee reported the Payne bill with a duty of 20 cents on iron ore. It lost out in the house and the bill went to the senate with ore on the free list. The senate committee has placed the duty at 25 cents a ton and the efforts now being made are to prevent the tariff's being cut below that figure.

The reduction of the tariff on ore is regarded on the iron ranges as a serious menace to Northern Minnesota.

With their own transportation facilities, the United States Steel corporation is able to compete with foreign ores even on a free trade basis, but the independent operators and their employes would suffer. They are the most active in the opposition to the threatened action of congress, and they are responsible for the giant protest, which will go from Northern Minnesota.

The Michigan representatives in congress have been active in seeking to retain the duty on iron ore, but the Minnesota representatives and senators have not been so active, and the letters from here are sent with a view to enlisting them in the fight against the threatened danger.

TO BUILD LOOP AROUND SLIVER

Rainy Lake Road Must Change Line From Virginia Mine.

Virginia, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Duluth, Rainy Lake & Winnipeg railroad will soon begin work on the loop, by which the main line to Ranier will swing around the Virginia Sliver. The survey for the change in the right-of-way has been about complete and construction work will start within a few weeks.

The main road now crosses the Sliver, but the right-of-way deeds reserved the mineral rights to the fee owners. With the extension of mining operations on the Sliver, the railroad was given notice to vocate, and it is understood the notice must be complied with by Aug. 1.

The Sliver at the point it is crossed by the railroad is about four miles wide. The loop will add about a mile and a half to the mileage of the railroad, and will cost about $100,000 to complete.

Work on the Duluth, Missabe & Northern spur to the Sliver is progressing rapidly. Steel has been laid to within about a mile of the mine, but the track will need considerable ballasting before it will be possible to run trains. Shipments from the Sliver are expected to be quite heavy this season, and with its own spur to the mine, the D., M. & N. will be in a better position to handle them than last year, when the Duluth, Rainy Lake & Winnipeg tracks were used to Rainy Junction.

MUST AWAIT CHARTER

Before Beginning Any Street Improvements in Virginia.

Virginia, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The futility of taking up any street improvements in Virginia before the vote is taken on the new charter June 1 was shown at the council meeting last night. Changes in the matter of instituting and assessing special improvements of all kinds are provided for in the new charter and the committee on streets, alleys and sewers reported that complications might arise if street improvements were begun now and the new charter is adopted at the special election.

The committee announced that the street commissioner will be put at work improving the streets north of Chestnut street with gravel with some attempt toward permanency, as it is not thought the pavements will run in that direction for some time to come. The sense of the council was that the avenues for one block on either side of Chestnut street should be paved. Chestnut street is already paved.

The draft of the proposed new storm sewer system, which was submitted by City Engineer Johnson last week was accepted by the council last night and the city engineer was instructed to prepare specifications for a sewer in conformity to the draft.

J. P. Chalmers was appointed assistant health commissioner and meat inspector.

FIRST RANGE DISTRICT COURT JURY IMPANELLED.

Virginia, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first jury in the new range district court was drawn yesterday afternoon in the case of Allipio Montechiani vs. Frank Klink, a rental action involving a small amount.

The new court started out without ceremony. The calendar was called at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. There are thirty cases, fifteen for trial by jury and fifteen for trial by court. Ten of the latter are divorce actions. Twenty-eight of the cases were set for trial and two were continued. Attorneys asked that fourteen cases be laid over for an adjourned term at Hibbing.

The third Saturday of each month was set as special term day at Virginia. When not on the bench, Judge Hughes will be in chambers at Hibbing. No decision has been reached as to whether an adjournment of the present term will be taken to Hibbing when the cases here are finished. Another judge will sit later in the term, as Judge Hughes was interested in some of the cases on the calendar before he received his appointment. The trials by jury will first be disposed of and the court matters will be taken up later.

Clerk of Court J. P. Johnson and Sheriff W. J. Bates were in attendance at the opening of court yesterday. County Attorney John H. Norton and Assistant County Attorney James P. Boyle are in charge of the grand jury.

CALLED TO VIRGINIA.

Eau Claire Couple Summoned By Killing of E. C. Rudd.

Eau Claire, Wis., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Bolin received a long distance telephone message Monday evening from their niece, Mrs. E. C. Rudd, of Virginia, Minn., that her husband, a business man of that city, was accidentally killed by a train. How the accident occurred was not stated.

Mr. and Mrs. Bolin left on the 1:50 passenger train yesterday afternoon for Virginia to attend the funeral.

NEED LARGER CHURCH.

Congregation of Chisholm M. E. Church Outgrows Edifice.

Chisholm, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The M. E. church has been crowded beyond capacity so many times the past year that it is now a source of hindrance to the congregation's future growth, and something must be done at once to relieve the present congested condition. With a seating capacity of 125, and a constant demand for 200, the condition has become serious, and action by the trustees should be taken at once.

As Chisholm is increasing in population at the rate of 1,000 a year, it can be seen that the church, which was erected some seven years ago, has not kept pace with the village. Several offers have been made, it is understood, for the purchase of the building. A building that will seat from 400 to 500 is what is needed, constructed on a stone foundation, the basement to be used for socials, meetings and Sunday school services. With a church of this size some comfort can be derived by the audience, and would give the pastor in charge a chance to increase the membership.

MEEHAN AS BAND LEADER.

Friends of Virginia Man Proposing Him for Position.

Virginia, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.) — Friends of Frank Meehan are "boosting" him for the position of leader of the proposed new Virginia band. Meehan has had long experience in m usical work. He led a band once at Wichita Falls, Tex., and he organized a band in Virginia at one time. The Virginia band is expected to be a sure go and final organization will be effected after the next meeting of the Commercial club.

ODD FELLOWS ENTERTAIN.

Ninetieth Anniversary of Order Is Observed in Eveleth.

Eveleth, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The ninetieth anniversary of Odd Fellowship was fittingly celebrated by the Odd Fellows last night at Monitor hall. A large audience of members and friends were present. Kraft's orchestra furnished the music.

The program was as follows: Selected music, orchestra; anniversary ceremony; significance of the Rebecca and Odd Fellow lodges, by Noble Grand Jack Tregellis and Vice Grand Charles Boundy; an address by Rev. R. C. Johnson of the Methodist Episcopal church on "Odd Fellowship," in place of Rev. Schwartz, who was unable to appear; recitation by James Culber; solo, Miss Skramstadt, who was encored, selection by the orchestra.

The hit of the evening was made by a number of the Rebekahs, who took part in a little play called "Why They Joined the Rebekahs," a take-off on the Odd Fellows showing why some of their wives joined the Women's auxiliary to find out where the men had been spending their evenings.

IS ACTING PRESIDENT.

Frank Ansley Selected for Position By Hibbing Council.

Hibbing, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Without acting upon the resignation of Dr. Weirick as president of the council, that body last night elected Alderman Frank Ansley acting president.

A petition from residents of Brooklyn for annexation was referred to the village attorney.

There are several applications for the position of superintendent of the water and light plant, which was vacated by the resignation of W. G. Williams, who went to Duluth to become engineer of the new courthouse.

The Northern Traction company made application for an extension of its franchise for six months.

The council accepted the bid of the American Sanitation company for a sanitary stall system for the fire department barn, the consideration being $1,658.

TWO BROTHERS FINED FOR BEATING VIRGINIAN.

Virginia, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mike and Joe Rosman, brothers, pleaded guilty to assault in municipal court yesterday and were fined $15 and costs each. They were arrested on complaint of Philip Sporich. Mike runs a boarding house and Sporich owed him some money. He claimed that Rosman enforced a claim for the sum by handing out a beating and Joe backed up his brother.

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

Doctors Say There Is a Harmless, Safe and Sure Way to Remove Superfluous Hair.

Dr. Fowler, who has made a thorough study of superfluous hair growths, speaking of a case in which he used DeMiracle, says: "I applied DeMiracle, and in a few minutes I had her lip devoid of hair without any pain whatever. I instructed her to call again in two weeks, which she did. I found about one-fourth of the hair roots were not killed by the first application, so I made a second application. I saw her again in about a month, and found her lip as clear of hair as an infant's. I can heartily recommend DeMiracle for all the uses for which the manufacturers recommend it."

It is well to remember that DeMiracle is absolutely non-poisonous, antiseptic and germicidal, therefore it will not produce blood poisoning or eczema which is so common with hair removers. DeMiracle is the only method in the world which is endorsed by physicians, surgeons, dermatologists, medical journals and prominent magazines.

DeMiracle mailed, sealed in plain wrapper, for $1.00. Your money back without question (no red tape) if it fails to do all that is claimed for it. Booklet free in plain sealed envelope by the DeMiracle Chemical Co., Desk 2, 1036 Park Ave., New York. For sale by I. Freimuth, corner Lake avenue and Superior street, and all good stores.

Canisteo Miner Dies in Hospital Without Regaining His Senses.

Coleraine, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Demonico Di Cenzo, a Canisteo miner, who was found asleep several days ago by a "gopher" hole in the mine where he had been blasting and had perhaps been overcome by smoke and gas from powder, died yesterday without regaining consciousness, although the doctors at the hospital, where he was taken, resorted to every known effort to revive him. The deceased was single, aged 35, and had two brothers employed in the same mine.

Charles Beck, an employe of the American Bridge company, which is building the new steel bridge across the Canisteo pit, fell sixty feet Monday night and fractured a hip. His fall was broken about half way down by his striking a concrete pier a glancing blow, which probably saved his life. He was taken to the Coleraine hospital and is reported doing nicely.

BRINGS BACK BRIDE.

Capt. Skjold of Hibbing Has Surprise for Friends.

Hibbing, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Capt. H. J. Skjold had a surprise for local friends when he returned from Sweden, bringing a bride in the person of Miss Lillian Smith, to whom he was married last December. Mrs. Skjold is a niece of Harry Nubhall, a member of parliament from Uddervalla, Sweden. Capt. Skjold has spent the winter studying the iron mining industry in Europe for the Oliver Iron Mining company with whom he is connected at Hibbing.

Leonard W. Browne, a broker of Hibbing, was married yesterday at Seymour, Iowa, to Miss Hazel C. Thompson. Mr. and Mrs. Browne will spend their honeymoon in the East.

B. N. Rowe of the Drake & Stratton contracting company, recently transferred to Duluth, is in the city and will move his family to Duluth this week. Mr. Rowe has sold his residence on Third avenue to Paddy Mulholland for $6,500.

Virginia Wrestler Won.

Virginia, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Budd H. Burt, a local lightweight wrestler, defeated Nat Spalding, claimant of the lightweight championship of the range, in a match at Gilbert Monday night. Burt had the better of the match all the way, winning in straight falls in 22 and 12 minutes.

Range Auto Association.

Virginia, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—A meeting of the automobile and motor cycle enthusiasts of the range will be held Wednesday evening, May 5 in the garage of the Range Motor company here for the organization of the Range Motor association. The organization has been talked in all of the range cities and owners of autos are enthusiastic.

Slaughter House Burned.

Eveleth, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire early yesterday destroyed the slaughter house of Grace & Kaner, a short distance from town. At the time of the fire there were no cattle in the slaughter house, which has been vacant for a couple of months due to some legal trouble between the partners and the former owner of the slaughter house.

Riflemen to Contest.

Eveleth, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The militia company's rifle team composed of Sergeants Weiss, May and Jenkins, Corporal Turriff and Privates W. Pryor, McCarthy and Will Ellsworth will compete Friday evening at the armory in the Northwestern Interstate Indoor Rifle association shoot.

Eveleth Schools Crowded.

Eveleth, Minn., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The school enrollment has been steadily increasing during the year and is now close to the 1,300 mark. In a number of the rooms last month there were no cases of tardiness. The average percentage of daily attendance is very good.

The Alumni association has decided on June 2 as the date for the banquet to be given the high school seniors at the Glode hotel.

way. The communication is dated Hadjin, April 26, and says:

"The rising against the Christians of Hadjin began nine days ago. The government sent troops to suppress the fighting between Mohammedans and Christians, but the men were not strong enough numerically to restore order. Many are dead and wounded on both sides.

"Desperadoes occupied the Armenian cloister five days ago and have been firing on the people without interruption since. The Armenian churches are now showing white flags, indicating that there will be no further resistance, yet the shooting and the plundering continues. Many shops have been robbed and others undoubtedly will be. The Armenian settlements and villages in the province have been burned and many persons killed.

"Hadjin is almost entirely without food, and animals in the city are dying of starvation. The provincial authorities have been appealed to both orally and in writing to send more troops to Hadjin, but thus far without result.

"The messenger who first started with this dispatch to the local telegraph office was killed on his way."

The American women at Hadjin are: Miss Virginia A. Billings of Kirkland, Ohio; Miss Emily E. Richter of Chicago; Miss Lambert, who is a daughter of Bishop Lambert, and a Miss Baldwin.

The two last mentioned women were sent out by the Mennonite Brethern in Christ of Ohio.

Christian refugees by the thousands have massed at Hadjin, and for eleven days the town has been threatened by fanatical Mohammedan tribesmen whose camps completely encircle it.

"Students Not Allowed To Drink Coffee—

"A few cents will buy a very fair lunch at the 'New Tech. High,' Cleveland.

"But students are not allowed to drink coffee without a doctor's prescription."

Good evidence that thinking people—educators and others—know coffee is a thing to be used with some risk.

Well posted people now understand why coffee-drinking should be regulater by the doctor. It contains a drug—caffeine—which is the cause of numerous ails, little and big, some becoming serious.

Postum is right for "School Lunch-Rooms," as it contains no coffee or other harmful substance.

Postum is made of clean, hard wheat, skilfuly roasted—including the bran-coat wherein Nature has grown the valuable phosphate of potash. This organic, "vital" salt is necessary to rebuild wasted brain and nerve cells.

School children use up an enormous amount of brain and nerve cells—they're growing fast.

Let School children have Postum with good cream or milk. They like it when properly brewed and a week's time will tell a tale of good nourishment.

FALSE PREMISE FOR "THE MELTING POT" SAYS RABBI

RABBI M. LEFKOVITS.

"The Melting Pot" is not representative of the best thought of the best Jews of America or anywhere else," said Rabbi Lefkovits, pastor of Temple Emanuel this morning in speaking of the Zangwill play, in which Walker Whiteside has been appearing before Duluth audiences this week.

"It is based on thefalse premise that the Jew is a racial entity, and the conclusion reached that through the submergence of the Jew into the body politic he will contribute toward the making of the ideal American, is also false.

"The Jew is only a Jew in religion. In race and type he is of all nations. Zangwill is a Zionist, whose dream it is to show that the Jews of the world will one day be gathered together in Palestine as one nation, and the undercurrent of this belief runs all through the play.

"The belief that Jews should not intermarry with those who profess another belief, is one of the fundamental tenets of the Hebrew religion. When a Jew has reached the place where he can conscientiously marry a Christian he has already spiritually broken with the Jewish faith. As the characteristics of the Jew are religious and not racial, he would have nothing to contribute to the making of the ideal American of the future but Jewish blood. His old religion is already gone when he marries. We can take the Germans, French, and Italians and in time produce a new specimen of American, but Jewish blood is already mixed with all these nations for the Jews as a race are of every country.

"Nothing is ever gained by eliminating individuality. The Jew has been a great factor in the upbuilding of America since the days of Columbus, but only because he has remained a Jew and not lost his identity in the crucible.

"It is the instinct of religious self-preservation that prompts the Jewish leaders of the world to oppose intermarriage with Christians. The man who marries outside the church is lost to the faith, and his children follow his lead.

"Zangwill has woven a very pretty romance in 'The Melting Pot,' but from the standpoint of orthodox Jewism it is wrong in conception and conclusion. There are some scenes and situations in the play that are somewhat offensive to Jews. For instance, the aggravated features of one of the characters in the dancing scene contributes nothing to the play, and tends to hold the Jew up to ridicule.

"To my mind, the greatest play of a religious nature ever produced on any stage is 'The Servant in the House,' and I would not for an instant compare it to 'The Melting Pot.'"

Rabbi Lefkovits will take the play as the subject of a discourse Friday evening at the Temple Emanuel.

MARINE

RESULT NOT YET ANNOUNCED

Not Known Whether Lake Seamen Will Declare Strike.

It was stated that the result of the strike vote among the members of the Lake Seamen's union would be announced today, but at a late hour this afternoon no word had been received in Duluth.

Word comes from Cleveland that the cooks and stewards have been taking a secret vote for some time, and that returns are now in the hands of headquarters officials in Buffalo.

The Lake Carriers' association is having no difficulty in securing crews. Several boats are now in Duluth harbor fully equipped and ready to sail. Engineers have been secured in all cases.

It is reported that unemployed engineers are coming to Eastern lake ports from the Atlantic and Pacific, and especially from Baltimore, where the organization was virtually disbanded some time ago.

STILL WAITING AT THE SOO

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Pending the outcome of the strike mixup among the unions of vessel employes, it is rumored here that many of the boats in the river will remain at anchorage for the time being. Vessel masters prefer to remain where they are to being tied up at Duluth. This is not assigned as the real reason for staying, but rather a want of dock facilities for 100 big vessels at Duluth.

The Douglass Houghton of the Pittsburg company's fleet has left here and turned about to Lake Erie to undergo repairs. The Shaughnessy, Minch and Kensington are the only arrivals downbound. The following are the up arrivals: Fitch, Maitland, Maricopa, Rockefeller, Susquehanna, Turret Court, Rosedale, McKees, Scottish Hero, Turret Chief and Arabian.

A gale is blowing here at the rate of forty miles an hour. This is forcing the ice back into Point Iroquois. Vessels are lying in shelter under Point Aux Pins. Wind is from the northwest and the weather is cold.

SHIPPING AT NEGAUNEE.

Iron Ore Is Being Sent to Docks From Several Mines.

Negaunee, Mich., April 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Negaunee mine will be the first of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company's properties in this city to start shipping.

Orders to load ore from the pockets were received Saturday and the first trainload moved to the docks yesterday. The Mass has been shipping about twenty carloads a week all winter to the Gladstone furnace, and will also begin shipping to the docks this week, provided the company's boats arrive.

The Mary Charlotte Mining company expects its first boat to arrive at Marquette early this week, and ore has already started moving to the docks.

The Regent mines of the Oliver company loaded a number of cars from the pockets Friday and Saturday, and movement will continue indefinitely, as a number of the company's boats are expected to arrive this week. The range officials received instructions last Thursday to begin loading certain grades of ore from the pockets of several of the mines, and a few trainloads are now ready for movement.

DONALD McLEOD DIES.

Report of Death of Capt. Gilles Is Incorrect.

Donald McLeod, mate of the steamer Superior, died on the ferry boat, while being taken from a hospital at Sault Ste Marie to his home in Buffalo. He had been sick for some time, but nothing serious was anticipated.

Mr. McLeod was well known in Duluth. He had been in the employ of the Western Transit company for several years.

Early dispatches stating that Capt. Gilles of the Superior had died were incorrect.

Weather the Gale.

Fort William, Ont., April 28.—(Specialcial to The Herald.)—A number of lake vessels arrived here this morning, having weathered the severe gale that has been raging along the north shore. More vessels are approaching and will reach here during the day.

QUAKES REPORTED IN WEST AFRICA.

Berlin, April 28.—An official dispatch received here today reports severe earth shocks in Kamerun, West Africa, that have continued since Monday afternoon. The disturbances have compelled the colonial government to vacate Buea and remove temporarily to Duala. Buea is on the slope of the Kamerun mountains at an elevation of 3,000 feet. The mountains are volcanic, and 100 years ago some of the craters were active.

FORGERIES TOO SLOW

Van Vlissingen Could Not Commit Them Fast Enough.

Tells Court He Hoped in Vain for Good Luck.

Chicago, April 28.—Peter Van Vlissingen, the former real estate man brought back from prison to testify in the bankruptcy court, and who caused a sensation yesterday by stating that his forgeries were known to two of his victims four years before his public confession last winter, gave additional details of his story in court today.

The men to whom he alleged he privately imparted a confession of his guilt are Maurice Rosenfeld and Bernard Rosenberg, both of reputed wealth and social positions, and who are alleged to have forced Van Vlissingen to attempt to make good $400,000 worth of forged mortgages which had come into his hands. To do this Van Vlissingen declares he committed still further forgeries.

"Did Mr. Rosenfeld ever ask you what you did with the forged papers he gave back to you after you had redeemed them?" asked Attorney George H. Parks, representing the trustee of the Van Vlissingen estate.

"No; he did not, but I told him just the same, and we arranged our transactions accordingly," replied the witness.

"And they pressed you for money?"

"Yes. Shortly after the failure of the Chicago National bank of which Rosenfeld was a director he came to me and told me of his losses in the crash. He said he was in dire distress. He said he was so hard pressed that he had thought often of the waters of Lake Michigan as a refuge. I told him I was so deep in the mire I could not make forgeries fast enough to pay off the debts and obligations that were pressing.

"Rosenberg also pressed me and I told both of them that I was in so deep that I never expected to get out but I thought I'd fight for a while. I thought possibly some piece of good luck would come my way, but it never did."

Van Vlissingen, who was a highly respected and presumably prosperous business man, succeeded in continuing his forgeries four years more. Then the end came last November, when he admitted that he had been forging mortgages during nearly all his business career, and that the sum total would exceed $1,000,000.

PRICES OF STEEL UP

The Recent Reductions Have Resulted in Many Orders.

Manufacturers Crowded With Work and Rise Results.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 28.—Following the announcement by the Carnegie Steel company of an increase in price of its products other steel manufacturers are also increasing prices.

The reduction made recently resulted in so many orders that many of the manufacturers are crowded with work and the advance has been the natural result of the growing demand.

Jones & Laughlin Steel company, the largest independent steel makers, have followed the Carnegie Steel company and increased prices about $1 a ton.

Some of the manufacturers claim to have been selling below the actual cost of production and are glad to see the increase.

TWO FILE SUITS AGAINST CITY

Personal Injury Cases Result From Falls on Sidewalks.

There were two personal injury suits instituted against the city of Duluth thi morning. Both are the result of falls on the city sidewalks.

Gust Lindberg demands that the city pay him $4,400 for injuries received in December of 1908. He claims to have been walking along the north side of Fifth street, near Fourth avenue west, and that at that point a water pipe had opened through a retaining wall, flooding the sidewalk. The water froze and he says that he slipped, fell and slid into a break or cavity in the ice, twisting his ankle in such a way that it was broken.

Edith Jones wants $4,800 for a sprained ankle, other bodily injuries, and a severe nervous shock, sustained while walking along the east side of Second avenue east, near Second street.

She says that there was a hole in the sidewalk eighteen inches long and four inches wide. She alleges also that the hole was covered with loose snow in such a manner as to make it seem as though there were no break in the walk. She was injured as related above and wants the city to pay for her pain.

KIDNAPING POLITICIANS.

Pearson's Weekly: The alleged kidnaping of Victor Grayson in order to prevent him speaking at a public meeting, strange though it appears to us, would not have seemed at all out of the way to our forefathers of a generation or two ago.

In those days kidnaping was a regularly recognized feature of political warfare. On the eve of an election, especially men of either influence on either side would mysteriously vanish to reappear later with strange tales of forcible seizures, mad rides across country in post chaises driven by yelling postillions, followed by longer or shorter terms of gilded imprisonment in great mansions, where they were wined and dined in sumptuous style and treated right royally in every way, only their liberty being denied them.

Quite humble voters, too, were forcibly abducted, but these did not always fare quite so well. Thus, one victim made complaint before a magistrate that he had been decoyed from his house by a ruse and kept up in a coal hole for three days.

Wholesale kidnaping of voters in batches, too, was not unknown, the process being rendered easier by the custom of candidates paying the traveling expenses of their electors to and from the polling places.

For instance, at a certain Newcastle election a whole shipload of freemen of the borough, dispatched from London by sea, were taken by the captain—who had been heavily bribed—to Ostend, and there left stranded.

During the same contest, too, and under similar circumstances a number of Berwick electors who happened to reside in London were dumped down in Norway and a group of thirty Ipswich voters found themselves on the day of the poll cooling their heels upon the quay of Rotterdam.

Bermuda possesses a plant of the house leek family which has curious properties. When the leaves begin to shrivel and fade they put forth new shoots, which in turn bear leaves that continue to grow fresh and green for many weeks. The leaves are about four inches long, rich green in color and of waxen texture. If one of the leaves is pinned to a wall indoors it will begin to sprout within three or four days, be it winter or summer. The limit of existence of the life plant seems dependent upon the quantity of heat and light which the plant obtains.

A GAY YOUNG PRINCE.

The English royal family rejoices to count among its members Prince Arthur of Connaught, who is such a gay young dog that no family gathering—royal family gathering, that is—is considered complete without his presence.

Of course Christmas itself could not be merry without Arthur, so he was "han down" to Sandringham, where, so says Lady's Pictorial he added" considerably to the gayety of the royal gathering.

How could it be otherwise? For the same authority confides to the hoi polloi that Arthur's "spirits are irrepressible and he is full of resources." What kind of resource? Well, "he can act and do imitations, and"—believe it or not as you please—"if there is a humorous side to anything he never fails to detect it."

Now in connection with this irrepressible gayety and infallible detection of the humorous side to anything the same magazine admits that Prince Arthur's effervescent spirits bubble in somewhat solitary fashion.

"It is said," declares this conscientious British editor, "that we are no longer as genial and jovial as we were in olden days. People do not let themselves go when they entertain, hosts are not what they were, and it is seldom when any entertaining is done in a private house that the table is set on a roar."

There is no lack of noise, but the real old-fashioned hearty laughter and good natured hospitality have gone out with solid dinners and heavy wines. The reason? Well, they are saying it is the way our dinner rooms are decorated.

"Picturesque, bright, correct they may be nowadays, but they are not homely. The English temperament likes solidity and red wall paper and that sort of thing, amid other surroundings we do not expand."

A French army officer has invented eyeglasses which enable the wearer to see on all sides and the rear.

SATURDAY A BUSY DAY

Two New Branches of City Work Open on May 1.

Personal Property Assessors and Street Cleaners Get Busy.

May 1 marks the beginning of new branches of spring work for the city assessor's department and the board of public works. The men employed to make a personal property assessment will begin their work next Saturday, and the season's sprinkling and street cleaning operations, under supervision of the board of public works, will begin.

Fourteen men will be in the field on the personal property assessments. It will be their duty to visit every household in Duluth, and properly assess for taxation articles of value. Their endeavors do not meet with any very great approval on the part of the general public, which, for the most part, does what it can to handicap, rather than help them in their work.

The majority of people are dishonest when it comes to making a list of their holdings for taxation purposes. They seem to think it perfectly proper for them to be that way. If they list all their valuables, the chances are they place too low a valuation upon them and it is up to the assessor to size things up for himself, and to make as fair an assessment as circumstances will permit. His path is not one of roses, and often there are things come up to arouse his ire. This is balanced, however, by the fact that numerous amusing incidents also occur to make his household visits interesting.

The board of public works has had a few sprinkling wagons out on the main streets for the last week or two, but the sprinklers under contract will not begin operations until Saturday. There are eighteen or nineteen of these wagons, each covering a certain district of the city, and they will be expected to get out daily, except when it rains, or has rained sufficiently to lay the dust.

Also during the last two or three weeks there have been a few men working on the streets, cleaning away the winter's accumulation of ice and dirt, but the regular spring and summer force of white wings, seventeen in number, will not make its debut until Saturday, the first day of May. After that they will be daily in evidence until cold weather comes again. The recent cold weather has handicapped street improvement work, because of its being severe enough to freeze the ground nightly.

NOT LOOKING FOR TROUBLE

Vessel Agent Says Labor Situation Will Not Delay Shipping.

J. L. Weeks of Cleveland believes that the labor situation upon the Great Lakes will not result in seriously delaying the opening of navigation. Mr. Weeks states that as far as he is aware, the Pittsburg Steamship company has all the men it needs. He says some of the other lines are not worrying at the present time as to whether they can get men or not. They will let that matter rest until they have work for their boats.

Mr. Weeks points to the fact that there are over 100 boats at the Soo as a proof that the vessel owners have not experienced much trouble in securing marine engineers.

Bout Is Called Off.

New York, April 28.—Battling Nelson sent word here today that he would call off his bout with Packey McFarland, which was scheduled for July 5 at Colma, Cal. Nelson declared he was angered because McFarland's manager had been making remarks about his affairs. Nelson says if he fights McFarland later in the summer he will insist that McFarland weigh in at 133 pounds to prove he is a lightweight.

BILINGUAL IN GESTURES.

There is a man who from a very early age has lived in countries where Spanish is the almost universal tongue, says the New York Sun. From force of this training, he speaks Spanish perfectly.

He has not the slightest trace of an English accent and persons who do not know that he is of American parentage are willing to believe he is a Spaniard, merely from hearing him talk. He is so perfectly bilingual that it shows even in his gestures.

When talking with English speaking persons he sits quietly and does his conversing with his mouth alone. Only in case of making a point most emphatically does he use a gesture.

But the moment he drops into Spanish his every word is accompanied by a movement of the hands or arms. It is interesting to watch the change from the English to the Spanish side of him, because it comes so suddenly. He really can't speak Spanish without gesturing.

EACH SHOT HIT ANNIS

Witness in Hains Trial Tells of Accuracy of Aim.

Court Rules Against Testimony About Defendant's Brother.

Flushing, N. Y., April 28.—When, in his opening address in the trial of Capt. P. C. Hains for the murder of William Annis, Attorney Gregg today began to relate the part played by Thornton Hains, John F. McIntyre, chief counsel for the defense objected and was sustained by the court. Gregg spoke about twenty minutes and then called George Y. Skinner, a civil engineer of Flushing as the first witness. The engineer identified plans of the scene of the shooting which he had prepared. Frederick G. Leavitt, a member of the Bayside Yacht club, testified that the plans drawn by Mr. Skinner were correct and Harvey G. Rockwell, another member of the club, testified he was with Annis when Annis died.

Dr. Leopold Schruck, house physician of Flushing hospital, described the wounds in Annis' body and his death. He said there were seven wounds and that each bullet went through the body. Five bullets entered the chest and abdomen and two split the right knee cap.

Charles H. Birchfield, the next witness, said he had a conversation with Thornton J. Hains in the clubhouse prior to the shooting. He was not allowed to relate the conversation, due to an objection by McIntyre. Birchfield was near when the shooting occurred. he said, and turned in time to see Annis fall from his boat into the water. He saw Capt. Hains, after the shooting, standing directly on the float beside his brother. On cross-examination the witness said he did not notice the defendant's appearance closely after the shooting, but he, the witness, had shouted :

"For God's sake, he is crazy."

Herbert Funke, who knew Annis well, testified he saw Capt. Hains standing on the float with his arms folded and when Annis' boat came up the captain exclaimed: "Annis, Annis," drew a revolver and shot Annis as he was stepping around the mast to the float. Funke was in his boat alongside the float, he said, and when he attempted to step ashore a revolver was pointed at him.

"Wait a minute," said McIntyre, "the witness cannot state anything about a revolver being pointed at him unless it was in the hands of Capt. Hains."

"That is correct," Justice Garretson ruled.

After Annis was taken out of the water and lain on the float mortally wounded, Funke testified he heard Annis say:

"Oh, captain, you have done an awful mistake," and that Capt. Hains replied:

"Maybe I have, but I don't think so."

Witness said Mr. Downs, another member of the yacht club, approached Capt. Hains after the shooting, and asked him who he was. Capt. Hains promptly handeled a card to Downs, saying: "Here is my card."

SAYS BOTH HAVE RIGHTS

Judge McPherson Bids Passengers Remember Railroad Employes.

Declines to Modify His Previous Opinion Regarding Rates.

Kansas City, Mo., April 28.—A supplementary decision in the rate cases, involving the eighteen Missouri railroads operating in Missouri, was filed in federal court today by Judge Smith McPherson of Red Oak, Iowa.

Judge McPherson declines to recede from his first opinion, rendered March 8, either in the matter of the division of the costs of the proceedings or to change his original holding that the court cannot fix rates. In effect the decision means that the railways and the state must each pay one-half the costs which aggregate $18,000 and that the court refuses the railways' petition which asked it to specifically state what passenger rates they should charge. As to the contention that the court was in error in its original opinion in that the penalties of the statutes render them void, Judge McPherson now holds that this section of the state statutes imposing penalties is void. On the point of fixing the rates Judge McPherson says in part:

Is Legislature's Duty.

"Complaint is made because of the recital in my opinion that it being a legislative act, and a judicial one, this court cannot fix rates. If it could, 2½ cents passenger rates would be fixed for the stronger roads and 3 cents for others. But that is for the legislature, through a commission, with like assistance."

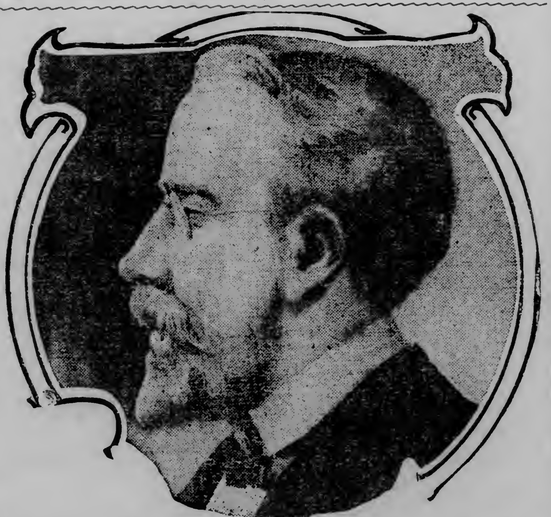

My statement that "it being a legislative act, and not a judicial one, this court cannot fix rates," is not controverted by any one. This being so, as of course, what I said as above is obiter dictum. But because it is dictum, is no reason whatever for not saying it, and still less a reason for not eliminating it from my opinion. I believed it proper to say that the strong roads should have 2½ cents per passenger per mile and the weaker roads 3 cents. I could have fairly stated that the St. Louis & Hannibal and the Kansas City, Clinton & Springfield should have 3 cents or more per mile.

"I still adhere to those views and entertaining them, I know of no reason for not stating them with reasons for believing it was my duty to state them. Passengers, like consumers, have rights. One of those rights is to have fares fixed reasonably low, but the term "reasonably" is a comparative one. It must be in proportion to what it is worth and the better the service, the more it is worth. And the public is entitled to have, with the right to demand, efficient service, provided always such as is paid for. The average fare paid per year aside from the low excursion rates, is less than $6, commercial travelers excepted. To reduce that to $4, thereby saving $2, is of course of importance. So are other matters of importance. Aside from having efficient service to be paid for at remunerative rates, the laboring men, the employes, have rights. They have the right to be well paid for their work, in daytime and nighttime, sunshine and storm, during the excessive heat of the summer and the rigors of winter. Their hazardous and most important service entitles them to remunerative compensation, which they cannot have with meager earnings of the roads. Thousands and thousands of them have already been let out. What is the truthful answer to make these men and who is to make this answer? It is doubtful if the legislature thought this out. I decline to modify my opinion as respects this.

Cannot Prohibit Courts.

"It is contended that the court was in error in its original opinion in which penalties of the statutes rendered them void.

"Whether rates prescribed by statute are valid or invalid is a judicial question and the legislature cannot prohibit the courts from passing thereon. The sole question is: Can a party be allowed to litigate a disputed question of facts as to property rights, without confiscation of all its property and all of its agents being sent to jail if the case is lost? Surely he can. Upon reflection and with much additional consideration, the holding is that the section now imposing penalties is void."

THE MARKET IS BULLISH

Wheat in Good Demand and Closing Prices Are Higher.

Flax Has Bulge of Two Points in Duluth Market.

Duluth Board of Trade, April 28.—Wheat was in good demand today and closing prices showed gains of more than a point over yesterday in most of the American markets.

A number of big Chicago houses were eager bidders for wheat and there was good buying all day by shorts.

The situation in the Northwest remains very bullish. Scarcely any seeding has been done in the Northern part of North Dakota, Minnesota and Manitoba, and in many places the ground is still frozen hard.

Liverpool closed 1⅜@1½d higher, Berlin 2¼c higher, Budapest 3c lower.

The May option closed 1⅛c higher in Duluth and Winnipeg, 1c higher in Chicago, 1⅜c higher in Minneapolis, ⅞c higher in New York, 1½c higher in St. Louis and Kansas City. The July option closed 1c higher in Duluth and Chicago, 1@1⅛c higher in Minneapolis, ⅞c higher in New York, Kansas City and Winnipeg, and ¼@⅜c higher in St. Louis.

May corn closed ¾c lower in Chicago and oats a shade lower.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool:

"Wheat—Firmness characterized the early dealings in wheat, at which time offerings were light and support good. At the opening values showed an advance of 1d to 1⅛d, and further gained ⅜d to ½d during the morning. The strength in American cables yesterday, together with good buying by a large La Plata house, prompted good outside buying. Other factors of the advance was the expected early falling off in Russian shipments, expected lighter shipments from Argentina, improved demand for cargoes and parcels and the strength in spot. At midday the market was very firm and from 1¼d to 1⅜d higher than yesterday.

"Corn was firm and ⅜d higher at the start, and later advanced an additional ⅜d. Support was the result of the strength in America yesterday, and spot markets were firm, with an improved demand. At midday the market was very firm and ⅜d higher than yesterday."

Car receipts of wheat at Duluth were 27 against 12 last year, and at Minneapolis 114 against 82 last year, making a total for the Northwest of 121 against 94 last year. Chicago received 6 against 5 last year.

Primary receipts of wheat were 211,000 bu, last year 231,000 bu. Shipments 216,000 bu, last year 409,000 bu. Clearances of wheat and flour aggregated 58,000 bu.

Primary receipts of corn were 223,000 bu, last year 318,000 bu. Shipments 451,000 bu, last year 360,000 bu. Clearances of corn 10,000 bu.

Wheat was quite active in the Duluth market. May wheat opened 1c higher, at $1.19 asked, declined to $1.18⅞, rallied to $1.19¾, declined to $1.19½, and closed at that price, a gain of 1⅛c over yesterday. July wheat opened ⅛c higher, at $1.19, advanced to $1.19½, declined to $1.19¼, rallied to $1.19¾, went off to $1.19½, rallied to $1.20, and closed at $1.19⅞, a gain of 1c over yesterday.

Durum wheat closed 1⅛c higher, and cash spring wheat was selling on a basis of 2½c May for No. 1 northern.

Flax trading was light, but the tone was stronger, closing prices showing a good gain over yesterday. May flax advanced from $1.63 to $1.65¼, and closed there, a gain of 2c over yesterday. July flax went from $1.63¼ to $1.65¼, closing there, a gain of 2c. September flax closed 1c higher at $1.43¾. October advanced from $1.37¼ to $1.38 and closed there, a gain of ½c over yesterday.

Oats closed ⅛c lower.

Following were the closing prices:

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Additional Gains in Wheat Prices—Offerings Light for a Time.

Chicago, April 28.—Additional gains were made in wheat prices at the opening of the market today, initial quotations showing advances of ⅜@1⅜c compared with yesterday's final figures. The demand at the start was quite general, but offerings were light for a time. Large sales of flour at Minneapolis late yesterday, cold weather in the Northwest and an advance of 1¼@1⅜d in the price of wheat at Liverpool were the chief factors that prompted the early buying.

The opening on May was at $1.22⅛@1.22¾ and on July at $1.09@1.09½. For a time the July delivery held within the opening range, but May sold off to $1.22. Trade was rather quiet the first hour, owing to the scarcity of offerings.

The July delivery later advanced to $1.10½@$1.10⅝ and May to $1.23. The market lost part of this gain on heavy selling of the September option. The close, however, was firm with July up 1c at $1.09⅝. May also was up 1c at $1.22.

All deliveries of corn touched new high-record marks for the season at the opening of the market, May selling up to 72⅝c, July to 69¾c and September to 68⅝c. The opening quotations showed gains of ¼@¾c at 78c, compared with the closing figures of the previous session. Demand, which was largely by commission houses, was inspired by the continued light receipts and by the smallness of stocks in store here. There was considerable profit-taking on the bulge, and May sold off to 71¾c.

The market became weak on continued liquidation, May selling off to 70¾@70⅞c. The close was weak, with May off ⅝c at 70⅞@71c.

Oats were firm owing to continued cold weather in the West and Northwest which will retard seeding operations. May opened a shade lower to ⅛@¼c higher at 56⅛ to 56⅜c and during early trading, held within that range.

Provisions were steady at the start because of a 5c advance in live hogs, but eased off on selling by commission houses. Prices at the opening were 2½c lower to 2½c higher.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Strength Results From Unfavorable Weather and Higher Cables.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 28.—Unfavorable weather for seeding fairly light receipts and a big decrease in stocks added to higher cables made the market strong. Local stocks decreased 575,000 bushels for four days. May advanced a full cent in the first half hour. Further advances were made and a slight break was noted near the end. May closed 1c higher than the opening. Minneapolis today received 114 cars against 82; Duluth 27 against 12; Winnipeg 75 against 66. May opened $1.19⅜; high, $1.21⅛; low, $1.18¾, close, $1.20¾. July opened $1.20; high, $1.21⅛; low, $1.20; close, $1.20⅝@1.20¾. Cash wheat was in surprisingly strong demand considering the amount of contract wheat that will be delivered about May 1. Millers were eager buyers of the top grades. No. 1 northern sold for 3c over the May option and No. 2 northern spot $1.21½@1.22; to arrive, $1.21½. No. 3 wheat, $1.18½@1.19½. No. 3 yellow corn, 68¾@69¾c. No. 3 white oats, 52⅞@53⅞c. No. 2 rye, 85¾@89¾c.

Flax—Receipts, 5 cars against 24; shipments, 1. The market was nominal on account of the lack of offerings. Prices were quoted the same as the Duluth May option. Close, $1.65.

Barley — Receipts, 24 cars today against 6; shipments, 25. Most of the cars received were on sale. Offerings were light and demand strong. Prices held firm. Inquiry was strongest for the malting grades. Close, 62@64c.

Millstuffs—Shipments, 1,476 tons. The market was very active. Demand continued strong and in excess of the supply. Shipments showed a slight increase and prices advanced. Bran in bulk, $23.00@23.50.

Flour—Prices advanced on account of the stronger wheat market. Foreign inquiry was reported as not so weak and domestic demand was fair to good. Country millers reported business slightly improved. Shipments were normal, 41,461 barrels. First patents, $5.80@6.00; second patents, $5.70@5.90; first clears, $4.75@4.90; second clears, $3.25@3.45.

HEARD ON THE FLOOR.

Gossip of the Trading Room and the Pit.

The spring wheat harvest is going to be late this season.

In most of the wide expanse of spring wheat territory, the frost is still in the ground to such an extent that it has been impossible for the farmers to put in a bit of seed as yet.

Most of South Dakota is seeded, and part of Minnesota, but a local grain man said today he did not think that 50 per cent of North Dakota had been seeded yet. The weather still remains cool and the ground hard.

Minneapolis puts were $1.19⅛@1.19¼ and calls $1.22¼.

Chicago July ups were $1.11@1.11⅛ and $1.11⅛ and downs $1.08@1.08⅛ and $1.08.

The strength of the Berlin market is attributed to cold weather. The crop in the empire is said to be very backward. Weather in Hungary is reported as more favorable.

REMARKS.

Rain or snow fell over practically all districts; freezing weather occurred last night in Michigan, Ohio, Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota and the Dakotas.

H. W. RICHARDSON,
Local Forecaster.

T. indicates inappreciable rainfall. *For yesterday. †For twenty-four hours ending 8 a. m., 75th meridian time. ‡Minimum temperature for twelve hours ending 8 a. m., 75th meridian time.

NOTE—The average maximum and minimum temperatures and the average rainfall are made up at each center from the actual number of reports received. The "state of weather" is that prevailing at time of observation.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Opened With Good Gains and Closed Strong and Active.

Lively Demand for Gould Stocks Was One of Features.

New York, April 28.—Opening prices of stocks today showed good gains, the advance over last night ranging from a large fraction to a point in the principal trading stocks. Seven thousand shares of United States Steel sold at 54 and 54⅜ compared with 53⅜ last night. American Locomotive rose 1⅜, Union Pacific, Reading, Baltimore & Ohio, Rock Island preferred and Great Northern preferred 1, and Southern Pacific, Canadian Pacific, Brooklyn Transit and American Smelting large fractions.

After an interval of quiet, in which prices were maintained, the market became active and all stocks sold highetr. The demand was mostly for the railroad list and a sprinkling of the metal stocks. Wisconsin Central was lifted 3 points, Atlantic Coast Line and St. Louis & San Francisco second preferred 1¾, Rock Island preferred 1½, Colorado Fuel 1⅜ and Southern Pacific, Canadian Pacific, Illinois Central, St. Louis & Southwestern preferred, American Smelting, Sloss-Sheffield Steel and North American 1. Lackawanna opened 18 points lower at 662 and Hocking Coal also yielded 2¼.

A lively demonstration in the Gould stocks held prices against realizing sales, which opposed the advance above previous high levels in the general list. St. Louis Southwestern preferred was lifted 2½, Wabash preferred 1¾, Western Union 2 and other members of the group 1¾. Canadian Pacific, Republic Steel preferred and Union Bag preferred 1½, and People's Gas and Atchison 1. Colorado & Southern declined 1. When the Goulds came to a pause, prices fell back a fraction and the trade became very quiet. Bonds were firm.

The market closed strong and active. The advance in United States Steel reached 1¾, United States Express, Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie rose 1⅜. Prices were shaded slightly when profits were sought by sales to realize. Wheeling & Lake Erie declined 1.

NOTICE!
APRIL 28, 1909.
By not later than Monday, May 3, 1909, I will be permanently established in my new quarters, rooms Nos. 314-315-316 of the Palladio building, Duluth, Minn., having obtained a two-year lease for same some two months since.
Do you remember the good old times we had in those same rooms? How we used to make large profits in dealing in such old-fashioned stocks as Calumet & Arizona, Calumet & Pittsburg, Lake Superior & Pittsburg, Pittsburg & Duluth, and Junction, "The Great Original Bonanza Circle?"
Times have changed somewhat, but the same old familiar faces are still on deck, and while we have passed through an era of excessive capitalization notably the extreme case of Greene-Cananea which caused the downfall of many a good man—all that is history. Our Mining men are again conservative. Companies are now again organized along sound financial lines like in the good old days. All of these ever-changing conditions are simply incidents in the world's best work.
Prior to May 3, I will be at the old stand, 328 West Superior street.
Also during this time I will use this space in the paper to post you a little on a few subjects that I think are of vital interest to you, individually and collectively.
In tomorrow's space I will treat with the following subjects:
(a) "Methods of doing business as relates to the buying and selling of shares."
(b) "The difference between a knocker and a buzzard."
(c) "What is capital? What are Resources—Liabilities?"
(d) "An honest man need not publish that fact."
(e) "Every story has two sides."
On the next day I will treat with such as:
(a) "The barking dog has no bite."
(b) "Let us reason it out together."
(c) "Truth crushed to earth shall rise again."
(d) "The man worth while is the man with the smile when everything goes dead wrong."
On the following day I will express my ideas as to:
(a) "Description of properties."
(b) "How to compare."
(c) "Whom to believe."
(d) "Miscellaneous items of interest."
In the next succeeding and future papers I will give my views on general and specific subjects as time and place might indicate as most proper and interesting.
Telephone numbers are the same, Duluth 1408, and Zenith 971.

PAT THE HORSE'S FOREHEAD.

New York Sun: "Not many people know how to pet a horse—that is, from a horse's standpoint," said the driver of one of the big trucks that brings rolls of paper to the Sun office.

"Every nice-looking, sleek horse comes in for a good deal of petting," he went on, as one of the big grays hubbed his muzzle anxiously against the truckman's sleeve. "Hitch a fine horse close to the curb, and you'll find that half the men, women and children passing along will stop for a minute and give him an affectionate pat or two.

"That is especially true along Park row during the noon hour. The trouble is that they don't pat him in the right place.

"If you want to make a horse think he is going to the equine paradise, rub him over the eyes. Next to that form of endearment, a horse likes to be rubbed right up between the ears. In petting horses most people neglect those nerve centers, stroke the horse's nose.

"While a well-behaved horse will accept the nasal caress complacently he would much prefer that nice, soothing touch applied to the eyelids. Once in a while a person comes along who really does not know how to pet a horse, and is surprised when a horse throws back his ears and acts peevish; but let a person come along who was brought up in the country and knows the horse and his peculiar ways, and he will pet the animal by rubbing him between the ears, directly over the eyes."

Australia has become an apple-growing country of much importance and is taking some of the English trade away from this country. Over 100,000 cases of apples have been shipped from Adelaide to England this year.
